

HACK & SLASH

600 meters

Claw Point

Another small island, some of which disappears underwater during high tide. Waves crash against the western shore with constant unrelenting regularity.

There is a hidden cave, accessible during low tide, that has been a hiding place of many pirates, but it is too well known. Brave explorers will find a cramped cave with ancient bones, and remnants of a fire.

Inhabitants

The island is inhabited with a large quantity of blue scorpions, which have adapted to hunting fish in the shallows.

Fish are plentiful, they collect in the shallow water of the basin in the early evening.

The trees are a resting place for many seabirds on their travels.