TOME OF THE CLERIC

INTRODUCTION

The RPG is a game that promotes imagination and logical reasoning, developing creativity, interpersonal relationship, and mutual cooperation. As pioneer of this game style, D&D brings an atmosphere of mysticism and fantasy to DM and players, allowing them to create and live epic histories and adventures worthy to be told on books or even in movies.

Several memorable and epic sagas known can be revived and even take a different course in the hands of an experienced DM and dedicated players. However, the game is not about only will and storytelling. There are factors that must not be decided only by the desire of the DM or the players.

The game rules are fundamental to keep a level of coherency and logic on game tables. A player may want his character knock a huge iron door to the ground with a kick, but the success or the failure of this action is impacted by the physical strength of the character and a die roll.

The D&D 5th edition core books present the basic rules to act in an universe create by a DM or in the official campaign setting, like Forgotten Realms. Whereas the core rulebooks are limited in the diversification of races, classes, items, spells, feats, monsters and so on, I decide to create a pack of supplemental rulebooks to expand the options presented on the basic books.

To have better use of the supplemental rulebooks of the AlanVenic's Redbook line, you need the three D&D

5th edition core rulebooks: The Player's Handbook, Monster Manual and Dungeon Master's Guide. In certain moments, some features presented here, will refer a given chapter of this books, or just the book itself. When you are consult this supplemental rulebook, you should have access to the determined book to delve into the topic discussed by the given feature.

At this specific supplemental rulebook will be approached the cleric class. Here we have a brief discuss of his abilities and powers, focusing on class gameplay. Additionally, are presented here new class options to players that consider the class options presented in the Player's Handbook doesn't fit on the concept they pictured to their characters.

The player would like to live a pyromaniac cleric with the Fire Domain. A waterborn cleric with the Water Domain. A pathfinder cleric that have the Travel Domain to help him in his long journeys. Or yet a worshiper of the shadow deities and owner of the Darkness Domain.

At this supplemental rulebook are presented ten new divine domains. Certainly, one of than will fit the concept you imagine for your cleric. Explore all the possibilities and have fun.

Long live to the RPG!

THE CLERIC

The clerics are not mere priests or fathers that preach on churches or try to spread the name of their gods in great pilgrimage. They are straight agents of deities among the mortals capable of make miracles through divine power shaped in magic.

Your abilities are not natural or inherent. It comes from your devotion to a deity and you can lose this gift if you did a serious transgression against the dogma and teaching of your church or doctrine. The more zealous and devoted you are, more chance you have your god give you power even greater.

A high priest can be either a zealous renamed devout or a powerful cleric and straight agent of the divine power in the Material Plane.

CLASS FEATURES

As a cleric, you are a spellcaster that gain your power through the grace of your patron deity. Your ideologies and dogmas vary widely, and the choice of your domain have a great influence on the way you see the world.

SPELLCASTING

Your main and most powerful feature is the ability to cast divine spells. With a concept focused on protection, buffs, and recovery than destruction, your spells are very useful to your party in your long journey.

Your cantrips let you always have your magical ability as your advance on your adventures. While the most powerful spells you have should be used wisely because it will be crucial in the hardest moments.

DIVINE DOMAIN

Your divine domain is responsible for great part of your personality. It define as you see the world and gives you many powers that let you even more bonded to the aspect of this domain. Are presented seven divine domains in the Player's Handbook. Here are presented more ten new slopes of this class feature, allowing a cleric of certain deity of the wide Forgotten Realms pantheon to have a better chance to choose a domain that fit in the concept of his god. The new divine domains are presented in the final of this brief description of the cleric class features.

CHANNEL DIVINITY

In addition to your divine spellcasting ability, you can channel divine power to produce single effects. At first, you can rebuke profane creature through your faith and devotion in your deity. However, your divine domain gives you new forms to use the energy of your faith in your benefit.

ABILITY SCORE IMPROVEMENT

Increase your Wisdom score is naturally the best choice to make when playing a cleric. Wisdom defines how hard is to bypass your spells, and interferes in many effects of your divine domain and raw power of certain spells. However, there are feats that can increase your versatility or improves focus in any aspect that you wish to elevate on your character (see chapter 6 on Player's Handbook).

DESTROY UNDEAD

As you became stronger, you became a fearless foe when face the walking dead. Very weak undead have no chance against powerful clerics, turn in to dust when the cleric raise his holy symbol and utters his words of faith and devotion.

DIVINE INTERVENTION

When you reach certain importance inside the clergy of your religion, you can pray to your god for his direct aid. If you are a zealous and deserved adept, you have a chance your god look after you and intervene directly by you.

DIVINE DOMAINS

At this supplemental rulebook are presented ten new divine domains you can choose instead of the divine domain presented in the Player's Handbook. The Air Domain, the Creation Domain, the Darkness Domain, the Earth Domain, the Fire Domain, the Mind Domain, the Prophecy Domain, the Time Domain, the Travel Domain, and the Water Domain.

AIR DOMAIN

Air is one of the most important elements for most life forms. Gods with the Air Domain are usually soft and light, but can become stormy and unstable in moments of rage. The winds reflects the temper of the gods who control it, and the clerics that worship those gods usually have a similar behavior. Many airborne creatures worship gods with the Air Domain, specially the aarakocra, airborne humanoids native from the Plane of Air. Aarakocra priests can control virtually all the plane with the permission of their gods and the Wind Dukes of Aaqa.

The Air Domain are owned by gods like Aerdrie Faenya, Bahamut, Auril, Shaundakul, Valkur, and other gods with influence on the Plane of Air or the upper planes.
