An arcane lock spell cast upon a door, chest, or portal magically locks it.

You can freely pass your own lock without affecting it; otherwise, a door or object secured with arcane lock can be opened only by breaking in or by a successful dispel magic or knock spell.

Add +10 to the normal DC to break open a door or portal affected by this spell.

Note that a knock spell does not remove an arcane lock.

It only suppresses it for 10 minutes.

Material Component: Gold dust worth 25 gp.

ATONEMENT

Abjuration

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M, F, DF, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell removes the burden of evil acts or misdeeds from the subject.

The creature seeking atonement must be truly repentant and desirous of setting right its misdeeds.

If the atoning creature committed the evil act unwittingly or under some form of compulsion, atonement operates normally at no cost to you.

However, in the case of a creature atoning for deliberate misdeeds and acts of knowing and willful nature, you must intercede with your deity at the cost of 500 experience points in order to expunge the subject's burden.

Naturally, many casters first assign a subject of this sort a quest (see geas/quest) or similar penance to determine if the creature is truly contrite before casting the atonement spell on its behalf.

Atonement may be cast for one of several purposes, depending on the version selected: Reverse Magical Alignment Change: If a creature has had its alignment magically changed, atonement returns its alignment to its original status at no cost in experience points.

Restore Class: A paladin who has lost her class features due to unwillingly or unwittingly committing an evil act may have her paladinhood restored to her by this spell.

Note: A paladin who willingly and deliberately commits an evil act can never regain her paladinhood.

Restore Cleric or Druid Spell Powers: A cleric or druid who has lost his ability to cast spells because he incurred the anger of his deity may regain his spell powers by seeking atonement from another cleric of the same deity or another druid.

If the transgression was intentional, the casting cleric loses 500 XP for his intercession.

If the transgression was unintentional, he does not lose XP. Redemption or Temptation: You may cast this spell upon a creature of an opposing alignment in order to offer it a chance to change its alignment to match yours.

The prospective subject must be present for the entire casting process.

Upon completion of the spell, the subject freely chooses whether it retains its original alignment or acquiesces to your offer and changes to your alignment.

No duress, compulsion, or magical influence can force the subject to take advantage of the opportunity offered if it is unwilling to abandon its old alignment.

This use of the spell does not work on outsiders (or any creature incapable of changing its alignment naturally).

Note: Normally, changing alignment is up to the player (for PCs) or the DM (NPCs).

This use of atonement simply offers a believable way for a character to change her alignment drastically, suddenly, and definitively.

Material Component: Burning incense.

Focus: In addition to your holy symbol or normal divine focus, you need a set of prayer beads (or other prayer device, such as a prayer wheel or prayer book) worth at least 500 gp.

XP Cost: When cast for the benefit of creatures whose guilt was the result of deliberate acts, the cost to you is 500 XP per casting (see above).

BANISHMENT

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more extraplanar creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A banishment spell is a more powerful version of the dismissal spell.

It enables you to force extraplanar creatures out of your home plane.

Up to 2 HD of creatures per caster level can be banished.

To target a creature, you must present at least one object or substance that it hates, fears, or otherwise opposes.

For each such object or substance, you gain +1 on your caster level check to overcome the target's SR (if any) and +2 on the saving throw DC.

For example, if this spell were cast on a demon that hated light and was vulnerable to holy water and iron weapons, you might use iron, holy water, and a torch in the spell.

The three items would add +3 to your check to overcome the demon's SR and add +6 to the spell's DC.

At the DM's option, certain rare items might work twice as well (each providing +2 against SR and +4 on the spell's DC).

BREAK ENCHANTMENT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 4, Clr 5, Luck 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Targets: Up to one creature per level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This dispelling spell frees creatures from enchantments, transmutations, curses, and petrification (as well as other magical transformations).

Break enchantment can reverse even an instantaneous effect, such as flesh to stone.

For each such effect, you make a check of 1d20 + caster level (maximum +15) against a DC of 11 + caster level of the effect.

Success means that the creature is free of the spell, curse, or effect.

For cursed magic items, the DC is 25.

If the spell is one that, as a special property, cannot be dispelled by dispel magic, break enchantment works only if that spell is 5th level or lower.

For instance, bestow curse cannot be dispelled by dispel magic, but break enchantment can dispel it.

If the effect comes from some permanent magic item, such as a cursed sword, break enchantment does not remove the curse from the item but merely frees the victim from the item's effects, leaving the item cursed.

For example, a cursed item can change the alignment of its user.

Break enchantment allows the victim to be rid of the item (and negates the alignment change), but the item's curse is intact and affects the next person to pick up the item (even if it's the break enchantment recipient).

CLOAK OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 8, Clr 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A random pattern of color surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by lawful creatures, and confusing lawful creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects:

First, the warded creatures gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus to saves.

Unlike protection from law, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by lawful creatures.

Second, the warded creatures gain SR 25 against lawful spells and spells cast by lawful creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from law does.

Finally, if a lawful creature succeeds with a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker is confused for 1 round (Will save negates, as confusion, but against the save DC of cloak of chaos).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of parchment from a chaotic text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

DIMENSIONAL ANCHOR

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

A green ray springs from your outstretched hand.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit the target. Any creature or object struck is covered with a shimmering emerald field that completely blocks bodily extradimensional travel.

Forms of movement barred by the dimensional anchor include astral projection, blink, dimension door, ethereal jaunt, etherealness, gate, maze, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, and similar spell-like or psionic abilities.

It prevents the use of a gate or teleportation circle for the duration of the spell.

The dimensional anchor does not interfere with the movement of creatures already in ethereal or astral form when the spell is cast, nor does it block extradimensional perception or attack forms such as a basilisk's gaze.

Also, it does not prevent summoned creatures from disappearing at the end of a summoning spell.

DISMISSAL

Abjuration

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One extraplanar creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell forces an extraplanar creature back to its proper plane.

Add the creature's HD to its saving throw and subtract your level as well.

If the spell is successful, the creature is instantly whisked away, but there is a 20% chance of actually sending the subject to a plane other than its own.

Arcane Focus: Any item that is distasteful to the subject.

DISPEL CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 5, Law 5

As dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by constant, blue, lawful energy, and the spell affects chaotic creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 5, Good 5, Pal 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target or Targets: You and a touched evil creature from another plane; or you and an enchantment or evil spell on a touched creature or object

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged, whichever comes first

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

Shimmering, white, holy energy surrounds you.

This power has three effects:

1. You gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC against attacks by evil creatures.

2. On making a successful melee touch attack against an evil creature from another plane, you can choose to drive that creature back to its home plane.

The creature negates the effects with a Will save (SR applies).

This use discharges and ends the spell.

3. With a touch, you can automatically dispel any one enchantment cast by an evil creature or any one evil spell.

Exception: Spells that can't be dispelled by dispel magic also can't be dispelled by dispel evil.

Saving throws and SR do not apply to this effect.

This use discharges and ends the spell.

DISPEL GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 5, Evil 5

As dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by dark, wavering, unholy energy, and the spell affects good creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 5, Clr 5

As dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by flickering, yellow, chaotic energy, and the spell affects lawful creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL MAGIC

Abjuration

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 4, Magic 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target or Area: One spellcaster, creature, or object; or 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Because magic is powerful, so, too, is the ability to dispel magic.

You can use dispel magic to end ongoing spells that have been cast on a creature or object, to temporarily suppress the magical abilities of a magic item, to end ongoing spells (or at least their effects) within an area, or to counter another spellcaster's spell.

A dispelled spell ends as if its duration had expired.

Some spells, as detailed in their descriptions, can't be defeated by dispel magic.

Dispel magic can dispel (but not counter) the ongoing effects of supernatural abilities as well as spells.

Dispel magic affects spell-like effects just as it affects spells.

Note: The effects of spells with instantaneous duration can't be dispelled, because the magical effect is already over before the dispel magic can take effect.

Thus, you can't use dispel magic to repair fire damage caused by a fireball or to turn a petrified character back to flesh. (The magic has departed, leaving only burned flesh or perfectly normal stone in its wake).

You choose to use dispel magic in one of three ways: a targeted dispel, an area dispel, or a counterspell: Targeted

Dispel: One object, creature, or spell is the target of the spell.

You make a dispel check against the spell or against each ongoing spell currently in effect on the object or creature. A dispel check is 1d20 +1 per caster level (maximum +10) against a DC of 11 + the spell's caster level.

For example, Mialee, at 5th level, targets dispel magic on a hasted, mage armored, strengthened drow.

All three spells were cast on the drow by a 7th-level wizard. Mialee makes a dispel check (1d20+5 against DC 18) three times, once each for the haste, mage armor, and bull's strength effects.

If she succeeds at a particular check, that spell is dispelled (the drow's SR doesn't help him); if she fails, that spell remains in effect.

If the spellcaster targets an object or creature who is the effect of an ongoing spell (such as a monster summoned by monster summoning), she makes a dispel check to end the spell that conjured the object or creature.

If the object that you target is a magic item, you make a dispel check against the item's caster level.

If you succeed, all the item's magical properties are suppressed for 1d4 rounds, after which the item recovers on its own.

A suppressed item becomes nonmagical for the duration of the effect.

An interdimensional interface (such as a bag of holding) is temporarily closed.

Remember that a magic item's physical properties are unchanged: A suppressed magic sword is still a sword (a masterwork sword, in fact).

Artifacts and creatures of demigod or higher status are unaffected by mortal magic such as this.

You automatically succeed at your dispel check against any spell that you cast yourself.

Area Dispel: The spell affects everything within a 30-foot radius.

For each creature who is the target of one or more spells, you make a dispel check against the spell with the highest caster level.

If that fails, you make dispel checks against progressively weaker spells until you dispel one spell (which discharges the dispel so far as that target is concerned) or fail all your checks.

The creature's magic items are not affected.

For each object that is the target of one or more spells, you make dispel checks as with creatures.

Magic items are not affected by area dispels.

For each ongoing area or effect spell centered within the dispel magic's area, you make a dispel check to dispel the spell.

For each ongoing spell whose area overlaps that of the dispel, you make a dispel check to end the effect, but only within the area of the dispel magic.

If an object or creature who is the effect of an ongoing spell, such as a monster summoned by monster summoning, is in the area, you make a dispel check to end the spell that conjured the object or creature (returning it whence it came) in addition to attempting to dispel spells targeting the creature or object.

You may choose to automatically succeed at dispel checks against any spell that you have cast.

Counterspell: The spell targets a spellcaster and is cast as a counterspell (page 152).

Unlike a true counterspell, however, dispel magic may not work.

You must make a dispel check to counter the other spellcaster's spell.

ENDURE ELEMENTS

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Drd 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Strength 1, Sun 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This abjuration grants a creature limited protection to damage from whichever one of five energy types you select: acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic.

Each round, the spell absorbs the first 5 points of damage the creature would otherwise take from the specified energy type, regardless of whether the source of damage is natural or magical.

The spell protects the recipient's equipment as well.

Endure elements absorbs only damage.

The character could still suffer unfortunate side effects, such as drowning in acid (since drowning damage comes from lack of oxygen) or becoming encased in ice.

Note: Endure elements overlaps (and does not stack with) resist elements and protection from elements.

If a character is warded by protection from elements and one or both of the other spells, the protection spell absorbs damage until it is exhausted.

If a character is warded by resist elements and endure elements at the same time, the resist spell absorbs damage but the endure spell does not.

ENTROPIC SHIELD

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Luck 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

A magical field appears around you, glowing with a chaotic blast of multicolored hues.

This field deflects incoming arrows, rays, and other ranged attacks.

Each ranged attack directed at you suffers a 20% miss chance (similar to the effects of concealment).

This miss chance affects all ranged attacks for which the attackers make attack rolls, including arrows, magic arrows, Melf's acid arrow, ray of enfeeblement, and so forth.

It does not affect other attacks that simply work at a distance, such as dragon breath.

EXPLOSIVE RUNES

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing no more than 10 lb.

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You trace these mystic runes upon a book, map, scroll, or similar object bearing written information.

The runes detonate when read, dealing 6d6 points of damage.

Anyone next to the runes (close enough to read them) takes this damage with no saving throw.

Others within 10 feet of the runes take half damage if they succeed at Reflex saving throws.

The object in which the runes were written also takes the damage (no saving throw).

As the spellcaster, you and any characters you specifically instruct can read the protected writing without triggering the runes.

Likewise, you can remove the runes whenever desired.

Others can remove them with a successful dispel magic or erase spell.

However, attempting to dispel or erase the runes and failing to do so triggers the explosion.

Note: Magic traps such as explosive runes are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the runes and Disable Device to thwart them.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 28 for explosive runes.

FIRE TRAP

Abjuration [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Fire trap creates a fiery explosion when an intruder opens the item that the trap wards.

The fire trap can ward any closeable item (book, box, bottle, chest, coffer, coffin, door, drawer, and so forth).

When casting fire trap, you select a point on the item as the spell's center.

When someone other than you opens the item, a fiery explosion fills the area within a 5-foot radius around the spell's center.

The flames deal 1d4 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

The item protected by the trap is not harmed by this explosion.

The fire trapped item cannot have a second closure or warding spell placed on it.

A knock spell does not affect a fire trap in any way, because knock only opens things and the fire trap in no way prevents one from opening the trapped item.

An unsuccessful dispel magic spell does not detonate the spell.

Underwater, this ward deals half damage and creates a large cloud of steam.

As the caster, you can use the trapped object without discharging it, as can any individual to whom the spell was specifically attuned when cast.

"Attuning" to an individual usually involves a password that you can share with friends.

Note: Magic traps such as fire trap are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the trap and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level (DC 27 for a druid's fire trap or DC 29 for the arcane version).

Material Components: A half-pound of gold dust (cost 25 gp) sprinkled on the warded object.

Attuning the trap to another individual requires a hair or similar object from that individual.

FORBIDDANCE

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 6 rounds

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 60-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Forbiddance prevents creatures whose alignments are different from yours from entering the area.

Additionally, the spell seals the area against all planar travel into it, including dimension door, teleport, plane shifting, astral travel, ethereal travel, and all summoning spells.

At your option, the abjuration can be locked by a password, in which case it can be entered only by those speaking the proper words (no saving throw allowed to those who don't speak the password, although SR applies).

Otherwise, the effect on those entering the warded area is based on their alignment relative to yours.

Alignments identical: No effect.

The creature may enter freely (albeit not by planar travel).

Alignments different with respect to either law/chaos or good/evil: The creature is hedged out and takes 3d6 points of damage.

A successful Will save negates both effects, and SR applies.

Alignments different with respect to both law/chaos and good/evil: The creature is hedged out and takes 6d6 points of damage.

A successful Will save negates both effects, and SR applies.

Once a saving throw is failed, an intruder cannot enter the forbidden area (future saving throws likewise fail).

Intruders who enter by rolling successful saving throws feel uneasy and tense, despite their success.

Dispel magic does not dispel the forbiddance effect unless the dispeller's level is at least as high as your caster level.

Material Components: A sprinkling of holy water and rare incenses worth at least 1,500 gp per 60-foot cube.

If a password lock is desired, this requires the burning of additional rare incenses worth at least 5,000 gp per 60-foot cube.

FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Drd 4, Luck 4, Pal 4, Rgr 4

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

This spell enables you or the creature you touch to move and attack normally for the duration of the spell, even under the influence of magic that usually impedes movement, such as hold person, paralysis, solid fog, slow, and web spells.

The spell also allows a character to move and attack normally while underwater, even with cutting weapons such as axes and swords and with bludgeoning weapons such as flails, hammers, and maces, provided that the weapon is wielded in the hand rather than hurled.

The freedom of movement spell does not, however, allow water breathing.

Material Component: A leather thong, bound around the arm or a similar appendage.

FREEDOM

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject is freed from spells and effects that restrict his movement, including entangle, hold, imprisonment, paralysis, petrification, sleep, slow, stunning, temporal stasis, and web.

To free someone from imprisonment, you must know his name and background, and you must cast this spell at the spot where he was entombed.

GLOBE OF INVULNERABILITY

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

As minor globe of invulnerability, except that it also excludes 4th-level spells and spell-like effects.

GLYPH OF WARDING

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target or Area: Object touched or up to 5 sq. ft./level

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This powerful inscription harms those who enter, pass, or open the warded area or object.

A glyph can guard a bridge or passage, ward a portal, trap a chest or box, and so on.

You set the conditions of the ward.

Typically, any creature violating the warded area without speaking a pass phrase (which you set when casting the spell) is subject to the magic it stores.

Glyphs can be set according to physical characteristics (such as height or weight) or creature type, subtype, or species (such as “drow” or “aberration”).

Glyphs can also be set with respect to good, evil, law, or chaos, or to pass those of your religion.

They cannot be set according to class, HD, or level.

Glyphs respond to invisible creatures normally but are not triggered by those who travel past them ethereally.

Multiple glyphs cannot be cast on the same area.

However, if a cabinet had three drawers, each could be separately warded.

When casting the spell, you weave a tracery of faintly glowing lines around the warding sigil.

The glyph can be placed to conform to any shape up to the limitations of your total square footage.

When the spell is completed, the glyph and tracery become nearly invisible.

Glyphs cannot be affected or bypassed by such means as physical or magical probing, though they can be dispelled. Mislead, polymorph, and nondetection can fool a glyph.

Read magic allows you to identify a glyph of warding with a successful Spellcraft check (DC 13).

Identifying the glyph does not discharge it and allows you to know the basic nature of the glyph (version, type of damage caused, what spell is stored).

The DM may decide that the exact glyphs available to you depend on your deity.

He or she might also make new glyphs available according to the magical research rules.

Note: Magic traps such as glyph of warding are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the glyph and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 28 for glyph of warding.

Depending on the version selected, a glyph either blasts the intruder or activates a spell.

Blast Glyph: A blast deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels to the intruder and to all within 5 feet of the intruder (maximum 5d8).

This damage is acid, cold, fire, electricity, or sonic (caster's choice, made at time of casting).

Those affected can make Reflex saves to take half damage.

Spell Glyph: You can store any harmful spell of up to 3rd level that you know.

All level-dependent features of the spell are based on your level at the time of casting.

If the spell has targets, it targets the intruder.

If the spell has an area or an amorphous effect (such as a cloud), the area or effect is centered on the intruder.

If the spell summons creatures, they appear as close as possible to the intruder and attack.

All saving throws operate as normal, except that the DC is based on the level of the glyph.

Material Component: You trace the glyph with incense, which must first be sprinkled with powdered diamond worth at least 200 gp.

GREATER DISPELLING

Abjuration

Level: Brd 5, Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

As dispel magic, except that the maximum bonus on the dispel check is +20 instead of +10.

Additionally, greater dispelling has a chance to dispel any effect that remove curse can remove, even if dispel magic can't dispel that effect.

GREATER GLYPH OF WARDING

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6

As glyph of warding, except that the blast deals up to 10d8 damage, and the greater glyph can store a harmful spell of up to 6th level.

Material Component: Diamond dust worth at least 400 gp.

GUARDS AND WARDS

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 30 minutes

Range: Anywhere within the area to be warded

Area: Up to 200 sq. ft./level (S)

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

This powerful spell is primarily used to defend your stronghold.

The ward protects 200 square feet per caster level.

The warded area can be up to 20 feet high, and shaped as you desire.

You can ward several stories of a stronghold by dividing the area among them; you must be somewhere within the area to be warded to cast the spell.

The spell creates the following magical effects within the warded area:

Fog: Fog fills all corridors, obscuring all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has one-half concealment (attacks suffer a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have full concealment (50% miss chance; the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

Spell resistance: No.

Arcane Locks: All doors in the warded area are arcane locked.

Spell resistance: No.

Webs: Webs fill all stairs from top to bottom.

These strands are identical with those created by the web spell, except that they regrow in 10 minutes if they are burned or torn away while the guards and wards spell lasts.

Spell resistance: Yes.

Confusion: Where there are choices in direction—such as a corridor intersection or side passage—a minor confusion-type spell functions so as to make it 50% probable that intruders believe they are going in the exact opposite direction from the one they actually chose.

This is an enchantment (mind-affecting) effect.

Spell resistance: Yes.

Lost Doors: One door per caster level is covered by a glamor to appear as if it were a plain wall.

Spell resistance: No.

In addition, you can place your choice of one of the following five magical effects:

- Dancing lights in four corridors.

You can designate a simple program that causes the lights to repeat as long as the guards and wards spell lasts.

Spell resistance: No.

- A magic mouth in two places.

Spell resistance: No.

- A stinking cloud in two places.

The vapors appear in the places you designate; they return within 10 minutes if dispersed by wind while the guards and wards spell lasts.

Spell resistance: Yes.

- A gust of wind in one corridor or room.

Spell resistance: Yes.

- A suggestion in one place.

You select an area up to 5 feet square, and any creature who enters or passes through the area receives the suggestion mentally.

Spell resistance: Yes.

The whole warded area radiates strong magic of the abjuration school.

A dispel magic cast on a specific effect, if successful, removes only that effect.

A successful Mordenkainen's disjunction destroys the entire guards and wards effect.

Material Components: Burning incense, a small measure of brimstone and oil, a knotted string, and a small amount of umber hulk blood.

Focus: A small silver rod.

HOLD PORTAL

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One portal, up to 20 sq. ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell magically bars a door, gate, window, or shutter of wood, metal, or stone.

The magic holds the portal fast, just as if it were securely closed and normally locked.

A knock spell or a successful dispel magic spell can negate the hold portal.

For a portal affected by this spell, add 5 to the normal DC for forcing the portal.

HOLY AURA

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 8, Good 8, Luck 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A brilliant divine radiance surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by evil creatures, and blinding evil creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects:

First, the warded creatures gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus to saves.

Unlike protection from evil, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by evil creatures.

Second, the warded creatures gain SR 25 against evil spells and spells cast by evil creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from evil does.

Finally, if an evil creature succeeds at a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker is blinded (Fortitude save negates, as blindness/deafness, but against holy aura's save DC).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of cloth from a saint's robe or a piece of parchment from a holy text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

IMPRISONMENT

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When you cast imprisonment and touch an opponent, he is entombed in a state of suspended animation (see the temporal stasis spell) in a small sphere far beneath the surface of the earth.

The subject remains there unless a freedom spell is cast at the locale where the imprisonment took place.

Magical search by a crystal ball, a locate object spell, or some other similar divination does not reveal the fact that a creature is imprisoned, but discern location does.

A wish or miracle spell will not free the recipient but will reveal where it is entombed.

The imprisonment spell functions only if the target's name and some facts about its life are known.

INVISIBILITY TO ANIMALS

Abjuration

Level: Drd 1

Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature touched/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Animals cannot perceive the warded creatures.

They act as though the warded creatures are not there.

Warded creatures could stand before the hungriest of lions and not be molested or even noticed.

If a warded character touches an animal or attacks any creature, even with a spell, the spell ends for all recipients.

Note: Beasts (such as owlbears), magical beasts (such as blink dogs), and vermin (such as giant scorpions) are not "animals" as defined by the spell; see the Monster Manual.

INVISIBILITY TO UNDEAD

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Undead cannot perceive the warded creatures.

Nonintelligent undead are automatically affected and act as though the warded creatures are not there.

Intelligent undead get saving throws.

If they fail, they can't see the warded creatures.

However, if they have reason to believe unseen opponents are present, they can attempt to find or strike them.

If a warded character attempts to turn or command undead, touches an undead, or attacks any creature (even with a spell), the spell ends for all recipients.

Note: An intelligent undead creature gets one saving throw against the spell.

It either sees all the warded creatures or none of them.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Law 3, Sor/Wiz 3

As magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from chaos instead of protection from evil.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Good 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Area: Emanates 10 ft. from touched creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Spell Resistance: No (see text)

As protection from evil, except that it encompasses a much larger area and its duration is longer.

Unlike protection from evil, this spell has a special function that you may choose when casting the spell.

A magic circle can be focused inward rather than outward.

In this case, it serves as an immobile, temporary magical prison for a called creature.

The creature cannot cross the circle's boundaries.

(See Calling, page 157, for more information on using this spell in conjunction with calling spells).

You must beat a creature's SR in order to keep it at bay (as in the third function of protection from evil), but the deflection and resistance bonuses and the protection from mental control apply regardless of enemies' SR.

If a creature too large to fit into the spell's area is the subject of the spell, the spell acts as a normal protection from evil spell for that creature only.

This spell is not cumulative with protection from evil and vice versa.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Evil 3, Sor/Wiz 3

As magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from good instead of protection from evil.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Brd 3, Chaos 3, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3
As magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from law instead of protection from evil.

MIND BLANK

Abjuration

Level: Protection 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 day

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject is protected from all devices and spells that detect, influence, or read emotions or thoughts. This spell protects against all mind-affecting spells and effects as well as information gathering by divination spells or effects.

Mind blank even foils limited wish, miracle, and wish when they are used in such a way as to affect the subject's mind or to gain information about him.

In the case of scrying that scans an area that the creature is in, such as arcane eye, the spell works but the creature simply isn't detected.

Scrying attempts that are targeted specifically at the subject do not work at all.

MINOR GLOBE OF INVULNERABILITY

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius spherical emanation, centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

An immobile, faintly shimmering magical sphere surrounds you and excludes all spell effects of up to 3rd level.

The area or effect of any such spells does not include the area of the minor globe of invulnerability.

Such spells fail to affect any target located within the globe. This includes spell-like abilities and spells or spell-like effects from devices.

However, any type of spell can be cast through or out of the magical globe.

Spells of 4th level and higher are not affected by the globe. The globe can be brought down by a targeted dispel magic spell, but not by an area dispel magic.

You can leave and return to the globe without penalty.

Note that spell effects are not disrupted unless their effects enter the globe, and even then they are merely suppressed, not dispelled.

For example, creatures inside the globe would still see a mirror image created by a caster outside the globe.

If that caster then entered the globe, the images would wink out, to reappear when the caster exited the globe.

Likewise, a caster standing in the area of a light spell would still receive sufficient light for vision, even though that part of the light spell volume in the globe would not be luminous.

If a given spell has more than one level depending on which character class is casting it, use the level appropriate to the caster to determine whether minor globe of invulnerability stops it.

Material Component: A glass or crystal bead that shatters at the expiration of the spell.

MORDENKAINEN'S DISJUNCTION

Abjuration

Level: Magic 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: All magical effects and magic items within a 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No

All magical effects and magic items within the radius of the spell, except for those that you carry or touch, are disjoined. That is, spells and spell-like effects are separated into their individual components (ending the effect as a dispel magic spell does), and permanent magic items must make successful Will saves or be turned into normal items. An item in a creature's possession uses its own Will save bonus or its possessor's Will save bonus, whichever is higher.

You also have a 1% chance per caster level of destroying an antimagic field.

If the antimagic field survives the disjunction, no items within it are disjoined.

Even artifacts are subject to disjunction, though there is only a 1% chance per caster level of actually affecting such powerful items.

Additionally, if an artifact is destroyed, you must succeed at a Will save (DC 25) or permanently lose all spellcasting abilities.

(These abilities cannot be recovered by mortal magic, not even miracle or wish).

Note: Destroying artifacts is a dangerous business, and it is 95% likely to attract the attention of some powerful being who has an interest in or connection with the device.

NEGATIVE ENERGY PROTECTION

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains partial protection from undead creatures who use negative energy (such as shadows, wights, wraiths, spectres, or vampires) and certain weapons and spells that drain energy levels.

The negative energy protection spell uses positive energy, which can offset the effects of a negative energy attack.

Each time the warded creature is struck by a negative energy attack that drains levels or ability scores, it rolls 1d20 + caster level against a DC of 11 + the attacker's HD. If the warded creature succeeds, the energies cancel with a bright flash of light and a thunderclap.

The warded creature takes only hit point damage from the attack and does not suffer any drain of experience levels or ability scores, regardless of the number of levels or ability score points the attack would have drained.

An attacking undead creature takes 2d6 points of damage from the positive energy.

An attacking caster or weapon receives no damage.

If the warded creature does not succeed, the negative energy attack deals its normal damage.

An attacking undead creature in such a situation does not take any positive energy damage.

NONDETECTION

Abjuration

Level: Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 3, Trickery 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

The warded creature or object becomes difficult to detect by divination spells such as clairaudience/clairvoyance, locate object, and detection spells.

Nondetection also prevents location by such magic items as crystal balls.

If a divination is attempted against the warded creature or item, the caster of the divination must succeed at a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against a DC of 11 + the caster level of the spellcaster who cast nondetection.

If you cast nondetection on yourself or on an item currently in your possession, the DC is 15 + your caster level.

If cast on a creature, nondetection wards the creature's gear as well as the creature itself.

Material Component: A pinch of diamond dust worth 50 gp.

OBSCURE OBJECT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One object touched of up to 100 lb./level

Duration: 8 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell hides an object from location by a spell, a crystal ball, and other forms of scrying.

Arcane Material Component: A piece of chameleon skin.

PRISMATIC SPHERE

Abjuration

Level: Protection 9, Sor/Wiz 9, Sun 9

Components: V

Range: 10 ft.

Effect: 10-ft.-radius sphere centered on you

As prismatic wall, except you conjure up an immobile, opaque globe of shimmering, multicolored light that surrounds you and protects you from all forms of attack.

The sphere flashes in all colors of the visible spectrum.

The sphere's blindness effect on creatures with less than 8 HD lasts 2d4 x 10 minutes.

You can pass into and out of the prismatic sphere and remain near it without harm.

However, when you're inside it, the sphere blocks any attempt to project something through the sphere (including spells).

Other creatures who attempt to attack you or pass through suffer the effects of each color, one at a time.

Typically, only the upper hemisphere of the globe will exist, since you are at the center of the sphere, so the lower half is usually excluded by the floor surface you are standing on.

The colors of the sphere have the same effects as the colors of a prismatic wall.

PRISMATIC WALL

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall 4 ft./level wide x 2 ft./level high

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

Prismatic wall creates a vertical, opaque wall—a shimmering, multicolored plane of light that protects you from all forms of attack.

The wall flashes with seven colors, each of which has a distinct power and purpose.

The wall is immobile, and you can pass through and remain near the wall without harm.

However, any other creature with fewer than 8 HD that is within 20 feet of the wall is blinded (see blindness/deafness) for 2d4 rounds by the colors if it looks at the wall.

The wall's maximum proportions are 4 feet wide per caster level and 2 feet high per caster level.

A prismatic wall spell cast to materialize in a space occupied by a creature is disrupted, and the spell is wasted.

Each color in the wall has a special effect.

The accompanying table shows the seven colors of the wall, the order in which they appear, their effects on creatures trying to attack you or pass through the wall, and the magic needed to negate each color.

The wall can be destroyed, color by color, in consecutive order, by various magical effects; however, the first must be brought down before the second can be affected, and so on.

A rod of cancellation or a Mordenkainen's disjunction spell destroys a prismatic wall, but an antimagic field fails to penetrate it.

Dispel magic and greater dispelling cannot dispel the wall or anything beyond it.

Spell resistance is effective against a prismatic wall, but the caster level check must be repeated for each color present.

PRISMATIC WALL

Color	Order	Effect of Color	Negated By
Red	1st	Stops nonmagical ranged weapons. Deals 20 points of fire damage (Reflex half).	Cone of cold
Orange	2nd	Stops magical ranged weapons. Deals 40 points of acid damage (Reflex half).	Gust of wind
Yellow	3rd	Stops poisons, gases, and petrification. Deals 80 points of electricity damage (Reflex half).	Desintegrate
Green	4th	Stops breath weapons. Poison (Kills; Fortitude partial to Take 20 points of damage instead).	Passwall
Blue	5th	Stops divination and mental attacks. Turned to stone (Fortitude negates).	Magic missile
Indigo	6th	Stops all spells. Will save or become insane (as insanity spell).	Daylight
Violet	7th	Energy field destroys all objects and effects.* Creatures sent to another plane (Will negates).	Dispel magic

*The violet effect makes the special effects of the other six colors redundant, but they are included here because certain magic items can create prismatic effects one color at a time, and SR might render some colors ineffective (see above).

PROTECTION FROM ARROWS

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains resistance to ranged weapons. The subject gains damage reduction 10/+1 against ranged weapons.

It ignores the first 10 points of damage each time it takes damage from a ranged weapon, though a weapon with a +1 enhancement bonus or any magical attack bypasses the reduction.

The damage reduction increases with the caster level to 10/+2 at 5th, 10/+3 at 10th, 10/+4 at 15th, and 10/+5 at 20th. Once the spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 100 points), it is discharged. Focus: A piece of shell from a tortoise or a turtle.

PROTECTION FROM CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Law 1, Sor/Wiz 1

As protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from chaotic creatures, and chaotic summoned or conjured creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM ELEMENTS

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Luck 3, Protection 3, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

As endure elements, but protection from elements grants temporary invulnerability to the selected energy type. When the spell absorbs 12 points per caster level of elemental damage, it is discharged.

Note: Protection from elements overlaps (and does not stack with) resist elements and endure elements.

If a character is warded by protection from elements and one or both of the other spells, the protection spell absorbs damage until it is exhausted.

If a character is warded by resist elements and endure elements at the same time, the resist spell absorbs damage but the endure spell does not.

PROTECTION FROM EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Good 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No (see text)

This spell wards a creature from attacks by evil creatures, from mental control, and from summoned or conjured creatures.

It creates a magical barrier around the subject at a distance of 1 foot.

The barrier moves with the subject and has three major effects:

First, the subject gets a +2 deflection bonus to AC and a +2 resistance bonus on saves.

Both these bonuses apply against attacks made by evil creatures.

Second, the barrier blocks any attempt to possess the warded creature (as by a magic jar attack) or to exercise mental control over the creature (as by a vampire's supernatural domination ability, which works similar to dominate person).

The protection does not prevent a vampire's domination itself, but it prevents the vampire from mentally commanding the protected creature.

If the protection from evil effect ends before the domination effect does, the vampire would then be able to mentally command the controlled creature.

Likewise, the barrier keeps out a possessing life force but does not expel one if it is in place before the spell is cast.

This second effect works regardless of alignment.

Third, the spell prevents bodily contact by summoned or conjured creatures (see the Monster Manual).

This causes the natural weapon attacks of such creatures to fail and the creatures to recoil if such attacks require touching the warded creature.

Good elementals and outsiders are immune to this effect. The protection against contact by summoned or conjured creatures ends if the warded creature makes an attack against or tries to force the barrier against the blocked creature.

Spell resistance can allow a creature to overcome this protection and touch the warded creature.

Arcane Material Component: A little powdered silver with which you trace a 3-foot-diameter circle on the floor (or ground) around the creature to be warded.

PROTECTION FROM GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Evil 1, Sor/Wiz 1

As protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from good creatures, and good summoned or conjured creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Brd 1, Chaos 1, Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

As protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from lawful creatures, and lawful summoned or conjured creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM SPELLS

Abjuration

Level: Magic 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to one creature/four levels touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Subjects gain a +8 resistance bonus on saving throws against spells and spell-like abilities (but not against supernatural and extraordinary abilities).

Material Component: A diamond of at least 500 gp value, which must be crushed and sprinkled over the spell recipients.

Focus: One 1,000 gp diamond per creature granted the protection.

Each recipient must carry one such gem for the duration of the spell.

If a recipient loses the gem, the spell ceases to affect him.

REMOVE CURSE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or item touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove curse instantaneously removes all curses on an object or a person.

Remove curse does not remove the curse from a cursed shield, weapon, or suit of armor, although the spell typically enables the person afflicted with any such cursed item to remove and get rid of it.

Certain special curses may not be countered by this spell or may be countered only by a caster of a certain level or higher.

Remove curse counters and dispels bestow curse.

REMOVE FEAR

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature plus one additional creature/four levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes and see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You instill courage in the subject, granting the creature a +4 morale bonus against fear effects for 10 minutes.

If the subject is suffering from a fear effect when receiving the spell, it gets a new save with a +4 morale bonus.

Remove fear counters and dispels cause fear.

REPEL METAL OR STONE

Abjuration

Level: Drd 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Path 120 ft. wide and 10 ft. high, emanating from you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Like repel wood, this spell creates waves of invisible and intangible energy that roll forth from you.

All metal or stone objects in the path of the spell are pushed away from you to the limit of the range.

Fixed metal or stone objects larger than 3 inches in diameter and loose objects weighing more than 500 pounds are not affected.

Anything else, including animated objects, small boulders, and creatures in metal armor, moves back.

Fixed objects 3 inches in diameter or smaller bend or break, and the pieces move with the wave of energy.

Objects affected by the spell are repelled at the rate of 40 feet per round.

Objects such as metal armor, swords, etc. are pushed back, dragging their bearers with them.

Even magic items with metal components are repelled, although an antimagic field blocks the effects.

The waves of energy continue to sweep down the set path for the spell's duration.

After you cast the spell, the path is set, and you can then do other things or go elsewhere without affecting the spell's power.

REPEL VERMIN

Abjuration

Level: Animal 4, Clr 4, Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible barrier holds back vermin.

A vermin with less than one-third your level in HD cannot penetrate the barrier.

A vermin with at least one-third your level in HD can penetrate the barrier if it succeeds at a Will save.

Even so, crossing the barrier deals the vermin 2d6 points of damage, and pressing against the barrier causes pain, which deters less aggressive vermin.

REPULSION

Abjuration

Level: Brd 6, Clr 7, Protection 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Up to 10 ft./level

Area: Up to 10-ft.-radius/level emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible, mobile field surrounds you and prevents creatures from approaching you.

You decide how big the field is at the time of casting (up to the limit your level allows).

Creatures within or entering the field must attempt saves.

If they fail, they become unable to move toward you for the duration of the spell.

Repelled creatures' actions are not otherwise restricted.

They can fight other creatures and can cast spells and attack you with ranged weapons.

If you move closer to an affected creature, nothing happens.

The creature is free to make melee attacks against you if you come within reach.

If a repelled creature moves away from you and then tries to turn back toward you, it cannot move any closer if it is still within the spell's area.

Arcane Focus: A pair of small iron bars attached to two small canine statuettes, one black and one white.

RESIST ELEMENTS

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Fire 3, Pal 2, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Duration: 1 minute/level

As endure elements, except resist elements absorbs the first 12 points of damage each round.

Note: Resist elements overlaps (and does not stack with) endure elements and protection from elements.

If a character is warded by protection from elements and one or both of the other spells, the protection spell absorbs damage until it is exhausted.

If a character is warded by resist elements and endure elements at the same time, the resist spell absorbs damage but the endure spell does not.

RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You imbue the subject with magical energy that protects her from harm, granting her a +1 resistance bonus on saves.

Arcane Material Component: A miniature cloak.

SANCTUARY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Protection 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

Any opponent attempting to strike or otherwise directly attack the warded creature, even with a targeted spell, must attempt a Will save.

If the save succeeds, the opponent can attack normally and is unaffected by that casting of the spell. If the save fails, the opponent can't follow through with the attack, that part of the attacker's action is lost, and the attacker can't directly attack the warded creature for the duration of the spell.

Those not attempting to attack the subject remain unaffected.

This spell does not prevent the warded creature from being attacked or affected by area or effect spells (fireball, summon monster IV, etc.).

While protected by this spell, the subject cannot attack without breaking the spell but may use nonattack spells or otherwise act.

This allows a warded cleric to heal wounds, for example, or to bless, perform an augury, summon creatures, cast a light spell in the area, and so on.

SEQUESTER

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One creature or object (up to a 2-ft. cube/level) touched

Duration: 1 day/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

When cast, this spell not only prevents divination spells from working to detect or locate the creature or object affected by sequester, it also renders the affected creature or object invisible to any form of sight or seeing.

Thus, sequester can mask a secret door, a treasure vault, etc.

The spell does not prevent the subject from being discovered through tactile means or through the use of devices (such as a robe of eyes or a gem of seeing).

Living creatures (and even undead creatures) affected by sequester become comatose and are effectively in a state of suspended animation until the spell wears off or is dispelled.

Note: The Will save prevents a character from being sequestered.

There is no save to see the sequestered creature or object or to detect it with a divination spell.

Material Components: A basilisk eyelash, gum arabic, and a dram of whitewash.

SHIELD OF FAITH

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell creates a shimmering, magical field around the touched creature that averts attacks.

The spell grants the subject a +2 deflection bonus, with an additional +1 to the bonus for every six levels you have (maximum +5 deflection bonus).

Material Component: A small parchment with a bit of holy text written upon it.

SHIELD OF LAW

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 8, Law 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A dim, blue glow surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by chaotic creatures, and slowing chaotic creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects:

First, the warded creatures gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus to saves.

Unlike protection from chaos, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by chaotic creatures.

Second, the warded creatures gain SR 25 against chaotic spells and spells cast by chaotic creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from chaos does.

Finally, if a chaotic creature succeeds at a melee attack against a warded creature, the attacker is slowed (Will save negates, as the slow spell, but against shield of law's save DC).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of parchment from a lawful text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

SHIELD OTHER

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Pal 2, Protection 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell wards the subject and creates a mystic connection between you and the subject so that some of the subject's wounds are transferred to you.

The subject gains a +1 deflection bonus to AC and a +1 resistance bonus to saves.

Additionally, the subject takes only half damage from all wounds and attacks (including those inflicted by special abilities) that deal it hit point damage.

The amount of damage not taken by the warded creature is taken by you.

Forms of harm that do not involve hit points, such as charm effects, temporary ability damage, level draining, and disintegration, are not affected.

If the subject suffers a reduction of hit points from a lowered Constitution score, the reduction is not split with you because it is not hit point damage.

When the spell ends, subsequent damage is no longer divided between the subject and you, but damage already split is not reassigned to the subject.

If you and the subject of the spell move out of range of each other, the spell ends.

Focus: A pair of platinum rings (worth at least 50 gp each) worn by both you and the warded creature.

SHIELD

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Shield creates an invisible, mobile disk of force that hovers in front of you.

It negates magic missile attacks directed at you.

The disk also intercepts attacks, providing a +7 cover bonus to AC.

Despite this bonus a shield spell does provide actual cover and does not negate attacks of opportunity against you.

The disk protects you only against magic missiles and attacks from one direction.

You designate half the battlefield (with yourself on the dividing line) as being blocked by the shield.

The other half is not.

You can change the defensive direction of the shield (that is, rotate the dividing line) once as a free action on each of your turns.

SPELL IMMUNITY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Protection 4, Strength 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature is immune to the effects of one specified spell for every four levels you have.

The spells must be of 4th level or lower.

The warded creature effectively has unbeatable SR regarding the specified spell or spells.

Naturally, that spell immunity doesn't protect a creature from spells for which SR doesn't apply.

Spell immunity protects against spells, spell-like effects of magic items, and innate spell-like abilities of creatures.

It does not protect against supernatural or extraordinary abilities, such as breath weapons or gaze attacks.

Only a particular spell can be protected against, not a certain domain or school of spells or a group of spells that are similar in effect.

Thus, a creature given immunity to lightning bolt is still vulnerable to shocking grasp or chain lightning.

A creature can have only one spell immunity spell in effect on it at a time.

SPELL RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Clr 5, Magic 5, Protection 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The creature gains SR equal to 12 + caster level.

In order to affect a creature who has SR with a spell, a spellcaster must roll the creature's SR or higher on 1d20 + caster level.

A creature with SR may voluntarily lower it in order to accept a spell.

SPELL TURNING

Abjuration

Level: Luck 7, Magic 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Until expended or 10 minutes/level

Spells (and spell-like effects) targeted against you rebound on the original caster.

The abjuration turns only spells that have you as a target.

Effect and area spells are not affected.

Spell turning also fails to affect touch range spells.

Thus, a charm person spell cast at you could be turned back upon and possibly enable you to charm the caster, but a fireball could not be turned back, and neither could inflict critical wounds.

From seven to ten (1d4+6) spell levels are affected by the turning.

The DM secretly rolls the exact number.

Each spell turned subtracts its level from the amount of spell turning left.

A spell might be only partially turned.

Subtract the 1d4+6 result from the spell level of the incoming spell.

Divide the remaining levels of the incoming spell by the spell level of the incoming spell to see what fraction of the effect gets through.

For damaging spells, you and the caster each take a fraction of the damage.

For nondamaging spells, each of you has a proportional chance to be affected.

If you and a spellcasting attacker are both warded by spell turning effects in operation, a resonating field is created.

Roll randomly to determine the result:

d%	Effect
01–70	Spell drains away without effect.
71–80	Spell affects both of you equally at full effect.
81–97	Both turning effects are rendered nonfunctional for 1d4 minutes.
98–100	Both of you go through a rift into another plane.

Arcane Material Component: A small silver mirror.

STONESKIN

Abjuration

Level: Earth 6, Sor/Wiz 4, Strength 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains resistance to blows, cuts, stabs, and slashes.

The subject gains damage reduction 10/+5.

(It ignores the first 10 points of damage each time it takes damage, though a weapon with a +5 enhancement bonus or any magical attack bypasses the reduction).

Once the spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 150 points), it is discharged.

Material Components: Granite and 250 gp worth of diamond dust sprinkled on the target's skin.

UNDETECTABLE ALIGNMENT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Pal 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

An undetectable alignment spell conceals the alignment of an object or a creature from all forms of divination.

UNHOLY AURA

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 8, Evil 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A malevolent darkness surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by good creatures, and weakening good creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects:

First, the warded creatures gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus to saves.

Unlike the effect of protection from good, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by good creatures. Second, the warded creatures gain SR 25 against good spells and spells cast by good creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from good does.

Finally, if a good creature succeeds at a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker takes 1d6 points of temporary Strength damage (Fortitude save negates).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a piece of parchment from an unholy text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

CONJURATION

ACID FOG

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6, Water 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog spreads 30 ft., 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Acid fog creates a billowing mass of misty vapors similar to a solid fog spell.

In addition to slowing creatures down and obscuring sight, this spell's vapors are highly acidic.

Each round, starting when you cast the spell, the fog deals 2d6 points of acid damage to creatures and objects within it.

Arcane Material Components: A pinch of dried, powdered peas combined with powdered animal hoof.

CLOUDKILL

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads 30 ft. wide and 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell generates a bank of fog, similar to a fog cloud except that its vapors are ghastly yellowish green and poisonous.

They kill any living creature with 3 or fewer HD (no save) and cause creatures with 4 to 6 HD to make Fortitude saving throws or die.

Living creatures above 6 HD, and creatures of 4 to 6 HD who make their saving throws, take 1d10 points of poison damage each round while in the cloud.

Holding one's breath doesn't help.

Unlike a fog cloud, the cloudkill moves away from you at 10 feet per round, rolling along the surface of the ground. (Figure out the cloud's new spread each round based on its new point of origin, 10 feet farther away from the point of origin where you cast the spell).

Because the vapors are heavier than air, they sink to the lowest level of the land, even pouring down den or sinkhole openings; thus, the spell is ideal for slaying nests of giant ants, for example.

It cannot penetrate liquids, nor can it be cast underwater.

CREATE FOOD AND WATER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Food and water to sustain three humans or one horse/level for 1 day

Duration: 24 hours (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The food that this spell creates is simple fare of your choice—highly nourishing, if rather bland.

The food decays and becomes inedible within 24 hours, although it can be kept fresh for another 24 hours by casting a purify food and water spell on it.

The water created by this spell is just like clean rain water. The water doesn't go bad as the food does.

CREATE WATER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Up to 2 gallons of water/level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell generates wholesome, drinkable water, just like clean rain water.

Water can be created in an area as small as will actually contain the liquid, or in an area three times as large (possibly creating a downpour or filling many small receptacles).

Note: Conjuration spells can't create substances or objects within a creature.

Water weighs about 8 pounds per gallon.

One cubic foot of water contains roughly 8 gallons and weighs about 60 pounds.

CREEPING DOOM

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Animal 8, Drd 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)/100 ft. (see text)

Effect: 1,000 insects that fill a 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When you utter the spell of creeping doom, you call forth a mass of 1,000 venomous, biting and stinging spiders, scorpions, beetles, and centipedes.

This carpetlike mass swarms in a square 20 feet on a side.

Upon your command, the swarm creeps forth at 10 feet per round toward any prey within 100 feet, moving in the direction you command.

Each vermin in the creeping doom effect automatically bites a creature for 1 point of damage and then dies.

Each creature takes enough damage to kill it, destroying that number of vermin in the process.

Thus, a total of 1,000 points of damage can be inflicted on those in the creeping doom's effect.

These attacks are nonmagical attacks, so creatures with damage reduction, for example, are safe.

If there aren't enough vermin to kill all the creatures in the spell's effect, damage is distributed among the survivors equally.

If creeping doom travels more than 100 feet away from you, it loses 50 of its number for each additional 10 feet it travels.

For example, at 120 feet, its numbers have shrunk by 100.

There are a number of ways to thwart or destroy the creatures forming the swarm.

Anything that would deter or destroy normal insects is effective against these insects.

CURE CRITICAL WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 5, Healing 4

As cure light wounds, except cure critical wounds cures 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +20).

CURE LIGHT WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Drd 1, Healing 1, Pal 1, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless) (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

When laying your hand upon a living creature, you channel positive energy that cures 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +5).

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell deals damage to them instead of curing their wounds.

An undead creature can attempt a Will save to take half damage.

CURE MINOR WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

As cure light wounds, except cure minor wounds cures only 1 point of damage.

CURE MODERATE WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Drd 3, Healing 2, Pal 3, Rgr 3

As cure light wounds, except cure moderate wounds cures 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +10).

CURE SERIOUS WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 4, Pal 4, Rgr 4, Healing 3

As cure light wounds, except cure serious wounds cures 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +15).

DELAY POISON

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 2, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject becomes temporarily immune to poison.

Any poison in the subject's system, or any poison the subject is exposed to during the spell's duration, does not affect the subject until the spell has expired.

Delay poison does not cure any damage that poison may have already done.

DRAWMIJ'S INSTANT SUMMONS

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target: One object weighing up to 10 lb. whose longest dimension is 6 ft. or less

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call some nonliving item from virtually any location directly to your hand.

First, you place your arcane mark on the item.

Then you cast this spell, which magically and invisibly inscribes the name of the item on a sapphire worth at least 1,000 gp.

Thereafter, you can summon the item by speaking a special word (set by you when the spell is cast) and crushing the gem.

The item appears instantly in your hand.

Only you can use the gem in this way.

If the item is in the possession of another creature, the spell does not work, but you know who the possessor is and roughly where he, she, or it is located when the summons is cast.

The inscription on the gem is invisible.

It is also unreadable, except by means of a read magic spell, to anyone but you.

The item can be summoned from another plane, but only if no other creature has claimed ownership of it.

Material Components: A sapphire worth at least 1,000 gp.

ELEMENTAL SWARM

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Air 9, Drd 9, Earth 9, Fire 9, Water 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell opens a portal to an Elemental Plane.

A druid can choose which plane (Air, Earth, Fire, or Water); a cleric opens a portal to the plane matching his domain.

You can then summon elementals from that plane.

When the spell is complete, 2d4 Large elementals appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 Huge elementals appear.

Ten minutes after that, one greater elemental appears.

Each elemental has at least 5 hit points per HD.

Once the elementals appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

The elementals obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them.

You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the elementals.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

When you use a summoning spell to summon an air, earth, fire, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, elemental swarm is a fire spell when you cast it to summon fire elementals and a water spell when you use it to summon water elementals.

EVARD'S BLACK TENTACLES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 1d4 tentacles + one tentacle/level, all within 15 ft. of a central point

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell conjures many rubbery black tentacles.

These waving members seem to spring forth from the earth, floor, or whatever surface is underfoot—including water.

There are 1d4 such tentacles, plus one per caster level, appearing randomly scattered about the area.

Each tentacle is 10 feet long (Large) and saves as you do.

It has AC 16, 1 hit point/per caster level, an attack bonus of +1/per caster level, and a Strength score of 19 (+4 bonus).

It is immune to spells that don't cause damage (other than disintegrate).

Each round that a tentacle is not already grappling someone or something, starting the round after it appears, it makes a grapple attack at a random creature or object within 10 feet of it.

These attacks take place on your turn.

The tentacles do not attack each other, nor do they attack objects that are smaller than a Medium-size creature.

The attacks are like regular grappling attacks, except that they don't provoke attacks of opportunity from opponents. Also, they cause 1d6 points of normal damage (+4 for Strength), not subdual damage.

A tentacle maintains its grapple even after its subject is dying or dead.

The DM can place each tentacle randomly by rolling 1d12 for direction (like the numbers on the face of a clock) and 1d3×5 feet for distance from the central point.

Alternatively, the DM can just disperse them more or less evenly across the affected area.

Material Component: A piece of tentacle from a giant octopus or a giant squid.

FIRE SEEDS

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Drd 6, Fire 6, Sun 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action/seed

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to four touched acorns or up to eight touched holly berries

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until used

Saving Throw: Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Depending on the version you choose, you turn acorns into grenadelike weapons or holly berries into bombs that you can detonate on command.

Acorn Grenades: Up to four acorns turn into special grenadelike weapons that can be hurled up to 100 feet.

A ranged touch attack roll is required to strike the intended target.

Each acorn bursts upon striking any hard surface.

Together, the acorns are capable of dealing 1d8 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d8), divided up among the acorns as you wish.

A 20th-level druid could create one 20d8 missile, two 10d8 missiles, one 11d8 and three 3d8 missiles, or any other combination of d8s totaling up to four acorns and 20d8 points of damage.

The acorns deal 1 point of splash damage per die and ignite any combustible materials within 10 feet.

If a creature within the burst area makes a successful Reflex saving throw, it takes only half damage; a creature struck directly always sustains full damage (no saving throw).

Holly Berry Bombs: You turn up to eight holly berries into special bombs.

The holly berries are usually placed by hand, being too light to make effective thrown weapons (they can be tossed only 5 feet).

They burst into flame if you are within 200 feet and speak a word of command.

The berries instantly ignite, causing 1d8 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level to creatures and igniting any combustible materials within 5 feet.

Creatures who successfully make Reflex saving throws take half damage.

Material Component: The acorns or holly berries.

FLAME ARROW

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets or Effect: Up to one projectile/level, all of which must be within 10 ft. of you at the time of casting; or one fiery bolt/four levels

Duration: 1 round/Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can either create flames that turn normal arrows, bolts, and stones into fiery projectiles, or you can create fiery bolts and shoot them at enemies.

Flaming Normal Projectiles: When choosing this version, you can affect up to one projectile per level.

The projectiles must all be within 10 feet of you at the time of casting.

If shot before the end of the next round, these projectiles catch fire.

If they hit, they deal additional fire damage equal to half your caster level (up to +10).

For example, at 9th level, Mialee can affect up to nine arrows (or bolts or stones), which then deal +4 damage each.

The flaming projectiles can easily ignite flammable materials or structures.

No saving throw is allowed for this version of the spell.

Fiery Bolts: When creating a fiery bolt, you must succeed at a ranged touch attack roll to hit.

The bolt deals 4d6 points of fire damage (Reflex save half).

If you create extra bolts (at 8th level or higher), all bolts must be aimed at enemies that are all within 30 feet of each other.

Material Components: A drop of oil and a small piece of flint.

FOG CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2, Water 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft. level)

Effect: Fog that spreads in a 30-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A bank of fog billows out from the point you designate.

The fog obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has one-half concealment (attacks suffer a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker can't use sight to locate the target).

A moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses the fog in 4 rounds; a strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the fog in 1 round.

The spell does not function underwater.

GATE

Conjuration (Creation, Calling)

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Casting a gate spell has two effects.

First, it creates an interdimensional connection between your plane of existence and the plane desired, allowing travel between the planes in either direction.

Second, you may then call a particular individual or type of being through the gate.

The gate itself is a circular hoop or disk from 5 to 20 feet in diameter (caster's choice), oriented in the direction you desire when it comes into existence (typically vertical and facing you).

It is a two-dimensional window into the plane you named, and anyone or anything that moves through is shunted instantly to the other side.

The gate has a front and a back.

Creatures moving through the gate from the front are transported to another plane; creatures moving through it from the back are not.

Planar Travel: As a mode of planar travel, gate functions much like the plane shift spell, except that the gate opens precisely at the point you desire (a creation effect).

Note that deities and other beings who rule a planar realm can prevent a gate from opening in their presence or personal demesnes if they so desire.

Travelers need not join hands with you—anyone who chooses to step through the portal is transported.

A gate cannot be opened to another point on the same plane; the spell works only for interplanar travel.

A clever caster could fill a hallway with the gate's opening in order to absorb almost any attack or force coming at her by gating it to the target plane.

Whether the denizens of that plane appreciate this tactic is, of course, another matter.

You may hold the gate open only for a brief time (no more than 1 round per caster level) and must concentrate on doing so or sever the interplanar connection.

Calling Creatures: The second effect of the gate spell is to call an extraplanar creature to your aid (a calling effect).

By naming a particular being or type of being as you cast the spell, you may cause the gate to open in the immediate vicinity of the desired creature and pull the subject through, willing or unwilling.

Deities and unique beings are under no compulsion to come through the gate, although they may choose to do so of their own accord.

This use of the spell creates a gate that remains open just long enough to transport the called creatures.

If you choose to call a type of being instead of a known individual—for instance, a barbazou or a ghaele eladrin—you may call either a single creature (of any HD) or several creatures.

If several creatures, you can call and control them as long as their HD total does not exceed your caster level.

In the case of a single creature, you can control it if its HD do not exceed twice your caster level.

A single creature with more than twice your caster level in HD can't be controlled.

Deities and unique beings cannot be controlled in any event.

An uncontrolled being acts as it pleases, making the calling of such creatures rather dangerous.

An uncontrolled being may return to its home plane at any time.

A controlled creature can be commanded to perform a service for you.

These fall into two categories: immediate tasks and contractual service.

Fighting for you in a single battle or taking any other actions that can be accomplished within 1 round per caster level counts as an immediate task; you need not make any agreement or pay any reward for the creature's help. The creature departs at the end of the spell.

If you choose to exact a longer or more involved form of service from the called creature, you must offer some fair trade in return for that service.

The service exacted must be reasonable with respect to the promised favor or reward.

In general, a gift of 100 gp per HD of the called creature per day of service is reasonable.

(Unfortunately, some creatures want their payment in "livestock" rather than in coin, which may involve complications).

Immediately upon completion of the service, the being is transported to your vicinity, and you must then and there turn over the promised reward.

After this is done, the creature is instantly freed to return to its own plane.

Failure to fulfill the promise to the letter results in your being subjected to service by the creature or by its liege and master, at the very least.

At worst, the creature or its kin may attack you.

Note: When you use a calling spell such as gate to call an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it becomes a spell of that type.

For example, gate is a chaotic and evil spell when you cast it to call a demon.

GLITTERDUST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Creatures and objects within 10-ft. spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (blinding only)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A cloud of glittering golden particles covers everyone and everything in the area, blinding creatures and visibly outlining invisible things.

Blindness lasts for the duration of the spell.

All within the area are covered by the dust, which cannot be removed and continues to sparkle until it fades.

In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to opponents' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

Material Component: Ground mica.

GREASE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Area: One object or a 10-ft. x 10-ft. square

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

A grease spell covers a solid surface with a layer of slippery grease.

Any creature entering the area or caught in it when the spell is cast must make a successful Reflex save or slip, skid, and fall.

Those that successfully save can move at half speed across the surface.

However, those that remain in the area must each make a new saving throw every round to avoid falling and to be able to move.

The DM should adjust saving throws by circumstance.

For example, a creature charging down an incline that is suddenly greased has little chance to avoid the effect, but its ability to exit the affected area is almost assured (whether it wants to or not).

The spell can also be used to create a greasy coating on an item—a rope, ladder rungs, or a weapon handle, for instance.

Material objects not in use are always affected by this spell, while objects wielded or employed by creatures receive a Reflex saving throw to avoid the effect.

If the initial saving throw fails, the creature immediately drops the item.

A saving throw must be made each round the creature attempts to pick up or use the greased item.

Material Component: A bit of pork rind or butter.

GREATER PLANAR ALLY

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Clr 8

Effect: Up to 24 HD worth of summoned elementals and outsiders, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

As lesser planar ally, except you may call a single creature of up to 24 HD or a number of creatures of the same type whose HD total no more than 24.

The creatures agree to help you and request your return favor together.

GREATER PLANAR BINDING

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Targets: Up to 24 HD worth of elementals and outsiders, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

As lesser planar binding, except you may call a single creature of up to 24 HD or a number of creatures of the same type whose HD total no more than 24.

Each creature gets a saving throw, makes independent attempts to escape, and must be persuaded to aid you individually.

HEAL MOUNT

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Pal 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Your mount touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Heal mount enables you to wipe away disease and injury in your special mount (typically a warhorse).

It completely cures all diseases, blindness, or deafness of the mount, cures all points of damage taken due to wounds or injury, and repairs temporary ability damage.

It cures those mental disorders caused by spells or injury to the brain.

Heal mount does not remove negative levels, restore drained levels, or restore drained ability scores.

HEAL

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 6, Drd 7, Healing 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Heal enables you to channel positive energy into a creature to wipe away disease and injury.

It completely cures all diseases, blindness, deafness, hit point damage, and all temporary ability damage.

It neutralizes poisons in the subject's system, so that no additional damage or effects are suffered.

It offsets a feblemind spell.

It cures those mental disorders caused by spells or injury to the brain.

Only a single application of the spell is needed to simultaneously achieve all these effects.

Heal does not remove negative levels, restore permanently drained levels, or restore permanently drained ability scores.

If used against an undead creature, heal acts like harm.

HEALING CIRCLE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 5, Clr 5, Drd 6, Healing 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: All living allies and undead creatures within a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Positive energy spreads out in all directions from the point of origin, curing 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20) to nearby living allies.

Like cure spells, healing circle damages undead in its area rather than curing them.

INCENDIARY CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Fire 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads 30 ft. wide and 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (see text)

An incendiary cloud spell creates a cloud of roiling smoke shot through with white-hot embers.

The smoke obscures all sight as a fog cloud does.

In addition, the white-hot embers within the cloud deal 4d6 points of fire damage to everything within it each round (half damage on a successful Reflex save).

As with a cloudkill spell, the smoke moves away from you at 10 feet per round.

Figure out the smoke's new spread each round based on its new point of origin, 10 feet farther away from where you were when you cast the spell.

By concentrating, you can make the cloud (actually its point of origin) move up to 60 feet each round.

Any portion of the cloud that would extend beyond your maximum range dissipates harmlessly, reducing the remainder's spread thereafter.

As with fog cloud, wind disperses the smoke, and the spell can't be cast underwater.

INSECT PLAGUE

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud of insects 180 ft. in diameter

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

A horde of creeping, hopping, and flying insects swarm in a thick cloud when you cast this spell.

The insects limit vision to 10 feet, and spellcasting within the cloud is impossible.

Creatures inside the insect plague, regardless of Armor Class, sustain 1 point of damage at the end of each round they remain within, due to the bites and stings of the insects. Invisibility is no protection.

All creatures with 2 or fewer HD are driven from the cloud at their fastest possible speed in a random direction and flee until they are at least 100 feet away from the insects.

Creatures with 3 to 5 HD flee as well, though a Will save negates this effect.

(This urge to flee is an extraordinary fear effect).

Heavy smoke drives off insects within its bounds.

Fire also drives insects away.

For example, a wall of fire in a ring shape keeps a subsequently cast insect plague outside its confines, but a fireball spell simply clears insects from its blast area for 1 round.

A single torch is ineffective against this vast horde of insects.

Lightning, cold, and ice are likewise ineffective, while a strong wind (21+ mph) that covers the entire plague area disperses the insects and ends the spell.

LEOMUND'S SECRET CHEST

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: See text

Target: One chest and up to 1 cu. ft. of goods/caster level

Duration: 60 days or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You hide a chest on the Ethereal Plane for up to 60 days and can retrieve it at will.

The chest can contain up to 1 cubic foot of material per caster level (regardless of the chest's actual size, which is about 3 feet by 2 feet by 2 feet).

If any living creatures are in the chest, there is a 75% chance that the spell simply fails.

Once the chest is hidden, you can retrieve it by concentrating (a standard action), and it appears next to you.

The chest must be exceptionally well crafted and expensive, constructed for you by master crafters.

If made principally of wood, it must be ebony, rosewood, sandalwood, teak, or the like, and all of its corner fittings, nails, and hardware must be platinum.

If constructed of ivory, the metal fittings of the chest must be gold.

If the chest is fashioned from bronze, copper, or silver, its fittings must be silver or electrum (a valuable metal).

The cost of such a chest is never less than 5,000 gp.

Once it is constructed, you must make a tiny replica (of the same materials and perfect in every detail), so that the miniature of the chest appears to be a perfect copy. (The replica costs 50 gp).

You can have but one pair of these chests at any given time—even wishes do not allow exceptions.

The chests themselves are nonmagical and can be fitted with locks, wards, and so on, just as any normal chest can be.

To hide the chest, you cast the spell while touching both the chest and the replica.

The chest vanishes into the Ethereal Plane.

You need the replica to recall the chest.

After 60 days, there is a cumulative chance of 5% per day that the chest is irretrievably lost.

If the miniature of the chest is lost or destroyed, there is no way, not even with a wish spell, that the large chest can be summoned back, although an extraplanar expedition might be mounted to find it.

Living things in the chest eat, sleep, and age normally; and they die if they run out of food, air, water, or whatever they need to survive.

Focus: The chest and its replica.

LEOMUND'S SECURE SHELTER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M, F (see text)

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 20-ft.-square structure

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a sturdy cottage or lodge made of material that is common in the area where the spell is cast—stone, timber, or (at worst) sod.

The floor is level, clean, and dry.

In all respects the lodging resembles a normal cottage, with a sturdy door, two shuttered windows, and a small fireplace. The shelter has no heating or cooling source (other than natural insulation qualities).

Therefore, it must be heated as a normal dwelling, and extreme heat adversely affects it and its occupants.

The dwelling does, however, provide considerable security otherwise—it is as strong as a normal stone building, regardless of its material composition.

The dwelling resists flames and fire as if it were stone.

It is impervious to normal missiles (but not the sort cast by siege machinery or giants).

The door, shutters, and even chimney are secure against intrusion, the former two being arcane locked and the latter secured by an iron grate at the top and a narrow flue.

In addition, these three areas are protected by an alarm spell.

Finally, an unseen servant is conjured to provide service to you for the duration of the shelter.

The secure shelter contains rude furnishings—eight bunks, a trestle table, eight stools, and a writing desk.

Material Components: A square chip of stone, crushed lime, a few grains of sand, a sprinkling of water, and several splinters of wood.

These must be augmented by the components of the unseen servant spell (string and a bit of wood) and the focus of the alarm spell (silver wire and a tiny bell) if these benefits are to be included.

LESSER PLANAR ALLY

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Clr 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned elemental or outsider of up to 8 HD

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By casting this spell, you request your deity to send you an elemental or outsider (of up to 8 HD) of the deity's choice. If you serve no particular deity, the spell is a general plea answered by a creature sharing your philosophical alignment.

If you know an individual creature's name, you may request that individual by speaking the name during the spell (though you might get a different creature anyway).

You may ask the creature to perform one task for you, and the creature may request some service in return.

The more demanding your request, the greater return favor the creature asks for.

This bargaining takes at least 1 round, so any actions by the creature begin in the round after it arrives.

If you agree to the service, the creature performs the task you requested, reports back to you afterward (if possible), and returns to its home plane.

You are honor bound to perform the return favor.

A creature may accept some form of payment, such as a magic item, in return for its service.

The creature may keep it or may deliver the item to another member of your religion somewhere else, where it can help the religion's cause.

Note: When you use a calling spell that calls an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, lesser planar ally is a fire spell when it calls a fire elemental.

LESSER PLANAR BINDING

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels) (see text)

Target: One elemental or outsider of up to 8 HD

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Casting this spell attempts a dangerous act: to lure a creature from another plane to a specifically prepared trap, which must lie within the spell's range.

The called creature is held in the trap until it agrees to perform one service in return for its freedom.

To create the trap, you must use a magic circle spell, focused inward.

The type of creature to be bound must be known and stated.

If it has a specific, proper, or given name, this must be used in casting the spell.

The target creature must attempt a Will saving throw.

If the saving throw succeeds, the creature resists the spell.

If the saving throw fails, the creature is immediately drawn to the trap (spell resistance does not keep the creature from being called).

The creature can escape from the trap with a successful SR roll, dimensional travel, or a successful Charisma check (DC 15 + 1/2 the caster's level + the caster's Charisma modifier).

It can try each method once per day.

If it breaks loose, it can flee or attack you.

A dimensional anchor cast on the creature prevents its escape via dimensional travel.

You can also employ a calling diagram (see Calling, page 157) to make the trap more secure.

If the creature does not break free of the trap, you can keep it bound for as long as you dare.

You can attempt to compel the creature to perform a service by describing the service and perhaps offering some sort of reward.

The DM then assigns a bonus based on the service and reward, from +0 to +6.

This bonus applies to your Charisma check.

If the creature wins the opposed check, it refuses service.

New offers, bribes, and the like can be made or the old ones reoffered every 24 hours.

This can be repeated until the creature promises to serve, until it breaks free, or until you decide to get rid of it by means of some other spell.

Impossible demands or unreasonable commands are never agreed to.

If you roll a 1 on the Charisma check, the creature breaks free of the binding and can escape or attack you.

Once the requested service is completed, the creature need only so inform you to be instantly sent back whence it came.

The creature might later seek revenge.

If you assign some open-ended task that the creature cannot complete through its own actions (such as "Wait here" or "Defend this area against attack"), the spell remains in effect for a maximum of one day per caster level, and the creature gains an immediate chance to break free.

Note that a clever recipient can subvert some instructions.

When you use a calling spell to call an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, lesser planar binding is a water spell when you cast it to call a water elemental.

LESSER RESTORATION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Lesser restoration dispels any magical effects reducing one of the subject's ability scores (such as ray of enfeeblement) or cures 1d4 points of temporary ability damage to one of the subject's ability scores (such as from a shadow's touch or poison).

It does not restore permanent ability drain (such as from a wraith's touch).

MAGE ARMOR

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

An invisible but tangible field of force surrounds the subject of mage armor, providing a +4 armor bonus to AC. Unlike mundane armor, mage armor entails no armor check penalty, arcane spell failure chance, or speed reduction. Since mage armor is made of force, incorporeal creatures can't bypass it the way they do normal armor.

Focus: A piece of cured leather.

MAJOR CREATION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Duration: See text

As minor creation, except you can also create an object of mineral nature: stone, crystal, metal, etc.

The duration of the created item varies with its relative hardness and rarity:

Hardness and Rarity Examples	Duration
Vegetable matter	2 hours/level
Stone, crystal, base metals	1 hour/level
Precious metals	20 minutes/level
Gems	10 minutes/level
Mithral*	2 rounds/level
Adamantite	1 round/level

*Includes similar rare metals. Items made of mithral are 50% lighter than similar items made of steel.

Items made of adamantite weigh 75% as much as similar items made of steel. They are also harder and better capable of retaining an edge, so armor and shields provide 1 higher AC and weapons allow +1 on attack and damage rolls (although the items are not magical).

MASS HEAL

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 8, Drd 9, Healing 8

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart
As heal, except as noted above.

MAZE

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure up an extradimensional labyrinth of force planes, and the subject vanishes into it.

If the subject attempts to escape, the time it takes to find the way out depends on its Intelligence score:

Intelligence Score of Mazed Creature	Time Trapped in Maze
Under 3	2d4 minutes
3	1d6 minutes
4–5	1d4 minutes
6–8	5d4 rounds
9–12	4d4 rounds
13–15	3d4 rounds
16–17	2d4 rounds
18+	1d4 rounds

If the subject doesn't attempt to escape, the maze disappears after 10 minutes, forcing the subject to leave. On leaving the maze, the subject reappears in the spot it had been in when the maze spell was cast.

If this spot is filled with a solid object, the subject appears nearby.

Spells and abilities that move a creature within a plane, such as teleport and dimension door, do not help a creature escape a maze spell, although a plane shift spell allows it to exit to whatever plane is designated in that spell. Minotaurs are not affected by this spell.

MELF'S ACID ARROW

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: One arrow of acid

Duration: 1 round + 1 round/three levels

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A magical arrow of acid springs from your hand and speeds to its target.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

The arrow deals 2d4 points of acid damage.

There is no splash damage.

For every three caster levels (maximum 18), the acid, unless somehow neutralized, lasts for another round, dealing another 2d4 points of damage for that round.

At 3rd–5th level, the acid lasts for 2 rounds; at 6th–8th level, the acid lasts for 3 rounds; and so on, to a maximum of 7 rounds at 18th level.

Material Component: Powdered rhubarb leaf and an adder's stomach.

Focus: A dart.

MINOR CREATION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Unattended, nonmagical object of nonliving plant matter, up to 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a nonmagical, unattended object of nonliving, vegetable matter: linen clothes, a hemp rope, a wooden ladder, etc.

The volume of the item created cannot exceed 1 cubic foot per caster level.

You must succeed at an appropriate skill check to make a complex item, such as a Craft (bowmaking) check to make straight arrow shafts.

Attempting to use any created object as a material component causes the spell to fail.

Material Component: A tiny piece of matter of the same type of item you plan to create with minor creation—a bit of twisted hemp to create rope, and so forth.

MORDENKAINEN'S FAITHFUL HOUND

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Phantom watchdog

Duration: 1 hour/caster level or until discharged, then 1 round/caster level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure up a phantom watchdog that is invisible to everyone but yourself.

It then guards the area where it was conjured.

The phantom watchdog immediately starts barking loudly if any Small or larger creature approaches within 30 feet of it.

(Those already within 30 feet of the hound when it is conjured may move about in the area, but if they leave and return, they activate the barking).

The hound sees invisible and ethereal creatures.

It does not react to figments, but it does react to shadow illusions.

It is stationary.

If an intruder approaches to within 5 feet of the watchdog, the dog stops barking and delivers a vicious bite (+10 attack bonus, 2d6+3 points of damage) once per round.

The dog also gets the bonuses appropriate to an invisible creature.

(For most defenders, the invisible creature gets a +2 attack bonus and the defender loses any Dexterity bonus to AC). The dog is considered ready to bite intruders, so it delivers its first bite on the intruder's turn.

Its bite is the equivalent of a +3 weapon for purposes of damage reduction.

The hound cannot be attacked, but it can be dispelled.

The spell lasts for 1 hour per caster level, but once the hound begins barking, it lasts only 1 round per caster level.

If you are ever more than 100 feet distant from the watchdog, the spell ends.

Material Component: A tiny silver whistle, a piece of bone, and a thread.

MORDENKAINEN'S MAGNIFICENT MANSION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Extradimensional mansion, up to three 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure up an extradimensional dwelling that has a single entrance on the plane from which the spell was cast. The entry point looks like a faint shimmering in the air that is 4 feet wide and 8 feet high.

Only those you designate may enter the mansion, and the portal is shut and made invisible behind you when you enter.

You may open it again from your own side at will.

Once observers have passed beyond the entrance, they are in a magnificent foyer with numerous chambers beyond. The atmosphere is clean, fresh, and warm.

You can create any floor plan you desire to the limit of the spell's effect.

The place is furnished and contains sufficient foodstuffs to serve a nine-course banquet to a dozen people per caster level.

There is a staff of near-transparent servants, liveried and obedient, to wait upon all who enter.

The servants function as unseen servant spells except that they are visible and can go anywhere in the mansion.

There are two such servants for each caster level.

Since the place can be entered only through its special portal, outside conditions do not affect the mansion, nor do conditions inside it pass to the plane beyond.

Rest and relaxation within the place occurs as normal.

Focus: A miniature portal carved from ivory, a small piece of polished marble, and a tiny silver spoon.

MOUNT

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One mount

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You summon a light horse or a pony (your choice) to serve you as a mount.

The steed serves willingly and well.

The mount comes with a bit and bridle and a riding saddle.

Material Component: A bit of horse hair.

NEUTRALIZE POISON

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 3, Pal 4, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object of up to 1 cu. ft./level touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You detoxify any sort of venom in the creature or object touched.

A poisoned creature suffers no additional damage or effects from the poison, and any temporary effects are ended, but the spell does not reverse instantaneous effects, such as hit point damage, temporary ability damage, or effects that don't go away on their own.

For example, if a poison has dealt 3 points of temporary Constitution damage to a character and threatens to deal more damage later, this spell prevents the future damage but does not repair the damage already done.

This spell also neutralizes the poison in a poisonous creature or object.

A poisonous creature, such as a wyvern, replenishes its poison at its normal rate.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of charcoal.

OBSCURING MIST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Air 1, Clr 1, Drd 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Water 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Effect: Cloud centered on you spreads 30 ft. and is 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A misty vapor arises around you.

It is stationary once created.

The vapor obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature 5 feet away has one-half concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

A moderate wind (11+ mph), such as from the gust of wind spell, disperses the fog in 4 rounds.

A strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the fog in 1 round.

A fireball, flame strike, or similar spell burns away the fog in the explosive or fiery spell's area.

A wall of fire burns away the fog in the area into which it deals damage.

This spell does not function underwater.

PHANTOM STEED

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One quasi-real, horselike creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a quasi-real, horselike creature.

The steed can be ridden only by you or by the one person for whom you specifically created the mount.

A phantom steed has a black head and body, gray mane and tail, and smoke-colored, insubstantial hooves that make no sound.

It has what seems to be a saddle, bit, and bridle.

It does not fight, but all normal animals shun it and refuse to attack it.

(Dire animals and nonintelligent creatures, such as vermin, can attack it).

The mount has an Armor Class of 18 (-1 size, +4 natural armor, +5 Dex) and 7 hit points +1 hit point per caster level. If it loses all its hit points, the phantom steed disappears.

A phantom steed has a speed of 20 feet per caster level, to a maximum of 240 feet.

It can bear its rider's weight plus up to 10 pounds per caster level.

These mounts gain certain powers according to caster level. A mount's abilities include those of mounts of lower caster levels.

Thus, the mount created by a 12th-level caster has the 8th, 10th, and 12th caster level abilities.

8th Level: The mount can ride over sandy, muddy, or even swampy ground without difficulty or decrease in speed.

10th Level: The mount can ride over water as if it were firm, dry ground.

12th Level: The mount can ride in the air as if it were firm land, so chasms and the like can be crossed without benefit of a bridge.

The mount cannot simply take off and fly.

It can only ride horizontally across the air.

After 1 round in the air, the mount falls.

14th Level: The mount can fly at its speed.

It has average maneuverability.

PHASE DOOR

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Travel 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Effect: Ethereal 5 ft. × 8 ft. opening, 1 ft./level deep

Duration: One usage/two levels

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates an ethereal passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not other materials.

The phase door is invisible and inaccessible to all creatures except you, and only you can use the passage.

You disappear when you enter the phase door and appear when you exit.

If you desire, you can take one other creature (Medium-size or smaller) through the door.

This counts as two uses of the door.

The door does not allow light, sound, or spell effects through it, nor can you see through it without using it.

Thus, the spell can provide an escape route, though certain creatures, such as phase spiders, can follow with ease.

Gems of true seeing and similar magic reveal the presence of a phase door but do not allow its use.

A phase door is subject to dispel magic.

If anyone is within the passage when it is dispelled, he is harmlessly ejected just as if he were inside a passwall effect.

A phase door can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

You can allow other creatures to use the phase door by setting some triggering condition for the door.

Such conditions can be as simple or elaborate as you desire.

They can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

Intangibles such as level, class, HD, and hit points don't qualify.

PLANAR ALLY

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Clr 6

Effect: Up to 16 HD worth of summoned elementals and outsiders, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

As lesser planar ally, except you may call a single creature of up to 16 HD or a number of creatures of the same type whose HD total no more than 16.

The creatures, as a group, agree to perform one task for you and request one favor in return.

PLANAR BINDING

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Targets: Up to 16 HD worth of elementals and outsiders, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

As lesser planar binding, except you may call a single creature of up to 16 HD or a number of creatures of the same type whose HD total no more than 16.

Each creature gets a save, makes an independent attempt to escape, and must be individually persuaded to aid you.

POWER WORD, BLIND

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, War 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Creatures with up to 200 total hit points within a 15-ft.-radius sphere

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a wave of magical energy that blinds one or more creatures.

It affects the creatures with the lowest hit point totals first, selecting subjects one at a time until the next target would put it over the limit of 200.

(Creatures with negative hit points count as having 0 hit points).

The duration of the spell depends on the total hit points of the affected creatures:

Hit Points	Duration
Up to 50	Permanent
51 to 100	1d4+1 minutes
101 to 200	1d4+1 rounds

POWER WORD, KILL

Conjuration (Creation) [Death]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, War 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Area: One living creature or one or more creatures within a 15-ft.-radius sphere

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When power word, kill is uttered, you can either target a single creature or let the spell affect a group.

If power word, kill is targeted at a single creature, that creature dies if it has 100 or fewer hit points.

If power word, kill is cast as an area spell, it kills creatures in a 15-foot-radius sphere.

It kills only creatures who have 20 or fewer hit points, and only up to a total of 200 hit points of such creatures.

The spell affects creatures with the lowest hit point totals first until the next creature would put the total over the limit of 200.

(Creatures with negative hit points count as having 0 hit points).

POWER WORD, STUN

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, War 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature with up to 150 hit points

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When a power word, stun spell is uttered, one creature of your choice is stunned, whether the creature can hear the word or not.

A creature with 50 or fewer hit points remains stunned for 4d4 rounds, one with 51 to 100 hit points is stunned for 2d4 rounds, one with 101 to 150 hit points is stunned for 1d4 rounds, and a creature with 151 hit points or more is not affected.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

PRAYER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 3, Pal 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: All allies and foes within a 30-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bring special favor upon yourself and your allies while bringing disfavor to your enemies.

You and your allies gain a +1 luck bonus on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saves, and skill checks, while foes suffer a -1 penalty on such rolls.

RAISE DEAD

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Dead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The cleric restores life to a deceased creature.

The cleric can raise creatures who have been dead only up to one day per caster level.

In addition, the subject's soul must be free and willing to return (see Bringing Back the Dead, page 153).

If the subject's soul is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, subjects who want to return receive no saving throw.

The subject loses a level (or 1 Constitution point, if she's 1st level) when raised.

Raise dead cures hit point damage up to a total of 1 hit point per Hit Die.

Any ability scores damaged to 0 are raised to 1.

Normal poison and normal disease are cured in the process of raising the subject, but magical diseases and curses are not undone.

While the spell closes mortal wounds and repairs lethal damage of most kinds, the body of the creature to be raised must be whole.

Otherwise, missing parts are still missing when the creature is brought back to life.

None of the dead creature's equipment or possessions are affected in any way by this spell.

A creature who has been turned into an undead creature or killed by a death effect can't be raised by this spell.

Constructs, elementals, outsiders, and undead creatures can't be raised.

The spell cannot bring back a creature who has died of old age.

Coming back from the dead is an ordeal.

The subject of the spell loses one level when it is raised, just as if it had lost a level to an energy-draining creature.

This level loss cannot be repaired by any spell.

If the subject is 1st level, it loses 1 point of Constitution instead.

A character who died with spells prepared has a 50% chance of losing any given spell upon being raised, in addition to losing spells for losing a level.

A spellcasting creature that doesn't prepare spells (such as a sorcerer) has a 50% chance of losing any given unused spell slot as if it had been used to cast a spell, in addition to losing spell slots for losing a level.

Material Component: A diamond worth at least 500 gp.

RAY OF FROST

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A ray of freezing air and ice projects from your pointing finger.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack with the ray to deal damage to a target.

The ray deals 1d3 points of cold damage.

REGENERATE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7, Healing 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 3 full rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's severed body members (fingers, toes, hands, feet, arms, legs, tails, or even heads of multiheaded creatures), broken bones, and ruined organs grow back.

After the spell is cast, the physical regeneration is complete in 1 round if the severed members are present and touching the creature.

It takes 2d10 rounds otherwise.

Regenerate also cures 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +20).

REMOVE BLINDNESS/DEAFNESS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 3, Pal 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove blindness/deafness cures blindness or deafness

(caster's choice), whether the effect is normal or magical.

The spell does not restore ears or eyes that have been lost, but it repairs them if they are damaged.

Remove blindness/deafness counters and dispels blindness/deafness.

REMOVE DISEASE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove disease cures all diseases that the subject is suffering from.

The spell also kills parasites, including green slime, rot grubs, and others.

Note: Since the spell's duration is instantaneous, it does not prevent reinfection after a new exposure to the same disease at a later date.

REMOVE PARALYSIS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 2, Pal 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to four creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can free one or more creatures from the effects of any temporary paralysis or from related magic, including a ghoul's touch, a hold spell, or a slow spell.

If the spell is cast on one creature, the paralysis is negated.

If cast on two creatures, each receives another save with a +4 resistance bonus against the effect that afflicts it.

If cast on three or four creatures, each receives another save with a +2 resistance bonus.

The spell does not restore ability scores reduced by penalties, damage, or loss.

RESTORATION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 4

Components: V, S, M

As lesser restoration, except the spell also dispels negative energy levels and restores one experience level to a creature who has had a level drained.

The drained level is restored only if the time since the creature lost the level is equal to or less than one day per caster level.

Thus, if a 10th-level character has been struck by a wight and drained to 9th level, restoration brings the character up to exactly the minimum number of experience points necessary to restore her to 10th level (45,000 XP), gaining her an additional HD and level functions accordingly. Restoration cures all temporary ability damage, and it restores all points permanently drained from a single ability score (caster's choice if more than one is drained). Restoration does not restore levels or Constitution points lost due to death.

Material Component: Diamond dust worth 100 gp that is sprinkled over the target.

RESURRECTION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7

Casting Time: 10 minutes

As raise dead, except you are able to restore life and complete strength to any deceased creature.

The condition of the remains is not a factor.

So long as some small portion of the creature's body still exists, it can be resurrected, but the portion receiving the spell must have been part of the creature's body at the time of death.

The creature can have been dead no longer than 10 years per caster level.

Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no loss of prepared spells.

However, the subject loses one level (or 1 point of Constitution if the subject was 1st level).

You can revive someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed.

You cannot revive someone who has died of old age.

Material Components: A sprinkle of holy water and a diamond worth at least 500 gp.

SEPIA SNAKE SIGIL

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One touched book or written work

Duration: Permanent or until discharged; until released or 1d4 days +1 day/level (see text)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

When you cast sepia snake sigil, a small symbol appears in the text of one written work such as a book, scroll, or map. The text containing the symbol must be at least twenty-five words long.

When anyone reads the text containing the symbol, the sepia snake springs into being and strikes the reader, provided there is line of effect between the symbol and the reader.

Simply seeing the enspelled text is not sufficient to trigger the spell; the subject must deliberately read the text.

The target is entitled to a save to evade the snake's strike.

If it succeeds, the sepia snake dissipates in a flash of brown light accompanied by a puff of dun-colored smoke and a loud noise.

If the target fails its save, it is engulfed in a shimmering amber field of force and immobilized until released, either at your command or when 1d4 days +1 day per caster level have elapsed.

While trapped in the amber field of force, the subject does not age, breathe, grow hungry, sleep, or regain spells.

He is preserved in a state of suspended animation, unaware of his surroundings.

He can be damaged by outside forces (and perhaps even killed), since the field provides him with no protection against physical injury.

However, if he is reduced to -1 to -9 hit points, he does not lose hit points or stabilize until the spell ends.

The hidden sigil cannot be detected by normal observation, and detect magic reveals only that the entire text is magical.

A dispel magic can remove the sigil.

An erase spell destroys the entire page of text.

Sepia snake sigil can be cast in combination with other spells that hide or garble text, such as secret page.

Material Components: 500 gp worth of powdered amber, a scale from any snake, and a pinch of mushroom spores.

SHAMBLER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Drd 9, Plant 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Three or more shambling mounds, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart (see text)

Duration: Seven days or seven months (D) (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Shambler creates 1d4+2 shambling mounds of 11 HD each. (See the Monster Manual for details about shambling mounds).

The creatures willingly aid you in combat or battle, perform a specific mission, or serve as bodyguards.

The creatures remain with you for seven days unless you dismiss them.

If the shamblers are created only for guard duty, however, the duration of the spell is seven months.

In this case, the shamblers can only be ordered to guard a specific site or location.

Shamblers summoned to guard duty cannot move outside the spell's range, which is measured from the point where each first appeared.

The shamblers have resistance to fire as normal shambling mounds do only if the terrain is rainy, marshy, or damp.

SLEET STORM

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Sleet spreads 40 ft., 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: No

Driving sleet blocks all sight (even darkvision) within it and causes the ground in the area to be icy, slowing movement to one-half normal.

Additionally, any creature in sleet that attempts to move must succeed at a Reflex save or fall down instead.

The sleet extinguishes torches and small fires.

Arcane Material Components: A pinch of dust and a few drops of water.

SOLID FOG

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Duration: 1 minute/level

As fog cloud, but in addition to obscuring sight, the solid fog is so thick that any creature attempting to move through it progresses at one-tenth normal speed, and all melee attack and melee damage rolls suffer a –2 penalty.

The vapors prevent effective ranged weapon attacks (except for magic rays and the like).

A creature or object that falls into solid fog is slowed, so that each 10 feet of vapor that the creature or object passes through reduces falling damage by 1d6.

However, unlike normal fog, only a severe wind (31+ mph) disperses these vapors, and it does so in 1 round.

Material Components: A pinch of dried, powdered peas combined with powdered animal hoof.

STINKING CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud that spreads in 30-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Stinking cloud creates a bank of fog like that created by fog cloud, except that the vapors are nauseating.

Living creatures in the cloud are nauseated (Fortitude negates), making them unable to attack, cast spells, concentrate on spells, and so on.

The only action a nauseated character can take is a single move (or move-equivalent action) per turn.

These effects last as long as the character is in the cloud and for 1d4+1 rounds after he or she leaves the cloud.

(Roll separately for each nauseated character).

Those who succeed at their saves but remain in the cloud must continue to save each round.

Material Component: A rotten egg or several skunk cabbage leaves.

STORM OF VENGEANCE

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Clr 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: 360-ft.-radius storm cloud

Duration: Concentration (maximum 10 rounds) (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an enormous black storm cloud.

Lightning and crashing claps of thunder appear within the storm.

Creatures beneath the cloud must succeed at Fortitude saves or be deafened (see blindness/deafness) for 1d4×10 minutes.

If you do not maintain concentration on the spell after casting it, the spell ends.

If you continue to concentrate, the spell generates additional effects in each following round, as noted below.

Each effect occurs during your turn.

2nd Round: Acid rains down in the area, dealing 1d6 points of acid damage.

No save is allowed.

3rd Round: You call six bolts of lightning down from the cloud.

You decide where the bolts strike.

All may be directed at a single target, or they may be directed at up to six separate targets.

Each bolt deals 10d6 points of electricity damage.

Creatures struck can attempt Reflex saves for half damage.

4th Round: Hailstones rain down in the area, dealing 5d6 points of damage (no save).

5th through 10th Rounds: Violent rain and wind gusts reduce visibility.

The rain obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature 5 feet away has one-half concealment (attacks suffer a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

Speed is reduced by three-quarters.

Ranged attacks within the area of the storm are impossible.

Spells cast within the area are disrupted unless the caster succeeds at a Concentration check against a DC equal to the storm of vengeance's save + the level of the spell the caster is trying to cast.

SUMMON MONSTER I

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons an outsider (extraplanar creature). It appears where you designate and acts immediately, on your turn.

It attacks your opponents to the best of its ability.

If you can communicate with the outsider, you can direct it not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

The spell conjures one of the creatures from the 1st-level list on the Summon Monster table below.

SUMMON SWARM

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Swarm of small creatures in a 5-ft. spread

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A swarm of little creatures carpets the effect's area, viciously attacking all other creatures there.

(Roll on the table below to see what sort of creature is summoned).

A creature in the swarm who takes no actions other than fighting off the creatures takes 1 point of damage on its turn.

A creature in the swarm who takes any other action, including leaving the swarm, takes 1d4 points of damage +1 point per three caster levels.

Spellcasting or concentrating on spells within the swarm is impossible.

1d20 Swarm Type*

1–8 Rats (animals)

9–14 Bats (animals)

15–16 Spiders (vermin, poisonous)

17–18 Centipedes (vermin, poisonous)

19–20 Flying beetles (vermin)

*The creature types (in parentheses) indicate what sorts of spells and effects might aid a subject against the swarm.

A swarm of poisonous creatures deals no damage to creatures who are immune to poison, though it still prevents spellcasting and concentration.

The creatures' attacks are nonmagical.

Damage reduction, being incorporeal, and other special abilities also make a creature immune to damage from the swarm.

The swarm cannot be fought effectively with weapons, but fire and damaging area effects can force it to disperse.

The swarm disperses when it has taken a total of 2 hit points of damage per caster level from these attacks.

Certain area or effect spells, such as gust of wind and stinking cloud, disperse a swarm immediately if appropriate to the swarm summoned.

The swarm is stationary once summoned.

A druid caster, however, can (as a move-equivalent action) direct the swarm to move up to 30 feet per round (or 90 feet per round if she has summoned bats or beetles).

Arcane Material Component: A square of red cloth.

TRAP THE SOUL

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, (F)

Casting Time: 1 action or see text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent (see text)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (see text)

Trap the soul forces a creature's life force (and its material body) into a gem.

The gem holds the trapped entity indefinitely or until the gem is broken and the life force is released, which allows the material body to reform.

If the trapped creature is a powerful creature from another plane (which could mean a character trapped by an inhabitant of another plane when the character is not on the Material Plane), it can be required to perform a service immediately upon being freed.

Otherwise, the creature can go free once the gem imprisoning it is broken.

Depending on the version selected, the spell can be triggered in one of two ways.

Spell Completion: First, the spell can be completed by speaking its final word as a standard action as if you were casting a regular spell at the subject.

This allows SR (if any) and a Will save to avoid the effect. If the creature's name is spoken as well, any SR is ignored and the save DC increases by 2.

If the save or SR is successful, the gem shatters.

Trigger Object: The second method is far more insidious, for it tricks the subject into accepting a trigger object inscribed with the final spell word, automatically placing the creature's soul in the trap.

To use this method, both the creature's name and the trigger word must be inscribed on the trigger object when the gem is enchanted.

A sympathy spell can also be placed on the trigger object.

As soon as the subject picks up or accepts the trigger object, its life force is automatically transferred to the gem without the benefit of SR or a save.

Material Component: Before the actual casting of trap the soul, you must procure a gem of at least 1,000 gp value for every Hit Die possessed by the creature to be trapped (for example, it requires a gem of 10,000 gp value to trap a 10 HD creature).

If the gem is not valuable enough, it shatters when the entrapment is attempted.

(While characters have no concept of level as such, the value of the gem needed to trap an individual can be researched.

Remember that this value can change over time as characters advance).

Focus (Trigger Object Only): If the trigger object method is used, a special trigger object, prepared as described above, is needed.

TRUE RESURRECTION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 9, Healing 9

Casting Time: 10 minutes

As raise dead, except the cleric can resurrect a creature who has been dead up to 10 years per caster level.

This spell can even bring back creatures whose bodies have been wholly destroyed, provided you unambiguously identify the deceased in some fashion (reciting the deceased's time and place of birth or death is the most common method). Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no loss of level (or Constitution point) or prepared spells. You can revive someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed. Even true resurrection can't restore to life a creature who has died of old age. Material Components: A sprinkle of holy water and a diamond worth at least 5,000 gp.

UNSEEN SERVANT

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: One invisible, mindless, shapeless servant
Duration: 1 hour/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
The unseen servant is an invisible, mindless, shapeless force that performs simple tasks at your command. It can run and fetch things, open unstuck doors, and hold chairs, as well as clean and mend. The servant can perform only one activity at a time, but it repeats the same activity over and over again if told to do so, thus allowing you to command the servant to clean the floor and then turn your attention elsewhere as long as you remain within range. It can open only normal doors, drawers, lids, etc. It has an effective Strength score of 2 (so it can lift 20 pounds or drag 100 pounds). It can trigger traps and such, but it can exert only 20 pounds of force, and that is not enough to activate certain pressure plates and other devices. Its speed is 15 feet. The servant cannot attack in any way; it is never allowed an attack roll. It cannot be killed, but it dissipates if it takes 6 points of damage from area attacks. (It gets no saves against attacks). If you attempt to send it beyond the spell's range (measured from your current position), the servant ceases to exist. Material Components: A piece of string and a bit of wood.

WALL OF IRON

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: Iron wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level (see text)
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: See text
Spell Resistance: No
You cause a flat, vertical iron wall to spring into being.

This wall can be used to seal off a passage or close a breach, for the wall inserts itself into any surrounding nonliving material if its area is sufficient to do so. The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object. It must always be a flat plane, though you can shape its edges to fit the available space. The wall of iron is 1 inch thick per four caster levels. You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness. Each 5-foot square of the wall has 30 hit points per inch of thickness. Creatures can hit the wall automatically, but it is so hard that the first 10 points of damage from each blow are ignored. (For example, a blow of 17 points of damage deals only 7 to the wall). A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached. If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 25 + 2 per inch of thickness. If you desire, the wall can be created vertically resting on a flat surface but not attached to the surface so that it can be tipped over to fall on and crush creatures beneath it. The wall is 50% likely to tip in either direction if left unpushed. Creatures can push the wall in one direction rather than letting it fall randomly. A creature must succeed at a Strength check (DC 40) to push the wall over. Creatures with room to flee the falling wall may do so by making successful Reflex saves. Large and smaller creatures who fail take 10d6 points of damage. The wall cannot crush Huge and larger creatures. Like any iron wall, this wall is subject to rust, perforation, and other natural phenomena. Material Component: A small piece of sheet iron plus gold dust worth 50 gp (1 pound of gold dust).

WALL OF STONE

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Clr 5, Drd 6, Earth 5, Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: Stone wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level (S)
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: See text
Spell Resistance: No
This spell creates a wall of rock that merges into adjoining rock surfaces. It is typically employed to close passages, portals, and breaches against opponents. The wall of stone is 1 inch thick per four caster levels and composed of up to one 5-foot square per level. You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness. The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object. Unlike a wall of iron, you can create a wall of stone in almost any shape you desire.

The wall created need not be vertical, nor rest upon any firm foundation; however, it must merge with and be solidly supported by existing stone. It can be used to bridge a chasm, for instance, or as a ramp. For this use, if the span is more than 20 feet, the wall must be arched and buttressed.

This requirement reduces the spell's area by half. Thus, a 20th-level caster can create a span with a surface area of ten 5-foot squares.

The wall can be crudely shaped to allow crenellations, battlements, and so forth by likewise reducing the area. Like any other stone wall, this one can be destroyed by disintegrate or by normal means such as breaking and chipping.

Each 5-foot square has 15 hit points per inch of thickness. Creatures can hit the wall automatically, but the wall is so hard that the first 8 points of damage from each blow are ignored.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached. If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 20 + 2 per inch of thickness.

It is possible, but difficult, to trap mobile opponents within or under a wall of stone, provided the wall is shaped so it can hold the creatures.

Creatures avoid entrapment with successful Reflex saves. Arcane Material Component: A small block of granite.

WALL OF THORNS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Drd 5, Plant 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall of thorny brush, up to one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The wall of thorns spell creates a barrier of very tough, pliable, tangled brush bearing needle-sharp thorns as long as a person's finger.

Any creature forced into or attempting to move through the wall of thorns takes 25 points of damage per round of movement, minus 1 point for each point of the creature's AC.

Dexterity bonuses to AC and dodge bonuses do not count for this calculation.

(Creatures with an Armor Class of 25 or higher take no damage from contact with the wall).

You can make the wall as thin as 5 feet thick, which allows you to shape the wall as a number of 10-by-10-by-5-foot blocks equal to caster level \times 2.

This has no effect on the damage inflicted by the thorns, but any creature attempting to break through takes that much less time to force its way through the barrier.

Creatures can force their way slowly through the wall.

To make any progress, a creature must succeed at a Strength check (DC 20).

A successful creature moves a number of feet equal to its Strength check result minus 19, so a creature who rolled 24 on its Strength check could move 5 feet in a round.

Of course, moving or attempting to move through the thorns incurs damage as described above.

A creature trapped in the thorns can choose to remain motionless in order to avoid taking any more damage.

Any creature within the area of the spell when it is cast takes damage as if it had moved into the wall and is caught inside.

In order to escape, it must attempt to push its way free, or it can wait until the spell ends.

Creatures with the ability to pass through overgrown areas unhindered can pass through a wall of thorns at their normal speed without taking damage.

A wall of thorns can be carefully breached by slow work with edged weapons.

Chopping away at the wall creates a safe passage 1 foot deep for every 10 minutes of work.

Normal fire cannot harm the barrier, but magical fire burns away the barrier in 10 minutes.

WEB

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Webs in a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Web creates a many-layered mass of strong, sticky strands.

These strands trap those caught in them.

The strands are similar to spider webs but far larger and tougher.

These masses must be anchored to two or more solid and diametrically opposed points—floor and ceiling, opposite walls, etc.—or else the web collapses upon itself and disappears.

Creatures caught within a web or simply touching its strands become entangled among the gluey fibers.

An entangled creature suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls, suffers a -4 penalty to effective Dexterity, and can't move.

An entangled character who attempts to cast a spell must make a Concentration check (DC 15) or lose the spell.

Anyone in the effect's area when the spell is cast must make a Reflex save.

If this save succeeds, the creature is not stuck in the webs and is free to act, though moving may be a problem (see below).

If the save fails, the creature is stuck.

A stuck creature can break loose by spending 1 round and succeeding at a Strength check (DC 20) or an Escape Artist check (DC 25).

Once loose (either by making the initial Reflex save or a later Strength check or Escape Artist check), a creature may progress through the web very slowly.

Each round devoted to moving allows the creature to make a new Strength check or Escape Artist check.

The creature moves 5 feet for each full 5 points by which the check result exceeds 10.

The web provides one-quarter cover for every 5 feet of the substance between you and an opponent—one-half cover for 10 feet of web, three-quarters for 15 feet, and total cover for 20 feet or more.

(See Table 8–9: Cover, page 133).

The strands of a web spell are flammable.

A magic flaming sword can slash them away as easily as a hand brushes away cobwebs.

Any fire—a torch, burning oil, a flaming sword, etc.—can set them alight and burn away 5 square feet in 1 round.

All creatures within flaming webs take 2d4 points of damage from the flames.

Material Component: A bit of spider web.

DIVINATION

ANALYZE DWEOMER

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 8 hours

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One object or creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You discern spells and magical properties present in a creature or object.

One property, spell, or power is revealed each round, from lowest level (or weakest power) to highest (or strongest).

For each spell or power, you make a caster level check (1d20 + caster level).

If the result is equal to or higher than the spell's or power's caster level, you identify it.

Otherwise, you fail to identify that spell or power, and you can check for the next one next round.

Analyze dweomer does not function when used on an artifact (see the DUNGEON MASTER'S Guide for details on artifacts).

After you analyze one object or creature, the spell ends, even if its duration has not expired yet.

Casting this spell is physically taxing; you must make a Fortitude save (DC 21) when the spell ends or be exhausted for the next 1d8 hours.

While this spell is most frequently used in the comfort and safety of your laboratory, you could also cast analyze dweomer to study the magic seals and barriers on a portal or to determine just how a companion has been cursed.

Focus: A tiny lens of ruby or sapphire set in a small golden loop.

The gemstone must be worth at least 1,500 gp.

ARCANE EYE

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create an invisible magical sensor that sends you visual information.

The arcane eye travels at 30 feet per round (300 feet per minute) if viewing an area ahead as a human would (primarily looking at the floor) or 10 feet per round (100 feet per minute) if examining the ceiling and walls as well as the floor ahead.

The arcane eye sees exactly as you would see if you were there.

The arcane eye can travel in any direction as long as the spell lasts.

Solid barriers prevent the passage of an arcane eye, although it can pass through a space no smaller than a small mouse hole (1 inch in diameter).

You must concentrate to use the eye.

If you do not concentrate, the eye is inert until you again concentrate.

The powers of the eye cannot be enhanced by other spells or items (though you can use magic to improve your own eyesight).

You are subject to any gaze attack met by the eye.

A successful dispel magic cast on you or the eye ends the spell.

With respect to blindness, magical darkness, and other phenomena that affect vision, the arcane eye is considered an independent sensory organ of yours.

(For example, it is not blinded if your normal eyes are blinded).

Any creature with Intelligence 12 or higher can notice the arcane eye by making a Scry check or an Intelligence check (DC 20).

Spells such as detect scrying can also detect the eye.

Material Component: A bit of bat fur.

AUGURY

Divination

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

An augury can tell you whether a particular action will bring good or bad results for you in the immediate future.

For example, if a party is considering destroying a weird seal that closes a portal, an augury might determine whether it's a good idea.

The base chance for receiving a meaningful reply is 70% + 1% per caster level; the DM makes the roll secretly.

The DM may determine that the question is so straightforward that a successful result is automatic, or so vague as to have no chance of success.

If the augury succeeds, you get one of four results:

- “Weal” (if the action will probably bring good results).
- “Woe” (for bad results).
- “Weal and woe” (for both).
- “Nothing” (for actions that don't have especially good or bad results).

If the spell fails, you get the “nothing” result.

A cleric who gets the “nothing” result has no way to tell whether it resulted from a failed or successful augury.

The augury can see into the future only about half an hour, so anything that might happen after that does not affect the augury.

Thus, it might miss the long-term consequences of the contemplated action.

All auguries cast by the same person about the same topic use the same dice result as the first augury.

Focus: A set of marked sticks, bones, or similar tokens of at least 25 gp value.

CLAIRAUDIENCE/CLAIRVOYANCE

Divination

Level: Brd 3, Knowledge 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Clairaudience/clairvoyance enables you to concentrate upon some locale and hear or see (your choice) almost as if you were there.

Distance is not a factor, but the locale must be known—a place familiar to you or an obvious one (such as behind a door, around a corner, or in a grove of trees).

The spell does not allow magically enhanced senses to work through it.

If the chosen locale is magically dark, you see nothing.

If it is naturally pitch black, you can see in a 10-foot radius around the center of the spell's effect.

Lead sheeting or magical protection (such as antimagic field, mind blank, or nondetection) blocks the spell, and you sense that the spell is so blocked.

The spell creates an invisible sensor, similar to that created by a scrying spell, that can be dispelled.

The spell functions only on the plane of existence you are currently occupying.

Arcane Focus: A small horn (for hearing) or a glass eye (for seeing).

COMMUNE WITH NATURE

Divination

Level: Animal 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You become one with nature, attaining knowledge of the surrounding territory.

You instantly gain knowledge of up to three facts from among the following subjects: the ground or terrain, plants, minerals, bodies of water, people, general animal population, presence of woodland creatures, presence of powerful unnatural creatures, or even the general state of the natural setting.

For example, you could determine the location of any powerful undead creatures, the location of all major sources of safe drinking water, and the location of any buildings (which register as blind spots).

In outdoor settings, the spell operates in a radius of one mile per caster level.

In natural underground settings—caves, caverns, etc.—the range is limited to 100 feet per caster level.

The spell does not function where nature has been replaced by construction or settlement (such as in dungeons and towns).

COMMUNE

Divination

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You contact your deity—or agents thereof—and ask questions that can be answered by a simple yes or no. (A cleric of no particular deity contacts a philosophically allied deity).

You are allowed one such question per caster level.

The answers given are correct within the limits of the entity's knowledge.

"Unclear" is a legitimate answer, because powerful beings of the Outer Planes are not necessarily omniscient.

In cases where a one-word answer would be misleading or contrary to the deity's interests, the DM should give a short phrase (five words or less) as an answer instead.

The spell, at best, provides information to aid character decisions.

The entities contacted structure their answers to further their own purposes.

If you lag, discuss the answers, or go off to do anything else, the spell ends.

Material Components: Holy (or unholy) water and incense.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

COMPREHEND LANGUAGES

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You can understand the spoken words of creatures or read otherwise incomprehensible written messages (such as writing in another language).

In either case, you must touch the creature or the writing.

Note that the ability to read does not necessarily impart insight into the material, merely its literal meaning.

Note also that the spell enables you to understand or read an unknown language, not speak or write it.

Written material can be read at the rate of one page (250 words) per minute.

Magical writing cannot be read, other than to know it is magical, but the spell is often useful when deciphering treasure maps.

This spell can be foiled by certain warding magic (such as the secret page and illusory script spells).

It does not decipher codes or reveal messages concealed in otherwise normal text.

Arcane Material Components: A pinch of soot and a few grains of salt.

CONTACT OTHER PLANE

Divination

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Concentration

You send your mind to another plane of existence in order to receive advice and information from powers there.

(See the accompanying table for possible consequences and results of the attempt).

The powers reply in a language you understand, but they resent such contact and give only brief answers to your questions.

(The DM answers all questions with “yes”, “no”, “maybe”, “never”, “irrelevant”, or some other one-word answer).

You must concentrate on maintaining the spell (a standard action) in order to ask questions at the rate of one per round.

A question is answered by the power during the same round.

For every two caster levels, you may ask one question. You can contact an Elemental Plane or some plane farther removed.

Contact with minds far removed from your home plane increases the probability of suffering an effective decrease to Intelligence and Charisma, but the chance of the power knowing the answer, as well as the probability of the being telling the correct answer, are likewise increased by moving to distant planes.

Once the Outer Planes are reached, the power of the deity contacted determines the effects.

(Random results obtained from the table are subject to DM changes, the personalities of individual deities, and so on). On rare occasions, this divination may be blocked by an act of certain deities or forces.

CONTACT OTHER PLANE

Plane Contacted	Avoid Effective Int/Cha Decrease	True Answer	Don't Know	Lie	Random Answer
Elemental Plane (appropriate)	DC 7/1 week (DC 7/1 week)	01–34 (01–68)	35–62 (69–75)	63–83 (76–98)	84–100 (99–100)
Positive/Negative Energy Plane	DC 8/1 week	01–39	40–65	66–86	87–100
Astral Plane	DC 9/1 week	01–44	45–67	68–88	89–100
Outer Plane, demideity	DC 10/2 weeks	01–49	50–70	71–91	92–100
Outer Plane, lesser deity	DC 12/3 weeks	01–60	61–75	76–95	96–100
Outer Plane, intermediate deity	DC 14/4 weeks	01–73	74–81	82–98	99–100
Outer Plane, greater deity	DC 16/5 weeks	01–88	89–90	91–99	100

Avoid Effective Intelligence/Charisma Decrease: You must succeed at an Intelligence check against this DC in order to avoid effective Intelligence and Charisma decrease. If the check fails, your Intelligence and Charisma scores fall to 8 for the stated duration, and you become unable to cast arcane spells. If you lose Intelligence and Charisma, the effect strikes as soon as the first question is asked, and no answer is received. (The entries in parentheses are for questions that pertain to the appropriate Elemental Plane.)

Results of a Successful Contact: The DM rolls d% for the result shown on the table:

True Answer: You get a true, one-word answer. Questions not capable of being answered in this way are answered randomly.

Don't Know: The entity tells you that it doesn't know.

Lie: The entity intentionally lies to you.

Random Answer: The entity tries to lie but doesn't know the answer, so it makes one up.

DETECT ANIMALS OR PLANTS

Divination

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect a particular type of animal or plant in a quarter circle emanating out from you in whatever direction you face.

You must think of a species of animal or plant when using the spell.

Each round you can change the animal or plant type.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you search a particular area or focus on a specific type of animal or plant: 1st Round: Presence or absence of the animal or plant type in that quarter.

2nd Round: Number of individuals of the specified type in the area, and the condition of the healthiest specimen.

3rd Round: The condition and location of each individual present.

If an animal or plant is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Conditions: For purposes of this spell, the categories of condition are as follows: Normal: Has at least 90% of original hit points, free of disease.

Fair: 30% to 90% of original hit points remaining.

Poor: Up to 30% of original hit points remaining, afflicted with a disease, or suffering from a debilitating injury.

Weak: 0 or fewer hit points remaining, afflicted with a disease in the terminal stage, or crippled.

If a creature falls into more than one category, the spell indicates the weaker of the two.

Note: Each round you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

The DM decides if a specific type of animal or plant is present.

DETECT CHAOS

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Rgr 2

As detect evil, except that the spell detects chaotic creatures, spells, and magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming chaotic aura if you are lawful.

It does not detect undead.

DETECT EVIL

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Rgr 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can sense the presence of evil.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject: 1st Round: Presence or absence of evil.

2nd Round: Number of evil auras (creatures, objects, or spells) in the area and the strength of the strongest evil aura present.

If you are of good alignment, the strongest evil aura's strength is "overwhelming" (see below), and the strength is at least twice your character level, you are stunned for 1 round and the spell ends.

While you are stunned, you can't act, you lose any Dexterity bonus to AC, and attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack you.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each aura.

If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Aura Strength: An aura's evil power and strength depend on the type of evil creature or object that you're detecting and its HD, caster level, or (in the case of a cleric) class level.

Creature/Object	Evil Power
Evil creature	HD / 5
Undead creature	HD / 2
Evil elemental	HD / 2
Evil magic item or spell	Caster level / 2
Evil outsider	HD
Cleric of an evil deity	Level

Evil Power	Aura Strength
Lingering	Dim
1 or less	Faint
2-4	Moderate
5-10	Strong
11+	Overwhelming

If an aura falls into more than one strength category, the spell indicates the stronger of the two.

Length Aura Lingers: How long the aura lingers depends on its original strength:

Original Strength	Duration
Faint	1d6 minutes
Moderate	1d6 x 10 minutes
Strong	1d6 hours
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Remember that animals, traps, poisons, and other potential perils are not evil; this spell does not detect them.

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT GOOD

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Rgr 2

As detect evil, except that the spell detects good creatures, spells, and magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming good aura if you are evil.

It does not detect undead.

Also, remember that healing potions, antidotes, and similar beneficial items are not good.

DETECT LAW

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Rgr 2

As detect evil, except that the spell detects lawful creatures, spells, and magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming lawful aura if you are chaotic. It does not detect undead.

DETECT POISON

Divination

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Area: One creature, one object, or a 5-ft. cube

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You determine whether a creature, object, or area has been poisoned or is poisonous.

You can determine the exact type of poison with a successful Wisdom check (DC 20).

A character with the Alchemy skill may try an Alchemy check (DC 20) if the Wisdom check fails, or may try the Alchemy check prior to the Wisdom check.

Note: The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT SCRYING

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: 120-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You immediately become aware of any attempt to observe you by means of clairaudience/clairvoyance or scrying.

The spell's effect radiates from you moves as you move.

The spell also reveals the use of crystal balls or other magic scrying devices.

You know the location of every magical sensor within the spell's area.

If the scrying attempt originates within the area, you also know its location.

If the attempt originates outside this range, you and the scrier immediately make opposed Scry skill checks.

(A Scry check is the same as an Intelligence check for a creature without the Scry skill).

If you at least match the scrier's result, you get a visual image of the scrier and a sense of the scrier's direction and distance from you (accurate to within one-tenth the distance).

Material Components: A small piece of mirror and a miniature brass hearing trumpet.

DETECT SECRET DOORS

Divination

Level: Brd 1, Knowledge 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect secret doors, compartments, caches, and so forth.

Only passages, doors, or openings that have been specifically constructed to escape detection are detected by this spell—an ordinary trapdoor underneath a pile of crates would not be detected.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject: 1st Round: Presence or absence of secret doors.

2nd Round: Number of secret doors and the location of each. If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Each Additional Round: The mechanism or trigger for one particular secret portal closely examined by you.

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT SNARES AND PITS

Divination

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect simple pits, deadfalls, snares of wilderness creatures (trapdoor spiders, giant sundews, ant lions, etc.), and primitive traps constructed of natural materials (mantraps, missile traps, hunting snares, etc.).

The spell does not detect complex traps, including trapdoor traps.

The spell does detect certain natural hazards—quicksand (registers as a snare), a sinkhole (pit), or unsafe walls of natural rock (deadfall).

However, it does not reveal other potentially dangerous conditions, such as a cavern that floods during rain, an unsafe construction, or a naturally poisonous plant.

The spell does not detect magic traps (except those that operate by pit, deadfall, or snaring; see the spell snare), nor mechanically complex ones, nor those that have been rendered safe or inactive.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area: 1st Round: Presence or absence of hazards.

2nd Round: Number of hazards and the location of each.

If a hazard is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Each Additional Round: The general type and trigger for one particular hazard closely examined by you.

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT THOUGHTS

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Knowledge 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

You detect surface thoughts.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject: 1st Round: Presence or absence of thoughts (from conscious creatures with Intelligence scores of 1 or higher).

2nd Round: Number of thinking minds and the mental strength of each.

3rd Round: Surface thoughts of any mind in the area.

A target's Will save prevents you from reading its thoughts, and you must cast detect thoughts again to have another chance.

Creatures of animal intelligence (Int 1 or 2) have simple, instinctual thoughts that you can pick up.

Intelligence	Mental Strength
1–2	Animal
3–5	Very low
6–9	Low
10–11	Average
12–15	High
16–17	Very high
18–21	Genius
22–25	Supra-genius
26+	Deific

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect thoughts in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Arcane Focus: A copper piece.

DETECT UNDEAD

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect the aura that surrounds undead.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject: 1st Round: Presence or absence of undead auras.

2nd Round: Number of undead auras in the area and the strength of the strongest undead aura present.

If you are of good alignment, the strongest undead aura's strength is "overwhelming" (see below), and the strength is at least twice your character level, you are stunned for 1 round and the spell ends.

While you are stunned, you can't act, you lose any Dexterity bonus to AC, and attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack you.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each aura.

If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Aura Strength: The strength of the undead aura is determined by the HD of the undead creature.

Strength	HD
Dim	Lingering aura
Faint	1 or less
Moderate	2–4
Strong	5–10
Overwhelming	11+

Length Aura Lingers: How long the aura lingers depends on its original strength:

Original Strength	Duration
Faint	1d6 minutes
Moderate	1d6 x 10 minutes
Strong	1d6 hours
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of earth from a grave.

DISCERN LIES

Divination

Level: Clr 4, Pal 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

Each round, you concentrate on one subject, who must be in range.

You know if the subject deliberately and knowingly speaks a lie by discerning disturbances in her aura caused by lying. The spell does not reveal the truth, uncover unintentional inaccuracies, or necessarily reveal evasions.

Each round, you may concentrate on a different subject.

DISCERN LOCATION

Divination

Level: Clr 8, Knowledge 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A discern location spell is among the most powerful means of locating creatures or objects.

Nothing short of the direct intervention of a deity keeps you from learning the exact location of a single individual or object.

Discern location circumvents normal means of protection from scrying or location.

The spell reveals the name of the location (place, name, business name, building name, or the like), community, county (or similar political division), country, continent, and plane where the subject lies.

To find a creature with the spell, you must have seen the creature or have some item that once belonged to it.

To find an object, you must have touched the object at least once.

DIVINATION

Divination

Level: Clr 4, Knowledge 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Similar to augury but more powerful, a divination spell can provide you with a useful piece of advice in reply to a question concerning a specific goal, event, or activity that is to occur within one week.

The advice can be as simple as a short phrase, or it might take the form of a cryptic rhyme or omen.

For example, suppose the question is “Will we do well if we venture into the ruined temple of Erythnul?” The DM knows that a terrible troll guarding 10,000 gp and a +1 shield lurks near the entrance but estimates that your party could beat the troll after a hard fight.

Therefore the divination response might be: “Ready oil and open flame light your way to wealth”.

In all cases, the DM controls what information you receive. Note that if your party doesn’t act on the information, the conditions may change so that the information is no longer useful.

(For example, the troll could move away and take the treasure with it).

The base chance for a correct divination is 70% + 1% per caster level.

The DM adjusts the chance if unusual circumstances require it (if, for example, unusual precautions against divination spells have been taken).

If the dice roll fails, you know the spell failed, unless specific magic yielding false information is at work.

As with augury, multiple divinations about the same topic by the same caster use the same dice result as the first divination and yield the same answer each time.

Material Component: Incense and a sacrificial offering appropriate to your religion, together worth at least 25 gp.

FIND THE PATH

Divination

Level: Clr 6, Drd 6, Knowledge 6, Travel 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

The recipient of this spell can find the shortest, most direct physical route to a specified destination, be it the way into or out of a locale.

The locale can be outdoors, underground, or even inside a maze spell.

Note that the spell works with respect to locales, not objects or creatures within a locale.

Thus, the spell could not find the way to “a forest where a green dragon lives” or to the location of “a hoard of platinum pieces”, but it could find the exit to a labyrinth. The location must be on the same plane as you are at the time of casting.

The spell enables the subject to sense the correct direction that will eventually lead him to his destination, indicating at the appropriate times the exact path to follow or physical actions to take.

For example, the spell enables the subject to sense trip wires or the proper word to bypass a glyph.

The spell ends when the destination is reached or the duration elapses, whichever comes first.

The spell frees the subject, and those with him, from a maze spell in a single round.

This divination is keyed to the recipient, not his companions, and does not predict or allow for the actions of creatures (including guardians).

Focus: A set of divination counters of the sort favored by you—bones, ivory counters, sticks, carved runes, etc.

FIND TRAPS

Divination

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You gain intuitive insight into the workings of traps.

You can use your Search skill to detect traps just as a rogue can but gain no special bonus on your Search checks.

FORESIGHT

Divination

Level: Drd 9, Knowledge 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: See text

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

This spell grants you a powerful sixth sense in relation to yourself or another.

Once the spell is cast, you receive instantaneous warnings of impending danger or harm to the subject of the spell.

Thus, if you are the subject of the spell, you would be warned in advance if a rogue were about to attempt a sneak attack on you, or if a creature were about to leap out from an unexpected direction, or if an attacker were specifically targeting you with a spell or ranged weapon.

You are never surprised or flat-footed.

In addition, the spell gives you a general idea of what action you might take to best protect yourself—duck, jump right, close your eyes, and so on—and gives you a +2 insight bonus to AC and to Reflex saves.

This insight bonus is lost whenever you would lose a Dexterity bonus to AC.

When another creature is the object of the spell, you receive warnings about that creature.

You must communicate what you learn to the other creature for the warning to be useful, and it can be caught unprepared in the absence of such a warning.

Shouting a warning, yanking a person back, and even telepathically communicating (via an appropriate spell) can all be accomplished before some danger befalls the spell subject, provided you act on the warning without delay.

The subject, however, does not gain the insight bonus to AC and Reflex saves.

Arcane Material Component: A hummingbird's feather.

GREATER SCRYING

Divination

Level: Brd 6, Clr 7, Drd 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Duration: 1 hour/level

As scrying, except as noted above.

All of the following spells can be cast reliably through the sensor: comprehend languages, darkvision, detect chaos, detect evil, detect good, detect law, detect magic, message, read magic, and tongues.

GUIDANCE

Divination

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell imbues the subject with a touch of divine guidance.

The creature gets a +1 competence bonus on a single attack roll, saving throw, or skill check.

It must choose to use the bonus before making the roll to which it applies.

IDENTIFY

Divination

Level: Brd 1, Magic 2, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 8 hours

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to 1 touched object per level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The spell determines the single most basic function of each magic item, including how to activate that function (if appropriate), and how many charges are left (if any).

For example, a +2 vorpal sword, a +2 dancing sword, and a +2 sword would all register as “+2 to attack and damage rolls”.

If a magic item has multiple different functions that are equally basic, identify determines the lowest-level function.

If these functions are also of equal level, the DM decides randomly which is identified.

Arcane Material Components: A pearl of at least 100 gp value, crushed and stirred into wine with an owl feather; the infusion must be drunk prior to spellcasting.

KNOW DIRECTION

Divination

Level: Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You instantly know the direction of north from your current position.

The spell is effective in any environment in which “north” exists, but it may not work in extraplanar settings.

Your knowledge of north is correct at the moment of casting, but note that you can get lost again within moments if you don't find some external reference point to help you keep track of direction.

LEGEND LORE

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Knowledge 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: See text

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: See text

Legend lore brings to your mind legends about an important person, place, or thing.

If the person or thing is at hand, or if you are in the place in question, the casting time is only 1d4×10 minutes.

If you have only detailed information on the person, place, or thing, casting time is 1d10 days, and the resulting lore is less complete and specific (though it often provides enough information to help you find the person, place, or thing, thus allowing a better legend lore next time).

If you know only rumors, casting time is 2d6 weeks, and the resulting lore is vague and incomplete (though it often directs you to more detailed information, thus allowing a better legend lore).

During the casting, you cannot engage in other than routine activities: eating, sleeping, etc.

When completed, the divination brings legends (if any) about the person, place, or things to your mind.

These may be legends that are still current, legends that have been forgotten, or even information that has never been generally known.

If the person, place, or thing is not of legendary importance, you gain no information.

As a rule of thumb, characters 11th level and higher are “legendary”, as are the sorts of creatures they contend with, the major magic items they wield, and the places where they perform their key deeds.

Examples of legend lore results: A divination about a mysterious magic axe you have at hand: “Woe to the evildoer whose hand touches the axe, for even the haft chops the hand of the evil ones.

Only a true Son or Daughter of Stone, one who loves Moradin and whom Moradin loves, may awaken the true powers of the axe, and only with the sacred word ‘Rudnogg’ on the lips”.

A divination about a legendary paladin about whom you know many details: “Vanashon has been denied the glory of death and the duty of life.

He waits patiently beneath the Forbidden Mountain”. (The paladin has been turned to stone in the caverns beneath the mountain).

A divination about ancient ruins about which you have only a passing reference in a partially damaged tome: “The sorcerer who called herself Ryth built a library without words and a temple without gods.

Those who read and those who pray tore it down in a night and a day”.

(These clues may be enough for you to find out more and get the details you need to cast a better legend lore).

Material Component: Incense worth at least 250 gp.

Focus: Four strips of ivory (worth 50 gp each) formed into a rectangle.

LOCATE CREATURE

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Duration: 10 minutes/level

As locate object, except this spell locates a known or familiar creature.

You slowly turn and sense when you are facing in the direction of the creature to be located, provided the creature is within range.

You also know in which direction the creature is moving, if any.

The spell can locate a creature of a specific type (such as human or unicorn) or a specific creature known to you. It cannot find a creature of a general type (such as humanoid or beast).

To find a type of creature, you must have seen such a creature up close (within 30 feet) at least once.

Running water blocks the spell.

It cannot detect objects.

It can be fooled by mislead, nondetection, and polymorph spells.

Material Component: A bit of bloodhound’s fur.

LOCATE OBJECT

Divination

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2, Travel 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Circle, centered on you, with a radius of 400 ft. + 40 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You sense the direction of a well-known or clearly visualized object.

The spell locates such objects as apparel, jewelry, furniture, tools, weapons, and even a ladder.

You can search for general items such as a stairway, a sword, or a jewel, in which case you locate the nearest one of its type if more than one is within range.

Attempting to find a specific item, such as a particular piece of jewelry, requires a specific and accurate mental image; if the image is not close enough to the actual object, the spell fails.

You cannot specify a unique object (such as “Baron Vulden’s signet ring”) unless you have observed that particular item firsthand (not through divination).

The spell is blocked by lead.

Creatures cannot be found by this spell.

Polymorph any object fools it.

Arcane Focus: A forked twig.

PRYING EYES

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: One mile

Effect: Creates 1d4 levitating eyes +1 eye/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create ten or more semitangible, visible magical orbs (called “eyes”) that move out, scout around, and return as you direct them when casting the spell.

When an eye returns, it relays what it has seen to you and then disappears.

Each eye is about the size of a small apple and can see 120 feet (normal vision only) in all directions.

The spell conjures 1d4 eyes +1 eye per caster level.

While the individual eyes are quite fragile, they’re small and difficult to spot.

Each eye is a Fine construct that has 1 hit point, has AC 18 (+8 bonus for its size), flies at a speed of 30 feet with perfect maneuverability, and has a +16 skill modifier on Hide checks.

The eyes are subject to illusions, darkness, fog, and any other factors that would affect your ability to receive visual information about your surroundings.

An eye traveling through darkness must find its way by touch.

When you create the eyes, you specify instructions you want them to follow in a command of up to twenty-five words.

Any knowledge you possess is known by the eyes as well, so if you know, for example, what a typical merchant looks like, the eyes do as well.

Sample commands might include: "Surround me at a range of four hundred feet and return if you spot any dangerous creatures".

The phrase "Surround me" directs the eyes to form an equally spaced, horizontal ring at whatever range you indicate, and then move with you.

As eyes return or are destroyed, the rest automatically space themselves to compensate.

In the case of this sample command, an eye returns only if it spots a creature whom you would regard as dangerous.

A "peasant" that is actually a shapechanged dragon wouldn't trigger an eye's return.

Ten eyes can form a ring with a radius of 400 feet and among themselves see everything that crosses the ring.

"Spread out and search the town for Arweth.

Follow him for three minutes, staying out of sight, and then return".

The phrase "Spread out" directs the eyes to move away from you in all directions.

In this case, each eye would separately follow Arweth for three minutes once it spots him.

Other commands that might be useful include having the eyes form a line in a certain manner, making them move at random within a certain range, or having them follow a certain type of creature.

The DM is the final judge of the suitability of your directions.

In order to report their findings, the eyes must return to your hand.

Each replays in your mind everything it has seen during its existence.

It takes an eye only 1 round to replay 1 hour of recorded images.

If an eye ever gets more than one mile distant from you, it instantly ceases to exist.

However, your link with the eye is such that you won't know if the eye was destroyed because it wandered out of range or because of some other event.

The eyes exist for up to 1 hour per caster level or until they return to you.

After relaying its findings, an eye disappears.

Dispel magic can destroy eyes.

Roll separately for each eye caught in an area dispel.

Of course, if the eye is sent into darkness, then it's very possible that it could hit a wall or similar obstacle and destroy itself.

Material Component: A handful of crystal marbles.

RARY'S TELEPATHIC BOND

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/three levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You forge a telepathic bond among creatures, each of which must have an Intelligence score of 6 or higher.

Each creature included in the link is linked to all the others.

The bond can be established only among willing subjects, which therefore receive no saving throw or SR.

The creatures can communicate telepathically through the bond regardless of language.

No special power or influence is established as a result of the bond.

Once the bond is formed, it works over any distance (although not from one plane to another).

A wish spell can make a Rary's telepathic bond permanent, but it can bond only two people per wish.

Material Components: A piece of eggshell from two different species of creatures.

SCRYING

Divination

Level: Brd 3, Clr 5, Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M/DF, F

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: See text

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can see and hear some creature, who may be at any distance.

You must succeed at a Scry check to do so.

The difficulty of the task depends on how well you know the subject and what sort of physical connection (if any) you have to that creature.

Furthermore, if the subject is on another plane, you get a -5 penalty on the Scry check.

Knowledge	DC
None*	20
Secondhand (you have heard of the subject)	15
Firsthand (you have met the subject)	10
Familiar (you know the subject well)	5

*You must have some sort of connection to a creature you have no knowledge of.

Connection	Scry Check Bonus
Likeness or picture	+5
Possession or garment	+8
Body part, lock of hair, nail clippings, etc.	+10

This spell creates a magical sensor located near the subject. Any creature with Intelligence 12 or higher can notice the sensor by making a Scry check (or an Intelligence check) against DC 20.

You may cast the following spells through a scrying spell: comprehend languages, read magic, tongues, and darkvision.

The following spells have a 5% chance per caster level of operating correctly: detect magic, detect chaos, detect evil, detect good, detect law, and message.

Arcane Material Components: The eye of a hawk, an eagle, or even a roc, and nitric acid, copper, and zinc.

Wizard, Sorcerer, or Bard Focus: A mirror of finely wrought and highly polished silver costing not less than 1,000 gp. The mirror must be at least 2 feet by 4 feet.

Cleric Focus: A holy water font costing not less than 100 gp.

Druid Focus: A natural pool of water.

SEE INVISIBILITY

Divination

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cone

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You see any objects or beings that are invisible, as well as any that are astral or ethereal, as if they were normally visible.

The spell does not reveal the method used to obtain invisibility, though an astral traveler is easy to identify if he has a silver cord.

It does not reveal illusions or enable you to see through opaque objects.

It does not reveal creatures who are simply hiding, concealed, or otherwise hard to see.

Material Components: A pinch of talc and a small sprinkling of powdered silver.

SPEAK WITH ANIMALS

Divination

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You can comprehend and communicate with animals.

You are able to ask questions of and receive answers from animals, although the spell doesn't make animals any more friendly or cooperative than normal.

Furthermore, wary and cunning animals are likely to be terse and evasive, while the more stupid ones make inane comments.

If the animal is friendly, it may do some favor or service for you (as determined by the DM).

Note: This spell does not work on beasts, magical beasts, or vermin.

SPEAK WITH PLANTS

Divination

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You can comprehend and communicate with plants, including normal plants and plant creatures.

You are able to ask questions of and receive answers from plants.

A regular plant's sense of its surroundings is limited, so it won't be able to give (or recognize) detailed descriptions of creatures or answer questions about events outside its immediate vicinity.

The spell doesn't make plant creatures any more friendly or cooperative than normal.

Furthermore, wary and cunning plant creatures are likely to be terse and evasive, while the more stupid ones may make inane comments.

If the plant creature is friendly, it may do some favor or service for you (as determined by the DM).

STATUS

Divination

Level: Clr 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature touched/three levels

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

When a cleric needs to keep track of comrades who may get separated, status allows him to mentally monitor their relative positions and general condition.

The cleric is aware of direction and distance to the creatures and their status: unharmed, wounded, disabled, staggered, unconscious, dying, dead, etc.

Once the spell has been cast upon the subjects, the distance between them and the caster does not affect the spell as long as they are on the same plane of existence.

If they leave it, the spell ceases to function for them.

STONE TELL

Divination

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You gain the ability to speak with stones, which relate to you who or what has touched them as well as revealing what is covered or concealed behind or under them. The stones relate complete descriptions if asked. Note that a stone's perspective, perception, and knowledge may prevent the stone from providing the details you are looking for (as determined by the DM). You can speak with natural or worked stone.

TONGUES

Divination

Level: Brd 2, Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell grants the creature touched the ability to speak and understand the language of any intelligent creature, whether it is a racial tongue or a regional dialect.

Naturally, the subject can speak only one language at a time, although she may be able to understand several languages.

Tongues does not enable the subject to speak with creatures who don't speak.

The subject can make herself understood as far as her voice carries.

This spell does not predispose any creature addressed toward the subject in any way.

Arcane Material Component: A small clay model of a ziggurat, which shatters when the verbal component is pronounced.

TRUE SEEING

Divination

Level: Clr 5, Drd 7, Knowledge 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You confer on the subject the ability to see all things as they actually are.

The subject sees through normal and magical darkness, notices secret doors hidden by magic, sees the exact locations of creatures or objects under blur or displacement effects, sees invisible creatures or objects normally, sees through illusions, and sees the true form of polymorphed, changed, or transmuted things.

Further, the subject can focus her vision to see into the Ethereal Plane (but not into extradimensional spaces).

The range of true seeing conferred is 120 feet.

True seeing, however, does not penetrate solid objects.

It in no way confers X-ray vision or its equivalent.

It does not cancel concealment, including that caused by fog and the like.

True seeing does not help the viewer see through mundane disguises, spot creatures who are simply hiding, or notice secret doors hidden by mundane means.

In addition, the spell effects cannot be further enhanced with known magic, so one cannot use true seeing through a crystal ball or in conjunction with clairaudience/clairvoyance. Additionally, the divine version of this spell allows the subject to see auras, noting alignments of creatures at a glance.

Material Component: An ointment for the eyes that costs 250 gp and is made from very rare mushroom powder, saffron, and fat.

TRUE STRIKE

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: See text

You gain temporary, intuitive insight into the immediate future during your next attack.

Your next single attack roll (if it is made before the end of the next round) gains a +20 insight bonus.

Additionally, you are not affected by the miss chance that applies to attacks against a concealed target.

Focus: A small wooden replica of an archery target.

VISION

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 action

As legend lore, except vision works more quickly but produces some strain on you.

You pose a question about some person, place, or object, then cast the spell.

If the person or object is at hand or if you are in the place in question, you receive a vision about it with a successful Scry check (DC 10).

If only detailed information on the person, place, or object is known, the DC is 15, and the information gained is incomplete.

If only rumors are known, the DC is 20, and the information gained is vague.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

ENCHANTMENT

AID

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2, Good 2, Luck 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Aid is almost like a bles and a proactive cure light wounds spell rolled into one.

The subject is encouraged just as with bless (+1 morale bonus to attack rolls and saves against fear effects), plus it gains 1d8 temporary hit points (see page 129).

ANIMAL FRIENDSHIP

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One animal

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You win the loyalty of an animal, provided that your heart is true.

The spell functions only if you actually wish to be the animal's friend.

If you are not willing to treat the animal as a friend (for example, you intend to eat it, or to use it to set off traps), the spell fails.

An animal's loyalty, once gained, is natural (not magical) and lasting.

You can teach the befriended animal three specific tricks or tasks for each point of Intelligence it possesses.

Typical tasks include attacking, coming when called, guarding a place, and protecting a character.

They cannot be complex (complex tricks, such as accepting a rider, require the Handle Animal skill; see page 68).

At any one time, you can have only a certain number of animals befriended to you.

At most, you can have animal friends whose Hit Dice total no more than twice your caster level (though the demands of adventuring generally restrict a character to half that number).

For example, a 3rd-level druid could use this spell to win the friendship of an animal of 6 HD or less, but an adventuring druid would only be able to maintain an animal of 3 HD as a friend.

An adventuring 5th-level ranger would generally be able to maintain animal friends whose HD totaled 2 or less.

You may dismiss animal friends to enable you to befriend new ones.

Material Component: A piece of food the animal likes.

ANIMAL MESSENGER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Rgr 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One Tiny animal

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You compel a Tiny animal to go to a spot you designate.

The most common use for this spell is to get the animal to carry a message to your allies.

The animal cannot be one tamed or trained by someone else.

Using some type of food desirable to the animal as a lure, you call the animal to you.

It advances and awaits your bidding.

You can mentally impress on the animal a certain place well known to you or an obvious landmark (such as the peak of a distant mountain or mouth of a nearby river).

The directions must be simple, because the animal depends on your knowledge and can't find a destination on its own.

You can attach some small item or note to the messenger.

The animal then goes to the designated location and waits there until the duration of the spell expires, whereupon it resumes its normal activities.

During this period of waiting, the messenger allows others to approach it and remove any scroll or token it carries.

Note that unless the intended recipient of a message is expecting a messenger in the form of a bird or other small animal, the carrier may be ignored.

The intended recipient of a message gains no special ability to communicate with the animal or read any attached message (if it's in a language she doesn't know, for example).

Material Component: A morsel of food the animal likes.

ANIMAL TRANCE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Animals, beasts, or magical beasts of Intelligence 1 or 2

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your swaying motions and music (or singing, or chanting) compel animals, beasts, and magical beasts to do nothing but watch you.

Only creatures with Intelligence scores of 1 or 2 can be affected by this spell.

Roll 2d6 to determine the total number of HD that you entrance.

The closest targets are selected first until no more targets within range can be affected.

For example, if Vadiana affects 7 HD worth of animals and there are several 2-HD wolves within close range, only the three closest wolves are affected.

Animals trained to attack or guard, beasts, and magical beasts are allowed saving throws; animals not trained to attack or guard are not.

An entranced creature can be struck (with a +2 bonus to the attack roll, as if it were stunned), but it then recovers from the compulsion and is no longer affected by the spell.

ANTIPATHY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One location (up to a 10-ft. cube/level) or one object

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause an object or location to emanate magical vibrations that repel either a specific type of intelligent creature or creatures of a particular alignment, as defined by you.

The particular type of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasu, cloakers, or vampires.

Larger groups, such as “goblinoids”, are not specific enough. Likewise, the specific alignment must be named—for example, chaotic evil, chaotic good, lawful neutral, or true neutral.

Creatures of the designated type or alignment feel an overpowering urge to leave the area or to avoid the affected item.

A compulsion forces them to abandon the area or item, shunning it and never willingly returning to it while the spell is in effect.

A creature who makes a successful saving throw can stay in the area or touch the item, but feels very uncomfortable doing so.

This distracting discomfort reduces the creature’s Dexterity score by 4 points.

Antipathy counters and dispels sympathy.

This spell cannot be cast upon living creatures.

Arcane Material Component: A lump of alum soaked in vinegar.

BANE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 50 ft.

Area: All enemies within 50 ft.

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Bane fills your enemies with fear and doubt.

They suffer a –1 morale penalty on their attack rolls and a –1 morale penalty on saving throws against fear effects.

Bane counters and dispels bless.

BINDING

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: One minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: See text (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A binding spell creates a magical restraint to hold a creature.

The target only gets an initial saving throw if its HD is equal to at least half your caster level.

You may have up to six assistants help you with the spell.

For each assistant who casts suggestion, your caster level for this casting of the spell increases by +1.

For each assistant who casts dominate animal, dominate person, or dominate monster, your effective level increases by a number equal to one-third that assistant’s level (provided the target is appropriate for the spell).

Since the assistants’ spells are cast simply to improve the caster level of the caster of the binding spell, saving throws and spell resistance against them are irrelevant.

Your caster level determines whether the target gets an initial Will saving throw and how long the binding lasts.

All binding durations are dismissible.

Regardless of the version of binding you cast, you can specify triggering conditions that end the spell and release the creature whenever they occur.

These can be as simple or elaborate as you desire (but the DM must agree that the condition is reasonable and has a likelihood of coming to pass).

The conditions can be based on a creature’s name, identity, or alignment but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

Intangibles such as level, class, HD, or hit points don’t qualify.

For example, a bound creature can be released when a lawful good creature approaches, but not when a paladin approaches.

Once the spell is cast, its triggering conditions cannot be changed.

Setting a release condition increases the save DC (assuming a saving throw is allowed) by +2.

The binding spell has six versions.

Choose one of the following versions when you cast the spell.

Chaining: The subject is confined by restraints that generate an antipathy spell affecting all creatures who approach the subject, except you.

Duration is one year per caster level.

The subject of this form of binding is confined to the spot it occupied when it received the spell.

Slumber: Brings a comatose sleep upon the subject for up to one year per caster level.

The subject does not need to eat or drink while slumbering, nor does it age.

This form of binding is more difficult to cast than chaining, making it slightly easier to resist.

Reduce the spell’s save DC by 1.

Bound Slumber: A combination of chaining and slumber that lasts for up to one month per caster level.

Reduce save DC by 2.

Hedged Prison: The subject is transported to or otherwise brought within a confined area (such as a labyrinth) from which it cannot wander by any means.

The spell is permanent.

Reduce save DC by 3.

Metamorphosis: The subject assumes gaseous form, except for its head or face.

It is held harmless in a jar or other container, which may be transparent (your choice).

The creature remains aware of its surroundings and can speak, but cannot leave the container, attack, or use any of its powers or abilities.

The binding is permanent.

The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while metamorphosed, nor does it age.

Reduce save DC by 4.

Minimus Containment: The subject is shrunk to a height of 1 inch or even less and held within some gem or similar object or jar.

The binding is permanent.

The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while contained, nor does it age.

Reduce save DC by 4.

In the case of the first three versions of binding (those with limited durations), you may cast additional binding spells to prolong the effect (the durations overlap).

If you do so, the target gets a saving throw at the end of the first spell's duration (even if your caster level was high enough to disallow an initial saving throw).

If the creature succeeds at this save, all the binding spells it has received are broken.

Components: The components for a binding spell vary according to the version of the spell, but they include a continuous chanting utterance read from the scroll or book page giving the spell, somatic gestures, and materials appropriate to the form of binding.

These include such items as miniature chains of special metals (silver for lycanthropes, etc.), soporific herbs of the rarest sort (for slumber bindings), a bell jar of the finest crystal, and so on.

In addition to the specially made props suited to the specific type of binding (cost 500 gp), the spell requires opals worth at least 500 gp for each HD of the target and a vellum depiction or carved statuette of the subject to be captured.

BLESS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 50 ft.

Area: All allies within 50 ft.

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Bless fills your allies with courage.

They gain a morale bonus of +1 on their attack rolls and a morale bonus of +1 on saving throws against fear effects.

Bless counters and dispels bane.

CALM ANIMALS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Animal 1, Drd 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Animals, beasts, or magical beasts with Intelligence 1 or 2 within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell soothes and quiets animals, beasts, and magical beasts, rendering them docile and harmless.

Only creatures with Intelligence scores of 1 or 2 can be affected by this spell.

All the subjects must be of the same species and within a 30-foot sphere.

Roll 2d4 + caster level to determine the total number of HD affected.

Animals trained to attack or guard, dire animals, beasts, and magical beasts are allowed saving throws.

Animals not trained to attack or guard are not.

(A druid could calm a normal bear or wolf with little trouble, but it's more difficult to affect a winter wolf, a bulette, or a trained guard dog).

The affected creatures remain where they are and do not attack or flee.

They are not helpless and defend themselves normally if attacked.

Any threat (fire, a hungry predator, an imminent attack) breaks the spell on the threatened creatures.

CALM EMOTIONS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2, Law 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: 1d6 creatures/level, all of whom must be within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell calms agitated creatures.

You have no control over the affected creatures, but this spell can stop raging creatures from fighting or joyous ones from reveling.

Creatures so affected cannot take violent actions (although they can defend themselves) or do anything destructive, except to protect themselves.

Any aggressive action or life-threatening damage against calmed creatures immediately breaks the spell on the threatened creatures.

This spell automatically suppresses (but does not dispel) mind-affecting spells such as bless, confusion, emotion, and fear, as well as negating a bard's ability to inspire courage or a barbarian's rage.

While the calm emotions spell lasts, a suppressed spell has no effect.

When the calm emotions spell ends, the original spell takes hold of the creature again, provided its duration has not expired in the meantime.

CHARM MONSTER

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 day/level

As charm person, except that the spell is not restricted by creature type or size.

CHARM PERSON OR ANIMAL

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 2

Target: One person or animal

As charm person, except that it can also affect an animal.

When in doubt about whether something is an "animal" as defined by the spell, check the Monster Manual.

CHARM PERSON

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One person

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This charm makes a humanoid of Medium-size or smaller regard you as his trusted friend and ally.

If the creature is currently being threatened or attacked by you or your allies, however, he receives a +5 bonus on his saving throw.

The spell does not enable you to control the charmed person as if he were an automaton, but he perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way.

You can try to give the subject orders, but you must win an opposed Charisma check to convince him to do anything he wouldn't ordinarily do.

(Retries not allowed).

A charmed person never obeys suicidal or obviously harmful orders, but he might believe you if you assured him that the only chance to save your life is for him to hold back an onrushing red dragon for "just a few seconds".

Any act by you or your apparent allies that threatens the charmed person breaks the spell.

Note also that you must speak the person's language to communicate your commands, or else be good at pantomiming.

COMMAND PLANTS

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 8, Plant 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Plants and plant creatures (see text)

Duration: 1 day/level or 1 hour/level (see text)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

The spell has three versions: Plants, fungi, plant creatures, and fungus creatures do your bidding.

Charm: Against plant creatures and fungus creatures, command plants functions as a mass charm spell.

You can command a number of plant creatures whose combined level or HD do not exceed three times your level (or at least one creature regardless of HD).

No two affected creatures can be more than 30 feet from each other, and each is allowed a Will saving throw to negate the effect.

Spell resistance applies.

The effect lasts one day per caster level.

This is a charm effect.

Animate: The spell imbues trees or other large, inanimate vegetable life with mobility.

The animated plants then attack whomever or whatever you first designate.

Animated plants gain humanlike senses.

The plants' AC, speed, attacks, and special abilities vary with their size and form, as described for animated objects in the Monster Manual.

You can animate two trees, four shrubs, or eight vines.

All plants to be affected must be within 60 feet of each other.

You can animate different types of plants if desired (for example, one tree and four vines or a tree and two shrubs). Creatures who have the plants in their possession can prevent the effect with Will saves or spell resistance. The effect lasts 1 hour per caster level.

Entangle: You imbue all plants within range with semimobility, which allows them to entwine around creatures in the area.

This duplicates the effect of an entangle spell.

Spell resistance does not keep creatures from being entangled.

The effect lasts 1 hour per caster level.

COMMAND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You give the subject a one-word command, which she obeys to the best of her ability.

A very reasonable command causes the subject to suffer a penalty on the saving throw (from -1 to -4, at the DM's discretion).

Typical commands are "Flee", "Die" (which causes the subject to feign death), "Halt", "Run", "Stop", "Fall", "Go", "Sleep", "Surrender", and "Rest".

(A command of "Suicide" fails because "suicide" is generally used as a noun, not as a command).

CONFUSION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4, Trickery 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: All creatures in a 15-ft. radius

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Creatures affected by this spell behave randomly, as indicated on the following table:

1d10	Behavior
1	Wander away for 1 minute (unless prevented)
2-6	Do nothing for 1 round
7-9	Attack nearest creature for 1 round
10	Act normally for 1 round

Except on a result of 1, roll again each round to see what the subject does that round.

Wandering creatures leave the scene as if disinterested.

Attackers are not at any special advantage when attacking them.

Behavior is checked at the beginning of each creature's turn.

Any confused creature who is attacked automatically attacks its attackers on its next turn.

Arcane Material Component: A set of three nut shells.

DAZE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One person

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This enchantment clouds the mind of a humanoid of Medium-size or smaller so that he takes no actions.

Humanoids of 5 or more HD are not affected.

The dazed subject is not stunned (so attackers get no special advantage against him), but he can't move, cast spells, use mental abilities, etc.

Material Component: A pinch of wool or similar substance.

DEMAND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

As sending, but the message can also contain a suggestion (see the suggestion spell), which the subject does her best to carry out.

A successful Will save negates the suggestion effect but not the contact itself.

The demand, if received, is understood even if the creature's Intelligence score is as low as 1.

If the message is impossible or meaningless according to the circumstances that exist for the subject at the time the demand comes, the message is understood but the suggestion is ineffective.

The demand's message to the creature must be twenty-five words or less, including the suggestion.

The creature can also give a short reply immediately.

Material Component: A short piece of copper wire and some small part of the subject—a hair, a bit of nail, etc.

DOMINATE ANIMAL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Animal 3, Drd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One animal

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can enchant an animal and direct it with simple commands such as "Attack", "Run", and "Fetch".

Suicidal or self-destructive commands (including an order to attack a creature two or more size categories larger than the dominated animal) are simply ignored.

Dominate animal establishes a mental link between you and the subject animal.

The animal can be directed by silent mental command as long as it remains in range.

You need not see the animal to control it.

You do not receive direct sensory input from the animal, but you know what it is experiencing.

Because you are directing the animal with your own intelligence, it may be able to undertake actions normally beyond its own comprehension, such as manipulating objects with its paws and mouth.

You need not concentrate exclusively on controlling the animal unless you are trying to direct it to do something it normally couldn't do.

DOMINATE MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Target: One creature

As dominate person, except that the spell is not restricted by creature type or size.

DOMINATE PERSON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid of Medium-size or smaller

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can control the actions of any humanoid that is Medium-size or smaller.

You establish a telepathic link with the subject's mind.

If a common language is shared, you can generally force the subject to perform as you desire, within the limits of his abilities.

If no common language is shared, you can communicate only basic commands, such as "Come here", "Go there", "Fight", and "Stand still".

You know what the subject is experiencing, but you do not receive direct sensory input from him.

Subjects resist this control, and those forced to take actions against their nature receive a new saving throw with a bonus of +1 to +4, depending on the type of action required. Obviously self-destructive orders are not carried out.

Once control is established, the range at which it can be exercised is unlimited, as long as you and the subject are on the same plane.

You need not see the subject to control it.

Protection from evil or a similar spell can prevent you from exercising control or using the telepathic link while the subject is so warded, but it does not prevent the establishment of domination or dispel it.

DOOM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This curse fills a single subject with a feeling of horrible dread and causes her to weaken and lose confidence.

The subject is shaken, suffering a -2 morale penalty to attack rolls, checks, and saving throws.

EMOTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: All living creatures within a 15-ft. radius

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell arouses a single emotion of your choice in the subjects.

You can choose any one of the following versions:

Despair: The enchanted creatures suffer a -2 morale penalty to saving throws, attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls.

Emotion (despair) dispels emotion (hope).

Fear: The enchanted creatures flee from you whenever they are in sight of you.

Emotion (fear) dispels emotion (rage).

Friendship: The enchanted creatures react more positively toward others.

Their attitude on the Influencing NPC Attitude Table (see NPC Attitudes in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide) shifts to the next more favorable reaction (hostile to unfriendly, unfriendly to indifferent, indifferent to friendly, or friendly to helpful).

Creatures involved in combat, however, continue to fight back normally.

Emotion (friendship) dispels emotion (hate).

Hate: The enchanted creatures react more negatively toward others.

Their attitude on the Influencing NPC Attitude Table (see NPC Attitudes in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide) shifts to the next less favorable reaction (helpful to friendly, friendly to indifferent, indifferent to unfriendly, or unfriendly to hostile).

Emotion (hate) dispels emotion (friendship).

Hope: The enchanted creatures gain a +2 morale bonus to saving throws, attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls.

Emotion (hope) dispels emotion (despair).

Rage: The enchanted creatures gain a +2 morale bonus to Strength and Constitution scores, a +1 morale bonus on Will saves, and a -1 penalty to AC.

They are compelled to fight heedless of danger.

Emotion (rage) does not stack with barbarian rage or with itself.

Emotion (rage) dispels emotion (fear).

ENTHRALL

Enchantment (Charm) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Any number of creatures

Duration: Up to 1 hour

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

If you have the attention of a group of creatures, you can use this spell to hold them spellbound.

To cast the spell, you must speak or sing without interruption for 1 full round.

Thereafter, those affected give you their undivided attention, ignoring their surroundings.

They are considered to have an attitude of friendly while under the effect of the spell (see the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide for information about attitudes).

Those of a race or religion unfriendly to yours have a +4 bonus to the saving throw.

Creatures with 4 or more HD or with Wisdom scores of 16 or higher remain aware of their surroundings and have an attitude of indifferent.

They gain new saving throws if they witness actions that they oppose.

The enchantment lasts as long as you speak or sing, to a maximum of 1 hour.

Those enthralled by your words take no action while you speak or sing, and for 1d3 rounds thereafter while they discuss the topic or performance.

Those entering the area during the performance must also successfully save or become enthralled.

The speech ends (but the 1d3-round delay still applies) if you lose concentration or do anything other than speaking or singing.

If those not enthralled have unfriendly or hostile attitudes toward you, they can collectively make a Charisma check to try to end the spell by jeering and heckling.

This check is based on the character with the highest Charisma and has a +2 bonus for each other jeerer who can make a Charisma check of 10 or higher.

The heckling ends the spell if it beats your opposed Charisma check.

Only one such challenge is allowed per use of the spell.

If any member of the audience is attacked (or subjected to an overtly hostile act), the spell ends and the audience becomes immediately unfriendly toward you (or hostile, for audience members with 4 or more HD and Wisdom 16 or higher).

FEEBLEMIND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject's Intelligence score drops to 1: roughly the intellect of a lizard.

The creature is unable to cast spells, use Intelligence-based skills, or communicate coherently.

Still, the creature knows who its friends are and can follow them and even protect them.

The creature remains in this state until a heal, limited wish, miracle, or wish spell is used to cancel the effects.

Creatures who can cast arcane spells, such as sorcerers and wizards, or use arcane spell-like effects suffer a -4 penalty on their saving throws.

Material Component: A handful of clay, crystal, glass, or mineral spheres.

GEAS/QUEST

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 6, Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Target: One living creature

Saving Throw: None

As lesser geas, except that geas/quest affects a creature of any HD and allows no saving throw.

Instead of suffering penalties to abilities, the subject takes 3d6 points of damage each day he does not attempt to follow the geas/quest.

Additionally, each day he must make a Fortitude saving throw or sicken.

A sickened creature moves at half his normal speed and suffers -4 penalties on both Strength and Dexterity.

He heals damage at one-tenth his normal rate and cannot benefit from any magical healing effects.

A sickened creature must make a Fortitude save each day or become crippled.

Once crippled, the subject is effectively disabled (as if he had 0 hit points) and can't choose to take strenuous actions.

These effects end one day after the creature attempts to resume the geas/quest.

Remove curse ends the geas/quest only if its caster level is at least two higher than your caster level.

Break enchantment does not end the geas/quest, although limited wish, miracle, and wish do.

Bards, sorcerers, and wizards usually refer to this spell as geas, while clerics call the same spell quest.

GREATER COMMAND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 5

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

As command, except that up to one creature per level may be affected.

At the start of each commanded creature's action after the first, it gets another Will save to attempt to break free from the spell.

HOLD ANIMAL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Animal 2, Drd 2, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Target: One animal

As hold person, except the spell affects an animal instead. Hold animal does not work on beasts, magical beasts, or vermin.

When in doubt about whether something is an "animal" as defined by the spell, check the Monster Manual.

HOLD MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4, Law 6, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Target: One living creature

As hold person, except this spell holds any living creature that fails its Will save.

Arcane Material Component: One hard metal bar or rod, which can be as small as a three-penny nail.

HOLD PERSON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid of Medium-size or smaller

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject freezes in place, standing helpless.

He is aware and breathes normally but cannot take any physical actions, even speech.

He can, however, execute purely mental actions (such as casting a spell with no components).

A winged creature who is held cannot flap its wings and falls.

A swimmer can't swim and may drown.

Arcane Focus: A small, straight piece of iron.

HYPNOTISM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Several living creatures, no two of which may be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 2d4 rounds (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your gestures and droning incantation cause creatures nearby to stop and stare blankly at you, hypnotized.

You can use their rapt attention to make your suggestions and requests seem more plausible.

Roll 2d4 to see how many total HD you affect.

Creatures with fewer HD are affected before creatures with more HD.

Only creatures who can see or hear you are affected, but they do not need to understand the character to be hypnotized.

If you use this spell in combat, the targets gain a +2 bonus to their saving throws.

If the spell affects only a single creature not in combat at the time, the saving throw has a penalty of -2.

While hypnotized, a creature's Spot and Listen checks suffer a -4 penalty.

Any potential threat (such as an armed party member moving behind the hypnotized creature) allows the creature a second saving throw.

Any obvious threat, such as casting a spell, drawing a sword, or aiming an arrow, automatically breaks the hypnotism, as does shaking or slapping the creature.

A hypnotized creature's ally may shake it free of the spell as a standard action.

While the subject is hypnotized, you can make a suggestion or request (provided you can communicate with it).

The suggestion must be brief and reasonable.

An affected creature reacts as though it were two steps more friendly in attitude.

(The DUNGEON MASTER's Guide has rules for creatures' attitudes).

Even once the spell ends, it retains its new attitude toward you, but only with respect to that particular suggestion.

A creature who fails its saving throw does not remember that you enspelled it.

INSANITY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The enchanted creature suffers from a continuous confusion effect.

Remove curse does not remove insanity.

Greater restoration, limited wish, miracle, or wish can restore the creature.

LESSER GEAS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature of up to 7 HD

Duration: 1 day/level or until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A lesser geas places a magical command on a creature to carry out some service or to refrain from some action or course of activity, as desired by you.

The creature must have 7 or fewer HD and be able to understand you.

While a geas cannot compel a creature to kill itself or perform acts that would result in certain death, it can cause almost any other course of activity.

The geased creature must follow the given instructions until the geas is completed, no matter how long it takes.

If the instructions involve some open-ended task that the recipient cannot complete through his own actions (such as "Wait here" or "Defend this area against attack"), the spell remains in effect for a maximum of one day per caster level.

Note that a clever recipient can subvert some instructions. For example, if you order the recipient to protect you from all harm, it might place you in a nice, safe dungeon for the duration of the spell.

If the subject is prevented from obeying the lesser geas for a whole day, he suffers a -2 penalty on each ability score.

Each day, another -2 penalty accumulates, up to a total of -8.

Abilities are not reduced below 1.

The ability penalties end one day after the character resumes obeying the lesser geas.

A lesser geas (and all ability penalties) can be ended by break enchantment, limited wish, remove curse, miracle, or wish.

Dispel magic does not affect a lesser geas.

MASS CHARM

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 day/level

As charm person, except the spell affects a number of creatures (persons or not) whose combined HD do not exceed twice your level (or at least one creature regardless of HD).

If there are more potential targets than you can affect, you choose them one at a time until you choose a creature with too many HD.

MASS SUGGESTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Language-Dependent]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

As suggestion, except that it can affect more creatures.

The same suggestion applies to all these creatures.

MIND FOG

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog that spreads to fill a 20-ft. cube

Duration: 30 minutes/+2d6 rounds (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Mind fog produces a bank of fog that weakens the mental resistance of those caught in it.

Creatures in the mind fog suffer a -10 competence penalty to all Wisdom checks and Will saves. (A creature who successfully saves against the fog is not affected and need not make further saves even if it remains in the fog).

Affected creatures suffer the penalty as long as they remain in the fog and for 2d6 rounds thereafter.

The fog itself is stationary and lasts for 30 minutes (or until dispersed by wind).

The fog is thin and does not significantly hamper vision.

MODIFY MEMORY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action (see text)

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You reach into the subject's mind and modify up to 5 minutes of her memory in one of the following ways:

- Eliminate all memory of an event the subject actually experienced.

This spell cannot negate charm, suggestion, geas, quest, or similar spells.

- Allow the subject to recall with perfect clarity an event she actually experienced.

For instance, she could recall every word from a 5-minute conversation or every detail from a passage in a book.

- Change the details of an event the subject actually experienced.

- Implant a memory of an event the subject never experienced.

Casting the spell takes 1 action.

If the subject fails to save, you proceed with the spell by spending up to 5 minutes (a period of time equal to the amount of memory time you want to modify) visualizing the memory you wish to modify in the subject.

If your concentration is disturbed before the visualization is complete, or if the subject is ever beyond the spell's range during this time, the spell is lost.

A modified memory does not necessarily affect the subject's actions, particularly if it contradicts her natural inclinations.

An illogical modified memory, such as the subject recalling how much she enjoyed drinking poison, is dismissed by the subject as a bad dream or a memory muddled by too much wine.

More useful applications of modify memory include implanting memories of friendly encounters with you (inclining the subject to act favorably toward you), changing the details of orders given to the subject by a superior, or causing the subject to forget that she ever saw you or your party.

The DM reserves the right to decide whether a modified memory is too nonsensical to significantly affect the subject.

OTTO'S IRRESISTIBLE DANCE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject feels an undeniable urge to dance and begins doing so, complete with foot shuffling and tapping. The dance makes it impossible for the subject to do anything other than caper and prance, worsens the Armor Class of the creature by -4, makes Reflex saves impossible except on a roll of 20, and makes it impossible to use a shield.

RANDOM ACTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The enchanted creature is compelled to act randomly for 1 round.

Rather than deciding its action for itself, the subject of the spell takes an action determined randomly on the following table:

1d8	Action
1	Attack self (succeed on any attack roll other than a natural 1).
2	Attack nearest being (for this purpose, a familiar counts as part of the subject's "self").
3	Flee away from caster at top possible speed.
4	Drop anything held.
5	Stand motionless (as if stunned).
6	Do nothing but defend (total defense).
7	Speak (in the subject's native tongue, usually regarding surface thoughts) or make noises (if not capable of speech).
8	Attack caster with melee or ranged weapons (or close with caster if attacking is not possible).

Nothing can affect this die roll in any way. It is always entirely random.

Note: Nonintelligent creatures are immune to mind-affecting spells.

SLEEP

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Several living creatures within a 15-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A sleep spell causes a comatose slumber to come upon one or more creatures.

Roll 2d4 to determine how many total HD of creatures can be affected.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first.

Among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

No creature with 5 or more HD is affected, and HD that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

For example, Mialec casts sleep at three kobolds (1/2 HD), two gnolls (2 HD), and an ogre (4 HD).

The roll (2d4) result is 4.

All three kobolds and one gnoll are affected (1/2 + 1/2 + 1/2 + 2 = 3 1/2 HD).

The remaining 1/2 HD is not enough to affect the last gnoll or the ogre.

Mialec can't choose to have sleep affect the ogre or the two gnolls.

Sleeping creatures are helpless.

Slapping or wounding awakens affected creatures, but normal noise does not.

Awakening a creature is a standard action (an application of the aid another action).

Sleep does not target unconscious creatures, constructs, or undead creatures.

Note: Extra hit points are irrelevant for determining how many HD a creature has.

An ogre with 4d8+8 hit points still has only 4 HD and can be affected by the spell.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of fine sand, rose petals, or a live cricket.

SUGGESTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Language-Dependent]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 hour/level or until completed

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You influence the actions of the enchanted creature by suggesting a course of activity (limited to a sentence or two).

The suggestion must be worded in such a manner as to make the activity sound reasonable.

Asking the creature to stab itself, throw itself onto a spear, immolate itself, or do some other obviously harmful act automatically negates the effect of the spell.

However, a suggestion that a pool of acid is actually pure water and that a quick dip would be refreshing is another matter.

Urging a red dragon to stop attacking your party so that the dragon and party could jointly loot a rich treasure elsewhere is likewise a reasonable use of the spell's power. The suggested course of activity can continue for the entire duration, such as in the case of the red dragon mentioned above.

If the suggested activity can be completed in a shorter time, the spell ends when the subject finishes what he was asked to do.

You can instead specify conditions that will trigger a special activity during the duration.

For example, you might suggest that a noble knight give her warhorse to the first beggar she meets.

If the condition is not met before the spell expires, the activity is not performed.

A very reasonable suggestion causes the save to be made with a penalty (such as -1, -2, etc.) at the discretion of the DM.

Material Components: A snake's tongue and either a bit of honeycomb or a drop of sweet oil.

SYMPATHY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One location (up to a 10-ft. cube/level) or one object

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause an object or location to emanate magical vibrations that attract either a specific type of intelligent creature or creatures of a particular alignment, as defined by you.

The particular type of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasu, vampires, etc.

Larger groups, such as "goblinoids", are not specific enough. Likewise, the specific alignment must be named—for example, chaotic evil, chaotic good, lawful neutral, or true neutral.

Creatures of the type or alignment feel elated and pleased to be in the area or desire to touch or to possess the object. The compulsion to stay in the area or touch the object is overpowering.

If the save is successful, the creature is released from the enchantment, but a subsequent save must be made 1d6×10 minutes later.

If this save fails, the affected creature attempts to return to the area or object.

Sympathy counters and dispels antipathy.

Material Components: 1,500 gp worth of crushed pearls and a drop of honey.

TASHA'S HIDEOUS LAUGHTER

Enchantment (Compulsion)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature (see text)

Duration: 1d3 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell afflicts the subject with uncontrollable laughter.

It collapses into gales of manic laughter, falling prone.

The subject can take no actions while laughing.

After the spell ends, it can act normally.

Creatures with Intelligence scores of 2 or lower are not affected.

A creature whose type (such as humanoid or dragon) is different from the caster's receives a +4 bonus on its saving throw, because humor doesn't "translate" well.

Material Component: Tiny tarts that are thrown at the target and a feather that is waved in the air.

ZONE OF TRUTH

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 5-ft.-radius/level emanation

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Creatures within the emanation area (or those who enter it) can't speak any deliberate and intentional lies.

Creatures are allowed a save to avoid the effects when the spell is cast or when they first enter the emanation area.

Affected creatures are aware of this enchantment.

Therefore, they may avoid answering questions to which they would normally respond with a lie, or they may be evasive as long as they remain within the boundaries of the truth.

Creatures who leave the area are free to speak as they choose.

EVOCATION

BIGBY'S CLENCHED FIST

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Strength 8

Components: V, S, F/DF

As Bigby's interposing hand, except it moves and attacks as directed by you.

(You direct it as a free action).

The floating hand can move up to 60 feet and can attack in the same round.

Since this hand is directed by you, its ability to notice or attack invisible or concealed creatures is no better than yours.

The hand attacks once per round, and its attack bonus equals your level + your Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma modifier (for a wizard, cleric, or sorcerer, respectively), +11 for the hand's Strength score (33), -1 for being Large.

The hand's damage is 1d8+12, and any creature struck must make a Fortitude save (against this spell's save DC) or be stunned for 1 round.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—Pelor's clenched fist, for example.

Arcane Focus: A leather glove and a small device (similar to brass knuckles) consisting of four rings joined in a slightly curved line, which must be slipped onto the four fingers of the caster's dominant hand.

The device must be fashioned of an alloy of copper and zinc.

BIGBY'S CRUSHING HAND

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, Strength 9

Components: V, S, M, F/DF

As Bigby's interposing hand, except the hand can interpose itself, push, or crush one opponent that you select.

The crushing hand can interpose itself as Bigby's interposing hand does, or it can bull rush an opponent as Bigby's forceful hand does, but at +18 on the Strength check.

The crushing hand can grapple an opponent as Bigby's grasping hand does, but with a +12 bonus for the hand's Strength score (35).

The hand deals 2d6+12 points of grapple damage (normal, not subdual).

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—St. Cuthbert's crushing hand, for example.

Arcane Material Component: The shell of an egg.

Arcane Focus: A glove of snakeskin.

BIGBY'S FORCEFUL HAND

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

As Bigby's interposing hand, except the forceful hand pursues and pushes away the opponent that you designate.

Treat this as a bull rush with a +14 bonus on the Strength check (+8 for Strength 27, +4 for being Large, and +2 for charging bonus, which it always gets).

The hand always moves with the opponent to push him back the full distance allowed, and it has no speed limit.

A very strong creature could not push the hand out of its way (because the hand would instantly reposition itself between the creature and you), but it could push the hand up against you by successfully bull rushing the hand.

Focus: A sturdy glove made of leather or heavy cloth.

Bigby.

BIGBY'S GRASPING HAND

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Strength 7

Components: V, S, F/DF

As Bigby's interposing hand, except the hand can also grapple one opponent that you select.

The grasping hand gets one grappling attack per round.

Its attack bonus to make contact is your level + your Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma modifier (for wizards, clerics, and sorcerers, respectively), +10 for the hand's Strength score (31), -1 for being Large.

Its grapple check is this same figure, except with +4 for being Large instead of -1.

It holds but does not harm creatures it grapples.

The grasping hand can also bull rush an opponent as Bigby's forceful hand does, but at +16 on the Strength check, or interpose itself as Bigby's interposing hand does.

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—Kord's grasping hand, for example.

Arcane Focus: A leather glove.

Bigby.

BIGBY'S INTERPOSING HAND

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 10-ft. hand

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Bigby's interposing hand creates a Large magic hand that appears between you and one opponent.

This floating, disembodied hand then moves to remain between the two, regardless of where you move or how the opponent tries to get around it, providing nine-tenths cover (+10 AC) for you against that opponent.

Nothing can fool the hand—it sticks with the selected opponent in spite of darkness, invisibility, polymorphing, or any other attempt to hide or disguise himself.

The hand does not pursue an opponent, however.

A Bigby's hand is 10 feet long and about that wide with its fingers outstretched.

It has as many hit points as you when undamaged, and its AC is 20 (-1 size, +11 natural).

It takes damage as a normal creature, but most magical effects that don't cause damage do not affect it.

The hand cannot push through a wall of force or enter an antimagic field.

It suffers the full effects of a prismatic wall or prismatic sphere.

The hand makes saving throws as its caster.

Disintegrate or a successful dispel magic destroys the hand.

Any creature weighing less than 2,000 pounds trying to push past the hand is slowed to half its normal speed.

If the opponent weighs more than 2,000 pounds, the hand cannot reduce its speed but still affects the opponent's attacks.

By concentrating (as a standard action), you can designate a new opponent for the hand.

Focus: A soft glove.

BLADE BARRIER

Evocation

Level: Clr 6, Good 6, War 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Spinning disk of blades, up to 30-ft. radius

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a spinning disk of razor-sharp blades.

These whirl and flash around a central point, creating an immobile, circular barrier.

Any creature passing through the blade barrier takes 1d6 points of slashing damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

The plane of rotation of the blades can be horizontal, vertical, or slanted.

Creatures within the blade barrier when it is invoked take the damage as well.

They can negate the damage with a successful Reflex saving throw, provided they can and do physically leave the area of the blades by the shortest possible route.

Once the barrier is in place, anything entering or passing through the blades automatically takes damage.

A blade barrier serves as one-half cover (+4 AC) for anyone beyond it.

BLASPHEMY

Evocation [Evil, Sonic]

Level: Clr 7, Evil 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Uttering blasphemy creates two effects.

If you are on your home plane, nonevil extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least one day.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the blasphemy.

Creatures native to your plane who hear the blasphemy and are not evil suffer the following ill effects:

HD	Effect
12 or more	Dazed
Less than 12	Weakened, dazed
Less than 8	Paralyzed, weakened, dazed
Less than 4	Killed

The effects are cumulative.

Dazed: The creature is dazed and can take no actions for 1 round (but defends itself normally).

Weakened: The creature's Strength score decreases by 2d6 points for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes, unable to move or act in any way.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

CALL LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Drd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes, plus 1 action per bolt called

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: See text

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

To cast call lightning, you must be in a stormy area—a rain shower, clouds and wind, hot and cloudy conditions, or even a tornado (including a whirlwind formed by a djinn or air elemental of 7 HD or more).

You are then able to evoke bolts of lightning as long as you remain in the stormy area.

(The spell ends if you leave the stormy area).

You can call down one bolt every 10 minutes.

You need not call a bolt of lightning immediately—other actions, even spellcasting, can be performed.

However, you must use a standard action (concentrating on the spell) to call each bolt.

A bolt causes 1d10 points of electrical damage per caster level (maximum 10d10).

The bolt of lightning flashes down in a vertical stroke at whatever target point you choose, within range (measured from your position at the time).

The bolt takes the shortest possible unobstructed path between a nearby cloud and the target.

Any creature within a 10-foot radius of the path or the point where the lightning strikes is affected.

This spell can be used only outdoors.

It does not function indoors, underground, or underwater.

CHAIN LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Air 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: One primary target plus one secondary target/level (each must be within 30 ft. of the primary target)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an electrical discharge that begins as a single stroke commencing from your fingertips.

Unlike lightning bolt, chain lightning strikes one object or creature initially, then arcs to other targets.

The bolt deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per caster level (maximum 20d6) on the primary target.

After the bolt strikes, lightning can arc to as many secondary targets as you have levels.

The secondary bolts each strike one target and deal half as many dice of damage as the primary (rounded down).

For example, a 19th-level caster generates a primary bolt (19d6 points of damage) and up to nineteen secondary bolts (9d6 points of damage each).

All subjects can attempt Reflex saving throws for half damage.

You choose secondary targets as you like, but they must all be within 30 feet of the primary target, and no target can be struck more than once.

You can choose to affect fewer secondary targets than the maximum (to avoid allies in the area, for example).

Focus: A bit of fur; a piece of amber, glass, or a crystal rod; and one silver pin for each of your caster levels.

CHAOS HAMMER

Evocation [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You unleash chaotic power to smite your enemies.

The power takes the form of a multicolored explosion of leaping, ricocheting energy.

Only lawful and neutral (not chaotic) creatures are harmed by the spell.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to lawful creatures and staggers them for 1d6 rounds.

A staggered character can take only partial actions.

A successful Will save reduces the damage by half and negates the stagger effect.

The spell deals only half damage against creatures who are neither lawful nor chaotic, and they are not staggered.

They can reduce the damage by half again (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Will save.

CONE OF COLD

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5, Water 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Cone of cold creates an area of extreme cold, originating at your hand and extending outward in a cone.

It drains heat, causing 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Arcane Material Component: A very small crystal or glass cone.

CONSECRATE

Evocation

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell blesses an area with positive energy.

All Charisma checks made to turn undead within this area gain a +3 sacred bonus.

Undead entering this area suffer minor disruption, giving them a -1 sacred penalty on attack rolls, damage rolls, and saving throws.

Undead cannot be created within or summoned into a consecrated area.

If the consecrated area contains an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture dedicated to your deity, pantheon, or aligned higher power, the modifiers listed above are doubled (+6 sacred bonus to turning, -2 penalty to undead rolls).

You cannot consecrate an area with a similar fixture of a deity other than your own patron.

Consecrate counters and dispels desecrate.

Material Components: A little holy water and 25 gp worth (5 pounds) of silver dust, all of which must be sprinkled around the area.

CONTINGENCY

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: At least 10 minutes (see text)

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 day/level or until discharged

You can place another spell upon your person so that the latter spell comes into effect under some condition you dictate when casting contingency.

The contingency spell and the companion spell are cast at the same time.

The 10-minute casting time is the minimum total for both castings; if the companion spell has a casting time longer than 10 minutes, use that casting time instead.

The spell to be brought into effect by the contingency must be one that affects your person (feather fall, levitate, fly, teleport, and so forth) and be of a spell level no higher than one-third your caster level (rounded down, maximum 6th level).

The conditions needed to bring the spell into effect must be clear, although they can be general.

For example, a contingency cast with water breathing might prescribe that any time you are plunged into or otherwise engulfed in water or similar liquid, the water breathing spell instantly comes into effect.

Or a contingency could bring a feather fall spell into effect any time you fall more than 4 feet.

In all cases, the contingency immediately brings into effect the second spell, the latter being "cast" instantaneously when the prescribed circumstances occur.

Note that if complicated or convoluted conditions are prescribed, the whole spell combination (contingency and the companion magic) may fail when called on.

The companion spell occurs based solely on the stated conditions, regardless of whether you want it to.

You can use only one contingency spell at a time; if a second is cast, the first one (if still active) is dispelled.

Material Components: Those of the companion spell, plus quicksilver and an eyelash of an ogre mage, ki-rin, or similar spell-using creature.

Focus: A statuette of you carved from elephant ivory and decorated with gems (worth at least 1,500 gp).

You must carry the focus for the contingency to work.

CONTINUAL FLAME

Evocation [Light]

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Illusory flame

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A flame, equivalent in brightness to a torch, springs forth from an object that you touch.

The flame looks like a regular flame, but it creates no heat and doesn't use oxygen.

The flame can be covered and hidden but not smothered or quenched.

Material Component: You sprinkle ruby dust (worth 50 gp) on the item that is to carry the flame.

DANCING LIGHTS

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Up to four illusionary lights, all within a 10-ft.-radius area

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version selected, you create up to four lights that resemble lanterns or torches (and cast that amount of light), or up to four glowing spheres of light (which look like will-o'-wisps), or one faintly glowing, vaguely humanoid shape.

The dancing lights must stay within a 10-foot-radius area in relation to each other but otherwise move as you desire (no concentration required): forward or back, up or down, straight or turning corners, etc.

The lights can move up to 100 feet per round.

A light winks out if the distance between you and it exceeds the spell's range.

DARKNESS

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes an object to radiate darkness out to a 20-foot radius.

Not even creatures who can normally see in the dark (such as with darkvision) can see in an area shrouded in magical darkness.

Normal lights (torches, candles, lanterns, and so forth) do not work, nor do light spells of lower level (flare, light, dancing lights).

Darkness and the 2nd-level arcane spell daylight cancel each other, leaving whatever light conditions normally prevail in the overlapping areas of the spells.

Higher-level light spells (such as the 3rd-level cleric spell daylight) are not affected by darkness.

If the spell is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effects are blocked until the covering is removed.

Darkness counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower level.

Arcane Material Components: A bit of bat fur and either a drop of pitch or a piece of coal.

DAYLIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The object touched sheds light as bright as full daylight in a 60-foot radius.

Creatures who suffer penalties in bright light suffer them while exposed to this magical light.

If the spell is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effects are blocked until the covering is removed.

Daylight brought into an area of magical darkness (or vice versa) is temporarily negated, so that the otherwise prevailing light conditions exist in the overlapping areas of effect.

Daylight counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level, such as darkness.

DEEPER DARKNESS

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes the object touched to shed absolute darkness in a 60-foot radius.

Even creatures who can normally see in the dark cannot see through this magical darkness.

If the spell is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effects are blocked until the covering is removed.

Daylight brought into an area of deeper darkness (or vice versa) is temporarily negated, so that the otherwise prevailing light conditions exist in the overlapping areas of effect.

Deeper darkness counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower level, including daylight and light.

DELAYED BLAST FIREBALL

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Duration: Up to 5 rounds (see text)

As fireball, except this spell is more powerful and can detonate up to 5 rounds after the spell is cast.

The burst of flame detonates with a low roar and delivers 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

The glowing bead created by the spell can detonate immediately if you desire, or you can choose to delay the burst for up to 5 rounds.

You choose the amount of delay upon completing the spell, and the delay cannot change once it has been set (unless someone touches the bead; see below).

If you choose a delay, the glowing bead sits at its destination until it detonates.

A creature can pick up and hurl the bead as a thrown weapon (range increment 10 feet).

If a creature handles and moves the bead within 1 round of its detonation, there is a 25% chance that the bead detonates while the creature is handling it.

DESECRATE

Evocation

Level: Clr 2, Evil 2

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell imbues an area with negative energy.

All Charisma checks made to turn undead within this area suffer a -3 profane penalty.

Undead entering this area gain a +1 profane bonus to attack rolls, damage rolls, and saving throws.

Undead created within or summoned into a desecrated area gain +1 hit points per HD.

If the desecrated area contains an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture dedicated to your deity, pantheon, or aligned higher power, the effects are doubled (turning at -6, +2 profane bonuses to undead rolls, +2 hit points per HD).

If the area contains a similar fixture of a deity, pantheon, or higher power other than your patron, the desecrate spell instead curses the area, cutting off its connection with the associated deity or power.

This secondary function, if used, does not also grant the bonuses to undead as listed above.

Desecrate counters and dispels consecrate.

Material Component: A little unholy water and 25 gp worth (5 pounds) of silver dust, all of which must be sprinkled around the area.

DICTUM

Evocation [Lawful, Sonic]

Level: Clr 7, Law 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Uttering dictum creates two effects.

If you are on your home plane, nonlawful extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least one day.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the dictum.

Creatures native to your plane who hear the dictum and are not lawful suffer the following ill effects:

HD	Effect
12 or more	Deafened
Less than 12	Slowed , deafened
Less than 8	Paralyzed, slowed , deafened
Less than 4	Killed, paralyzed, slowed , deafened

The effects are cumulative.

Deafened: The creature is struck deaf (see blindness/deafness) for 1d4 rounds.

Slowed: The creature is slowed, as by the slow spell, for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes, unable to move or act in any way.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

DIVINE FAVOR

Evocation

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute

Calling upon the strength and wisdom of a deity, you gain a +1 luck bonus to attack and weapon damage rolls for every three caster levels you have (at least +1, maximum +6).

The bonus doesn't apply to spell damage.

DIVINE POWER

Evocation

Level: Clr 4, War 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Calling upon the divine power of your patron, you imbue yourself with strength and skill in combat.

You gain the base attack bonus of a fighter of your total character level, an enhancement bonus to Strength sufficient to raise your Strength score to 18 (if it is not already 18 or higher), and 1 temporary hit point per level.

EARTHQUAKE

Evocation

Level: Clr 8, Destruction 8, Drd 9, Earth 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 5 ft./level radius (S)

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

When you cast earthquake, an intense but highly localized tremor rips the ground.

It knocks creatures down, collapses structures, opens cracks in the ground, and more.

The shock lasts 1 round, during which time creatures on the ground can't move or attack.

Spellcasters on the ground must make Concentration checks (DC 20 + spell level) or lose any spells they try to cast.

The earthquake affects all terrain, vegetation, structures, and creatures in the area.

The exact effects depend on the terrain and its features:

Cave, Cavern, or Tunnel: The spell collapses the roof, dealing 8d6 points of damage to any creature caught under the cave-in (Reflex half DC 15).

An earthquake cast on the roof of a very large cavern could also endanger those outside the actual area but below the falling debris.

Cliffs: They crumble, causing a landslide that travels horizontally as far as it fell vertically.

An earthquake cast at the top of a 100-foot cliff would sweep 100 feet outward from the base of the cliff.

Any creature in the path sustains 8d6 points of damage (Reflex half DC 15).

Open Ground: All creatures standing in the area must make Reflex saving throws (DC 15) or fall down.

Fissures open in the ground, and every creature on the ground has a 25% chance to fall into one (Reflex save DC 20 to avoid the fissure).

At the end of the spell, all fissures grind shut, killing any creatures still trapped within.

Structure: Most structures standing on open ground collapse, dealing 8d6 points of damage to those caught within or beneath the rubble (Reflex half DC 15).

River, Lake, or Marsh: Fissures open underneath the water, draining away the water from that area and forming muddy ground.

Soggy marsh or swampland becomes quicksand for the duration of the spell, sucking down creatures and structures.

Creatures must make Reflex saving throws (DC 15) or sink down in the mud and quicksand.

At the end of the spell, the rest of the body of water rushes in to replace the drained water, possibly drowning those caught in the mud.

FAERIE FIRE

Evocation

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Creatures and objects within a 5-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A pale glow surrounds and outlines the subjects.

Outlined subjects shed light as candles.

Outlined creatures do not benefit from the concealment normally caused by darkness, blur, displacement, invisibility, or similar effects.

The light is too dim to have any special effect on undead or dark-dwelling creatures.

The faerie fire can be blue, green, or violet, according to your word at the time of casting.

The faerie fire does not cause any harm to the objects or creatures thus outlined.

FIRE SHIELD

Evocation [Fire or Cold]

Level: Fire 5, Sor/Wiz 4, Sun 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

This spell wreathes you in flame and causes damage to each creature who attacks you in melee.

The flames also protect you from either cold-based or fire-based attacks (your choice).

Any creature striking you with its body or handheld weapons deals normal damage, but at the same time the attacker takes 1d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level.

This damage is either cold damage (if the shield protects against fire-based attacks) or fire damage (if the shield protects against cold-based attacks).

If a creature has spell resistance, it applies to this damage.

Note that weapons with exceptional reach, such as longspears, do not endanger their users in this way.

When casting this spell, you appear to immolate yourself, but the flames are thin and wispy, shedding no heat and giving light equal to only half the illumination of a normal torch (10 feet).

The color of the flames is determined randomly (50% chance of either color)—blue or green if the chill shield is cast, violet or blue if the warm shield is employed.

The special powers of each version are as follows.

Warm Shield: The flames are warm to the touch.

You take only half damage from cold-based attacks.

If that attack allows a Reflex save for half damage, you take no damage on a successful save.

Chill Shield: The flames are cool to the touch.

You take only half damage from fire-based attacks.

If that attack allows a Reflex save for half damage, you take no damage on a successful save.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of phosphorus for the warm shield; a live firefly or glowworm or the tail portions of four dead ones for the chill shield.

FIRE STORM

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Clr 8, Drd 7, Fire 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

When a fire storm spell is cast, the whole area is shot through with sheets of roaring flame.

The raging flames do not harm natural vegetation, ground cover, and plant creatures in the area, if you so desire.

Any other creatures (and plant creatures you wish to affect) within the area take 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

FIREBALL

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A fireball spell is a burst of flame that detonates with a low roar and deals 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to all creatures within the area.

Unattended objects also take this damage.

The explosion creates almost no pressure.

You point your finger and determine the range (distance and height) at which the fireball is to burst.

A glowing, pea-sized bead streaks from the pointing digit and, unless it impacts upon a material body or solid barrier prior to attaining the prescribed range, blossoms into the fireball at that point (an early impact results in an early detonation).

If you attempt to send the bead through a narrow passage, such as through an arrow slit, you must “hit” the opening with a ranged touch attack, or else the bead strikes the barrier and detonates prematurely.

The fireball sets fire to combustibles and damages objects in the area.

It can melt metals with a low melting point, such as lead, gold, copper, silver, or bronze.

If the damage caused to an interposing barrier shatters or breaks through it, the fireball may continue beyond the barrier if the area permits; otherwise it stops at the barrier just as any other spell effect does.

Material Component: A tiny ball of bat guano and sulfur.

FLAME BLADE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Swordlike beam

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A 3-foot-long, blazing beam of red-hot fire springs forth from your hand.

You wield this bladelike beam as if it were a scimitar.

Attacks with the flame blade are melee touch attacks.

The blade deals 1d8 points of damage +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

Since the blade is immaterial, your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage, which is all fire damage.

The flame blade can ignite combustible materials such as parchment, straw, dry sticks, and cloth.

It can harm any creature who is harmed by magical fire.

The spell does not function underwater.

FLAME STRIKE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 4, Sun 5, War 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (10-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A flame strike produces a vertical column of divine fire roaring downward.

The spell deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Half the damage is fire damage, but the rest results directly from divine power and is therefore not subject to being reduced by protection from elements (fire), fire shield (chill shield), and similar magic.

FLAMING SPHERE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 3-ft.-radius sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A burning globe of fire rolls in whichever direction you point and burns those it strikes.

It moves 30 feet per round and can leap up to 30 feet to strike a target.

If it enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 2d6 points of fire damage to that creature. (The subject can negate this damage with a successful Reflex save).

The flaming sphere rolls over barriers less than 4 feet tall, such as furniture and low walls.

The sphere ignites flammable substances it touches and illuminates the same area as a torch.

The sphere moves as long as you actively direct it (a move-equivalent action for you); otherwise, it merely stays at rest and burns.

It can be extinguished by any means that would put out a normal fire of its size.

The surface of the sphere has a spongy, yielding consistency and so does not cause damage except by its flame.

It cannot push aside unwilling creatures or batter down large obstacles.

The sphere winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Arcane Material Components: A bit of tallow, a pinch of brimstone, and a dusting of powdered iron.

FLARE

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Burst of light

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This cantrip creates a burst of bright light.

If you cause the light to burst directly in front of a single creature, that creature is dazzled.

A dazzled creature suffers a -1 penalty on attack rolls.

The creature recovers in 1 minute.

Sightless creatures are not affected by flare.

FORCECAGE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M (see text)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Barred cage (20-ft. cube) or windowless cell (10-ft. cube)

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This powerful spell brings into being an immobile cubical prison with bars or solid walls of force (your choice).

Creatures within the area are caught and contained unless they are too big to fit inside or can pass through the slits in the barred cage.

All spells and breath weapons can pass through the gaps in the bars.

Teleportation and other forms of astral travel provide a means of escape, but the force walls or bars extend into the Ethereal Plane, blocking ethereal travel.

Like a wall of force spell, the forcecage resists dispel magic, but it is vulnerable to a disintegrate spell, and it can be destroyed by a sphere of annihilation or a rod of cancellation.

Barred Cage: The barred cage is a 20-foot cube with bands of force (similar to a wall of force spell) for bars.

The bands are a half-inch wide, with half-inch gaps between the bars.

Windowless Cell: The cell is a 10-foot cube with no way in and no way out.

Solid walls of force form its six sides.

Material Component: The spell needs no material component at the time of casting, but you must have 1,500 gp worth of ruby dust to prepare the spell.

Upon completing preparations, you toss the dust into the air and it disappears, leaving only the verbal and somatic components to be provided at the time of casting.

GUST OF WIND

Evocation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Gust of wind (10 ft. wide, 10 ft. high) emanating out from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a strong blast of air that originates from you and moves in the direction you are facing.

The force of this gust automatically extinguishes candles, torches, and similar unprotected flames.

It causes protected flames, such as those of lanterns, to dance wildly and has a 50% chance to extinguish these lights.

Creatures caught in the area may be affected (see the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide for details about wind effects on creatures).

Any creature is entitled to a saving throw to ignore the gust's effects.

A gust of wind can do anything a sudden blast of wind would be expected to do.

It can create a stinging spray of sand or dust, fan a large fire, overturn delicate awnings or hangings, heel over a small boat, and blow gases or vapors to the edge of the range.

Focus: A tiny leather bellows.

HALLOW

Evocation [Good]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: One day

Range: Touch

Area: 10-ft./level radius emanating from the touched point

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

Hallow makes a particular site, building, or structure a holy site.

This has four major effects.

First, the site or structure is guarded by a magic circle against evil effect.

Second, all Charisma checks to turn undead gain a +4 sacred bonus and Charisma checks to command undead suffer a -4 sacred penalty.

Spell resistance does not apply to this effect.

(Note: This provision does not apply to the druid version of the spell).

Third, any dead body interred in a hallowed site cannot be turned into an undead creature.

Finally, you may choose to fix a single spell effect to the hallowed site.

The spell effect lasts for one year and functions throughout the entire site, regardless of the normal duration and area or effect.

You may designate whether the effect applies to all creatures, creatures who share your faith or alignment, or creatures who adhere to another faith or alignment.

For example, you may create a bless effect that aids all creatures of your alignment or faith in the area, or a bane effect that hinders creatures of the opposed alignment or an enemy faith.

At the end of the year, the chosen effect lapses, but it can be renewed or replaced simply by casting hallow again.

Spell effects that may be tied to a hallow site include aid, bane, bless, cause fear, darkness, daylight, deeper darkness, detect evil, detect magic, dimensional anchor, discern lies, dispel magic, endure elements, freedom of movement, invisibility purge, negative energy protection, protection from elements, remove fear, resist elements, silence, tongues, and zone of truth.

Spell resistance might apply to these spells' effects.

(See the individual spell descriptions for details).

An area can receive only one hallow spell (and its associated spell effect) at a time.

Hallow counters but does not dispel unhallow.

Material Components: Herbs, oils, and incense worth at least 1,000 gp, plus 1,000 gp per level of the spell to be included in the hallowed area.

HELPING HAND

Evocation

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Five miles

Effect: Ghostly hand

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create the ghostly image of a hand, which you can send to find someone within five miles.

The hand then beckons to that person and leads her to you if she follows it.

When the spell is cast, the hand appears in front of you.

You then specify a person (or any creature) by physical description, which can include race, gender, and appearance but not ambiguous factors such as level, alignment, or class.

When the description is complete, the hand streaks off in search of a subject that fits the description.

The amount of time it takes to find the subject depends on how far away she is.

Distance	Time to Locate
Up to 100 ft.	1 round
1,000 ft.	1 minute
One mile	10 minutes
Two miles	1 hour
Three miles	2 hours
Four miles	3 hours
Five miles	4 hours

Once the hand locates the subject, it beckons her to follow it.

If she follows, the hand points in your direction, leading her in the most direct, feasible route.

The hand hovers 10 feet in front of the subject, moving before her at a rate of anywhere up to 240 feet per round.

Once the hand leads the subject to you, it disappears.

The subject is not compelled to follow the hand or act in any particular way toward you.

If she chooses not to follow, the hand continues to beckon for the duration of the spell, then disappears.

If the spell expires while the subject is en route to you, the hand disappears; she will have to rely on her own devices to locate you.

If more than one subject within a five-mile radius meets the description, the hand locates the closest creature.

If that creature refuses to follow the hand, the hand does not seek out a second subject.

If, at the end of 4 hours of searching, the hand has found no subject that matches the description within five miles, it returns to you, displays an outstretched palm (indicating that no such creature was found), and disappears.

The ghostly hand has no physical form.

It is invisible to anyone except you and potential subjects.

It cannot engage in combat or execute any other task aside from locating the subject and leading her back to you.

The hand does not pass through solid objects but can ooze through small cracks and slits.

The hand cannot travel more than five miles from the spot it appeared when you cast the spell.

HEROES' FEAST

Evocation

Level: Clr 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Feast for one creature/level

Duration: 1 hour + 12 hours (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You bring forth a great feast, including a magnificent table, chairs, service, and food and drink.

The feast takes 1 hour to consume, and the beneficial effects do not set in until this hour is over.

Those partaking of the feast are cured of all diseases, are immune to poison for 12 hours, and are healed of 1d4+4 points of damage after imbibing the nectarlike beverage that is part of the feast.

The ambrosial food that is consumed creates an effect equal to bless that lasts for 12 hours.

During this same period, the people who consumed the feast are immune to magical fear and hopelessness.

If the feast is interrupted for any reason, the spell is ruined and all effects of the spell are negated.

HOLY SMITE

Evocation [Good]

Level: Good 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level) shaking or slapping the creature.

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You draw down holy power to smite the character's enemies.

Only evil and neutral creatures are harmed by the spell; good creatures are unaffected.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to evil creatures and blinds them for 1 round.

A successful Reflex saving throw reduces damage to half and negates the blinding effect.

The spell deals only half damage against creatures who are neither good nor evil, and they are not blinded.

They can reduce that damage by half (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Reflex save.

In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to opponents' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

HOLY SWORD

Evocation

Level: Pal 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to channel holy power into your sword, or any weapon you choose.

The weapon acts as a +5 magic weapon and deals double damage against evil opponents.

It emits a magic circle against evil (as the spell).
 If the magic circle ends, the sword creates a new one on your turn as a free action.
 The spell is automatically canceled 1 round after the weapon leaves your hand for any reason.
 You cannot have more than one holy sword at a time.
 If this spell is cast on a magic weapon, the powers of the spell supersede any that the weapon normally has, rendering the normal enhancement bonus and powers of the weapon inoperative for the duration of the spell.
 This spell is not cumulative with bless weapon or any other spell that might modify the weapon in any way.
 This spell does not work on artifacts.
 Note: A masterwork weapon's bonus to attack does not stack with an enhancement bonus to attack.

HOLY WORD

Evocation [Good, Sonic]
Level: Clr 7, Good 7
Components: V
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: 30 ft.
Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
 Uttering holy word has two effects.
 If you are on your home plane, the spell instantly banishes nongood elementals and outsiders creatures within the area back to their home planes.
 Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 1 day.
 This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the holy word.
 Creatures native to the your plane who hear the holy word and are not good suffer the following ill effects:

HD	Effect
12 or more	Deafened
Less than 12	Blinded, deafened
Less than 8	Paralyzed, blinded, deafened
Less than 4	Killed, paralyzed, blinded, deafened

The effects are cumulative.
 Deafened: The creature is deafened (see blindness/deafness) for 1d4 rounds.
 Blinded: The creature is blinded (see blindness/deafness) for 2d4 rounds.
 Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes, unable to move or act in any way.
 Killed: Living creatures die.
 Undead creatures are destroyed.

ICE STORM

Evocation [Cold]
Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 4, Water 5
Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)
Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
 Great hailstones pound down, dealing 5d6 points of damage to creatures in their path; the damage is 3d6 impact plus 2d6 cold.
Arcane Material Components: A pinch of dust and a few drops of water.

IMBUE WITH SPELL ABILITY

Evocation
Level: Clr 4, Magic 4
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 10 minutes
Range: Touch
Target: Creature touched
Duration: Permanent until discharged
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)
 You transfer some of your currently prepared spells, and the ability to cast them, to another creature.
 Only a creature with an Intelligence score of at least 5 and a Wisdom score of at least 9 can receive this bestowal.
 Only cleric abjurations, divinations, or conjuration (healing) spells can be transferred.
 The number and level of spells that the subject can be granted depends on her HD; even multiple castings of imbue with spell ability can't exceed this limit.
 If your limit of 4th-level spells decreases, and it drops below the current number of active imbue with spell ability spells, the more recently cast imbued spells are dispelled.

HD of Recipient	Spells Imbued
1–2	One 1st-level spell
3–4	Up to two 1st-level spells
5+	Up to two 1st- and one 2nd-level spell

The transferred spell's variable characteristics (range, duration, area, etc.) function according to your level, not the level of the recipient.
 Once you cast imbue with spell ability on another character, you cannot prepare a new 4th-level spell to replace it until the recipient uses the transferred spells or is slain.
 In the meantime, you remain responsible to your deity or your principles for the use to which the spell is put.
 To cast a spell with a verbal component, the recipient must be able to speak.
 To cast a spell with a somatic component, she must have humanlike hands.
 To cast a spell with a material component or focus, she must have the materials or focus.

IMPLOSION

Evocation

Level: Clr 9, Destruction 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One corporeal creature/round

Duration: Concentration (up to 4 rounds)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a destructive resonance in a corporeal creature's body.

For each round you concentrate, you cause one creature to collapse in on itself, killing it.

(This effect, being instantaneous, cannot be dispelled).

You can target a particular creature only once with each casting of the spell.

Implosion has no effect on creatures in gaseous form or on incorporeal creatures.

INVISIBILITY PURGE

Evocation

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You surround yourself with a sphere of power with a radius of 5 feet per caster level that negates all forms of invisibility.

Anything invisible becomes visible while in the area.

LEOMUND'S TINY HUT

Evocation [Force]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Effect: 20-ft.-radius sphere centered on your location

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create an unmoving, opaque sphere of force of any color you desire around yourself.

Half of the sphere projects above the ground, and the lower hemisphere passes through the ground.

Up to nine other Medium-size creatures can fit into the field with you; they can freely pass into and out of the hut without harming it.

However, if you remove yourself from the hut, the spell ends.

The temperature inside the hut is 70° F if the exterior temperature is between 0° and 100° F.

An exterior temperature below 0° or above 100° lowers or raises, respectively, the interior temperature on a 1-degree-for-1 basis (thus, if it's -20° outside, inside it'll be 50°).

The hut also provides protection against the elements, such as rain, dust, and sandstorms.

The hut withstands any wind of less than hurricane force, but a hurricane (75+ mph wind speed) or greater force destroys it.

The interior of the hut is a hemisphere.

You can illuminate it dimly upon command or extinguish the light as desired.

Note that although the force field is opaque from the outside, it is transparent from within.

Missiles, weapons, and most spell effects can pass through the hut without affecting it, although the occupants cannot be seen from outside the hut (they have total concealment).

Material Component: A small crystal bead that shatters when the spell duration expires or the hut is dispelled.

LIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes an object to glow like a torch, shedding light in a 20-foot radius from the point you touch.

The effect is immobile, but it can be cast on a movable object.

Light taken into an area of magical darkness does not function.

Arcane Material Component: A firefly or a piece of phosphorescent moss.

LIGHTNING BOLT

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level) or 50 ft. + 5 ft./level

Area: 5 ft. wide to medium range (100 ft. + 10 ft./level); or 10 ft. wide to 50 ft. + 5 ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a powerful stroke of electrical energy that deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to each creature within its area.

The bolt begins at your fingertips.

The lightning bolt sets fire to combustibles and damages objects in its path.

It can melt metals with a low melting point, such as lead, gold, copper, silver, or bronze.

If the damage caused to an interposing barrier shatters or breaks through it, the bolt may continue beyond the barrier if the spell's range permits; otherwise, it stops at the barrier just as any other spell effect does.

Material Components: A bit of fur and an amber, crystal, or glass rod.

MAGIC MISSILE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to five creatures, no two of which can be more than 15 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A missile of magical energy darts forth from your fingertip and unerringly strikes its target.

The missile deals 1d4+1 points of damage.

The missile strikes unerringly, even if the target is in melee or has anything less than total cover or concealment.

Specific parts of a creature cannot be singled out.

Inanimate objects (locks, etc.) cannot be damaged by the spell.

For every two levels of experience past 1st, you gain an additional missile.

You have two at 3rd level, three at 5th level, four at 7th level, and the maximum of five missiles at 9th level or higher.

If you shoot multiple missiles, you can have them strike a single creature or several creatures.

A single missile can strike only one creature.

You must designate targets before you roll for SR or roll damage.

METEOR SWARM

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Pattern of fireball-like spreads (see text)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Meteor swarm is a very powerful and spectacular spell that is similar to fireball in many aspects.

When you cast it, either four large spheres (2-foot-diameter) or eight small spheres (1-foot-diameter) spring from your outstretched hand and streak in a straight line to the spot you select.

The meteor spheres leave a fiery trail of sparks.

Any creature in the straight-line path of these spheres is struck by each one and takes 24d6 points of fire damage (no save).

If the spheres reach their destination, each bursts like a fireball in a spread.

Each large sphere deals 6d6 points of fire damage.

The four spheres explode with their points of origin forming a diamond or box pattern around the spell's central point of origin, which you designate upon casting.

Each large sphere has a 15-foot-radius spread, and each blast is 20 feet apart along the sides of the pattern, creating overlapping areas of the spell's effect and exposing the center to all four blasts.

The smaller spheres each have a 7 1/2-foot-radius spread, and each deals 3d6 points of fire damage.

They explode with their points of origin forming a pattern around the spell's central point of origin (which you designate upon casting) of a box within a diamond or vice versa, with each of the outer sides measuring 20 feet long.

The center has four areas of overlapping effect, and numerous peripheral areas have two or three overlapping areas of the spell's effect.

Creatures caught in a blast can attempt Reflex saves for half damage.

Creatures struck by multiple blasts save against each blast separately.

MIRACLE

Evocation

Level: Clr 9, Luck 9

Components: V, S, XP (see text)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You don't so much cast a miracle as request one.

You state what you would like to have happen and request that your deity (or the power you pray to for spells) intercede.

The DM then determines the particular effect of the miracle.

A miracle can do any of the following:

- Duplicate any cleric spell of up to 8th level (including spells to which you have access because of your domains).
- Duplicate any other spell of up to 7th level.
- Undo the harmful effects of certain spells, such as feblemind or insanity.
- Have any effect whose power level is in line with the above effects.

If the miracle has any of the above effects, casting it carries no experience point cost.

Alternatively, the cleric can make a very powerful request. Casting such a miracle costs the cleric 5,000 XP because of the powerful divine energies involved.

Examples of especially powerful miracles of this sort could include:

- Swinging the tide of a battle in your favor by raising fallen allies to continue fighting until the end of the battle.
- Moving you and your allies, with all your and their gear, from one plane to another through planar barriers to a specific locale with no chance of error.
- Protecting a city from an earthquake, volcanic eruption, flood, or other major natural disaster.

In any event, a request that is out of line with the deity's (or alignment's) nature is refused.

A duplicated spell allows saving throws and SR as normal (but save DCs are for a 9th-level spell).

When a miracle duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay that cost.

When a miracle spell duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 100 gp, you must provide that component.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP (for some uses of the miracle spell; see above).

MORDENKAINEN'S SWORD

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One sword

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bring into being a shimmering, swordlike plane of force.

The sword strikes at any opponent within its range, as you desire, starting the round that you cast the spell.

The sword attacks its designated target once each round.

Its attack bonus is your level + your Intelligence bonus or your Charisma bonus (for wizards and sorcerers, respectively) with a +3 enhancement bonus.

As a force effect, it can strike ethereal and incorporeal creatures.

It deals 4d6+3 points of damage, with a threat range of 19–20 and a crit of ×2.

The sword always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

If the sword goes beyond the spell range from you, if it goes out of your sight, or if you are not directing it, the sword returns to you and hovers.

Each round after the first, you can use a standard action to switch the sword to a new target.

If you do not, the sword continues to attack the previous round's target.

The sword cannot be attacked or harmed by physical attacks, but dispel magic, disintegrate, a sphere of annihilation, or a rod of cancellation affects it.

The sword's AC against touch attacks is 13.

If an attacked creature has SR, the resistance is checked the first time Mordenkainen's sword strikes it.

If the sword is successfully resisted, the spell is dispelled.

If not, the sword has its normal full effect on that creature for the duration of the spell.

Focus: A miniature platinum sword with a grip and pommel of copper and zinc.

It costs 250 gp to construct.

ORDER'S WRATH

Evocation [Lawful]

Level: Law 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Nonlawful creatures within a burst that fills a 30-ft. cube

Duration: Instantaneous (1 round)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes You channel lawful power to smite enemies.

The power takes the form of a three-dimensional grid of energy.

Only chaotic and neutral (not lawful) creatures are harmed by the spell.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster level (maximum 5d8) to chaotic creatures and dazes them for 1 round.

A dazed creature can take no actions but suffers no penalties when attacked.

A successful Reflex save reduces the damage to half and negates the daze effect.

The spell deals only half damage to creatures who are neither chaotic nor lawful, and they are not dazed.

They can reduce the damage in half again (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Reflex save.

OTILUKE'S FREEZING SPHERE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Otiluke's freezing sphere is a multipurpose spell.

You can cast any one of the following three versions:

Frigid Sphere: A tiny sphere of freezing matter steaks from your fingertips to up to long range (400 feet + 40 feet/level) to strike a body of water or a liquid that is principally water. When it strikes such a target, it freezes the liquid to a depth of 6 inches over an area equal to 100 square feet (a 10-foot square) per caster level.

This ice lasts for 1 round per caster level.

The sphere has no effect if it strikes a creature, even a water-based creature, but creatures swimming on the surface of frozen water become trapped in the ice.

Attempting to break free is a full-round action.

A trapped creature must succeed at a Strength check (DC 25) to do so.

Focus: A thin sheet of crystal about 1 inch square.

Cold Ray: A ray of cold springs from your hand to close range (25 feet + 5 feet/2 levels).

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

The ray instantaneously deals 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

Focus: A small, white ceramic cone or prism.

Globe of Cold: You create a small globe about the size of a sling stone, cool to the touch but not harmful.

This globe is a grenadelike weapon and can be hurled either as a thrown weapon (range increment 20 feet) or in a sling.

The globe bursts on impact, dealing 6d6 points of cold damage instantaneously to all targets within a 10-foot radius.

Affected creatures can attempt Reflex saves for half damage.

If you do not hurl the globe, it bursts on its own after 1 round per caster level.

You can command the globe to burst sooner if you wish, but the time cannot be changed once set (though it still bursts on impact after being hurled).

Focus: A small crystal sphere.

OTILUKE'S RESILIENT SPHERE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1-ft.-diameter/level sphere, centered around a creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A globe of shimmering force encloses a creature, provided it is small enough to fit within the diameter of the sphere. The sphere contains its subject for the spell's duration. The sphere is not subject to damage of any sort except from a rod of cancellation, a wand of negation, disintegrate, or a targeted dispel magic spell.

These destroy the sphere without harm to the subject. Nothing can pass through the sphere, inside or out, though the subject can breathe normally.

The subject may struggle, but the only effect that act produces is to move the sphere slightly. The globe can be physically moved either by people outside it or by the struggles of those within.

(See Lifting and Dragging, page 142, for rules on pushing heavy objects).

Material Components: A hemispherical piece of clear crystal and a matching hemispherical piece of gum arabic.

OTILUKE'S TELEKINETIC SPHERE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1-ft.-diameter/level sphere, centered around creatures or objects

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

As Otiluke's resilient sphere, with the addition that the creatures or objects inside the globe are nearly weightless. Anything contained within an Otiluke's telekinetic sphere weighs only one-sixteenth of its normal weight.

You can telekinetically lift anything in the sphere that normally weighs up to 5,000 pounds.

The range of the telekinetic control extends to a maximum distance of medium range from you (100 feet + 10 feet per caster level) after the sphere has succeeded in encapsulating its contents.

You move objects or creatures in the sphere that weigh up to a total of 5,000 pounds by concentrating on the sphere. You can begin moving a sphere the round after casting the spell.

A round's concentration (a standard action) moves the sphere up to 30 feet.

If you cease concentrating, the sphere does not move that round (if on a level surface) or descends at its falling rate (if aloft) until it reaches a level surface, the spell's duration ends, or you begin concentrating again.

If you cease concentrating (voluntarily or due to failing a Concentration check), you can resume concentrating on your next turn or any later turn during the spell's duration. Note that even if more than 5,000 pounds of weight is englobed, the perceived weight is only one-sixteenth of the actual weight, so the orb can be rolled without exceptional effort.

The sphere falls at a rate of only 60 feet per round, which is not fast enough to cause damage to the contents of the sphere.

You can move the sphere telekinetically even if you are in it.

Material Components: A hemispherical piece of clear crystal, a matching hemispherical piece of gum arabic, and a pair of small bar magnets.

PRISMATIC SPRAY

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes seven shimmering, intertwined, multicolored beams of light to spray from your hand. Each beam has a different power.

Creatures in the area of the spell with 8 HD or less are automatically blinded (see blindness/deafness) for 2d4 rounds.

All creatures in the area are randomly struck by one or more beams, which have additional effects.

1d8	Color of Beam	Effect
1	Red	20 points fire damage (Reflex half)
2	Orange	40 points acid damage (Reflex half)
3	Yellow	80 points electricity damage (Reflex half)
4	Green	Poison (Kills; Fortitude partial, take 20 points of damage instead)
5	Blue	Turned to stone (Fortitude negates)
6	Indigo	Insane, as insanity spell (Will negates)
7	Violet	Sent to another plane (Will negates)
8	Struck by two rays; roll again twice, ignoring any "8" results.

PRODUCE FLAME

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Fire 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Flame in your palm

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Flames appear in your hand.

You can hurl them or use them to touch enemies.

The bright flames, which illuminate out to 20 feet as torches do, appear in your open hand and harm neither you nor your equipment.

You can strike opponents with a melee touch attack, dealing fire damage equal to 1d4 +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

Alternatively, you can hurl the flames up to 120 feet as a thrown weapon.

When doing so, you attack with a ranged touch attack (with no range penalty) and deal the same damage as with the melee attack.

No sooner do you hurl the flames than a new set appears in your hand.

The spell does not function underwater.

SEARING LIGHT

Evocation

Level: Clr 3, Sun 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Focusing holy power like a ray of the sun, you project a blast of light from your open palm.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to strike your target.

A creature struck by this ray of light takes 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8).

Undead creatures take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6), and undead creatures particularly vulnerable to sunlight, such as vampires, take 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

Constructs and inanimate objects take only 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

SENDING

Evocation

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: See text

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You contact a particular creature with whom you are familiar and send a short message of twenty-five words or less to the subject.

The subject recognizes you if it knows you.

It can answer in like manner immediately.

Creatures with Intelligence scores as low as 1 can understand the sending, though the subject's ability to react is limited normally by its Intelligence.

Even if the sending is received, the subject is not obligated to act upon it in any manner.

If the creature in question is not on the same plane of existence as you are, there is a 5% chance that the sending does not arrive.

(Local conditions on other planes may worsen this chance considerably, at the option of the DM).

Arcane Material Component: A short piece of fine copper wire.

SHATTER

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Chaos 2, Clr 2, Destruction 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area or Target: 3-ft.-radius spread; or one solid object or one crystalline creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object); Will negates (object) or Fortitude half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Shatter creates a loud, ringing noise that shatters brittle, nonmagical objects; sunders a single solid, nonmagical object; or damages a crystalline creature.

Used as an area attack, shatter destroys nonmagical objects of crystal, glass, ceramic, or porcelain, such as vials, bottles, flasks, jugs, windows, mirrors, and so forth.

All such objects within a 3-foot radius of the point of origin are smashed into dozens of pieces by the spell.

Objects weighing more than 1 pound per your level are not affected, but all other objects of the appropriate composition are shattered.

Alternatively, you can target shatter against a single solid object, regardless of composition, weighing up to 10 pounds per caster level.

Targeted against a crystalline creature (of any weight), shatter deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6), with a Fortitude save for half damage.

Arcane Material Component: A chip of mica.

SHOUT

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial (see text) (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You emit an ear-splitting yell that deafens and damages creatures in its path.

Any creature within the area is deafened for 2d6 rounds and takes 2d6 points of damage.

A successful save negates the deafness and reduces the damage by half.

Any exposed brittle or crystalline object or crystalline creature takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Crystalline creatures are allowed Fortitude saves to reduce the damage by half, and creatures holding fragile objects can negate damage to them with successful Reflex saves.

A deafened character, in addition to the obvious effects, suffers a -4 penalty on initiative, automatically fails Listen checks, and a 20% chance to miscast and lose any spell with a verbal (V) component that he tries to cast. The shout spell cannot penetrate the spell silence.

SOUND BURST

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You blast an area with a tremendous cacophony.

Creatures in the area take 1d8 points of sonic damage and must succeed at Will saves to avoid being stunned for 1 round.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

Deafened creatures are not stunned but are still damaged.

Arcane Focus: A small musical instrument.

SPIRITUAL WEAPON

Evocation [Force]

Level: Clr 2, War 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Magic weapon of force

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A melee weapon made of pure force springs into existence and attacks opponents at a distance, as you direct it, dealing 1d8 damage per hit.

The weapon takes the shape of a weapon favored by your deity or a weapon with some spiritual significance or symbolism to you (see below) and has the same threat range and critical multipliers as a real weapon of its form.

It strikes the opponent you designate, starting with one attack the round the spell is cast and continuing each round thereafter.

It uses your base attack bonus as its attack bonus (possibly allowing it multiple attacks per round in subsequent rounds).

It strikes as a spell, not as a weapon, so, for example, it can strike incorporeal creatures.

The weapon always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

Your feats (such as Weapon Focus) or combat actions (such as charge) do not affect the weapon.

If the weapon goes beyond the spell range, if it goes out of your sight, or if you are not directing it, the weapon returns to you and hovers.

Each round after the first, you can use a standard action to switch the weapon to a new target.

If you do not, the weapon continues to attack the previous round's target.

On any round that the weapon switches targets, it gets one attack.

Subsequent rounds of attacking that target allow the weapon to make multiple attacks if your base attack bonus would allow it to.

The spiritual weapon cannot be attacked or damaged.

If an attacked creature has SR, the resistance is checked the first time the spiritual weapon strikes it.

If the weapon is successfully resisted, the spell is dispelled.

If not, the weapon has its normal full effect on that creature for the duration of the spell.

The weapon that you get is often a force replica of your deity's own personal weapon, many of which have individual names.

A cleric without a deity gets a weapon based on his alignment.

A neutral cleric without a deity can create a spiritual weapon of any alignment provided he is acting at least generally in accord with that alignment at the time.

The weapons of each deity or alignment are:

Deity or Alignment	Spiritual Weapon
Boccob	Quarterstaff
Corellon Larethian	Longsword, "Sahandrian"
Ehlonna	Longsword
Erythnul	Morningstar (with a blunt, stone head)
Fharlanghn	Quarterstaff
Garl Glittergold	Battleaxe, "Arumdina"
Gruumsh	Spear
Heironeous	Longsword, "The Blade of Valor"
Hextor	Flail
Kord	Greatsword
Moradin	Warhammer, "Soulhammer"
Nerull	Scythe
Obad-Hai	Quarterstaff
Olidammarra	Rapier
Pelor	Mace
St. Cuthbert	Mace
Vecna	Dagger
Wee Jas	Dagger
Yondalla	Short sword, "Hornblade"
Good	Hammer, "The Hammer of Justice"
Evil	Flail, "The Scourge of Souls"
Law	Sword, "The Sword of Truth"
Chaos	Battleaxe, "The Blade of Change"

SUNBEAM

Evocation

Level: Drd 7, Sun 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Beam 5 ft. wide and 100 ft. + 10 ft./level long, starting at a point right in front of you

Duration: 1 round/level or until all beams are exhausted

Saving Throw: Reflex negates and half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

For the duration of this spell, you can use a standard action to evoke a dazzling beam of intensely hot light each round.

You can call forth one beam per three caster levels (maximum six beams at 18th level).

The spell ends when its duration runs out or your allotment of beams is exhausted.

All creatures in the beam are blinded and take 3d6 points of damage.

(A successful Reflex save negates the blindness and reduces the damage by half).

In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

Creatures to whom sunlight is harmful or unnatural take double damage.

Undead creatures caught within the ray are dealt 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), or half damage if a Reflex save is successful.

In addition, the ray results in the destruction of undead creatures specifically affected by sunlight if they fail their saves.

The ultraviolet light generated by the spell deals damage to fungi, mold, oozes, slimes, jellies, puddings, and fungoid creatures just as if they were undead creatures.

SUNBURST

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 8, Sun 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 10 ft./level-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sunburst causes a globe of searing heat and radiance to explode silently from a point you select.

All creatures in the globe are blinded and are dealt 3d6 points of damage.

(A successful Reflex save negates the blindness and reduces the damage by half).

In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

Creatures to whom sunlight is harmful or unnatural take double damage.

Undead creatures caught within the globe are dealt 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 25d6), or half damage if a Reflex save is successful.

In addition, the burst results in the destruction of undead creatures specifically affected by sunlight if they fail their saves.

The ultraviolet light generated by the spell deals damage to fungi, mold, oozes, slimes, jellies, puddings, and fungoid creatures just as if they were undead creatures.

Arcane Material Components: A piece of sunstone and a naked flame.

TENSER'S FLOATING DISK

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 3-ft.-diameter disk of force

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a slightly concave, circular plane of force that follows you about and carries loads for you.

The disk is 3 feet in diameter and 1 inch deep at its center.

It can hold 100 pounds of weight per caster level.

(If used to transport a liquid, its capacity is 2 gallons).

The disk floats approximately 3 feet above the ground at all times and remains level.

It floats along horizontally within spell range and will accompany you at a rate of no more than your normal speed each round.

If not otherwise directed, it maintains a constant interval of 5 feet between itself and you.

The disk winks out of existence when the spell duration expires.

The disk also winks out if you move beyond range (by moving too fast or by such means as a teleport spell) or try to take the disk more than 3 feet away from the surface beneath it.

When the disk winks out, whatever it was supporting falls to the surface beneath it.

Material Component: A drop of mercury.

UNHALLOW

Evocation [Evil]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: One day

Range: Touch

Area: 10-ft./level radius emanating from the touched point

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

Unhallow makes a particular site, building, or structure an unholy site.

This has three major effects.

First, the site or structure is guarded by a magic circle against good effect.

Second, all turning checks to turn undead suffer a -4 profane penalty and turning checks to rebuke undead gain a +4 profane bonus.

Spell resistance does not apply to this effect.

(Note: This provision does not apply to the druid version of the spell).

Finally, you may choose to fix a single spell effect to the unhallowed site.

The spell effect lasts for one year and functions throughout the entire consecrated site, regardless of its normal duration and area or effect.

You may designate whether the effect applies to all creatures, creatures who share your faith or alignment, or creatures who adhere to another faith or alignment.

For example, you may create a bless effect that aids all creatures of like alignment or faith in the area, or a bane effect that hinders creatures of the opposite alignment or an enemy faith.

At the end of the year, the chosen effect lapses, but it can be renewed or replaced simply by casting unhallow again.

Spell effects that may be tied to an unhallowed site include aid, bane, bless, cause fear, darkness, daylight, deeper darkness, detect magic, detect good, dimensional anchor, discern lies, dispel magic, endure elements, freedom of movement, invisibility purge, negative energy protection, protection from elements, remove fear, resist elements, silence, tongues, and zone of truth.

Spell resistance might apply to these spells' effects.

(See the individual spell descriptions for details).

An area can receive only one unhallow (and its associated spell effect) at a time.

Unhallow counters but does not dispel hallow.

Material Components: Herbs, oils, and incense worth at least 1,000 gp, plus 1,000 gp per level of the spell to be tied to the unhallowed area.

UNHOLY BLIGHT

Evocation [Evil]

Level: Evil 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call up unholy power to smite your enemies.

The power takes the form of a cold, cloying cloud of greasy darkness.

Only good and neutral (not evil) creatures are harmed by the spell.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to good creatures and sickens them for 1d4 rounds.

A sickened creature suffers a -2 penalty on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saves, skill checks, and ability checks.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage to half and negates the sickening effect.

The spell deals only half damage to creatures who are neither evil nor good, and they are not sickened.

They can reduce the damage in half again (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Reflex save.

WALL OF FIRE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 5, Fire 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Opaque sheet of flame up to 20 ft. long/caster level or a ring of fire with a radius of up to 5 ft./two caster levels; either form 20 ft. high

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

An immobile, blazing curtain of shimmering violet fire springs into existence.

One side of the wall, selected by you, sends forth waves of heat, dealing 2d4 points of fire damage to creatures within 10 feet and 1d4 points of fire damage to those past 10 feet but within 20 feet.

The wall deals this damage when it appears and each round that a creature enters or remains in the area.

In addition, the wall deals 2d6 points of fire damage +1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum +20) to any creature passing through it.

The wall deals double damage to undead creatures.

If you evoke the wall so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall. Each such creature can avoid the wall by making a successful Reflex save.

(If the creature ends up on the hot side of the wall, it takes 2d4 points of damage, as normal).

If any 5-foot length of wall takes 20 points of cold damage or more in 1 round, that length goes out.

(Do not divide cold damage by 4, as normal for objects).

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of phosphorus.

WALL OF FORCE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A wall of force spell creates an invisible wall of force.

The wall of force cannot move, it is immune to damage of all kinds, and it is totally unaffected by most spells, including dispel magic.

However, disintegrate immediately destroys it, as does a rod of cancellation, a sphere of annihilation, and Mordenkainen's disjunction.

Spells and breath weapons cannot pass through the wall in either direction, although dimension door, teleport, and similar effects can bypass the barrier.

It blocks ethereal creatures as well as material creatures (though ethereal creatures can usually get around the wall by floating under or over it through material floors and ceilings).

Gaze attacks can operate through the wall of force.

The caster can form the wall into a flat, vertical plane whose area is up to one 10-foot square per level, or into a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 foot per level.

The wall of force must be continuous and unbroken when formed.

If its surface is broken by any object or creature, the spell fails.

Material Component: A pinch of powder made from a clear gem.

WALL OF ICE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Anchored plane of ice, up to one 10-ft. square/level, or hemisphere of ice with a radius of up to 3 ft. + 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an anchored plane of ice or a hemisphere of ice, depending on the version selected.

A wall of ice cannot form in an area occupied by physical objects or creatures.

Its surface must be smooth and unbroken when created. Fire, including fireball and red dragon breath, can melt a wall of ice.

It deals full damage to the wall (instead of the normal half damage suffered by objects).

Suddenly melting the wall of ice creates a great cloud of steamy fog that lasts for 10 minutes.

Ice Plane: A sheet of strong, hard ice appears.

The wall is 1 inch thick per caster level.

It covers up to a 10-foot-square area per caster level (so a 10th-level wizard can create a wall of ice 100 feet long and 10 feet high, a wall 50 feet long and 20 feet high, etc.).

The plane can be oriented in any fashion as long as it is anchored.

A vertical wall need only be anchored on the floor, while a horizontal or slanting wall must be anchored on two opposite sides.

The wall is primarily defensive in nature and is used to stop pursuers from following you and the like.

Each 10-foot square of wall has 3 hit points per inch of thickness.

Creatures can hit the wall automatically.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached.

If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 15 + caster level.

Even when the ice has been broken through, a sheet of frigid air remains.

Any creature stepping through it (including the one who broke through the wall) takes 1d6 points of cold damage +1 point per caster level.

Hemisphere: The wall takes the form of a hemisphere whose maximum radius is 3 feet +1 foot per caster level.

Thus, a 7th-level caster can create a hemisphere 10 feet in radius.

It is as hard to break through as the ice plane form, but it does not deal damage to those who go through a breach.

You can create the hemisphere so that it traps one or more creatures, though these creatures can avoid being trapped by the hemisphere by making successful Reflex saves.

Material Component: A small piece of quartz or similar rock crystal.

WHIRLWIND

Evocation [Air]

Level: Air 8, Drd 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Cyclone 10 ft. wide at base, 30 ft. wide at top, and 30 ft. tall

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a powerful cyclone of raging wind that moves through the air, along the ground, or over water at a speed of 60 feet per round.

You can concentrate on controlling the cyclone's every movement or specify a simple program, such as move straight ahead, zigzag, circle, or the like.

Directing the cyclone's movement or changing its programmed movement is a standard action for you. The whirlwind always moves during your turn in the initiative order.

If the cyclone exceeds the spell's range, it moves in a random, uncontrolled fashion for 1d3 rounds—possibly endangering you or your allies—and then dissipates. (You can't regain control of the cyclone, even if comes back within range).

Any Large or smaller creature that comes in contact with the whirlwind must succeed at a Reflex save or take 3d6 points of damage.

Medium-size or smaller creatures that fail their first save must succeed at a second one or be picked up bodily by the whirlwind and held suspended in its powerful winds, taking 1d8 points of damage each round with no save allowed.

You may direct the cyclone to eject any carried creatures whenever you wish, depositing the hapless souls wherever the whirlwind happens to be when they are released.

WIND WALL

Evocation

Level: Air 2, Brd 3, Clr 3, Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall up to 10 ft./level long and 5 ft./level high (S)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible vertical curtain of wind appears.

It is 2 feet thick and of considerable strength.

It is a roaring blast sufficient to blow away any bird smaller than an eagle or tear papers and similar materials from unsuspecting hands.

(A Reflex save allows a creature to maintain its grasp on an object).

Tiny and Small flying creatures cannot pass through the barrier.

Loose materials and cloth garments fly upward when caught in a wind wall.

Arrows and bolts are deflected upward and miss, while any other normal ranged weapon passing through the wall suffers a 30% miss chance.

(A giant-thrown boulder, a siege projectile, and other massive ranged weapons are not affected).

Gases, most gaseous breath weapons, and creatures in gaseous form cannot pass through the wall (although it is no barrier to incorporeal creatures).

While the wall must be vertical, you can shape it in any continuous path along the ground that you like.

It is possible to create cylindrical or square wind walls to enclose specific points.

A 5th-level caster can create a wall up to 50 feet long and up to 25 feet high, which is sufficient to form a cylinder of wind 15 feet in diameter.

Arcane Material Components: A tiny fan and a feather of exotic origin.

WORD OF CHAOS

Evocation [Chaotic, Sonic]

Level: Chaos 7, Clr 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Uttering word of chaos creates two effects: If you are on your home plane, nonchaotic extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least one day.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the word of chaos.

Creatures native to your plane who hear the word of chaos and are not chaotic suffer the following ill effects:

HD	Effect
12 or more	Deafened
Less than 12	Stunned, deafened
Less than 8	Confused, stunned, deafened
Less than 4	Killed, confused, stunned, deafened

The effects are cumulative.

Deafened: The creature is struck deaf (see blindness/deafness) for 1d4 rounds.

Stunned: The creature is stunned for 1 round.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

Confused: The creature is confused, as by the confusion spell, for 1d10 minutes.

This is a mind-affecting enchantment.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

ILLUSIONBLUR

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's outline appears blurred, shifting and wavering.
This distortion grants the subject one-half concealment (20% miss chance).
A see invisibility spell does not counteract the blur effect, but a true seeing spell does.
Note: Opponents who cannot see the subject ignore the spell's effect (though fighting an unseen opponent carries penalties of its own; see page 132).

CHANGE SELF

Illusion (Glamour)

Level: Sor/Wiz 1, Trickery 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You make yourself—including clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different.

You can seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between.

You cannot change your body type.

For example, a human caster could look human, humanoid, or like any other generally human-shaped bipedal creature. Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you. You could add or obscure a minor feature, such as a mole or a beard, or look like an entirely different person.

The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form.

It does not alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of you or your equipment.

A battleaxe made to look like a dagger still functions as a battleaxe.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on the Disguise check.

Note: Creatures get Will saves to recognize the glamor as an illusion if they interact with it (such as by touching you and having that not match what they see, in the case of this spell).

COLOR SPRAY

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A vivid cone of intertwined, clashing colors springs forth from your hand, stunning creatures, blinding them, or even knocking them unconscious.

The closest 1d6 creatures in the cone are affected.

The spell affects each subject according to its HD: Up to 2: Unconscious for 2d4 rounds, also blinded for the first 1d4 rounds, and also stunned for the first round.

(Only living creatures are knocked unconscious).

3 or 4: Blinded for 1d4 rounds and stunned for the first round.

5 or more: Stunned for 1 round.

In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

Sightless creatures are not affected by color spray.

Material Component: A pinch each of powder or sand that is colored red, yellow, and blue.

DISPLACEMENT

Illusion (Glamour)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Emulating the natural ability of the displacer beast, the subject appears to be about 2 feet away from his true location.

He benefits from a 50% miss chance as if he had full concealment.

However, unlike actual full concealment, displacement does not prevent enemies from targeting him normally.

True seeing reveals his true location.

Material Component: A small strip of leather made from displacer beast hide, twisted into a loop.

DREAM

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Unlimited

Target: One living creature touched

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You, or a messenger touched by you, sends a phantasmal message to others in the form of a dream.

At the beginning of the spell, you must name the recipient or identify him by some title that leaves no doubt as to his identity.

The messenger then enters a trance, appears in the intended recipient's dream, and delivers the message.

The message can be of any length, and the recipient remembers it perfectly upon waking.

The communication is one-way.

The recipient cannot ask questions or offer information, nor can the messenger gain any information by observing the dreams of the recipient.

Once the message is delivered, the messenger's mind returns instantly to her body.

The duration of the spell is the time required for the messenger to enter the recipient's dream and deliver the message.

If the recipient is awake when the spell begins, the messenger can choose to wake up (ending the spell) or remain in the trance.

She can remain in the trance until the recipient goes to sleep, then enter the recipient's dream and deliver the message as normal.

If the messenger is disturbed during the trance, she awakens, and the spell ends.

Creatures who don't sleep or dream (such as elves, but not half-elves) cannot be contacted by this spell.

The messenger is unaware of her own surroundings or the activities around her while in the trance.

She is defenseless both physically and mentally (she always fails any saving throw, for example) while in the trance.

FALSE VISION

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5, Trickery 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 25 ft. + 5 ft./two levels-radius emanation, centered on the point where you were when you cast the spell

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You and all you desire within the area of the spell become undetectable to scrying (whether by spell or magic device).

Furthermore, if you are aware of an attempt to scry, you can create whatever image you desire, including sight and sound, according to the medium of the scrying method.

To do this, you must concentrate on the figment you are creating.

Once concentration is broken, no further images can be created, although the area remains undetectable for the duration of the spell.

Arcane Material Component: The ground dust of a jade worth at least 250 gp, which is sprinkled into the air when the spell is cast.

GHOST SOUND

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Illusory sounds

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

Ghost sound allows you to create a volume of sound that rises, recedes, approaches, or remains at a fixed place. You choose what type of sound the spell creates when casting the spell and cannot thereafter change its basic character.

The volume of sound created, however, depends on your level.

You can produce as much noise as four normal humans per caster level (maximum twenty humans).

Thus, talking, singing, shouting, walking, marching, or running sounds can be created.

The noise a ghost sound spell produces can be virtually any type of sound within the volume limit.

A horde of rats running and squeaking is about the same volume as eight humans running and shouting.

A roaring lion is equal to the noise from sixteen humans, while a roaring dire tiger is equal to the noise from twenty humans.

Note that ghost sound can enhance the effectiveness of a silent image spell.

Material Component: A bit of wool or a small lump of wax.

GREATER SHADOW CONJURATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

As shadow conjuration, except that it can duplicate wizard or sorcerer conjurations of up to 4th level, and the illusory conjurations created are two-fifths (40%) as strong as the real thing instead of one-fifth as strong.

GREATER SHADOW EVOCATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

As shadow evocation, but it enables the caster to create partially real, illusory versions of sorcerer or wizard evocations of up to 5th level.

If recognized as greater shadow evocation, damaging spells deal only two-fifths (40%) of normal damage, with a minimum of 2 points per die of damage.

For example, a greater shadow cloudkill has a 40% chance to kill creatures of 6 HD or less, and creatures of 4 to 6 HD get a saving throw.

Creatures not killed take $1d10 \times 0.4$ points of damage each round.

Nondamaging effects, such as a web's ensnarement, are only 40% likely to work when the greater shadow evocation is recognized as mostly illusory (roll separately for each effect and each creature who recognizes the evocation as shadowy).

HALLUCINATORY TERRAIN

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: One 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You make natural terrain look, sound, and smell like some other sort of natural terrain.

Thus, open fields or a road can be made to resemble a swamp, hill, crevasse, or some other difficult or impassable terrain.

A pond can be made to seem like a grassy meadow, a precipice like a gentle slope, or a rock-strewn gully like a wide and smooth road.

Structures, equipment, and creatures within the area are not hidden or changed in appearance.

Material Components: A stone, a twig, and a bit of green plant.

HYPNOTIC PATTERN

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: (V), S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Colorful lights in a 15-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A twisting pattern of subtle, shifting colors weaves through the air, fascinating creatures within it.

Roll 2d4 +1 per caster level to determine the total number of HD affected (maximum +10).

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; and, among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

HD that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Affected creatures gaze at the lights, heedless of all else, acting as if they are affected by hypnotism.

However, the character cannot make suggestions as with hypnotism.

Sightless creatures are not affected.

A wizard or sorcerer need not utter a sound to cast this spell, but a bard must sing, play music, or recite a rhyme as a verbal component.

Material Component: A glowing stick of incense or a crystal rod filled with phosphorescent material.

ILLUSORY SCRIPT

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute or longer (see text)

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing no more than 10 lb.

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You write instructions or other information on parchment, paper, or any suitable writing material.

The illusory script appears to be some form of foreign or magic writing.

Only the person (or people) designated by you at the time of the casting are able to read the writing; it's completely unintelligible to any other character, although an illusionist recognizes it as illusory script.

Any unauthorized creature attempting to read the script triggers a potent illusory effect and must make a saving throw.

A successful saving throw means the creature can look away with only a mild sense of disorientation.

Failure means the creature is subject to a suggestion implanted in the script by you at the time the illusory script spell was cast.

The suggestion lasts only 30 minutes.

Typical suggestions include "Close the book and leave", "Forget the existence of the book", and so forth.

If successfully dispelled by dispel magic, the illusory script and its secret message disappear.

The hidden message can be read by a combination of the true seeing spell with the read magic or comprehend languages spell.

The casting time depends on how long a message you wish to write, but it is always at least 1 minute.

Material Component: A lead-based ink (cost of not less than 50 gp).

ILLUSORY WALL

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Image 1 ft. × 10 ft. × 10 ft.

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the illusion of a wall, floor, ceiling, or similar surface.

It appears absolutely real when viewed, but physical objects can pass through it without difficulty.

When the spell is used to hide pits, traps, or normal doors, any detection abilities that do not require sight work normally.

Touch or probing searches reveal the true nature of the surface, though they do not cause the illusion to disappear.

IMPROVED INVISIBILITY

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

As invisibility, except the spell doesn't end if the subject attacks.

INVISIBILITY SPHERE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Area: 10-ft. radius sphere around the creature or object touched

As invisibility, except this spell confers invisibility upon all creatures within 10 feet of the recipient.

The center of the effect is mobile with the recipient.

Those affected by this spell cannot see each other but can see themselves.

Any affected creature moving out of the area becomes visible, but creatures moving into the area after the spell is cast do not become invisible.

Affected creatures (other than the recipient) who attack negate the invisibility only for themselves.

If the spell recipient attacks, the invisibility sphere ends.

INVISIBILITY

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2, Trickery 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or a creature or object weighing no more than 100 lb./level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless, object)

The creature or object touched vanishes from sight, even from darkvision.

If the recipient is a creature carrying gear, the gear vanishes, too.

If you cast the spell on someone else, neither you nor your allies can see the subject, unless you can normally see invisible things or employ magic to do so.

Items dropped or put down by an invisible creature become visible; items picked up disappear if tucked into the clothing or pouches worn by the creature.

Light, however, never becomes invisible, although a source of light can become so (thus, the effect is that of a light with no visible source).

Any part of an item that the subject carries but that extends more than 10 feet from it becomes visible, such as a trailing rope.

Of course, the subject is not magically silenced, and certain other conditions can render the recipient detectable (such as stepping in a puddle).

The spell ends if the subject attacks any creature.

For purposes of this spell, an "attack" includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe. (Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character's perceptions).

Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell.

Causing harm indirectly is not an attack.

Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth.

If the subject attacks directly, however, it immediately becomes visible along with all its gear.

Note that spells such as bless that specifically affect allies but not foes are not attacks for this purpose, even when they include foes in their area.

See Table 8–8: Attack Roll Modifiers, page 132, for the effects of invisibility on combat.

Arcane Material Components: An eyelash encased in a bit of gum arabic.

LEOMUND'S TRAP

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell makes a lock or other small mechanism seem to be trapped to anyone who can detect traps.

You place the spell upon any small mechanism or device, such as a lock, hinge, hasp, cork, screw-on cap, or ratchet. Any character able to detect traps, or who uses any spell or device enabling trap detection, is 100% certain a real trap exists.

Of course, the effect is illusory and nothing happens if the trap is "sprung"; its primary purpose is to frighten away thieves or make them waste precious time.

If another Leomund's trap is active within 50 feet when the spell is cast, the casting fails.

Material Component: A piece of iron pyrite touched to the object to be trapped while the object is sprinkled with a special dust requiring 50 gp to prepare.

MAGIC MOUTH

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell imbues the chosen object or creature with an enchanted mouth that suddenly appears and speaks its message the next time a specified event occurs.

The message, which must be twenty-five or fewer words long, can be in any language known by you and can be delivered over a period of 10 minutes.

The mouth cannot speak verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects.

It does, however, move according to the words articulated. For instance, if it were placed upon a statue, the mouth of the statue would actually move and appear to speak.

Of course, magic mouth can be placed upon a tree, rock, door, or any other object or creature.

The spell functions when specific conditions are fulfilled according to your command as set in the spell.

Commands can be as general or as detailed as desired, although only visual and audible triggers can be used, such as the following: "Speak only when a venerable female human carrying a sack sits cross-legged within one foot". Triggers react to what appears to be the case.

Disguises and illusions can fool them.

Normal darkness does not defeat a visual trigger, but magical darkness or invisibility does.

Silent movement or magical silence defeats audible triggers.

Audible triggers can be keyed to general types of noises (footsteps, metal clanking) or to a specific noise or spoken word (when a pin drops, when anyone says "Boo").

Note that actions can serve as triggers if they are visible or audible.

For example, "Speak when any creature touches the statue" is an acceptable command so long as the creature is visible.

A magic mouth cannot distinguish invisible creatures, alignments, level, HD, or class except by external garb.

The range limit of a trigger is 15 feet per caster level, so a 6th-level caster can command a magic mouth to respond to triggers up to 90 feet away.

Regardless of range, the mouth can respond only to visible or audible triggers and actions in line of sight or within hearing distance.

Material Component: A small bit of honeycomb and jade dust worth 10 gp.

MAJOR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Duration: Concentration + 3 rounds

As silent image, except sound, smell, and thermal illusions are included in the spell effect.

While concentrating, you can move the image within the range.

The image disappears when struck by an opponent unless you cause the illusion to react appropriately.

MASS INVISIBILITY

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: Any number of creatures, no two of which can be more than 180 ft. apart

As invisibility, except the effect is mobile with the group and is broken when anyone in the group attacks.

Individuals in the group cannot see each other.

The spell is broken for any individual who moves more than 180 feet from the nearest member of the group.

(If only two individuals are affected, the one moving away from the other one loses its invisibility.)

If both are moving away from each other, they both become visible when the distance between them exceeds 180 feet).

Material Components: An eyelash and a bit of gum arabic, the former encased in the latter.

MINOR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Duration: Concentration+2 rounds

As silent image, except this spell includes some minor sounds but not understandable speech.

MIRAGE ARCANA

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Area: One 20-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Concentration+1 hour/level (D)

As hallucinatory terrain, except that it enables you to make any area appear to be something other than it is.

The illusion includes audible, visual, tactile, and olfactory elements.

Unlike hallucinatory terrain, the spell can alter the appearance of structures (or add them where none are present).

Still, it can't disguise, conceal, or add creatures (though creatures within the area might hide themselves within the illusion just as they can hide themselves within a real location).

MIRROR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal (see text)

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

Several illusory duplicates of you pop into being, making it difficult for enemies to know which target to attack.

The figments stay near you and disappear when struck.

Mirror image creates 1d4 images plus one image per three caster levels (maximum eight images).

These figments separate from you and remain in a cluster, each within 5 feet of at least one other figment or you.

You can move into and through a mirror image.

When you and the mirror image separate, observers can't use vision or hearing to tell which one is you and which the image.

The figments may also move through each other.

The figments mimic your actions, pretending to cast spells when you cast a spell, drink potions when you drink a potion, levitate when you levitate, and so on.

Enemies attempting to attack you or cast spells at you must select from among indistinguishable targets.

Generally, roll randomly to see whether the selected target is real or a figment.

Any successful attack roll against a figment destroys it.

A figment's AC is 10 + size modifier + Dexterity modifier.

Figments seem to react normally to area spells (such as looking like they're burned or dead after being struck by a fireball).

While moving, you can merge with and split off from figments so that enemies who have learned which image is real are again confounded.

An attacker must be able to see the images to be fooled.

If you are invisible or an attacker shuts her eyes, the spell has no effect, though being unable to see carries the same penalties as being blinded: In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

MISDIRECTION

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object, up to a 10-ft. cube in size

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No

By means of this spell, you misdirect the information from divination spells that reveal auras (including detect evil, detect magic, discern lies, etc.).

On casting the spell, you choose another object within range.

For the duration of the spell, the subject of misdirection is detected as if it were the other object.

Detection spells provide information based on the second object rather than on the actual target of the detection unless the caster of the detection succeeds at his save.

For instance, you could make yourself detect as a tree if one were within range at casting: not evil, not lying, not magical, neutral in alignment, etc.

This spell does not affect other types of divination (augury, detect thoughts, clairaudience/clairvoyance, etc.).

MISLEAD

Illusion (Figment, Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Luck 6, Sor/Wiz 6, Trickery 6

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target/Effect: You/one illusory double

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None/Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

An illusory double of you (a figment) appears, and at the same time, you become invisible (as improved invisibility, a glamer).

You are then free to go elsewhere while your double moves away.

The double appears within range but thereafter moves according to your intent at the time of casting.

You can make the figment appear superimposed perfectly over your own body so that observers don't notice an image appearing and you turning invisible.

You and the figment can then move in different directions. The double moves at your speed, can talk and gesture as if it were real, and even smells and feels real.

The double cannot attack or cast spells, but it can pretend to do so.

NIGHTMARE

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting, Evil]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You send a hideous and unsettling phantasmal vision to a specific creature whom you name or otherwise specifically designate.

The nightmare prevents restful sleep and causes 1d10 points of damage.

The nightmare leaves the subject tired out and unable to regain arcane spells for the next 24 hours.

Dispel evil cast on the subject while you are casting the spell dispels the nightmare and stuns you for 10 minutes per caster level of the dispel evil.

While you are stunned, you can't act, you lose any Dexterity bonus to AC, and attackers get a +2 bonus against you.

If the recipient is awake when the spell begins, you can choose to cease casting (ending the spell) or enter a trance until the recipient goes to sleep, whereupon you become alert again and complete the casting.

If you are disturbed during the trance, the spell ends.

If you choose to enter a trance, you are not aware of your surroundings or the activities around you while in the trance.

You are defenseless, both physically and mentally, while in the trance.

(You always fail any saving throw, for example).

Creatures who don't sleep or dream (such as elves, but not half-elves) are immune to this spell.

NYSTUL'S MAGIC AURA

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

You make an item's aura register to detection spells (and similar spells) as though it were either a magic item of the type that you specify or the subject of a spell that you specify.

You could make an ordinary sword register as a +2 vorpal sword as far as magical detection is concerned or make a +2 vorpal sword register as if it were a +1 sword.

If the object bearing Nystul's magic aura has identify cast on it or is similarly examined, the examiner recognizes that the aura is false and detects the object's actual qualities if he succeeds at a Will save.

Otherwise, he believes the aura and no amount of testing reveals what the true magic is.

If the targeted item's own aura is exceptionally powerful (if it is an artifact, for instance), Nystul's magic aura doesn't work.

Note: A magic weapon, shield, or suit of armor must be a masterwork item, so a sword of average make, for example, looks suspicious if it has a magical aura.

Focus: A small square of silk that must be passed over the object that receives the aura.

NYSTUL'S UNDETECTABLE AURA

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Magic 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to mask a magic item's aura from detection.

If the object bearing Nystul's undetectable aura has identify cast on it or is similarly examined, the examiner recognizes that the aura is false and detects the object's actual qualities if he succeeds at a Will save.

Focus: A small square of silk that must be passed over the object.

PERMANENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Effect: Figment that cannot extend beyond a 20-ft. cube + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent (D)

As silent image, except the figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal elements, and the spell is permanent.

By concentrating, you can move the image within the limits of the range, but it is static while you are not concentrating.

Material Component: A bit of fleece plus powdered jade worth 100 gp.

PERSISTENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

As silent image, except the figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal components, and the figment follows a script determined by you.

The figment follows that script without your having to concentrate on it.

The illusion can include intelligible speech if you wish. For instance, you could create the illusion of several orcs playing cards and arguing, culminating in a fistfight.

Material Components: A bit of fleece and several grains of sand.

PHANTASMAL KILLER

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with), then Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create the phantasmal image of the most fearsome creature imaginable to the subject simply by forming the fears of the subject's subconscious mind into something that its conscious mind can visualize: this most horrible beast.

Only the spell's subject can see the phantasmal killer.

You see only a shadowy shape.

The subject first gets a Will save to recognize the image as unreal.

If the subject fails, the phantasm touches him, and he must succeed at a Fortitude save or die from fear.

Even if the Fortitude save is successful, the subject takes 3d6 points of damage.

If the subject of a phantasmal killer attack succeeds in disbelieving and he is wearing a helm of telepathy, the beast can be turned upon you.

You must then disbelieve it or suffer its deadly fear attack.

PROGRAMMED IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Effect: Visual figment that cannot extend beyond a 20-ft. cube + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent until triggered, then 1 round/level
As silent image, except this spell's figment activates when a specific condition occurs.

The figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal elements, including intelligible speech.

You set the triggering condition (which may be a special word) when casting the spell.

The event that triggers the illusion can be as general or as specific and detailed as desired but must be based on an audible, tactile, olfactory, or visual trigger.

The trigger cannot be based on some quality not normally obvious to the senses, such as alignment.

(See magic mouth for more details about such triggers).

Material Component: A bit of fleece and jade dust worth 25 gp.

PROJECT IMAGE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One shadow duplicate

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You create a shadow duplicate of yourself; it looks, sounds, and smells like you but is intangible.

The shadow mimics your actions (including speech) unless you concentrate on making it act differently.

You can see through its eyes and hear through its ears as if you were standing where it is, and during your turn in a round you can switch from seeing through its eyes to seeing normally, or back again. If you desire, any spell you cast whose range is touch or greater can originate from the shadow instead of from you. (The shadow is quasi-real, just real enough to cast spells that you originate). The shadow can cast spells on itself only if those spells affect shadows. You must maintain line of effect to the shadow at all times. If your line of effect is obstructed, the spell ends. If you use dimension door, teleport, plane shift, or a similar spell that breaks your line of effect, even momentarily, the spell ends. Material Component: A small replica of you (a doll).

RAINBOW PATTERN

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: (V), S, M, F (see text)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Colorful lights with a 15-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration +1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A glowing, rainbow-hued pattern of interweaving colors captivates those within it.

Rainbow pattern captivates a maximum of 24 HD of creatures.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first.

Among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

Affected creatures who fail their saves are captivated by the pattern.

Captivated creatures cannot move away from the pattern, nor can they take actions other than to defend themselves. Thus, a captivated fighter cannot run away or attack but suffers no penalties when attacked.

An attack on a captivated creature frees it from the spell immediately.

With a simple gesture (a free action), you can make the rainbow pattern move up to 30 feet per round (moving its effective point of origin).

All captivated creatures follow the moving rainbow of light, trying to get or remain within the effect.

Captivated creatures who are restrained and removed from the pattern still try to follow it.

If the pattern leads its subjects into a dangerous area (through flame, off a cliff, etc.), each captivated creature gets a second save.

If the view of the lights is completely blocked (by an obscuring mist spell, for instance), creatures who can't see them are no longer affected.

The spell does not affect sightless creatures.

Verbal Component: A wizard or sorcerer need not utter a sound to cast this spell, but a bard must sing, play music, or recite a rhyme as a verbal component.

Material Component: A piece of phosphor.

Focus: A crystal prism.

SCREEN

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Trickery 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 1 day

Saving Throw: None or Will disbelief (if interacted with) (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell combines several elements to create a powerful protection from scrying and direct observation.

When casting the spell, you dictate what will and will not be observed in the spell's area.

The illusion created must be stated in general terms.

Thus, you could specify the illusion of yourself and another character playing chess for the duration of the spell, but you could not have the illusory chess players take a break, make dinner, and then resume their game.

You could have a crossroads appear quiet and empty even while an army is actually passing through the area.

You could specify that no one be seen (including passing strangers), that your troops be undetected, or even that every fifth person or unit should be visible.

Once the conditions are set, they cannot be changed.

Attempts to scry the area automatically detect the image stated by you with no save allowed.

Sight and sound are appropriate to the illusion created.

A band of people standing in a meadow could be concealed as an empty meadow with birds chirping, for instance.

Direct observation may allow a save (as per a normal illusion), if there is cause to disbelieve what is seen.

Certainly onlookers in the area would become suspicious if the column of a marching army disappeared at one point to reappear at another.

Even entering the area does not cancel the illusion or necessarily allow a save, assuming that hidden beings take care to stay out of the way of those affected by the illusion.

SEEMING

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One person/two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 12 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates or Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes or No

As change self, except you can change the appearance of other people as well.

Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.

Unwilling targets can negate the spell's effect on them by making Will saves or with SR.

SHADES

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

As shadow conjuration, except that it mimics sorcerer and wizard conjuration spells of up through 5th level, and these conjurations are three-fifths (60%) as strong as the real things.

SHADOW CONJURATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Effect: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with); varies (see text)

Spell Resistance: No (see text)

You use material from the Plane of Shadow to shape quasi-real illusions of one or more creatures, objects, or forces.

Shadow conjuration can mimic any sorcerer or wizard conjuration spell of 3rd level or lower.

Shadow conjurations are actually one-fifth (20%) as strong as the real things, though creatures who believe the shadow conjurations to be real are affected by them at full strength.

All those that interact with the conjured object, force, or creature can make Will saves to recognize its shadowy nature.

Those who succeed do so.

Attack spells, such as flame arrow, have normal effects unless those affected succeed at Will saves.

Each disbelieving creature takes only one-fifth damage from the attack.

If the disbelieved attack has a special effect other than damage, that effect is one-fifth as strong (if applicable) or only 20% likely to occur.

Mimicked spells allow the normal saves and SR.

Shadow objects or substances, such as obscuring mists, have normal effects except against those who disbelieve them.

Against disbelievers, they are one-fifth strength or 20% likely to work.

For instance, a shadow obscuring mist only provides one-half concealment at 25 feet, not 5 feet.

Shadow creatures have one-fifth the normal hit points (regardless of whether they're recognized as shadowy).

They deal normal damage and have all normal abilities and weaknesses.

Against a creature who recognizes them as shadowy, however, such a creature's damage is one-fifth normal, and all special abilities that do not produce normal damage (in hit points) are only 20% likely to work.

(Roll for each use and each affected character separately).

Furthermore, the shadow creature's AC bonuses are one-fifth as large (so a +7 total bonus resulting in AC 17 would change to a +1 total bonus for a new AC of 11).

Those who succeed at their saves see the shadow conjurations as transparent images superimposed on vague, shadowy forms.

SHADOW EVOCATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Effect: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You tap energy from the Plane of Shadow to cast a quasi-real, illusory version of a wizard or sorcerer evocation of 4th level or lower.

(For a spell with more than one level, use the best one applicable to you).

For example, this spell can be magic missile, fireball, lightning bolt, or so on.

If recognized as a shadow evocation, a damaging spell deals only one-fifth normal damage.

Regardless of the result of the save to disbelieve, affected creatures are also allowed any save the spell being simulated allows, but set the save DC according to shadow magic's level (5th) rather than the spell's normal level.

Nondamaging effects (such as web's ensnarement) have no effect when the shadow magic is recognized as mostly illusory.

SHADOW WALK

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to one touched creature/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

To use the shadow walk spell, you must be in an area of heavy shadows.

You and any creature you touch are then transported along a coiling path of shadowstuff to the edge of the Material Plane where it borders the Plane of Shadow.

The effect is largely illusory, but the path is quasi-real.

You can take more than one creature along with you (subject to your level limit), but all must be touching each other.

In the region of shadow, you can move at a rate of up to seven miles every 10 minutes, moving normally on the borders of the Plane of Shadow but much more rapidly relative to the Material Plane.

Thus, a character can use this spell to travel rapidly by stepping onto the Plane of Shadow, moving the desired distance, and then stepping back onto the Material Plane.

You know where you will come out on the Material Plane. Shadow walk can also be used to travel to other planes that border on the Plane of Shadow, but this requires the transit of the Plane of Shadow to arrive at a border with another plane of reality.

The transit of the Plane of Shadow requires 1d4 hours.

Any creatures touched by you when shadow walk is cast also make the transition to the borders of the Plane of Shadow.

They may opt to follow you, wander off through the plane, or stumble back into the Material Plane (50% chance for either of the latter results if they are lost or abandoned by you).

Creatures unwilling to accompany you into the Plane of Shadow receive a Will saving throw, negating the effect if successful.

SILENCE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius emanation centered on a creature, object, or point in space

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates or none (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes or no (object)

Upon the casting of this spell, complete silence prevails in the affected area.

All sound is stopped: Conversation is impossible, spells with verbal components cannot be cast, and no noise whatsoever issues from, enters, or passes through the area.

The spell can be cast on a point in space, but the effect is stationary unless cast on a mobile object.

The spell can be centered on a creature, and the effect then radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

An unwilling creature can attempt a Will save to negate the spell and can use SR, if any.

Items in a creature's possession or magic items that emit sound receive saves and SR, but unattended objects and points in space do not.

This spell provides a defense against sonic or language-based attacks, such as command, harpy song, a horn of blasting, etc.

SILENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Visual figment that cannot extend beyond four 10-ft. cubes + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the visual illusion of an object, creature, or force, as visualized by you.

The illusion does not create sound, smell, texture, or temperature.

You can move the image within the limits of the size of the effect.

Focus: A bit of fleece.

SIMULACRUM

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 12 hours

Range: Touch

Effect: One duplicate creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Simulacrum creates an illusory duplicate of any creature.

The duplicate creature is partially real and formed from ice or snow.

The duplicate appears to be exactly the same as the original, but there are differences: The simulacrum has only 51% to 60% (50%+1d10%) of the hit points, knowledge (including level, skills, and speech), and personality of the real creature.

Creatures familiar with the original might detect the ruse with a successful Spot check.

You must make a Disguise check when you cast the spell to determine how good the likeness is.

At all times the simulacrum remains under your absolute command.

No special telepathic link exists, so command must be exercised in some other manner.

The simulacrum has no ability to become more powerful.

It cannot increase its level or abilities.

If destroyed, it reverts to snow and melts instantly into nothingness.

A complex process requiring at least one day, 100 gp per hit point, and a fully equipped magical laboratory can repair damage to the simulacrum.

Material Component: The spell is cast over the rough snow or ice form, and some piece of the creature to be duplicated (hair, nail, etc.) must be placed inside the snow or ice.

Additionally, the spell requires powdered ruby worth 100 gp.

XP Cost: 1,000 XP.

VEIL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Concentration + 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (see text)

You instantly change the appearance of the subjects and then maintain that appearance for the spell's duration.

You can make the subjects appear to be anything you wish. A party might be made to resemble a mixed band of brownies, pixies, and faeries led by a treat.

The subjects look, feel, and smell just like the creatures the spell makes them resemble.

Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.

You must succeed at a Disguise check to duplicate the appearance of a specific individual.

This spell gives you a +10 bonus on the check.

Unwilling targets can negate the spell's effect on them by making Will saves or with SR.

Those who interact with the subjects can attempt Will disbelief saves to see through the glamer, but SR doesn't help.

VENTRILOQUISM

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Intelligible sound, usually speech

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You can make your voice (or any sound that you can normally make vocally) seem to issue from someplace else, such as from another creature, a statue, from behind a door, down a passage, etc.

You can speak in any language you know.

With respect to such voices and sounds, anyone who hears it and rolls a successful save recognizes the sound as illusory (but still hears it).

Focus: A parchment rolled up into a small cone.

WEIRD

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Targets: Any number of creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

As phantasmal killer, except it can affect more than one creature.

Only the affected creatures see the phantasmal creatures attacking them, though you see the attackers as shadowy shapes.

If a subject's Fortitude save succeeds, the subject still takes 3d6 points of damage and is stunned for 1 round.

The subject's Strength score also drops 1d4 points for 10 minutes.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

NECROMANCY

ANIMATE DEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 3, Death 3, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One or more corpses touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns the bones or bodies of dead creatures into undead skeletons or zombies that follow your spoken commands.

The skeletons or zombies can follow you, or can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific type of creature) entering the place.

The undead remain animated until they are destroyed.

(A destroyed skeleton or zombie can't be animated again).

Regardless of the type of undead, you can't create more HD of undead than you have caster levels with a single casting of animate dead.

The undead you create remain under your control indefinitely.

No matter how many times you use this spell, however, you can control only 2 HD worth of undead creatures per caster level.

If you exceed this number, all the newly created creatures fall under your control, and any excess undead from previous castings become uncontrolled (you choose which creatures are released).

If you are a cleric, any undead you might command by virtue of your power to command or rebuke undead do not count toward the limit.

Skeletons: A skeleton can be created only from a mostly intact corpse or skeleton.

The corpse must have bones (so purple worm skeletons are not allowed).

If a skeleton is made from a corpse, the flesh falls off the bones.

The statistics for a skeleton depend on its size; they do not depend on what abilities the creature may have had while alive.

See the Monster Manual for details.

Zombies: A zombie can be created only from a mostly intact corpse.

The creature must have a true anatomy (so gelatinous cube zombies are not allowed).

The statistics for a zombie depend on its size, not on what abilities the creature may have had while alive.

See the Monster Manual.

Material Component: You must place a black onyx gem worth at least 50 gp into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse.

The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless, burned-out shells.

ASTRAL PROJECTION

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9, Travel 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 30 minutes

Range: Touch

Targets: You plus one additional creature touched per two levels

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Freeing your spirit from your physical body, this spell allows you to project an astral body into another plane altogether.

You can bring the astral forms of other creatures with you, provided the creatures are linked in a circle with you at the time of the casting.

These fellow travelers are dependent upon you and must accompany you at all times.

If something happens to you during the journey, the companions are stranded wherever you left them.

You project your astral self into the Astral Plane, leaving your physical body behind on the Material Plane in a state of suspended animation.

The spell projects an astral copy of you and all you wear or carry onto the Astral Plane.

Since the Astral Plane touches upon other planes, you can travel astrally to any of these other planes as you will.

You then leave the Astral Plane, forming a new physical body (and equipment) on the plane of existence you have chosen to enter.

When on the Astral Plane or another plane, your astral body is connected at all times to your material body by a silvery cord.

If the cord is broken, you are killed, astrally and materially. Luckily, very few things can destroy a silver cord.

When a second body is formed on a different plane, the incorporeal silvery cord remains invisibly attached to the new body.

If the second body or the astral form is slain, the cord simply returns to your body where it rests on the Material Plane, reviving it from its state of suspended animation. Although astral projections are able to function on the Astral Plane, their actions affect only creatures existing on the Astral Plane; a physical body must be materialized on other planes.

You and your companions may travel through the Astral Plane indefinitely.

Your bodies simply wait behind in a state of suspended animation until you choose to return your spirits to their physical bodies.

The spell lasts until you desire to end it, or until it is terminated by some outside means, such as dispel magic cast upon either the physical body or the astral form, or the destruction of your body back on the Material Plane (which kills you).

Material Components: A jacinth worth at least 1,000 gp, plus a silver bar worth 5 gp for each person to be affected.

CAUSE FEAR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Death 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1d4 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The affected creature becomes frightened.

It suffers a -2 morale penalty on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, and saving throws.

It flees from you as well as it can.

If unable to flee, the creature may fight.

Creatures with 6 or more Hit Dice are immune.

Cause fear counters remove fear.

Note: Mind-affecting spells do not affect nonintelligent creatures, and fear spells do not affect undead.

CHILL TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: Creature or creatures touched (up to one/level)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A touch from your hand, which glows with blue energy, disrupts the life force of living creatures.

Each touch channels negative energy that deals 1d6 points of damage and possibly also 1 point of temporary Strength damage.

(A successful Fortitude saving throw negates the Strength damage).

You can use this melee touch attack up to one time per level.

The spell has a special effect on undead creatures.

Undead touched by you suffer no damage or Strength loss, but they must make successful Will saving throws or flee as if panicked for 1d4 rounds +1 round per caster level.

CIRCLE OF DEATH

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Several living creatures within a 50-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A circle of death snuffs out the life forces of living creatures, killing them instantly.

The spell slays 1d4 HD worth of living creatures per caster level (maximum 20d4).

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the point of origin of the burst are affected first.

No creature with 9 or more HD is affected, and HD that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Material Component: The powder of a crushed black pearl with a minimum value of 500 gp.

CIRCLE OF DOOM

Necromancy

Level: Clr 5, Destruction 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: All living enemies and undead creatures within a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Negative energy bursts in all directions from the point of origin, dealing 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20) to nearby living enemies.

Like inflict spells, circle of doom cures undead in its area rather than harming them.

CLONE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One clone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell makes an inert duplicate of a creature. If the original individual has been slain, the original's soul transfers to the clone, creating a replacement (provided the soul is free and willing to return; see Bringing Back the Dead, page 153).

The original's physical remains, should they still exist, become inert matter and cannot thereafter be restored to life.

If the original has reached the end of its natural life span (died of natural causes), any cloning attempt fails.

To create the duplicate, you must have a piece of flesh (not hair, nails, scales, or the like) taken from the original's living body, with a volume of at least 1 cubic inch.

The piece of flesh need not be fresh, but it must be kept from rotting (such as by the gentle repose spell).

Once the spell is cast, the duplicate must be grown in a laboratory for 2d4 months.

When the clone is completed, if the original is dead, the original's soul enters the clone.

The clone has the personality, memories, skills, and levels the original had at the time the piece of flesh was taken.

However, the replacement must be at least one level lower than the original was at the time of death.

If the original was 1st level, the clone's Constitution score drops by 1; if this would give the clone a Constitution score of 0, the spell fails.

If the original creature has lost levels since the flesh sample was taken and died at a lower level than the clone would otherwise be, the clone is at the level at which the original died.

The spell duplicates only the original's body and mind, not its equipment.

A duplicate can be grown while the original still lives, or when the original soul is unavailable, but the resulting creature is merely a soulless bit of inert flesh, which rots if not somehow preserved.

Material Components: The piece of flesh and various laboratory supplies (cost 1,000 gp).

Focus: Special laboratory equipment (cost 500 gp).

CONTAGION

Necromancy

Level: Clr 3, Destruction 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject contracts a disease, which strikes immediately (no incubation period).

You infect the subject with blinding sickness, cackle fever, filth fever, mindfire, red ache, the shakes, or slimy doom.

See the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide for descriptions of each disease.

CONTROL UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to 2 HD of undead creatures/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell enables you to command undead creatures for a short period of time.

You command the creatures by voice.

Telepathic communication is not possible, but the creatures understand you no matter what language you speak.

Even if vocal communication is impossible (in the area of a silence spell, for instance), the controlled undead do not attack you.

At the end of the spell, the controlled undead revert to their normal behavior.

Intelligent undead remember that you controlled them.

Material Components: A small piece of bone and a small piece of raw meat.

CREATE GREATER UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 8, Death 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One corpse

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance:

No As create undead, except that this spell allows you to create more powerful and intelligent sorts of undead.

The type of undead created is based on your level.

The following types of undead can be created by casters of the specified levels:

Cleric Level	Undead Created
15 or lower	Mummy
16–17	Spectre
18–19	Vampire
20	Ghost*

*Ghosts created by this spell have three ghostly powers in addition to manifestation: malevolence, horrific appearance, and corrupting gaze. See the Monster Manual entry on ghosts for details on these powers.

You may attempt to command the undead as it forms with a turning check (see Turn and Rebuke Undead, page 139). Certain types of undead, such as liches, cannot be created by this spell.

Such undead are created in other, very specific ways.

See the Monster Manual for more information on all types of undead.

CREATE UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 6, Death 6, Evil 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One corpse

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A much more potent spell than animate dead, this evil spell allows you to create more powerful sorts of undead: ghosts, ghouls, shadow, wights, and wraiths.

The following types of undead can be created by casters of the specified levels:

Cleric Level	Undead Created
11 or lower	Ghoul
12–13	Shadow
14–15	Ghast
16–19	Wight
20	Wraith

You may create less powerful undead than your level would indicate if you choose.

For example, at 16th level you could decide to create a ghoul or shadow instead of a wight.

Doing this may be a good idea, because created undead are not automatically under the control of their animator.

You may attempt to command the undead as it forms (see Turn and Rebuke Undead, page 139).

This spell must be cast at night.

Material Components: A clay pot filled with grave dirt and another filled with brackish water.

The spell must be cast on a dead body, and the DM may assign specific requirements for various types of undead. You must place a black onyx gem worth at least 50 gp per HD of the undead to be created into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse.

The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless shells.

DEATH KNELL

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Clr 2, Death 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous/10 minutes per target HD (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You draw forth the ebbing life force of a badly wounded creature and use it to fuel your own power.

Upon casting this spell, you touch a living creature with -1 hit points or lower.

If the subject fails its saving throw, it dies, and you gain 1d8 temporary hit points and +2 Strength.

Additionally, your effective caster level goes up by +1, improving spell effects dependent on caster level.

(This increase in effective caster level does not grant you access to more spells).

These effects last for 10 minutes per HD of the target creature.

DEATH WARD

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Death 4, Drd 5, Pal 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject is immune to all death spells and magical death effects.

The spell does not protect against other sorts of attacks, such as hit point loss, poison, petrification, or other effects even if they might be lethal.

DEATHWATCH

Necromancy

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using the foul sight granted by the powers of unlife, you can determine the condition of creatures near death within the spell's range.

You instantly know whether each creature within the area is dead, fragile (alive and wounded, with 3 or fewer hit points left), fighting off death (alive with 4 or more hit points), undead, or neither alive nor dead (as a construct).

This spell foils any spell or ability that allows creatures to feign death.

DESTRUCTION

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Clr 7, Death 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

This awful spell instantly slays the subject and consumes its remains utterly in holy (or unholy) fire.

If the target's Fortitude saving throw succeeds, it instead takes 10d6 points of damage.

The only way to restore life to a character who has failed to save against this spell is to use true resurrection, a carefully worded wish spell followed by resurrection, or miracle.
Focus: A special holy (or unholy) symbol of silver marked with verses of anathema (cost 500 gp).

DISRUPT UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You direct a shock wave of positive energy.

You must make a ranged touch attack roll to hit, and if the ray hits an undead creature, it deals 1d6 points of damage to it.

ENERGY DRAIN

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (see text)

As enervation, except the creature struck gains 2d4 negative levels, and the negative levels last longer.

Twenty-four hours after gaining any negative levels, the subject must make a Fortitude saving throw (using the spell DC in this case) for each negative level.

If the save succeeds, that negative level is negated.

If it fails, the negative level goes away, but one of the subject's character levels has been permanently drained.

If the ray strikes an undead creature, that creature gains 2d4×5 temporary hit points for 1 hour.

ENERVATION

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray of negative energy

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point your finger and utter the incantation, releasing a black bolt of crackling negative energy that suppresses the life force of any living creature it strikes.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit.

If the attack succeeds, the subject gains 1d4 negative levels.

If the subject has at least as many negative levels as HD, he dies.

Each negative level gives a creature the following penalties:

–1 competence penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, skill checks, ability checks, and effective level (for determining the power, duration, DC, and other details of spells or special abilities).

Additionally, a spellcaster loses one spell or spell slot from her highest available level.

Negative levels stack.

Assuming the subject survives, he regains lost levels after a number of hours equal to your caster level.

Usually, negative levels have a chance of permanently draining the subject's levels, but the negative levels from enervation don't last long enough to do so.

If the ray strikes an undead creature, it gives that creature 5 temporary hit points per two caster levels (maximum 25 temporary hit points) for 1 hour.

FEAR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible cone of terror causes living creatures to become panicked.

They suffer a –2 morale penalty on saving throws, and they flee from you.

A panicked creature has a 50% chance to drop what it's holding, chooses its path randomly (as long as it is getting away from immediate danger), and flees any other dangers that confront it.

If cornered, a panicked creature cowers.

(See the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide for more information on fear-panicked creatures).

Material Component: Either the heart of a hen or a white feather.

FINGER OF DEATH

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can slay any one living creature within range.

The subject is entitled to a Fortitude saving throw to survive the attack.

If the save is successful, it instead sustains 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level.

Of course, the subject might die from damage even if it succeeds at its saving throw.

GENTLE REPOSE

Necromancy

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Corpse touched

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You preserve the remains of a dead creature so that they do not decay.

Doing so extends the time limit on raising that creature from the dead (see raise dead).

Days spent under the influence of this spell don't count against the time limit.

Additionally, this spell makes transporting a fallen comrade more pleasant.

The spell also works on severed body parts and the like.
Arcane Material Components: A pinch of salt, and a copper piece for each eye the corpse has (or had).

GHOUL TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living humanoid touched

Duration: 1d6+2 rounds

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Imbuing you with negative energy, this spell allows you to paralyze a single humanoid for 1d6+2 rounds with a successful melee touch attack.

Additionally, the paralyzed subject exudes a carrion stench that causes retching and nausea in a 10-foot radius.

Those in the radius (excluding you) must make a Fortitude save or suffer a -2 penalty to all attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saving throws, skill checks, and ability checks until the spell ends.

Material Component: A small scrap of cloth taken from clothing worn by a ghoul or a pinch of earth from a ghoul's lair.

GREATER RESTORATION

Necromancy

Components: V, S, XP

Level: Clr 7

Casting Time: 10 minutes

As lesser restoration, except the spell dispels all negative energy levels afflicting the healed creature, restoring the creature to the highest level it had previously achieved.

This reverses level drains by a force or creature.

The drained levels are restored only if the time since the creature lost the level is no more than one week per caster level.

Greater restoration also dispels all magical effects penalizing the character's abilities, cures all temporary ability damage, and restores all points permanently drained from all ability scores.

It also removes all forms of insanity, confusion, and similar mental effects.

Greater restoration does not restore levels or Constitution points lost due to death.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

HALT UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to three undead, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell renders up to three undead creatures immobile. Nonintelligent undead (such as skeletons and zombies) get no saving throw; intelligent undead do.

If the spell is successful, it renders the undead immobile for the duration of the spell (similar to the effect of hold person on a living creature).

The effect is broken if the halted creatures are attacked or take damage.

Material Components: A pinch of sulfur and powdered garlic.

HARM

Necromancy

Level: Clr 6, Destruction 6, Drd 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Harm charges a subject with negative energy that causes the loss of all but 1d4 hit points.

If used on an undead creature, harm acts like heal.

HORRID WILTING

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Water 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: Living creatures, no two of whom can be more than 60 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell evaporates moisture from the bodies of all the subject living creatures, dealing 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 25d8).

This spell is especially devastating to water elementals and plant creatures, who receive a penalty of -2 to their saving throws.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of sponge.

INFLECT CRITICAL WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Destruction 4

As inflict light wounds, except you deal 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

INFLICT LIGHT WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 1, Destruction 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half

Spell Resistance: Yes

When laying your hand upon a creature, you channel negative energy that deals 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +5).

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell cures them of a like amount of damage, rather than harming them.

INFLICT MINOR WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 0

As inflict light wounds, except you deal 1 point of damage.

INFLICT MODERATE WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 2

As inflict light wounds, except you deal 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10).

INFLICT SERIOUS WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 3

As inflict light wounds, except you deal 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15).

MAGIC JAR

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft.+10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level or until you return to your body

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

By casting magic jar, you place your own soul in a gem or large crystal (known as the magic jar), leaving your body lifeless.

Then you can attempt to take control of a nearby body, forcing its soul into the magic jar.

You may move back to the jar (returning the trapped soul to its body) and attempt to possess another body.

The spell ends when you send your soul back to your own body (leaving the receptacle empty).

To cast the spell, the magic jar must be within spell range and you must know where it is, though you do not need line of sight or effect to it.

When you transfer your soul upon casting, your body is, as near as anyone can tell, dead.

While in the magic jar, you can sense and attack any life force within 10 feet per caster level (on the same plane).

You do need line of effect from the jar to the creatures.

You, however, cannot determine the exact creature types or positions of these creatures.

In a group of life forces, you can sense a difference of 4 or more HD and can determine whether a life force is positive or negative energy.

(Undead creatures are powered by negative energy.

Only sentient undead creatures have, or are, souls).

For example, if two 10th-level characters are attacking a hill giant (12 HD) and four ogres (4 HD), you could determine that there are three stronger and four weaker life forces within range, all with positive life energy.

You could choose to take over either a stronger or a weaker creature, but which stronger or weaker creature you attempt to possess is determined randomly.

Attempting to possess a body is a fullround action.

It is blocked by protection from evil or a similar ward.

You possess the body and force the creature's soul into the magic jar unless the subject succeeds at a Will save.

Failure to take over the host leaves your life force in the magic jar, and the target automatically succeeds at further saving throws if you attempt to possess its body again.

If successful, your life force occupies the host body, and the host's life force is imprisoned in the magic jar.

You keep your Intelligence, Wisdom, Charisma, level, class, base attack bonus, base save bonuses, alignment, and mental abilities.

The body retains its Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, hit points, natural abilities, and automatic abilities.

For example, a fish's body breathes water and a troll's body regenerates.

A body with extra limbs does not allow you to make more attacks (or more advantageous two-weapon attacks) than normal.

You can't choose to activate the body's extraordinary or supernatural abilities.

The creature's spells and spell-like abilities do not stay with the body.

As a standard action, you can shift freely from a host to the magic jar if within range, sending the trapped soul back to its body.

The spell ends when you shift from the jar to your own body.

If the host body is slain, you return to the magic jar, if within range, and the life force of the host departs (that is, it is dead).

If the host body is slain beyond the range of the spell, both you and the host die.

Any life force with nowhere to go is treated as slain.

If the spell ends while you are in the magic jar, you return to your body (or die if your body is out of range or destroyed).

If the spell ends while you are in a host, you return to your body (or die, if it is out of range of your current position), and the soul in the magic jar returns to its body (or dies if it is out of range).

Destroying the receptacle ends the spell, and the spell can be dispelled at either the magic jar or the host.

Incorporeal creatures with the magic jar ability can use a handy, nearby object (not just a gem or crystal) as the magic jar.

Focus: A gem or crystal worth at least 100 gp.

POISON

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the venomous powers of natural predators, you inflict the subject with a horrible poison by making a successful melee touch attack.

The poison deals 1d10 points of temporary Constitution damage immediately and another 1d10 points of temporary Constitution damage 1 minute later.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC 10 + one-half caster level + caster's Wisdom modifier).

RAY OF ENFEEBLEMENT

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A coruscating ray springs from your hand.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to strike a target.

The subject suffers a -1d6 enhancement penalty to Strength, with an additional -1 per two caster levels (maximum additional penalty of -5).

The subject's Strength score cannot drop below 1.

SCARE

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: All creatures within a 15-ft. radius

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As cause fear, except this spell causes all targeted creatures of less than 6 HD to become frightened.

Material Component: A bit of bone from an undead skeleton, zombie, ghoul, ghast, or mummy.

SLAY LIVING

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Clr 5, Death 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can slay any one living creature.

You must succeed at a melee touch attack to touch the subject, and the subject can avoid death with a successful Fortitude save.

If she succeeds, she instead takes 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level.

(Of course, the subject might die from damage even if she succeeds at her save).

SOUL BIND

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Corpse

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

You draw the soul from a newly dead body and imprison it in a black sapphire gem.

The subject must have been dead no more than 1 round per caster level.

The soul, once trapped in the gem, cannot be returned through clone, raise dead, reincarnation, resurrection, true resurrection, or even a miracle or a wish.

Only by destroying the gem or dispelling the spell on the gem can one free the soul (which is then still dead).

Focus: A black sapphire of at least 1,000 gp value for every Hit Die possessed by the creature whose soul is to be bound.

If the gem is not valuable enough, it shatters when the binding is attempted.

(While characters have no concept of level or Hit Dice as such, the value of the gem needed to trap an individual can be researched.

Remember that this value can change over time as characters advance).

SPEAK WITH DEAD

Necromancy [Language-Dependent]

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 10 ft.

Target: One dead creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

You grant the semblance of life and intellect to a corpse, allowing it to answer several questions that you put to it. You may ask up to one question per two caster levels.

Unasked questions are wasted if the duration expires.

The corpse's knowledge is limited to what the creature knew during life, including the languages it spoke (if any). Answers are usually brief, cryptic, or repetitive.

If the creature's alignment was different from yours, the corpse gets a Will save to resist the spell as if it were alive.

If the corpse has been subject to speak with dead within the past week, the new spell fails.

You can cast this spell on a corpse that has been deceased for any amount of time, but the body must be mostly intact to be able to respond.

A damaged corpse may be able to give partial answers or partially correct answers, but it must at least have a mouth in order to speak at all.

This spell does not let you actually speak to the person (whose soul has departed).

It instead draws on the imprinted knowledge stored in the corpse.

The partially animated body retains the imprint of the soul that once inhabited it, and thus it can speak with all the knowledge that the creature had while alive.

The corpse, however, cannot learn new information.

Indeed, it can't even remember being questioned.

Any corpse that has been turned into an undead creature can't be spoken to with Speak with Dead.

SPECTRAL HAND

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One spectral hand

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A ghostly, glowing hand shaped from your life force materializes and moves as you desire, allowing you to deliver low-level, touch range spells at a distance.

On casting the spell, you lose 1d4 hit points that return when the spell ends (even if it is dispelled), but not if the hand is destroyed.

(The hit points can be healed as normal).

For as long as the spell lasts, any touch range spell that you cast of 4th level or lower can be delivered by the spectral hand.

The spell gives you a +2 bonus to your melee touch attack roll, and attacking with the hand counts normally as an attack.

The hand always strikes from your direction.

The hand can flank targets like a creature can.

If the hand goes beyond the spell range, goes out of your sight, or if you are not directing it, the hand returns to you and hovers.

The hand is incorporeal and thus cannot be harmed by normal weapons.

It has improved evasion (one-half damage on a failed save against an area spell and no damage on a successful save), your save bonuses, and an AC of at least 22.

Your Intelligence modifier applies to the hand's AC as if it were the hand's Dexterity modifier.

The hand has 1 to 4 hit points, the same number that you lost in creating it.

VAMPIRIC TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous/1 hour (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You must succeed at a melee touch attack.

Your touch deals 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).

You gain temporary hit points equal to the damage you inflict.

However, you can't gain more than the subject's current hit points +10, which is enough to kill the subject.

The temporary hit points disappear 1 hour later.

WAIL OF THE BANSHEE

Necromancy [Death, Sonic]

Level: Death 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One living creature/level affected from caster until end of range

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You emit a terrible scream that kills creatures who hear it (except for yourself).

The spell affects up to one creature per caster level.

Creatures closest to the point of origin on the caster are affected first.

TRANSMUTATION

AIR WALK

Transmutation

Level: Air 4, Clr 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature (Gargantuan or smaller) touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature can tread on air as if walking on solid ground.

Moving upward is similar to walking up a hill.

The maximum upward or downward angle possible is 45 degrees, at a rate equal to one-half the creature's normal speed.

A strong wind (21+ mph) can push an air walker along or hold her back.

At the end of her turn each round, the wind blows her 5 feet for each 5 miles per hour of wind speed.

The creature can, at the DM's option, be subject to additional penalties in exceptionally strong or turbulent winds, such as loss of control over movement or suffering physical damage from being buffeted about.

You can cast air walk on a specially trained mount so it can be ridden through the air.

You train a mount to air walk with the Handle Animal skill (air walking counts as an unusual task; see page 68).

ALTER SELF

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You can alter your appearance and form—including clothing and equipment—to appear taller or shorter, thin, fat, or in between.

The assumed form must be corporeal.

Your body can undergo a limited physical transmutation, including adding or subtracting one or two limbs, and your weight can be changed up to one-half.

If the form selected has wings, you can fly at a speed of 30 feet with poor maneuverability.

(The DUNGEON MASTER's Guide has information on maneuverability).

If the form has gills, you can breathe underwater.

Your attack rolls, natural armor bonus, and saves do not change.

The spell does not confer special abilities, attack forms, defenses, ability scores, or mannerisms of the chosen form. Once the new form is chosen, it remains for the duration of the spell.

If you are slain, you automatically return to your normal form.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check.

ANIMAL GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to one animal/two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A number of animals grow to twice their normal size.

This doubles each animal's height, length, and width, increasing its weight by a factor of eight.

This increase in size has a number of effects: Hit Dice: The creature's HD double, doubling the creature's base attack bonus and increasing its saves accordingly.

Size: The creature's size increases one step.

This increase reduces its AC (according to the new size), reduces its attack bonus (according to the new size), affects its ability to grapple (page 137), and so on.

The creature gains an enlargement bonus to Strength and Constitution scores, and its damage with natural attacks increases.

This spell does not affect Colossal creatures.

For details on how the characteristics of an enlarged animal change, see the Monster Manual.

When the spell ends, the creature's hit points return to normal, and all damage the creature has taken while enlarged is divided by 2.

The spell gives you no special means of command or influence over the enlarged animals.

ANIMAL SHAPES

Transmutation

Level: Animal 7, Drd 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One willing creature/level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As polymorph other, except you polymorph up to one willing creature per level into an animal of your choice; the spell has no effect on unwilling creatures.

Recipients remain in the animal form until the spell expires or you dismiss the spell for all recipients.

In addition, an individual subject may choose to resume her normal form (as a full-round action); doing so ends the spell for her and her alone.

The allowed size of the animal form depends on your level:

Caster Level	Allowed Sizes
Up to 16th	Small or Medium-size
17th–19th	Tiny through Large
20th	Diminutive through Huge

Creatures polymorphed by this spell don't suffer the disorientation penalty that those transformed by polymorph other often do.

ANIMATE OBJECTS

Transmutation

Level: Chaos 6, Clr 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: Objects or matter, 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You imbue inanimate objects with mobility and a semblance of life.

The animated object, or objects, then attack whomever or whatever you initially designate.

The animated object can be of any nonmagical material—wood, metal, stone, fabric, leather, ceramic, glass, etc.

You can also animate masses of raw matter, such as water, a rock from a wall or a rock on the ground, as long as the volume of material does not exceed 1 cubic foot per caster level.

Statistics for animated objects are found in the Monster Manual.

The spell cannot animate objects carried or worn by a creature.

ANIMATE ROPE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One ropelike object, length up to 50 ft. + 5 ft./level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can animate a nonliving ropelike object, including string, yarn, cord, line, rope, or even a cable.

The maximum length assumes a rope with a 1-inch diameter.

Reduce the total length by 50% for every additional inch of thickness, and increase the length by 50% for each reduction of the rope's width by half.

The possible commands are "Coil" (form a neat, coiled stack), "Coil and knot", "Loop", "Loop and knot", "Tie and knot", and the opposites of all of the above ("Uncoil", etc.).

One command can be given each round as a standard action.

The rope can enwrap only a creature or an object within 1 foot of it—it does not snake outward—so it must be thrown near the intended target.

Doing so requires a successful ranged touch attack roll.

The rope has a range increment of 10 feet.

A typical rope has 2 hit points, AC 10, and can be burst with a Strength check (DC 23).

The rope does not deal damage of any type, but it can be used as a trip line or to entangle a single opponent who fails a Reflex saving throw.

An entangled creature suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls and a -4 penalty to effective Dexterity.

If the rope can anchor itself to an immobile object, the entangled creature cannot move.

Otherwise, it can move at half speed but can't run or charge.

A creature capable of spellcasting that is bound by this spell must make a Concentration check (DC 15) to cast a spell.

An entangled creature can slip free with an Escape Artist check (DC 20).

The rope itself, and any knots tied in it, are not magical.

This spell grants a +2 bonus to any Use Rope checks you make when using the transmuted rope.

AWAKEN

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5

Components: V, S, F, XP

Casting Time: One day

Range: Touch

Target: Animal or tree touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You awaken a tree or animal to humanlike sentience.

To succeed, you must make a Will save (DC 10 + the target's HD, or the HD the tree will have once awakened).

The awakened animal or tree is friendly toward you.

You have no special empathy or connection with a creature you awaken, although it serves you in specific tasks or endeavors if you communicate your desires to it.

An awakened tree has characteristics as if it were an animated object (see the Monster Manual), except that its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores are all 3d6.

Awakened plants gain the ability to move their limbs, roots, vines, creepers, etc., and have senses similar to a human's.

An awakened animal gets 3d6 Intelligence, +1d3 Charisma, and +2 HD.

An awakened tree or animal can speak one language that you know, plus one additional language that you know per point of Intelligence bonus (if any).

XP Cost: 250 XP.

BARKSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Plant 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Barkskin makes a creature's skin as tough as bark.

The effect grants a +3 natural armor bonus to AC.

This bonus increases to +4 at 6th level and to +5 at 12th level and up.

Since the AC bonus is a natural armor bonus, it does not stack with any natural armor the subject may already have.

BESTOW CURSE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You place a curse on the creature touched.

You choose one of the three following effects, depending on the version selected:

- -6 effective decrease to an ability score (minimum 1).
- -4 enhancement penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, and skill checks.
- Each turn, the target has a 50% chance to act normally; otherwise, he takes no action.

You may also invent your own curse, but it should be no more powerful than those listed above, and the DM has final say on the curse's effect.

The curse cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

Bestow curse counters remove curse.

BLESS WATER

Transmutation [Good]

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This transmutation imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with positive energy, turning it into holy water (page 113). Holy water is considered blessed, which means it has special effects on certain creatures.

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered silver (worth 25 gp).

BLESS WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Pal 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This transmutation makes a weapon strike true against evil foes.

All critical rolls against evil foes are automatically successful (so every threat is a critical hit).

The weapon negates the damage reduction of evil creatures and is capable of striking evil incorporeal creatures as if it had a +1 enhancement bonus.

Also, the weapon is considered blessed, which means it has special effects on certain creatures.

Individual arrows or bolts can be transmuted, but affected projectile weapons (such as bows) don't confer the benefit to the projectiles they shoot.

This transmutation can't affect any weapon that already has a magical effect related to critical hits, such as a keen weapon or a vorpal sword.

BLINDNESS/DEAFNESS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject becomes blinded or deafened, as you choose. In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on Search checks and most Strength- and Dexterity-based skill checks.

A deafened character, in addition to the obvious effects, automatically fails Listen checks, suffers a -4 penalty on initiative and has a 20% chance to miscast and lose any spell with a verbal (V) component that he tries to cast.

The DUNGEON MASTER's Guide has more details on the effects of blindness and deafness.

BLINK

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Like a blink dog, you "blink" back and forth between the Material and the Ethereal planes.

You look as though you're winking in and out of reality very quickly and at random.

Blinking has several effects: Physical attacks suffer a 50% miss chance, and the Blind-Fight feat doesn't help (since the blinker is ethereal and not merely invisible).

If the attack is capable of striking ethereal or incorporeal creatures, the miss chance is only 20% (for one-half concealment).

If the attacker can see invisible creatures, the miss chance is also only 20%.

If the attacker can both see and strike ethereal creatures, he suffers no penalty.

Likewise, your own attacks suffer a 20% miss chance, since you sometimes go ethereal just as you are about to strike.

Individually targeted spells have a 50% chance to fail against you while blinking unless your attacker can target invisible, ethereal creatures.

Likewise, your own spells have a 20% chance to activate just as you go ethereal, in which case they typically do not affect the Material Plane.

While blinking, you take only half damage from area attacks (or full damage from those that extend onto the Ethereal Plane).

You strike as an invisible creature (+2 attack), denying your target any Dexterity bonus to AC.

You suffer only half damage from falling, since you fall only while you are material.

While blinking, you can step through (but not see through) solid objects.

For each 5 feet of solid material you walk through, there's a 50% chance that you become material, with regrettable consequences (see below).

You can move only at three-quarters speed: Movement on the Ethereal Plane is at half speed, and you spend about half your time there and half your time material.

Since you spend about half your time on the Ethereal Plane, you can see and even attack ethereal creatures.

You interact with ethereal creatures roughly the same way you interact with material ones.

For instance, your spells against ethereal creatures are 20% likely to activate just as you go material and be lost.

Note: An ethereal creature is invisible, incorporeal, and capable of moving in any direction, even up or down (albeit at half normal speed).

As an incorporeal creature, you can move through solid objects, including living creatures.

An ethereal creature can see and hear the Material Plane, but everything looks gray and insubstantial.

Sight and hearing on the Material Plane are limited to 60 feet.

Force effects (such as magic missile and wall of force) and abjurations affect you normally.

Their effects extend onto the Ethereal Plane from the Material Plane, but not vice versa.

An ethereal creature can't attack material creatures, and spells you cast while ethereal affect only other ethereal things.

Certain material creatures or objects have attacks or effects that work on the Ethereal Plane (such as the basilisk and its gaze attack).

Treat other ethereal creatures and ethereal objects as normally material.

An ethereal creature who becomes material while in a material object is shunted off to the nearest open space and takes 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet so traveled.

BULL'S STRENGTH

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2, Strength 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject becomes stronger.

The spell grants an enhancement bonus to Strength of 1d4+1 points, adding the usual benefits to melee attack rolls, melee damage rolls, and other uses of the Strength modifier.

Arcane Material Component: A few hairs, or a pinch of dung, from a bull.

BURNING HANDS

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Fire 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: Semicircular burst of flames 10 ft. long, centered on your hands

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A thin sheet of searing flame shoots from your outspread fingertips.

You must hold your hands with your thumbs touching and your fingers spread.

The sheet of flame is about as thick as your thumbs.

Any creature in the area of the flames takes 1d4 points of fire damage per your caster level (maximum 5d4).

Flammable materials such as cloth, paper, parchment, and thin wood burn if the flames touch them.

A character can extinguish burning items as a full-round action.

CAT'S GRACE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The transmuted creature becomes more graceful, agile, and coordinated.

The spell grants an enhancement bonus to Dexterity of 1d4+1 points, adding the usual benefits to AC, Reflex saves, and other uses of the Dexterity modifier.

Material Component: A pinch of cat fur.

CHANGESTAFF

Transmutation

Level: Drd 7, Plant 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Target: Your touched staff

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You change a specially prepared quarterstaff into a Huge treantlike creature, about 24 feet tall.

When you plant the end of the staff in the ground and speak a special command to conclude the casting of the spell, your staff turns into a creature who looks and fights just like a treant.

The staff-treant defends you and obeys any spoken commands.

However, it is by no means a true treant; it cannot converse with actual treants or control trees.

If the staff-treant is reduced to 0 hit points or less, it crumbles to powder and the staff is destroyed. Otherwise, the staff can be used as the focus for another casting of the spell.

The staff-treant is always at full strength when created, despite any wounds it may have suffered the last time it appeared.

Focus: The quarterstaff, which must be specially prepared. The staff must be a sound limb cut from an ash, oak, or yew, then cured, shaped, carved, and polished (a process taking 28 days).

You cannot adventure or engage in other strenuous activity during the shaping and carving of the staff.

CHILL METAL

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Metal equipment of one creature/two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart; or 25 lb. of metal/level, none of which can be more than 30 ft. away from any of the rest

Duration: 7 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Chill metal makes metal extremely cold.

Unattended, nonmagical metal gets no saving throw.

Enchanted metal is allowed a saving throw against the spell.

(Magic items' saving throws are covered in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide).

An item in a creature's possession uses the creature's saving throw (unless its own is higher).

A creature takes cold damage if its equipment is chilled.

It takes full damage if its armor is affected or if it's holding, touching, wearing, or carrying metal weighing one-fifth of its weight.

The creature takes minimum damage (1 point or 2 points; see the table) if it's not wearing metal armor and the metal that it's carrying weighs less than one-fifth of its weight.

On the first round of the spell, the metal becomes very chilly and uncomfortable to touch but deals no damage (this is also the effect on the last round of the spell's duration).

During the second (and also the next-to-last) round, icy coldness causes pain and damage.

In the third, fourth, and fifth rounds, the metal is freezing cold, causing more damage, as shown below:

Round	Metal Temperature	Damage
1	Cold	None
2	Icy	1d4 points
3-5	Freezing	2d4 points
6	Icy	1d4 points
7	Cold	None

Any heat intense enough to damage the creature negates cold damage from the spell (and vice versa) on a point-for-point basis.

For example, if the damage roll from a chill metal spell indicates 5 points of cold damage and the creature plunges through a wall of fire in the same round and takes 8 points of fire damage, it winds up taking no chill damage and only 3 points of fire damage.

Underwater, chill metal deals no damage, but ice immediately forms around the affected metal, making it more buoyant.

Chill metal counters and dispels heat metal.

CONTROL PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4, Plant 4, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Plants within a 25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels-radius spread, centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

You can converse, in very rudimentary terms, with all sorts of plants and plantlike creatures (including fungi, molds, and plantlike monsters such as shambling mounds).

You automatically exercise limited control over normal plants.

Plantlike creatures can negate the control effect with a Will save.

The spell does not enable plants to uproot themselves and move about, but it does allow them to move their branches, stems, and leaves.

Thus, you can question plants as to whether or not creatures have passed through them, cause thickets to part to enable easy passage, require vines to entangle pursuers, and command similar services.

The plants can duplicate the effect of an entangle spell or free creatures trapped by that spell.

CONTROL WATER

Transmutation

Level: Brd 5, Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 6, Water 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Water in a volume of 10 ft./level x 10 ft./level x 2 ft./level (S)

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version you choose, the control water spell raises or lowers water.

Lower Water: This causes water (or similar liquid) to sink away to a minimum depth of 1 inch.

The depth can be lowered by up to 2 feet per caster level. The water is lowered within a squarish depression whose sides are up to 10 feet long per caster level.

In extremely large and deep bodies of water, such as deep ocean, the spell creates a whirlpool that sweeps ships and similar craft downward, putting them at risk and rendering them unable to leave by normal movement for the duration of the spell.

When cast on water elementals and other water-based creatures, this spell acts as a slow spell.

The spell has no effect on other creatures.

Raise Water: This causes water (or similar liquid) to rise in height, just as the lower water version causes it to lower.

Boats raised in this way slide down the sides of the hump that the spell creates.

If the area affected by the spell includes riverbanks, a beach, or other land near the raised water, the water can spill over onto dry land.

For either version, you may reduce one horizontal dimension by half and double the other horizontal dimension.

Arcane Material Component: A drop of water (to raise water) or a pinch of dust (to lower water).

CONTROL WEATHER

Transmutation

Level: Air 7, Brd 6, Clr 7, Drd 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes (see text)

Range: Two miles

Area: Two-mile-radius circle, centered on you (see text)

Duration: 4d12 hours (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You change the weather in the local area.

It takes 10 minutes to cast the spell and an additional 10 minutes for the effects to manifest.

The current, natural weather conditions are determined by the DM.

You can call forth weather appropriate to the climate and season of the area you are in.

Season	Possible Weather
Spring	Tornado, thunderstorm, sleet storm, or hot weather
Summer	Torrential rain, heat wave, or hailstorm
Autumn	Hot or cold weather, fog, or sleet
Winter	Frigid cold, blizzard, or thaw
Late winter	Hurricane-force winds or early spring (coastal area)

You control the general tendencies of the weather, such as the direction and intensity of the wind.

You cannot control specific applications of the weather—where lightning strikes, for example, or the exact path of a tornado.

When you select a certain weather condition to occur, the weather assumes that condition 10 minutes later (changing gradually, not abruptly).

The weather continues as you left it for the duration, or until you use a standard action to designate a new kind of weather (which fully manifests itself 10 minutes later).

Contradictory conditions are not possible simultaneously—fog and strong wind, for example.

Control weather can do away with atmospheric phenomena (naturally occurring or otherwise) as well as create them.

Druids casting this spell double the duration and affect a circle with a three-mile radius.

CONTROL WINDS

Transmutation

Level: Air 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 40 ft./level

Area: 40 ft./level radius centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You alter wind force in the area surrounding you.

You can make the wind blow in a certain direction or manner, increase its strength, or decrease its strength.

The new wind direction and strength persist until the spell ends or you choose to alter your handiwork, which requires concentration.

You may create an “eye” of calm air up to 80 feet in diameter at the center of the area if you so desire, and you may choose to limit the effect to any circular area less than your full range (for example, a 20-foot-diameter tornado centered 100 feet away).

Wind Direction: You may choose one of four basic wind patterns to function over the spell's area:

- A downdraft blows from the center outward in equal strength in all directions.
- An updraft blows from the outer edges in toward the center in equal strength from all directions, veering upward before impinging on the eye in the center.
- A rotation causes the winds to circle the center in clockwise or counter-clockwise fashion.
- A blast simply causes the winds to blow in one direction across the entire area from one side to the other.

Wind Force: For every three caster levels, you can increase or decrease wind force by one level of strength.

(The effects of wind force are described in detail in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide).

Each round, a creature in the wind must make a Fortitude save or suffer the effect.

Strong winds (21+ mph) make sailing difficult.

A severe wind (31+ mph) causes minor ship and building damage.

A windstorm (51+ mph) drives most flying creatures from the skies, uproots small trees, knocks down light wooden structures, tears off roofs, and endangers ships.

Hurricane force winds (75+ mph) destroy wooden buildings, sometimes uproot even large trees, and cause most ships to founder.

A tornado (175+ mph) destroys all nonfortified buildings and often uproots large trees.

CURSE WATER

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This transmutation imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with negative energy, turning it into unholy water.

Unholy water damages good outsiders the way holy water damages undead.

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered silver (worth 25 gp).

DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains the ability to see 60 feet even in total darkness.

Darkvision is black and white only but otherwise like normal sight.

Darkvision does not grant one the ability to see in magical darkness.

Material Component: Either a pinch of dried carrot or an agate.

DIMENSION DOOR

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4, Travel 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures weighing up to 50 lb./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

You instantly transfer yourself from your current location to any other spot within range.

You always arrive at exactly the spot desired—whether by simply visualizing the area or by stating direction, such as “900 feet straight downward”, or “upward to the northwest, 45-degree angle, 1,200 feet”.

After using this spell, you can't take any other actions until your next turn.

If you arrive in a place that is already occupied by a solid body, you become trapped in the Astral Plane.

Each round that you are trapped in the Astral Plane in this way, you may make a Will save (DC 25) to return to the Material Plane at a random open space on a suitable surface within 100 feet of the intended location.

If there is no free space within 100 feet, make a Will save (DC 25) each minute to appear in a free space within 1,000 feet.

If there's no free space within 1,000 feet, you are stuck on the Astral Plane until rescued.

DIMINISH PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell has two versions:

Prune Growth: The first version causes normal vegetation (grasses, briars, bushes, creepers, thistles, trees, vines, and so forth) within long range (400 feet + 40 feet per level) to shrink to about a third of their normal size, becoming untangled and less bushy.

The affected vegetation appears to have been carefully pruned and trimmed.

At your option, the area can be a circle with a radius of 100 feet, a semicircle with a radius of 150 feet, or a quarter circle with a radius of 200 feet.

You may also designate areas within the area that are not affected.

Stunt Growth: The second version targets normal plants within a range of one-half mile, reducing their potential productivity over the course of the following year to one-third below normal.

Diminish plants counters plant growth.

DISINTEGRATE

Transmutation

Level: Destruction 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A thin, green ray springs from your pointing finger, causing the creature or object it strikes to glow and vanish, leaving behind only a trace of fine dust.

You must make a successful ranged touch attack to hit.

Up to a 10-foot cube of nonliving matter is affected, so the spell disintegrates only part of any very large object or structure targeted.

The ray affects even magical matter or energy of a magical nature, such as Bigby's forceful hand or a wall of force, but not a globe of invulnerability or an antimagic field.

A creature or object that makes a successful Fortitude save is only partially affected.

It takes 5d6 points of damage instead of disintegrating.

Only the first creature or object struck can be affected (that is, the ray affects only one target per casting).

Arcane Material Components: A lodestone and a pinch of dust.

ENDURANCE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The affected creature gains greater vitality and stamina. The spell grants the subject an enhancement bonus (1d4+1 points) to Constitution, adding the usual benefits to hit points, Fortitude saves, Constitution checks, and so forth. Note: Hit points gained by a temporary increase in Constitution score are not temporary hit points. They go away when the character's Constitution drops back to normal. They are not lost first as temporary hit points are (see page 129).

ENLARGE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature, or one object of up to 10 cu. ft. per level in volume

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes instant growth of a creature or object, increasing both size and weight.

The subject grows by up to 10% per caster level, increasing by this amount in height, width, and depth (to a maximum of 50%).

Weight increases by approximately the cube of the size increase, as follows:

Height Increase	Weight Increase
+10% (x1.1)	+30% (x1.3)
+20% (x1.2)	+70% (x1.7)
+30% (x1.3)	+120% (x2.2)
+40% (x1.4)	+170% (x2.7)
+50% (x1.5)	+240% (x3.4)

All equipment worn or carried by a creature is enlarged by the spell.

If insufficient room is available for the desired growth, the creature or object attains the maximum possible size, bursting weak enclosures in the process.

However, it is constrained without harm by stronger materials—the spell cannot be used to crush a creature by growth.

Magical properties are not increased by this spell—an enlarged +1 sword is still only +1, a staff-sized wand is still only capable of its normal functions, a giant-sized potion merely requires a greater fluid intake to make its magical effects operate, and so on.

Weight, mass, and strength are affected, though.

Thus, a table blocking a door would be heavier and more effective, a hurled stone would have more mass (and cause more damage), chains would be more massive, doors thicker, a thin line turned to a sizable, longer rope, and so on.

A creature's hit points, Armor Class, and base attack bonus do not change, but Strength increases along with size.

For every 20% of enlargement, the creature gains a +1 enlargement bonus to Strength.

Multiple magical effects that increase size do not stack.

Enlarge counters and dispels reduce.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered iron.

ENTANGLE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Plant 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Plants in a 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Reflex (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

Grasses, weeds, bushes, and even trees wrap, twist, and entwine about creatures in the area or those who enter the area, holding them fast.

An entangled creature suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls, suffers a -4 penalty to effective Dexterity, and can't move.

An entangled character who attempts to cast a spell must make a Concentration check (DC 15) or lose the spell.

She can break free and move half her normal speed by using a full-round action to make a Strength check or an Escape Artist check (DC 20).

A creature who succeeds at a Reflex saving throw is not entangled but can still move at only half speed through the area.

Each round, the plants once again attempt to entangle all creatures who have avoided or escaped entanglement.

Note: The DM may alter the effects of the spell somewhat, based on the nature of the entangling plants.

ERASE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One scroll or two pages

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

Erase removes writings of either magical or mundane nature from a scroll or from up to two pages of paper, parchment, or similar surfaces.

It removes explosive runes, glyphs of warding, sepia snake sigils, and arcane marks, but it does not remove illusory script or symbols.

Nonmagical writings are automatically erased if you touch them and no one else is holding them.

Otherwise, the chance is 90%.

Magic writings must be touched, and you must roll 15+ on a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) to succeed.

(A natural 1 or 2 is always a miss on this roll).

If you fail to erase explosive runes, a glyph of warding, or a sepia snake sigil, you accidentally activate the runes, glyph, or sigil instead.

ETHEREAL JAUNT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 5, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You become ethereal, along with your equipment.

You are in a place called the Ethereal Plane, which overlaps the normal, physical, Material Plane.

When the spell expires, you return to material existence.

Note: An ethereal creature is invisible, incorporeal, and capable of moving in any direction, even up or down (albeit at half normal speed).

As an incorporeal creature, you can move through solid objects, including living creatures.

An ethereal creature can see and hear the Material Plane, but everything looks gray and insubstantial.

Sight and hearing onto the Material Plane are limited to 60 feet.

Force effects (such as magic missile and wall of force) and abjurations affect the creature normally.

Their effects extend onto the Ethereal Plane from the Material Plane, but not vice versa.

An ethereal creature can't attack material creatures, and spells you cast while ethereal affect only other ethereal things.

Certain material creatures or objects have attacks or effects that work on the Ethereal Plane (such as the basilisk and its gaze attack).

By contrast, treat other ethereal creatures and ethereal objects as if they had become material.

If you end the spell and become material while inside a material object (such as a solid wall), you are shunted off to the nearest open space and take 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet that you so travel.

ETHEREALNESS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 8

Range: Touch (see text)

Targets: You and one other touched creature/three levels

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Spell Resistance: Yes

As ethereal jaunt, except you and other creatures joined by linked hands (along with their equipment) become ethereal.

Besides yourself, you can bring one creature per three caster levels to the Ethereal Plane.

Once ethereal, the creatures need not stay together.

When the spell expires, all affected creatures in the Ethereal Plane return to material existence.

EXPEDITIOUS RETREAT

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Travel 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Expeditious retreat provides you with amazing fleetness of foot, enabling you to run in great leaps and bounds.

Your speed and maximum jumping distances both double (see the Jump skill, page 70).

These benefits count as enhancement bonuses.

This spell can be used for attack as well as for flight; the name of the spell hints at the typical wizard's attitude toward combat.

EYEBITE

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/three levels (see text)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can merely meet the gaze of a creature and speak a single word to affect it with one of four magical effects: charm, fear, sicken, or sleep.

You select one of these four possible gaze attacks when casting the spell.

You retain the gaze power for 1 round for every three caster levels and can use the gaze attack as a free action each round.

These effects do not affect undead creatures or extend beyond the plane you currently occupy.

You are subject to the effects of your reflected gaze and are allowed any applicable saving throw.

In the case of a reflected charm gaze, you are held (as a hold monster spell).

The four versions of the spell are as follows: Charm:

Equivalent to the charm monster spell, except that the saving throw is based on spell level 6.

Fear: The subject flees in blind terror for 1d4 rounds.

Once it stops fleeing, the creature refuses to face you for 10 minutes per your caster level.

If subsequently confronted by you, it either cowers or bolts for the nearest cover (50% chance of either).

This is an enchantment, compulsion, mind-affecting effect; it can be negated by a Will save.

Sicken: Sudden pain and fever sweeps over the subject's body.

An affected creature's speed is reduced by half, it loses any Dexterity bonus to Armor Class, and it suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls.

The creature remains stricken for 10 minutes per your caster level.

The effects cannot be negated by a cure disease or heal spell, but a remove curse or successful dispel magic spell is effective. This is a necromancy effect; it can be negated by a Fortitude save.

Sleep: The subject falls asleep.

The creature sleeps for your caster level × 10 minutes but can be slapped awake.

This is an enchantment, compulsion, mindaffecting effect; it can be negated by a Will save.

Note: Each round, a gaze attack automatically works against one creature within range that is looking at (attacking or interacting with) the gazing creature.

Creatures can avert their eyes, which grants them a 50% chance to avoid the gaze but in turn grants the gazer one-half concealment (20% miss chance) relative to them. Creatures can close their eyes or turn away entirely; doing so prevents the gaze from affecting them but grants the gazer total concealment (50% miss chance) relative to them.

FABRICATE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: See text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Up to 10 cu. ft./level (see text)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You convert material of one sort into a product that is of the same material.

Thus, you can fabricate a wooden bridge from a clump of trees, a rope from a patch of hemp, clothes from flax or wool, and so forth.

Creatures or magic items cannot be created or transmuted by the fabricate spell.

The quality of items made by this spell is commensurate with the quality of material used as the basis for the new fabrication.

If you work with a mineral, the target is reduced to 1 cubic foot per level instead of 10 cubic feet.

You must make an appropriate Craft check to fabricate articles requiring a high degree of craftsmanship (jewelry, swords, glass, crystal, etc.).

Casting requires 1 full round per 10 cubic feet (or 1 cubic foot) of material to be affected by the spell.

Material Component: The original material.

FEATHER FALL

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V

Casting Time: See text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Any free-falling objects or creatures in a 10-ft. radius whose weight does not total more than 300 lb./level

Duration: Until landing or 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The creatures or objects affected fall slowly (though faster than feathers typically do).

The rate of falling is instantly changed to a mere 60 feet a round (equivalent to the end of a fall from a few feet), with no damage incurred upon landing while the spell is in effect.

However, when the spell duration ceases, a normal rate of fall resumes.

The character can cast this spell with an instant utterance, quickly enough to save herself if she unexpectedly falls.

Casting the spell is a free action, like casting a quickened spell, and it counts toward the normal limit of one quickened spell per round.

This spell has no special effect on ranged weapons unless they are falling quite a distance.

If the spell is cast on a falling item, such as a boulder dropped from the top of a castle wall, the item does half normal damage based on weight with no bonus for the height of the drop.

(See the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide for information on falling objects).

The spell works only upon free-falling objects.

It does not affect a sword blow or a charging or flying creature.

FLESH TO STONE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject and all possessions it carries turn into a mindless, inert statue.

If the statue resulting from this spell is broken or damaged, the being (if ever returned to its original state) has similar damage or deformities.

The creature is not dead (its soul doesn't pass on), but it does not seem to be alive either (when viewed with spells such as deathwatch).

Only creatures made of flesh are affected by this spell.

Material Components: Lime, water, and earth.

FLY

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3, Travel 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The spell's subject can fly with a speed of 90 feet (60 feet if the creature wears medium or heavy armor).

The subject can fly up at half speed and descend at double speed.

The flying subject's maneuverability is good.

Using the fly spell requires as much concentration as walking, so the subject can attack or cast spells normally.

The subject of a fly spell can charge but not run, and it cannot carry aloft more weight than its maximum load (see page 142), plus any armor it wears.

Should the spell duration expire while the subject is still aloft, the magic fails slowly.

The subject drops 60 feet per round for 1d6 rounds.

If it reaches the ground in that amount of time, it lands safely.

If not, it falls the rest of the distance (falling damage is 1d6 per 10 feet of fall).

Since dispelling a spell effectively ends it, the subject also falls in this way if the fly spell is dispelled.

Arcane Focus: A wing feather from any bird.

GASEOUS FORM

Transmutation

Level: Air 3, Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing corporeal creature touched

Duration: 2 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The subject and all her gear become insubstantial, misty, and translucent.

The subject gains damage reduction 20/+1.

Her material armor (including natural armor) becomes worthless, though her size, Dexterity, deflection bonuses, and armor bonuses from force armor (for example, from the mage armor spell) still apply.

She becomes immune to poison and critical hits.

She can't attack or cast spells with verbal, somatic, material, or focus components while in gaseous form.

(Note that this does not rule out certain spells that the subject may have prepared using the metamagic feats Silent Spell and Still Spell).

As with polymorph other, the subject loses supernatural abilities while in gaseous form.

If she has a touch spell ready to use, it is discharged harmlessly when the spell takes effect.

The gaseous creature can't run but she can fly (speed 10, maneuverability perfect).

She can pass through small holes or narrow openings, even mere cracks, with all she was wearing or holding in her hands, as long as the spell persists.

She is subject to wind.

She can't enter water or other liquid.

Arcane Material Components: A bit of gauze and a wisp of smoke.

GIANT VERMIN

Transmutation

Level: Clr 4, Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to three vermin, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You turn one or more normal-sized insects, arachnids, or other vermin into larger forms resembling the giant vermin described in the Monster Manual.

Only one type of vermin can be transmuted (so a single casting cannot affect both an ant and a fly), and all must be grown to the same number of HD.

The HD to which the vermin can be grown depends upon your level; see the accompanying table.

The DM should also consult the vermin entry in the Monster Manual for more information on what abilities a giant vermin is likely to have.

A flying insect can generally carry a rider two size categories smaller than itself.

Any giant vermin created by this spell do not attempt to harm you, but your control of such creatures is limited to simple commands ("Attack", "Defend", "Stop", and so forth).

Orders to attack a certain creature when it appears or guard against a particular occurrence are too complex for the vermin to understand.

Unless commanded to do otherwise, the giant vermin attack whoever or whatever is near them.

GIANT VERMIN

Caster Level	Target's New HD	New Size	Armor Class	Attack/Damage	Fortitude	Saves Reflex	Will
7-9	3d8+6	Large	14	+4/1d8+4	+5	+0	+1
10-12	4d8+16	Huge	14	+8/2d6+8	+8	+0	+1
13-15	5d8+20	Huge	14	+8/2d6+8	+8	+0	+1
16-18	6d8+24	Huge	14	+9/2d6+8	+9	+1	+2
19-20	7d8+28	Huge	14	+9/2d6+8	+9	+1	+2

GOODBERRY

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: 2d4 fresh berries touched

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Casting goodberry upon a handful of freshly picked berries makes 2d4 of them magical.

You (as well as any other druid of 3rd or higher level) can immediately discern which berries are affected.

Each enchanted berry nourishes a creature as if it were a normal meal for a Medium-size creature.

The berry also cures 1 point of damage when eaten, subject to a maximum of 8 points of such curing in any 24-hour period.

GREATER MAGIC FANG

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

As magic fang, except that the enhancement bonus to attack and damage is +1 per three caster levels (maximum +5).

GREATER MAGIC WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Clr 4, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One weapon or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

This spell gives a weapon an enhancement bonus to attack and damage of +1 per three caster levels (maximum +5).

An enhancement bonus does not stack with a masterwork weapon's +1 bonus on attacks.

Alternatively, you can affect up to fifty arrows, bolts, or bullets.

The projectiles must all be of the same type, and they have to be together in one group (such as in the same quiver).

Projectiles (but not thrown weapons) lose their transmutation when used.

If you're a good cleric, the cleric of a good deity, or a paladin, the weapon is considered blessed, which means it has special effects on certain creatures.

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon such as an unarmed strike.

Arcane Material Components: Powdered lime and carbon.

HASTE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature moves and acts more quickly than normal.

This extra speed has several effects.

On his turn, the subject may take an extra partial action, either before or after his regular action.

He gains a +4 haste bonus to AC.

He loses this bonus whenever he would lose a dodge bonus.

He can jump one and a half times as far as normal.

This increase counts as an enhancement bonus.

Haste dispels and counters slow.

Material Component: A shaving of licorice root.

HEAT METAL

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sun 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Metal equipment of one creature/two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart; or 25 lb. of metal/level, all of which must be within a 30-ft. circle

Duration: 7 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell is identical with chill metal (page 183) except that it makes metal warm, hot (1d4 points of fire damage), and searing (2d4 points of fire damage) instead of cold, icy, and freezing.

Enchanted metal gets a saving throw to resist.

Just as damage from chill metal negates fire damage, so damage from heat metal negates cold damage on a one-for-one basis.

If cast underwater, heat metal deals half damage and boils the surrounding water.

Heat metal counters and dispels chill metal.

IRON BODY

Transmutation

Level: Earth 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

This spell transforms your body into living iron, which grants you several powerful resistances and abilities.

You gain damage reduction 50/+3.

You are immune to blindness, critical hits, ability score damage, deafness, disease, drowning, electricity, poison, stunning, and all spells or attacks that affect your physiology or respiration, because you have no physiology or respiration while this spell is in effect.

You take only half damage from acid and fire of all kinds.

However, you also become vulnerable to all special attacks that affect iron golems.

You gain a +6 enhancement bonus to your Strength score, but you suffer a -6 Dexterity penalty as well (to a minimum Dexterity score of 1), and your speed is reduced to half normal.

You have an arcane spell failure chance of 50% and a -8 armor check penalty, just as if you were clad in full plate armor.

You cannot drink (and thus can't use potions) or play wind instruments.

Your unarmed attacks deal 1d6 points of lethal damage, and you are considered "armed" when making unarmed attacks (a Small caster deals 1d4 points of damage, not 1d6).

Your weight increases by a factor of ten, causing you to sink in water like a stone.

However, you could survive the crushing pressure and lack of air at the bottom of the ocean—at least until the spell expires.

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of iron that was once part of an iron golem, a hero's armor, or a war machine.

IRONWOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute/lb. created

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: An ironwood object weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: 1 day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Ironwood is a magical substance created by druids from normal wood.

While remaining natural wood in almost every way, ironwood is as strong, heavy, and resistant to fire as steel. Spells that affect metal or iron (such as heat metal) do not function on ironwood.

Spells that affect wood (such as wood shape) do affect ironwood, although ironwood does not burn.

Using this spell with wood shape or a wood-related Craft check, you can fashion wooden items that function as steel items.

Thus, wooden plate armor and wooden swords can be created that are as durable as their normal, steel counterparts.

These items are freely usable by druids.

Further, if you make only half as much ironwood as the spell would normally allow, any weapon, shield, or suit of armor so created is treated as a +1 magic item.

Material Component: Wood shaped into the form of the intended ironwood object.

JUMP

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject gets a +30 bonus on Jump checks and does not have the usual maximums for jumping distance.

For leaps of maximum horizontal distance, the jump reaches its peak (one-fourth the horizontal distance) at the halfway point.

Material Component: A grasshopper's hind leg, which you break when the spell is cast.

KEEN EDGE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One weapon or fifty projectiles, all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

This spell makes a weapon magically keen, improving its ability to deal telling blows.

This transmutation doubles the threat range of the weapon.

A normal threat range becomes 19–20.

A threat range of 19–20 becomes 17–20.

A threat range of 18–20 becomes 15–20.

The spell can be cast only on piercing or slashing weapons (and it does not stack with itself).

If cast on arrows or crossbow bolts, the keen edge on a particular projectile ends after one use, whether or not the missile strikes its intended target.

KNOCK

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One door, box, or chest with an area of up to 10 sq. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The knock spell opens stuck, barred, locked, held, or arcane locked doors.

It opens secret doors, as well as locked or trick-opening boxes or chests.

It also loosens welds, shackles, or chains (provided they serve to hold closures shut).

If used to open a arcane locked door, the spell does not remove the arcane lock but simply suspends its functioning for 10 minutes.

In all other cases, the door does not relock itself or become stuck again on its own.

Knock does not raise barred gates or similar impediments (such as a portcullis), nor does it affect ropes, vines, and the like.

Note that the effect is limited by the area.

A 3rd-level caster can cast a knock spell on a door of 30 square feet or less (for example, a standard 4-foot-by-7-foot door).

Each spell can undo up to two means of preventing egress through a portal.

Thus if a door is locked, barred, and held, or quadruple locked, opening it requires two knock spells.

LEVITATE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal or close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: You or one willing creature or one object (total weight up to 100 lb./level)

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Levitate allows you to move yourself, another creature, or an object up and down as you wish.

A creature must be willing to be levitated, and an object must be unattended or possessed by a willing creature. You can mentally direct the recipient to move up or down as much as 20 feet each round; doing so is a move-equivalent action.

You cannot move the recipient horizontally, but the recipient could clamber along the face of a cliff, for example, or push against a ceiling to move laterally (generally at half its base speed).

A levitating creature who attacks with a melee or ranged weapon finds itself increasingly unstable; the first attack has an attack penalty of -1, the second -2, and so on, up to a maximum penalty of -5.

A full round spent stabilizing allows the creature to begin again at -1.

Focus: Either a small leather loop or a piece of golden wire bent into a cup shape with a long shank on one end.

LIVEOAK

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Tree touched

Duration: 1 day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns an oak tree into a protector or guardian. The spell can be cast on only a single tree at a time; while liveoak is in effect, you can't cast it again on another tree. The tree on which the spell is cast must be within 10 feet of your dwelling place, within a place sacred to you, or within 300 feet of something that you wish to guard or protect. Liveoak must be cast on a healthy, Huge oak.

A triggering phrase of up to one word per caster level is placed on the targeted oak.

For instance, "Attack any persons who come near without first saying 'sacred mistletoe'" is an eleven-word trigger phrase that you could use at 11th level or higher.

The liveoak spell triggers the tree into animating as a treant. Statistics for a treant can be found in the Monster Manual. (At the DM's option, you can extrapolate stats for a smaller tree from the treant statistics if you cast liveoak on a smaller oak).

If liveoak is dispelled, the tree takes root immediately, wherever it happens to be.

If released by you, it tries to return to its original location before taking root.

MAGE HAND

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Nonmagical, unattended object weighing up to 5 lb.

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You point your finger at an object and can lift it and move it at will from a distance.

As a move-equivalent action, you can move the object up to 15 feet in any direction, though the spell ends if the distance between you and the object ever exceeds the spell's range.

MAGIC FANG

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Magic fang gives one natural weapon of the subject a +1 enhancement bonus to attack and damage rolls.

The spell can affect a slam attack, fist, bite, or other natural weapon.

(The spell does not change an unarmed strike's damage from subdual damage to normal damage).

If you're a good druid, the natural weapon is considered blessed, which means it has special effects on certain creatures.

MAGIC STONE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 1, Earth 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to three pebbles touched

Duration: 30 minutes or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You transmute up to three pebbles, which can be no larger than sling bullets, so that they strike with great force when thrown or slung.

If hurled, they have a range increment of 20 feet.

If slung, treat them as sling bullets (range increment 50 feet).

The spell gives them a +1 enhancement bonus to attack and damage rolls.

The creature using the stones makes a normal ranged attack to use a magic stone.

Each magic stone that hits deals 1d6+1 points of damage (including the enhancement bonus).

Against undead creatures, this damage is doubled (2d6+2 points).

MAGIC VESTMENT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Strength 3, War 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Armor or shield touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You imbue a suit of armor or a shield that you touch with an enhancement bonus of +1 per three caster levels (maximum +5 at 15th level).

An outfit of regular clothing counts as a suit of armor that grants no AC bonus for purposes of this spell.

Note: An enhancement bonus increases armor's or a shield's benefit to the wearer's AC.

A suit of armor cannot have more than +5 in total bonuses (even if some of its bonus is from other than enhancement).

MAGIC WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1, War 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Magic weapon gives a weapon a +1 enhancement bonus to attack and damage rolls.

If you're a good cleric, the cleric of a good deity, or a paladin, the weapon is considered blessed, which means it has special effects on certain creatures.

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon such as an unarmed strike.

MAKE WHOLE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One object of up to 10 cu. ft./level

As mending, except make whole completely repairs an object made of any substance, even one with multiple breaks, to be as strong as new.

The spell does not restore the magical abilities of a broken magic item made whole, and it cannot mend broken magic rods, staves, or wands.

The spell does not repair items that have been warped, burned, disintegrated, ground to powder, melted, or vaporized.

MARK OF JUSTICE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When moral suasion fails to win a criminal over to right conduct, you can use mark of justice to encourage the criminal to walk the straight and narrow path.

You draw an indelible mark on the subject and state some behavior on the part of the subject that will activate the mark.

When activated, the mark curses the subject.

Typically, you designate some sort of criminal behavior that activates the mark, but you can pick any act you please.

The effect of the mark is identical with the effect of bestow curse.

Since this spell takes 10 minutes to cast and involves writing on the target, you can cast only it on someone who is willing or restrained.

Like bestow curse, mark of justice cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

Remove curse, however, works only if the caster is at least as high level as your mark of justice.

These restrictions apply regardless of whether the mark has activated.

MASS HASTE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

As haste, except that it affects multiple creatures.

MELD INTO STONE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Meld into stone enables you to meld your body and possessions into a single block of stone.

The stone must be large enough to accommodate your body in all three dimensions.

When the casting is complete, you and not more than 100 pounds of nonliving gear merge with the stone.

If either condition is violated, the spell fails and is wasted.

While in the stone, you remain in contact, however tenuous, with the face of the stone through which you melded.

You remain aware of the passage of time and can cast spells on yourself while hiding in the stone.

Nothing that goes on outside the stone can be seen, but you can still hear what happens around you.

Minor physical damage to the stone does not harm you, but its partial destruction to the extent that you no longer fit within it expels you and deals you 5d6 points of damage.

The stone's complete destruction expels you and slays you instantly unless you succeed at a Fortitude save (DC 18).

At any time before the duration expires, you can step out of the stone through the surface that you entered.

If the spell's duration runs out or the effect is dispelled before you voluntarily exit the stone, you are violently expelled and take 5d6 points of damage.

The following spells harm you if cast upon the stone that you are occupying: Stone to flesh expels you and deals you 5d6 points of damage.

Stone shape deals you 3d6 points of damage but does not expel you.

Transmute rock to mud expels you and then slays you instantly unless you succeed at a Fortitude save (DC 18), in which case you are merely expelled.

Finally, passwall expels you without damage.

MENDING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Target: One object of up to 1 pound

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Mending repairs small breaks or tears in objects (not warps). In metallic objects, it will weld a broken ring, a chain link, a medallion, or a slender dagger, providing but one break exists.

Ceramic or wooden objects with multiple breaks can be invisibly rejoined to be as strong as new.

A hole in a leather sack or wineskin is completely healed over by mending.

The spell can repair a magic item, but the item's magical abilities are not restored.

(For restoring a broken magic item's abilities, see the item creation feats in Chapter 5: Feats).

The spell cannot mend broken magic rods, staffs, or wands.

MESSAGE

Transmutation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can whisper messages and receive whispered replies with little chance of being overheard.

You point your finger at each creature to be included in the spell effect.

When you whisper, the whispered message is audible to all of the targeted creatures who are within range.

Magical silence, 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal (or a thin sheet of lead), or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks the spell.

The message, however, does not have to travel in a straight line.

It can circumvent a barrier if there is an open path between you and the subject, and the path's entire length lies within the spell's range.

The creatures who receive the message can whisper a reply that you hear.

The spell transmits sound, not meaning.

It doesn't transcend language barriers.

Note: To speak a message, you must mouth the words and whisper, possibly allowing trained rogues the opportunity to read your lips.

Focus: A short piece of copper wire.

MORDENKAINEN'S LUCUBRATION

Transmutation

Level: Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You instantly recall any one spell of up to 5th level that you have used during the past 24 hours.

The spell must have been actually cast during that time period.

The recalled spell is stored in your mind as through prepared in the normal fashion.

If the recalled spell requires material components, you must provide these.

The recovered spell is not usable until the material components are available.

MOVE EARTH

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: See text

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Dirt in an area up to 750 ft. square and up to 10 ft. deep (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Move earth moves dirt (clay, loam, sand), possibly collapsing embankments, moving hillocks, shifting dunes, etc.

However, in no event can rock formations be collapsed or moved.

The area to be affected determines the casting time.

For every 150-foot square (up to 10 feet deep), casting takes 10 minutes.

The maximum area, 750 feet by 750 feet, takes 4 hours and 10 minutes to move.

This spell does not violently break the surface of the ground.

Instead, it creates wavelike crests and troughs, with the earth reacting with glacierlike fluidity until the desired result is achieved.

Trees, structures, rock formations, and such are mostly unaffected except for changes in elevation and relative topography.

The spell cannot be used for tunneling and is generally too slow to trap or bury creatures.

Its primary use is for digging or filling moats or for adjusting terrain contours before a battle.

Material Components: A mixture of soils (clay, loam, and sand) in a small bag, and an iron blade.

OPEN/CLOSE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Portal or object that can be opened or closed

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You can open or close (caster's choice) a door, chest, box, window, bag, pouch, bottle, or other container.

If anything resists this activity (such as a bar on a door or a lock on a chest), the spell fails.

In addition, the spell can only open and close things that are of standard weight (see Table 7–7: Goods and Services, page 108, and Table 7–8: Containers and Carriers, page 110).

The lid of a big chest or an oversized door is beyond the spell's capability.

Focus: A brass key.

PASS WITHOUT TRACE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subjects can move through any type of terrain—mud, snow, dust, etc.—and leave neither footprints nor scent.

Tracking the subject is impossible by nonmagical means.

PASSWALL

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 5 ft. × 8 ft. opening, 1 ft./level deep

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not through metal or other harder materials.

If the wall's thickness is more than 1 foot per caster level, then a single passwall simply makes a niche or short tunnel. Several passwall spells can then form a continuing passage to breach very thick walls.

When passwall ends, creatures within the passage are ejected out the nearest exit.

If someone dispels the passwall or you dismiss it, creatures in the passage are ejected out the far exit if there is one or out the sole exit if there is only one.

Material Component: A pinch of sesame seeds.

PLANE SHIFT

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Clr 5, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched, or up to eight willing creatures joining hands

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You move yourself or some other creature to another plane of existence or alternate dimension.

If several willing persons link hands in a circle, up to eight can be affected by the plane shift at the same time.

Pinpoint accuracy as to a particular arrival location on the intended plane is nigh impossible.

From the Material Plane, you can reach any other plane, though you appear 5 to 500 miles (5d%) from your intended destination.

Note: Plane shift transports the creatures instantaneously and then ends.

The creatures need to find other means if they are to travel back.

Focus: A small, forked metal rod.

The size and metal type dictates to which plane of existence or alternate dimension the spell sends the affected creatures.

Forked rods keyed to certain planes may be difficult to come by, as decided by the DM.

PLANT GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Plant 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Plant growth has different effects depending on the version chosen.

Overgrowth: The first effect causes normal vegetation (grasses, briars, bushes, creepers, thistles, trees, vines, etc.) within long range (400 feet + 40 feet per level) to become thick and overgrown.

The plants entwine to form a thicket or jungle that creatures must hack or force a way through.

Speed drops to 5 feet, or 10 feet for Large or larger creatures.

(The DM may allow faster movement for very small or very large creatures).

The area must have brush and trees in it for this spell to take effect.

At your option, the area can be a circle with a radius of 100 feet, a semicircle with a radius of 150 feet, or a quarter circle with a radius of 200 feet.

You may also designate areas within the area that are not affected.

Enrichment: The second effect targets plants within a range of one-half mile, raising their potential productivity over the course of the next year to one-third above normal.

In many farming communities, clerics or druids cast this spell at planting time as part of the spring festivals.

Plant growth counters diminish plants.

POLYMORPH ANY OBJECT

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Trickery 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will negates (object) (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

As polymorph other, except this spell changes one object or creature into another.

The duration of the spell depends on how radical a change is made from the original state to its enchanted state.

The DM determines the duration by using the following guidelines:

	Increase to
Changed Subject Is:	Duration Factor*
Same kingdom (animal, vegetable, mineral)	+5
Same class (mammals, fungi, metals, etc.)	+2
Same size	+2
Related (twig is to tree, wolf fur is to wolf, etc.)	+2
Same or lower Intelligence	+2

*Add all that apply. Look up the total on the next table.

Duration

Factor	Example	Duration
0	Pebble to human	20 minutes
2	Marionette to human	1 hour
4	Human to marionette	3 hours
5	Lizard to mantichore	12 hours
6	Sheep to wool coat	2 days
7	Shrew to mantichore	1 week
9+	Mantichore to shrew	Permanent

Unlike polymorph other, polymorph any object does grant the creature the Intelligence score of its new form.

If the original form didn't have a Wisdom or Charisma score, it gains those scores of the new form.

As with other polymorph spells, damage sustained in the new form can result in the injury or death of the polymorphed creature.

For example, it is possible to polymorph a creature into rock and grind it to dust, causing damage, perhaps even death.

If the creature was changed to dust to start with, more creative methods to damage it would be needed.

Perhaps you could use a gust of wind spell to scatter the dust far and wide.

In general, damage occurs when the new form is changed through physical force, although the DM will have to adjudicate many of these situations.

Also note that a polymorph effect often detracts from an item's or creature's powers but does not add new powers except perhaps movement capabilities not present in the old form.

A nonmagical object cannot be made magical by this spell.

A magic item or weapon or other object can be polymorphed into another type of magic object, but it never gains abilities superior to those of the original object.

This spell cannot create material of great intrinsic value, such as copper, silver, gems, silk, gold, and platinum.

This spell can also be used to duplicate the effects of polymorph other, flesh to stone, stone to flesh, transmute mud to rock, transmute water to dust, or transmute rock to mud.

Arcane Material Components: Mercury, gum arabic, and smoke.

POLYMORPH OTHER

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Polymorph other changes the subject into another form of creature.

The new form can range in size from Diminutive to one size larger than the subject's normal form, and can have no more hit dice than you have, or that the subject has, (whichever is greater), and in any case the assumed form cannot have more than 15 hit dice.

You cannot change a subject into a construct, elemental, outsider, or undead unless it is already that type.

Upon changing, the subject regains lost hit points as if having rested for a day (though this healing does not restore temporary ability damage and provide other benefits of resting for a day; and changing back does not heal the creature further).

If slain, the polymorphed creature reverts to its original form, though it remains dead.

The polymorphed creature acquires the physical and natural abilities of the creature it has been polymorphed into while retaining its own mind.

Physical abilities include natural size and Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores.

Natural abilities include natural armor, natural weapons (such as claws, bite, swoop and rake, and constriction; but not petrification, breath weapons, energy drain, energy effect, etc.), and similar gross physical qualities (presence or absence of wings, number of extremities, etc.).

A body with extra limbs does not allow a character to make more attacks (or more advantageous two-weapon attacks) than normal.

Natural abilities also include mundane movement capabilities, such as walking, swimming, and flight with wings, but not magical flight and other magical forms of travel, such as blink, dimension door, phase door, plane shift, teleport, and teleport without error.

Extremely high speeds for certain creatures are the result of magical ability, so they are not granted by this spell. Other nonmagical abilities (such as an owl's low-light vision) are considered natural abilities and are retained. Any part of the body or piece of equipment that is separated from the whole reverts to its original form. The creature's new scores and faculties are average ones for the race or species into which it has been transformed. You cannot, for example, turn someone into a mighty weight lifter to give the subject great Strength. Likewise, you cannot change the subject into a bigger or more powerful version of a creature (or a smaller weaker version). Nor can you turn the subject into a variant form of the creature. For example, you can turn the subject into an ogre, but not a half-dragon ogre. The subject retains its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, level and class, hit points (despite any change in its Constitution score), alignment, base attack bonus, and base saves. (New Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores may affect final attack and save bonuses). The subject retains its own type (for example, "humanoid"), extraordinary abilities, spells, and spell-like abilities, but not its supernatural abilities. The subject does not gain the supernatural abilities (such as breath weapons and gaze attacks) or the extraordinary abilities of the new creature. The subject can cast spells for which it has components. It needs a humanlike voice for verbal components and humanlike hands for somatic components. The subject does not gain the spell-like abilities of its new form. When the polymorph occurs, the creature's equipment, if any, transforms to match the new form. If the new form is a creature who does not use equipment (aberration, animal, beast, magical beast, construct, dragon, elemental, ooze, some outsiders, plant, some undead creatures, some shapechangers, or vermin), the equipment melds into the new form and becomes non-functional. Material components and focuses melded in this way cannot be used to cast spells. If the new form uses equipment (fey, giant, humanoid, some outsiders, many shapechangers, many undead creatures), the subject's equipment changes to match the new form and retains its properties. The new form can be disorienting. Any time the polymorphed creature is in a stressful or demanding situation (such as combat), the creature must succeed at a Will save (DC 19) or suffer a -2 penalty on all attack rolls, saves, skill checks, and ability checks until the situation passes. Creatures who are polymorphed for a long time (years and years) grow accustomed to their new form and can overcome some of these drawbacks (DM's discretion). You can freely designate the new form's minor physical qualities (such as hair color, hair texture, and skin color) within the normal ranges for a creature of that type. The new form's significant physical qualities (such as height, weight, and gender) are also under your control, but must fall within the norms for the new form's species. The subject can be changed into a member of its own species or even into itself.

(If changed into itself, it does not suffer the abovementioned penalties from the disorientation of a new form). The subject is effectively disguised as an average member of the new form's race. If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check. Incorporeal or gaseous forms cannot be assumed, and incorporeal or gaseous creatures are immune to being polymorphed. A natural shapeshifter (a lycanthrope, doppelganger, experienced druid, etc.) can take its natural form as a standard action. Material Component: An empty cocoon.

POLYMORPH SELF

Transmutation
Level: Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 4
Components: V
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 hour/level (D)
As polymorph other, except that you assume the form of a different creature. You can change your form as often as desired for the duration of the spell simply by willing it so. Each change is a full-round action. You regain hit points as if having rested for a day only from the initial transformation, however.

PYROTECHNICS

Transmutation
Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)
Target: One fire source, up to a 20-ft. cube
Duration: 1d4+1 rounds or 1d4+1 rounds after creatures leave the smoke cloud (see text)
Saving Throw: Will negates or Fortitude negates (see text)
Spell Resistance: Yes or No (see text)
Pyrotechnics turns a fire into either a burst of blinding fireworks or a thick cloud of choking smoke, depending on the version you choose. Fireworks: The fireworks are a flashing, fiery, momentary burst of glowing, colored aerial lights. This effect blinds creatures within 120 feet of the fire source for 1d4+1 rounds (Will negates). These creatures must have line of sight to the fire to be affected. Spell resistance can prevent blindness. In addition to the obvious effects, a blinded creature suffers a 50% miss chance in combat (all opponents have full concealment), loses any Dexterity bonus to AC, grants a +2 bonus to attackers' attack rolls (they are effectively invisible), moves at half speed, and suffers a -4 penalty on most Strength- and Dexterity-based skills. Smoke Cloud: The smoke is a writhing stream of smoke billowing out from the source and forming a choking cloud.

The cloud spreads 20 feet in all directions and lasts for 1 round per caster level.
All sight, even darkvision, is ineffective in or through the cloud.

All within the cloud suffer -4 penalties to Strength and Dexterity scores (Fortitude negates).
These effects last for 1d4+1 rounds after the cloud dissipates or after the character leaves the area of the cloud.
Spell resistance does not apply.

Material Component: The spell uses one fire source, which is immediately extinguished.

A fire so large that it exceeds a 20-foot cube is only partly extinguished.

Magical fires are not extinguished, although a fire-based creature (such as a fire elemental) used as a source takes 1 point of damage per caster level.

QUENCH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area or Target: One 20-ft. cube/level (S) or one fire-based magic item

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (object)

Quench is often used to put out forest fires and other conflagrations.

It extinguishes all nonmagical fires in its area.

The spell also dispels fire spells in the area, though you must succeed at a dispel check of 1d20 +1 per caster level (maximum +15) against each spell to dispel it.

The DC to dispel such spells is 11 + the caster level of the fire spell.

Fire-based creatures within the area take 1d6 points of damage per caster level from the spell (maximum 15d6, no save allowed).

Alternatively, you can target the spell on a single magic item that creates or controls flame, such as a wand of fireball or a flame tongue sword.

The item loses all its fire-based magical abilities permanently unless it succeeds at a Will save.
(Artifacts are immune to this effect).

RARY'S MNEMONIC ENHANCER

Transmutation

Level: Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You prepare or retain additional spells.

In either event, the spell or spells prepared or retained fade after 24 hours (if not cast).

Pick one of these two versions:

- Prepare: You prepare up to three additional levels of spells (such as three 1st-level spells, a 2nd-level and a 1st-level spell, or a 3rd-level spell).

A cantrip counts as one-half level for these purposes.

You prepare and cast these spells normally.

- Retain: You retain any spell up to 3rd level that you had cast up to 1 round before you started casting the mnemonic enhancer.

This restores the previously cast spell to your mind.

Material Components: A piece of string, and ink consisting of squid secretion with black dragon's blood.

Focus: An ivory plaque of at least 50 gp value.

REDUCE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object of up to 10 cu. ft./caster level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell causes instant diminution of a creature or object, decreasing its size and weight.

Its height shrinks by up to 10% per caster level, to a maximum reduction of 50%.

The reduced weight is proportional to the cube of the new height, as follows:

Height Decrease	Weight Decrease
-10% (x 0.9)	-30% (x 0.7)
-20% (x 0.8)	-50% (x 0.5)
-30% (x 0.7)	-60% (x 0.4)
-40% (x 0.6)	-80% (x 0.2)
-50% (x 0.5)	-90% (x 0.1)

All equipment worn or carried by a creature is reduced by the spell.

Magical properties are not decreased by this spell—a smaller +3 sword is still +3, a smaller wand is still capable of its normal functions, and a smaller dose of a potion still has its normal effects.

Weight, mass, and strength are affected, though.

Thus, a hurled stone would have less mass (and cause less damage), chains would be easier to burst, a rope made thinner and easier to sever, and so on.

A creature's hit points, Armor Class, and attack rolls do not change, but Strength decreases with size.

For every 10% of reduction, a creature's Strength score suffers an enlargement penalty of -1, to a minimum score of 1.

A shrinking object may damage weaker materials affixed to it, but a reduced object shrinks only as long as the object itself is not damaged.

Multiple magical effects that reduce size do not stack.

Reduce counters and dispels enlarge.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered iron.

REFUGE

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Clr 7, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create powerful magic in some specially prepared object—a statuette, a jeweled rod, a gem, etc.

This object contains the power to instantaneously transport its possessor across any distance within the same plane to your abode.

Once the item is transmuted, you must give it willingly to an individual and at the same time inform him of a command word to be spoken when the item is used.

To make use of the item, the subject speaks the command word at the same time that he rends or breaks the item (a standard action).

When this is done, the individual and all that he is wearing and carrying (up to a maximum of 50 lb./level) are instantaneously transported to your abode.

No other creatures are affected (aside from a familiar that is touching the subject).

You can alter the spell when casting it so that it transports you to within 10 feet of the possessor of the item when it is broken and the command word spoken.

You will have a general idea of the location and situation of the item possessor at the time the refuge spell is discharged, but once you decide to alter the spell in this fashion you have no choice whether or not to be transported.

Material Component: The specially prepared object, whose construction includes gems worth 1,500 gp.

REINCARNATE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Dead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With this spell, you bring back a dead creature in another body, provided death occurred no more than one week before the casting of the spell and the subject's soul is free and willing to return (see Bringing Back the Dead, page 153).

If the subject's soul is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, subjects who want to return receive no saving throw.

Since the dead creature is returning in a new body, all physical ills and afflictions are repaired.

The magic of the spell creates an entirely new young adult body for the soul to inhabit from the natural elements at hand.

This process requires 1 hour to complete.

When the body is ready, the subject is reincarnated.

A reincarnated character recalls the majority of his former life and form.

He retains his Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, as well as any class abilities or skills he formerly possessed.

His class, base attack bonus, base save bonuses, and hit points are unchanged.

Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores depend partly on his new body.

First eliminate the character's racial adjustments (since he is no longer of his previous race) and then apply the adjustments found below.

The character's level is reduced by 1.

(If the character was 1st level, his new Constitution score is reduced by 1).

It's quite possible for the change in the character's ability scores to make it difficult for him to pursue his previous character class.

If this happens, the character is well advised to become a multiclass character.

The new incarnation is determined on the following table or by DM choice.

d%	Incarnation	Str	Dex	Con
01–03	Badger	+4	+8	+4
04–09	Bear, black	+8	+2	+4
10–13	Bear, brown	+15	+2	+8
14–17	Boar	+4	0	+6
18–25	Centaur	+8	+4	+4
26–28	Dryad	0	+4	0
29–32	Eagle	0	+4	+2
33–42	Elf	0	+2	-2
43–46	Gnome	-2	0	+2
47–48	Hawk	-4	+6	0
49–58	Halfling	-2	+2	0
59–78	Human	0	0	0
79–80	Leopard	+6	+8	+4
81–82	Owl	-4	+6	0
83–86	Pixie	-4	+8	0
87–90	Satyr	0	+2	+2
91–96	Wolf	+2	+4	+4
97–99	Wolverine	+10	+8	+8
100	Other (DM's choice)	? ?	? ?	? ?

Some bodies may make it impossible for the reincarnated character to use some of his class abilities.

For example, a caster reincarnated as a hawk can't cast spells with somatic components because he doesn't have hands.

The reincarnated character does gain any powers or abilities associated with his new form, including forms of movement and speeds, natural armor, natural attacks, etc. Refer to the Monster Manual for exact figures.

A humanoid reincarnated into an animal body can speak the languages it formerly knew and is a magical beast. A wish spell can restore a reincarnated character to his original form.

REPEL WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6, Plant 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Path 120 ft. wide and 10 ft. high, emanating from you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Waves of energy roll forth from you, moving in the direction that you determine, causing all wooden objects in the path of the spell to be pushed away from you to the limit of the range.

Wooden objects larger than 3 inches in diameter that are fixed firmly are not affected, but loose objects (barrels, siege towers, etc.) are.

Objects 3 inches in diameter or smaller that are fixed in place splinter and break, and the pieces move with the wave of energy.

Objects affected by the spell are repelled at the rate of 40 feet per round.

Objects such as wooden shields, spears, wooden weapon shafts and hafts, and arrows and bolts are pushed back, dragging those carrying them along.

(A creature being dragged by an item it is carrying can let go.

A creature being dragged by a shield can unlimber it as a move-equivalent action).

If a spear is planted (set) to prevent this forced movement, it splinters.

Even magic items with wooden sections are repelled, although an antimagic field blocks the effects.

The waves of energy continue to sweep down the set path for the spell's duration.

After you cast the spell, the path is set, and you can then do other things or go elsewhere without affecting the spell's power.

REVERSE GRAVITY

Transmutation

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to one 10-ft. cube/2 levels (S)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell reverses gravity in the spell's area, causing all unattached objects and creatures within it to fall upward and reach the top of the area in 1 round.

If some solid object (such as a ceiling) is encountered in this fall, falling objects and creatures strike it in the same manner as they would during a normal downward fall.

If an object or creature reaches the top of the area without striking anything, it remains there, oscillating slightly, until the spell ends.

At the end of the spell duration, affected objects and creatures fall downward.

Provided there's something for them to hold onto, creatures caught in the area can attempt Reflex saves to secure themselves when the spell strikes.

Creatures who can fly or levitate can keep themselves from falling.

Arcane Material Components: A lodestone and iron filings.

RIGHTEOUS MIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 5, Strength 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You grow to double your height, and your gear grows proportionally.

This increase has the following effects:

- You gain a +4 enlargement bonus to Strength.
- Your size becomes one step larger.

That alters your size modifier for AC and attacks (reducing each by 1 if you were originally Tiny, Small, Medium-size, or Large).

- Mass increases by a factor of eight.

- Weapons increase in size one step, increasing their damage as shown below.

Old Damage	New Damage
1d2	1d3
1d3	1d4
1d4	1d6
1d6	1d8
1d8	2d6
1d10	2d6
1d12	2d8

For example, Jozan, a human, casts righteous might.

He becomes Large, loses 1 from his AC and base attack bonus, and gains +4 to his Strength score (from 12 to 16), for an additional +2 ability bonus on melee attacks and damage.

Additionally, his morningstar is now Large, and it deals 2d6 points of damage instead of 1d8 (plus whatever magical bonuses may apply).

Magical properties of magic items that get bigger do not change.

ROPE TRICK

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched piece of rope from 5 to 30 ft. long

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When this spell is cast upon a piece of rope from 5 to 30 feet long, one end of the rope rises into the air until the whole rope hangs perpendicular to the ground, as if affixed at the upper end.

The upper end is, in fact, fastened to an extradimensional space that is outside the multiverse of extradimensional spaces ("planes").

Creatures in the extradimensional space are hidden, beyond the reach of spells (including divinations), unless those spells work across planes.

The space holds up to eight creatures (of any size).

Creatures in the space can pull the rope up into the space, making the rope "disappear".

In that case, the rope counts as one of the eight creatures that can fit in the space.

The rope can support up to 16,000 pounds.

A force greater than that can pull the rope free.

Spells cannot be cast across the interdimensional interface, nor can area effects cross it.

Those in the extradimensional space can see out of it as if a 3-foot-by-5-foot window were centered on the rope.

The window is present in the Prime Material Plane, but it's invisible, and even creatures that can see it somehow can't see through it.

Anything inside the extradimensional space drops out when the spell ends.

The rope can be climbed by only one person at a time.

The rope trick spell enables climbers to reach a normal place if they do not climb all the way to the extradimensional space.

Note: Creating an extradimensional space within or taking an extradimensional space into an existing extradimensional space is hazardous.

Material Components: Powdered corn extract and a twisted loop of parchment.

RUSTING GRASP

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One nonmagical ferrous object (or the volume of the object within 3 ft. of the touched point) or one ferrous creature

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You corrode iron and iron alloys at a touch.

Any iron or iron alloy item you touch becomes instantaneously rusted, pitted, and worthless, effectively destroyed.

If the item is so large that it cannot fit within a 3-foot radius (a large iron door or a wall of iron), a 3-foot-radius volume of the metal is rusted and destroyed.

Magical metal items are immune to this spell.

You may employ rusting grasp in combat with a successful melee touch attack.

Rusting grasp used in this way instantaneously destroys 1d6 points of Armor Class gained from metal armor (up to the maximum amount of protection the armor offered) through corrosion.

For example, full plate armor (AC +8) could be reduced to +7 or as low as +2 in protection, depending on the die roll.

Weapons in use by an opponent targeted by the spell are more difficult to grasp.

You must succeed at a melee touch attack against the weapon.

(See Strike a Weapon, page 136).

A metal weapon that is hit is instantaneously destroyed.

Note: Striking at an opponent's weapon provokes an attack of opportunity.

Also, you must touch the weapon and not the other way around.

Against ferrous creatures, rusting grasp instantaneously deals 3d6 points of damage +1 per caster level (maximum +15) per successful attack.

The spell lasts for 1 round per level, and you can make one melee touch attack per round.

SCULPT SOUND

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature or object/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You change the sounds that creatures or objects make.

You can create sounds where none exist (such as making trees sing), deaden sounds (such as making a party of adventurers silent), or transform sounds into other sounds (such as making a caster's voice sound like a pig snorting). All affected creatures or objects must be transmuted in the same way.

Once the transmutation is made, you cannot change it.

You can change the qualities of sounds but cannot create words with which you are unfamiliar yourself.

For instance, you can't change your voice so that it sounds as though you are giving the command word to activate a magic item unless you know that command word.

A spellcaster whose voice is changed dramatically (such as into that of the aforementioned snorting pig) is unable to cast spells with verbal components.

SECRET PAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Page touched, up to 3 sq. ft. in size

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Secret page alters the actual contents of a page so that they appear to be something entirely different.

Thus, a map can be changed to become a treatise on burnishing ebony walking sticks.

The text of a spell can be changed to show a ledger page or even another spell.

Explosive runes or sepia snake sigil can be cast upon the secret page.

A comprehend languages spell alone cannot reveal the secret page's contents.

You are able to reveal the original contents by speaking a special word.

You can then peruse the actual page, and return it to its secret page form at will.

You can also remove the spell by double repetition of the special word.

A detect magic spell reveals dim magic on the page in question but does not reveal its true contents.

True seeing reveals the presence of the hidden material but does not reveal the contents unless cast in combination with comprehend languages.

Secret page can be dispelled, and the hidden writings can be destroyed by means of an erase spell.

Material Components: Powdered herring scales and will-o'-wisp essence.

SHAPECHANGE

Transmutation

Level: Animal 9, Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

As polymorph other, except this spell enables you to assume the form of any single creature of less than deity status (including unique dragon types, or the like) or any single object.

The assumed form can be no smaller than a flea and no larger than 200 feet in its largest dimension.

Unlike polymorph other, this spell allows incorporeal forms to be assumed.

Your new form works like a polymorph other form.

You still do not gain the supernatural or spell-like abilities of your new form, though you do gain its extraordinary abilities while keeping your own.

You also gain the type of the new form (for example, "dragon" or "magical beast") in place of your own.

The new form does not disorient you.

Parts of your body or pieces of equipment that are separated from you do not revert to their original forms.

Thus, a new form's poison bite is effective.

You can become just about anything you are familiar with.

You can change form once each round as a free action.

The change takes place either immediately before your regular action or immediately after it, but not during the action.

For example, you are in combat and assume the form of a will-o'-wisp.

When this form is no longer useful, you change into a stone golem and walk away.

When pursued, you change into a flea, which hides on a horse until it can hop off.

From there, you can become a dragon, an ant, or just about anything you are familiar with.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get +10 on your Disguise check.

Focus: A jade circlet worth no less than 1,500 gp, which you must place on your head when casting the spell.

(The focus melds into your new form when you change shape).

SHILLELAGH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched nonmagical oak club or quarterstaff

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Your own oak cudgel or unshod quarterstaff becomes a weapon with a +1 enhancement bonus to attack and damage rolls.

It deals 1d10 points of damage (+1 point for the enhancement bonus) when you wield it.

If you do not wield it, it behaves as if unaffected by this spell.

SHOCKING GRASP

Transmutation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell imbues your hand with a powerful electrical charge that you can use to damage an opponent.

Your successful melee touch attack deals 1d8 points of electrical damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20). When delivering the jolt, you gain a +3 attack bonus if the opponent is wearing metal armor (or made out of metal, carrying a lot of metal, etc.).

SHRINK ITEM

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object of up to 2 cu. ft./level

Duration: 1 day/level (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You are able to shrink one nonmagical item (if it is within the size limit) to one-twelfth of its normal size in each dimension (to about 1/2,000th the original volume and mass).

Optionally, you can also change its now-shrunk composition to a clothlike one.

Objects changed by a shrink item spell can be returned to normal composition and size merely by tossing them onto any solid surface or by a word of command from the original caster.

Even a burning fire and its fuel can be shrunk by this spell. Restoring the shrunk object to its normal size and composition ends the spell.

If shrink item is made permanent (see the permanency spell), the affected object can be shrunk and expanded an indefinite number of times, but only by the original caster.

SLOW

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Affected creatures move and attack at a drastically slowed rate.

Slowed creatures can take only a partial action each turn.

Additionally, they suffer -2 penalties to AC, melee attack rolls, melee damage rolls, and Reflex saves.

Slowed creatures jump half as far as normal.

Slow counters and dispels haste but does not otherwise affect magically speeded or slowed creatures.

Material Component: A drop of molasses.

SNARE

Transmutation

Level: Rgr 2, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Touched nonmagical circle of vine, rope, or thong with a 2 ft. diameter + 2 ft./level

Duration: Until triggered or broken

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell enables you to make a snare that functions as a magic trap.

The snare can be made from any supple vine, a thong, or a rope.

When you cast snare upon it, the cordlike object blends with its surroundings (DC 23 Search check for a rogue [only] to locate).

One end of the snare is tied in a loop that contracts around one or more of the limbs of any creature stepping inside the circle.

(Note that the head of a worm or a snake could be thus ensnared).

If a strong and supple tree is nearby, the snare can be fastened to it.

The spell causes the tree to bend and then straighten when the loop is triggered, dealing 1d6 points of damage to the creature trapped and lifting it off the ground by the trapped limb or limbs.

If no such tree is available, the cordlike object tightens around the creature, causing no damage but tightly binding it.

An entangled creature suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls and suffers a -4 penalty to effective Dexterity.

If the snare is anchored to an immobile object, the entangled character cannot move.

Otherwise, he can move at half speed, but can't run or charge.

A character capable of spellcasting who is bound by this spell must succeed at a Concentration check (DC 15) to cast a spell.

The snare is magical.

To escape, the trapped creature must succeed at an Escape Artist check (DC 23) or a Strength check (DC 23) that is a full-round action.

The snare has 5 hit points and AC 7.

A successful escape from the snare breaks the loop and ends the spell.

SOFTEN EARTH AND STONE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Earth 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft. square/level (see text)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When this spell is cast, all natural, undressed earth or stone in the spell's area is softened.

Wet earth becomes thick mud; dry earth becomes loose sand or dirt; and stone becomes soft clay that is easily molded or chopped.

You affect a 10-foot-square area to a depth of 1 to 4 feet, depending on the toughness or resilience of the ground at that spot (DM's option).

Magical, enchanted, dressed, or worked stone cannot be affected.

Earth or stone creatures are not affected.

Creatures in mud must succeed at Reflex saves or be caught for 1d2 rounds and unable to move, attack, or cast spells.

Creatures who succeed at their saves can move through the mud at half speed, and they can't run or charge.

Loose dirt is not as troublesome as mud, but all creatures in the area are reduced to half their normal speed and can't run or charge over the surface.

Stone softened into clay does not hinder movement, but it does allow characters to cut, shape, or excavate areas they may not have been able to affect before.

For example, a party of adventurers trying to break out of a cavern might use this spell to soften a wall.

While soften earth and stone does not affect dressed or worked stone, cavern ceilings, or vertical surfaces such as cliff faces can be affected.

Usually, this causes a moderate collapse or landslide as the loosened material peels away from the face of the wall or roof and falls.

A moderate amount of structural damage can be dealt to a manufactured structure (such as a wall or a tower) by softening the ground beneath it, causing it to settle.

However, most well-built structures will only be damaged by this spell, not destroyed.

SPELLSTAFF

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Wooden quarterstaff touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You store one spell that you can normally cast in a wooden quarterstaff.

Only one such spell can be stored in a staff at a given time, and you cannot have more than one spellstaff at any given time.

You can cast a spell stored within a staff just as though it were among those you had prepared, but it does not count against your normal total for a given day.

You use up any applicable material components required to cast the spell when you store it in the spellstaff.

Focus: The staff that stores the spell.

SPIDER CLIMB

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can climb and travel on vertical surfaces or even traverse ceilings as well as a spider does.

The affected creature must have bare hands and feet to climb in this manner.

The subject climbs at half its speed.

A creature with a Strength score of at least 20 +1 per caster level can pull the subject off a wall.

Material Components: A drop of bitumen and a live spider, both of which must be eaten by the subject.

SPIKE GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 20-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any ground-covering vegetation in the spell's area becomes very hard and sharply pointed without changing its appearance.

In areas of bare earth, roots and rootlets act in the same way.

Typically, spike growth can be cast in any outdoor setting except open water, ice, heavy snow, sandy desert, or bare stone.

Any creature moving on foot into or through the spell's area takes 1d4 points of damage for each 5 feet of movement through the spiked area.

Any creature who sustains damage from this spell must also succeed at a Reflex save or suffer injuries to its feet and legs that slow its speed by one-third.

This speed penalty lasts for 24 hours or until the injured creature receives a cure spell (which also restores lost hit points).

Another character can remove the penalty by taking 10 minutes to dress the injuries and succeeding at a Heal check against the spell's save DC.

Spike growth is a magic trap that can't be disabled with the Disable Device skill.

Note: Magic traps such as spike growth are hard to detect. A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the spike growth.

The DC is 25 + spell level, or DC 28 for spike growth.

SPIKE STONES

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4, Earth 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 20-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Rocky ground, stone floors, and similar surfaces shapes themselves into long, sharp points that blend into the background.

The spike stones impede progress through an area and deal damage.

Any creature moving on foot into or through the spell's area takes 1d8 points of damage for each 5 feet of movement through the spiked area.

In addition, ground speed through the spell's area is reduced by half.

Any creature who sustains damage from this spell must also succeed at a Reflex save or suffer injuries to its feet and legs that slow its speed by one-third.

This movement penalty lasts for 24 hours or until the injured creature receives a cure spell (which also restores lost hit points).

Another character can remove the penalty by taking 10 minutes to dress the injuries and succeeding at a Heal check against the spell's save DC.

Spike stones is a magic trap that can't be disabled with the Disable Device skill.

Note: Magic traps such as spike stones are hard to detect. A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the spike stones.

The DC is 25 + spell level, or DC 29 for spike stones.

STATUE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A statue spell turns the subject to solid stone, along with any garments and equipment worn or carried.

The initial transformation from flesh to stone requires 1 full round after the spell is cast. In statue form, the subject gains hardness 8. The subject retains its own hit points. The subject can see, hear, and smell normally, but does not need to eat or breathe. Feeling is limited to those sensations that can affect the granite-hard substance of the individual's body. Chipping is equal to a mere scratch, but breaking off one of the statue's arms is serious damage. The individual under the magic of a statue spell can return to his normal state, act, and then return instantly to the statue state (a free action) if he so desires, as long as the spell duration is in effect. Material Components: Lime, sand, and a drop of water stirred by an iron bar, such as a nail or spike.

STONE SHAPE

Transmutation
Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Earth 3, Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Touch
Target: Stone or stone object touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You can form an existing piece of stone into any shape that suits your purpose. For example, you can make a stone weapon, a special trapdoor, or a crude idol. Stone shape also permits you to reshape a stone door to make an exit where one didn't exist or to seal a door shut. While it's possible to make crude coffers, doors, and so forth with stone shape, fine detail isn't possible. There is a 30% chance that any shape including moving parts simply doesn't work. Arcane Material Component: Soft clay, which must be worked into roughly the desired shape of the stone object and then touched to the stone while the verbal component is uttered.

STONE TO FLESH

Transmutation
Level: Sor/Wiz 6
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One petrified creature or a cylinder of stone from 1 ft. to 3 ft. in diameter and up to 10 ft. long
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object) (see text)
Spell Resistance: Yes
This spell restores a petrified creature to its normal state, restoring life and goods. The creature must succeed at a Fortitude save (DC 15) to survive the process. Any petrified creature, regardless of size, can be restored. The spell also can convert a mass of stone into a fleshy substance.

Such flesh is inert and lacking a vital life force unless a life force or magical energy is available. (For example, this spell would turn a stone golem into a flesh golem, but an ordinary statue would become a corpse.) You can affect an object that fits within a cylinder from 1 foot to 3 feet in diameter and up to 10 feet long or a cylinder of up to those dimensions in a larger mass of stone. Material Components: A pinch of earth and a drop of blood.

TELEKINESIS

Transmutation
Level: Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)
Target or Targets: See text
Duration: Concentration (up to 1 round/level) or instantaneous (see text)
Saving Throw: Will negates (object) (see text)
Spell Resistance: Yes (object) (see text)
You move objects or creatures by concentrating on them. Depending on the version selected, the spell can provide either a gentle, sustained force or a single short, violent thrust. Sustained Force: A sustained force moves a creature or object weighing up to 25 pounds per caster level up to 20 feet per round. A creature can negate the effect against itself or against an object it possesses with a successful Will save or with SR. This version of the spell lasts up to 1 round per caster level, but it ends if you cease concentration. The weight can be moved vertically, horizontally, or both. An object cannot be moved beyond your range. The spell ends if the object is forced beyond the range. If you cease concentration for any reason, the object falls or stops. An object can be telekinetically manipulated as if with one hand. For example, a lever or rope can be pulled, a key can be turned, an object rotated, and so on, if the force required is within the weight limitation. You might even be able to untie simple knots, though delicate activities such as these require Intelligence checks against a DC set by the DM. Violent Thrust: Alternatively, the spell energy can be expended in a single round. You can hurl one or more objects or creatures who are within range and all within 10 feet of each other toward any target within 10 feet/level of all the objects. You can hurl up to a total weight of 25 pounds per caster level. You must succeed at attack rolls (one per creature or object thrown) to hit the target with the items, using your base attack bonus + your Intelligence modifier. Weapons cause standard damage (with no Strength bonus). Other objects cause damage ranging from 1 point per 25 pounds (for less dangerous objects such as a barrel) to 1d6 points of damage per 25 pounds (for hard, dense objects such as a boulder). Creatures who fall within the weight capacity of the spell can be hurled, but they are allowed Will saves to negate the effect, as are those whose held possessions are targeted by the spell.

If a telekinised creature is hurled against a solid surface, it takes damage as if it had fallen 10 feet (1d6 points).

TELEPORT WITHOUT ERROR

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Travel 7

As teleport, except there is no chance you arrive off target. You must have at least a reliable description of the place to which you are teleporting.

If you attempt to teleport with insufficient information (or with misleading information), you disappear and simply reappear in your original location.

TELEPORT

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5, Travel 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal and touch

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures weighing up to 50 lb./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

This spell instantly transports you to a designated destination.

Distance is not a factor, but interplanar travel is not possible.

You can bring along objects and willing creatures totaling up to 50 pounds per caster level.

As with all spells where the range is personal and the target is you, you need not make a saving throw, nor is SR applicable to you.

Only objects held or in use (attended) by another person receive saving throws and SR.

You must have some clear idea of the location and layout of the destination.

You can't simply teleport to the warlord's tent if you don't know where that tent is, what it looks like, or what's in it. The clearer your mental image, the more likely the teleportation works.

Areas of strong physical or magical energies may make teleportation more hazardous or even impossible.

Note: Teleportation is instantaneous travel through the Astral Plane.

Anything that blocks astral travel also blocks teleportation. To see how well the teleportation works, roll d% and consult the Teleport table.

Refer to the following information for definitions of the terms on the table.

Familiarity: "Very familiar" is a place where you have been very often and where you feel at home.

"Studied carefully" is a place you know well, either because you've been there often or you have used other means (such as scrying) to study the place.

"Seen casually" is a place that you have seen more than once but with which you are not very familiar.

"Viewed once" is a place that you have seen once, possibly using magic.

"Description" is a place whose location and appearance you know through someone else's description, perhaps even from a precise map.

"False destination" is a place that doesn't exist, such as if you have mistranslated an ancient tome and tried to teleport into a nonexistent treasure vault that you believe you read about, or if a traitorous guide has carefully described an enemy's sanctum to you when that sanctum is completely different from what the traitor described.

When traveling to a false destination, roll 1d20+80 to obtain results on the table, rather than rolling d%, since there is no real destination for you to hope to arrive at or even be off target from.

On Target: You appear where you want to be.

Off Target: You appear safely a random distance away from the destination in a random direction.

Distance off target is 1d10×1d10% of the distance that was to be traveled.

For example, if you tried to travel 120 miles, landed off target, and rolled 5 and 3 on the two d10s, then you would be 15% off target.

That's 18 miles, in this case.

The DM determines the direction off target randomly, such as by rolling 1d8 and designating 1 as north, 2 as northeast, etc.

If you were teleporting to a coastal city and wound up 18 miles out at sea, you could be in trouble.

Similar Area: You wind up in an area that's visually or thematically similar to the target area.

A wizard heading for her home laboratory might wind up in another wizard's laboratory or in an alchemy supply shop that has many of the same tools and implements as in her laboratory.

Generally, you appear in the closest similar place, but since the spell has no range limit, you could conceivably wind up somewhere else across the globe.

Mishap: You and anyone else teleporting with you have gotten "scrambled".

You each take 1d10 points of damage, and you reroll on the chart to see where you wind up.

For these rerolls, roll 1d20+80.

Each time "Mishap" comes up, the characters take more damage and must reroll.

TELEPORTATION CIRCLE

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Circle up to 5 ft. in radius that teleports those who activate it

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a circle on the floor or other horizontal surface that teleports, as teleport without error, any creature who stands on it to a designated spot.

Once you designate the destination for the circle, you can't change it.

The spell fails if you attempt to set the circle to teleport creatures into a solid object, to a place with which you are not familiar and have no clear description, or to another plane.

The circle itself is subtle and nearly impossible to notice.

If you intend to keep creatures from activating it accidentally, you need to mark the circle in some way, such as by placing it on a raised platform.

Note: Magic traps such as teleportation circle are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the circle and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 34 in the case of teleportation circle.

Material Component: Amber dust to cover the area of the circle (cost 1,000 gp).

TEMPORAL STASIS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You must succeed at a melee touch attack.

You place the subject into a state of suspended animation.

For the creature, time ceases to flow and its condition becomes fixed.

The creature does not grow older.

Its body functions virtually cease, and no force or effect can harm it.

This state persists until the magic is removed by a successful dispel magic spell.

Material Component: A powder composed of diamond, emerald, ruby, and sapphire dust with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

TENSER'S TRANSFORMATION

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You become a virtual fighting machine—stronger, tougher, faster, and more skilled in combat.

Your mind-set changes so that you relish combat and you can't cast spells, even from magic items.

You gain 1d6 temporary hit points per caster level, a +4 natural armor bonus to AC, a +2d4 Strength enhancement bonus, a +2d4 Dexterity enhancement bonus, a +1 base attack bonus per two caster levels (which may give you an extra attack), a +5 competence bonus on Fortitude saves, and proficiency with all simple and martial weapons.

You attack opponents with melee or ranged weapons if you can, even resorting to unarmed attacks if that's all you can do.

Material Component: A potion of bull's strength, which you drink (and whose effects are subsumed by the spell effects).

TIME STOP

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, Trickery 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds (apparent time)

This spell seems to make time cease to flow for everyone but you.

In fact, you speed up so greatly that all other creatures seem frozen, though they are actually still moving at their normal speeds.

You are free to act for 1d4+1 rounds of apparent time. Normal and magical fire, cold, gas, and the like can still harm you.

While the time stop is in effect, other creatures are invulnerable to your attacks and spells; however, you can create spell effects and leave them to take effect when the time stop spell ends.

(The spells' durations do not begin until the time stop is over).

You cannot move or harm items held, carried, or worn by a creature stuck in normal time, but you can affect any item that is not in another creature's possession.

You are undetectable while time stop lasts.

You cannot enter an area protected by an antimagic field, or by protection from chaos/evil/good/law, or by a magic circle spell, while under the effects of time stop.

TRANSMUTE METAL TO WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: All metal objects within a 40-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object; see text)

This spell enables you to change all metal objects within its area to wood.

Weapons, armor, and other metal objects carried by creatures are affected as well.

Magic objects made of metal effectively have SR 20 + caster level against this spell.

Artifacts cannot be transmuted.

Weapons converted from metal to wood suffer a -2 penalty to attack and damage rolls.

Armor converted from metal to wood loses 2 points of AC bonus.

Weapons changed by this spell splinter and break on any natural attack roll of 1 or 2, and armor changed by this spell loses an additional point of AC bonus every time it is struck by a natural attack roll of 19 or 20.

Only a limited wish, miracle, or wish or similar magic can restore a transmuted object to its metallic state.

Otherwise, for example, a metal door changed to wood is forevermore a wooden door.

TRANSMUTE MUD TO ROCK

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell transforms normal mud or quicksand of any depth into soft stone (sandstone or a similar mineral) permanently.

Creatures in the mud are allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area is hardened to stone.

Transmute mud to rock counters and dispels transmute rock to mud.

Arcane Material Component: Sand, lime, and water.

TRANSMUTE ROCK TO MUD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent (see text)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns natural, uncut or unworked rock of any sort into an equal volume of mud.

If the spell is cast upon a boulder, for example, the boulder collapses into mud.

Magical or enchanted stone is not affected by the spell.

The depth of the mud created cannot exceed 10 feet.

Creatures unable to levitate, fly, or otherwise free themselves from the mud sink until hip- or chest-deep, reducing their speed to 5 feet and giving them -2 penalties on attack rolls and AC.

Brush thrown atop the mud can support creatures able to climb on top of it.

Creatures large enough to walk on the bottom can wade through the area at a speed of 5 feet.

If transmute rock to mud is cast upon the ceiling of a cavern or tunnel, the mud falls to the floor and spreads out in a pool at a depth of 5 feet.

For example, a 10th-level caster could convert twenty 10-foot cubes into mud.

Pooling on the floor, this mud would cover an area of forty 10-foot squares to a depth of 5 feet.

The falling mud and the ensuing cave-in deal 8d6 points of damage to anyone caught directly beneath the area, or half damage to those who succeed at Reflex saves.

Castles and large stone buildings are generally immune to the effects of the spell, since transmute rock to mud can't affect worked stone and doesn't reach deep enough to undermine such buildings' foundations.

However, small buildings or structures often rest upon foundations shallow enough to be damaged or even partially toppled by this spell.

The mud remains until a successful dispel magic or transmute mud to rock spell restores its substance—but not necessarily its form.

Evaporation turns the mud to normal dirt over a period of days.

The exact time depends on exposure to the sun, wind, and normal drainage.

Arcane Material Component: Clay and water.

TRANSPORT VIA PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Unlimited

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You can enter any normal plant (Medium-size or larger) and pass any distance to a plant of the same species in a single round, regardless of the distance separating the two.

The entry plant must be alive.

The destination plant need not be familiar to you, but it also must be alive.

If you are uncertain of the location of a particular kind of destination plant, you need merely designate direction and distance ("an oak tree one hundred miles due north of here"), and the transport via plants spell moves you as close as possible to the desired location.

If a particular destination plant is desired (the oak tree outside your druid grove, for instance), but the plant is not living, the spell fails and you are ejected from the entry plant.

This spell does not function with plant creatures such as shambling mounds and treants.

The destruction of an occupied plant slays you.

TREE SHAPE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

By means of this spell, you are able to assume the form of a small, living tree or shrub or a large, dead tree trunk with a small number of limbs.

The closest inspection cannot reveal that the tree in question is actually a magically concealed creature.

To all normal tests you are, in fact, a tree or shrub, although a detect magic spell reveals a faint transmutation on the tree.

While in tree form, you can observe all that transpires around you just as if you were in your normal form, and your hit points and saves remain unaffected.

You gain a +10 natural armor bonus to AC but have an effective Dexterity score of 1.

You are immune to critical hits while in tree form.

All clothing and gear carried or worn changes with you.

You can dismiss tree shape as a free action (instead of as a standard action).

TREE STRIDE

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Drd 5, Rgr 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until expended (see text)

You gain the ability to enter trees and move from inside one tree to inside another tree.

The first tree you enter and all others you enter must be of the same type, must all be living, and must have girth at least equal to yours.

By moving into an oak tree (for example), you instantly know the location of all other oak trees within transport range (see below) and may choose whether you want to pass into one or simply step back out of the tree you moved into.

You may choose to pass to any tree of the appropriate kind within the transport range shown in the following table:

Type of Tree	Range of Transport
Oak, ash, yew	3,000 feet
Elm, linden	2,000 feet
Other deciduous	1,500 feet
Any coniferous	1,000 feet
All other trees	500 feet

You may move into a tree up to one time per level (passing from one tree to another counts only as moving into one tree).

The spell lasts until the duration is expended or you exit a tree.

In a thick oak forest, this means that a 10th-level druid could make ten transports over the course of 10 rounds, traveling up to 30,000 feet (about six miles) by doing so. Each transport is a full-round action.

You can, at your option, remain within a tree without transporting yourself, though you are forced out when the spell ends.

If the tree in which you are concealed is chopped down or burned, you are slain if you do not exit before the process is complete.

VANISH

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object of up to 50 lb./level and 3 cu. ft./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

As teleport, except it teleports an object, not you.

Creatures and magical forces (such as a delayed blast fireball bead) cannot be made to vanish.

There is a 1% chance that a vanished item is disintegrated instead.

If desired, a vanished object can be sent to a distant location on the Ethereal Plane.

In this case, the point from which the object vanished remains faintly magical until the item is retrieved.

A successful targeted dispel magic spell cast on that point brings the vanished item back from the Ethereal Plane.

VIRTUE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: Will (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains 1 temporary hit point.

WARP WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: 1 lb. of wood/level, all within a 20-ft. radius

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You cause wood to bend and warp, permanently destroying its straightness, form, and strength.

At 1st level, you can warp a handaxe handle or ten crossbow bolts.

At 3rd level, you can warp the shaft of a typical shortspear.

Boards or planks can also be affected, causing a door to be sprung or a boat or ship to leak.

Warped ranged weapons are useless.

Warped melee weapons suffer a -4 penalty to their attack rolls.

Alternatively, you can unwarped wood (effectively warping it back to normal) with this spell, straightening wood that has been warped by this spell or by other means.

Make whole, on the other hand, does no good in repairing a warped item.

WATER BREATHING

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 3, Water 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creatures touched

Duration: 2 hours/level (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures can breathe water freely.

Divide the duration evenly among all the creatures you touch.

The spell does not make creatures unable to breathe air.

Arcane Material Component: A short reed or piece of straw.

WATER WALK

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures can tread on any liquid as if it were firm ground.

Mud, oil, snow, quicksand, running water, ice, and even lava can be traversed easily, since the subjects' feet hover an inch or two above the surface.

(Creatures crossing molten lava still take damage from the heat).

The creatures can walk, run, charge, or otherwise move across the surface as if it were normal ground.

If the spell is cast underwater (or while the subjects are partially or wholly submerged in whatever liquid they are in), the subjects are borne toward the surface at 60 feet per round until they can stand on it.

WHISPERING WIND

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 1 mile/level

Area: 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: No more than 1 hour/level or until discharged (destination is reached)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You send a message or sound on the wind to a designated spot.

The whispering wind travels to a specific location within range that is familiar to you, provided that it can find a way to the location.

(It can't pass through walls, for instance).

The whispering wind is as gentle and unnoticed as a zephyr until it reaches the location.

It then delivers its whisper-quiet message or other sound.

Note that the message is delivered regardless of whether anyone is present to hear it.

The wind then dissipates.

You can prepare the spell to bear a message of up to twenty-five words, cause the spell to deliver other sounds for 1 round, or merely have the whispering wind seem to be a faint stirring of the air.

You can likewise cause the whispering wind to move as slowly as one mile per hour or as quickly as one mile per 10 minutes.

When the spell reaches its objective, it swirls and remains until the message is delivered.

As with magic mouth, whispering wind cannot speak verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects.

WIND WALK

Transmutation

Level: Clr 6, Drd 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Targets: You and one touched creature/three levels

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: No and Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (harmless)

You alter the substance of your body to a cloudlike vapor and move through the air, possibly at great speed.

You can take other creatures with you, each of which acts independently.

A magical wind wafts a wind walker along at up to 600 feet per round (60 mph) or as slow as 5 feet per round (1/2 mph), as the walker wills.

Wind walkers are not invisible but rather appear misty and translucent.

If fully clothed in white, they are 80% likely to be mistaken for clouds, fog, vapors, etc.

A wind walker can regain her physical form as desired and later resume the cloud form.

Each change to and from vaporous form requires 5 rounds. You, however, may dismiss the spell, ending it immediately.

You may even dismiss it for individual wind walkers and not others.

While in vaporous form, subjects gain damage reduction 20/+1, though they may sustain damage from high winds (as determined by the DM).

No spellcasting is possible in vaporous form.

For the last minute of the spell, a wind walker automatically descends 60 feet per round (for a total of 600 feet), though she may descend faster if she wishes.

This descent serves as a warning that the spell is about to end.

WOOD SHAPE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched piece of wood no larger than 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Wood shape enables you to form one existing piece of wood into any shape that suits your purpose.

For example, you can make a wooden weapon, fashion a special trapdoor, or sculpt a crude idol.

This spell also permits you to reshape a wood door to make an exit where one didn't exist or to seal a door shut.

While it is possible to make crude coffers, doors, and so forth, fine detail isn't possible.

There is a 30% chance that any shape that includes moving parts simply doesn't work.

WORD OF RECALL

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Clr 6, Drd 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Unlimited

Target: You and objects and willing creatures totaling up to 50 lb./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless, object)

Word of recall teleports you instantly back to your sanctuary when the word is uttered.

You must designate the sanctuary when you prepare the spell, and it must be a very familiar place.

The actual point of arrival is a designated area no larger than 10 feet by 10 feet.

You can be transported any distance within a plane but cannot travel between planes.

You can transport, in addition to yourself, objects and creatures weighing up to 50 pounds per caster level.

Thus, a 15th-level cleric could transport his person and objects or creatures weighing an additional 750 pounds.

Exceeding this limit causes the spell to fail.

An unwilling creature can't be teleported by word of recall.

Likewise, a creature's Will save (or SR) prevents items in its possession from being teleported.

Unattended, nonmagical objects receive no saving throw.

UNIVERSAL

ARCANE MARK

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One personal rune or mark, all of which must fit within 1 ft. square

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to inscribe your personal rune or mark, which can be no taller than 6 inches in height and consist of no more than six characters.

The writing can be visible or invisible.

An arcane mark spell enables you to etch the rune upon any substance (even stone or metal) without harm to the material upon which the mark is placed.

If an invisible mark is made, a detect magic spell causes it to glow and be visible (though not necessarily understandable).

See invisibility, true seeing, a gem of seeing, or a robe of eyes likewise allows their users to see an invisible arcane mark.

A read magic spell reveals the words, if any.

The mark cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed by the caster or by an erase spell.

If cast on a living being, normal wear gradually causes the mark to fade in about a month.

Arcane mark must be cast on an object prior to casting

Drawmij's instant summons on the same object (see that spell description for details).

DETECT MAGIC

Universal

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You detect magical auras.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject: 1st Round: Presence or absence of magical auras.

2nd Round: Number of different magical auras and the strength of the strongest aura.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each aura. If the items or creatures bearing the auras are in line of sight, you can make Spellcraft skill checks to determine the school of magic involved in each. (Make one check per aura; DC 15 + spell level, or 15 + half caster level for a nonspell effect). Magical areas, multiple types of magic, or strong local magical emanations may confuse or conceal weaker auras. Aura Strength: An aura's magical power and strength depend on a spell's functioning spell level or an item's caster level.

	Functioning Spell Level	Item Caster Level
Strength	0-level or lingering aura	Lingering aura
Dim	1st–3rd	1st–5th
Faint	4th–6th	6th–11th
Moderate	7th–9th	12th–20th
Strong	Artifact or deity-level magic	Beyond mortal caster

If an aura falls into more than one category, detect magic indicates the stronger of the two. Length Aura Lingers: How long the aura lingers depends on its original strength:

Original Strength	Duration
Faint	1d6 minutes
Moderate	1d6 x 10 minutes
Strong	1d6 hours
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Note: Each round, you can turn to detect things in a new area. The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it. Outsiders and elementals are not magical in themselves, but if they are conjured, the conjuration spell registers.

LIMITED WISH

Universal
Level: Sor/Wiz 7
Components: V, S, XP
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: See text
Target, Effect, or Area: See text
Duration: See text
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
 A limited wish lets you create nearly any type of effect. A limited wish can do any of the following:

- Duplicate any sorcerer/wizard spell of 6th level or lower, provided the spell is not from a school prohibited to you.
 - Duplicate any other spell of 5th level or lower, provided the spell is not from a school prohibited to you.
 - Duplicate any wizard/sorcerer spell of 5th level or lower even if it's from a prohibited school.
 - Duplicate any other spell of 4th level or lower even if it's from a prohibited school.
 - Undo the harmful effects of many other spells, such as geas/quest or insanity.
 - Have any other effect whose power level is in line with the above effects, such as a single creature automatically hitting on its next attack or suffering a –7 penalty on its next saving throw.
- A duplicated spell allows saving throws and spell resistance as normal (but the save DC is for a 7th-level spell). When a limited wish duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay that cost or 300 XP, whichever is more. When a limited wish spell duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 1,000 gp, you must provide that component.
 XP Cost: 300 XP or more (see above).

PERMANENCY

Universal
Level: Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S, XP
Casting Time: 2 rounds
Range: See text
Target, Effect, or Area: See text
Duration: Permanent (see text)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

This spell makes certain other spells permanent. Depending on the spell, you must be at least a minimum level and must expend a number of XP. You can make these spells permanent in regard to yourself:

Spell	Minimum Level	XP Cost
Comprehend languages	9th	500 XP
Darkvision	10th	1,000 XP
Detect magic	9th	500 XP
Protection from arrows	11th	1,500 XP
Read magic	9th	500 XP
See invisibility	10th	1,000 XP
Tongues	11th	1,500 XP

You cast the desired spell and then follow it with the permanency spell. You cannot cast these spells on other creatures. This application of permanency can be dispelled only by a caster of greater level than you were when you cast the spell. In addition to personal use, permanency can be used to make the following spells permanent on yourself, another creature, or an object (as appropriate):

Spell	Minimum Level	XP Cost
Enlarge	9th	500 XP
Magic fang	9th	500 XP
Resistance	9th	250 XP

Additionally, the following spells can be cast upon objects or areas only and rendered permanent:

Spell	Minimum Level	XP Cost
Alarm	9th	500 XP
Dancing lights	9th	500 XP
Ghost sound	9th	500 XP
Gust of wind	11th	1,500 XP
Invisibility	10th	1,000 XP
Magic mouth	10th	1,000 XP
Phase door	15th	3,500 XP
Prismatic sphere	17th	4,500 XP
Shrink item	11th	1,500 XP
Solid fog	12th	2,000 XP
Stinking cloud	11th	1,500 XP
Symbol	16th	4,000 XP
Teleportation circle	17th	4,500 XP
Wall of fire	12th	2,000 XP
Wall of force	13th	2,500 XP
Web	10th	1,000 XP

Spells cast on other creatures, objects, or locations (not on you) are vulnerable to dispel magic as normal.

The DM may allow other selected spells to be made permanent.

Researching this possible application of a spell costs as much time and money as independently researching the selected spell (see the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide).

If the DM has already determined that the application is not possible, the research automatically fails.

Note that you never learn what is possible except by the success or failure of your research.

XP Cost: See tables above.

PRESTIDIGITATION

Universal

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: 1 hour

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Prestidigitations are minor tricks that novice spellcasters use for practice.

Once cast, the prestidigitation spell enables you to perform simple magical effects for 1 hour.

The effects are minor and have severe limitations.

Prestidigitations can slowly lift 1 pound of material.

They can color, clean, or soil items in a 1-foot cube each round.

They can chill, warm, or flavor 1 pound of nonliving material.

They cannot inflict damage or affect the concentration of spellcasters.

Prestidigitation can create small objects, but they look crude and artificial.

The materials created by a prestidigitation spell are extremely fragile, and they cannot be used as tools, weapons, or spell components.

Finally, a prestidigitation lacks the power to duplicate any other spell effects.

Any actual change to an object (beyond just moving, cleaning, or soiling it) persists only 1 hour.

Characters typically use prestidigitations to impress common folk, amuse children, and brighten dreary lives.

Common tricks with prestidigitations include producing tinklings of ethereal music, brightening faded flowers, creating glowing balls that float over your hand, generating puffs of wind to flicker candles, spicing up aromas and flavors of bland food, and making little whirlwinds to sweep dust under rugs.

PURIFY FOOD AND DRINK

Universal

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Target: 1 cu. ft./level of contaminated food and water

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell makes spoiled, rotten, poisonous, or otherwise contaminated food and water pure and suitable for eating and drinking.

This spell does not prevent subsequent natural decay or spoilage.

Unholy water and similar food and drink of significance is spoiled by purify food and drink, but the spell has no effect on creatures of any type nor upon magic potions.

Note: Water weighs about 8 pounds per gallon.

One cubic foot of water contains roughly 8 gallons and weighs about 60 pounds.

READ MAGIC

Universal

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

By means of read magic, you can read magical inscriptions on objects—books, scrolls, weapons, and the like—that would otherwise be unintelligible.

This deciphering does not normally invoke the magic contained in the writing, although it may do so in the case of a cursed scroll.

Furthermore, once the spell is cast and you have read the magical inscription, you are thereafter able to read that particular writing without recourse to the use of read magic. You can read at the rate of one page (250 words) per minute.

The spell allows you to identify a glyph of warding with a successful Spellcraft check against DC 13 or a symbol with a successful Spellcraft check against DC 19.

Focus: A clear crystal or mineral prism.

SYMBOL

Universal [see text]

Level: Clr 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M/DF (or V, S, M for carefully engraved)

Casting Time: 1 action or 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One symbol

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell allows you to scribe any of the potent runes described below.

A symbol can be quickly scribed in the air or on some surface.

Alternatively, you can carefully inscribe it on a surface.

The symbol harms those who trigger it (usually those who pass over it, touch it, read it, etc.).

A quickly scribed symbol has a casting time of 1 action.

The resulting rune becomes active immediately.

It lasts 10 minutes per caster level and glows faintly while it lasts.

Symbols of fear, hopelessness, pain, or persuasion can be used in this manner.

Symbols of death, discord, insanity, pain, sleep, and stunning cannot.

A carefully engraved symbol has a casting time of 10 minutes.

The symbol is inactive when finished and remains so until triggered.

Once triggered, it becomes active and glows, usually lasting 10 minutes per caster level.

Some symbols can last indefinitely once triggered.

For example, a symbol of death ends when it has slain 150 hit points worth of creatures.

To be effective, a symbol must always be placed in plain sight and in a prominent location.

Covering or hiding the rune renders the symbol ineffective.

As a default, a symbol is triggered whenever a creature does one or more of the following, as you select: reads, touches, or passes over the rune, looks at the rune, or passes through a portal bearing the rune.

In this case, "reading" the rune means any attempt to study it, identify it, or fathom its meaning.

Throwing a cover over a symbol to render it inoperative triggers it if it reacts to touch.

To trigger a symbol, a creature must be within 60 feet of the rune.

You can set special triggering conditions of your own. These can be as simple or elaborate as you desire.

Special conditions for triggering a symbol can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

Intangibles such as level, class, HD, and hit points don't qualify.

For example, a symbol can be set to activate when a lawful good creature approaches, but not when a paladin approaches.

A symbol's triggering conditions must always be defensive in nature.

A touch-triggered symbol remains untriggered if an item bearing the symbol is used to touch a creature.

Likewise, a symbol cannot be placed on a weapon and set to activate when the weapon strikes a foe.

Once the spell is cast, a symbol's triggering conditions cannot be changed.

You ignore the effects of your own symbols and cannot inadvertently trigger them.

When scribing a symbol quickly, you can instantly attune any number of creatures to the symbol, rendering them immune to its effects, provided the creatures are within 60 feet of the rune when it is created and that you are aware of their presence.

When creating a carefully inscribed symbol, you can specify a password or phrase that prevents a creature using it from triggering the symbol.

You also can attune any number of creatures to the symbol, but doing this can extend the casting time.

Attuning one or two creatures takes negligible time, and attuning a small group (up to ten creatures) takes 1 hour. Attuning a large group (up to twenty-five creatures) takes one day.

Attuning larger groups takes proportionately longer, as the DM sees fit.

When triggered, a symbol affects all creatures within a 60-foot radius except for you and any individuals attuned to it.

If a symbol has a password, anyone using the password remains immune to that particular rune's effects so long as the character remains within 60 feet of the rune.

If the character leaves the radius and returns later, he must use the password again.

Once triggered, a symbol remains active until its duration expires.

Creatures who subsequently meet an active symbol's triggering conditions suffer its effects.

A successful dispel magic removes the effects of a symbol from a creature unless the symbol's effect is instantaneous (death, stunning) or the description specifies another remedy (insanity).

The rune itself can be removed by a successful dispel magic targeted solely on the rune.

An erase spell has no effect on a symbol.

Destruction of the surface where a symbol rests destroys the symbol but also triggers its effects.

Read magic allows you to identify a symbol with a successful Spellcraft check (DC 19).

Identifying the symbol does not discharge it and allows you to know the version of the symbol.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 33 for symbol.

A symbol can be rendered permanent with the permanency spell, provided it is carefully engraved upon a permanent, nonportable surface such as a wall or door.

A permanency spell extends a symbol's basic duration of 10 minutes per caster level indefinitely.

When triggered, a permanent symbol usually glows and is active for about 10 minutes, but there is no limit to how many times it can be triggered.

If the symbol can affect only a limited number of hit points worth of creatures, the limit applies each 10 minutes.

For example, a permanent symbol of death could slay 150 hit points worth of creatures every 10 minutes.

Known symbols include: Death: One or more creatures within the radius, whose combined total hit points do not exceed 150, must succeed at Fortitude saves or die.

The symbol affects the closest creatures first, skipping creatures with too many hit points to affect.

This symbol must be carefully engraved on a surface.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts until it has affected 150 hit points worth of creatures.

Discord: All creatures with an Intelligence score of 3 or higher within 60 feet who fail a Will save immediately fall into loud bickering and arguing.

Meaningful communication is impossible.

If the affected creatures have different alignments, there is a 50% chance that they attack each other.

Bickering lasts 5d4 rounds.

Fighting begins 1d4 rounds into the bickering and lasts 2d4 rounds.

This symbol must be carefully engraved on a surface.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts 10 minutes per caster level.

This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Fear: This symbol can be scribed quickly or carefully engraved on a surface.

Creatures within the radius are afflicted by a powerful version of the fear spell.

If scribed in the air, this symbol requires a Will save to resist.

If the rune is carefully inscribed, the save DC increases by 4.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts 10 minutes per caster level.

This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Hopelessness: All creatures within the radius must attempt Will saves.

If the rune is carefully engraved on a surface, the save DC increases by 4.

If the save fails, the creature suffers from hopelessness for 3d4 x 10 minutes and submits to simple demands from foes, such as to surrender or get out.

The effect is similar to that of the suggestion spell.

If no foes are present to make demands, there is a 25% chance that a hopeless creature proves unable to take any action except hold its ground.

If the creature remains free to act, there is a 25% chance it retreats from the rune at normal speed.

In either case, the creature can defend normally if attacked.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts 10 minutes per caster level. This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Insanity: One or more creatures within the radius, whose combined total hit points do not exceed 150, become insane (as the insanity spell; Will negates).

The symbol affects the closest creatures first, skipping creatures with too many hit points to affect.

This symbol must be carefully engraved on a surface.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts until it has affected 150 hit points worth of creatures.

This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Pain: Creatures within the radius suffer wracking pains that reduce Dexterity scores by 2 and impose a -4 penalty on attack rolls, skill checks, and ability checks (Fortitude negates).

Both effects last 2d10 x 10 minutes.

This symbol can be scribed quickly or carefully engraved on a surface.

If carefully inscribed, the save DC increases by 4.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts 10 minutes per caster level.

Persuasion: This symbol can be scribed quickly or carefully engraved on a surface.

All creatures within the radius must succeed at Will saves to resist.

If the symbol is carefully inscribed, the save DC increases by 4.

If the save fails, the creature becomes the same alignment as you for 1d20 x 10 minutes.

During this time, affected creatures become friendly to you as though subjected to charm person.

This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Sleep: Creatures within the radius fall into a catatonic slumber if they have 8 or fewer HD (Will negates).

Sleeping creatures cannot be awakened for 3d6 x 10 minutes.

This symbol must be carefully engraved on a surface.

Once triggered, the symbol lasts 10 minutes per caster level.

This version is a mind-affecting spell.

Stunning: One or more creatures within the radius whose total hit points do not exceed 250 become stunned (Fortitude negates).

The symbol affects the closest creatures first, skipping creatures with too many hit points to affect.

A stunned creature can't act and loses any Dexterity bonus to AC.

Attackers gain +2 bonuses to attack it.

In addition, the stunned creatures drop what they are holding.

This symbol must be carefully engraved on a surface.

Arcane Material Components (Quickly Scribed Symbol): A small amount of mercury and phosphorus.

Material Components (Carefully Engraved Symbol): Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp each.

WISH

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, XP

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Wish is the mightiest spell a wizard or sorcerer can cast.

By simply speaking aloud, you can alter reality to better suit you.

Even wish, however, has its limits.

A wish can do any one of the following:

- Duplicate any wizard or sorcerer spell of 8th level or lower, provided the spell is not from a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any other spell of 6th level or lower, provided the spell is not from a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any wizard or sorcerer spell of 7th level or lower even if it's from a prohibited school.
- Duplicate any other spell of 5th level or lower even if it's from a prohibited school.
- Undo the harmful effects of many other spells, such as geas/quest or insanity.
- Create a valuable item, even a magic item, of up to 15,000 gp in value.
- Grant a creature a +1 inherent bonus to an ability score.

Two to five wish spells cast in immediate succession can grant a creature a +2 to +5 inherent bonus to an ability score (two wishes for a +2 inherent bonus, three for a +3 inherent bonus, and so on).

Inherent bonuses are instantaneous, so they cannot be dispelled.

Note: An inherent bonus may not exceed +5 for a single ability score, and inherent bonuses to a particular ability score do not stack, so only the best one applies.

- Remove injuries and afflictions.

A single wish can aid one creature per caster level, and all subjects must be cured of the same type of affliction.

For example, you could heal all the damage your party has suffered, or remove all the poison effects from the party, but not do both with the same wish.

A wish can never restore the experience point loss from casting a spell or the level or Constitution loss from being raised from the dead.

- Revive the dead.

A wish can bring a dead creature back to life by duplicating a resurrection spell.

A wish can revive a dead creature whose body has been destroyed, but the feat takes two wishes, one to recreate the body and another to infuse the body with life again.

A wish cannot prevent a character who was brought back to life from losing an experience level.

- Transport travelers.

A wish can lift one creature per caster level from anywhere on any plane and place these creatures anywhere else on any plane regardless of local conditions.

An unwilling target gets a Will save to negate and SR.

- Undo misfortune.

A wish can undo a single recent event.

The wish forces a reroll of any roll made within the last round (including your last turn).

Reality reshapes itself to accommodate the new result.

For example, the wish could undo an opponent's successful save, a foe's successful critical hit (either the attack roll or the critical roll), a friend's failed save, and so on.

The reroll, however, may be as bad as or worse than the original roll.

An unwilling target gets a Will save to negate and SR.

You may wish for greater effects than these, but doing so is dangerous.

Such a wish gives you the opportunity to fulfill your request without fulfilling it completely.

(The wish may pervert your intent into a literal but undesirable fulfillment or only a partial fulfillment).

For example, wishing for a staff of the magi might get you instantly transported to the presence of the staff's current owner.

Wishing to be immortal could get you imprisoned in a hidden extradimensional space (as in imprisonment), where you could "live" indefinitely.

Duplicated spells allow saves and SR as normal (but save DCs are for 9th-level spells).

When a wish duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay 5,000 XP or that cost, whichever is more.

When a wish duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 10,000 gp, you must provide that component.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP or more (see above).

PLAYER'S HANDBOOK 1 3.5 (3.5)

ABJURATION

ALARM

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Alarm sounds a mental or audible alarm each time a creature of Tiny or larger size enters the warded area or touches it.

A creature that speaks the password (determined by you at the time of casting) does not set off the alarm.

You decide at the time of casting whether the alarm will be mental or audible.

Mental Alarm: A mental alarm alerts you (and only you) so long as you remain within 1 mile of the warded area.

You note a single mental "ping" that awakens you from normal sleep but does not otherwise disturb concentration.

A silence spell has no effect on a mental alarm.

Audible Alarm: An audible alarm produces the sound of a hand bell, and anyone within 60 feet of the warded area can hear it clearly.

Reduce the distance by 10 feet for each interposing closed door and by 20 feet for each substantial interposing wall.

In quiet conditions, the ringing can be heard faintly as far as 180 feet away.

The sound lasts for 1 round.

Creatures within a silence spell cannot hear the ringing.

Ethereal or astral creatures do not trigger the alarm.

Alarm can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Focus: A tiny bell and a piece of very fine silver wire.

ANTILIFE SHELL

Abjuration

Level: Animal 6, Clr 6, Drd 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation, centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bring into being a mobile, hemispherical energy field that prevents the entrance of most types of living creatures. The effect hedges out animals, aberrations, dragons, fey, giants, humanoids, magical beasts, monstrous humanoids, oozes, plants, and vermin, but not constructs, elementals, outsiders, or undead.

See the Monster Manual for more about creature types.

This spell may be used only defensively, not aggressively.

Forcing an abjuration barrier against creatures that the spell keeps at bay collapses the barrier (see Abjuration, page 172).

ANTIMAGIC FIELD

Abjuration

Level: Clr 8, Magic 6, Protection 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation, centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

An invisible barrier surrounds you and moves with you.

The space within this barrier is impervious to most magical effects, including spells, spell-like abilities, and supernatural abilities.

Likewise, it prevents the functioning of any magic items or spells within its confines.

An antimagic field suppresses any spell or magical effect used within, brought into, or cast into the area, but does not dispel it.

A hasted creature, for example, is not hasted while inside the field, but the spell resumes functioning when the creature leaves the field.

Time spent within an antimagic field counts against the suppressed spell's duration.

Summoned creatures of any type and incorporeal undead wink out if they enter an antimagic field.

They reappear in the same spot once the field goes away.

Time spent winked out counts normally against the duration of the conjuration that is maintaining the creature.

If you cast antimagic field in an area occupied by a summoned creature that has spell resistance, you must make a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against the creature's spell resistance to make it wink out.

(The effects of instantaneous conjurations, such as create water, are not affected by an antimagic field because the conjuration itself is no longer in effect, only its result).

A normal creature (a normally encountered griffon rather than a conjured one, for instance) can enter the area, as can normal missiles.

Furthermore, while a magic sword does not function magically within the area, it is still a sword (and a masterwork sword at that).

The spell has no effect on golems and other constructs that are imbued with magic during their creation process and are thereafter self-supporting (unless they have been summoned, in which case they are treated like any other summoned creatures).

Elementals, corporeal undead, and outsiders are likewise unaffected unless summoned.

These creatures' spell-like or supernatural abilities, however, may be temporarily nullified by the field.

Dispel magic does not remove the field.

Two or more antimagic fields sharing any of the same space have no effect on each other.

Certain spells, such as wall of force, prismatic sphere, and prismatic wall, remain unaffected by antimagic field (see the individual spell descriptions).

Artifacts and deities are unaffected by mortal magic such as this.

(See the Dungeon Master's Guide for more about artifacts).

Should a creature be larger than the area enclosed by the barrier, any part of it that lies outside the barrier is unaffected by the field.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of powdered iron or iron filings.

ANTIPLANT SHELL

Abjuration

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation, centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The antiplant shell spell creates an invisible, mobile barrier that keeps all creatures within the shell protected from attacks by plant creatures or animated plants.

As with many abjuration spells, forcing the barrier against creatures that the spell keeps at bay strains and collapses the field (see Abjuration, page 172).

ARCANE LOCK

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: The door, chest, or portal touched, up to 30 sq. ft./level in size

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

An arcane lock spell cast upon a door, chest, or portal magically locks it.

You can freely pass your own arcane lock without affecting it; otherwise, a door or object secured with this spell can be opened only by breaking in or with a successful dispel magic or knock spell.

Add 10 to the normal DC to break open a door or portal affected by this spell.

(A knock spell does not remove an arcane lock; it only suppresses the effect for 10 minutes).

Material Component: Gold dust worth 25 gp.

ATONEMENT

Abjuration

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M, F, DF, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell removes the burden of evil acts or misdeeds from the subject.

The creature seeking atonement must be truly repentant and desirous of setting right its misdeeds.

If the atoning creature committed the evil act unwittingly or under some form of compulsion, atonement operates normally at no cost to you.

However, in the case of a creature atoning for deliberate misdeeds and acts of a knowing and willful nature, you must intercede with your deity (requiring you to expend 500 XP) in order to expunge the subject's burden.

Many casters first assign a subject of this sort a quest (see geas/quest) or similar penance to determine whether the creature is truly contrite before casting the atonement spell on its behalf.

Atonement may be cast for one of several purposes, depending on the version selected.

Reverse Magical Alignment Change: If a creature has had its alignment magically changed, atonement returns its alignment to its original status at no cost in experience points.

Restore Class: A paladin who has lost her class features due to committing an evil act may have her paladinhood restored to her by this spell.

Restore Cleric or Druid Spell Powers: A cleric or druid who has lost the ability to cast spells by incurring the anger of his or her deity may regain that ability by seeking atonement from another cleric of the same deity or another druid.

If the transgression was intentional, the casting cleric loses 500 XP for his intercession.

If the transgression was unintentional, he does not lose XP.

Redemption or Temptation: You may cast this spell upon a creature of an opposing alignment in order to offer it a chance to change its alignment to match yours.

The prospective subject must be present for the entire casting process.

Upon completion of the spell, the subject freely chooses whether it retains its original alignment or acquiesces to your offer and changes to your alignment.

No duress, compulsion, or magical influence can force the subject to take advantage of the opportunity offered if it is unwilling to abandon its old alignment.

This use of the spell does not work on outsiders or any creature incapable of changing its alignment naturally.

Though the spell description refers to evil acts, atonement can also be used on any creature that has performed acts against its alignment, whether those acts are evil, good, chaotic, or lawful.

Note: Normally, changing alignment is up to the player (for PCs) or the DM (for NPCs).

This use of atonement simply offers a believable way for a character to change his or her alignment drastically, suddenly, and definitively.

Material Component: Burning incense.

Focus: In addition to your holy symbol or normal divine focus, you need a set of prayer beads (or other prayer device, such as a prayer wheel or prayer book) worth at least 500 gp.

XP Cost: When cast for the benefit of a creature whose guilt was the result of deliberate acts, the cost to you is 500 XP per casting (see above).

BANISHMENT

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more extraplanar creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A banishment spell is a more powerful version of the dismissal spell.

It enables you to force extraplanar creatures out of your home plane.

As many as 2 Hit Dice of creatures per caster level can be banished.

You can improve the spell's chance of success by presenting at least one object or substance that the target hates, fears, or otherwise opposes.

For each such object or substance, you gain a +1 bonus on your caster level check to overcome the target's spell resistance (if any), the saving throw DC increases by 2.

For example, if this spell were cast on a demon that hated light and was vulnerable to holy water and cold iron weapons, you might use iron, holy water, and a torch in the spell.

The three items would give you a +3 bonus on your check to overcome the demon's spell resistance and add 6 to the spell's save DC.

At the DM's option, certain rare items might work twice as well as a normal item for the purpose of the bonuses (each providing a +2 bonus on the caster level check against spell resistance and increasing the save DC by 4).

Arcane Focus: Any item that is distasteful to the subject (optional, see above).

BREAK ENCHANTMENT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 4, Clr 5, Luck 5, Pal 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to one creature per level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell frees victims from enchantments, transmutations, and curses.

Break enchantment can reverse even an instantaneous effect, such as flesh to stone.

For each such effect, you make a caster level check (1d20 + caster level, maximum +15) against a DC of 11 + caster level of the effect.

Success means that the creature is free of the spell, curse, or effect.

For a cursed magic item, the DC is 25.

If the spell is one that cannot be dispelled by dispel magic, break enchantment works only if that spell is 5th level or lower.

For instance, bestow curse cannot be dispelled by dispel magic, but break enchantment can dispel it.

If the effect comes from some permanent magic item, such as a cursed sword, break enchantment does not remove the curse from the item, but it does free the victim from the item's effects.

For example, a cursed item can change the alignment of its user.

Break enchantment allows the victim to be rid of the item and negates the alignment change, but the item's curse is intact and affects the next creature to pick up the item—even if it's the recent recipient of the break enchantment spell.

CLOAK OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 8, Clr 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A random pattern of color surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by lawful creatures, and causing lawful creatures that strike the subjects to become confused.

This abjuration has four effects.

First, each warded creature gains a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus on saves.

Unlike protection from law, the benefit of this spell applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by lawful creatures.

Second, each warded creature gains spell resistance 25 against lawful spells and spells cast by lawful creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from law does.

Finally, if a lawful creature succeeds on a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker is confused for 1 round (Will save negates, as with the confusion spell, but against the save DC of cloak of chaos).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of parchment from a chaotic text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

DIMENSIONAL ANCHOR

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

A green ray springs from your outstretched hand.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit the target.

Any creature or object struck by the ray is covered with a shimmering emerald field that completely blocks extradimensional travel.

Forms of movement barred by a dimensional anchor include astral projection, blink, dimension door, ethereal jaunt, etherealness, gate, maze, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, and similar spell-like or psionic abilities.

The spell also prevents the use of a gate or teleportation circle for the duration of the spell.

A dimensional anchor does not interfere with the movement of creatures already in ethereal or astral form when the spell is cast, nor does it block extradimensional perception or attack forms, such as a basilisk's gaze.

Also, dimensional anchor does not prevent summoned creatures from disappearing at the end of a summoning spell.

DIMENSIONAL LOCK

Abjuration

Level: Clr 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a shimmering emerald barrier that completely blocks extradimensional travel.

Forms of movement barred include astral projection, blink, dimension door, ethereal jaunt, etherealness, gate, maze, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, and similar spell-like or psionic abilities.

Once dimensional lock is in place, extradimensional travel into or out of the area is not possible.

A dimensional lock does not interfere with the movement of creatures already in ethereal or astral form when the spell is cast, nor does it block extradimensional perception or attack forms, such as a basilisk's gaze.

Also, the spell does not prevent summoned creatures from disappearing at the end of a summoning spell.

DISMISSAL

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One extraplanar creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell forces an extraplanar creature back to its proper plane if it fails a special Will save (DC = spell's save DC – creature's HD + your caster level).

If the spell is successful, the creature is instantly whisked away, but there is a 20% chance of actually sending the subject to a plane other than its own.

DISPEL CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 5, Law 5, Pal 4

This spell functions like dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by constant, blue, lawful energy, and the spell affects chaotic creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 5, Good 5, Pal 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target or Targets: You and a touched evil creature from another plane; or you and an enchantment or evil spell on a touched creature or object

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged, whichever comes first

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

Shimmering, white, holy energy surrounds you.

This power has three effects.

First, you gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC against attacks by evil creatures.

Second, on making a successful melee touch attack against an evil creature from another plane, you can choose to drive that creature back to its home plane.

The creature can negate the effects with a successful Will save (spell resistance applies).

This use discharges and ends the spell.

Third, with a touch you can automatically dispel any one enchantment spell cast by an evil creature or any one evil spell.

Exception: Spells that can't be dispelled by dispel magic also can't be dispelled by dispel evil.

Saving throws and spell resistance do not apply to this effect.

This use discharges and ends the spell.

DISPEL GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 5, Evil 5

This spell functions like dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by dark, wavering, unholy energy, and the spell affects good creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 5, Clr 5

This spell functions like dispel evil, except that you are surrounded by flickering, yellow, chaotic energy, and the spell affects lawful creatures and spells rather than evil ones.

DISPEL MAGIC

Abjuration

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 4, Magic 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target or Area: One spellcaster, creature, or object; or 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Because magic is so powerful, so too is the ability to dispel magic.

You can use dispel magic to end ongoing spells that have been cast on a creature or object, to temporarily suppress the magical abilities of a magic item, to end ongoing spells (or at least their effects) within an area, or to counter another spellcaster's spell.

A dispelled spell ends as if its duration had expired.

Some spells, as detailed in their descriptions, can't be defeated by dispel magic.

Dispel magic can dispel (but not counter) spell-like effects just as it does spells.

Note: The effect of a spell with an instantaneous duration can't be dispelled, because the magical effect is already over before the dispel magic can take effect.

Thus, you can't use dispel magic to repair damage caused by a fireball or to turn a petrified character back to flesh.

In these cases, the magic has departed, leaving only burned flesh or perfectly normal stone in its wake.

You choose to use dispel magic in one of three ways: a targeted dispel, an area dispel, or a counterspell: Targeted Dispel: One object, creature, or spell is the target of the dispel magic spell.

You make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +10) against the spell or against each ongoing spell currently in effect on the object or creature.

The DC for this dispel check is 11 + the spell's caster level.

For example, Mialee, at 5th level, targets dispel magic on a drow who is under the effects of haste, mage armor, and bull's strength.

All three spells were cast on the drow by a 7th-level wizard. Mialee makes a dispel check (1d20 + 5 against DC 18) three times, once each for the haste, mage armor, and bull's strength effects.

If she succeeds on a particular check, that spell is dispelled (the drow's spell resistance doesn't help him); if she fails, that spell remains in effect.

If you target an object or creature that is the effect of an ongoing spell (such as a monster summoned by monster summoning), you make a dispel check to end the spell that conjured the object or creature.

If the object that you target is a magic item, you make a dispel check against the item's caster level.

If you succeed, all the item's magical properties are suppressed for 1d4 rounds, after which the item recovers on its own.

A suppressed item becomes nonmagical for the duration of the effect.

An interdimensional interface (such as a bag of holding) is temporarily closed.

A magic item's physical properties are unchanged: A suppressed magic sword is still a sword (a masterwork sword, in fact).

Artifacts and deities are unaffected by mortal magic such as this.

You automatically succeed on your dispel check against any spell that you cast yourself.

Area Dispel: When dispel magic is used in this way, the spell affects everything within a 20-foot radius.

For each creature within the area that is the subject of one or more spells, you make a dispel check against the spell with the highest caster level.

If that check fails, you make dispel checks against progressively weaker spells until you dispel one spell (which discharges the dispel magic spell so far as that target is concerned) or until you fail all your checks.

The creature's magic items are not affected.

For each object within the area that is the target of one or more spells, you make dispel checks as with creatures.

Magic items are not affected by an area dispel.

For each ongoing area or effect spell whose point of origin is within the area of the dispel magic spell, you can make a dispel check to dispel the spell.

For each ongoing spell whose area overlaps that of the dispel magic spell, you can make a dispel check to end the effect, but only within the overlapping area.

If an object or creature that is the effect of an ongoing spell (such as a monster summoned by monster summoning) is in the area, you can make a dispel check to end the spell that conjured that object or creature (returning it whence it came) in addition to attempting to dispel spells targeting the creature or object.

You may choose to automatically succeed on dispel checks against any spell that you have cast.

Counterspell: When dispel magic is used in this way, the spell targets a spellcaster and is cast as a counterspell (page 170).

Unlike a true counterspell, however, dispel magic may not work; you must make a dispel check to counter the other spellcaster's spell.

DISPEL MAGIC, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Brd 5, Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

This spell functions like dispel magic, except that the maximum caster level on your dispel check is +20 instead of +10.

Additionally, greater dispel magic has a chance to dispel any effect that remove curse can remove, even if dispel magic can't dispel that effect.

ENDURE ELEMENTS

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Drd 1, Pal 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Sun 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A creature protected by endure elements suffers no harm from being in a hot or cold environment.

It can exist comfortably in conditions between -50 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit without having to make Fortitude saves (as described in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

The creature's equipment is likewise protected.

Endure elements doesn't provide any protection from fire or cold damage, nor does it protect against other environmental hazards such as smoke, lack of air, and so forth.

ENTROPIC SHIELD

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Luck 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

A magical field appears around you, glowing with a chaotic blast of multicolored hues.

This field deflects incoming arrows, rays, and other ranged attacks.

Each ranged attack directed at you for which the attacker must make an attack roll (including arrows, magic arrows, Melf's acid arrow, ray of enfeeblement, and so forth) has a 20% miss chance (similar to the effects of concealment).

Other attacks that simply work at a distance, such as a dragon's breath weapon, are not affected.

EXPLOSIVE RUNES

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing no more than 10 lb.

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You trace these mystic runes upon a book, map, scroll, or similar object bearing written information.

The runes detonate when read, dealing 6d6 points of force damage.

Anyone next to the runes (close enough to read them) takes the full damage with no saving throw; any other creature within 10 feet of the runes is entitled to a Reflex save for half damage.

The object on which the runes were written also takes full damage (no saving throw).

You and any characters you specifically instruct can read the protected writing without triggering the runes.

Likewise, you can remove the runes whenever desired.

Another creature can remove them with a successful dispel magic or erase spell, but attempting to dispel or erase the runes and failing to do so triggers the explosion.

Note: Magic traps such as explosive runes are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the runes and Disable Device to thwart them.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 28 for explosive runes.

FIRE TRAP

Abjuration [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Fire trap creates a fiery explosion when an intruder opens the item that the trap protects.

A fire trap can ward any object that can be opened and closed (book, box, bottle, chest, coffer, coffin, door, drawer, and so forth).

When casting fire trap, you select a point on the object as the spell's center.

When someone other than you opens the object, a fiery explosion fills the area within a 5-foot radius around the spell's center.

The flames deal 1d4 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

The item protected by the trap is not harmed by this explosion.

A fire trapped item cannot have a second closure or warding spell placed on it.

A knock spell does not bypass a fire trap.

An unsuccessful dispel magic spell does not detonate the spell.

Underwater, this ward deals half damage and creates a large cloud of steam.

You can use the fire trapped object without discharging it, as can any individual to whom the object was specifically attuned when cast.

Attuning a fire trapped object to an individual usually involves setting a password that you can share with friends.

Note: Magic traps such as fire trap are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a fire trap and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level (DC 27 for a druid's fire trap or DC 29 for the arcane version).

Material Component: A half-pound of gold dust (cost 25 gp) sprinkled on the warded object.

FORBIDDANCE

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 6 rounds

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 60-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Forbiddance seals an area against all planar travel into or within it.

This includes all teleportation spells (such as dimension door and teleport), plane shifting, astral travel, ethereal travel, and all summoning spells.

Such effects simply fail automatically.

In addition, it damages entering creatures whose alignments are different from yours.

The effect on those attempting to enter the warded area is based on their alignment relative to yours (see below).

A creature inside the area when the spell is cast takes no damage unless it exits the area and attempts to reenter, at which time it is affected as normal.

Alignments identical: No effect.

The creature may enter the area freely (although not by planar travel).

Alignments different with respect to either law/chaos or good/evil: The creature takes 6d6 points of damage.

A successful Will save halves the damage, and spell resistance applies.

Alignments different with respect to both law/chaos and good/evil: The creature takes 12d6 points of damage.

A successful Will save halves the damage, and spell resistance applies.

At your option, the abjuration can include a password, in which case creatures of alignments different from yours can avoid the damage by speaking the password as they enter the area.

You must select this option (and the password) at the time of casting.

Dispel magic does not dispel a forbiddance effect unless the dispeller's level is at least as high as your caster level.

You can't have multiple overlapping forbiddance effects.

In such a case, the more recent effect stops at the boundary of the older effect.

Material Component: A sprinkling of holy water and rare incenses worth at least 1,500 gp, plus 1,500 gp per 60-foot cube.

If a password is desired, this requires the burning of additional rare incenses worth at least 1,000 gp, plus 1,000 gp per 60-foot cube.

FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 4, Luck 4, Rgr 4

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell enables you or a creature you touch to move and attack normally for the duration of the spell, even under the influence of magic that usually impedes movement, such as paralysis, solid fog, slow, and web.

The subject automatically succeeds on any grapple check made to resist a grapple attempt, as well as on grapple checks or Escape Artist checks made to escape a grapple or a pin.

The spell also allows the subject to move and attack normally while underwater, even with slashing weapons such as axes and swords or with bludgeoning weapons such as flails, hammers, and maces, provided that the weapon is wielded in the hand rather than hurled.

The freedom of movement spell does not, however, allow water breathing.

Material Component: A leather thong, bound around the arm or a similar appendage.

FREEDOM

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels) or see text

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject is freed from spells and effects that restrict its movement, including binding, entangle, grappling, imprisonment, maze, paralysis, petrification, pinning, sleep, slow, stunning, temporal stasis, and web.

To free a creature from imprisonment or maze, you must know its name and background, and you must cast this spell at the spot where it was entombed or banished into the maze.

GLOBE OF INVULNERABILITY

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

This spell functions like lesser globe of invulnerability, except that it also excludes 4th-level spells and spell-like effects.

GLOBE OF INVULNERABILITY, LESSER

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius spherical emanation, centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

An immobile, faintly shimmering magical sphere surrounds you and excludes all spell effects of 3rd level or lower.

The area or effect of any such spells does not include the area of the lesser globe of invulnerability.

Such spells fail to affect any target located within the globe. Excluded effects include spell-like abilities and spells or spell-like effects from items.

However, any type of spell can be cast through or out of the magical globe.

Spells of 4th level and higher are not affected by the globe, nor are spells already in effect when the globe is cast.

The globe can be brought down by a targeted dispel magic spell, but not by an area dispel magic.

You can leave and return to the globe without penalty.

Note that spell effects are not disrupted unless their effects enter the globe, and even then they are merely suppressed, not dispelled.

For example, creatures inside the globe would still see a mirror image created by a caster outside the globe.

If that caster then entered the globe, the images would wink out, to reappear when the caster exited the globe.

Likewise, a caster standing in the area of a light spell would still receive sufficient illumination for vision, even though that part of the light spell's area that lies within the globe would not be luminous.

If a given spell has more than one level depending on which character class is casting it, use the level appropriate to the caster to determine whether lesser globe of invulnerability stops it.

Material Component: A glass or crystal bead that shatters at the expiration of the spell.

GLYPH OF WARDING

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target or Area: Object touched or up to 5 sq. ft./level

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No (object) and Yes; see text

This powerful inscription harms those who enter, pass, or open the warded area or object.

A glyph of warding can guard a bridge or passage, ward a portal, trap a chest or box, and so on.

You set the conditions of the ward.

Typically, any creature entering the warded area or opening the warded object without speaking a password (which you set when casting the spell) is subject to the magic it stores.

Alternatively or in addition to a password trigger, glyphs can be set according to physical characteristics (such as height or weight) or creature type, subtype, or kind (such as aberration, drow, or red dragon).

Glyphs can also be set with respect to good, evil, law, or chaos, or to pass those of your religion.

They cannot be set according to class, Hit Dice, or level.

Glyphs respond to invisible creatures normally but are not triggered by those who travel past them ethereally.

Multiple glyphs cannot be cast on the same area.

However, if a cabinet has three drawers, each can be separately warded.

When casting the spell, you weave a tracery of faintly glowing lines around the warding sigil.

A glyph can be placed to conform to any shape up to the limitations of your total square footage.

When the spell is completed, the glyph and tracery become nearly invisible.

Glyphs cannot be affected or bypassed by such means as physical or magical probing, though they can be dispelled. Mislead, polymorph, and nondetection (and similar magical effects) can fool a glyph, though nonmagical disguises and the like can't.

Read magic allows you to identify a glyph of warding with a DC 13 Spellcraft check.

Identifying the glyph does not discharge it and allows you to know the basic nature of the glyph (version, type of damage caused, what spell is stored).

The DM may decide that the exact glyphs available to you depend on your deity.

He or she might also make new glyphs available according to the magical research rules in the Dungeon Master's Guide. Note: Magic traps such as glyph of warding are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the glyph and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 28 for glyph of warding.

Depending on the version selected, a glyph either blasts the intruder or activates a spell.

Blast Glyph: A blast glyph deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to the intruder and to all within 5 feet of him or her.

This damage is acid, cold, fire, electricity, or sonic (caster's choice, made at time of casting).

Each creature affected can attempt a Reflex save to take half damage.

Spell resistance applies against this effect.

Spell Glyph: You can store any harmful spell of 3rd level or lower that you know.

All level-dependent features of the spell are based on your caster level at the time of casting the glyph.

If the spell has a target, it targets the intruder.

If the spell has an area or an amorphous effect (such as a cloud), the area or effect is centered on the intruder.

If the spell summons creatures, they appear as close as possible to the intruder and attack.

Saving throws and spell resistance operate as normal, except that the DC is based on the level of the spell stored in the glyph.

Material Component: You trace the glyph with incense, which must first be sprinkled with powdered diamond worth at least 200 gp.

GLYPH OF WARDING, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6

This spell functions like glyph of warding, except that a greater blast glyph deals up to 10d8 points of damage, and a greater spell glyph can store a spell of 6th level or lower.

Material Component: You trace the glyph with incense, which must first be sprinkled with powdered diamond worth at least 400 gp.

GUARDS AND WARDS

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 30 minutes

Range: Anywhere within the area to be warded

Area: Up to 200 sq. ft./level (S)

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

This powerful spell is primarily used to defend your stronghold.

The ward protects 200 square feet per caster level.

The warded area can be as much as 20 feet high, and shaped as you desire.

You can ward several stories of a stronghold by dividing the area among them; you must be somewhere within the area to be warded to cast the spell.

The spell creates the following magical effects within the warded area.

Fog: Fog fills all corridors, obscuring all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

Saving Throw: None.

Spell Resistance: No.

Arcane Locks: All doors in the warded area are arcane locked.

Saving Throw: None.

Spell Resistance: No.

Webs: Webs fill all stairs from top to bottom.

These strands are identical with those created by the web spell, except that they regrow in 10 minutes if they are burned or torn away while the guards and wards spell lasts.

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text for web.

Spell Resistance: No.

Confusion: Where there are choices in direction—such as a corridor intersection or side passage—a minor confusion-type effect functions so as to make it 50% probable that intruders believe they are going in the opposite direction from the one they actually chose.

This is an enchantment, mind-affecting effect.

Saving Throw: None.

Spell Resistance: Yes.

Lost Doors: One door per caster level is covered by a silent image to appear as if it were a plain wall.

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with).

Spell Resistance: No.

In addition, you can place your choice of one of the following five magical effects.

1. Dancing lights in four corridors.

You can designate a simple program that causes the lights to repeat as long as the guards and wards spell lasts.

Saving Throw: None.

Spell Resistance: No.

2. A magic mouth in two places.

Saving Throw: None.

Spell Resistance: No.

3. A stinking cloud in two places.

The vapors appear in the places you designate; they return within 10 minutes if dispersed by wind while the guards and wards spell lasts.

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text for stinking cloud.

Spell Resistance: No.

4. A gust of wind in one corridor or room.

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates.

Spell Resistance: Yes.

5. A suggestion in one place.

You select an area of up to 5 feet square, and any creature who enters or passes through the area receives the suggestion mentally.

Saving Throw: Will negates.

Spell Resistance: Yes.

The whole warded area radiates strong magic of the abjuration school.

A dispel magic cast on a specific effect, if successful, removes only that effect.

A successful Mordenkainen's disjunction destroys the entire guards and wards effect.

Material Component: Burning incense, a small measure of brimstone and oil, a knotted string, and a small amount of blood.

Focus: A small silver rod.

HIDE FROM ANIMALS

Abjuration

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature touched/level

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Animals cannot see, hear, or smell the warded creatures.

Even extraordinary or supernatural sensory capabilities, such as blindsense, blindsight, scent, and tremorsense, cannot detect or locate warded creatures.

Animals simply act as though the warded creatures are not there.

Warded creatures could stand before the hungriest of lions and not be molested or even noticed.

If a warded character touches an animal or attacks any creature, even with a spell, the spell ends for all recipients.

HIDE FROM UNDEAD

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/level

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Undead cannot see, hear, or smell the warded creatures.

Even extraordinary or supernatural sensory capabilities, such as blindsense, blindsight, scent, and tremorsense, cannot detect or locate warded creatures.

Nonintelligent undead creatures are automatically affected and act as though the warded creatures are not there.

An intelligent undead creature gets a single Will saving throw.

If it fails, the subject can't see any of the warded creatures.

However, if it has reason to believe unseen opponents are present, it can attempt to find or strike them.

If a warded creature attempts to turn or command undead, touches an undead creature, or attacks any creature (even with a spell), the spell ends for all recipients.

HOLD PORTAL

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One portal, up to 20 sq. ft./level

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell magically holds shut a door, gate, window, or shutter of wood, metal, or stone.

The magic affects the portal just as if it were securely closed and normally locked.

A knock spell or a successful dispel magic spell can negate a hold portal spell.

For a portal affected by this spell, add 5 to the normal DC for forcing open the portal.

HOLY AURA

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 8, Good 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A brilliant divine radiance surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by evil creatures, and causing evil creatures to become blinded when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects.

First, each warded creature gains a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus on saves.

Unlike protection from evil, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by evil creatures.

Second, each warded creature gains spell resistance 25 against evil spells and spells cast by evil creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from evil does.

Finally, if an evil creature succeeds on a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker is blinded (Fortitude save negates, as blindness/deafness, but against holy aura's save DC).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of cloth from a saint's robe or a piece of parchment from a holy text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

IMPRISONMENT

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

When you cast imprisonment and touch a creature, it is entombed in a state of suspended animation (see the temporal stasis spell) in a small sphere far beneath the surface of the earth.

The subject remains there unless a freedom spell is cast at the locale where the imprisonment took place.

Magical search by a crystal ball, a locate object spell, or some other similar divination does not reveal the fact that a creature is imprisoned, but discern location does.

A wish or miracle spell will not free the recipient, but will reveal where it is entombed.

If you know the target's name and some facts about its life, the target takes a -4 penalty on its save.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 3, Law 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

This spell functions like magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from chaos instead of protection from evil, and it can imprison a nonlawful called creature.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 3, Good 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation from touched creature

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No; see text

All creatures within the area gain the effects of a protection from evil spell, and no nongood summoned creatures can enter the area either.

You must overcome a creature's spell resistance in order to keep it at bay (as in the third function of protection from evil), but the deflection and resistance bonuses and the protection from mental control apply regardless of enemies' spell resistance.

This spell has an alternative version that you may choose when casting it.

A magic circle against evil can be focused inward rather than outward.

When focused inward, the spell binds a nongood called creature (such as those called by the lesser planar binding, planar binding, and greater planar binding spells) for a maximum of 24 hours per caster level, provided that you cast the spell that calls the creature within 1 round of casting the magic circle.

The creature cannot cross the circle's boundaries.

If a creature too large to fit into the spell's area is the subject of the spell, the spell acts as a normal protection from evil spell for that creature only.

A magic circle leaves much to be desired as a trap.

If the circle of powdered silver laid down in the process of spellcasting is broken, the effect immediately ends. The trapped creature can do nothing that disturbs the circle, directly or indirectly, but other creatures can.

If the called creature has spell resistance, it can test the trap once a day.

If you fail to overcome its spell resistance, the creature breaks free, destroying the circle.

A creature capable of any form of dimensional travel (astral projection, blink, dimension door, etherealness, gate, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, and similar abilities) can simply leave the circle through that means.

You can prevent the creature's extradimensional escape by casting a dimensional anchor spell on it, but you must cast the spell before the creature acts.

If you are successful, the anchor effect lasts as long as the magic circle does.

The creature cannot reach across the magic circle, but its ranged attacks (ranged weapons, spells, magical abilities, and the like) can.

The creature can attack any target it can reach with its ranged attacks except for the circle itself.

You can add a special diagram (a two-dimensional bounded figure with no gaps along its circumference, augmented with various magical sigils) to make the magic circle more secure.

Drawing the diagram by hand takes 10 minutes and requires a DC 20 Spellcraft check.

The DM makes this check secretly.

If the check fails, the diagram is ineffective.

You can take 10 (see page 65) when drawing the diagram if you are under no particular time pressure to complete the task.

This task also takes 10 full minutes.

If time is no factor at all, and you devote 3 hours and 20 minutes to the task, you can take 20.

A successful diagram allows you to cast a dimensional anchor spell on the magic circle during the round before casting any summoning spell.

The anchor holds any called creatures in the magic circle for 24 hours per caster level.

A creature cannot use its spell resistance against a magic circle prepared with a diagram, and none of its abilities or attacks can cross the diagram.

If the creature tries a Charisma check to break free of the trap (see the lesser planar binding spell), the DC increases by 5.

The creature is immediately released if anything disturbs the diagram—even a straw laid across it.

However, the creature itself cannot disturb the diagram either directly or indirectly, as noted above.

This spell is not cumulative with protection from evil and vice versa.

Arcane Material Component: A little powdered silver with which you trace a 3-foot-diameter circle on the floor (or ground) around the creature to be warded.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 3, Evil 3, Sor/Wiz 3

This spell functions like magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from good instead of protection from evil, and it can imprison a nonevil called creature.

MAGIC CIRCLE AGAINST LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 3, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

This spell functions like magic circle against evil, except that it is similar to protection from law instead of protection from evil, and it can imprison a nonchaotic called creature.

MIND BLANK

Abjuration

Level: Protection 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject is protected from all devices and spells that detect, influence, or read emotions or thoughts.

This spell protects against all mind-affecting spells and effects as well as information gathering by divination spells or effects.

Mind blank even foils limited wish, miracle, and wish spells when they are used in such a way as to affect the subject's mind or to gain information about it.

In the case of scrying that scans an area the creature is in, such as arcane eye, the spell works but the creature simply isn't detected.

Scrying attempts that are targeted specifically at the subject do not work at all.

MORDENKAINEN'S DISJUNCTION

Abjuration

Level: Magic 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: All magical effects and magic items within a 40-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No

All magical effects and magic items within the radius of the spell, except for those that you carry or touch, are disjoined. That is, spells and spell-like effects are separated into their individual components (ending the effect as a dispel magic spell does), and each permanent magic item must make a successful Will save or be turned into a normal item.

An item in a creature's possession uses its own Will save bonus or its possessor's Will save bonus, whichever is higher.

You also have a 1% chance per caster level of destroying an antimagic field.

If the antimagic field survives the disjunction, no items within it are disjoined.

Even artifacts are subject to disjunction, though there is only a 1% chance per caster level of actually affecting such powerful items.

Additionally, if an artifact is destroyed, you must make a DC 25 Will save or permanently lose all spellcasting abilities.

(These abilities cannot be recovered by mortal magic, not even miracle or wish).

Note: Destroying artifacts is a dangerous business, and it is 95% likely to attract the attention of some powerful being who has an interest in or connection with the device.

MORDENKAINEN'S PRIVATE SANCTUM

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 24 hours (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell ensures privacy.

Anyone looking into the area from outside sees only a dark, foggy mass.

Darkvision cannot penetrate it.

No sounds, no matter how loud, can escape the area, so nobody can eavesdrop from outside.

Those inside can see out normally.

Divination (scrying) spells cannot perceive anything within the area, and those within are immune to detect thoughts.

The ward prevents speech between those inside and those outside (because it blocks sound), but it does not prevent other communication, such as a sending or message spell, or telepathic communication, such as that between a wizard and her familiar.

The spell does not prevent creatures or objects from moving into and out of the area.

Mordenkainen's private sanctum can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A thin sheet of lead, a piece of opaque glass, a wad of cotton or cloth, and powdered chrysolite.

NONDETECTION

Abjuration

Level: Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 3, Trickery 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

The warded creature or object becomes difficult to detect by divination spells such as clairaudience/clairvoyance, locate object, and detect spells.

Nondetection also prevents location by such magic items as crystal balls.

If a divination is attempted against the warded creature or item, the caster of the divination must succeed on a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against a DC of 11 + the caster level of the spellcaster who cast nondetection.

If you cast nondetection on yourself or on an item currently in your possession, the DC is 15 + your caster level.

If cast on a creature, nondetection wards the creature's gear as well as the creature itself.

Material Component: A pinch of diamond dust worth 50 gp.

OBSCURE OBJECT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One object touched of up to 100 lb./level

Duration: 8 hours (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell hides an object from location by divination (scrying) effects, such as the scrying spell or a crystal ball.

Such an attempt automatically fails (if the divination is targeted on the object) or fails to perceive the object (if the divination is targeted on a nearby location, object, or person).

Arcane Material Component: A piece of chameleon skin.

PRISMATIC SPHERE

Abjuration

Level: Protection 9, Sor/Wiz 9, Sun 9

Components: V

Range: 10 ft.

Effect: 10-ft.-radius sphere centered on you
This spell functions like prismatic wall, except you conjure up an immobile, opaque globe of shimmering, multicolored light that surrounds you and protects you from all forms of attack.

The sphere flashes in all colors of the visible spectrum. The sphere's blindness effect on creatures with less than 8 HD lasts 2d4×10 minutes.

You can pass into and out of the prismatic sphere and remain near it without harm.

However, when you're inside it, the sphere blocks any attempt to project something through the sphere (including spells).

Other creatures that attempt to attack you or pass through suffer the effects of each color, one at a time.

Typically, only the upper hemisphere of the globe will exist, since you are at the center of the sphere, so the lower half is usually excluded by the floor surface you are standing on.

The colors of the sphere have the same effects as the colors of a prismatic wall.

Prismatic sphere can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

PRISMATIC WALL

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall 4 ft./level wide, 2 ft./level high

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

PRISMATIC WALL

Color	Order	Effect of Color	Negated By
Red	1st	Stops nonmagical ranged weapons. Deals 20 points of fire damage (Reflex half).	Cone of cold
Orange	2nd	Stops magical ranged weapons. Deals 40 points of acid damage (Reflex half).	Gust of wind
Yellow	3rd	Stops poisons, gases, and petrification. Deals 80 points of electricity damage (Reflex half).	Disintegrate
Green	4th	Stops breath weapons. Poison (Kills; Fortitude partial for 1d6 points of Con damage instead).	Passwall
Blue	5th	Stops divination and mental attacks. Turned to stone (Fortitude negates).	Magic missile
Indigo	6th	Stops all spells. Will save or become insane (as insanity spell).	Daylight
Violet	7th	Energy field destroys all objects and effects. ¹ Creatures sent to another plane (Will negates).	Dispel magic

Spell Resistance: See text

Prismatic wall creates a vertical, opaque wall—a shimmering, multicolored plane of light that protects you from all forms of attack.

The wall flashes with seven colors, each of which has a distinct power and purpose.

The wall is immobile, and you can pass through and remain near the wall without harm.

However, any other creature with less than 8 HD that is within 20 feet of the wall is blinded for 2d4 rounds by the colors if it looks at the wall.

The wall's maximum proportions are 4 feet wide per caster level and 2 feet high per caster level.

A prismatic wall spell cast to materialize in a space occupied by a creature is disrupted, and the spell is wasted.

Each color in the wall has a special effect.

The accompanying table shows the seven colors of the wall, the order in which they appear, their effects on creatures trying to attack you or pass through the wall, and the magic needed to negate each color.

The wall can be destroyed, color by color, in consecutive order, by various magical effects; however, the first color must be brought down before the second can be affected, and so on.

A rod of cancellation or a Mordenkainen's disjunction spell destroys a prismatic wall, but an antimagic field fails to penetrate it.

Dispel magic and greater dispel magic cannot dispel the wall or anything beyond it.

Spell resistance is effective against a prismatic wall, but the caster level check must be repeated for each color present.

Prismatic wall can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

PROTECTION FROM ARROWS

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains resistance to ranged weapons.

The subject gains damage reduction 10/magic against ranged weapons.

(This spell doesn't grant you the ability to damage creatures with similar damage reduction).

Once the spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 100 points), it is discharged.

Focus: A piece of shell from a tortoise or a turtle.

PROTECTION FROM CHAOS

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 1, Law 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1

This spell functions like protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from chaotic creatures, and chaotic summoned creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM ENERGY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Luck 3, Protection 3, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Protection from energy grants temporary immunity to the type of energy you specify when you cast it (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic).

When the spell absorbs 12 points per caster level of energy damage (to a maximum of 120 points at 10th level), it is discharged.

Note: Protection from energy overlaps (and does not stack with) resist energy.

If a character is warded by protection from energy and resist energy, the protection spell absorbs damage until its power is exhausted.

PROTECTION FROM EVIL

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Clr 1, Good 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No; see text

This spell wards a creature from attacks by evil creatures, from mental control, and from summoned creatures. It creates a magical barrier around the subject at a distance of 1 foot.

The barrier moves with the subject and has three major effects.

First, the subject gains a +2 deflection bonus to AC and a +2 resistance bonus on saves.

Both these bonuses apply against attacks made or effects created by evil creatures.

Second, the barrier blocks any attempt to possess the warded creature (by a magic jar attack, for example) or to exercise mental control over the creature (including enchantment (charm) effects and enchantment (compulsion) effects that grant the caster ongoing control over the subject, such as dominate person).

The protection does not prevent such effects from targeting the protected creature, but it suppresses the effect for the duration of the protection from evil effect.

If the protection from evil effect ends before the effect granting mental control does, the would-be controller would then be able to mentally command the controlled creature.

Likewise, the barrier keeps out a possessing life force but does not expel one if it is in place before the spell is cast.

This second effect works regardless of alignment.

Third, the spell prevents bodily contact by summoned creatures.

This causes the natural weapon attacks of such creatures to fail and the creatures to recoil if such attacks require touching the warded creature.

Good summoned creatures are immune to this effect.

The protection against contact by summoned creatures ends if the warded creature makes an attack against or tries to force the barrier against the blocked creature.

Spell resistance can allow a creature to overcome this protection and touch the warded creature.

Arcane Material Component: A little powdered silver with which you trace a 3-foot-diameter circle on the floor (or ground) around the creature to be warded.

PROTECTION FROM GOOD

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 1, Evil 1, Sor/Wiz 1

This spell functions like protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from good creatures, and good summoned creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM LAW

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Chaos 1, Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

This spell functions like protection from evil, except that the deflection and resistance bonuses apply to attacks from lawful creatures, and lawful summoned creatures cannot touch the subject.

PROTECTION FROM SPELLS

Abjuration

Level: Magic 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to one creature touched per four levels

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains a +8 resistance bonus on saving throws against spells and spell-like abilities (but not against supernatural and extraordinary abilities).

Material Component: A diamond of at least 500 gp value, which must be crushed and sprinkled over the targets.

Focus: One 1,000 gp diamond per creature to be granted the protection.

Each subject must carry one such gem for the duration of the spell.

If a subject loses the gem, the spell ceases to affect him.

REMOVE CURSE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or item touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove curse instantaneously removes all curses on an object or a creature.

Remove curse does not remove the curse from a cursed shield, weapon, or suit of armor, although the spell typically enables the creature afflicted with any such cursed item to remove and get rid of it.

Certain special curses may not be countered by this spell or may be countered only by a caster of a certain level or higher.

Remove curse counters and dispels bestow curse.

REMOVE FEAR

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature plus one additional creature per four levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You instill courage in the subject, granting it a +4 morale bonus against fear effects for 10 minutes.

If the subject is under the influence of a fear effect when receiving the spell, that effect is suppressed for the duration of the spell.

Remove fear counters and dispels cause fear.

REPEL METAL OR STONE

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Drd 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft. line from you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Like repel wood, this spell creates waves of invisible and intangible energy that roll forth from you.

All metal or stone objects in the path of the spell are pushed away from you to the limit of the range.

Fixed metal or stone objects larger than 3 inches in diameter and loose objects weighing more than 500 pounds are not affected.

Anything else, including animated objects, small boulders, and creatures in metal armor, moves back.

Fixed objects 3 inches in diameter or smaller bend or break, and the pieces move with the wave of energy.

Objects affected by the spell are repelled at the rate of 40 feet per round.

Objects such as metal armor, swords, and the like are pushed back, dragging their bearers with them.

Even magic items with metal components are repelled, although an antimagic field blocks the effects.

The waves of energy continue to sweep down the set path for the spell's duration.

After you cast the spell, the path is set, and you can then do other things or go elsewhere without affecting the spell's power.

REPEL VERMIN

Abjuration

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 4, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible barrier holds back vermin.

A vermin with Hit Dice of less than one-third your level cannot penetrate the barrier.

A vermin with Hit Dice of one-third your level or more can penetrate the barrier if it succeeds on a Will save.

Even so, crossing the barrier deals the vermin 2d6 points of damage, and pressing against the barrier causes pain, which deters most vermin.

REPULSION

Abjuration

Level: Clr 7, Protection 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, E/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Up to 10 ft./level

Area: Up to 10-ft.-radius/level emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible, mobile field surrounds you and prevents creatures from approaching you.

You decide how big the field is at the time of casting (to the limit your level allows).

Any creature within or entering the field must attempt a save.

If it fails, it becomes unable to move toward you for the duration of the spell.
Repelled creatures' actions are not otherwise restricted. They can fight other creatures and can cast spells and attack you with ranged weapons.

If you move closer to an affected creature, nothing happens.

(The creature is not forced back).

The creature is free to make melee attacks against you if you come within reach.

If a repelled creature moves away from you and then tries to turn back toward you, it cannot move any closer if it is still within the spell's area.

Arcane Focus: A pair of small iron bars attached to two small canine statuettes, one black and one white, the whole array worth 50 gp.

RESIST ENERGY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Fire 3, Pal 2, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This abjuration grants a creature limited protection from damage of whichever one of five energy types you select: acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic.

The subject gains energy resistance 10 against the energy type chosen, meaning that each time the creature is subjected to such damage (whether from a natural or magical source), that damage is reduced by 10 points before being applied to the creature's hit points.

The value of the energy resistance granted increases to 20 points at 7th level and to a maximum of 30 points at 11th level.

The spell protects the recipient's equipment as well.

Resist energy absorbs only damage.

The subject could still suffer unfortunate side effects, such as drowning in acid (since drowning damage comes from lack of oxygen) or becoming encased in ice.

Note: Resist energy overlaps (and does not stack with) protection from energy.

If a character is warded by protection from energy and resist energy, the protection spell absorbs damage until its power is exhausted.

RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You imbue the subject with magical energy that protects it from harm, granting it a +1 resistance bonus on saves.

Resistance can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: A miniature cloak.

SANCTUARY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1, Protection 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

Any opponent attempting to strike or otherwise directly attack the warded creature, even with a targeted spell, must attempt a Will save.

If the save succeeds, the opponent can attack normally and is unaffected by that casting of the spell.

If the save fails, the opponent can't follow through with the attack, that part of its action is lost, and it can't directly attack the warded creature for the duration of the spell.

Those not attempting to attack the subject remain unaffected.

This spell does not prevent the warded creature from being attacked or affected by area or effect spells.

The subject cannot attack without breaking the spell but may use nonattack spells or otherwise act.

This allows a warded cleric to heal wounds, for example, or to cast a bles spell, perform an augury, summon creatures, and so on.

SEQUESTER

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One willing creature or object (up to a 2-ft. cube/level) touched

Duration: One day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (object)

When cast, this spell not only prevents divination spells from working to detect or locate the creature or object affected by sequester, it also renders the affected creature or object invisible to any form of sight or seeing (as the invisibility spell).

Thus, sequester can mask a secret door, a treasure vault, or anything similar.

The spell does not prevent the subject from being discovered through tactile means or through the use of devices (such as a robe of eyes or a gem of seeing).

Creatures affected by sequester become comatose and are effectively in a state of suspended animation until the spell wears off or is dispelled.

Note: The Will save prevents an attended or magical object from being sequestered.

There is no save to see the sequestered creature or object or to detect it with a divination spell.

Material Component: A basilisk eyelash, gum arabic, and a dram of whitewash.

SHIELD OF FAITH

Abjuration

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell creates a shimmering, magical field around the touched creature that averts attacks.

The spell grants the subject a +2 deflection bonus to AC, with an additional +1 to the bonus for every six levels you have (maximum +5 deflection bonus at 18th level).

Material Component: A small parchment with a bit of holy text written upon it.

SHIELD OF LAW

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Clr 8, Law 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A dim, blue glow surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by chaotic creatures, and slowing chaotic creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects.

First, each warded creature gains a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus on saves.

Unlike protection from chaos, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by chaotic creatures.

Second, a warded creature gains spell resistance 25 against chaotic spells and spells cast by chaotic creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from chaos does.

Finally, if a chaotic creature succeeds on a melee attack against a warded creature, the attacker is slowed (Will save negates, as the slow spell, but against shield of law's save DC).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a scrap of parchment from a lawful text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

SHIELD OTHER

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Pal 2, Protection 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell wards the subject and creates a mystic connection between you and the subject so that some of its wounds are transferred to you.

The subject gains a +1 deflection bonus to AC and a +1 resistance bonus on saves.

Additionally, the subject takes only half damage from all wounds and attacks (including that dealt by special abilities) that deal hit point damage.

The amount of damage not taken by the warded creature is taken by you.

Forms of harm that do not involve hit points, such as charm effects, temporary ability damage, level draining, and death effects, are not affected.

If the subject suffers a reduction of hit points from a lowered Constitution score, the reduction is not split with you because it is not hit point damage.

When the spell ends, subsequent damage is no longer divided between the subject and you, but damage already split is not reassigned to the subject.

If you and the subject of the spell move out of range of each other, the spell ends.

Focus: A pair of platinum rings (worth at least 50 gp each) worn by both you and the warded creature.

SHIELD

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Shield creates an invisible, tower shield-sized mobile disk of force that hovers in front of you.

It negates magic missile attacks directed at you.

The disk also provides a +4 shield bonus to AC.

This bonus applies against incorporeal touch attacks, since it is a force effect.

The shield has no armor check penalty or arcane spell failure chance.

Unlike with a normal tower shield, you can't use the shield spell for cover.

SPELL IMMUNITY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 4, Protection 4, Strength 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature is immune to the effects of one specified spell for every four levels you have.

The spells must be of 4th level or lower.

The warded creature effectively has unbeatable spell resistance regarding the specified spell or spells.

Naturally, that immunity doesn't protect a creature from spells for which spell resistance doesn't apply.

Spell immunity protects against spells, spell-like effects of magic items, and innate spell-like abilities of creatures.

It does not protect against supernatural or extraordinary abilities, such as breath weapons or gaze attacks. Only a particular spell can be protected against, not a certain domain or school of spells or a group of spells that are similar in effect.

Thus, a creature given immunity to lightning bolt is still vulnerable to shocking grasp or chain lightning.

A creature can have only one spell immunity or greater spell immunity spell in effect on it at a time.

SPELL IMMUNITY, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Clr 8

This spell functions like spell immunity, except the immunity applies to spells of 8th level or lower.

A creature can have only one spell immunity or greater spell immunity spell in effect on it at a time.

SPELL RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Clr 5, Magic 5, Protection 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The creature gains spell resistance equal to 12 + your caster level.

SPELL TURNING

Abjuration

Level: Luck 7, Magic 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Until expended or 10 min./level

Spells and spell-like effects targeted on you are turned back upon the original caster.

The abjuration turns only spells that have you as a target.

Effect and area spells are not affected.

Spell turning also fails to stop touch range spells.

Thus, a charm person spell cast at you could be turned back upon the caster and possibly enable you to use the charm effect on that individual, but a fireball could not be turned back, and neither could inflict critical wounds.

From seven to ten (1d4+6) spell levels are affected by the turning.

The DM secretly rolls the exact number.

When a spell is turned, the DM subtracts its level from the amount of spell turning left.

When you are targeted by a spell of higher level than the amount of spell turning you have left, that spell is partially turned.

The subtract the amount of spell turning left from the spell level of the incoming spell, then divide the result by the spell level of the incoming spell to see what fraction of the effect gets through.

For damaging spells, you and the caster each take a fraction of the damage.

For nondamaging spells, each of you has a proportional chance to be affected.

For example, if you had three levels of spell turning left and were targeted by a magic missile spell heightened to 4th level, you would turn three-fourths of the spell back at the caster.

You would take one-fourth of the damage, while the caster takes three-fourths of the damage.

If you were targeted by a wizard's fear spell (also a 4th-level spell) in the same situation, you would have a one in four (25%) chance to be affected by the spell, while the caster would have a three in four (75%) chance to be affected.

If you and a spellcasting attacker are both warded by spell turning effects in operation, a resonating field is created. Roll randomly to determine the result.

d%	Effect
01–70	Spell drains away without effect.
71–80	Spell affects both of you equally at full effect.
81–97	Both turning effects are rendered nonfunctional for 1d4 minutes.
98–100	Both of you go through a rift into another plane.

Arcane Material Component: A small silver mirror.

STONESKIN

Abjuration

Level: Drd 5, Earth 6, Sor/Wiz 4, Strength 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains resistance to blows, cuts, stabs, and slashes.

The subject gains damage reduction 10/adamantine.

(It ignores the first 10 points of damage each time it takes damage from a weapon, though an adamantine weapon bypasses the reduction).

Once the spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 150 points), it is discharged.

Material Component: Granite and 250 gp worth of diamond dust sprinkled on the target's skin.

UNDETECTABLE ALIGNMENT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1, Clr 2, Pal 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

An undetectable alignment spell conceals the alignment of an object or a creature from all forms of divination.

UNHOLY AURA

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Clr 8, Evil 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A malevolent darkness surrounds the subjects, protecting them from attacks, granting them resistance to spells cast by good creatures, and weakening good creatures when they strike the subjects.

This abjuration has four effects.

First, each warded creature gains a +4 deflection bonus to AC and a +4 resistance bonus on saves.

Unlike the effect of protection from good, this benefit applies against all attacks, not just against attacks by good creatures. Second, a warded creature gains spell resistance 25 against good spells and spells cast by good creatures.

Third, the abjuration blocks possession and mental influence, just as protection from good does.

Finally, if a good creature succeeds on a melee attack against a warded creature, the offending attacker takes 1d6 points of temporary Strength damage (Fortitude negates).

Focus: A tiny reliquary containing some sacred relic, such as a piece of parchment from an unholy text.

The reliquary costs at least 500 gp.

CONJURATIONACID FOG

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6, Water 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Acid fog creates a billowing mass of misty vapors similar to that produced by a solid fog spell (page 281).

In addition to slowing creatures down and obscuring sight, this spell's vapors are highly acidic.

Each round on your turn, starting when you cast the spell, the fog deals 2d6 points of acid damage to each creature and object within it.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of dried, powdered peas combined with powdered animal hoof.

ACID SPLASH

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One missile of acid

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You fire a small orb of acid at the target.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

The orb deals 1d3 points of acid damage.

CLOUDKILL

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell generates a bank of fog, similar to a fog cloud, except that its vapors are yellowish green and poisonous. These vapors automatically kill any living creature with 3 or fewer HD (no save).

A living creature with 4 to 6 HD is slain unless it succeeds on a Fortitude save (in which case it takes 1d4 points of Constitution damage on your turn each round while in the cloud).

A living creature with 6 or more HD takes 1d4 points of Constitution damage on your turn each round while in the cloud (a successful Fortitude save halves this damage).

Holding one's breath doesn't help, but creatures immune to poison are unaffected by the spell.

Unlike a fog cloud, the cloudkill moves away from you at 10 feet per round, rolling along the surface of the ground.

Figure out the cloud's new spread each round based on its new point of origin, which is 10 feet farther away from the point of origin where you cast the spell.

Because the vapors are heavier than air, they sink to the lowest level of the land, even pouring down den or sinkhole openings; thus, the spell is ideal for slaying hives of giant ants, for example.

It cannot penetrate liquids, nor can it be cast underwater.

CREATE FOOD AND WATER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Food and water to sustain three humans or one horse/level for 24 hours

Duration: 24 hours; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The food that this spell creates is simple fare of your choice—highly nourishing, if rather bland.

Food so created decays and becomes inedible within 24 hours, although it can be kept fresh for another 24 hours by casting a purify food and water spell on it. The water created by this spell is just like clean rain water, and it doesn't go bad as the food does.

CREATE WATER

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Up to 2 gallons of water/level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell generates wholesome, drinkable water, just like clean rain water.

Water can be created in an area as small as will actually contain the liquid, or in an area three times as large—possibly creating a downpour or filling many small receptacles.

Note: Conjuration spells can't create substances or objects within a creature.

Water weighs about 8 pounds per gallon.

One cubic foot of water contains roughly 8 gallons and weighs about 60 pounds.

CREEPING DOOM

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Drd 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)/100 ft.; see text

Effect: One swarm of centipedes per two levels

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When you utter the spell of creeping doom, you call forth a mass of centipede swarms (one per two caster levels, to a maximum of ten swarms at 20th level), which need not appear adjacent to one another.

(See the Monster Manual for details on centipede swarms).

You may summon the centipede swarms so that they share the area of other creatures.

The swarms remain stationary, attacking any creatures in their area, unless you command the creeping doom to move (a standard action).

As a standard action, you can command any number of the swarms to move toward any prey within 100 feet of you.

You cannot command any swarm to move more than 100 feet away from you, and if you move more than 100 feet from any swarm, that swarm remains stationary, attacking any creatures in its area (but it can be commanded again if you move within 100 feet).

CURE CRITICAL WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 5, Healing 4

This spell functions like cure light wounds, except that it cures 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

CURE CRITICAL WOUNDS, MASS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 8, Drd 9, Healing 8

This spell functions like mass cure light wounds, except that it cures 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +40).

CURE LIGHT WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Drd 1, Healing 1, Pal 1, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless); see text

When laying your hand upon a living creature, you channel positive energy that cures 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +5).

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell deals damage to them instead of curing their wounds.

An undead creature can apply spell resistance, and can attempt a Will save to take half damage.

CURE LIGHT WOUNDS, MASS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 5, Clr 5, Drd 6, Healing 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless) or Will half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless) or Yes; see text

You channel positive energy to cure 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +25) in each selected creature.

Like other cure spells, mass cure light wounds deals damage to undead in its area rather than curing them.

Each affected undead may attempt a Will save for half damage.

CURE MINOR WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

This spell functions like cure light wounds, except that it cures only 1 point of damage.

CURE MODERATE WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Drd 3, Healing 2, Pal 3, Rgr 3

CURE SERIOUS WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 4, Pal 4, Rgr 4, Healing 3

This spell functions like cure light wounds, except that it cures 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15).

CURE SERIOUS WOUNDS, MASS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7, Drd 8

This spell functions like mass cure light wounds, except that it cures 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +35).

DELAY POISON

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 2, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject becomes temporarily immune to poison.

Any poison in its system or any poison to which it is exposed during the spell's duration does not affect the subject until the spell's duration has expired.

Delay poison does not cure any damage that poison may have already done.

DIMENSION DOOR

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4, Travel 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

You instantly transfer yourself from your current location to any other spot within range.

You always arrive at exactly the spot desired—whether by simply visualizing the area or by stating direction, such as “900 feet straight downward”, or “upward to the northwest, 45-degree angle, 1,200 feet”.

After using this spell, you can't take any other actions until your next turn.

You can bring along objects as long as their weight doesn't exceed your maximum load.

You may also bring one additional willing Medium or smaller creature (carrying gear or objects up to its maximum load) or its equivalent per three caster levels.

A Large creature counts as two Medium creatures, a Huge creature counts as two Large creatures, and so forth.

All creatures to be transported must be in contact with one another, and at least one of those creatures must be in contact with you.

If you arrive in a place that is already occupied by a solid body, you and each creature traveling with you take 1d6 points of damage and are shunted to a random open space on a suitable surface within 100 feet of the intended location.

If there is no free space within 100 feet, you and each creature traveling with you take an additional 2d6 points of damage and are shunted to a free space within 1,000 feet.

If there is no free space within 1,000 feet, you and each creature travelling with you take an additional 4d6 points of damage and the spell simply fails.

DRAWMIJ'S INSTANT SUMMONS

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target: One object weighing 10 lb. or less whose longest dimension is 6 ft. or less

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call some nonliving item from virtually any location directly to your hand.

First, you must place your arcane mark (page 201) on the item.

Then you cast this spell, which magically and invisibly inscribes the name of the item on a sapphire worth at least 1,000 gp.

Thereafter, you can summon the item by speaking a special word (set by you when the spell is cast) and crushing the gem.

The item appears instantly in your hand.

Only you can use the gem in this way.

If the item is in the possession of another creature, the spell does not work, but you know who the possessor is and roughly where that creature is located when the summons occurs.

The inscription on the gem is invisible.

It is also unreadable, except by means of a read magic spell, to anyone but you.

The item can be summoned from another plane, but only if no other creature has claimed ownership of it.

Material Component: A sapphire worth at least 1,000 gp.

ELEMENTAL SWARM

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Air 9, Drd 9, Earth 9, Fire 9, Water 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell opens a portal to an Elemental Plane and summons elementals from it.

A druid can choose the plane (Air, Earth, Fire, or Water); a cleric opens a portal to the plane matching his domain.

When the spell is complete, 2d4 Large elementals appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 Huge elementals appear.

Ten minutes after that, one greater elemental appears.

Each elemental has maximum hit points per HD.

Once these creatures appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

The elementals obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them.

You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the elementals.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

When you use a summoning spell to summon an air, earth, fire, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, elemental swarm is a fire spell when you cast it to summon fire elementals and a water spell when you use it to summon water elementals.

EVARD'S BLACK TENTACLES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell conjures a field of rubbery black tentacles, each 10 feet long.

These waving members seem to spring forth from the earth, floor, or whatever surface is underfoot—including water.

They grasp and entwine around creatures that enter the area, holding them fast and crushing them with great strength.

Every creature within the area of the spell must make a grapple check, opposed by the grapple check of the tentacles.

Treat the tentacles attacking a particular target as a Large creature with a base attack bonus equal to your caster level and a Strength score of 19.

Thus, its grapple check modifier is equal to your caster level +8.

The tentacles are immune to all types of damage.

Once the tentacles grapple an opponent, they may make a grapple check each round on your turn to deal 1d6+4 points of bludgeoning damage.

The tentacles continue to crush the opponent until the spell ends or the opponent escapes.

Any creature that enters the area of the spell is immediately attacked by the tentacles.

Even creatures who aren't grappling with the tentacles may move through the area at only half normal speed.

Material Component: A piece of tentacle from a giant octopus or a giant squid.

FIRE SEEDS

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Drd 6, Fire 6, Sun 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to four touched acorns or up to eight touched holly berries

Duration: 10 min./level or until used

Saving Throw: None or Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version of fire seeds you choose, you turn acorns into splash weapons that you or another character can throw, or you turn holly berries into bombs that you can detonate on command.

Acorn Grenades: As many as four acorns turn into special splash weapons that can be hurled as far as 100 feet.

A ranged touch attack roll is required to strike the intended target.

Together, the acorns are capable of dealing 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), divided up among the acorns as you wish.

For example, a 20th-level druid could create one 20d6 missile, two 10d6 missiles, one 11d6 and three 3d6 missiles, or any other combination totalling up to four acorns and 20d6 points of damage.

Each acorn explodes upon striking any hard surface.

In addition to its regular fire damage, it deals 1 point of splash damage per die, and it ignites any combustible materials within 10 feet.

A creature within this area that makes a successful Reflex saving throw takes only half damage; a creature struck directly is not allowed a saving throw.

Holly Berry Bombs: You turn as many as eight holly berries into special bombs.

The holly berries are usually placed by hand, since they are too light to make effective thrown weapons (they can be tossed only 5 feet).

If you are within 200 feet and speak a word of command, each berry instantly bursts into flame, causing 1d8 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level to every creature in a 5-foot-radius burst and igniting any combustible materials within 5 feet.

A creature in the area that makes a successful Reflex saving throw takes only half damage.

Material Component: The acorns or holly berries.

FOG CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2, Water 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft. level)

Effect: Fog spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A bank of fog billows out from the point you designate.

The fog obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker can't use sight to locate the target). A moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses the fog in 4 rounds; a strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the fog in 1 round. The spell does not function underwater.

GATE

Conjuration (Creation or Calling)

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, XP; see text

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: See text

Duration: Instantaneous or concentration (up to 1 round/level); see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Casting a gate spell has two effects.

First, it creates an interdimensional connection between your plane of existence and a plane you specify, allowing travel between those two planes in either direction. Second, you may then call a particular individual or kind of being through the gate.

The gate itself is a circular hoop or disk from 5 to 20 feet in diameter (caster's choice), oriented in the direction you desire when it comes into existence (typically vertical and facing you).

It is a two-dimensional window looking into the plane you specified when casting the spell, and anyone or anything that moves through is shunted instantly to the other side.

A gate has a front and a back.

Creatures moving through the gate from the front are transported to the other plane; creatures moving through it from the back are not.

Planar Travel: As a mode of planar travel, a gate spell functions much like a plane shift spell, except that the gate opens precisely at the point you desire (a creation effect). Deities and other beings who rule a planar realm can prevent a gate from opening in their presence or personal demesnes if they so desire.

Travelers need not join hands with you—anyone who chooses to step through the portal is transported.

A gate cannot be opened to another point on the same plane; the spell works only for interplanar travel.

You could position a gate in a hallway in order to absorb any attack or force coming at you by shunting it to another plane.

Whether the denizens of that plane appreciate this tactic is, of course, another matter.

You may hold the gate open only for a brief time (no more than 1 round per caster level), and you must concentrate on doing so, or else the interplanar connection is severed.

Calling Creatures: The second effect of the gate spell is to call an extraplanar creature to your aid (a calling effect).

By naming a particular being or kind of being as you cast the spell, you cause the gate to open in the immediate vicinity of the desired creature and pull the subject through, willing or unwilling.

Deities and unique beings are under no compulsion to come through the gate, although they may choose to do so of their own accord.

This use of the spell creates a gate that remains open just long enough to transport the called creatures.

This use of the spell has an XP cost (see below).

If you choose to call a kind of creature instead of a known individual—for instance, a bearded devil or a ghaele eladrin—you may call either a single creature (of any HD) or several creatures.

You can call and control several creatures as long as their HD total does not exceed your caster level.

In the case of a single creature, you can control it if its HD do not exceed twice your caster level.

A single creature with more HD than twice your caster level can't be controlled.

Deities and unique beings cannot be controlled in any event.

An uncontrolled being acts as it pleases, making the calling of such creatures rather dangerous.

An uncontrolled being may return to its home plane at any time.

A controlled creature can be commanded to perform a service for you.

Such services fall into two categories: immediate tasks and contractual service.

Fighting for you in a single battle or taking any other actions that can be accomplished within 1 round per caster level counts as an immediate task; you need not make any agreement or pay any reward for the creature's help.

The creature departs at the end of the spell.

If you choose to exact a longer or more involved form of service from a called creature, you must offer some fair trade in return for that service.

The service exacted must be reasonable with respect to the promised favor or reward; see the lesser planar ally spell for appropriate rewards.

(Some creatures may want their payment in "livestock" rather than in coin, which could involve complications). Immediately upon completion of the service, the being is transported to your vicinity, and you must then and there turn over the promised reward.

After this is done, the creature is instantly freed to return to its own plane.

Failure to fulfill the promise to the letter results in your being subjected to service by the creature or by its liege and master, at the very least.

At worst, the creature or its kin may attack you.

Note: When you use a calling spell such as gate to call an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it becomes a spell of that type.

For example, gate is a chaotic and evil spell when you cast it to call a demon.

XP Cost: 1,000 XP (only for the calling creatures function).

GLITTERDUST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Creatures and objects within 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (blinding only)

Spell Resistance: No

A cloud of golden particles covers everyone and everything in the area, causing creatures to become blinded and visibly outlining invisible things for the duration of the spell.

All within the area are covered by the dust, which cannot be removed and continues to sparkle until it fades. Any creature covered by the dust takes a –40 penalty on Hide checks.
Material Component: Ground mica.

GREASE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Area: One object or a 10-ft. square

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

A grease spell covers a solid surface with a layer of slippery grease.

Any creature in the area when the spell is cast must make a successful Reflex save or fall.

This save is repeated on your turn each round that the creature remains within the area.

A creature can walk within or through the area of grease at half normal speed with a DC 10 Balance check.

Failure means it can't move that round (and must then make a Reflex save or fall), while failure by 5 or more means it falls (see the Balance skill for details).

The DM should adjust saving throws by circumstance.

For example, a creature charging down an incline that is suddenly greased has little chance to avoid the effect, but its ability to exit the affected area is almost assured (whether it wants to or not).

The spell can also be used to create a greasy coating on an item—a rope, ladder rungs, or a weapon handle, for instance.

Material objects not in use are always affected by this spell, while an object wielded or employed by a creature receives a Reflex saving throw to avoid the effect.

If the initial saving throw fails, the creature immediately drops the item.

A saving throw must be made in each round that the creature attempts to pick up or use the greased item.

A creature wearing greased armor or clothing gains a +10 circumstance bonus on Escape Artist checks and on grapple checks made to resist or escape a grapple or to escape a pin.

Material Component: A bit of pork rind or butter.

Greater (Spell Name) Any spell whose name begins with greater is alphabetized in this chapter according to the second word of the spell name.

Thus, the description of a greater spell appears near the description of the spell on which it is based.

Spell chains that have greater spells in them include those based on the spells arcane sight, command, dispel magic, glyph of warding, invisibility, magic fang, magic weapon, planar ally, planar binding, prying eyes, restoration, scrying, shadow conjuration, shadow evocation, shout, and teleport.

HEAL MOUNT

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Pal 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Your mount touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell functions like heal, but it affects only the paladin's special mount (typically a warhorse).

HEAL

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 6, Drd 7, Healing 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Heal enables you to channel positive energy into a creature to wipe away injury and afflictions.

It immediately ends any and all of the following adverse conditions affecting the Target: ability damage, blinded, confused, dazed, dazzled, deafened, diseased, exhausted, fatigued, feebleminded, insanity, nauseated, sickened, stunned, and poisoned.

It also cures 10 hit points of damage per level of the caster, to a maximum of 150 points at 15th level.

Heal does not remove negative levels, restore permanently drained levels, or restore permanently drained ability score points.

If used against an undead creature, heal instead acts like harm.

HEAL, MASS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 9, Healing 9

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like heal, except as noted above.

The maximum number of hit points restored to each creature is 250.

HEROES' FEAST

Conjuration [Creation]

Level: Brd 6, Clr 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Feast for one creature/level

Duration: 1 hour plus 12 hours; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You bring forth a great feast, including a magnificent table, chairs, service, and food and drink.

The feast takes 1 hour to consume, and the beneficial effects do not set in until this hour is over.

Every creature partaking of the feast is cured of all diseases, sickness, and nausea; becomes immune to poison for 12 hours; and gains 1d8 temporary hit points +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10) after imbibing the nectar-like beverage that is part of the feast.

The ambrosial food that is consumed grants each creature that partakes a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls and Will saves and immunity to fear effects for 12 hours.

If the feast is interrupted for any reason, the spell is ruined and all effects of the spell are negated.

INCENDIARY CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Fire 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

An incendiary cloud spell creates a cloud of roiling smoke shot through with white-hot embers.

The smoke obscures all sight as a fog cloud does.

In addition, the white-hot embers within the cloud deal 4d6 points of fire damage to everything within the cloud on your turn each round.

All targets can make Reflex saves each round to take half damage.

As with a cloudkill spell, the smoke moves away from you at 10 feet per round.

Figure out the smoke's new spread each round based on its new point of origin, which is 10 feet farther away from where you were when you cast the spell.

By concentrating, you can make the cloud (actually its point of origin) move as much as 60 feet each round.

Any portion of the cloud that would extend beyond your maximum range dissipates harmlessly, reducing the remainder's spread thereafter.

As with fog cloud, wind disperses the smoke, and the spell can't be cast underwater.

INSECT PLAGUE

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: One swarm of locusts per three levels, each of which must be adjacent to at least one other swarm

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You summon a number of swarms of locusts (one per three levels, to a maximum of six swarms at 18th level).

The swarms must be summoned so that each one is adjacent to at least one other swarm (that is, the swarms must fill one contiguous area).

You may summon the locust swarms so that they share the area of other creatures.

Each swarm attacks any creatures occupying its area.

The swarms are stationary after being summoned, and won't pursue creatures that flee.

See the Monster Manual for details on locust swarms.

LEOMUND'S SECRET CHEST

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: See text

Target: One chest and up to 1 cu. ft. of goods/caster level

Duration: Sixty days or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You hide a chest on the Ethereal Plane for as long as sixty days and can retrieve it at will.

The chest can contain up to 1 cubic foot of material per caster level (regardless of the chest's actual size, which is about 3 feet by 2 feet by 2 feet).

If any living creatures are in the chest, there is a 75% chance that the spell simply fails.

Once the chest is hidden, you can retrieve it by concentrating (a standard action), and it appears next to you.

The chest must be exceptionally well crafted and expensive, constructed for you by master crafters.

If made principally of wood, it must be ebony, rosewood, sandalwood, teak, or the like, and all of its corner fittings, nails, and hardware must be platinum.

If constructed of ivory, the metal fittings of the chest must be gold.

If the chest is fashioned from bronze, copper, or silver, its fittings must be silver or electrum (a valuable metal).

The cost of such a chest is never less than 5,000 gp.

Once it is constructed, you must make a tiny replica (of the same materials and perfect in every detail), so that the miniature of the chest appears to be a perfect copy.

(The replica costs 50 gp).

You can have but one pair of these chests at any given time—even a wish spell does not allow more.

The chests are nonmagical and can be fitted with locks, wards, and so on, just as any normal chest can be.

To hide the chest, you cast the spell while touching both the chest and the replica.

The chest vanishes into the Ethereal Plane.

You need the replica to recall the chest.

After sixty days, there is a cumulative chance of 5% per day that the chest is irretrievably lost.

If the miniature of the chest is lost or destroyed, there is no way, not even with a wish spell, that the large chest can be summoned back, although an extraplanar expedition might be mounted to find it.

Living things in the chest eat, sleep, and age normally, and they die if they run out of food, air, water, or whatever they need to survive.

Focus: The chest and its replica.

LEOMUND'S SECURE SHELTER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M, F; see text

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 20-ft.-square structure

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a sturdy cottage or lodge made of material that is common in the area where the spell is cast—stone, timber, or (at worst) sod.

The floor is level, clean, and dry.

In all respects the lodging resembles a normal cottage, with a sturdy door, two shuttered windows, and a small fireplace. The shelter has no heating or cooling source (other than natural insulation qualities).

Therefore, it must be heated as a normal dwelling, and extreme heat adversely affects it and its occupants.

The dwelling does, however, provide considerable security otherwise—it is as strong as a normal stone building, regardless of its material composition.

The dwelling resists flames and fire as if it were stone.

It is impervious to normal missiles (but not the sort cast by siege engines or giants).

The door, shutters, and even chimney are secure against intrusion, the former two being arcane locked and the latter secured by an iron grate at the top and a narrow flue.

In addition, these three areas are protected by an alarm spell.

Finally, an unseen servant is conjured to provide service to you for the duration of the shelter.

The secure shelter contains rude furnishings—eight bunks, a trestle table, eight stools, and a writing desk.

Material Component: A square chip of stone, crushed lime, a few grains of sand, a sprinkling of water, and several splinters of wood.

These must be augmented by the components of the unseen servant spell (string and a bit of wood) if this benefit is to be included.

Focus: The focus of the alarm spell (silver wire and a tiny bell) if this benefit is to be included.

MAGE ARMOR

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

An invisible but tangible field of force surrounds the subject of a mage armor spell, providing a +4 armor bonus to AC.

Unlike mundane armor, mage armor entails no armor check penalty, arcane spell failure chance, or speed reduction.

Since mage armor is made of force, incorporeal creatures can't bypass it the way they do normal armor.

Focus: A piece of cured leather.

MAJOR CREATION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Duration: See text

This spell functions like minor creation, except that you can also create an object of mineral nature: stone, crystal, metal, or the like.

The duration of the created item varies with its relative hardness and rarity, as indicated on the following table.

Hardness and

Rarity Examples

Duration

Vegetable matter	2 hr./level
Stone, crystal, base metals	1 hr./level
Precious metals	20 min./level
Gems	10 min./level
Rare metal ¹	1 round/level

¹ Includes adamantite, alchemical silver, and mithral. You can't use major creation to create a cold iron item. See the Dungeon Master's Guide for details.

MAZE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You banish the subject into an extradimensional labyrinth of force planes.

Each round on its turn, it may attempt a DC 20 Intelligence check to escape the labyrinth as a full-round action.

If the subject doesn't escape, the maze disappears after 10 minutes, forcing the subject to leave.

On escaping or leaving the maze, the subject reappears where it had been when the maze spell was cast.

If this location is filled with a solid object, the subject appears in the nearest open space.

Spells and abilities that move a creature within a plane, such as teleport and dimension door, do not help a creature escape a maze spell, although a plane shift spell allows it to exit to whatever plane is designated in that spell.

Minotaurs are not affected by this spell.

MELF'S ACID ARROW

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: One arrow of acid

Duration: 1 round + 1 round per three levels

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A magical arrow of acid springs from your hand and speeds to its target.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to hit your target.
The arrow deals 2d4 points of acid damage with no splash damage.
For every three caster levels (to a maximum of 18th), the acid, unless somehow neutralized, lasts for another round, dealing another 2d4 points of damage in that round.
Material Component: Powdered rhubarb leaf and an adder's stomach.
Focus: A dart.

MINOR CREATION

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Sor/Wiz 4
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 minute
Range: 0 ft.
Effect: Unattended, nonmagical object of nonliving plant matter, up to 1 cu. ft./level
Duration: 1 hour/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You create a nonmagical, unattended object of nonliving, vegetable matter—linen clothes, a hemp rope, a wooden ladder, and so forth.
The volume of the item created cannot exceed 1 cubic foot per caster level.
You must succeed on an appropriate skill check to make a complex item, such as Craft (bowmaking) check to make straight arrow shafts.
Attempting to use any created object as a material component causes the spell to fail.
Material Component: A tiny piece of matter of the same sort of item you plan to create with minor creation—a bit of twisted hemp to create rope, and so forth.

MORDENKAINEN'S FAITHFUL HOUND

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Phantom watchdog
Duration: 1 hour/caster level or until discharged, then 1 round/caster level; see text
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You conjure up a phantom watchdog that is invisible to everyone but yourself.
It then guards the area where it was conjured (it does not move).
The hound immediately starts barking loudly if any Small or larger creature approaches within 30 feet of it. (Those within 30 feet of the hound when it is conjured may move about in the area, but if they leave and return, they activate the barking).
The hound sees invisible and ethereal creatures.
It does not react to figments, but it does react to shadow illusions.
If an intruder approaches to within 5 feet of the hound, the dog stops barking and delivers a vicious bite (+10 attack bonus, 2d6+3 points of piercing damage) once per round.

The dog also gets the bonuses appropriate to an invisible creature.
The dog is considered ready to bite intruders, so it delivers its first bite on the intruder's turn.
Its bite is the equivalent of a magic weapon for the purpose of damage reduction.
The hound cannot be attacked, but it can be dispelled.
The spell lasts for 1 hour per caster level, but once the hound begins barking, it lasts only 1 round per caster level.
If you are ever more than 100 feet distant from the hound, the spell ends.
Material Component: A tiny silver whistle, a piece of bone, and a thread.

MORDENKAINEN'S MAGNIFICENT MANSION

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Sor/Wiz 7
Components: V, S, F
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Extradimensional mansion, up to three 10-ft. cubes/level (S)
Duration: 2 hours/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You conjure up an extradimensional dwelling that has a single entrance on the plane from which the spell was cast. The entry point looks like a faint shimmering in the air that is 4 feet wide and 8 feet high.
Only those you designate may enter the mansion, and the portal is shut and made invisible behind you when you enter.
You may open it again from your own side at will.
Once observers have passed beyond the entrance, they are in a magnificent foyer with numerous chambers beyond. The atmosphere is clean, fresh, and warm.
You can create any floor plan you desire to the limit of the spell's effect.
The place is furnished and contains sufficient foodstuffs to serve a nine-course banquet to a dozen people per caster level.
A staff of near-transparent servants (as many as two per caster level), liveried and obedient, wait upon all who enter. The servants function as unseen servant spells except that they are visible and can go anywhere in the mansion.
Since the place can be entered only through its special portal, outside conditions do not affect the mansion, nor do conditions inside it pass to the plane beyond.
Focus: A miniature portal carved from ivory, a small piece of polished marble, and a tiny silver spoon (each item worth 5 gp).

MOUNT

Conjuration (Summoning)
Level: Sor/Wiz 1
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: One mount
Duration: 2 hours/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

You summon a light horse or a pony (your choice) to serve you as a mount.

The steed serves willingly and well.

The mount comes with a bit and bridle and a riding saddle.

Material Component: A bit of horse hair.

NEUTRALIZE POISON

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 4, Clr 4, Drd 3, Pal 4, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object of up to 1 cu. ft./level touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You detoxify any sort of venom in the creature or object touched.

A poisoned creature suffers no additional effects from the poison, and any temporary effects are ended, but the spell does not reverse instantaneous effects, such as hit point damage, temporary ability damage, or effects that don't go away on their own.

For example, if a poison has dealt 3 points of Constitution damage to a character and threatens to deal more damage later, this spell prevents the future damage but does not repair the damage already done.

The creature is immune to any poison it is exposed to during the duration of the spell.

Unlike with delay poison, such effects aren't postponed until after the duration—the creature need not make any saves against poison effects applied to it during the length of the spell.

This spell can instead neutralize the poison in a poisonous creature or object for the duration of the spell, at the caster's option.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of charcoal.

OBSCURING MIST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Air 1, Clr 1, Drd 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Water 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Effect: Cloud spreads in 20-ft. radius from you, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A misty vapor arises around you.

It is stationary once created.

The vapor obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature 5 feet away has concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

A moderate wind (11+ mph), such as from a gust of wind spell, disperses the fog in 4 rounds.

A strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the fog in 1 round.

A fireball, flame strike, or similar spell burns away the fog in the explosive or fiery spell's area.

A wall of fire burns away the fog in the area into which it deals damage.

This spell does not function underwater.

PHANTOM STEED

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One quasi-real, horselike creature

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a Large, quasi-real, horselike creature.

The steed can be ridden only by you or by the one person for whom you specifically created the mount.

A phantom steed has a black head and body, gray mane and tail, and smoke-colored, insubstantial hooves that make no sound.

It has what seems to be a saddle, bit, and bridle.

It does not fight, but animals shun it and refuse to attack it.

The mount has an AC of 18 (–1 size, +4 natural armor, +5 Dex) and 7 hit points +1 hit point per caster level.

If it loses all its hit points, the phantom steed disappears.

A phantom steed has a speed of 20 feet per caster level, to a maximum of 240 feet.

It can bear its rider's weight plus up to 10 pounds per caster level.

These mounts gain certain powers according to caster level. A mount's abilities include those of mounts of lower caster levels.

Thus, a mount created by a 12th-level caster has the 8th, 10th, and 12th caster level abilities.

8th Level: The mount can ride over sandy, muddy, or even swampy ground without difficulty or decrease in speed.

10th Level: The mount can use water walk at will (as the spell, no action required to activate this ability).

12th Level: The mount can use air walk at will (as the spell, no action required to activate this ability) for up to 1 round at a time, after which it falls to the ground.

14th Level: The mount can fly at its speed (average maneuverability).

PHASE DOOR

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Travel 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Ethereal 5 ft. by 8 ft. opening, 10 ft. deep + 5 ft. deep per three levels

Duration: One usage per two levels

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates an ethereal passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not other materials.

The phase door is invisible and inaccessible to all creatures except you, and only you can use the passage.

You disappear when you enter the phase door and appear when you exit.

If you desire, you can take one other creature (Medium or smaller) through the door.
This counts as two uses of the door.
The door does not allow light, sound, or spell effects through it, nor can you see through it without using it. Thus, the spell can provide an escape route, though certain creatures, such as phase spiders, can follow with ease. A gem of true seeing or similar magic reveals the presence of a phase door but does not allow its use.
A phase door is subject to dispel magic.
If anyone is within the passage when it is dispelled, he is harmlessly ejected just as if he were inside a passwall effect. You can allow other creatures to use the phase door by setting some triggering condition for the door.
Such conditions can be as simple or elaborate as you desire. They can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.
Intangibles such as level, class, Hit Dice, and hit points don't qualify.
Phase door can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

PLANAR ALLY

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar ally]

Level: Clr 6

Effect: One or two called elementals or outsiders, totaling no more than 12 HD, which cannot be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

This spell functions like lesser planar ally, except you may call a single creature of 12 HD or less, or two creatures of the same kind whose Hit Dice total no more than 12.

The creatures agree to help you and request your return payment together.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

PLANAR ALLY, GREATER

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar ally]

Level: Clr 8

Effect: Up to three called elementals or outsiders, totaling no more than 18 HD, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

This spell functions like lesser planar ally, except that you may call a single creature of 18 HD or less, or up to three creatures of the same kind whose Hit Dice total no more than 18.

The creatures agree to help you and request your return payment together.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

PLANAR ALLY, LESSER

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Clr 4

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One called elemental or outsider of 6 HD or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By casting this spell, you request your deity to send you an elemental or outsider (of 6 HD or less) of the deity's choice.

If you serve no particular deity, the spell is a general plea answered by a creature sharing your philosophical alignment.

If you know an individual creature's name, you may request that individual by speaking the name during the spell (though you might get a different creature anyway).

You may ask the creature to perform one task in exchange for a payment from you.

Tasks might range from the simple (fly us across the chasm, help us fight a battle) to the complex (spy on our enemies, protect us on our foray into the dungeon).

You must be able to communicate with the creature called in order to bargain for its services.

The creature called requires a payment for its services.

This payment can take a variety of forms, from donating gold or magic items to an allied temple, to a gift given directly to the creature, to some other action on your part that matches the creature's alignment and goals.

Regardless, this payment must be made before the creature agrees to perform any services.

The bargaining takes at least 1 round, so any actions by the creature begin in the round after it arrives.

A task taking up to 1 minute per caster level requires a payment of 100 gp per HD of the creature called.

For a task taking up to 1 hour per caster level, the creature requires a payment of 500 gp per HD.

A long-term task, one requiring up to one day per caster level, requires a payment of 1,000 gp per HD.

A nonhazardous task requires only half the indicated payment, while an especially hazardous task might require a greater gift.

Few if any creatures will accept a task that seems suicidal (remember, a called creature actually dies when it is killed, unlike a summoned creature).

However, if the task is strongly aligned with the creature's ethos, the DM may halve or even waive the payment.

For instance, a celestial creature called to battle demons might require a gift of only half the normal value.

At the end of its task, or when the duration bargained for expires, the creature returns to its home plane (after reporting back to you, if appropriate and possible).

Note: When you use a calling spell that calls an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, a lesser planar ally is a fire spell when it calls a fire elemental.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

PLANAR BINDING

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar binding]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Targets: Up to three elementals or outsiders, totaling no more than 12 HD, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

This spell functions like lesser planar binding, except that you may call a single creature of 12 HD or less, or up to three creatures of the same kind whose Hit Dice total no more than 12.

Each creature gets a save, makes an independent attempt to escape, and must be individually persuaded to aid you.

PLANAR BINDING, GREATER

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar binding]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Targets: Up to three elementals or outsiders, totaling no more than 18 HD, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart when they appear

This spell functions like lesser planar binding, except that you may call a single creature of 18 HD or less, or up to three creatures of the same kind whose Hit Dice total no more than 18.

Each creature gets a saving throw, makes independent attempts to escape, and must be persuaded to aid you individually.

PLANAR BINDING, LESSER

Conjuration (Calling) [see text]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels); see text

Target: One elemental or outsider with 6 HD or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No and Yes; see text

Casting this spell attempts a dangerous act: to lure a creature from another plane to a specifically prepared trap, which must lie within the spell's range.

The called creature is held in the trap until it agrees to perform one service in return for its freedom.

To create the trap, you must use a magic circle spell, focused inward.

The kind of creature to be bound must be known and stated.

If you wish to call a specific individual, you must use that individual's proper name in casting the spell.

The target creature is allowed a Will saving throw.

If the saving throw succeeds, the creature resists the spell.

If the saving throw fails, the creature is immediately drawn to the trap (spell resistance does not keep it from being called).

The creature can escape from the trap with by successfully pitting its spell resistance against your caster level check, by dimensional travel, or with a successful Charisma check (DC 15 + 1/2 your caster level + your Cha modifier).

It can try each method once per day.

If it breaks loose, it can flee or attack you.

A dimensional anchor cast on the creature prevents its escape via dimensional travel.

You can also employ a calling diagram (see magic circle against evil, page 246) to make the trap more secure.

If the creature does not break free of the trap, you can keep it bound for as long as you dare.

You can attempt to compel the creature to perform a service by describing the service and perhaps offering some sort of reward.

You make a Charisma check opposed by the creature's Charisma check.

The DM assigns your check a bonus of +0 to +6 based on the nature of the service and the reward.

If the creature wins the opposed check, it refuses service.

New offers, bribes, and the like can be made or the old ones reoffered every 24 hours.

This process can be repeated until the creature promises to serve, until it breaks free, or until you decide to get rid of it by means of some other spell.

Impossible demands or unreasonable commands are never agreed to.

If you roll a 1 on the Charisma check, the creature breaks free of the binding and can escape or attack you.

Once the requested service is completed, the creature need only so inform you to be instantly sent back whence it came.

The creature might later seek revenge.

If you assign some open-ended task that the creature cannot complete though its own actions (such as "Wait here" or "Defend this area against attack"), the spell remains in effect for a maximum of one day per caster level, and the creature gains an immediate chance to break free.

Note that a clever recipient can subvert some instructions. When you use a calling spell to call an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, lesser planar binding is a water spell when you cast it to call a water elemental.

PLANE SHIFT

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Clr 5, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched, or up to eight willing creatures joining hands

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You move yourself or some other creature to another plane of existence or alternate dimension.

If several willing persons link hands in a circle, as many as eight can be affected by the plane shift at the same time.

Precise accuracy as to a particular arrival location on the intended plane is nigh impossible.

From the Material Plane, you can reach any other plane, though you appear 5 to 500 miles (5d%) from your intended destination.

Note: Plane shift transports creatures instantaneously and then ends.

The creatures need to find other means if they are to travel back.

Focus: A small, forked metal rod.

The size and metal type dictates to which plane of existence or alternate dimension the spell sends the affected creatures.

Forked rods keyed to certain planes or dimensions may be difficult to come by, as decided by the DM.

RAISE DEAD

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Dead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You restore life to a deceased creature.

You can raise a creature that has been dead for no longer than one day per caster level.

In addition, the subject's soul must be free and willing to return (see Bringing Back the Dead, page 171).

If the subject's soul is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, a subject that wants to return receives no saving throw.

Coming back from the dead is an ordeal.

The subject of the spell loses one level (or 1 Hit Die) when it is raised, just as if it had lost a level or a Hit Die to an energy-draining creature.

If the subject is 1st level, it loses 2 points of Constitution instead (if this would reduce its Con to 0 or less, it can't be raised).

This level/HD loss or Constitution loss cannot be repaired by any means.

A character who died with spells prepared has a 50% chance of losing any given spell upon being raised, in addition to losing spells for losing a level.

A spellcasting creature that doesn't prepare spells (such as a sorcerer) has a 50% chance of losing any given unused spell slot as if it had been used to cast a spell, in addition to losing spell slots for losing a level.

A raised creature has a number of hit points equal to its current Hit Dice.

Any ability scores damaged to 0 are raised to 1.

Normal poison and normal disease are cured in the process of raising the subject, but magical diseases and curses are not undone.

While the spell closes mortal wounds and repairs lethal damage of most kinds, the body of the creature to be raised must be whole.

Otherwise, missing parts are still missing when the creature is brought back to life.

None of the dead creature's equipment or possessions are affected in any way by this spell.

A creature who has been turned into an undead creature or killed by a death effect can't be raised by this spell.

Constructs, elementals, outsiders, and undead creatures can't be raised.

The spell cannot bring back a creature that has died of old age.

Material Component: Diamonds worth a total of at least 5,000 gp.

REFUGE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Clr 7, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create powerful magic in some specially prepared object—a statuette, a jeweled rod, a gem, or the like.

This object contains the power to instantly transport its possessor across any distance within the same plane to your abode.

Once the item is transmuted, you must give it willingly to a creature and at the same time inform it of a command word to be spoken when the item is used.

To make use of the item, the subject speaks the command word at the same time that it rends or breaks the item (a standard action).

When this is done, the individual and all objects it is wearing and carrying (to a maximum of the character's heavy load) are instantly transported to your abode.

No other creatures are affected (aside from a familiar that is touching the subject).

You can alter the spell when casting it so that it transports you to within 10 feet of the possessor of the item when it is broken and the command word spoken.

You will have a general idea of the location and situation of the item possessor at the time the refuge spell is discharged, but once you decide to alter the spell in this fashion, you have no choice whether or not to be transported.

Material Component: The specially prepared object, whose construction requires gems worth 1,500 gp.

REGENERATE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7, Drd 9, Healing 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 3 full rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's severed body members (fingers, toes, hands, feet, arms, legs, tails, or even heads of multiheaded creatures), broken bones, and ruined organs grow back.

After the spell is cast, the physical regeneration is complete in 1 round if the severed members are present and touching the creature.

It takes 2d10 rounds otherwise.

Regenerate also cures 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +35), rids the subject of exhaustion and/or fatigue, and eliminates all nonlethal damage the subject has taken.

It has no effect on nonliving creatures (including undead).

REMOVE BLINDNESS/DEAFNESS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 3, Pal 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove blindness/deafness cures blindness or deafness (your choice), whether the effect is normal or magical in nature. The spell does not restore ears or eyes that have been lost, but it repairs them if they are damaged.

Remove blindness/deafness counters and dispels blindness/deafness.

REMOVE DISEASE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Remove disease cures all diseases that the subject is suffering from.

The spell also kills parasites, including green slime and others.

Certain special diseases may not be countered by this spell or may be countered only by a caster of a certain level or higher.

Note: Since the spell's duration is instantaneous, it does not prevent reinfection after a new exposure to the same disease at a later date.

REMOVE PARALYSIS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 2, Pal 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to four creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can free one or more creatures from the effects of any temporary paralysis or related magic, including a ghoul's touch or a slow spell.

If the spell is cast on one creature, the paralysis is negated.

If cast on two creatures, each receives another save with a +4 resistance bonus against the effect that afflicts it.

If cast on three or four creatures, each receives another save with a +2 resistance bonus.

The spell does not restore ability scores reduced by penalties, damage, or drain.

RESTORATION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 4, Pal 4

Components: V, S, M

This spell functions like lesser restoration, except that it also dispels negative levels and restores one experience level to a creature who has had a level drained.

The drained level is restored only if the time since the creature lost the level is equal to or less than one day per caster level.

Thus, if a 10th-level character has been struck by a wight and drained to 9th level, restoration brings the character up to exactly the minimum number of experience points necessary to restore him to 10th level (45,000 XP), gaining him an additional Hit Die and level functions accordingly.

Restoration cures all temporary ability damage, and it restores all points permanently drained from a single ability score (your choice if more than one is drained).

It also eliminates any fatigue or exhaustion suffered by the target.

Restoration does not restore levels or Constitution points lost due to death.

Material Component: Diamond dust worth 100 gp that is sprinkled over the target.

RESTORATION, GREATER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7

Components: V, S, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

This spell functions like lesser restoration, except that it dispels all negative levels afflicting the healed creature.

This effect also reverses level drains by a force or creature, restoring the creature to the highest level it had previously attained.

The drained levels are restored only if the time since the creature lost the level is no more than one week per caster level.

Greater restoration also dispels all magical effects penalizing the creature's abilities, cures all temporary ability damage, and restores all points permanently drained from all ability scores.

It also eliminates fatigue and exhaustion, and removes all forms of insanity, confusion, and similar mental effects.

Greater restoration does not restore levels or Constitution points lost due to death.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

RESTORATION, LESSER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Lesser restoration dispels any magical effects reducing one of the subject's ability scores (such as ray of enfeeblement) or cures 1d4 points of temporary ability damage to one of the subject's ability scores (such as from a shadow's touch or from poison).

It also eliminates any fatigue suffered by the character, and improves an exhausted condition to fatigued.

It does not restore permanent ability drain.

RESURRECTION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7

Casting Time: 10 minutes

This spell functions like raise dead, except that you are able to restore life and complete strength to any deceased creature.

The condition of the remains is not a factor.

So long as some small portion of the creature's body still exists, it can be resurrected, but the portion receiving the spell must have been part of the creature's body at the time of death.

(The remains of a creature hit by a disintegrate spell count as a small portion of its body).

The creature can have been dead no longer than 10 years per caster level.

Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no loss of prepared spells.

However, the subject loses one level, or 2 points of Constitution if the subject was 1st level.

(If this reduction would bring its Con to 0 or lower, it can't be resurrected).

This level loss or Constitution loss cannot be repaired by any means.

You can resurrect someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed.

You cannot resurrect someone who has died of old age.

Constructs, elementals, outsiders, and undead creatures can't be resurrected.

Material Component: A sprinkle of holy water and diamonds worth a total of at least 10,000 gp.

SEPIA SNAKE SIGIL

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One touched book or written work

Duration: Permanent or until discharged; until released or 1d4 days + one day/level; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

When you cast sepia snake sigil, a small symbol appears in the text of one written work such as a book, scroll, or map. The text containing the symbol must be at least twenty-five words long.

When anyone reads the text containing the symbol, the sepia snake springs into being and strikes the reader, provided there is line of effect between the symbol and the reader.

Simply seeing the enspelled text is not sufficient to trigger the spell; the subject must deliberately read it.

The target is entitled to a save to evade the snake's strike.

If it succeeds, the sepia snake dissipates in a flash of brown light accompanied by a puff of dun-colored smoke and a loud noise.

If the target fails its save, it is engulfed in a shimmering amber field of force and immobilized until released, either at your command or when 1d4 days + one day per caster level have elapsed.

While trapped in the amber field of force, the subject does not age, breathe, grow hungry, sleep, or regain spells.

It is preserved in a state of suspended animation, unaware of its surroundings.

It can be damaged by outside forces (and perhaps even killed), since the field provides no protection against physical injury.

However, a dying subject does not lose hit points or become stable until the spell ends.

The hidden sigil cannot be detected by normal observation, and detect magic reveals only that the entire text is magical.

A dispel magic can remove the sigil.

An erase spell destroys the entire page of text.

Sepia snake sigil can be cast in combination with other spells that hide or garble text, such as secret page.

Material Component: 500 gp worth of powdered amber, a scale from any snake, and a pinch of mushroom spores.

SHAMBLER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Drd 9, Plant 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Three or more shambling mounds, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart; see text

Duration: Seven days or seven months (D); see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The shambler spell creates 1d4+2 shambling mounds with 11 HD each.

(See the Monster Manual for details about shambling mounds).

The creatures willingly aid you in combat or battle, perform a specific mission, or serve as bodyguards.

The creatures remain with you for seven days unless you dismiss them.

If the shamblers are created only for guard duty, however, the duration of the spell is seven months.

In this case, the shamblers can only be ordered to guard a specific site or location.

Shamblers summoned to guard duty cannot move outside the spell's range, which is measured from the point where each first appeared.

The shamblers have resistance to fire as normal shambling mounds do only if the terrain is rainy, marshy, or damp.

SLEET STORM

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (40-ft. radius, 20 ft. high)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Driving sleet blocks all sight (even darkvision) within it and causes the ground in the area to be icy.

A creature can walk within or through the area of sleet at half normal speed with a DC 10 Balance check.

Failure means it can't move in that round, while failure by 5 or more means it falls (see the Balance skill for details).

The sleet extinguishes torches and small fires.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of dust and a few drops of water.

SOLID FOG

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Duration: 1 min./level

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions like fog cloud, but in addition to obscuring sight, the solid fog is so thick that any creature attempting to move through it progresses at a speed of 5 feet, regardless of its normal speed, and it takes a -2 penalty on all melee attack and melee damage rolls.

The vapors prevent effective ranged weapon attacks (except for magic rays and the like).

A creature or object that falls into solid fog is slowed, so that each 10 feet of vapor that it passes through reduces falling damage by 1d6.

A creature can't take a 5-foot step while in solid fog. However, unlike normal fog, only a severe wind (31+ mph) disperses these vapors, and it does so in 1 round.

Solid fog can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent solid fog dispersed by wind reforms in 10 minutes.

Material Component: A pinch of dried, powdered peas combined with powdered animal hoof.

STINKING CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Stinking cloud creates a bank of fog like that created by fog cloud, except that the vapors are nauseating.

Living creatures in the cloud become nauseated.

This condition lasts as long as the creature is in the cloud and for 1d4+1 rounds after it leaves.

(Roll separately for each nauseated character.)

Any creature that succeeds on its save but remains in the cloud must continue to save each round on your turn.

Stinking cloud can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent stinking cloud dispersed by wind reforms in 10 minutes.

Material Component: A rotten egg or several skunk cabbage leaves.

STORM OF VENGEANCE

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Drd 9, Clr 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: 360-ft.-radius storm cloud

Duration: Concentration (maximum 10 rounds) (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an enormous black storm cloud.

Lightning and crashing claps of thunder appear within the storm.

Each creature beneath the cloud must succeed on a

Fortitude save or be deafened for 1d4×10 minutes.

If you do not maintain concentration on the spell after casting it, the spell ends.

If you continue to concentrate, the spell generates additional effects in each following round, as noted below. Each effect occurs during your turn.

2nd Round: Acid rains down in the area, dealing 1d6 points of acid damage (no save).

3rd Round: You call six bolts of lightning down from the cloud.

You decide where the bolts strike.

No two bolts may be directed at the same target.

Each bolt deals 10d6 points of electricity damage.

A creature struck can attempt a Reflex save for half damage.

4th Round: Hailstones rain down in the area, dealing 5d6 points of bludgeoning damage (no save).

5th through 10th Rounds: Violent rain and wind gusts reduce visibility.

The rain obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature 5 feet away has concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker cannot use sight to locate the target).

Speed is reduced by three-quarters.

Ranged attacks within the area of the storm are impossible.

Spells cast within the area are disrupted unless the caster succeeds on a Concentration check against a DC equal to the storm of vengeance's save DC + the level of the spell the caster is trying to cast.

SUMMON INSTRUMENT

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Brd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One summoned handheld musical instrument

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons one handheld musical instrument of your choice.

This instrument appears in your hands or at your feet (your choice).

The instrument is typical for its type.

Only one instrument appears per casting, and it will play only for you.

You can't summon an instrument too large to be held in two hands (such as a harp, piano, harpsichord, alphorn, or pipe organ).

SUMMON MONSTER I

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons an extraplanar creature (typically an outsider, elemental, or magical beast native to another plane).

It appears where you designate and acts immediately, on your turn.

It attacks your opponents to the best of its ability.

If you can communicate with the creature, you can direct it not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

The spell conjures one of the creatures from the 1st-level list on the accompanying Summon Monster table.

You choose which kind of creature to summon, and you can change that choice each time you cast the spell.

Information on these creatures can be found in the Monster Manual.

A summoned monster cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can it use any teleportation or planar travel abilities.

Creatures cannot be summoned into an environment that cannot support them.

For instance, a celestial porpoise may only be summoned in an aquatic environment.

When you use a summoning spell to summon an air, chaotic, earth, evil, fire, good, lawful, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, a summon monster I is a lawful and evil spell when cast to summon a fiendish dire rat.

Arcane Focus: A tiny bag and a small (not necessarily lit) candle.

SUMMON SWARM

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One swarm of bats, rats, or spiders

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You summon a swarm of bats, rats, or spiders (your choice), which attacks all other creatures within its area.

(You may summon the swarm so that it shares the area of other creatures).

If no living creatures are within its area, the swarm attacks or pursues the nearest creature as best it can.

The caster has no control over its target or direction of travel.

See the Monster Manual for details of bat, rat, and spider swarms.

Arcane Material Component: A square of red cloth.

TELEPORT OBJECT

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object of up to 50 lb./level and 3 cu. ft./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell functions like teleport, except that it teleports an object, not you.

Creatures and magical forces (such as a delayed blast fireball bead) cannot be teleported.

If desired, the target object can be sent to a distant location on the Ethereal Plane.

In this case, the point from which the object was teleported remains faintly magical until the item is retrieved.

A successful targeted dispel magic spell cast on that point brings the vanished item back from the Ethereal Plane.

TELEPORT

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 5, Travel 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal and touch

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

This spell instantly transports you to a designated destination, which may be as distant as 100 miles per caster level.

Interplanar travel is not possible.

You can bring along objects as long as their weight doesn't exceed your maximum load.

You may also bring one additional willing Medium or smaller creature (carrying gear or objects up to its maximum load) or its equivalent (see below) per three caster levels.

A Large creature counts as two Medium creatures, a Huge creature counts as two Large creatures, and so forth.

All creatures to be transported must be in contact with one another, and at least one of those creatures must be in contact with you.

As with all spells where the range is personal and the target is you, you need not make a saving throw, nor is spell resistance applicable to you.

Only objects held or in use (attended) by another person receive saving throws and spell resistance.

You must have some clear idea of the location and layout of the destination.

You can't simply teleport to the warlord's tent if you don't know where that tent is, what it looks like, or what's in it.

The clearer your mental image, the more likely the teleportation works.

Areas of strong physical or magical energy may make teleportation more hazardous or even impossible.

To see how well the teleportation works, roll d% and consult the Teleport table.

Refer to the following information for definitions of the terms on the table.

Familiarity: "Very familiar" is a place where you have been very often and where you feel at home.

"Studied carefully" is a place you know well, either because you can currently see it, you've been there often, or you have used other means (such as scrying) to study the place for at least one hour.

"Seen casually" is a place that you have seen more than once but with which you are not very familiar.

"Viewed once" is a place that you have seen once, possibly using magic.

"False destination" is a place that does not truly exist, such as if you scryed on an enemy's sanctum but instead viewed a false vision, or if you are teleporting to an otherwise familiar location that no longer exists as such or has been so completely altered as to no longer be familiar to you (for instance, a home that has burned to the ground).

When traveling to a false destination, roll 1d20+80 to obtain results on the table, rather than rolling d%, since there is no real destination for you to hope to arrive at or even be off target from.

On Target: You appear where you want to be.

Off Target: You appear safely a random distance away from the destination in a random direction.

Distance off target is 1d10×1d10% of the distance that was to be traveled.

For example, if you tried to travel 120 miles, landed off target, and rolled 5 and 3 on the two d10s, then you would be 15% off target.

That's 18 miles, in this case.

The DM determines the direction off target randomly, such as by rolling 1d8 and designating 1 as north, 2 as northeast, and so forth.

If you were teleporting to a coastal city and would up 18 miles out at sea, you could be in trouble.

Similar Area: You wind up in an area that's visually or thematically similar to the target area.

A wizard heading for her home laboratory might wind up in another wizard's laboratory or in an alchemy supply shop that has many of the same tools and implements as in her laboratory. Generally, you appear in the closest similar place within range. If the DM determines no such area exists within the spell's range, the spell simply fails instead.

Mishap: You and anyone else teleporting with you have gotten "scrambled". You each take 1d10 points of damage, and you reroll on the chart to see where you wind up. For these rerolls, roll 1d20+80. Each time "Mishap" comes up, the characters take more damage and must reroll.

TELEPORT, GREATER

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Travel 7

This spell functions like teleport, except that there is no range limit and there is no chance you arrive off target. In addition, you need not have seen the destination, but in that case you must have at least a reliable description of the place to which you are teleporting (such as a detailed description from someone else or a particularly precise map).

If you attempt to teleport with insufficient information (or with misleading information), you disappear and simply reappear in your original location. Interplanar travel is not possible.

TELEPORTATION CIRCLE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: 5-ft.-radius circle that teleports those who activate it

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a circle on the floor or other horizontal surface that teleports, as greater teleport, any creature who stands on it to a designated spot.

Once you designate the destination for the circle, you can't change it.

The spell fails if you attempt to set the circle to teleport creatures into a solid object, to a place with which you are not familiar and have no clear description, or to another plane.

The circle itself is subtle and nearly impossible to notice. If you intend to keep creatures from activating it accidentally, you need to mark the circle in some way, such as by placing it on a raised platform.

Teleportation circle can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent teleportation circle that is disabled becomes inactive for 10 minutes, then can be triggered again as normal.

Note: Magic traps such as teleportation circle are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find the circle and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 34 in the case of teleportation circle.

Material Component: Amber dust to cover the area of the circle (cost 1,000 gp).

TRANSPORT VIA PLANTS

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Unlimited

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can enter any normal plant (Medium or larger) and pass any distance to a plant of the same kind in a single round, regardless of the distance separating the two.

The entry plant must be alive.

The destination plant need not be familiar to you, but it also must be alive.

If you are uncertain of the location of a particular kind of destination plant, you need merely designate direction and distance ("an oak tree one hundred miles due north of here"), and the transport via plants spell moves you as close as possible to the desired location.

If a particular destination plant is desired (the oak tree outside your druid grove, for instance), but the plant is not living, the spell fails and you are ejected from the entry plant.

You can bring along objects as long as their weight doesn't exceed your maximum load.

You may also bring one additional willing Medium or smaller creature (carrying gear or objects up to its maximum load) or its equivalent per three caster levels. Use the following equivalents to determine the maximum number of larger creatures you can bring along: A Large creature counts as two Medium creatures, a Huge creature counts as two Large creatures, and so forth. All creatures to be transported must be in contact with one another, and at least one of those creatures must be in contact with you. You can't use this spell to travel through plant creatures such as shambling mounds and treants. The destruction of an occupied plant slays you and any creatures you have brought along, and ejects the bodies and all carried objects from the tree.

TRAP THE SOUL

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, (F); see text

Casting Time: 1 standard action or see text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

Trap the soul forces a creature's life force (and its material body) into a gem.

The gem holds the trapped entity indefinitely or until the gem is broken and the life force is released, which allows the material body to reform.

If the trapped creature is a powerful creature from another plane (which could mean a character trapped by an inhabitant of another plane when the character is not on the Material Plane), it can be required to perform a service immediately upon being freed.

Otherwise, the creature can go free once the gem imprisoning it is broken.

Depending on the version selected, the spell can be triggered in one of two ways.

Spell Completion: First, the spell can be completed by speaking its final word as a standard action as if you were casting a regular spell at the subject.

This allows spell resistance (if any) and a Will save to avoid the effect.

If the creature's name is spoken as well, any spell resistance is ignored and the save DC increases by 2.

If the save or spell resistance is successful, the gem shatters.

Trigger Object: The second method is far more insidious, for it tricks the subject into accepting a trigger object inscribed with the final spell word, automatically placing the creature's soul in the trap.

To use this method, both the creature's name and the trigger word must be inscribed on the trigger object when the gem is enspelled.

A sympathy spell can also be placed on the trigger object. As soon as the subject picks up or accepts the trigger object, its life force is automatically transferred to the gem without the benefit of spell resistance or a save.

Material Component: Before the actual casting of trap the soul, you must procure a gem of at least 1,000 gp value for every Hit Die possessed by the creature to be trapped (for example, it requires a gem of 10,000 gp value to trap a 10 HD creature).

If the gem is not valuable enough, it shatters when the entrapment is attempted.

(While creatures have no concept of level or Hit Dice as such, the value of the gem needed to trap an individual can be researched.

Remember that this value can change over time as creatures gain more Hit Dice).

Focus (Trigger Object Only): If the trigger object method is used, a special trigger object, prepared as described above, is needed.

TREE STRIDE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Drd 5, Rgr 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until expended; see text

You gain the ability to enter trees and move from inside one tree to inside another tree.

The first tree you enter and all others you enter must be of the same kind, must be living, and must have girth at least equal to yours.

By moving into an oak tree (for example), you instantly know the location of all other oak trees within transport range (see below) and may choose whether you want to pass into one or simply step back out of the tree you moved into.

You may choose to pass to any tree of the appropriate kind within the transport range as shown on the following table.

Type of Tree	Transport Range
Oak, ash, yew	3,000 feet
Elm, linden	2,000 feet
Other deciduous	1,500 feet
Any coniferous	1,000 feet
All other trees	500 feet

You may move into a tree up to one time per caster level (passing from one tree to another counts only as moving into one tree).

The spell lasts until the duration expires or you exit a tree.

This means that in a thick oak forest, a 10th-level druid could make ten transports over the course of 10 rounds, traveling as far as 30,000 feet (about 6 miles) in doing so. Each transport is a full-round action.

You can, at your option, remain within a tree without transporting yourself, but you are forced out when the spell ends.

If the tree in which you are concealed is chopped down or burned, you are slain if you do not exit before the process is complete.

TRUE RESURRECTION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 9

Casting Time: 10 minutes

This spell functions like raise dead, except that you can resurrect a creature that has been dead for as long as 10 years per caster level.

This spell can even bring back creatures whose bodies have been destroyed, provided that you unambiguously identify the deceased in some fashion (reciting the deceased's time and place of birth or death is the most common method).

Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no loss of level (or Constitution points) or prepared spells.

You can revive someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed.

This spell can also resurrect elementals or outsiders, but it can't resurrect constructs or undead creatures.

Even true resurrection can't restore to life a creature who has died of old age.

Material Component: A sprinkle of holy water and diamonds worth a total of at least 25,000 gp.

UNSEEN SERVANT

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One invisible, mindless, shapeless servant

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

An unseen servant is an invisible, mindless, shapeless force that performs simple tasks at your command.

It can run and fetch things, open unstuck doors, and hold chairs, as well as clean and mend.

The servant can perform only one activity at a time, but it repeats the same activity over and over again if told to do so, thus allowing you to command it to clean the floor and then turn your attention elsewhere as long as you remain within range.

It can open only normal doors, drawers, lids, and the like.

It has an effective Strength score of 2 (so it can lift 20 pounds or drag 100 pounds).

It can trigger traps and such, but it can exert only 20 pounds of force, which is not enough to activate certain pressure plates and other devices.

It can't perform any task that requires a skill check with a DC higher than 10 or that requires a check using a skill that can't be used untrained.

Its speed is 15 feet.

The servant cannot attack in any way; it is never allowed an attack roll.

It cannot be killed, but it dissipates if it takes 6 points of damage from area attacks.

(It gets no saves against attacks).

If you attempt to send it beyond the spell's range (measured from your current position), the servant ceases to exist.

Material Component: A piece of string and a bit of wood.

WALL OF IRON

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Iron wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a flat, vertical iron wall to spring into being.

This wall can be used to seal off a passage or close a breach, for the wall inserts itself into any surrounding nonliving material if its area is sufficient to do so.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

It must always be a flat plane, though you can shape its edges to fit the available space.

A wall of iron is 1 inch thick per four caster levels.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

Each 5-foot square of the wall has 30 hit points per inch of thickness and hardness 10.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached.

If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 25 + 2 per inch of thickness.

If you desire, the wall can be created vertically resting on a flat surface but not attached to the surface, so that it can be tipped over to fall on and crush creatures beneath it.

The wall is 50% likely to tip in either direction if left unpushed.

Creatures can push the wall in one direction rather than letting it fall randomly.

A creature must make a DC 40 Strength check to push the wall over.

Creatures with room to flee the falling wall may do so by making successful Reflex saves.

Any Large or smaller creature that fails takes 10d6 points of damage.

The wall cannot crush Huge and larger creatures.

Like any iron wall, this wall is subject to rust, perforation, and other natural phenomena.

Material Component: A small piece of sheet iron plus gold dust worth 50 gp (1 pound of gold dust).

WALL OF STONE

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 6, Earth 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Stone wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates a wall of rock that merges into adjoining rock surfaces.

It is typically employed to close passages, portals, and breaches against opponents.

A wall of stone is 1 inch thick per four caster levels and composed of up to one 5-foot square per level.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

Unlike a wall of iron, you can create a wall of stone in almost any shape you desire.

The wall created need not be vertical, nor rest upon any firm foundation; however, it must merge with and be solidly supported by existing stone.

It can be used to bridge a chasm, for instance, or as a ramp. For this use, if the span is more than 20 feet, the wall must be arched and buttressed.

This requirement reduces the spell's area by half.

Thus, a 20th-level caster can create span with a surface area of ten 5-foot squares.

The wall can be crudely shaped to allow crenellations, battlements, and so forth by likewise reducing the area.

Like any other stone wall, this one can be destroyed by a disintegrate spell or by normal means such as breaking and chipping.

Each 5-foot square of the wall has 15 hit points per inch of thickness and hardness 8.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached.

If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 20 + 2 per inch of thickness.

It is possible, but difficult, to trap mobile opponents within or under a wall of stone, provided the wall is shaped so it can hold the creatures.

Creatures can avoid entrapment with successful Reflex saves.

Arcane Material Component: A small block of granite.

WALL OF THORNS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Drd 5, Plant 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall of thorny brush, up to one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A wall of thorns spell creates a barrier of very tough, pliable, tangled brush bearing needle-sharp thorns as long as a human's finger.

Any creature forced into or attempting to move through a wall of thorns takes slashing damage per round of movement equal to 25 minus the creature's AC.

Dexterity and dodge bonuses to AC do not count for this calculation.

(Creatures with an Armor Class of 25 or higher, without considering Dexterity and dodge bonuses, take no damage from contact with the wall).

You can make the wall as thin as 5 feet thick, which allows you to shape the wall as a number of 10-by-10-by-5-foot blocks equal to twice your caster level.

This has no effect on the damage dealt by the thorns, but any creature attempting to break through takes that much less time to force its way through the barrier.

Creatures can force their way slowly through the wall by making a Strength check as a full-round action.

For every 5 points by which the check exceeds 20, a creature moves 5 feet (up to a maximum distance equal to its normal land speed).

For example, a creature that rolled 25 on its Strength check could move 5 feet in a round.

Of course, moving or attempting to move through the thorns incurs damage as described above.

A creature trapped in the thorns can choose to remain motionless in order to avoid taking any more damage.

Any creature within the area of the spell when it is cast takes damage as if it had moved into the wall and is caught inside.

In order to escape, it must attempt to push its way free, or it can wait until the spell ends.

Creatures with the ability to pass through overgrown areas unhindered can pass through a wall of thorns at normal speed without taking damage.

A wall of thorns can be breached by slow work with edged weapons.

Chopping away at the wall creates a safe passage 1 foot deep for every 10 minutes of work.

Normal fire cannot harm the barrier, but magical fire burns it away in 10 minutes.

Despite its appearance, a wall of thorns is not actually a living plant, and thus is unaffected by spells that affect plants.

WEB

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Webs in a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Web creates a many-layered mass of strong, sticky strands. These strands trap those caught in them.

The strands are similar to spider webs but far larger and tougher.

These masses must be anchored to two or more solid and diametrically opposed points—floor and ceiling, opposite walls, or the like—or else the web collapses upon itself and disappears.

Creatures caught within a web become entangled among the gluey fibers.

Attacking a creature in a web won't cause you to become entangled.

Anyone in the effect's area when the spell is cast must make a Reflex save.

If this save succeeds, the creature is entangled, but not prevented from moving, though moving is more difficult than normal for being entangled (see below).

If the save fails, the creature is entangled and can't move from its space, but can break loose by spending 1 round and making a DC 20 Strength check or a DC 25 Escape Artist check.

Once loose (either by making the initial Reflex save or a later Strength check or Escape Artist check), a creature remains entangled, but may move through the web very slowly.

Each round devoted to moving allows the creature to make a new Strength check or Escape Artist check.

The creature moves 5 feet for each full 5 points by which the check result exceeds 10.

If you have at least 5 feet of web between you and an opponent, it provides cover.

If you have at least 20 feet of web between you, it provides total cover (see Cover, page 150).

The strands of a web spell are flammable.

A magic flaming sword can slash them away as easily as a hand brushes away cobwebs.

Any fire—a torch, burning oil, a flaming sword, and so forth—can set the webs alight and burn away 5 square feet in 1 round.

All creatures within flaming webs take 2d4 points of fire damage from the flames.

Web can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent web that is damaged (but not destroyed) regrows in 10 minutes.

Material Component: A bit of spider web.

WORD OF RECALL

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Clr 6, Drd 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Unlimited

Target: You and touched objects or other willing creatures

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless, object)

Word of recall teleports you instantly back to your sanctuary when the word is uttered.

You must designate the sanctuary when you prepare the spell, and it must be a very familiar place.

The actual point of arrival is a designated area no larger than 10 feet by 10 feet.

You can be transported any distance within a plane but cannot travel between planes.

You can transport, in addition to yourself, any objects you carry, as long as their weight doesn't exceed your maximum load.

You may also bring one additional willing Medium or smaller creature (carrying gear or objects up to its maximum load) or its equivalent per three caster levels.

A Large creature counts as two Medium creatures, a Huge creature counts as two Large creatures, and so forth.

All creatures to be transported must be in contact with one another, and at least one of those creatures must be in contact with you.

Exceeding this limit causes the spell to fail.

An unwilling creature can't be teleported by word of recall.

Likewise, a creature's Will save (or spell resistance) prevents items in its possession from being teleported.

Unattended, nonmagical objects receive no saving throw.

DIVINATION

ANALYZE DWEOMER

Divination

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One object or creature per caster level

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You discern all spells and magical properties present in a number of creatures or objects.

Each round, you may examine a single creature or object that you can see as a free action.

In the case of a magic item, you learn its functions, how to activate its functions (if appropriate), and how many charges are left (if it uses charges).

In the case of an object or creature with active spells cast upon it, you learn each spell, its effect, and its caster level.

An attended object may attempt a Will save to resist this effect if its holder so desires.

If the save succeeds, you learn nothing about the object except what you can discern by looking at it.

An object that makes its save cannot be affected by any other analyze dweomer spells for 24 hours.

Analyze dweomer does not function when used on an artifact (see the Dungeon Master's Guide for details on artifacts).

Focus: A tiny lens of ruby or sapphire set in a small golden loop.

The gemstone must be worth at least 1,500 gp.

ARCANE EYE

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create an invisible magical sensor that sends you visual information.

You can create the arcane eye at any point you can see, but it can then travel outside your line of sight without hindrance.

An arcane eye travels at 30 feet per round (300 feet per minute) if viewing an area ahead as a human would (primarily looking at the floor) or 10 feet per round (100 feet per minute) if examining the ceiling and walls as well as the floor ahead.

It sees exactly as you would see if you were there.

The eye can travel in any direction as long as the spell lasts.

Solid barriers block its passage, but it can pass through a hole or space as small as 1 inch in diameter.

The eye can't enter another plane of existence, even through a gate or similar magical portal.

You must concentrate to use an arcane eye.

If you do not concentrate, the eye is inert until you again concentrate.

Material Component: A bit of bat fur.

ARCANE SIGHT

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

This spell makes your eyes glow blue and allows you to see magical auras within 120 feet of you.

The effect is similar to that of a detect magic spell, but arcane sight does not require concentration and discerns aura location and power more quickly.

You know the location and power of all magical auras within your sight.

An aura's power depends on a spell's functioning level or an item's caster level, as noted in the description of the detect magic spell (page 219).

If the items or creatures bearing the auras are in line of sight, you can make Spellcraft skill checks to determine the school of magic involved in each.

(Make one check per aura; DC 15 + spell level, or 15 + one-half caster level for a nonspell effect).

If you concentrate on a specific creature within 120 feet of you as a standard action, you can determine whether it has any spellcasting or spell-like abilities, whether these are arcane or divine (spell-like abilities register as arcane), and the strength of the most powerful spell or spell-like ability the creature currently has available for use.

In some cases, arcane sight may give a deceptively low reading—for example, when you use it on a spellcaster who has used up most of his or her daily spell allotment.

Arcane sight can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

ARCANE SIGHT, GREATER

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

This spell functions like arcane sight, except that you automatically know which spells or magical effects are active upon any individual or object you see.

Greater arcane sight doesn't let you identify magic items.

Unlike arcane sight, this spell cannot be made permanent with a permanency spell.

AUGURY

Divination

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

An augury can tell you whether a particular action will bring good or bad results for you in the immediate future. For example, if a character is considering destroying a weird seal that closes a portal, an augury might determine whether that act is a good idea.

The base chance for receiving a meaningful reply is 70% + 1% per caster level, to a maximum of 90%; the DM makes the roll secretly.

The DM may determine that a question is so straightforward that a successful result is automatic, or so vague as to have no chance of success.

If the augury succeeds, you get one of four results:

- Weal (if the action will probably bring good results).
- Woe (for bad results).
- Weal and woe (for both).

• Nothing (for actions that don't have especially good or bad results).

If the spell fails, you get the "nothing" result.

A cleric who gets the "nothing" result has no way to tell whether it was the consequence of a failed or successful augury.

The augury can see into the future only about half an hour, so anything that might happen after that does not affect the result.

Thus, the result might not take into account the long-term consequences of a contemplated action.

All auguries cast by the same person about the same topic use the same dice result as the first casting.

Material Component: Incense worth at least 25 gp.

Focus: A set of marked sticks, bones, or similar tokens of at least 25 gp value.

CLAIRAUDIENCE/CLAIRVOYANCE

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Brd 3, Knowledge 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Clairaudience/clairvoyance creates an invisible magical sensor at a specific location that enables you to hear or see (your choice) almost as if you were there.

You don't need line of sight or line of effect, but the locale must be known—a place familiar to you or an obvious one, such as behind a door, around a corner, or in a grove of trees.

Once you have selected the locale, the sensor doesn't move, but you can rotate it in all directions to view the area as desired.

Unlike other scrying spells, this spell does not allow magically or supernaturally enhanced senses to work through it.

If the chosen locale is magically dark, you see nothing.

If it is naturally pitch black, you can see in a 10-foot radius around the center of the spell's effect.

Clairaudience/clairvoyance functions only on the plane of existence you are currently occupying.

Arcane Focus: A small horn (for hearing) or a glass eye (for seeing).

COMMUNE WITH NATURE

Divination

Level: Animal 5, Drd 5, Rgr 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You become one with nature, attaining knowledge of the surrounding territory.

You instantly gain knowledge of as many as three facts from among the following subjects: the ground or terrain, plants, minerals, bodies of water, people, general animal population, presence of woodland creatures, presence of powerful unnatural creatures, or even the general state of the natural setting.

For example, you could determine the location of any powerful undead creatures, the location of all major sources of safe drinking water, and the location of any buildings (which register as blind spots).

In outdoor settings, the spell operates in a radius of 1 mile per caster level.

In natural underground settings—caves, caverns, and the like—the radius is limited to 100 feet per caster level.

The spell does not function where nature has been replaced by construction or settlement, such as in dungeons and towns.

COMMUNE

Divination

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You contact your deity—or agents thereof—and ask questions that can be answered by a simple yes or no. (A cleric of no particular deity contacts a philosophically allied deity).

You are allowed one such question per caster level.

The answers given are correct within the limits of the entity's knowledge.

"Unclear" is a legitimate answer, because powerful beings of the Outer Planes are not necessarily omniscient.

In cases where a one-word answer would be misleading or contrary to the deity's interests, the DM should give a short phrase (five words or less) as an answer instead.

The spell, at best, provides information to aid character decisions.

The entities contacted structure their answers to further their own purposes.

If you lag, discuss the answers, or go off to do anything else, the spell ends.

Material Component: Holy (or unholy) water and incense.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

COMPREHEND LANGUAGES

Divination

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level

You can understand the spoken words of creatures or read otherwise incomprehensible written messages.

In either case, you must touch the creature or the writing.

The ability to read does not necessarily impart insight into the material, merely its literal meaning.

The spell enables you to understand or read an unknown language, not speak or write it.

Written material can be read at the rate of one page (250 words) per minute.

Magical writing cannot be read, though the spell reveals that it is magical, but comprehend languages is often useful when deciphering treasure maps.

This spell can be foiled by certain warding magic (such as the secret page and illusory script spells).

It does not decipher codes or reveal messages concealed in otherwise normal text.

Comprehend languages can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of soot and a few grains of salt.

CONTACT OTHER PLANE

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Concentration

You send your mind to another plane of existence (an Elemental Plane or some plane farther removed) in order to receive advice and information from powers there.

(See the accompanying table for possible consequences and results of the attempt).

The powers reply in a language you understand, but they resent such contact and give only brief answers to your questions.

(The DM answers all questions with "yes", "no", "maybe", "never", "irrelevant", or some other one-word answer).

You must concentrate on maintaining the spell (a standard action) in order to ask questions at the rate of one per round.

A question is answered by the power during the same round.

For every two caster levels, you may ask one question.

Contact with minds far removed from your home plane increases the probability that you will incur a decrease to Intelligence and Charisma, but the chance of the power knowing the answer, as well as the probability of the entity answering correctly, are likewise increased by moving to distant planes.

Once the Outer Planes are reached, the power of the deity contacted determines the effects.

(Random results obtained from the table are subject to DM changes, the personalities of individual deities, and so on).

On rare occasions, this divination may be blocked by an act of certain deities or forces.

CONTACT OTHER PLANE

Plane Contacted	Avoid Int/Cha Decrease	True Answer	Don't Know	Lie	Random Answer
Elemental Plane (appropriate)	DC 7/1 week (DC 7/1 week)	01–34 (01–68)	35–62 (69–75)	63–83 (76–98)	84–100 (99–100)
Positive/Negative Energy Plane	DC 8/1 week	01–39	40–65	66–86	87–100
Astral Plane	DC 9/1 week	01–44	45–67	68–88	89–100
Outer Plane, demideity	DC 10/2 weeks	01–49	50–70	71–91	92–100
Outer Plane, lesser deity	DC 12/3 weeks	01–60	61–75	76–95	96–100
Outer Plane, intermediate deity	DC 14/4 weeks	01–73	74–81	82–98	99–100
Outer Plane, greater deity	DC 16/5 weeks	01–88	89–90	91–99	100

Avoid Int/Cha Decrease: You must succeed on an Intelligence check against this DC to avoid a decrease in Intelligence and Charisma. If the check fails, your Intelligence and Charisma scores each fall to 8 for the stated duration, and you become unable to cast arcane spells. If you lose Intelligence and Charisma, the effect strikes as soon as the first question is asked, and no answer is received. (The entries in parentheses are for questions that pertain to the appropriate Elemental Plane.)

Results of a Successful Contact: d% is rolled for the result shown on the table:

True Answer: You get a true, one-word answer. Questions that cannot be answered in this way are answered randomly.

Don't Know: The entity tells you that it doesn't know.

Lie: The entity intentionally lies to you.

Random Answer: The entity tries to lie but doesn't know the answer, so it makes one up.

DETECT ANIMALS OR PLANTS

Divination

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect a particular kind of animal or plant in a cone emanating out from you in whatever direction you face.

You must think of a kind of animal or plant when using the spell, but you can change the animal or plant kind each round.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you search a particular area or focus on a specific kind of animal or plant.

1st Round: Presence or absence of that kind of animal or plant in the area.

2nd Round: Number of individuals of the specified kind in the area, and the condition of the healthiest specimen.

3rd Round: The condition (see below) and location of each individual present.

If an animal or plant is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Conditions: For purposes of this spell, the categories of condition are as follows: Normal: Has at least 90% of full normal hit points, free of disease.

Fair: 30% to 90% of full normal hit points remaining.

Poor: Less than 30% of full normal hit points remaining, afflicted with a disease, or suffering from a debilitating injury.

Weak: 0 or fewer hit points remaining, afflicted with a disease in the terminal stage, or crippled.

If a creature falls into more than one category, the spell indicates the weaker of the two.

Each round you can turn to detect a kind of animal or plant in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

The DM decides if a specific kind of animal or plant is present.

DETECT CHAOS

Divination

Level: Clr 1

This spell functions like detect evil, except that it detects the auras of chaotic creatures, clerics of chaotic deities, chaotic spells, and chaotic magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming chaotic aura if you are lawful.

DETECT EVIL

Divination

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can sense the presence of evil.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject.

1st Round: Presence or absence of evil.

2nd Round: Number of evil auras (creatures, objects, or spells) in the area and the power of the most potent evil aura present.

If you are of good alignment, and the strongest evil aura's power is overwhelming (see below), and the HD or level of the aura's source is at least twice your character level, you are stunned for 1 round and the spell ends.

3rd Round: The power and location of each aura.

DETECT EVIL

Creature/Object	Aura Power
	Faint	Moderate	Strong	Overwhelming
Evil creature ¹ (HD)	10 or lower	11–25	26–50	51 or higher
Undead (HD)	2 or lower	3–8	9–20	21 or higher
Evil outsider (HD)	1 or lower	2–4	5–10	11 or higher
Cleric of an evil deity ² (class levels)	1	2–4	5–10	11 or higher
Evil magic item or spell (caster level)	2nd or lower	3rd–8th	9th–20th	21st or higher

¹ Except for undead and outsiders, which have their own entries on the table.

² Some characters who are not clerics may radiate an aura of equivalent power. The class description will indicate whether this applies.

Lingering Aura: An evil aura lingers after its original source dissipates (in the case of a spell) or is destroyed (in the case of a creature or magic item).

If detect evil is cast and directed at such a location, the spell indicates an aura strength of dim (even weaker than a faint aura).

How long the aura lingers at this dim level depends on its original power:

Original Strength	Duration of Lingering Aura
Faint	1d6 rounds
Moderate	1d6 minutes
Strong	1d6×10 minutes
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Animals, traps, poisons, and other potential perils are not evil, and as such this spell does not detect them.

Each round, you can turn to detect evil in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT GOOD

Divination

Level: Clr 1

This spell functions like detect evil, except that it detects the auras of good creatures, clerics or paladins of good deities, good spells, and good magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming good aura if you are evil.

If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Aura Power: An evil aura's power depends on the type of evil creature or object that you're detecting and its HD, caster level, or (in the case of a cleric) class level; see the accompanying table.

If an aura falls into more than one strength category, the spell indicates the stronger of the two.

For example, as indicated on the table, an evil outsider with 12 HD has an overwhelming aura of evil.

A good cleric who casts this spell and directs it at the location of such a creature for longer than 1 round loses the spell and is stunned for 1 round if his character level is 6th or lower.

Healing potions, antidotes, and similar beneficial items are not good.

DETECT LAW

Divination

Level: Clr 1

This spell functions like detect evil, except that it detects the auras of lawful creatures, clerics of lawful deities, lawful spells, and lawful magic items, and you are vulnerable to an overwhelming lawful aura if you are chaotic.

DETECT MAGIC

Divination

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You detect magical auras.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject.

1st Round: Presence or absence of magical auras.

2nd Round: Number of different magical auras and the power of the most potent aura.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each aura.

If the items or creatures bearing the auras are in line of sight, you can make Spellcraft skill checks to determine the school of magic involved in each.

(Make one check per aura; DC 15 + spell level, or 15 + half caster level for a nonspell effect).

Magical areas, multiple types of magic, or strong local magical emanations may distort or conceal weaker auras.

DETECT MAGIC

Spell or Object	Aura Power
	Faint	Moderate	Strong	Overwhelming
Functioning spell (spell level)	3rd or lower	4th–6th	7th–9th	10th+ (deity-level)
Magical item (caster level)	5th or lower	6th–11th	12th–20th	21st+ (artifact)

Lingering Aura: A magical aura lingers after its original source dissipates (in the case of a spell) or is destroyed (in the case of a magical item).

If detect magic is cast and directed at such a location, the spell indicates an aura strength of dim (even weaker than a faint aura).

How long the aura lingers at this dim level depends on its original power:

Original Strength	Duration of Lingering Aura
Faint	1d6 rounds
Moderate	1d6 minutes
Strong	1d6×10 minutes
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Outsiders and elementals are not magical in themselves, but if they are summoned, the conjuration spell registers. Each round, you can turn to detect magic in a new area. The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Detect magic can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

DETECT POISON

Divination

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target or Area: One creature, one object, or a 5-ft. cube

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You determine whether a creature, object, or area has been poisoned or is poisonous.

You can determine the exact type of poison with a DC 20 Wisdom check.

A character with the Craft (alchemy) skill may try a DC 20 Craft (alchemy) check if the Wisdom check fails, or may try the Craft (alchemy) check prior to the Wisdom check.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Aura Strength: An aura's power depends on a spell's functioning spell level or an item's caster level.

If an aura falls into more than one category, detect magic indicates the stronger of the two.

DETECT SCRYING

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: 40-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You immediately become aware of any attempt to observe you by means of a divination (scrying) spell or effect.

The spell's area radiates from you and moves as you move. You know the location of every magical sensor within the spell's area.

If the scrying attempt originates within the area, you also know its location; otherwise, you and the scrier immediately make opposed caster level checks (1d20 + caster level).

If you at least match the scrier's result, you get a visual image of the scrier and an accurate sense of his or her direction and distance from you.

Material Component: A small piece of mirror and a miniature brass hearing trumpet.

DETECT SECRET DOORS

Divination

Level: Brd 1, Knowledge 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect secret doors, compartments, caches, and so forth.

Only passages, doors, or openings that have been specifically constructed to escape detection are detected by this spell—an ordinary trapdoor underneath a pile of crates would not be detected.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject.

1st Round: Presence or absence of secret doors.

2nd Round: Number of secret doors and the location of each.

If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Each Additional Round: The mechanism or trigger for one particular secret portal closely examined by you.

Each round, you can turn to detect secret doors in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT SNARES AND PITS

Divination

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect simple pits, deadfalls, and snares as well as mechanical traps constructed of natural materials.

The spell does not detect complex traps, including trapdoor traps.

Detect snares and pits does detect certain natural hazards—quicksand (a snare), a sinkhole (a pit), or unsafe walls of natural rock (a deadfall).

However, it does not reveal other potentially dangerous conditions, such as a cavern that floods during rain, an unsafe construction, or a naturally poisonous plant.

The spell does not detect magic traps (except those that operate by pit, deadfall, or snaring; see the spell snare), nor mechanically complex ones, nor those that have been rendered safe or inactive.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area.

1st Round: Presence or absence of hazards.

2nd Round: Number of hazards and the location of each.

If a hazard is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Each Additional Round: The general type and trigger for one particular hazard closely examined by you.

Each round, you can turn to detect snares and pits in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

DETECT THOUGHTS

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Knowledge 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You detect surface thoughts.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area or subject.

1st Round: Presence or absence of thoughts (from conscious creatures with Intelligence scores of 1 or higher).

2nd Round: Number of thinking minds and the Intelligence score of each.

If the highest Intelligence is 26 or higher (and at least 10 points higher than your own Intelligence score), you are stunned for 1 round and the spell ends.

This spell does not let you determine the location of the thinking minds if you can't see the creatures whose thoughts you are detecting.

3rd Round: Surface thoughts of any mind in the area.

A target's Will save prevents you from reading its thoughts, and you must cast detect thoughts again to have another chance.

Creatures of animal intelligence (Int 1 or 2) have simple, instinctual thoughts that you can pick up.

Each round, you can turn to detect thoughts in a new area. The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Arcane Focus: A copper piece.

DETECT UNDEAD

Divination

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect the aura that surrounds undead creatures.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area.

1st Round: Presence or absence of undead auras.

2nd Round: Number of undead auras in the area and the strength of the strongest undead aura present.

If you are of good alignment, and the strongest undead aura's strength is overwhelming (see below), and the creature has HD of at least twice your character level, you are stunned for 1 round and the spell ends.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each undead aura. If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Aura Strength: The strength of an undead aura is determined by the HD of the undead creature, as given on the following table:

HD	Strength
1 or lower	Faint
2–4	Moderate
5–10	Strong
11 or higher	Overwhelming

Lingering Aura: An undead aura lingers after its original source is destroyed.

If detect undead is cast and directed at such a location, the spell indicates an aura strength of dim (even weaker than a faint aura).

How long the aura lingers at this dim level depends on its original power:

Original Strength	Duration of Lingered Aura
Faint	1d6 rounds
Moderate	1d6 minutes
Strong	1d6x10 minutes
Overwhelming	1d6 days

Each round, you can turn to detect undead in a new area. The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of earth from a grave.

DISCERN LIES

Divination

Level: Clr 4, Pal 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

Each round, you concentrate on one subject, who must be within range.

You know if the subject deliberately and knowingly speaks a lie by discerning disturbances in its aura caused by lying. The spell does not reveal the truth, uncover unintentional inaccuracies, or necessarily reveal evasions.

Each round, you may concentrate on a different subject.

DISCERN LOCATION

Divination

Level: Clr 8, Knowledge 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A discern location spell is among the most powerful means of locating creatures or objects.

Nothing short of a mind blank spell or the direct intervention of a deity keeps you from learning the exact location of a single individual or object.

Discern location circumvents normal means of protection from scrying or location.

The spell reveals the name of the creature or object's location (place, name, business name, building name, or the like), community, county (or similar political division), country, continent, and the plane of existence where the target lies.

To find a creature with the spell, you must have seen the creature or have some item that once belonged to it.

To find an object, you must have touched it at least once.

DIVINATION

Divination

Level: Clr 4, Knowledge 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Similar to augury but more powerful, a divination spell can provide you with a useful piece of advice in reply to a question concerning a specific goal, event, or activity that is to occur within one week.

The advice can be as simple as a short phrase, or it might take the form of a cryptic rhyme or omen.

For example, suppose the question is "Will we do well if we venture into the ruined temple of Erythnul?" The DM knows that a terrible troll guarding 10,000 gp and a +1 shield lurks near the entrance but estimates that your party could beat the troll after a hard fight.

Therefore the divination response might be: "Ready oil and open flame light your way to wealth".

In all cases, the DM controls what information you receive. If your party doesn't act on the information, the conditions may change so that the information is no longer useful. (For example, the troll could move away and take the treasure with it).

The base chance for a correct divination is 70% + 1% per caster level, to a maximum of 90%.

The DM adjusts the chance if unusual circumstances require it (if, for example, unusual precautions against divination spells have been taken).

If the dice roll fails, you know the spell failed, unless specific magic yielding false information is at work.

As with augury, multiple divinations about the same topic by the same caster use the same dice result as the first divination spell and yield the same answer each time.

Material Component: Incense and a sacrificial offering appropriate to your religion, together worth at least 25 gp.

FIND THE PATH

Divination

Level: Brd 6, Clr 6, Drd 6, Knowledge 6, Travel 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

The recipient of this spell can find the shortest, most direct physical route to a specified destination, be it the way into or out of a locale.

The locale can be outdoors, underground, or even inside a maze spell.

Find the path works with respect to locations, not objects or creatures at a locale.

Thus, the subject could not find the way to "a forest where a green dragon lives" or "a hoard of platinum pieces", but it could find the exit to a labyrinth.

The location must be on the same plane as you are at the time of casting.

The spell enables the subject to sense the correct direction that will eventually lead it to its destination, indicating at appropriate times the exact path to follow or physical actions to take.

For example, the spell enables the subject to sense trip wires or the proper word to bypass a glyph of warding.

The spell ends when the destination is reached or the duration expires, whichever comes first.

Find the path can be used to remove the subject and its companions from the effect of a maze spell in a single round.

This divination is keyed to the recipient, not its companions, and its effect does not predict or allow for the actions of creatures (including guardians).

Focus: A set of divination counters of the sort you favor—bones, ivory counters, sticks, carved runes, or the like.

FIND TRAPS

Divination

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

You gain intuitive insight into the workings of traps.

You can use the Search skill to detect traps just as a rogue can.

In addition, you gain an insight bonus equal to one-half your caster level (maximum +10) on Search checks made to find traps while the spell is in effect.

Note that find traps grants no ability to disable the traps that you may find.

FORESIGHT

Divination

Level: Drd 9, Knowledge 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: See text

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

This spell grants you a powerful sixth sense in relation to yourself or another.

Once foresight is cast, you receive instantaneous warnings of impending danger or harm to the subject of the spell.

Thus, if you are the subject of the spell, you would be warned in advance if a rogue were about to attempt a sneak attack on you, or if a creature were about to leap out from a hiding place, or if an attacker were specifically targeting you with a spell or ranged weapon.

You are never surprised or flat-footed.

In addition, the spell gives you a general idea of what action you might take to best protect yourself—duck, jump right, close your eyes, and so on—and gives you a +2 insight bonus to AC and Reflex saves.

This insight bonus is lost whenever you would lose a Dexterity bonus to AC.

When another creature is the subject of the spell, you receive warnings about that creature.

You must communicate what you learn to the other creature for the warning to be useful, and the creature can be caught unprepared in the absence of such a warning. Shouting a warning, yanking a person back, and even telepathically communicating (via an appropriate spell) can all be accomplished before some danger befalls the subject, provided you act on the warning without delay.

The subject, however, does not gain the insight bonus to AC and Reflex saves.

Arcane Material Component: A hummingbird's feather.

GUIDANCE

Divination

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell imbues the subject with a touch of divine guidance.

The creature gets a +1 competence bonus on a single attack roll, saving throw, or skill check.

It must choose to use the bonus before making the roll to which it applies.

IDENTIFY

Divination

Level: Brd 1, Magic 2, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The spell determines all magic properties of a single magic item, including how to activate those functions (if appropriate), and how many charges are left (if any).

Identify does not function when used on an artifact (see the Dungeon Master's Guide for details on artifacts).

Arcane Material Component: A pearl of at least 100 gp value, crushed and stirred into wine with an owl feather; the infusion must be drunk prior to spellcasting.

KNOW DIRECTION

Divination

Level: Brd 0, Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You instantly know the direction of north from your current position.

The spell is effective in any environment in which "north" exists, but it may not work in extraplanar settings.

Your knowledge of north is correct at the moment of casting, but you can get lost again within moments if you don't find some external reference point to help you keep track of direction.

LEGEND LORE

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Knowledge 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: See text

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: See text

Legend lore brings to your mind legends about an important person, place, or thing.

If the person or thing is at hand, or if you are in the place in question, the casting time is only 1d4×10 minutes.

If you have only detailed information on the person, place, or thing, the casting time is 1d10 days, and the resulting lore is less complete and specific (though it often provides enough information to help you find the person, place, or thing, thus allowing a better legend lore result next time).

If you know only rumors, the casting time is 2d6 weeks, and the resulting lore is vague and incomplete (though it often directs you to more detailed information, thus allowing a better legend lore result next time).

During the casting, you cannot engage in other than routine activities: eating, sleeping, and so forth.

When completed, the divination brings legends (if any) about the person, place, or things to your mind.

These may be legends that are still current, legends that have been forgotten, or even information that has never been generally known.

If the person, place, or thing is not of legendary importance, you gain no information.

As a rule of thumb, characters who are 11th level and higher are "legendary", as are the sorts of creatures they contend with, the major magic items they wield, and the places where they perform their key deeds.

Examples of legend lore results include the following.

A divination about a mysterious magic axe you have at hand: "Woe to the evildoer whose hand touches the axe, for even the haft chops the hand of the evil ones.

Only a true Son or Daughter of Stone, one who loves Moradin and whom Moradin loves, may awaken the true powers of the axe, and only with the sacred word 'Rudnogg' on the lips".

A divination about a legendary paladin about whom you know many details: "Vanashon has been denied the glory of death and the duty of life.

He waits patiently beneath the Forbidden Mountain".

(The paladin has been turned to stone in the caverns under the mountain).

A divination about ancient ruins about which you have only a passing reference in a partially damaged tome: "The sorcerer who called herself Ryth built a library without words and a temple without gods.

Those who read and those who pray tore it down in a night and a day".

(These clues may be enough for you to find out more and get details you need to cast a better legend lore).

Material Component: Incense worth at least 250 gp.

Focus: Four strips of ivory (worth 50 gp each) formed into a rectangle.

LOCATE CREATURE

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Duration: 10 min./level

This spell functions like locate object, except this spell locates a known or familiar creature.

You slowly turn and sense when you are facing in the direction of the creature to be located, provided it is within range.

You also know in which direction the creature is moving, if any.

The spell can locate a creature of a specific kind (such as a human or a unicorn) or a specific creature known to you.

It cannot find a creature of a certain type (such as humanoid or animal).

To find a kind of creature, you must have seen such a creature up close (within 30 feet) at least once.

Running water blocks the spell.

It cannot detect objects.

It can be fooled by mislead, nondetection, and polymorph spells.

Material Component: A bit of fur from a bloodhound.

LOCATE OBJECT

Divination

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2, Travel 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Circle, centered on you, with a radius of 400 ft. + 40 ft./level

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You sense the direction of a well-known or clearly visualized object.

The spell locates such objects as apparel, jewelry, furniture, tools, weapons, or even a ladder.

You can search for general items such as a stairway, a sword, or a jewel, in which case you locate the nearest one of its kind if more than one is within range.

Attempting to find a certain item, such as a particular piece of jewelry, requires a specific and accurate mental image; if the image is not close enough to the actual object, the spell fails.

You cannot specify a unique item (such as "Baron Vulden's signet ring") unless you have observed that particular item firsthand (not through divination).

The spell is blocked by even a thin sheet of lead.

Creatures cannot be found by this spell.

Polymorph any object fools it.

Arcane Focus: A forked twig.

MOMENT OF PRESCIENCE

Divination

Level: Luck 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged

This spell grants you a powerful sixth sense in relation to yourself.

Once during the spell's duration, you may choose to use its effect.

This spell grants you an insight bonus equal to your caster level (maximum +25) on any single attack roll, opposed ability or skill check, or saving throw.

Alternatively, you can apply the insight bonus to your AC against a single attack (even if flat-footed).

Activating the effect doesn't take an action; you can even activate it on another character's turn if needed.

You must choose to use the moment of prescience before you make the roll it is to modify.

Once used, the spell ends.

You can't have more than one moment of prescience active on you at the same time.

PRYING EYES

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: One mile

Effect: Ten or more levitating eyes

Duration: 1 hour/level; see text (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a number of semitangible, visible magical orbs (called "eyes") equal to 1d4 + your caster level.

These eyes move out, scout around, and return as you direct them when casting the spell.

Each eye can see 120 feet (normal vision only) in all directions.

While the individual eyes are quite fragile, they're small and difficult to spot.

Each eye is a Fine construct, about the size of a small apple, that has 1 hit point, AC 18 (+8 bonus for its size), flies at a speed of 30 feet with perfect maneuverability, and has a +16 Hide modifier.

It has a Spot modifier equal to your caster level (maximum +15) and is subject to illusions, darkness, fog, and any other factors that would affect your ability to receive visual information about your surroundings.

An eye traveling through darkness must find its way by touch.

When you create the eyes, you specify instructions you want them to follow in a command of no more than twenty-five words.

Any knowledge you possess is known by the eyes as well, so if you know, for example, what a typical merchant looks like, the eyes do as well.

A sample command: "Surround me at a range of four hundred feet and return if you spot any dangerous creatures".

The phrase "Surround me" directs the eyes to form an equally spaced, horizontal ring at whatever range you indicate, and then move with you.

As eyes return or are destroyed, the rest automatically space themselves to compensate.

In the case of this sample command, an eye returns only if it spots a creature you would regard as dangerous.

A "peasant" that is actually a shapechanged dragon wouldn't trigger an eye's return.

Ten eyes can form a ring with a radius of 400 feet and between themselves see everything that crosses the ring. Another sample command: "Spread out and search the town for Arweth."

Follow him for three minutes, staying out of sight, and then return".

The phrase "Spread out" directs the eyes to move away from you in all directions.

In this case, each eye would separately follow Arweth for three minutes once it spots him.

Other commands that might be useful include having eyes form a line in a certain manner, making them move at random within a certain range, or having them follow a certain type of creature.

The DM is the final judge of the suitability of your directions.

In order to report their findings, the eyes must return to your hand.

Each replays in your mind all it has seen during its existence.

It takes an eye 1 round to replay 1 hour of recorded images. After relaying its findings, an eye disappears.

If an eye ever gets more than 1 mile away from you, it instantly ceases to exist.

However, your link with the eye is such that you won't know if the eye was destroyed because it wandered out of range or because of some other event.

The eyes exist for up to 1 hour per caster level or until they return to you.

Dispel magic can destroy eyes.

Roll separately for each eye caught in an area dispel.

Of course, if an eye is sent into darkness, it could hit a wall or similar obstacle and destroy itself.

Material Component: A handful of crystal marbles.

PRYING EYES, GREATER

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

This spell functions like prying eyes, except that the eyes can see all things as they actually are, just as if they had true seeing with a range of 120 feet.

Thus, they can navigate darkened areas at full normal speed.

Also, a greater prying eye's maximum Spot modifier is +25 instead of +15.

RARY'S TELEPATHIC BOND

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: You plus one willing creature per three levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You forge a telepathic bond among yourself and a number of willing creatures, each of which must have an Intelligence score of 3 or higher.

Each creature included in the link is linked to all the others.

The creatures can communicate telepathically through the bond regardless of language.

No special power or influence is established as a result of the bond.

Once the bond is formed, it works over any distance (although not from one plane to another).

If desired, you may leave yourself out of the telepathic bond forged.

This decision must be made at the time of casting.

Rary's telepathic bond can be made permanent with a permanency spell, though it only bonds two creatures per casting of permanency.

Material Component: Pieces of eggshell from two different kinds of creatures.

READ MAGIC

Divination

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level

By means of read magic, you can decipher magical inscriptions on objects—books, scrolls, weapons, and the like—that would otherwise be unintelligible.

This deciphering does not normally invoke the magic contained in the writing, although it may do so in the case of a cursed scroll.

Furthermore, once the spell is cast and you have read the magical inscription, you are thereafter able to read that particular writing without recourse to the use of read magic. You can read at the rate of one page (250 words) per minute.

The spell allows you to identify a glyph of warding with a DC 13 Spellcraft check, a greater glyph of warding with a DC 16 Spellcraft check, or any symbol spell with a Spellcraft check (DC 10 + spell level).

Read magic can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Focus: A clear crystal or mineral prism.

SCRYING

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Brd 3, Clr 5, Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M/DF, F

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: See text

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can see and hear some creature, which may be at any distance.

If the subject succeeds on a Will save, the scrying attempt simply fails.

The difficulty of the save depends on how well you know the subject and what sort of physical connection (if any) you have to that creature.

Furthermore, if the subject is on another plane, it gets a +5 bonus on its Will save.

Knowledge

Will Save Modifier

None¹ +10

Secondhand (you have heard of the subject) +5

Firsthand (you have met the subject) +0

Familiar (you know the subject well) -5

¹ You must have some sort of connection to a creature you have no knowledge of.

Connection

Will Save Modifier

Likeness or picture -2

Possession or garment -4

Body part, lock of hair, bit of nail, etc. -10

If the save fails, you can see and hear the subject and the subject's immediate surroundings (approximately 10 feet in all directions of the subject).

If the subject moves, the sensor follows at a speed of up to 150 feet.

As with all divination (scrying) spells, the sensor has your full visual acuity, including any magical effects.

In addition, the following spells have a 5% chance per caster level of operating through the sensor: detect chaos, detect evil, detect good, detect law, detect magic, and message.

If the save succeeds, you can't attempt to scry on that subject again for at least 24 hours.

Arcane Material Component: The eye of a hawk, an eagle, or a roc, plus nitric acid, copper, and zinc.

Wizard, Sorcerer, or Bard Focus: A mirror of finely wrought and highly polished silver costing not less than 1,000 gp.

The mirror must be at least 2 feet by 4 feet.

Cleric Focus: A holy water font costing not less than 100 gp.

Druid Focus: A natural pool of water.

SCRYING, GREATER

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Brd 6, Clr 7, Drd 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: 1 hour/level

This spell functions like scrying, except as noted above.

Additionally, all of the following spells function reliably through the sensor: detect chaos, detect evil, detect good, detect law, detect magic, message, read magic, and tongues.

SEE INVISIBILITY

Divination

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You can see any objects or beings that are invisible within your range of vision, as well as any that are ethereal, as if they were normally visible.

Such creatures are visible to you as translucent shapes, allowing you easily to discern the difference between visible, invisible, and ethereal creatures.

The spell does not reveal the method used to obtain invisibility.

It does not reveal illusions or enable you to see through opaque objects.

It does not reveal creatures who are simply hiding, concealed, or otherwise hard to see.

See invisibility can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A pinch of talc and a small sprinkling of powdered silver.

SPEAK WITH ANIMALS

Divination

Level: Brd 3, Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

You can comprehend and communicate with animals.

You are able to ask questions of and receive answers from animals, although the spell doesn't make them any more friendly or cooperative than normal.

Furthermore, wary and cunning animals are likely to be terse and evasive, while the more stupid ones make inane comments.

If an animal is friendly toward you, it may do some favor or service for you (as determined by the DM).

SPEAK WITH PLANTS

Divination

Level: Brd 4, Drd 3, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

You can comprehend and communicate with plants, including both normal plants and plant creatures.

You are able to ask questions of and receive answers from plants.

A regular plant's sense of its surroundings is limited, so it won't be able to give (or recognize) detailed descriptions of creatures or answer questions about events outside its immediate vicinity.

The spell doesn't make plant creatures any more friendly or cooperative than normal.

Furthermore, wary and cunning plant creatures are likely to be terse and evasive, while the more stupid ones may make inane comments.

If a plant creature is friendly toward you, it may do some favor or service for you (as determined by the DM).

STATUS

Divination

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One living creature touched per three levels

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

When you need to keep track of comrades who may get separated, status allows you to mentally monitor their relative positions and general condition.

You are aware of direction and distance to the creatures and any conditions affecting them: unharmed, wounded, disabled, staggered, unconscious, dying, nauseated, panicked, stunned, poisoned, diseased, confused, or the like. Once the spell has been cast upon the subjects, the distance between them and the caster does not affect the spell as long as they are on the same plane of existence.

If a subject leaves the plane, or if it dies, the spell ceases to function for it.

STONE TELL

Divination

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

You gain the ability to speak with stones, which relate to you who or what has touched them as well as revealing what is covered or concealed behind or under them.

The stones relate complete descriptions if asked.

A stone's perspective, perception, and knowledge may prevent the stone from providing the details you are looking for (as determined by the DM).

You can speak with natural or worked stone.

TONGUES

Divination

Level: Brd 2, Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell grants the creature touched the ability to speak and understand the language of any intelligent creature, whether it is a racial tongue or a regional dialect.

The subject can speak only one language at a time, although it may be able to understand several languages.

Tongues does not enable the subject to speak with creatures who don't speak.

The subject can make itself understood as far as its voice carries.

This spell does not predispose any creature addressed toward the subject in any way.

Tongues can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: A small clay model of a ziggurat, which shatters when the verbal component is pronounced.

TRUE SEEING

Divination

Level: Clr 5, Drd 7, Knowledge 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You confer on the subject the ability to see all things as they actually are.

The subject sees through normal and magical darkness, notices secret doors hidden by magic, sees the exact locations of creatures or objects under blur or displacement effects, sees invisible creatures or objects normally, sees through illusions, and sees the true form of polymorphed, changed, or transmuted things.

Further, the subject can focus its vision to see into the Ethereal Plane (but not into extradimensional spaces).

The range of true seeing conferred is 120 feet.

True seeing, however, does not penetrate solid objects.

It in no way confers X-ray vision or its equivalent.

It does not negate concealment, including that caused by fog and the like.

True seeing does not help the viewer see through mundane disguises, spot creatures who are simply hiding, or notice secret doors hidden by mundane means.

In addition, the spell effects cannot be further enhanced with known magic, so one cannot use true seeing through a crystal ball or in conjunction with clairaudience/clairvoyance.

Material Component: An ointment for the eyes that costs 250 gp and is made from mushroom powder, saffron, and fat.

TRUE STRIKE

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: See text

You gain temporary, intuitive insight into the immediate future during your next attack.

Your next single attack roll (if it is made before the end of the next round) gains a +20 insight bonus.

Additionally, you are not affected by the miss chance that applies to attackers trying to strike a concealed target.

Focus: A small wooden replica of an archery target.

VISION

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

This spell functions like legend lore, except that it works more quickly but produces some strain on you.

You pose a question about some person, place, or object, then cast the spell.

If the person or object is at hand or if you are in the place in question, you receive a vision about it by succeeding on a caster level check (1d20 +1 per caster level; maximum +25) against DC 20.

If only detailed information on the person, place, or object is known, the DC is 25, and the information gained is incomplete.

If only rumors are known, the DC is 30, and the information gained is vague.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

ENCHANTMENT

AID

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2, Good 2, Luck 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Aid grants the target a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls and saves against fear effects, plus temporary hit points equal to 1d8 + caster level (to a maximum of 1d8+10 temporary hit points at caster level 10th).

ANIMAL MESSENGER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One Tiny animal

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You compel a Tiny animal to go to a spot you designate.

The most common use for this spell is to get an animal to carry a message to your allies.

The animal cannot be one tamed or trained by someone else, including such creatures as familiars and animal companions.

Using some type of food desirable to the animal as a lure, you call the animal to you.

It advances and awaits your bidding.

You can mentally impress on the animal a certain place well known to you or an obvious landmark (such as the peak of a distant mountain).

The directions must be simple, because the animal depends on your knowledge and can't find a destination on its own.

You can attach some small item or note to the messenger.

The animal then goes to the designated location and waits there until the duration of the spell expires, whereupon it resumes its normal activities.

During this period of waiting, the messenger allows others to approach it and remove any scroll or token it carries.

Unless the intended recipient of a message is expecting a messenger in the form of a bird or other small animal, the carrier may be ignored.

The intended recipient gains no special ability to communicate with the animal or read any attached message

(if it's written in a language he or she doesn't know, for example).

Material Component: A morsel of food the animal likes.

ANIMAL TRANCE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Animals or magical beasts with Intelligence 1 or 2

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your swaying motions and music (or singing, or chanting) compel animals and magical beasts to do nothing but watch you.

Only a creature with an Intelligence score of 1 or 2 can be fascinated by this spell.

Roll 2d6 to determine the total number of HD worth of creatures that you fascinate.

The closest targets are selected first until no more targets within range can be affected.

For example, if Vadania affects 7 HD worth of animals and there are several 2 HD wolves within close range, only the three closest wolves are affected.

A magical beast, a dire animal, or an animal trained to attack or guard is allowed a saving throw; an animal not trained to attack or guard is not.

ANTIPATHY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One location (up to a 10-ft. cube/level) or one object

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause an object or location to emanate magical vibrations that repel either a specific kind of intelligent creature or creatures of a particular alignment, as defined by you.

The kind of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasus, cloaklers, or vampires.

A creature subtype (such as goblinoid) is not specific enough.

Likewise, the specific alignment to be repelled must be named—for example, chaotic evil, chaotic good, lawful neutral, or neutral.

Creatures of the designated kind or alignment feel an overpowering urge to leave the area or to avoid the affected item.

A compulsion forces them to abandon the area or item, shunning it and never willingly returning to it while the spell is in effect.

A creature that makes a successful saving throw can stay in the area or touch the item but feels uncomfortable doing so.

This distracting discomfort reduces the creature's Dexterity score by 4 points.

Antipathy counters and dispels sympathy.

Arcane Material Component: A lump of alum soaked in vinegar.

BANE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 50 ft.

Area: All enemies within 50 ft.

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Bane fills your enemies with fear and doubt.

Each affected creature takes a –1 penalty on attack rolls and a –1 penalty on saving throws against fear effects.

Bane counters and dispels bless.

BINDING

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: One minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: See text (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A binding spell creates a magical restraint to hold a creature. The target gets an initial saving throw only if its Hit Dice equal at least one-half your caster level.

You may have as many as six assistants help you with the spell.

For each assistant who casts suggestion, your caster level for this casting of binding increases by 1.

For each assistant who casts dominate animal, dominate person, or dominate monster, your caster level for this casting of binding increases by a number equal to one-third of that assistant's level, provided that the spell's target is appropriate for a binding spell.

Since the assistants' spells are cast simply to improve your caster level for the purpose of the binding spell, saving throws and spell resistance against the assistants' spells are irrelevant.

Your caster level determines whether the target gets an initial Will saving throw and how long the binding lasts.

All binding spells are dismissible.

Regardless of the version of binding you cast, you can specify triggering conditions that end the spell and release the creature whenever they occur.

These triggers can be as simple or elaborate as you desire, but the DM must agree that the condition is reasonable and has a likelihood of coming to pass.

The conditions can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

Intangibles such as level, class, Hit Dice, or hit points don't qualify.

For example, a bound creature can be released when a lawful good creature approaches, but not when a paladin approaches.

Once the spell is cast, its triggering conditions cannot be changed.

Setting a release condition increases the save DC (assuming a saving throw is allowed) by 2.

If you are casting any of the first three versions of binding (those with limited durations), you may cast additional binding spells to prolong the effect, since the durations overlap.

If you do so, the target gets a saving throw at the end of the first spell's duration, even if your caster level was high enough to disallow an initial saving throw.

If the creature succeeds on this save, all the binding spells it has received are broken.

The binding spell has six versions.

Choose one of the following versions when you cast the spell.

Chaining: The subject is confined by restraints that generate an antipathy spell affecting all creatures who approach the subject, except you.

The duration is one year per caster level.

The subject of this form of binding is confined to the spot it occupied when it received the spell.

Slumber: This version causes the subject to become comatose for as long as one year per caster level.

The subject does not need to eat or drink while slumbering, nor does it age.

This form of binding is more difficult to cast than chaining, making it slightly easier to resist.

Reduce the spell's save DC by 1.

Bound Slumber: This combination of chaining and slumber lasts for as long as one month per caster level.

Reduce the save DC by 2.

Hedged Prison: The subject is transported to or otherwise brought within a confined area (such as a labyrinth) from which it cannot wander by any means.

The effect is permanent.

Reduce the save DC by 3.

Metamorphosis: The subject assumes gaseous form, except for its head or face.

It is held harmless in a jar or other container, which may be transparent if you so choose.

The creature remains aware of its surroundings and can speak, but it cannot leave the container, attack, or use any of its powers or abilities.

The binding is permanent.

The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while metamorphosed, nor does it age.

Reduce the save DC by 4.

Minimus Containment: The subject is shrunk to a height of 1 inch or even less and held within some gem, jar, or similar object.

The binding is permanent.

The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while contained, nor does it age.

Reduce the save DC by 4.

You can't dispel a binding spell with dispel magic or a similar effect, though an antimagic field or Mordenkainen's disjunction affects it normally.

A bound extraplanar creature cannot be sent back to its home plane due to dismissal, banishment, or a similar effect.

Components: The components for a binding spell vary according to the version of the spell, but they always include a continuous chanting utterance read from the scroll or spellbook page containing the spell, somatic gestures, and materials appropriate to the form of binding used.

These components can include such items as miniature chains of special metals (silver for lycanthropes, cold iron for demons, and so forth), soporific herbs of the rarest sort (for slumber bindings), a bell jar of the finest crystal, and the like.

In addition to the specially made props suited to the specific type of binding (cost 500 gp), the spell requires opals worth at least 500 gp for each HD of the target and a vellum depiction or carved statuette of the subject to be captured.

BLESS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 50 ft.

Area: The caster and all allies within a 50-ft. burst, centered on the caster

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Bless fills your allies with courage.

Each ally gains a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls and on saving throws against fear effects.

Bless counters and dispels bane.

CALM ANIMALS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Animal 1, Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Animals within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell soothes and quiets animals, rendering them docile and harmless.

Only ordinary animals (those with Intelligence scores of 1 or 2) can be affected by this spell.

All the subjects must be of the same kind, and no two may be more than 30 feet apart.

The maximum number of Hit Dice of animals you can affect is equal to 2d4 + caster level.

A dire animal or an animal trained to attack or guard is allowed a saving throw; other animals are not.

(A druid could calm a normal bear or wolf with little trouble, but it's more difficult to affect a trained guard dog).

The affected creatures remain where they are and do not attack or flee.

They are not helpless and defend themselves normally if attacked.

Any threat (such as fire, a hungry predator, or an imminent attack) breaks the spell on the threatened creatures.

CALM EMOTIONS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Law 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Creatures in a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell calms agitated creatures.

You have no control over the affected creatures, but calm emotions can stop raging creatures from fighting or joyous ones from reveling.

Creatures so affected cannot take violent actions (although they can defend themselves) or do anything destructive.

Any aggressive action against or damage dealt to a calmed creature immediately breaks the spell on all calmed creatures.

This spell automatically suppresses (but does not dispel) any morale bonuses granted by spells such as bless, good hope, and rage, as well as negating a bard's ability to inspire courage or a barbarian's rage ability.

It also suppresses any fear effects and removes the confused condition from all targets.

While the spell lasts, a suppressed spell or effect has no effect.

When the calm emotions spell ends, the original spell or effect takes hold of the creature again, provided that its duration has not expired in the meantime.

CHARM ANIMAL

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Target: One animal

This spell functions like charm person, except that it affects a creature of the animal type.

See the Monster Manual for more information on creature types.

CHARM MONSTER

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Target: One living creature

Duration: One day/level

This spell functions like charm person, except that the effect is not restricted by creature type or size.

CHARM MONSTER, MASS

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: One day/level

This spell functions like charm monster, except that mass charm monster affects a number of creatures whose combined HD do not exceed twice your level, or at least one creature regardless of HD.

If there are more potential targets than you can affect, you choose them one at a time until you choose a creature with too many HD.

CHARM PERSON

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This charm makes a humanoid creature regard you as its trusted friend and ally (treat the target's attitude as friendly; see Influencing NPC Attitudes, page 72).

If the creature is currently being threatened or attacked by you or your allies, however, it receives a +5 bonus on its saving throw.

The spell does not enable you to control the charmed person as if it were an automaton, but it perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way.

You can try to give the subject orders, but you must win an opposed Charisma check to convince it to do anything it wouldn't ordinarily do.

(Retries are not allowed).

An affected creature never obeys suicidal or obviously harmful orders, but a charmed fighter, for example, might believe you if you assured him that the only chance to save your life is for him to hold back an onrushing red dragon for "just a few seconds".

Any act by you or your apparent allies that threatens the charmed person breaks the spell.

You must speak the person's language to communicate your commands, or else be good at pantomiming.

COMMAND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You give the subject a single command, which it obeys to the best of its ability at its earliest opportunity.

You may select from the following options.

Approach: On its turn, the subject moves toward you as quickly and directly as possible for 1 round.

The creature may do nothing but move during its turn, and it provokes attacks of opportunity for this movement as normal.

Drop: On its turn, the subject drops whatever it is holding. It can't pick up any dropped item until its next turn.

Fall: On its turn, the subject falls to the ground and remains prone for 1 round.

It may act normally while prone but takes any appropriate penalties.

Flee: On its turn, the subject moves away from you as quickly as possible for 1 round. It may do nothing but move during its turn, and it provokes attacks of opportunity for this movement as normal.
Halt: The subject stands in place for 1 round. It may not take any actions but is not considered helpless. If the subject can't carry out your command on its next turn, the spell automatically fails.

COMMAND, GREATER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 5

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

This spell functions like command, except that up to one creature per level may be affected, and the activities continue beyond 1 round.

At the start of each commanded creature's action after the first, it gets another Will save to attempt to break free from the spell.

Each creature must receive the same command.

CONFUSION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4, Trickery 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: All creatures in a 15-ft. radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes the targets to become confused, making them unable to independently determine what they will do.

Roll on the following table at the beginning of each subject's turn each round to see what the subject does in that round.

d%	Behavior
01–10	Attack caster with melee or ranged weapons (or close with caster if attack is not possible).
11–20	Act normally.
21–50	Do nothing but babble incoherently.
51–70	Flee away from caster at top possible speed.
71–100	Attack nearest creature (for this purpose, a familiar counts as part of the subject's self).

A confused character who can't carry out the indicated action does nothing but babble incoherently.

Attackers are not at any special advantage when attacking a confused character.

Any confused character who is attacked automatically attacks its attackers on its next turn, as long as it is still confused when its turn comes.

Note that a confused character will not make attacks of opportunity against any creature that it is not already devoted to attacking (either because of its most recent action or because it has just been attacked).

Arcane Material Component: A set of three nut shells.

CONFUSION, LESSER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round

This spell causes a single creature to become confused for 1 round.

See the confusion spell, above, to determine the exact effect on the subject.

CRUSHING DESPAIR

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible cone of despair causes great sadness in the subjects.

Each affected creature takes a –2 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls.

Crushing despair counters and dispels good hope.

Material Component: A vial of tears.

DAZE MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature of 6 HD or less

This spell functions like daze, but daze monster can affect any one living creature of any type.

Creatures of 7 or more HD are not affected.

DAZE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid creature of 4 HD or less

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This enchantment clouds the mind of a humanoid creature with 4 or fewer Hit Dice so that it takes no actions. Humanoids of 5 or more HD are not affected. A dazed subject is not stunned, so attackers get no special advantage against it.
Material Component: A pinch of wool or similar substance.

DEEP SLUMBER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
This spell functions like sleep, except that it affects 10 HD of creatures.

DEMAND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Sor/Wiz 8
Saving Throw: Will partial
Spell Resistance: Yes
This spell functions like sending, but the message can also contain a suggestion (see the suggestion spell), which the subject does its best to carry out. A successful Will save negates the suggestion effect but not the contact itself. The demand, if received, is understood even if the subject's Intelligence score is as low as 1. If the message is impossible or meaningless according to the circumstances that exist for the subject at the time the demand is issued, the message is understood but the suggestion is ineffective. The demand's message to the creature must be twenty-five words or less, including the suggestion. The creature can also give a short reply immediately.
Material Component: A short piece of copper wire and some small part of the subject—a hair, a bit of nail, or the like.

DOMINATE ANIMAL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Animal 3, Drd 3
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One animal
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
You can enchant an animal and direct it with simple commands such as "Attack", "Run", and "Fetch". Suicidal or self-destructive commands (including an order to attack a creature two or more size categories larger than the dominated animal) are simply ignored. Dominate animal establishes a mental link between you and the subject creature. The animal can be directed by silent mental command as long as it remains in range. You need not see the creature to control it. You do not receive direct sensory input from the creature, but you know what it is experiencing. Because you are directing the animal with your own intelligence, it may be able to undertake actions normally beyond its own comprehension.

You need not concentrate exclusively on controlling the creature unless you are trying to direct it to do something it normally couldn't do. Changing your instructions or giving a dominated creature a new command is the equivalent of redirecting a spell, so it is a move action.

DOMINATE MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Sor/Wiz 9
Target: One creature
This spell functions like dominate person, except that the spell is not restricted by creature type.

DOMINATE PERSON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 5
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One humanoid
Duration: One day/level
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
You can control the actions of any humanoid creature through a telepathic link that you establish with the subject's mind. If you and the subject have a common language, you can generally force the subject to perform as you desire, within the limits of its abilities. If no common language exists, you can communicate only basic commands, such as "Come here", "Go there", "Fight", and "Stand still". You know what the subject is experiencing, but you do not receive direct sensory input from it, nor can it communicate with you telepathically. Once you have given a dominated creature a command, it continues to attempt to carry out that command to the exclusion of all other activities except those necessary for day-to-day survival (such as sleeping, eating, and so forth). Because of this limited range of activity, a Sense Motive check against DC 15 (rather than DC 25) can determine that the subject's behavior is being influenced by an enchantment effect (see the Sense Motive skill description, page 81). Changing your instructions or giving a dominated creature a new command is the equivalent of redirecting a spell, so it is a move action. By concentrating fully on the spell (a standard action), you can receive full sensory input as interpreted by the mind of the subject, though it still can't communicate with you. You can't actually see through the subject's eyes, so it's not as good as being there yourself, but you still get a good idea of what's going on (the subject is walking through a smelly courtyard, the subject is talking to a guard, the guard looks suspicious, and so forth). Subjects resist this control, and any subject forced to take actions against its nature receives a new saving throw with a +2 bonus. Obviously self-destructive orders are not carried out.

Once control is established, the range at which it can be exercised is unlimited, as long as you and the subject are on the same plane.

You need not see the subject to control it.

If you don't spend at least 1 round concentrating on the spell each day, the subject receives a new saving throw to throw off the domination.

Protection from evil or a similar spell can prevent you from exercising control or using the telepathic link while the subject is so warded, but such an effect neither prevents the establishment of domination nor dispels it.

ENTHRALL

Enchantment (Charm) [Language Dependent, Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Any number of creatures

Duration: 1 hour or less

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

If you have the attention of a group of creatures, you can use this spell to hold them spellbound.

To cast the spell, you must speak or sing without interruption for 1 full round.

Thereafter, those affected give you their undivided attention, ignoring their surroundings.

They are considered to have an attitude of friendly while under the effect of the spell (see the Dungeon Master's Guide for information about NPC attitudes).

Any potentially affected creature of a race or religion unfriendly to yours gets a +4 bonus on the saving throw.

A creature with 4 or more HD or with a Wisdom score of 16 or higher remains aware of its surroundings and has an attitude of indifferent.

It gains a new saving throw if it witnesses actions that it opposes.

The effect lasts as long as you speak or sing, to a maximum of 1 hour.

Those enthralled by your words take no action while you speak or sing and for 1d3 rounds thereafter while they discuss the topic or performance.

Those entering the area during the performance must also successfully save or become enthralled.

The speech ends (but the 1d3-round delay still applies) if you lose concentration or do anything other than speak or sing.

If those not enthralled have unfriendly or hostile attitudes toward you, they can collectively make a Charisma check to try to end the spell by jeering and heckling.

For this check, use the Charisma bonus of the creature with the highest Charisma in the group; others may make Charisma checks to assist (as described in Aid Another, page 65).

The heckling ends the spell if this check result beats your Charisma check result.

Only one such challenge is allowed per use of the spell. If any member of the audience is attacked or subjected to some other overtly hostile act, the spell ends and the previously enthralled members become immediately unfriendly toward you.

Each creature with 4 or more HD or with a Wisdom score of 16 or higher becomes hostile.

FEEBLEMIND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

If the target creature fails a Will saving throw, its Intelligence and Charisma scores each drop to 1, giving it roughly the intellect of a lizard.

The affected creature is unable to use Intelligence- or Charisma-based skills, cast spells, understand language, or communicate coherently.

Still, it knows who its friends are and can follow them and even protect them.

The subject remains in this state until a heal, limited wish, miracle, or wish spell is used to cancel the effect of the feblemind.

A creature that can cast arcane spells, such as a sorcerer or a wizard, takes a -4 penalty on its saving throw.

Material Component: A handful of clay, crystal, glass, or mineral spheres.

GEAS, LESSER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature with 7 HD or less

Duration: One day/level or until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A lesser geas places a magical command on a creature to carry out some service or to refrain from some action or course of activity, as desired by you.

The creature must have 7 or fewer Hit Dice and be able to understand you.

While a geas cannot compel a creature to kill itself or perform acts that would result in certain death, it can cause almost any other course of activity.

The geased creature must follow the given instructions until the geas is completed, no matter how long it takes.

If the instructions involve some open-ended task that the recipient cannot complete through his own actions (such as "Wait here" or "Defend this area against attack"), the spell remains in effect for a maximum of one day per caster level.

A clever recipient can subvert some instructions: For example, if you order the recipient to protect you from all harm, it might place you in a nice, safe dungeon for the duration of the spell.

If the subject is prevented from obeying the lesser geas for 24 hours, it takes a -2 penalty to each of its ability scores.

Each day, another -2 penalty accumulates, up to a total of -8.

No ability score can be reduced to less than 1 by this effect. The ability score penalties are removed 24 hours after the subject resumes obeying the lesser geas. A lesser geas (and all ability score penalties) can be ended by break enchantment, limited wish, remove curse, miracle, or wish. Dispel magic does not affect a lesser geas.

GEAS/QUEST

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 6, Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Target: One living creature

Saving Throw: None

This spell functions similarly to lesser geas, except that it affects a creature of any HD and allows no saving throw. Instead of taking penalties to ability scores (as with lesser geas), the subject takes 3d6 points of damage each day it does not attempt to follow the geas/quest.

Additionally, each day it must make a Fortitude saving throw or become sickened.

These effects end 24 hours after the creature attempts to resume the geas/quest.

A remove curse spell ends a geas/quest spell only if its caster level is at least two higher than your caster level.

Break enchantment does not end a geas/quest, but limited wish, miracle, and wish do.

Bards, sorcerers, and wizards usually refer to this spell as geas, while clerics call the same spell quest.

GOOD HOPE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One living creature/level, no two of which may be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell instills powerful hope in the subjects. Each affected creature gains a +2 morale bonus on saving throws, attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls.

Good hope counters and dispels crushing despair.

HEROISM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell imbues a single creature with great bravery and morale in battle.

The target gains a +2 morale bonus on attack rolls, saves, and skill checks.

HEROISM, GREATER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Duration: 1 min./level

This spell functions like heroism, except the creature gains a +4 morale bonus on attack rolls, saves, and skill checks, immunity to fear effects, and temporary hit points equal to your caster level (maximum 20).

HOLD ANIMAL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Animal 2, Drd 2, Rgr 2

Components: V, S

Target: One animal

This spell functions like hold person, except that it affects an animal instead of a humanoid.

HOLD MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4, Law 6, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Target: One living creature

This spell functions like hold person, except that it affects any living creature that fails its Will save.

Arcane Material Component: One hard metal bar or rod, which can be as small as a three-penny nail.

HOLD MONSTER, MASS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like hold person, except that it affects multiple creatures and holds any living creature that fails its Will save.

HOLD PERSON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject becomes paralyzed and freezes in place. It is aware and breathes normally but cannot take any actions, even speech.

Each round on its turn, the subject may attempt a new saving throw to end the effect.

(This is a full-round action that does not provoke attacks of opportunity).

A winged creature who is paralyzed cannot flap its wings and falls.

A swimmer can't swim and may drown.

Arcane Focus: A small, straight piece of iron.

HOLD PERSON, MASS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Targets: One or more humanoid creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like hold person, except as noted above.

HYPNOTISM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Several living creatures, no two of which may be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 2d4 rounds (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your gestures and droning incantation fascinate nearby creatures, causing them to stop and stare blankly at you. In addition, you can use their rapt attention to make your suggestions and requests seem more plausible.

Roll 2d4 to see how many total Hit Dice of creatures you affect.

Creatures with fewer HD are affected before creatures with more HD.

Only creatures that can see or hear you are affected, but they do not need to understand you to be fascinated.

If you use this spell in combat, each target gains a +2 bonus on its saving throw.

If the spell affects only a single creature not in combat at the time, the saving throw has a penalty of -2.

While the subject is fascinated by this spell, it reacts as though it were two steps more friendly in attitude (see Influencing NPC Attitudes, page 72).

This allows you to make a single request of the affected creature (provided you can communicate with it).

The request must be brief and reasonable.

Even after the spell ends, the creature retains its new attitude toward you, but only with respect to that particular request.

A creature that fails its saving throw does not remember that you enspelled it.

INSANITY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The affected creature suffers from a continuous confusion effect, as the spell.

Remove curse does not remove insanity.

Greater restoration, heal, limited wish, miracle, or wish can restore the creature.

LULLABY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Living creatures within a 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any creature within the area that fails a Will save becomes drowsy and inattentive, taking a -5 penalty on Listen and Spot checks and a -2 penalty on Will saves against sleep effects while the lullaby is in effect.

Lullaby lasts for as long as the caster concentrates, plus up to 1 round per caster level thereafter.

MIND FOG

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 30 minutes and 2d6 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Mind fog produces a bank of thin mist that weakens the mental resistance of those caught in it.

Creatures in the mind fog take a -10 competence penalty on Wisdom checks and Will saves.

(A creature that successfully saves against the fog is not affected and need not make further saves even if it remains in the fog).

Affected creatures take the penalty as long as they remain in the fog and for 2d6 rounds thereafter.

The fog is stationary and lasts for 30 minutes (or until dispersed by wind).

A moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses the fog in four rounds; a strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the fog in 1 round.

The fog is thin and does not significantly hamper vision.

MODIFY MEMORY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round; see text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You reach into the subject's mind and modify as many as 5 minutes of its memories in one of the following ways.

- Eliminate all memory of an event the subject actually experienced.

This spell cannot negate charm, geas/quest, suggestion, or similar spells.

- Allow the subject to recall with perfect clarity an event it actually experienced.

For instance, it could recall every word from a 5-minute conversation or every detail from a passage in a book.

- Change the details of an event the subject actually experienced.
- Implant a memory of an event the subject never experienced.

Casting the spell takes 1 round.

If the subject fails to save, you proceed with the spell by spending as much as 5 minutes (a period of time equal to the amount of memory time you want to modify) visualizing the memory you wish to modify in the subject. If your concentration is disturbed before the visualization is complete, or if the subject is ever beyond the spell's range during this time, the spell is lost.

A modified memory does not necessarily affect the subject's actions, particularly if it contradicts the creature's natural inclinations.

An illogical modified memory, such as the subject recalling how much it enjoyed drinking poison, is dismissed by the creature as a bad dream or a memory muddled by too much wine.

More useful applications of modify memory include implanting memories of friendly encounters with you (inclining the subject to act favorably toward you), changing the details of orders given to the subject by a superior, or causing the subject to forget that it ever saw you or your party.

The DM reserves the right to decide whether a modified memory is too nonsensical to significantly affect the subject.

OTTO'S IRRESISTIBLE DANCE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject feels an undeniable urge to dance and begins doing so, complete with foot shuffling and tapping.

The spell effect makes it impossible for the subject to do anything other than caper and prance in place.

The effect imposes a -4 penalty to Armor Class and a -10 penalty on Reflex saves, and it negates any AC bonus granted by a shield the target holds.

The dancing subject provokes attacks of opportunity each round on its turn.

POWER WORD BLIND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, War 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature with 200 hp or less

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter a single word of power that causes one creature of your choice to become blinded, whether the creature can hear the word or not.

The duration of the spell depends on the target's current hit point total.

Any creature that currently has 201 or more hit points is unaffected by power word blind.

Hit Points	Duration
50 or less	Permanent
51–100	1d4+1 minutes
101–200	1d4+1 rounds

POWER WORD KILL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Death, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, War 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature with 100 hp or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter a single word of power that instantly kills one creature of your choice, whether the creature can hear the word or not.

Any creature that currently has 101 or more hit points is unaffected by power word kill.

POWER WORD STUN

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature with 150 hp or less

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter a single word of power that instantly causes one creature of your choice to become stunned, whether the creature can hear the word or not.

The duration of the spell depends on the target's current hit point total.

Any creature that currently has 151 or more hit points is unaffected by power word stun.

Hit Points	Duration
50 or less	4d4 rounds
51–100	2d4 rounds
101–150	1d4 rounds

PRAYER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 3, Pal 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: All allies and foes within a 40-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bring special favor upon yourself and your allies while bringing disfavor to your enemies.

You and your each of your allies gain a +1 luck bonus on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saves, and skill checks, while each of your foes takes a -1 penalty on such rolls.

RAGE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One willing living creature per three levels, no two of which may be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Each affected creature gains a +2 morale bonus to Strength and Constitution, a +1 morale bonus on Will saves, and a -2 penalty to AC.

The effect is otherwise identical with a barbarian's rage (see page 25), except that the subjects aren't fatigued at the end of the rage.

SLEEP

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One or more living creatures within a 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A sleep spell causes a magical slumber to come upon 4 Hit Dice of creatures.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first.

Among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

For example, Mialec casts sleep at one rat (1/4 HD), one kobold (1 HD), two gnolls (2 HD), and an ogre (4 HD).

The rat, the kobold, and one gnoll are affected (1/4 + 1 + 2 = 3-1/4 HD).

The remaining 3/4 HD is not enough to affect the last gnoll or the ogre.

Mialec can't choose to have sleep affect the ogre or the two gnolls.

Sleeping creatures are helpless.

Slapping or wounding awakens an affected creature, but normal noise does not.

Awakening a creature is a standard action (an application of the aid another action).

Sleep does not target unconscious creatures, constructs, or undead creatures.

Material Component: A pinch of fine sand, rose petals, or a live cricket.

SONG OF DISCORD

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Creatures within a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes those within the area to turn on each other rather than attack their foes.

Each affected creature has a 50% chance to attack the nearest target each round.

(Roll to determine each creature's behavior every round at the beginning of its turn.)

A creature that does not attack its nearest neighbor is free to act normally for that round.

Creatures forced by a song of discord to attack their fellows employ all methods at their disposal, choosing their deadliest spells and most advantageous combat tactics.

They do not, however, harm targets that have fallen unconscious.

SUGGESTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 hour/level or until completed

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You influence the actions of the target creature by suggesting a course of activity (limited to a sentence or two).

The suggestion must be worded in such a manner as to make the activity sound reasonable.

Asking the creature to stab itself, throw itself onto a spear, immolate itself, or do some other obviously harmful act automatically negates the effect of the spell.

However, a suggestion that a pool of acid is actually pure water and that a quick dip would be refreshing is another matter.

Urging a red dragon to stop attacking your party so that the dragon and party could jointly loot a rich treasure elsewhere is a likewise reasonable use of the spell's power. The suggested course of activity can continue for the entire duration, such as in the case of the red dragon mentioned above.

If the suggested activity can be completed in a shorter time, the spell ends when the subject finishes what it was asked to do.

You can instead specify conditions that will trigger a special activity during the duration.

For example, you might suggest that a noble knight give her warhorse to the first beggar she meets.

If the condition is not met before the spell duration expires, the activity is not performed.

A very reasonable suggestion causes the save to be made with a penalty (such as -1 or -2) at the discretion of the DM.
Material Component: A snake's tongue and either a bit of honeycomb or a drop of sweet oil.

SUGGESTION, MASS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Language-Dependent, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like suggestion, except that it can affect more creatures.

The same suggestion applies to all these creatures.

SYMBOL OF INSANITY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that all creatures within the radius of the symbol of insanity instead become permanently insane (as the insanity spell).

Unlike symbol of death, symbol of insanity has no hit point limit; once triggered, a symbol of insanity simply remains active for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of insanity are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of insanity and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 33 for symbol of insanity.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

SYMBOL OF PERSUASION

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that all creatures within the radius of a symbol of persuasion instead become charmed by the caster (as the charm monster spell) for 1 hour per caster level.

Unlike symbol of death, symbol of persuasion has no hit point limit; once triggered, a symbol of persuasion simply remains active for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of persuasion are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of persuasion and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 31 for symbol of persuasion.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

SYMBOL OF SLEEP

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that all creatures of 10 HD or less within 60 feet of the symbol of sleep instead fall into a catatonic slumber for 3d6×10 minutes.

Unlike with the sleep spell, sleeping creatures cannot be awakened by nonmagical means before this time expires.

Unlike symbol of death, symbol of sleep has no hit point limit; once triggered, a symbol of sleep simply remains active for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of sleep are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of sleep and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 30 for symbol of sleep.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 1,000 gp.

SYMBOL OF STUNNING

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that all creatures within 60 feet of a symbol of stunning instead become stunned for 1d6 rounds.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of stunning are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of stunning and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 32 for symbol of stunning.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

SYMPATHY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One location (up to a 10-ft. cube/level) or one object

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause an object or location to emanate magical vibrations that attract either a specific kind of intelligent creature or creatures of a particular alignment, as defined by you.

The particular kind of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasus, or vampires.

A creature subtype (such as goblinoid) is not specific enough.

Likewise, the specific alignment must be named—for example, chaotic evil, chaotic good, lawful neutral, or neutral.

Creatures of the specified kind or alignment feel elated and pleased to be in the area or desire to touch or to possess the object.

The compulsion to stay in the area or touch the object is overpowering.

If the save is successful, the creature is released from the enchantment, but a subsequent save must be made 1d6×10 minutes later.

If this save fails, the affected creature attempts to return to the area or object.

Sympathy counters and dispels antipathy.

Material Component: 1,500 gp worth of crushed pearls and a drop of honey.

TASHA'S HIDEOUS LAUGHTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature; see text

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell afflicts the subject with uncontrollable laughter.

It collapses into gales of manic laughter, falling prone.

The subject can take no actions while laughing, but is not considered helpless.

After the spell ends, it can act normally.

A creature with an Intelligence score of 2 or lower is not affected.

A creature whose type (such as humanoid or dragon) is different from the caster's receives a +4 bonus on its saving throw, because humor doesn't "translate" well.

Material Component: Tiny tarts that are thrown at the target and a feather that is waved in the air.

TOUCH OF IDIOCY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a touch, you reduce the target's mental faculties.

Your successful melee touch attack applies a 1d6 penalty to the target's Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores.

This penalty can't reduce any of these scores below 1.

This spell's effect may make it impossible for the target to cast some or all of its spells, if the requisite ability score drops below the minimum required to cast spells of that level.

ZONE OF TRUTH

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 2, Pal 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Creatures within the emanation area (or those who enter it) can't speak any deliberate and intentional lies.

Each potentially affected creature is allowed a save to avoid the effects when the spell is cast or when the creature first enters the emanation area.

Affected creatures are aware of this enchantment.

Therefore, they may avoid answering questions to which they would normally respond with a lie, or they may be evasive as long as they remain within the boundaries of the truth.

Creatures who leave the area are free to speak as they choose.

EVOCATION

BIGBY'S CLENCHED FIST

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Strength 8

Components: V, S, F/DF

This spell functions like Bigby's interposing hand, except that the hand can interpose itself, push, or strike one opponent that you select.

The floating hand can move as far as 60 feet and can attack in the same round.

Since this hand is directed by you, its ability to notice or attack invisible or concealed creatures is no better than yours.

The hand attacks once per round, and its attack bonus equals your caster level + your Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma modifier (for a wizard, cleric, or sorcerer, respectively), +11 for the hand's Strength score (33), -1 for being Large.

The hand deals 1d8+11 points of damage on each attack, and any creature struck must make a Fortitude save (against this spell's save DC) or be stunned for 1 round.

Directing the spell to a new target is a move action.

The clenched fist can also interpose itself as Bigby's interposing hand does, or it can bull rush an opponent as Bigby's forceful hand does, but at a +15 bonus on the Strength check.

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—Pelor's clenched fist, for example.

Arcane Focus: A leather glove.

BIGBY'S CRUSHING HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, Strength 9

Components: V, S, M, F/DF

This spell functions like Bigby's interposing hand, except that the hand can interpose itself, push, or crush one opponent that you select.

The crushing hand can grapple an opponent like Bigby's grasping hand does.

Its grapple bonus equals your caster level + your Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma modifier (for a wizard, cleric, or sorcerer, respectively), +12 for the hand's Strength score (35), +4 for being Large.

The hand deals 2d6+12 points of damage (lethal, not nonlethal) on each successful grapple check against an opponent.

The crushing hand can also interpose itself as Bigby's interposing hand does, or it can bull rush an opponent as Bigby's forceful hand does, but at a +18 bonus.

Directing the spell to a new target is a move action.

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—St. Cuthbert's crushing hand, for example.

Arcane Material Component: The shell of an egg.

Arcane Focus: A glove of snakeskin.

BIGBY'S FORCEFUL HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

This spell functions like Bigby's interposing hand, except that the forceful hand pursues and pushes away the opponent that you designate.

Treat this attack as a bull rush with a +14 bonus on the Strength check (+8 for Strength 27, +4 for being Large, and a +2 bonus for charging, which it always gets).

The hand always moves with the opponent to push that target back the full distance allowed, and it has no speed limit.

Directing the spell to a new target is a move action.

A very strong creature could not push the hand out of its way because the latter would instantly reposition itself between the creature and you, but an opponent could push the hand up against you by successfully bull rushing it.

Focus: A sturdy glove made of leather or heavy cloth.

BIGBY'S GRASPING HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7, Strength 7

Components: V, S, F/DF

This spell functions like Bigby's interposing hand, except the hand can also grapple one opponent that you select.

The grasping hand gets one grapple attack per round.

Its attack bonus to make contact equals your caster level + your Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma modifier (for wizards, clerics, and sorcerers, respectively), +10 for the hand's Strength score (31), -1 for being Large.

Its grapple bonus is this same figure, except with a +4 modifier for being Large instead of -1.

The hand holds but does not harm creatures it grapples.

Directing the spell to a new target is a move action.

The grasping hand can also bull rush an opponent as Bigby's forceful hand does, but at a +16 bonus on the Strength check (+10 for Strength 35, +4 for being Large, and a +2 bonus for charging, which it always gets), or interpose itself as Bigby's interposing hand does.

Clerics who cast this spell name it for their deities—Kord's grasping hand, for example.

Arcane Focus: A leather glove.

BIGBY'S INTERPOSING HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 10-ft. hand

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Bigby's Interposing hand creates a Large magic hand that appears between you and one opponent.

This floating, disembodied hand then moves to remain between the two of you, regardless of where you move or how the opponent tries to get around it, providing cover (+4 AC) for you against that opponent.

Nothing can fool the hand—it sticks with the selected opponent in spite of darkness, invisibility, polymorphing, or any other attempt at hiding or disguise.

The hand does not pursue an opponent, however.

A Bigby's hand is 10 feet long and about that wide with its fingers outstretched.

It has as many hit points as you do when you're undamaged, and its AC is 20 (-1 size, +11 natural).

It takes damage as a normal creature, but most magical effects that don't cause damage do not affect it.

The hand never provokes attacks of opportunity from opponents.

It cannot push through a wall of force or enter an antimagic field, but it suffers the full effect of a prismatic wall or prismatic sphere.

The hand makes saving throws as its caster.

Disintegrate or a successful dispel magic destroys it.

Any creature weighing 2,000 pounds or less that tries to push past the hand is slowed to half its normal speed.

The hand cannot reduce the speed of a creature weighing more than 2,000 pounds, but it still affects the creature's attacks.

Directing the spell to a new target is a move action.

Focus: A soft glove.

BLADE BARRIER

Evocation [Force]

Level: Clr 6, Good 6, War 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall of whirling blades up to 20 ft. long/level, or a ringed wall of whirling blades with a radius of up to 5 ft. per two levels; either form 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half or Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

An immobile, vertical curtain of whirling blades shaped of pure force springs into existence.

Any creature passing through the wall takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), with a Reflex save for half damage.

If you evoke the barrier so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall.

Each such creature can avoid the wall (ending up on the side of its choice) and thus take no damage by making a successful Reflex save.

A blade barrier provides cover (+4 bonus to AC, +2 bonus on Reflex saves) against attacks made through it.

BLASPHEMY

Evocation [Evil, Sonic]

Level: Clr 7, Evil 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: Nonevil creatures in a 40-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any nonevil creature within the area of a blasphemy spell suffers the following ill effects.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Dazed
Up to caster level -1	Weakened, dazed
Up to caster level -5	Paralyzed, weakened, dazed
Up to caster level -10	Killed, paralyzed, weakened, dazed

The effects are cumulative and concurrent.

No saving throw is allowed against these effects.

Dazed: The creature can take no actions for 1 round, though it defends itself normally.

Weakened: The creature's Strength score decreases by 2d6 points for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

Furthermore, if you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, nonevil extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the blasphemy.

The banishment effect allows a Will save (at a -4 penalty) to negate.

Creatures whose Hit Dice exceed your caster level are unaffected by blasphemy.

BURNING HANDS

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Fire 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 15 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A cone of searing flame shoots from your fingertips.

Any creature in the area of the flames takes 1d4 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 5d4).

Flammable materials, such as cloth, paper, parchment, and thin wood burn if the flames touch them.

A character can extinguish burning items as a full-round action.

CALL LIGHTNING STORM

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Drd 5

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

This spell functions like call lightning, except that each bolt deals 5d6 points of electricity damage (or 5d10 if created outdoors in a stormy area), and you may call a maximum of 15 bolts.

CALL LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Drd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One or more 30-ft.-long vertical lines of lightning

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Immediately upon completion of the spell, and once per round thereafter, you may call down a 5-foot-wide, 30-foot-long, vertical bolt of lightning that deals 3d6 points of electricity damage.

The bolt of lightning flashes down in a vertical stroke at whatever target point you choose within the spell's range (measured from your position at the time).

Any creature in the target square or in the path of the bolt is affected.

You need not call a bolt of lightning immediately; other actions, even spellcasting, can be performed.

However, each round after the first you may use a standard action (concentrating on the spell) to call a bolt.

You may call a total number of bolts equal to your caster level (maximum 10 bolts).

If you are outdoors and in a stormy area—a rain shower, clouds and wind, hot and cloudy conditions, or even a tornado (including a whirlwind formed by a djinni or an air elemental of at least Large size; see the Monster Manual)—each bolt deals 3d10 points of electricity damage instead of 3d6.

This spell functions indoors or underground but not underwater.

CHAIN LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Air 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: One primary target, plus one secondary target/level (each of which must be within 30 ft. of the primary target)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an electrical discharge that begins as a single stroke commencing from your fingertips. Unlike lightning bolt, chain lightning strikes one object or creature initially, then arcs to other targets. The bolt deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per caster level (maximum 20d6) to the primary target. After it strikes, lightning can arc to a number of secondary targets equal to your caster level (maximum 20). The secondary bolts each strike one target and deal half as much damage as the primary one did (rounded down). For example, a 19th-level sorcerer generates a primary bolt (19d6 points of damage) and as many as nineteen secondary bolts (each of which deals half as much as the primary bolt dealt). Each target can attempt a Reflex saving throw for half damage. You choose secondary targets as you like, but they must all be within 30 feet of the primary target, and no target can be struck more than once. You can choose to affect fewer secondary targets than the maximum (to avoid allies in the area, for example). Focus: A bit of fur; a piece of amber, glass, or a crystal rod; plus one silver pin for each of your caster levels.

CHAOS HAMMER

Evocation [Chaotic]
Level: Chaos 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: 20-ft.-radius burst
Duration: Instantaneous (1d6 rounds); see text
Saving Throw: Will partial; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
You unleash chaotic power to smite your enemies. The power takes the form of a multicolored explosion of leaping, ricocheting energy. Only lawful and neutral (not chaotic) creatures are harmed by the spell. The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to lawful creatures (or 1d6 points of damage per caster level, maximum 10d6, to lawful outsiders) and slows them for 1d6 rounds (see the slow spell). A successful Will save reduces the damage by half and negates the slow effect. The spell deals only half damage against creatures who are neither lawful nor chaotic, and they are not slowed. Such a creature can reduce the damage by half again (down to one-quarter) with a successful Will save.

CONE OF COLD

Evocation [Cold]
Level: Sor/Wiz 5, Water 6
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 60 ft.
Area: Cone-shaped burst
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Reflex half
Spell Resistance: Yes

Cone of cold creates an area of extreme cold, originating at your hand and extending outward in a cone. It drains heat, dealing 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).
Arcane Material Component: A very small crystal or glass cone.

CONSECRATE

Evocation [Good]
Level: Clr 2
Components: V, S, M, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation
Duration: 2 hours/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
This spell blesses an area with positive energy. Each Charisma check made to turn undead within this area gains a +3 sacred bonus. Every undead creature entering a consecrated area suffers minor disruption, giving it a -1 penalty on attack rolls, damage rolls, and saves. Undead cannot be created within or summoned into a consecrated area. If the consecrated area contains an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture dedicated to your deity, pantheon, or aligned higher power, the modifiers given above are doubled (+6 sacred bonus on turning checks, -2 penalties for undead in the area). You cannot consecrate an area with a similar fixture of a deity other than your own patron. If the area does contain an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture of a deity, pantheon, or higher power other than your patron, the consecrate spell instead curses the area, cutting off its connection with the associated deity or power. This secondary function, if used, does not also grant the bonuses and penalties relating to undead, as given above. Consecrate counters and dispels desecrate.
Material Component: A vial of holy water and 25 gp worth (5 pounds) of silver dust, all of which must be sprinkled around the area.

CONTINGENCY

Evocation
Level: Sor/Wiz 6
Components: V, S, M, F
Casting Time: At least 10 minutes; see text
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: One day/level (D) or until discharged
You can place another spell upon your person so that it comes into effect under some condition you dictate when casting contingency. The contingency spell and the companion spell are cast at the same time. The 10-minute casting time is the minimum total for both castings; if the companion spell has a casting time longer than 10 minutes, use that instead. The spell to be brought into effect by the contingency must be one that affects your person (feather fall, levitate, fly, teleport, and so forth) and be of a spell level no higher than one-third your caster level (rounded down, maximum 6th level).

The conditions needed to bring the spell into effect must be clear, although they can be general.

For example, a contingency cast with water breathing might prescribe that any time you are plunged into or otherwise engulfed in water or similar liquid, the water breathing spell instantly comes into effect.

Or a contingency could bring a feather fall spell into effect any time you fall more than 4 feet.

In all cases, the contingency immediately brings into effect the companion spell, the latter being “cast” instantaneously when the prescribed circumstances occur.

If complicated or convoluted conditions are prescribed, the whole spell combination (contingency and the companion magic) may fail when called on.

The companion spell occurs based solely on the stated conditions, regardless of whether you want it to.

You can use only one contingency spell at a time; if a second is cast, the first one (if still active) is dispelled.

Material Component: That of the companion spell, plus quicksilver and an eyelash of an ogre mage, rakshasa, or similar spell-using creature.

Focus: A statuette of you carved from elephant ivory and decorated with gems (worth at least 1,500 gp).

You must carry the focus for the contingency to work.

CONTINUAL FLAME

Evocation [Light]

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Effect: Magical, heatless flame

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A flame, equivalent in brightness to a torch, springs forth from an object that you touch.

The effect looks like a regular flame, but it creates no heat and doesn't use oxygen.

A continual flame can be covered and hidden but not smothered or quenched.

Light spells counter and dispel darkness spells of an equal or lower level.

Material Component: You sprinkle ruby dust (worth 50 gp) on the item that is to carry the flame.

DANCING LIGHTS

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Up to four lights, all within a 10-ft.-radius area

Duration: 1 minute (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version selected, you create up to four lights that resemble lanterns or torches (and cast that amount of light), or up to four glowing spheres of light (which look like will-o'-wisps), or one faintly glowing, vaguely humanoid shape.

The dancing lights must stay within a 10-foot-radius area in relation to each other but otherwise move as you desire (no concentration required): forward or back, up or down, straight or turning corners, or the like.

The lights can move up to 100 feet per round.

A light winks out if the distance between you and it exceeds the spell's range.

Dancing lights can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

DARKNESS

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes an object to radiate shadowy illumination out to a 20-foot radius.

All creatures in the area gain concealment (20% miss chance).

Even creatures that can normally see in such conditions (such as with darkvision or lowlight vision) have the miss chance in an area shrouded in magical darkness.

Normal lights (torches, candles, lanterns, and so forth) are incapable of brightening the area, as are light spells of lower level (such as light or dancing lights).

Higher level light spells (such as daylight) are not affected by darkness.

If darkness is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effect is blocked until the covering is removed.

Darkness counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower spell level.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of bat fur and either a drop of pitch or a piece of coal.

DAYLIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 3, Clr 3, Drd 3, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The object touched sheds light as bright as full daylight in a 60-foot radius, and dim light for an additional 60 feet beyond that.

Creatures that take penalties in bright light also take them while within the radius of this magical light.

Despite its name, this spell is not the equivalent of daylight for the purposes of creatures that are damaged or destroyed by bright light (such as vampires).

If daylight is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a light-proof covering, the spell's effects are blocked until the covering is removed.

Daylight brought into an area of magical darkness (or vice versa) is temporarily negated, so that the otherwise prevailing light conditions exist in the overlapping areas of effect.

Daylight counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level, such as darkness.

DEEPER DARKNESS

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Clr 3

Duration: One day/level (D)

This spell functions like darkness, except that the object radiates shadowy illumination in a 60-foot radius and the darkness lasts longer.

Daylight brought into an area of deeper darkness (or vice versa) is temporarily negated, so that the otherwise prevailing light conditions exist in the overlapping areas of effect.

Deeper darkness counters and dispels any light spell of equal or lower level, including daylight and light.

DELAYED BLAST FIREBALL

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Duration: 5 rounds or less; see text

This spell functions like fireball, except that it is more powerful and can detonate up to 5 rounds after the spell is cast.

The burst of flame deals 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

The glowing bead created by delayed blast fireball can detonate immediately if you desire, or you can choose to delay the burst for as many as 5 rounds.

You select the amount of delay upon completing the spell, and that time cannot change once it has been set unless someone touches the bead (see below).

If you choose a delay, the glowing bead sits at its destination until it detonates.

A creature can pick up and hurl the bead as a thrown weapon (range increment 10 feet).

If a creature handles and moves the bead within 1 round of its detonation, there is a 25% chance that the bead detonates while being handled.

DESECRATE

Evocation [Evil]

Level: Clr 2, Evil 2

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell imbues an area with negative energy.

Each Charisma check made to turn undead within this area takes a -3 profane penalty, and every undead creature entering a desecrated area gains a +1 profane bonus on attack rolls, damage rolls, and saving throws.

An undead creature created within or summoned into such an area gains +1 hit points per HD.

If the desecrated area contains an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture dedicated to your deity or aligned higher power, the modifiers given above are doubled (-6 profane penalty on turning checks, +2 profane bonus and +2 hit points per HD for undead in the area).

Furthermore, anyone who casts animate dead within this area may create as many as double the normal amount of undead (that is, 4 HD per caster level rather than 2 HD per caster level).

If the area contains an altar, shrine, or other permanent fixture of a deity, pantheon, or higher power other than your patron, the desecrate spell instead curses the area, cutting off its connection with the associated deity or power.

This secondary function, if used, does not also grant the bonuses and penalties relating to undead, as given above.

Desecrate counters and dispels consecrate.

Material Component: A vial of unholy water and 25 gp worth (5 pounds) of silver dust, all of which must be sprinkled around the area.

DICTUM

Evocation [Lawful, Sonic]

Level: Clr 7, Law 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: Nonlawful creatures in a 40-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any nonlawful creature within the area of a dictum spell suffers the following ill effects.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Deafened
Up to caster level -1	Slowed, deafened
Up to caster level -5	Paralyzed, slowed, deafened
Up to caster level -10	Killed, paralyzed, slowed, deafened

The effects are cumulative and concurrent.

No saving throw is allowed against these effects.

Deafened: The creature is deafened for 1d4 rounds.

Slowed: The creature is slowed, as by the slow spell, for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

Furthermore, if you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, nonlawful extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the dictum.
The banishment effect allows a Will save (at a -4 penalty) to negate.
Creatures whose HD exceed your caster level are unaffected by dictum.

DIVINE FAVOR

Evocation

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute

Calling upon the strength and wisdom of a deity, you gain a +1 luck bonus on attack and weapon damage rolls for every three caster levels you have (at least +1, maximum +6).
The bonus doesn't apply to spell damage.

DIVINE POWER

Evocation

Level: Clr 4, War 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Calling upon the divine power of your patron, you imbue yourself with strength and skill in combat.
Your base attack bonus becomes equal to your character level (which may give you additional attacks), you gain a +6 enhancement bonus to Strength, and you gain 1 temporary hit point per caster level.

EARTHQUAKE

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Clr 8, Destruction 8, Drd 8, Earth 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 80-ft.-radius spread (S)

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

When you cast earthquake, an intense but highly localized tremor rips the ground.

The shock knocks creatures down, collapses structures, opens cracks in the ground, and more.

The effect lasts for 1 round, during which time creatures on the ground can't move or attack.

A spellcaster on the ground must make a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) or lose any spell he or she tries to cast.

The earthquake affects all terrain, vegetation, structures, and creatures in the area.

The specific effect of an earthquake spell depends on the nature of the terrain where it is cast.

Cave, Cavern, or Tunnel: The spell collapses the roof, dealing 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage to any creature caught under the cave-in (Reflex DC 15 half) and pinning that creature beneath the rubble (see below).

An earthquake cast on the roof of a very large cavern could also endanger those outside the actual area but below the falling debris.

Cliffs: Earthquake causes a cliff to crumble, creating a landslide that travels horizontally as far as it fell vertically.

An earthquake cast at the top of a 100-foot cliff would sweep debris 100 feet outward from the base of the cliff.

Any creature in the path takes 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage (Reflex DC 15 half) and is pinned beneath the rubble (see below).

Open Ground: Each creature standing in the area must make a DC 15 Reflex save or fall down.

Fissures open in the earth, and every creature on the ground has a 25% chance to fall into one (Reflex DC 20 to avoid a fissure).

At the end of the spell, all fissures grind shut, killing any creatures still trapped within.

Structure: Any structure standing on open ground takes 100 points of damage, enough to collapse a typical wooden or masonry building, but not a structure built of stone or reinforced masonry.

Hardness does not reduce this damage, nor is it halved as damage dealt to objects normally is (See the Dungeon Master's Guide for information on hit points for walls and the like).

Any creature caught inside a collapsing structure takes 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage (Reflex DC 15 half) and is pinned beneath the rubble (see below).

River, Lake, or Marsh: Fissures open underneath the water, draining away the water from that area and forming muddy ground.

Soggy marsh or swampland becomes quicksand for the duration of the spell, sucking down creatures and structures.

Each creature in the area must make a DC 15 Reflex save or sink down in the mud and quicksand.

At the end of the spell, the rest of the body of water rushes in to replace the drained water, possibly drowning those caught in the mud.

Pinned beneath Rubble: Any creature pinned beneath rubble takes 1d6 points of nonlethal damage per minute while pinned.

If a pinned character falls unconscious, he or she must make a DC 15 Constitution check or take 1d6 points of lethal damage each minute thereafter until freed or dead.

FAERIE FIRE

Evocation [Light]

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Creatures and objects within a 5-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A pale glow surrounds and outlines the subjects.

Outlined subjects shed light as candles.

Outlined creatures do not benefit from the concealment normally provided by darkness (though a 2nd-level or higher magical darkness effect functions normally), blur, displacement, invisibility, or similar effects. The light is too dim to have any special effect on undead or darkdwelling creatures vulnerable to light. The faerie fire can be blue, green, or violet, according to your choice at the time of casting. The faerie fire does not cause any harm to the objects or creatures thus outlined.

FIRE SHIELD

Evocation [Fire or Cold]

Level: Fire 5, Sor/Wiz 4, Sun 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

This spell wreathes you in flame and causes damage to each creature that attacks you in melee.

The flames also protect you from either cold-based or fire-based attacks (your choice).

Any creature striking you with its body or a handheld weapon deals normal damage, but at the same time the attacker takes 1d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15).

This damage is either cold damage (if the shield protects against fire-based attacks) or fire damage (if the shield protects against cold-based attacks).

If the attacker has spell resistance, it applies to this effect. Creatures wielding weapons with exceptional reach are not subject to this damage if they attack you.

When casting this spell, you appear to immolate yourself, but the flames are thin and wispy, giving off light equal to only half the illumination of a normal torch (10 feet).

The color of the flames is determined randomly (50% chance of either color)—blue or green if the chill shield is cast, violet or blue if the warm shield is employed.

The special powers of each version are as follows.

Warm Shield: The flames are warm to the touch. You take only half damage from cold-based attacks.

If such an attack allows a Reflex save for half damage, you take no damage on a successful save.

Chill Shield: The flames are cool to the touch.

You take only half damage from fire-based attacks.

If such an attack allows a Reflex save for half damage, you take no damage on a successful save.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of phosphorus for the warm shield; a live firefly or glowworm or the tail portions of four dead ones for the chill shield.

FIRE STORM

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Clr 8, Drd 7, Fire 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Two 10-ft. cubes per level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

When a fire storm spell is cast, the whole area is shot through with sheets of roaring flame.

The raging flames do not harm natural vegetation, ground cover, and any plant creatures in the area that you wish to exclude from damage.

Any other creature within the area takes 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

FIREBALL

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A fireball spell is an explosion of flame that detonates with a low roar and deals 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to every creature within the area.

Unattended objects also take this damage.

The explosion creates almost no pressure.

You point your finger and determine the range (distance and height) at which the fireball is to burst.

A glowing, pea-sized bead streaks from the pointing digit and, unless it impacts upon a material body or solid barrier prior to attaining the prescribed range, blossoms into the fireball at that point.

(An early impact results in an early detonation).

If you attempt to send the bead through a narrow passage, such as through an arrow slit, you must “hit” the opening with a ranged touch attack, or else the bead strikes the barrier and detonates prematurely.

The fireball sets fire to combustibles and damages objects in the area.

It can melt metals with low melting points, such as lead, gold, copper, silver, and bronze.

If the damage caused to an interposing barrier shatters or breaks through it, the fireball may continue beyond the barrier if the area permits; otherwise it stops at the barrier just as any other spell effect does.

Material Component: A tiny ball of bat guano and sulfur.

FLAME BLADE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Sword-like beam

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A 3-foot-long, blazing beam of red-hot fire springs forth from your hand.

You wield this bladelike beam as if it were a scimitar.

Attacks with the flame blade are melee touch attacks.

The blade deals 1d8 points of fire damage +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

Since the blade is immaterial, your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage.

A flame blade can ignite combustible materials such as parchment, straw, dry sticks, and cloth.

The spell does not function underwater.

FLAME STRIKE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 4, Sun 5, War 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (10-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A flame strike produces a vertical column of divine fire roaring downward.

The spell deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Half the damage is fire damage, but the other half results directly from divine power and is therefore not subject to being reduced by resistance to fire-based attacks, such as that granted by protection from energy (fire), fire shield (chill shield), and similar magic.

FLAMING SPHERE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 5-ft.-diameter sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A burning globe of fire rolls in whichever direction you point and burns those it strikes.

It moves 30 feet per round.

As part of this movement, it can ascend or jump up to 30 feet to strike a target.

If it enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 2d6 points of fire damage to that creature, though a successful Reflex save negates that damage.

A flaming sphere rolls over barriers less than 4 feet tall, such as furniture and low walls.

It ignites flammable substances it touches and illuminates the same area as a torch would.

The sphere moves as long as you actively direct it (a move action for you); otherwise, it merely stays at rest and burns. It can be extinguished by any means that would put out a normal fire of its size.

The surface of the sphere has a spongy, yielding consistency and so does not cause damage except by its flame.

It cannot push aside unwilling creatures or batter down large obstacles.

A flaming sphere winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of tallow, a pinch of brimstone, and a dusting of powdered iron.

FLARE

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Burst of light

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This cantrip creates a burst of light.

If you cause the light to burst directly in front of a single creature, that creature is dazzled for 1 minute unless it makes a successful Fortitude save.

Sightless creatures, as well as creatures already dazzled, are not affected by flare.

FORCECAGE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Barred cage (20-ft. cube) or windowless cell (10-ft. cube)

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This powerful spell brings into being an immobile, invisible cubical prison composed of either bars of force or solid walls of force (your choice).

Creatures within the area are caught and contained unless they are too big to fit inside, in which case the spell automatically fails.

Teleportation and other forms of astral travel provide a means of escape, but the force walls or bars extend into the Ethereal Plane, blocking ethereal travel.

Like a wall of force spell, a forcecage resists dispel magic, but it is vulnerable to a disintegrate spell, and it can be destroyed by a sphere of annihilation or a rod of cancellation.

Barred Cage: This version of the spell produces a 20-foot cube made of bands of force (similar to a wall of force spell) for bars.

The bands are a half-inch wide, with half-inch gaps between them.

Any creature capable of passing through such a small space can escape; others are confined.

You can't attack a creature in a barred cage with a weapon unless the weapon can fit between the gaps.

Even against such weapons (including arrows and similar ranged attacks), a creature in the barred cage has cover.

All spells and breath weapons can pass through the gaps in the bars.

Windowless Cell: This version of the spell produces a 10-foot cube with no way in and no way out.

Solid walls of force form its six sides.

Material Component: Ruby dust worth 1,500 gp, which is tossed into the air and disappears when you cast the spell.

GUST OF WIND

Evocation [Air]

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Effect: Line-shaped gust of severe wind emanating out from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a severe blast of air (approximately 50 mph) that originates from you, affecting all creatures in its path.

A Tiny or smaller creature on the ground is knocked down and rolled 1d4×10 feet, taking 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per 10 feet.

If flying, a Tiny or smaller creature is blown back 2d6×10 feet and takes 2d6 points of nonlethal damage due to battering and buffeting.

Small creatures are knocked prone by the force of the wind, or if flying are blown back 1d6×10 feet.

Medium creatures are unable to move forward against the force of the wind, or if flying are blown back 1d6×5 feet.

Large or larger creatures may move normally within a gust of wind effect.

A gust of wind can't move a creature beyond the limit of its range.

Any creature, regardless of size, takes a -4 penalty on ranged attacks and Listen checks in the area of a gust of wind.

The force of the gust automatically extinguishes candles, torches, and similar unprotected flames.

It causes protected flames, such as those of lanterns, to dance wildly and has a 50% chance to extinguish those lights.

In addition to the effects noted, a gust of wind can do anything that a sudden blast of wind would be expected to do.

It can create a stinging spray of sand or dust, fan a large fire, overturn delicate awnings or hangings, heel over a small boat, and blow gases or vapors to the edge of its range.

Gust of wind can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

HALLOW

Evocation [Good]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 24 hours

Range: Touch

Area: 40-ft. radius emanating from the touched point

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

Hallow makes a particular site, building, or structure a holy site.

This has four major effects.

First, the site or structure is guarded by a magic circle against evil effect.

Second, all Charisma checks made to turn undead gain a +4 sacred bonus, and Charisma checks to command undead take a -4 penalty.

Spell resistance does not apply to this effect.

(This provision does not apply to the druid version of the spell).

Third, any dead body interred in a hallowed site cannot be turned into an undead creature.

Finally, you may choose to fix a single spell effect to the hallowed site.

The spell effect lasts for one year and functions throughout the entire site, regardless of the normal duration and area or effect.

You may designate whether the effect applies to all creatures, creatures who share your faith or alignment, or creatures who adhere to another faith or alignment. For example, you may create a bless effect that aids all creatures of your alignment or faith in the area, or a bane effect that hinders creatures of the opposed alignment or an enemy faith.

At the end of the year, the chosen effect lapses, but it can be renewed or replaced simply by casting hallow again.

Spell effects that may be tied to a hallowed site include aid, bane, bless, cause fear, darkness, daylight, death ward, deeper darkness, detect evil, detect magic, dimensional anchor, discern lies, dispel magic, endure elements, freedom of movement, invisibility purge, protection from energy, remove fear, resist energy, silence, tongues, and zone of truth.

Saving throws and spell resistance might apply to these spells' effects.

(See the individual spell descriptions for details).

An area can receive only one hallow spell (and its associated spell effect) at a time.

Hallow counters but does not dispel unhallow.

Material Component: Herbs, oils, and incense worth at least 1,000 gp, plus 1,000 gp per level of the spell to be included in the hallowed area.

HELPING HAND

Evocation

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 5 miles

Effect: Ghostly hand

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create the ghostly image of a hand, which you can send to find a creature within 5 miles.

The hand then beckons to that creature and leads it to you if the creature is willing to follow.

When the spell is cast, the hand appears in front of you.

You then specify a person (or any creature) by physical description, which can include race, gender, and appearance but not ambiguous factors such as level, alignment, or class.

When the description is complete, the hand streaks off in search of a subject that fits the description.

The amount of time it takes to find the subject depends on how far away she is.

Distance	Time to Locate
100 ft. or less	1 round
1,000 ft.	1 minute
1 mile	10 minutes
2 miles	1 hour
3 miles	2 hours
4 miles	3 hours
5 miles	4 hours

Once the hand locates the subject, it beckons the creature to follow it.

If the subject does so, the hand points in your direction, indicating the most direct feasible route.

The hand hovers 10 feet in front of the subject, moving before it at a speed of as much as 240 feet per round. Once the hand leads the subject back to you, it disappears. The subject is not compelled to follow the hand or act in any particular way toward you.

If the subject chooses not to follow, the hand continues to beckon for the duration of the spell, then disappears.

If the spell expires while the subject is en route to you, the hand disappears; the subject must then rely on her own devices to locate you.

If more than one subject in a 5-mile radius meets the description, the hand locates the closest creature.

If that creature refuses to follow the hand, the hand does not seek out a second subject.

If, at the end of 4 hours of searching, the hand has found no subject that matches the description within 5 miles, it returns to you, displays an outstretched palm (indicating that no such creature was found), and disappears.

The ghostly hand has no physical form.

It is invisible to anyone except you and a potential subject. It cannot engage in combat or execute any other task aside from locating a subject and leading it back to you.

The hand can't pass through solid objects but can ooze through small cracks and slits.

The hand cannot travel more than 5 miles from the spot it appeared when you cast the spell.

HOLY SMITE

Evocation [Good]

Level: Good 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous (1 round); see text

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You draw down holy power to smite your enemies.

Only evil and neutral creatures are harmed by the spell; good creatures are unaffected.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to each evil creature in the area (or 1d6 points of damage per caster level, maximum 10d6, to an evil outsider) and causes it to become blinded for 1 round.

A successful Will saving throw reduces damage to half and negates the blinded effect.

The spell deals only half damage to creatures who are neither good nor evil, and they are not blinded. Such a creature can reduce that damage by half (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Will save.

HOLY SWORD

Evocation [Good]

Level: Pal 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Melee weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to channel holy power into your sword, or any other melee weapon you choose.

The weapon acts as a +5 holy weapon (+5 enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls, extra 2d6 damage against evil opponents).

It also emits a magic circle against evil effect (as the spell).

If the magic circle ends, the sword creates a new one on your turn as a free action.

The spell is automatically canceled 1 round after the weapon leaves your hand.

You cannot have more than one holy sword at a time.

If this spell is cast on a magic weapon, the powers of the spell supersede any that the weapon normally has, rendering the normal enhancement bonus and powers of the weapon inoperative for the duration of the spell.

This spell is not cumulative with bless weapon or any other spell that might modify the weapon in any way.

This spell does not work on artifacts.

Note: A masterwork weapon's bonus to attack does not stack with an enhancement bonus to attack.

HOLY WORD

Evocation [Good, Sonic]

Level: Clr 7, Good 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: Nongood creatures in a 40-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any nongood creature within the area that hears the holy word suffers the following ill effects.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Deafened
Up to caster level -1	Blinded, deafened
Up to caster level -5	Paralyzed, blinded, deafened
Up to caster level -10	Killed, paralyzed, blinded, deafened

The effects are cumulative and concurrent.

No saving throw is allowed against these effects.

Deafened: The creature is deafened for 1d4 rounds.

Blinded: The creature is blinded for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

Furthermore, if you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, nongood extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the holy word.

The banishment effect allows a Will save (at a -4 penalty) to negate.

Creatures whose HD exceed your caster level are unaffected by holy word.

ICE STORM

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 4, Water 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: 1 full round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Great magical hailstones pound down for 1 full round, dealing 3d6 points of bludgeoning damage and 2d6 points of cold damage to every creature in the area.

A -4 penalty applies to each Listen check made within the ice storm's effect, and all land movement within its area is at half speed.

At the end of the duration, the hail disappears, leaving no aftereffects (other than the damage dealt).

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of dust and a few drops of water.

IMBUE WITH SPELL ABILITY

Evocation

Level: Clr 4, Magic 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched; see text

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You transfer some of your currently prepared spells, and the ability to cast them, to another creature.

Only a creature with an Intelligence score of at least 5 and a Wisdom score of at least 9 can receive this bestowal.

Only cleric spells from the schools of abjuration, divination, and conjuration (healing) can be transferred.

The number and level of spells that the subject can be granted depends on its Hit Dice; even multiple castings of imbue with spell ability can't exceed this limit.

HD of Recipient

2 or lower

3–4

5 or higher

Spells

Imbued

One 1st-level spell

One or two 1st-level spells

One or two 1st-level spells and one 2nd-level spell

The transferred spell's variable characteristics (range, duration, area, and the like) function according to your level, not the level of the recipient.

Once you cast imbue with spell ability, you cannot prepare a new 4th-level spell to replace it until the recipient uses the imbued spells or is slain, or until you dismiss the imbue with spell ability spell.

In the meantime, you remain responsible to your deity or your principles for the use to which the spell is put.

If the number of 4th-level spells you can cast decreases, and that number drops below your current number of active imbue with spell ability spells, the more recently cast imbued spells are dispelled.

To cast a spell with a verbal component, the subject must be able to speak.

To cast a spell with a somatic component, it must have humanlike hands.

To cast a spell with a material component or focus, it must have the materials or focus.

IMPLOSION

Evocation

Level: Clr 9, Destruction 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One corporeal creature/round

Duration: Concentration (up to 4 rounds)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a destructive resonance in a corporeal creature's body.

For each round you concentrate, you cause one creature to collapse in on itself, killing it.

(This effect, being instantaneous, cannot be dispelled).

You can target a particular creature only once with each casting of the spell.

Implosion has no effect on creatures in gaseous form or on incorporeal creatures.

INVISIBILITY PURGE

Evocation

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

You surround yourself with a sphere of power with a radius of 5 feet per caster level that negates all forms of invisibility.

Anything invisible becomes visible while in the area.

LEOMUND'S TINY HUT

Evocation [Force]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Effect: 20-ft.-radius sphere centered on your location

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create an unmoving, opaque sphere of force of any color you desire around yourself.

Half the sphere projects above the ground, and the lower hemisphere passes through the ground.

As many as nine other Medium creatures can fit into the field with you; they can freely pass into and out of the hut without harming it.

However, if you remove yourself from the hut, the spell ends.

The temperature inside the hut is 70° F if the exterior temperature is between 0° and 100° F.

An exterior temperature below 0° or above 100° lowers or raises the interior temperature on a 1-degree-for-1 basis (thus, if it's -20° outside, inside the hut it's 50°).

The hut also provides protection against the elements, such as rain, dust, and sandstorms.

The hut withstands any wind of less than hurricane force, but a hurricane (75+ mph wind speed) or greater force destroys it.

The interior of the hut is a hemisphere.

You can illuminate it dimly upon command or extinguish the light as desired.

Although the force field is opaque from the outside, it is transparent from within.

Missiles, weapons, and most spell effects can pass through the hut without affecting it, although the occupants cannot be seen from outside the hut (they have total concealment).

Material Component: A small crystal bead that shatters when the spell duration expires or the hut is dispelled.

LIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes an object to glow like a torch, shedding bright light in a 20-foot radius (and dim light for an additional 20 feet) from the point you touch.

The effect is immobile, but it can be cast on a movable object.

Light taken into an area of magical darkness does not function.

A light spell (one with the light descriptor) counters and dispels a darkness spell (one with the darkness descriptor) of an equal or lower level.

Arcane Material Component: A firefly or a piece of phosphorescent moss.

LIGHTNING BOLT

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: 120-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a powerful stroke of electrical energy that deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to each creature within its area.

The bolt begins at your fingertips.

The lightning bolt sets fire to combustibles and damages objects in its path.

It can melt metals with a low melting point, such as lead, gold, copper, silver, or bronze.

If the damage caused to an interposing barrier shatters or breaks through it, the bolt may continue beyond the barrier if the spell's range permits; otherwise, it stops at the barrier just as any other spell effect does.

Material Component: A bit of fur and an amber, crystal, or glass rod.

MAGIC MISSILE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to five creatures, no two of which can be more than 15 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A missile of magical energy darts forth from your fingertip and strikes its target, dealing 1d4+1 points of force damage. The missile strikes unerringly, even if the target is in melee combat or has less than total cover or total concealment.

Specific parts of a creature can't be singled out.

Inanimate objects are not damaged by the spell.

For every two caster levels beyond 1st, you gain an additional missile—two at 3rd level, three at 5th, four at 7th, and the maximum of five missiles at 9th level or higher.

If you shoot multiple missiles, you can have them strike a single creature or several creatures.

A single missile can strike only one creature.

You must designate targets before you check for spell resistance or roll damage.

METEOR SWARM

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Four 40-ft.-radius spreads; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Meteor swarm is a very powerful and spectacular spell that is similar to fireball in many aspects.

When you cast it, four 2-foot-diameter spheres spring from your outstretched hand and streak in straight lines to the spots you select.

The meteor spheres leave a fiery trail of sparks.

If you aim a sphere at a specific creature, you may make a ranged touch attack to strike the target with the meteor.

Any creature struck by one of these spheres takes 2d6 points of bludgeoning damage (no save) and receives no saving throw against the sphere's fire damage (see below).

If a targeted sphere misses its target, it simply explodes at the nearest corner of the target's space.

You may aim more than one meteor at the same target.

Once a sphere reaches its destination, it explodes in a 40-foot-radius spread, dealing 6d6 points of fire damage to each creature in the area.

If a creature is within the area of more than one sphere, it must save separately against each.

(Fire resistance applies to each sphere's damage individually).

MIRACLE

Evocation

Level: Clr 9, Luck 9

Components: V, S, XP; see text

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You don't so much cast a miracle as request one.

You state what you would like to have happen and request that your deity (or the power you pray to for spells) intercede.

The DM then determines the particular effect of the miracle.

A miracle can do any of the following things.

- Duplicate any cleric spell of 8th level or lower (including spells to which you have access because of your domains).
- Duplicate any other spell of 7th level or lower.
- Undo the harmful effects of certain spells, such as feeblemind or insanity.
- Have any effect whose power level is in line with the above effects.

If the miracle has any of the above effects, casting it has no experience point cost.

Alternatively, a cleric can make a very powerful request.

Casting such a miracle costs the cleric 5,000 XP because of the powerful divine energies involved.

Examples of especially powerful miracles of this sort could include the following.

- Swinging the tide of a battle in your favor by raising fallen allies to continue fighting.
- Moving you and your allies, with all your and their gear, from one plane to another through planar barriers to a specific locale with no chance of error.
- Protecting a city from an earthquake, volcanic eruption, flood, or other major natural disaster.

In any event, a request that is out of line with the deity's (or alignment's) nature is refused.

A duplicated spell allows saving throws and spell resistance as normal, but the save DCs are as for a 9th-level spell.

When a miracle duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay that cost.

When a miracle spell duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 100 gp, you must provide that component.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP (for some uses of the miracle spell; see above).

MORDENKAINEN'S SWORD

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One sword

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell brings into being a shimmering, swordlike plane of force.

The sword strikes at any opponent within its range, as you desire, starting in the round that you cast the spell.

The sword attacks its designated target once each round on your turn.

Its attack bonus is equal to your caster level + your Int bonus or your Cha bonus (for wizards or sorcerers, respectively) with an additional +3 enhancement bonus.

As a force effect, it can strike ethereal and incorporeal creatures.

It deals 4d6+3 points of force damage, with a threat range of 19–20 and a critical multiplier of $\times 2$.

The sword always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a bonus for flanking or help a combatant get one.

If the sword goes beyond the spell range from you, if it goes out of your sight, or if you are not directing it, the sword returns to you and hovers.

Each round after the first, you can use a standard action to switch the sword to a new target.

If you do not, the sword continues to attack the previous round's target.

The sword cannot be attacked or harmed by physical attacks, but dispel magic, disintegrate, a sphere of annihilation, or a rod of cancellation affects it.

The sword's AC is 13 (10, +0 size bonus for Medium object, +3 deflection bonus).

If an attacked creature has spell resistance, the resistance is checked the first time Mordenkainen's sword strikes it.

If the sword is successfully resisted, the spell is dispelled.

If not, the sword has its normal full effect on that creature for the duration of the spell.

Focus: A miniature platinum sword with a grip and pommel of copper and zinc.

It costs 250 gp to construct.

ORDER'S WRATH

Evocation [Lawful]

Level: Law 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Nonlawful creatures within a burst that fills a 30-ft. cube

Duration: Instantaneous (1 round); see text

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You channel lawful power to smite enemies.

The power takes the form of a three-dimensional grid of energy.

Only chaotic and neutral (not lawful) creatures are harmed by the spell.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to chaotic creatures (or 1d6 points of damage per caster level, maximum 10d6, to chaotic outsiders) and causes them to be dazed for 1 round.

A successful Will save reduces the damage to half and negates the daze effect.

The spell deals only half damage to creatures who are neither chaotic nor lawful, and they are not dazed.

They can reduce the damage in half again (down to one-quarter of the roll) with a successful Will save.

OTILUKE'S FREEZING SPHERE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous or 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Otiluke's Freezing sphere creates a frigid globe of cold energy that streaks from your fingertips to the location you select, where it explodes in a 10-foot-radius burst, dealing 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to each creature in the area.

An elemental (water) creature instead takes 1d8 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 15d8).

If the freezing sphere strikes a body of water or a liquid that is principally water (not including water-based creatures), it freezes the liquid to a depth of 6 inches over an area equal to 100 square feet (a 10-foot square) per caster level (maximum 1,500 square feet).

This ice lasts for 1 round per caster level.

Creatures that were swimming on the surface of frozen water become trapped in the ice.

Attempting to break free is a full-round action.

A trapped creature must make a DC 25 Strength check or a DC 25 Escape Artist check to do so.

You can refrain from firing the globe after completing the spell, if you wish.

Treat this as a touch spell for which you are holding the charge (see page 176).

You can hold the charge for as long as 1 round per level, at the end of which time the freezing sphere bursts centered on you (and you receive no saving throw to resist its effect).

Firing the globe in a later round is a standard action.

Focus: A small crystal sphere.

OTILUKE'S RESILIENT SPHERE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1-ft.-diameter/level sphere, centered around a creature

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A globe of shimmering force encloses a creature, provided the creature is small enough to fit within the diameter of the sphere.

The sphere contains its subject for the spell's duration.

The sphere is not subject to damage of any sort except from a rod of cancellation, a rod of negation, a disintegrate spell, or a targeted dispel magic spell.

These effects destroy the sphere without harm to the subject.

Nothing can pass through the sphere, inside or out, though the subject can breathe normally.

The subject may struggle, but the sphere cannot be physically moved either by people outside it or by the struggles of those within.

Material Component: A hemispherical piece of clear crystal and a matching hemispherical piece of gum arabic.

OTILUKE'S TELEKINETIC SPHERE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1-ft.-diameter/level sphere, centered around creatures or objects

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell functions like Otiluke's resilient sphere, with the addition that the creatures or objects inside the globe are nearly weightless.

Anything contained within an Otiluke's telekinetic sphere weighs only one-sixteenth of its normal weight.

You can telekinetically lift anything in the sphere that normally weighs 5,000 pounds or less.

The telekinetic control extends from you out to medium range (100 feet + 10 feet per caster level) after the sphere has succeeded in encapsulating its contents.

You can move objects or creatures in the sphere that weigh a total of 5,000 pounds or less by concentrating on the sphere.

You can begin moving a sphere in the round after casting the spell.

If you concentrate on doing so (a standard action), you can move the sphere as much as 30 feet in a round.

If you cease concentrating, the sphere does not move in that round (if on a level surface) or descends at its falling rate (if aloft) until it reaches a level surface, or the spell's duration expires, or you begin concentrating again.

If you cease concentrating (voluntarily or due to failing a Concentration check), you can resume concentrating on your next turn or any later turn during the spell's duration.

The sphere falls at a rate of only 60 feet per round, which is not fast enough to cause damage to the contents of the sphere.

You can move the sphere telekinetically even if you are in it.

Material Component: A hemispherical piece of clear crystal, a matching hemispherical piece of gum arabic, and a pair of small bar magnets.

POLAR RAY

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, F

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A blue-white ray of freezing air and ice springs from your hand.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to deal damage to a target.

The ray deals 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 25d6).

Focus: A small, white ceramic cone or prism.

PRISMATIC SPRAY

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Creatures in the area of the spell with 8 HD or less are automatically blinded for 2d4 rounds.

Every creature in the area is randomly struck by one or more beams, which have additional effects.

1d8	Color of Beam	Effect
1	Red	20 points fire damage (Reflex half)
2	Orange	40 points acid damage (Reflex half)
3	Yellow	80 points electricity damage (Reflex half)
4	Green	Poison (Kills; Fortitude partial, take 1d6 points of Con damage instead)
5	Blue	Turned to stone (Fortitude negates)
6	Indigo	Insane, as insanity spell (Will negates)
7	Violet	Sent to another plane (Will negates)
8		Struck by two rays; roll twice more, ignoring any "8" results.

PRODUCE FLAME

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 1, Fire 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Flame in your palm

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Flames as bright as a torch appear in your open hand.

The flames harm neither you nor your equipment.

In addition to providing illumination, the flames can be hurled or used to touch enemies.

You can strike an opponent with a melee touch attack, dealing fire damage equal to 1d6 + 1 point per caster level (maximum +5).

Alternatively, you can hurl the flames up to 120 feet as a thrown weapon.

When doing so, you attack with a ranged touch attack (with no range penalty) and deal the same damage as with the melee attack.

No sooner do you hurl the flames than a new set appears in your hand.

Each attack you make reduces the remaining duration by 1 minute.

If an attack reduces the remaining duration to 0 minutes or less, the spell ends after the attack resolves.

This spell does not function underwater.

Casting Time: 1 standard action

The rays may be fired at the same or different targets, but all bolts must be aimed at targets within 30 feet of each other and fired simultaneously.

SEARING LIGHT

Evocation

Level: Clr 3, Sun 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Focusing divine power like a ray of the sun, you project a blast of light from your open palm.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to strike your target.

A creature struck by this ray of light takes 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8).

An undead creature takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6), and an undead creature particularly vulnerable to bright light, such as a vampire, takes 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

A construct or inanimate object takes only 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

SENDING

Evocation

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: See text

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You contact a particular creature with which you are familiar and send a short message of twenty-five words or less to the subject.

The subject recognizes you if it knows you.

It can answer in like manner immediately.

A creature with an Intelligence score as low as 1 can understand the sending, though the subject's ability to react is limited as normal by its Intelligence score.

Even if the sending is received, the subject is not obligated to act upon it in any manner.

If the creature in question is not on the same plane of existence as you are, there is a 5% chance that the sending does not arrive.

(Local conditions on other planes may worsen this chance considerably, at the option of the DM).

Arcane Material Component: A short piece of fine copper wire.

SHATTER

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Chaos 2, Clr 2, Destruction 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Area or Target: 5-ft.-radius spread; or one solid object or one crystalline creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object); Will negates (object) or Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Shatter creates a loud, ringing noise that breaks brittle, nonmagical objects; sunders a single solid, nonmagical object; or damages a crystalline creature.

Used as an area attack, shatter destroys nonmagical objects of crystal, glass, ceramic, or porcelain, such as vials, bottles, flasks, jugs, windows, mirrors, and so forth.

All such objects within a 5-foot radius of the point of origin are smashed into dozens of pieces by the spell.

Objects weighing more than 1 pound per your level are not affected, but all other objects of the appropriate composition are shattered.

Alternatively, you can target shatter against a single solid object, regardless of composition, weighing up to 10 pounds per caster level.

Targeted against a crystalline creature (of any weight), shatter deals 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 10d6), with a Fortitude save for half damage.

Arcane Material Component: A chip of mica.

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any creature within the area is deafened for 2d6 rounds and takes 5d6 points of sonic damage.

A successful save negates the deafness and reduces the damage by half.

Any exposed brittle or crystalline object or crystalline creature takes 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

An affected creature is allowed a Fortitude save to reduce the damage by half, and a creature holding fragile objects can negate damage to them with a successful Reflex save. A shout spell cannot penetrate a silence spell.

SHOUT, GREATER

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, F

Range: 60 ft.

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial or Reflex negates (object); see text

This spell functions like shout, except that the cone deals 10d6 points of sonic damage (or 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level, maximum 20d6, against exposed brittle or crystalline objects or crystalline creatures).

It also causes creatures to be stunned for 1 round and deafened for 4d6 rounds.

A creature in the area of the cone can negate the stunning and halve both the damage and the duration of the deafness with a successful Fortitude save.

A creature holding vulnerable objects can attempt a Reflex save to negate the damage to those objects.

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Magic weapon of force

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A weapon made of pure force springs into existence and attacks opponents at a distance, as you direct it, dealing 1d8 force damage per hit, +1 point per three caster levels (maximum +5 at 15th level).

The weapon takes the shape of a weapon favored by your deity or a weapon with some spiritual significance or symbolism to you (see below) and has the same threat range and critical multipliers as a real weapon of its form.

It strikes the opponent you designate, starting with one attack in the round the spell is cast and continuing each round thereafter on your turn.

It uses your base attack bonus (possibly allowing it multiple attacks per round in subsequent rounds) plus your Wisdom modifier as its attack bonus.

It strikes as a spell, not as a weapon, so, for example, it can damage creatures that have damage reduction.

As a force effect, it can strike incorporeal creatures without the normal miss chance associated with incorporeality.

The weapon always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

Your feats (such as Weapon Focus) or combat actions (such as charge) do not affect the weapon.

If the weapon goes beyond the spell range, if it goes out of your sight, or if you are not directing it, the weapon returns to you and hovers.

Each round after the first, you can use a move action to redirect the weapon to a new target.

If you do not, the weapon continues to attack the previous round's target.

On any round that the weapon switches targets, it gets one attack.

Subsequent rounds of attacking that target allow the weapon to make multiple attacks if your base attack bonus would allow it to.

Even if the spiritual weapon is a ranged weapon, use the spell's range, not the weapon's normal range increment, and switching targets still is a move action.

A spiritual weapon cannot be attacked or harmed by physical attacks, but dispel magic, disintegrate, a sphere of annihilation, or a rod of cancellation affects it.

A spiritual weapon's AC against touch attacks is 12 (10 + size bonus for Tiny object).

If an attacked creature has spell resistance, you make a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against that spell resistance the first time the spiritual weapon strikes it. If the weapon is successfully resisted, the spell is dispelled. If not, the weapon has its normal full effect on that creature for the duration of the spell.

The weapon that you get is often a force replica of your deity's own personal weapon, many of which have individual names.

A cleric without a deity gets a weapon based on his alignment.

A neutral cleric without a deity can create a spiritual weapon of any alignment, provided he is acting at least generally in accord with that alignment at the time.

The weapons associated with each deity or alignment are as follows.

Boccob: Quarterstaff, "Staff of Boccob"
Corellon Larethian: Longsword, "Sahandrian"
Ehlonna: Longsword, "Jeneverier"
Erythnul: Morningstar, "Agony"

SUNBEAM

Evocation [Light]

Level: Drd 7, Sun 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Line from your hand

Duration: 1 round/level or until all beams are exhausted

Saving Throw: Reflex negates and Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

For the duration of this spell, you can use a standard action to evoke a dazzling beam of intense light each round.

You can call forth one beam per three caster levels (maximum six beams at 18th level).

The spell ends when its duration runs out or your allotment of beams is exhausted.

Each creature in the beam is blinded and takes 4d6 points of damage.

Any creatures to which sunlight is harmful or unnatural take double damage.

A successful Reflex save negates the blindness and reduces the damage by half.

An undead creature caught within the beam takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), or half damage if a Reflex save is successful.

In addition, the beam results in the destruction of any undead creature specifically harmed by bright light (such as a vampire) if it fails its save.

The ultraviolet light generated by the spell deals damage to fungi, mold, oozes, and slimes just as if they were undead creatures.

SUNBURST

Evocation [Light]

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 8, Sun 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 80-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sunburst causes a globe of searing radiance to explode silently from a point you select.

All creatures in the globe are blinded and take 6d6 points of damage.

A creature to which sunlight is harmful or unnatural takes double damage.

A successful Reflex save negates the blindness and reduces the damage by half.

An undead creature caught within the globe takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 25d6), or half damage if a Reflex save is successful.

In addition, the burst results in the destruction of any undead creature specifically harmed by bright light (such as a vampire) if it fail its save.

The ultraviolet light generated by the spell deals damage to fungi, mold, oozes, and slimes just as if they were undead creatures.

Sunburst dispels any darkness spells of lower than 9th level within its area.

Arcane Material Component: A piece of sunstone and a naked flame.

SYMPATHETIC VIBRATION

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One freestanding structure

Duration: Up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

By attuning yourself to a freestanding structure such as a building, bridge, or dam, you can create a damaging vibration within it.

Once it begins, the vibration deals 2d10 points of damage per round to the target structure.

(Hardness has no effect on the spell's damage).

You can choose at the time of casting to limit the duration of the spell; otherwise it lasts for 1 round/level.

If the spell is cast upon a target that is not freestanding the surrounding stone dissipates the effect and no damage occurs.

Sympathetic vibration cannot affect creatures (including constructs).

Since a structure is an unattended object, it gets no saving throw to resist the effect.

Focus: A tuning fork.

TENSER'S FLOATING DISK

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 3-ft.-diameter disk of force

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a slightly concave, circular plane of force that follows you about and carries loads for you.

The disk is 3 feet in diameter and 1 inch deep at its center.

It can hold 100 pounds of weight per caster level.

(If used to transport a liquid, its capacity is 2 gallons).

The disk floats approximately 3 feet above the ground at all times and remains level.

It floats along horizontally within spell range and will accompany you at a rate of no more than your normal speed each round.

If not otherwise directed, it maintains a constant interval of 5 feet between itself and you.

The disk winks out of existence when the spell duration expires.

The disk also winks out if you move beyond range (by moving too fast or by such means as a teleport spell) or try to take the disk more than 3 feet away from the surface beneath it.

When the disk winks out, whatever it was supporting falls to the surface beneath it.

Material Component: A drop of mercury.

UNHALLOW

Evocation [Evil]

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 24 hours

Range: Touch

Area: 40-ft. radius emanating from the touched point

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

Unhallow makes a particular site, building, or structure an unholy site.

This has three major effects.

First, the site or structure is guarded by a magic circle against good effect.

Second, all turning checks made to turn undead take a -4 penalty, and turning checks to rebuke undead gain a +4 profane bonus.

Spell resistance does not apply to this effect.

(This provision does not apply to the druid version of the spell).

Finally, you may choose to fix a single spell effect to the unhallowed site.

The spell effect lasts for one year and functions throughout the entire site, regardless of its normal duration and area or effect.

You may designate whether the effect applies to all creatures, creatures that share your faith or alignment, or creatures that adhere to another faith or alignment. For example, you may create a bless effect that aids all creatures of like alignment or faith in the area, or a bane effect that hinders creatures of the opposite alignment or an enemy faith.

At the end of the year, the chosen effect lapses, but it can be renewed or replaced simply by casting unhallow again.

Spell effects that may be tied to an unhallowed site include aid, bane, bless, cause fear, darkness, daylight, death ward, deeper darkness, detect magic, detect good, dimensional anchor, discern lies, dispel magic, endure elements, freedom of movement, invisibility purge, protection from energy, remove fear, resist energy, silence, tongues, and zone of truth.

Saving throws and spell resistance might apply to these spells' effects.

(See the individual spell descriptions for details).

An area can receive only one unhallow spell (and its associated spell effect) at a time.

Unhallow counters but does not dispel hallow.

Material Component: Herbs, oils, and incense worth at least 1,000 gp, plus 1,000 gp per level of the spell to be tied to the unhallowed area.

UNHOLY BLIGHT

Evocation [Evil]

Level: Evil 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous (1d4 rounds); see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call up unholy power to smite your enemies.

The power takes the form of a cold, cloying miasma of greasy darkness.

Only good and neutral (not evil) creatures are harmed by the spell.

The spell deals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8) to a good creature (or 1d6 per caster level, maximum 10d6, to a good outsider) and causes it to be sickened for 1d4 rounds.

A successful Will save reduces damage to half and negates the sickened effect.

The effects cannot be negated by remove disease or heal, but remove curse is effective.

The spell deals only half damage to creatures who are neither evil nor good, and they are not sickened.

Such a creature can reduce the damage in half again (down to one-quarter) with a successful Will save.

WALL OF FIRE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Drd 5, Fire 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Opaque sheet of flame up to 20 ft. long/level or a ring of fire with a radius of up to 5 ft. per two levels; either form 20 ft. high

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

An immobile, blazing curtain of shimmering violet fire springs into existence.

One side of the wall, selected by you, sends forth waves of heat, dealing 2d4 points of fire damage to creatures within 10 feet and 1d4 points of fire damage to those past 10 feet but within 20 feet.

The wall deals this damage when it appears and on your turn each round to all creatures in the area.

In addition, the wall deals 2d6 points of fire damage + 1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum +20) to any creature passing through it.

The wall deals double damage to undead creatures.

If you evoke the wall so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall. If any 5-foot length of wall takes 20 points of cold damage or more in 1 round, that length goes out.

(Do not divide cold damage by 4, as normal for objects).

Wall of fire can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent wall of fire that is extinguished by cold damage becomes inactive for 10 minutes, then reforms at normal strength.

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of phosphorus.

WALL OF FORCE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A wall of force spell creates an invisible wall of force.

The wall cannot move, it is immune to damage of all kinds, and it is unaffected by most spells, including dispel magic.

However, disintegrate immediately destroys it, as does a rod of cancellation, a sphere of annihilation, or a Mordenkainen's disjunction spell.

Breath weapons and spells cannot pass through the wall in either direction, although dimension door, teleport, and similar effects can bypass the barrier.

It blocks ethereal creatures as well as material ones (though ethereal creatures can usually get around the wall by floating under or over it through material floors and ceilings).

Gaze attacks can operate through a wall of force.

The caster can form the wall into a flat, vertical plane whose area is up to one 10-foot square per level.

The wall must be continuous and unbroken when formed. If its surface is broken by any object or creature, the spell fails.

Wall of force can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A pinch of powder made from a clear gem.

WALL OF ICE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Anchored plane of ice, up to one 10-ft. square/level, or hemisphere of ice with a radius of up to 3 ft. + 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an anchored plane of ice or a hemisphere of ice, depending on the version selected.

A wall of ice cannot form in an area occupied by physical objects or creatures.

Its surface must be smooth and unbroken when created. Any creature adjacent to the wall when it is created may attempt a Reflex save to disrupt the wall as it is being formed.

A successful save indicates that the spell automatically fails. Fire, including a fireball spell and red dragon breath, can melt a wall of ice, and it deals full damage to the wall (instead of the normal half damage taken by objects).

Suddenly melting a wall of ice creates a great cloud of steamy fog that lasts for 10 minutes.

Ice Plane: A sheet of strong, hard ice appears.

The wall is 1 inch thick per caster level.

It covers up to a 10-foot-square area per caster level (so a 10th-level wizard can create a wall of ice 100 feet long and 10 feet high, a wall 50 feet long and 20 feet high, or some other combination of length and height that does not exceed 1,000 square feet).

The plane can be oriented in any fashion as long as it is anchored.

A vertical wall need only be anchored on the floor, while a horizontal or slanting wall must be anchored on two opposite sides.

The wall is primarily defensive in nature and is used to stop pursuers from following you and the like.

Each 10-foot square of wall has 3 hit points per inch of thickness.

Creatures can hit the wall automatically.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached.

If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 15 + caster level. Even when the ice has been broken through, a sheet of frigid air remains.

Any creature stepping through it (including the one who broke through the wall) takes 1d6 points of cold damage + 1 point per caster level (no save).

Hemisphere: The wall takes the form of a hemisphere whose maximum radius is 3 feet + 1 foot per caster level.

Thus, a 7th-level caster can create a hemisphere 10 feet in radius.

The hemisphere is as hard to break through as the ice plane form, but it does not deal damage to those who go through a breach.

Material Component: A small piece of quartz or similar rock crystal.

WHIRLWIND

Evocation [Air]

Level: Air 8, Drd 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Cyclone 10 ft. wide at base, 30 ft. wide at top, and 30 ft. tall

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a powerful cyclone of raging wind that moves through the air, along the ground, or over water at a speed of 60 feet per round.

You can concentrate on controlling the cyclone's every movement or specify a simple program, such as move straight ahead, zigzag, circle, or the like.

Directing the cyclone's movement or changing its programmed movement is a standard action for you.

The cyclone always moves during your turn.

If the cyclone exceeds the spell's range, it moves in a random, uncontrolled fashion for 1d3 rounds—possibly endangering you or your allies—and then dissipates.

(You can't regain control of the cyclone, even if it comes back within range).

Any Large or smaller creature that comes in contact with the spell effect must succeed on a Reflex save or take 3d6 points of damage.

A Medium or smaller creature that fails its first save must succeed on a second one or be picked up bodily by the cyclone and held suspended in its powerful winds, taking 1d8 points of damage each round on your turn with no save allowed.

You may direct the cyclone to eject any carried creatures whenever you wish, depositing the hapless souls wherever the cyclone happens to be when they are released.

WIND WALL

Evocation [Air]

Level: Air 2, Clr 3, Drd 3, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall up to 10 ft./level long and 5 ft./level high (S)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible vertical curtain of wind appears.

It is 2 feet thick and of considerable strength.

It is a roaring blast sufficient to blow away any bird smaller than an eagle, or tear papers and similar materials from unsuspecting hands.

(A Reflex save allows a creature to maintain its grasp on an object).

Tiny and Small flying creatures cannot pass through the barrier.

Loose materials and cloth garments fly upward when caught in a wind wall.

Arrows and bolts are deflected upward and miss, while any other normal ranged weapon passing through the wall has a 30% miss chance.

(A giant-thrown boulder, a siege engine projectile, and other massive ranged weapons are not affected). Gases, most gaseous breath weapons, and creatures in gaseous form cannot pass through the wall (although it is no barrier to incorporeal creatures).

While the wall must be vertical, you can shape it in any continuous path along the ground that you like.

It is possible to create cylindrical or square wind walls to enclose specific points.

A 5th-level caster can create a wall up to 50 feet long and up to 25 feet high, sufficient to form a cylinder of wind 15 feet in diameter.

Arcane Material Component: A tiny fan and a feather of exotic origin.

WORD OF CHAOS

Evocation [Chaotic, Sonic]

Level: Chaos 7, Clr 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: Nonchaotic creatures in a 40-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any nonchaotic creature within the area who hears the word of chaos suffers the following ill effects.

The effects are cumulative and concurrent.

No saving throw is allowed against these effects.

Deafened: The creature is deafened for 1d4 rounds.

Stunned: The creature is stunned for 1 round.

Confused: The creature is confused, as by the confusion spell, for 1d10 minutes.

This is a mind-affecting enchantment effect.

Killed: Living creatures die.

Undead creatures are destroyed.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Deafened
Up to caster level -1	Stunned, deafened
Up to caster level -5	Confused, stunned, deafened
Up to caster level -10	Killed, confused, stunned, deafened

Furthermore, if you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, nonchaotic extraplanar creatures within the area are instantly banished back to their home planes.

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours.

This effect takes place regardless of whether the creatures hear the word of chaos.

The banishment effect allows a Will save (at a -4 penalty) to negate.

Creatures whose HD exceed your caster level are unaffected by word of chaos.

ILLUSION

BLUR

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's outline appears blurred, shifting and wavering.

This distortion grants the subject concealment (20% miss chance).

A see invisibility spell does not counteract the blur effect, but a true seeing spell does.

Opponents that cannot see the subject ignore the spell's effect (though fighting an unseen opponent carries penalties of its own; see page 151).

COLOR SPRAY

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 15 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A vivid cone of clashing colors springs forth from your hand, causing creatures to become stunned, perhaps also blinded, and possibly knocking them unconscious. Each creature within the cone is affected according to its Hit Dice.

2 HD or less: The creature is unconscious, blinded, and stunned for 2d4 rounds, then blinded and stunned for 1d4 rounds, and then stunned for 1 round.

(Only living creatures are knocked unconscious).

3 or 4 HD: The creature is blinded and stunned for 1d4 rounds, then stunned for 1 round.

5 or more HD: The creature is stunned for 1 round.

Sightless creatures are not affected by color spray.

Material Component: A pinch each of powder or sand that is colored red, yellow, and blue.

DISGUISE SELF

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1, Trickery 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You make yourself—including clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different.

You can seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between.

You cannot change your body type.

For example, a human caster could look human, humanoid, or like any other human-shaped bipedal creature.

Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you.

You could add or obscure a minor feature or look like an entirely different person.

The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form, nor does it alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of you or your equipment.

A battleaxe made to look like a dagger still functions as a battleaxe.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on the Disguise check.

A creature that interacts with the glamer gets a Will save to recognize it as an illusion.

For example, a creature that touched you and realized that the tactile sensation did not match the visual one would be entitled to such a save.

DISPLACEMENT

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Emulating the natural ability of the displacer beast (see the Monster Manual), the subject of this spell appears to be about 2 feet away from its true location.

The creature benefits from a 50% miss chance as if it had total concealment.

However, unlike actual total concealment, displacement does not prevent enemies from targeting the creature normally. True seeing reveals its true location.

Material Component: A small strip of leather made from displacer beast hide, twisted into a loop.

DREAM

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Unlimited

Target: One living creature touched

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You, or a messenger touched by you, sends a phantasmal message to others in the form of a dream.

At the beginning of the spell, you must name the recipient or identify him or her by some title that leaves no doubt as to identity.

The messenger then enters a trance, appears in the intended recipient's dream, and delivers the message.

The message can be of any length, and the recipient remembers it perfectly upon waking.

The communication is one-way.

The recipient cannot ask questions or offer information, nor can the messenger gain any information by observing the dreams of the recipient.

Once the message is delivered, the messenger's mind returns instantly to its body.

The duration of the spell is the time required for the messenger to enter the recipient's dream and deliver the message.

If the recipient is awake when the spell begins, the messenger can choose to wake up (ending the spell) or remain in the trance.

The messenger can remain in the trance until the recipient goes to sleep, then enter the recipient's dream and deliver the message as normal.

A messenger that is disturbed during the trance comes awake, ending the spell.

Creatures who don't sleep (such as elves, but not half-elves) or don't dream cannot be contacted by this spell.

The messenger is unaware of its own surroundings or of the activities around it while in the trance.

It is defenseless both physically and mentally (always fails any saving throw) while in the trance.

FALSE VISION

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5, Trickery 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 40-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Any divination (scrying) spell used to view anything within the area of this spell instead receives a false image (as the major image spell), as defined by you at the time of casting.

As long as the duration lasts, you can concentrate to change the image as desired.

While you aren't concentrating, the image remains static.

Arcane Material Component: The ground dust of a piece of jade worth at least 250 gp, which is sprinkled into the air when the spell is cast.

GHOST SOUND

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Illusory sounds

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

Ghost sound allows you to create a volume of sound that rises, recedes, approaches, or remains at a fixed place.

You choose what type of sound ghost sound creates when casting it and cannot thereafter change the sound's basic character.

The volume of sound created depends on your level.

You can produce as much noise as four normal humans per caster level (maximum twenty humans).

Thus, talking, singing, shouting, walking, marching, or running sounds can be created.

The noise a ghost sound spell produces can be virtually any type of sound within the volume limit.

A horde of rats running and squeaking is about the same volume as eight humans running and shouting.

A roaring lion is equal to the noise from sixteen humans, while a roaring dire tiger is equal to the noise from twenty humans.

Ghost sound can enhance the effectiveness of a silent image spell.

Ghost sound can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A bit of wool or a small lump of wax.

HALLUCINATORY TERRAIN

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: One 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You make natural terrain look, sound, and smell like some other sort of natural terrain.

Thus, open fields or a road can be made to resemble a swamp, hill, crevasse, or some other difficult or impassable terrain.

A pond can be made to seem like a grassy meadow, a precipice like a gentle slope, or a rock-strewn gully like a wide and smooth road.

Structures, equipment, and creatures within the area are not hidden or changed in appearance.

Material Component: A stone, a twig, and a bit of green plant.

HYPNOTIC PATTERN

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V (Brd only), S, M; see text

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Colorful lights in a 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A twisting pattern of subtle, shifting colors weaves through the air, fascinating creatures within it.

Roll 2d4 and add your caster level (maximum 10) to determine the total number of Hit Dice of creatures affected.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; and, among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Affected creatures become fascinated by the pattern of colors.

Sightless creatures are not affected.

A wizard or sorcerer need not utter a sound to cast this spell, but a bard must sing, play music, or recite a rhyme as a verbal component.

Material Component: A glowing stick of incense or a crystal rod filled with phosphorescent material.

ILLUSORY SCRIPT

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute or longer; see text

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing no more than 10 lb.

Duration: One day/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You write instructions or other information on parchment, paper, or any suitable writing material.

The illusory script appears to be some form of foreign or magical writing.

Only the person (or people) designated by you at the time of the casting are able to read the writing; it's unintelligible to any other character, although an illusionist recognizes it as illusory script.

Any unauthorized creature attempting to read the script triggers a potent illusory effect and must make a saving throw.

A successful saving throw means the creature can look away with only a mild sense of disorientation.

Failure means the creature is subject to a suggestion implanted in the script by you at the time the illusory script spell was cast.

The suggestion lasts only 30 minutes.

Typical suggestions include "Close the book and leave", "Forget the existence of the book", and so forth.

If successfully dispelled by dispel magic, the illusory script and its secret message disappear.

The hidden message can be read by a combination of the true seeing spell with the read magic or comprehend languages spell.

The casting time depends on how long a message you wish to write, but it is always at least 1 minute.

Material Component: A lead-based ink (cost of not less than 50 gp).

ILLUSORY WALL

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Image 1 ft. by 10 ft. by 10 ft.

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the illusion of a wall, floor, ceiling, or similar surface.

It appears absolutely real when viewed, but physical objects can pass through it without difficulty.

When the spell is used to hide pits, traps, or normal doors, any detection abilities that do not require sight work normally.

Touch or a probing search reveals the true nature of the surface, though such measures do not cause the illusion to disappear.

INVISIBILITY SPHERE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation around the creature or object touched

This spell functions like invisibility, except that this spell confers invisibility upon all creatures within 10 feet of the recipient.

The center of the effect is mobile with the recipient.

Those affected by this spell can see each other and themselves as if unaffected by the spell.

Any affected creature moving out of the area becomes visible, but creatures moving into the area after the spell is cast do not become invisible.

Affected creatures (other than the recipient) who attack negate the invisibility only for themselves.

If the spell recipient attacks, the invisibility sphere ends.

INVISIBILITY

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2, Trickery 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal or touch

Target: You or a creature or object weighing no more than 100 lb./level

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless) or Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless) or Yes (harmless, object)

The creature or object touched becomes invisible, vanishing from sight, even from darkvision.

If the recipient is a creature carrying gear, that vanishes, too.

If you cast the spell on someone else, neither you nor your allies can see the subject, unless you can normally see invisible things or you employ magic to do so.

Items dropped or put down by an invisible creature become visible; items picked up disappear if tucked into the clothing or pouches worn by the creature.

Light, however, never becomes invisible, although a source of light can become so (thus, the effect is that of a light with no visible source).

Any part of an item that the subject carries but that extends more than 10 feet from it becomes visible, such as a trailing rope.

Of course, the subject is not magically silenced, and certain other conditions can render the recipient detectable (such as stepping in a puddle).

The spell ends if the subject attacks any creature.

For purposes of this spell, an attack includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe.

(Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character's perceptions).

Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell.

Causing harm indirectly is not an attack.

Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth.

If the subject attacks directly, however, it immediately becomes visible along with all its gear.

Spells such as bleed that specifically affect allies but not foes are not attacks for this purpose, even when they include foes in their area.

See Table 8–5: Attack Roll Modifiers and Table 8–6: Armor Class Modifiers, page 151, for the effects of invisibility on combat.

Invisibility can be made permanent (on objects only) with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: An eyelash encased in a bit of gum arabic.

INVISIBILITY, GREATER

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Target: You or creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

This spell functions like invisibility, except that it doesn't end if the subject attacks.

INVISIBILITY, MASS

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: Any number of creatures, no two of which can be more than 180 ft. apart

This spell functions like invisibility, except that the effect is mobile with the group and is broken when anyone in the group attacks.

Individuals in the group cannot see each other.

The spell is broken for any individual who moves more than 180 feet from the nearest member of the group.

(If only two individuals are affected, the one moving away from the other one loses its invisibility.)

If both are moving away from each other, they both become visible when the distance between them exceeds 180 feet.)

Material Component: An eyelash encased in a bit of gum arabic.

LEOMUND'S TRAP

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell makes a lock or small mechanism seem to be trapped to anyone who can detect traps.

You place the spell upon any small mechanism or device, such as a lock, hinge, hasp, cork, cap, or ratchet.

Any character able to detect traps, or who uses any spell or device enabling trap detection, is 100% certain a real trap exists.

Of course, the effect is illusory and nothing happens if the trap is "sprung"; its primary purpose is to frighten away thieves or make them waste precious time.

If another Leomund's trap is active within 50 feet when the spell is cast, the casting fails.

Material Component: A piece of iron pyrite touched to the object to be trapped while the object is sprinkled with a special dust requiring 50 gp to prepare.

Lesser (Spell Name) Any spell whose name begins with lesser is alphabetized in this chapter according to the second word of the spell name.

Thus, the description of a lesser spell appears near the description of the spell on which it is based.

Spell chains that have lesser spells in them include those based on the spells confusion, geas, globe of invulnerability, planar ally, planar binding, and restoration.

MAGIC MOUTH

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell imbues the chosen object or creature with an enchanted mouth that suddenly appears and speaks its message the next time a specified event occurs.

The message, which must be twenty-five or fewer words long, can be in any language known by you and can be delivered over a period of 10 minutes.

The mouth cannot utter verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects.

It does, however, move according to the words articulated; if it were placed upon a statue, the mouth of the statue would move and appear to speak.

Of course, magic mouth can be placed upon a tree, rock, or any other object or creature.

The spell functions when specific conditions are fulfilled according to your command as set in the spell.

Commands can be as general or as detailed as desired, although only visual and audible triggers can be used, such as the following: "Speak only when a venerable female human carrying a sack sits cross-legged within a distance of one foot".

Triggers react to what appears to be the case.

Disguises and illusions can fool them.

Normal darkness does not defeat a visual trigger, but magical darkness or invisibility does.

Silent movement or magical silence defeats audible triggers.

Audible triggers can be keyed to general types of noises (footsteps, metal clanking) or to a specific noise or spoken word (when a pin drops, or when anyone says "Boo").

Actions can serve as triggers if they are visible or audible.

For example, "Speak when any creature touches the statue" is an acceptable command if the creature is visible.

A magic mouth cannot distinguish alignment, level, Hit Dice, or class except by external garb.

The range limit of a trigger is 15 feet per caster level, so a 6th-level caster can command a magic mouth to respond to triggers as far as 90 feet away.

Regardless of range, the mouth can respond only to visible or audible triggers and actions in line of sight or within hearing distance.

Magic mouth can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A small bit of honeycomb and jade dust worth 10 gp.

MAJOR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Duration: Concentration + 3 rounds

This spell functions like silent image, except that sound, smell, and thermal illusions are included in the spell effect. While concentrating, you can move the image within the range.

The image disappears when struck by an opponent unless you cause the illusion to react appropriately.

MINOR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

This spell functions like silent image, except that minor image includes some minor sounds but not understandable speech.

MIRAGE ARCANA

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Area: One 20-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Concentration + 1 hour/level (D)

This spell functions like hallucinatory terrain, except that it enables you to make any area appear to be something other than it is.

The illusion includes audible, visual, tactile, and olfactory elements.

Unlike hallucinatory terrain, the spell can alter the appearance of structures (or add them where none are present).

Still, it can't disguise, conceal, or add creatures (though creatures within the area might hide themselves within the illusion just as they can hide themselves within a real location).

MIRROR IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal; see text

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Several illusory duplicates of you pop into being, making it difficult for enemies to know which target to attack.

The figments stay near you and disappear when struck.

Mirror image creates 1d4 images plus one image per three caster levels (maximum eight images total).

These figments separate from you and remain in a cluster, each within 5 feet of at least one other figment or you.

You can move into and through a mirror image.

When you and the mirror image separate, observers can't use vision or hearing to tell which one is you and which the image.

The figments may also move through each other.

The figments mimic your actions, pretending to cast spells when you cast a spell, drink potions when you drink a potion, levitate when you levitate, and so on.

Enemies attempting to attack you or cast spells at you must select from among indistinguishable targets.

Generally, roll randomly to see whether the selected target is real or a figment.

Any successful attack against an image destroys it.

An image's AC is 10 + your size modifier + your Dex modifier.

Figments seem to react normally to area spells (such as looking like they're burned or dead after being hit by a fireball).

While moving, you can merge with and split off from figments so that enemies who have learned which image is real are again confounded.

An attacker must be able to see the images to be fooled.

If you are invisible or an attacker shuts his or her eyes, the spell has no effect.

(Being unable to see carries the same penalties as being blinded).

MISDIRECTION

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object, up to a 10-ft. cube in size

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

By means of this spell, you misdirect the information from divination spells that reveal auras (detect evil, detect magic, discern lies, and the like).

On casting the spell, you choose another object within range.

For the duration of the spell, the subject of misdirection is detected as if it were the other object.

(Neither the subject nor the other object gets a saving throw against this effect).

Detection spells provide information based on the second object rather than on the actual target of the detection unless the caster of the detection succeeds on a Will save.

For instance, you could make yourself detect as a tree if one were within range at casting: not evil, not lying, not magical, neutral in alignment, and so forth.

This spell does not affect other types of divination magic (augury, detect thoughts, clairaudience/clairvoyance, and the like).

MISLEAD

Illusion (Figment, Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Luck 6, Sor/Wiz 6, Trickery 6

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target/Effect: You/one illusory double

Duration: 1 round/level (D) and concentration + 3 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: None or Will disbelief (if interacted with); see text

Spell Resistance: No

You become invisible (as improved invisibility, a glamer), and at the same time, an illusory double of you (as major image, a figment) appears.

You are then free to go elsewhere while your double moves away.

The double appears within range but thereafter moves as you direct it (which requires concentration beginning on the first round after the casting).

You can make the figment appear superimposed perfectly over your own body so that observers don't notice an image appearing and you turning invisible.

You and the figment can then move in different directions. The double moves at your speed and can talk and gesture as if it were real, but it cannot attack or cast spells, though it can pretend to do so.

The illusory double lasts as long as you concentrate upon it, plus 3 additional rounds.

After you cease concentration, the illusory double continues to carry out the same activity (for instance, fleeing down a hallway) until the duration expires.

The improved invisibility lasts for 1 round per level, regardless of concentration.

NIGHTMARE

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting, Evil]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You send a hideous and unsettling phantasmal vision to a specific creature that you name or otherwise specifically designate.

The nightmare prevents restful sleep and causes 1d10 points of damage.

The nightmare leaves the subject fatigued and unable to regain arcane spells for the next 24 hours.

The difficulty of the save depends on how well you know the subject and what sort of physical connection (if any) you have to that creature.

Knowledge

Will Save Modifier

None ¹	+10
Secondhand (you have heard of the subject)	+5
Firsthand (you have met the subject)	+0
Familiar (you know the subject well)	-5
1 You must have some sort of connection to a creature you have no knowledge of.

Connection

Will Save Modifier

Likeness or picture	-2
Possession or garment	-4
Body part, lock of hair, bit of nail, etc.	-10

Dispel evil cast on the subject while you are casting the spell dispels the nightmare and causes you to be stunned for 10 minutes per caster level of the dispel evil.

If the recipient is awake when the spell begins, you can choose to cease casting (ending the spell) or to enter a trance until the recipient goes to sleep, whereupon you become alert again and complete the casting.

If you are disturbed during the trance, you must succeed on a Concentration check as if you were in the midst of casting a spell (see page 69) or the spell ends.

If you choose to enter a trance, you are not aware of your surroundings or the activities around you while in the trance.

You are defenseless, both physically and mentally, while in the trance.

(You always fail any saving throw, for example).

Creatures who don't sleep (such as elves, but not half-elves) or dream are immune to this spell.

NYSTUL'S MAGIC AURA

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 1, Magic 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: One day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You alter an item's aura so that it registers to detect spells (and spells with similar capabilities) as though it were nonmagical, or a magic item of a kind you specify, or the subject of a spell you specify.

You could make an ordinary sword register as a +2 vorpal sword as far as magical detection is concerned or make a +2 vorpal sword register as if it were a +1 sword or even a nonmagical sword.

If the object bearing Nystul's magic aura has identify cast on it or is similarly examined, the examiner recognizes that the aura is false and detects the object's actual qualities if he succeeds on a Will save.

Otherwise, he believes the aura and no amount of testing reveals what the true magic is.

If the targeted item's own aura is exceptionally powerful (if it is an artifact, for instance), Nystul's magic aura doesn't work.

Note: A magic weapon, shield, or suit of armor must be a masterwork item, so a sword of average make, for example, looks suspicious if it has a magical aura.

Focus: A small square of silk that must be passed over the object that receives the aura.

PERMANENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Effect: Figment that cannot extend beyond a 20-ft. cube + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent (D)

This spell functions like silent image, except that the figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal elements, and the spell is permanent.

By concentrating, you can move the image within the limits of the range, but it is static while you are not concentrating.

Material Component: A bit of fleece plus powdered jade worth 100 gp.

PERSISTENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

This spell functions like silent image, except that the figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal components, and the figment follows a script determined by you.

The figment follows that script without your having to concentrate on it.

The illusion can include intelligible speech if you wish. For instance, you could create the illusion of several orcs playing cards and arguing, culminating in a fistfight.

Material Component: A bit of fleece and several grains of sand.

PHANTASMAL KILLER

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with), then Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a phantasmal image of the most fearsome creature imaginable to the subject simply by forming the fears of the subject's subconscious mind into something that its conscious mind can visualize: this most horrible beast.

Only the spell's subject can see the phantasmal killer.

You see only a vague shape.

The target first gets a Will save to recognize the image as unreal.

If that save fails, the phantasm touches the subject, and the subject must succeed on a Fortitude save or die from fear. Even if the Fortitude save is successful, the subject takes 3d6 points of damage.

If the subject of a phantasmal killer attack succeeds in disbelieving and is wearing a helm of telepathy, the beast can be turned upon you.

You must then disbelieve it or become subject to its deadly fear attack.

PROGRAMMED IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Effect: Visual figment that cannot extend beyond a 20-ft. cube + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Permanent until triggered, then 1 round/level
This spell functions like silent image, except that this spell's figment activates when a specific condition occurs.

The figment includes visual, auditory, olfactory, and thermal elements, including intelligible speech.

You set the triggering condition (which may be a special word) when casting the spell.

The event that triggers the illusion can be as general or as specific and detailed as desired but must be based on an audible, tactile, olfactory, or visual trigger.

The trigger cannot be based on some quality not normally obvious to the senses, such as alignment.

(See magic mouth for more details about such triggers).

Material Component: A bit of fleece and jade dust worth 25 gp.

PROJECT IMAGE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One shadow duplicate

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You tap energy from the Plane of Shadow to create a quasi-real, illusory version of yourself.

The projected image looks, sounds, and smells like you but is intangible.

The projected image mimics your actions (including speech) unless you direct it to act differently (which is a move action).

You can see through its eyes and hear through its ears as if you were standing where it is, and during your turn you can switch from using its senses to using your own, or back again, as a free action.

While you are using its senses, your body is considered blinded and deafened.

If you desire, any spell you cast whose range is touch or greater can originate from the projected image instead of from you.

The projected image can't cast any spells on itself except for illusion spells.

The spells affect other targets normally, despite originating from the projected image.

Objects are affected by the projected image as if they had succeeded on their Will save.

You must maintain line of effect to the projected image at all times.

If your line of effect is obstructed, the spell ends.

If you use dimension door, teleport, plane shift, or a similar spell that breaks your line of effect, even momentarily, the spell ends.

Material Component: A small replica of you (a doll), which costs 5 gp to create.

RAINBOW PATTERN

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V (Brd only), S, M, F; see text

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Colorful lights with a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration +1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A glowing, rainbow-hued pattern of interweaving colors fascinates those within it.

Rainbow pattern fascinates a maximum of 24 Hit Dice of creatures.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first.

Among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

An affected creature that fails its saves is fascinated by the pattern.

With a simple gesture (a free action), you can make the rainbow pattern move up to 30 feet per round (moving its effective point of origin).

All fascinated creatures follow the moving rainbow of light, trying to get or remain within the effect.

Fascinated creatures who are restrained and removed from the pattern still try to follow it.

If the pattern leads its subjects into a dangerous area (through flame, off a cliff, or the like), each fascinated creature gets a second save.

If the view of the lights is completely blocked (by an obscuring mist spell, for instance), creatures who can't see them are no longer affected.

The spell does not affect sightless creatures.

Verbal Component: A wizard or sorcerer need not utter a sound to cast this spell, but a bard must sing, play music, or recite a rhyme as a verbal component.

Material Component: A piece of phosphor.

Focus: A crystal prism.

SCINTILLATING PATTERN

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Colorful lights in a 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration + 2 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A twisting pattern of discordant, coruscating colors weaves through the air, affecting creatures within it.

The spell affects a total number of Hit Dice of creatures equal to your caster level (maximum 20).

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; and, among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

The spell affects each subject according to its Hit Dice.

6 or less: Unconscious for 1d4 rounds, then stunned for 1d4 rounds, and then confused for 1d4 rounds.

(Treat an unconscious result as stunned for nonliving creatures).

7 to 12: Stunned for 1d4 rounds, then confused for 1d4 rounds.

13 or more: Confused for 1d4 rounds.

Sightless creatures are not affected by scintillating pattern.

Material Component: A small crystal prism.

SCREEN

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Trickery 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None or Will disbelief (if interacted with); see text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell combines several elements to create a powerful protection from scrying and direct observation.

When casting the spell, you dictate what will and will not be observed in the spell's area.

The illusion created must be stated in general terms.

Thus, you could specify the illusion of yourself and another character playing chess for the duration of the spell, but you could not have the illusory chess players take a break, make dinner, and then resume their game.

You could have a crossroads appear quiet and empty even while an army is actually passing through the area.

You could specify that no one be seen (including passing strangers), that your troops be undetected, or even that every fifth person or unit should be visible.

Once the conditions are set, they cannot be changed.

Attempts to scry the area automatically detect the image stated by you with no save allowed.

Sight and sound are appropriate to the illusion created.

A band of people standing in a meadow could be concealed as an empty meadow with birds chirping, for instance.

Direct observation may allow a save (as per a normal illusion), if there is cause to disbelieve what is seen.

Certainly onlookers in the area would become suspicious if a marching army disappeared at one point to reappear at another.

Even entering the area does not cancel the illusion or necessarily allow a save, assuming that hidden beings take care to stay out of the way of those affected by the illusion.

SEEMING

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Targets: One creature per two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart
Duration: 12 hours (D)
Saving Throw: Will negates or Will disbelief (if interacted with)
Spell Resistance: Yes or No; see text
This spell functions like disguise self, except that you can change the appearance of other people as well. Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.
Unwilling targets can negate the spell's effect on them by making Will saves or with spell resistance.

SHADES

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

This spell functions like shadow conjuration, except that it mimics sorcerer and wizard conjuration spells of 8th level or lower.

The illusory conjurations created deal four-fifths (80%) damage to nonbelievers, and nondamaging effects are 80% likely to work against nonbelievers.

SHADOW CONJURATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Effect: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with); varies; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You use material from the Plane of Shadow to shape quasi-real illusions of one or more creatures, objects, or forces.

Shadow conjuration can mimic any sorcerer or wizard conjuration (summoning) or conjuration (creation) spell of 3rd level or lower.

Shadow conjurations are actually one-fifth (20%) as strong as the real things, though creatures who believe the shadow conjurations to be real are affected by them at full strength. Any creature that interacts with the conjured object, force, or creature can make a Will save to recognize its true nature.

Spells that deal damage, such as Melf's acid arrow, have normal effects unless the affected creature succeeds on a Will save.

Each disbelieving creature takes only one-fifth (20%) damage from the attack.

If the disbelieved attack has a special effect other than damage, that effect is only 20% likely to occur.

Regardless of the result of the save to disbelieve, an affected creature is also allowed any save that the spell being simulated allows, but the save DC is set according to shadow conjuration's level (5th) rather than the spell's normal level. In addition, any effect created by shadow conjuration allows spell resistance, even if the spell it is simulating does not. Shadow objects or substances, such as obscuring mist, have normal effects except against those who disbelieve them.

Against disbelievers, they are 20% likely to work.

A shadow creature has one-fifth the hit points of a normal creature of its kind (regardless of whether it's recognized as shadowy).

It deals normal damage and has all normal abilities and weaknesses.

Against a creature that recognizes it as a shadow creature, however, the shadow creature's damage is one-fifth (20%) normal, and all special abilities that do not deal lethal damage are only 20% likely to work.

(Roll for each use and each affected character separately).

Furthermore, the shadow creature's AC bonuses are one-fifth as large (so a +7 bonus resulting in AC 17 would change to a +1 total bonus for a new AC of 11).

A creature that succeeds on its save sees the shadow conjurations as transparent images superimposed on vague, shadowy forms.

Objects automatically succeed on their Will saves against this spell.

SHADOW CONJURATION, GREATER

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

This spell functions like shadow conjuration, except that it can duplicate any sorcerer or wizard conjuration (summoning) or conjuration (creation) spell of 6th level or lower.

The illusory conjurations created deal three-fifths (60%) damage to nonbelievers, and nondamaging effects are 60% likely to work against nonbelievers.

SHADOW EVOCATION

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Effect: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You tap energy from the Plane of Shadow to cast a quasi-real, illusory version of a sorcerer or wizard evocation spell of 4th level or lower.

(For a spell with more than one level, use the best one applicable to you).

Spells that deal damage, such as lightning bolt, have normal effects unless an affected creature succeeds on a Will save. Each disbelieving creature takes only one-fifth damage from the attack.

If the disbelieved attack has a special effect other than damage, that effect is one-fifth as strong (if applicable) or only 20% likely to occur.

If recognized as a shadow evocation, a damaging spell deals only one-fifth (20%) damage.

Regardless of the result of the save to disbelieve, an affected creature is also allowed any save (or spell resistance) that the spell being simulated allows, but the save DC is set according to shadow evocation's level (5th) rather than the spell's normal level.

Nondamaging effects, such as gust of wind, have normal effects except against those who disbelieve them.

Against disbelievers, they have no effect. Objects automatically succeed on their Will saves against this spell.

SHADOW EVOCATION, GREATER

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8 This spell functions like shadow evocation, except that it enables you to create partially real, illusory versions of sorcerer or wizard evocation spells of 7th level or lower.

If recognized as a greater shadow evocation, a damaging spell deals only three-fifths (60%) damage.

SHADOW WALK

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to one touched creature/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

To use the shadow walk spell, you must be in an area of shadowy illumination.

You and any creature you touch are then transported along a coiling path of shadowstuff to the edge of the Material Plane where it borders the Plane of Shadow.

The effect is largely illusory, but the path is quasi-real.

You can take more than one creature along with you (subject to your level limit), but all must be touching each other.

In the region of shadow, you move at a rate of 50 miles per hour, moving normally on the borders of the Plane of Shadow but much more rapidly relative to the Material Plane.

Thus, you can use this spell to travel rapidly by stepping onto the Plane of Shadow, moving the desired distance, and then stepping back onto the Material Plane.

Because of the blurring of reality between the Plane of Shadow and the Material Plane, you can't make out details of the terrain or areas you pass over during transit, nor can you predict perfectly where your travel will end.

It's impossible to judge distances accurately, making the spell virtually useless for scouting or spying.

Furthermore, when the spell effect ends, you are shunted 1d10x100 feet in a random horizontal direction from your desired endpoint.

If this would place you within a solid object, you are shunted 1d10x1,000 feet in the same direction.

If this would still place you within a solid object, you (and any creatures with you) are shunted to the nearest empty space available, but the strain of this activity renders each creature fatigued (no save).

Shadow walk can also be used to travel to other planes that border on the Plane of Shadow, but this usage requires the transit of the Plane of Shadow to arrive at a border with another plane of reality.

The transit of the Plane of Shadow requires 1d4 hours.

Any creatures touched by you when shadow walk is cast also make the transition to the borders of the Plane of Shadow.

They may opt to follow you, wander off through the plane, or stumble back into the Material Plane (50% chance for either of the latter results if they are lost or abandoned by you).

Creatures unwilling to accompany you into the Plane of Shadow receive a Will saving throw, negating the effect if successful.

SILENCE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a creature, object, or point in space

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text or none (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text or no (object)

Upon the casting of this spell, complete silence prevails in the affected area.

All sound is stopped: Conversation is impossible, spells with verbal components cannot be cast, and no noise whatsoever issues from, enters, or passes through the area. The spell can be cast on a point in space, but the effect is stationary unless cast on a mobile object.

The spell can be centered on a creature, and the effect then radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

An unwilling creature can attempt a Will save to negate the spell and can use spell resistance, if any.

Items in a creature's possession or magic items that emit sound receive the benefits of saves and spell resistance, but unattended objects and points in space do not.

This spell provides a defense against sonic or language-based attacks, such as command, a harpy's captivating song, a horn of blasting, and the like.

SILENT IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Visual figment that cannot extend beyond four 10-ft. cubes + one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the visual illusion of an object, creature, or force, as visualized by you.

The illusion does not create sound, smell, texture, or temperature.

You can move the image within the limits of the size of the effect.

Focus: A bit of fleece.

SIMULACRUM

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 12 hours

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One duplicate creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Simulacrum creates an illusory duplicate of any creature.

The duplicate creature is partially real and formed from ice or snow.

It appears to be the same as the original, but it has only one-half of the real creature's levels or Hit Dice (and the appropriate hit points, feats, skill ranks, and special abilities for a creature of that level or HD).

You can't create a simulacrum of a creature whose Hit Dice or levels exceed twice your caster level.

You must make a Disguise check when you cast the spell to determine how good the likeness is.

A creature familiar with the original might detect the ruse with a successful Spot check (opposed by the caster's Disguise check) or a DC 20 Sense Motive check.

At all times the simulacrum remains under your absolute command.

No special telepathic link exists, so command must be exercised in some other manner.

A simulacrum has no ability to become more powerful. It cannot increase its level or abilities.

If reduced to 0 hit points or otherwise destroyed, it reverts to snow and melts instantly into nothingness.

A complex process requiring at least 24 hours, 100 gp per hit point, and a fully equipped magical laboratory can repair damage to a simulacrum.

Material Component: The spell is cast over the rough snow or ice form, and some piece of the creature to be duplicated (hair, nail, or the like) must be placed inside the snow or ice.

Additionally, the spell requires powdered ruby worth 100 gp per HD of the simulacrum to be created.

XP Cost: 100 XP per HD of the simulacrum to be created (minimum 1,000 XP).

VEIL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Concentration + 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You instantly change the appearance of the subjects and then maintain that appearance for the spell's duration.

You can make the subjects appear to be anything you wish. A party might be made to resemble a mixed band of sprites led by a treat.

The subjects look, feel, and smell just like the creatures the spell makes them resemble.

Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.

You must succeed on a Disguise check to duplicate the appearance of a specific individual.

This spell gives you a +10 bonus on the check.

Unwilling targets can negate the spell's effect on them by making Will saves or with spell resistance.

Those who interact with the subjects can attempt Will disbelief saves to see through the glamer, but spell resistance doesn't help.

VENTRILOQUISM

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Intelligible sound, usually speech

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You can make your voice (or any sound that you can normally make vocally) seem to issue from someplace else, such as from another creature, a statue, from behind a door, down a passage, etc.

You can speak in any language you know.

With respect to such voices and sounds, anyone who hears the sound and rolls a successful save recognizes it as illusory (but still hears it).

Focus: A parchment rolled up into a small cone.

WEIRD

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Targets: Any number of creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like phantasmal killer, except it can affect more than one creature.

Only the affected creatures see the phantasmal creatures attacking them, though you see the attackers as shadowy shapes.

If a subject's Fortitude save succeeds, it still takes 3d6 points of damage and is stunned for 1 round.

The subject also takes 1d4 points of temporary Strength damage.

ZONE OF SILENCE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Area: 5-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

By casting zone of silence, you manipulate sound waves in your immediate vicinity so that you and those within the spell's area can converse normally, yet no one outside can hear your voices or any other noises from within, including language-dependent or sonic spell effects (such as command or shout).

This effect is centered on you and moves with you.

Anyone who enters the zone immediately becomes subject to its effects, but those who leave are no longer affected.

Note, however, that a successful Spot check to read lips can still reveal what's said inside a zone of silence.

NECROMANCY

ANIMATE DEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 3, Death 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One or more corpses touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns the bones or bodies of dead creatures into undead skeletons or zombies that follow your spoken commands.

The undead can follow you, or they can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) entering the place.

They remain animated until they are destroyed.

(A destroyed skeleton or zombie can't be animated again).

Regardless of the type of undead you create with this spell, you can't create more HD of undead than twice your caster level with a single casting of animate dead.

(The desecrate spell doubles this limit; see page 218).

The undead you create remain under your control indefinitely.

No matter how many times you use this spell, however, you can control only 4 HD worth of undead creatures per caster level.

If you exceed this number, all the newly created creatures fall under your control, and any excess undead from previous castings become uncontrolled.

(You choose which creatures are released).

If you are a cleric, any undead you might command by virtue of your power to command or rebuke undead do not count toward the limit.

Skeletons: A skeleton can be created only from a mostly intact corpse or skeleton.

The corpse must have bones, so creating a skeleton from a purple worm, for example, is not possible.

If a skeleton is made from a corpse, the flesh falls off the bones.

The statistics for a skeleton depend on its size; they do not depend on what abilities the creature may have had while alive.

The Monster Manual has game statistics for skeletons.

Zombies: A zombie can be created only from a mostly intact corpse.

The corpse must be that of a creature with a true anatomy, so a dead gelatinous cube, for example, cannot be animated as a zombie.

The statistics for a zombie depend on its size, not on what abilities the creature may have had while alive.

The Monster Manual has game statistics for zombies.

Material Component: You must place a black onyx gem worth at least 25 gp per Hit Die of the undead into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse you intend to animate. The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless, burned-out shells.

ASTRAL PROJECTION

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9, Travel 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 30 minutes

Range: Touch

Targets: You plus one additional willing creature touched per two caster levels

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

By freeing your spirit from your physical body, this spell allows you to project an astral body onto another plane altogether.

You can bring the astral forms of other willing creatures with you, provided that these subjects are linked in a circle with you at the time of the casting.

These fellow travelers are dependent upon you and must accompany you at all times.

If something happens to you during the journey, your companions are stranded wherever you left them.

You project your astral self onto the Astral Plane, leaving your physical body behind on the Material Plane in a state of suspended animation.

The spell projects an astral copy of you and all you wear or carry onto the Astral Plane.

Since the Astral Plane touches upon other planes, you can travel astrally to any of these other planes as you will.

To enter one, you leave the Astral Plane, forming a new physical body (and equipment) on the plane of existence you have chosen to enter.

While you are on the Astral Plane, your astral body is connected at all times to your physical body by a silvery cord.

If the cord is broken, you are killed, astrally and physically. Luckily, very few things can destroy a silver cord (see the Dungeon Master's Guide for more information).

When a second body is formed on a different plane, the incorporeal silvery cord remains invisibly attached to the new body.

If the second body or the astral form is slain, the cord simply returns to your body where it rests on the Material Plane, thereby reviving it from its state of suspended animation.

Although astral projections are able to function on the Astral Plane, their actions affect only creatures existing on the Astral Plane; a physical body must be materialized on other planes.

You and your companions may travel through the Astral Plane indefinitely.

Your bodies simply wait behind in a state of suspended animation until you choose to return your spirits to them.

The spell lasts until you desire to end it, or until it is terminated by some outside means, such as dispel magic cast upon either the physical body or the astral form, the breaking of the silver cord, or the destruction of your body back on the Material Plane (which kills you).

Material Component: A jacinth worth at least 1,000 gp, plus a silver bar worth 5 gp for each person to be affected.

BESTOW CURSE

Necromancy

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You place a curse on the subject.

Choose one of the following three effects.

- -6 decrease to an ability score (minimum 1).
- -4 penalty on attack rolls, saves, ability checks, and skill checks.

• Each turn, the target has a 50% chance to act normally; otherwise, it takes no action.

You may also invent your own curse, but it should be no more powerful than those described above, and the DM has final say on the curse's effect.

The curse bestowed by this spell cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

Bestow curse counters remove curse.

BLIGHT

Necromancy

Level: Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell withers a single plant of any size.

An affected plant creature takes 1d6 points of damage per level (maximum 15d6) and may attempt a Fortitude saving throw for half damage.

A plant that isn't a creature (such as a tree or shrub) doesn't receive a save and immediately withers and dies.

This spell has no effect on the soil or surrounding plant life.

BLINDNESS/DEAFNESS

Necromancy

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call upon the powers of unlife to render the subject blinded or deafened, as you choose.

CAUSE FEAR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1, Clr 1, Death 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature with 5 or fewer HD

Duration: 1d4 rounds or 1 round; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

The affected creature becomes frightened.

If the subject succeeds on a Will save, it is shaken for 1 round.

Creatures with 6 or more Hit Dice are immune to this effect.

Cause fear counters and dispels remove fear.

CHILL TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Creature or creatures touched (up to one/level)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A touch from your hand, which glows with blue energy, disrupts the life force of living creatures.

Each touch channels negative energy that deals 1d6 points of damage.

The touched creature also takes 1 point of Strength damage unless it makes a successful Fortitude saving throw.

You can use this melee touch attack up to one time per level.

An undead creature you touch takes no damage of either sort, but it must make a successful Will saving throw or flee as if panicked for 1d4 rounds +1 round per caster level.

CIRCLE OF DEATH

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Several living creatures within a 40-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A circle of death snuffs out the life force of living creatures, killing them instantly.

The spell slays 1d4 HD worth of living creatures per caster level (maximum 20d4).

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the burst's point of origin are affected first.

No creature of 9 or more HD can be affected, and Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Material Component: The powder of a crushed black pearl with a minimum value of 500 gp.

CLONE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One clone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell makes an inert duplicate of a creature.

If the original individual has been slain, its soul immediately transfers to the clone, creating a replacement (provided that the soul is free and willing to return; see Bringing Back the Dead, page 171).

The original's physical remains, should they still exist, become inert and cannot thereafter be restored to life.

If the original creature has reached the end of its natural life span (that is, it has died of natural causes), any cloning attempt fails.

To create the duplicate, you must have a piece of flesh (not hair, nails, scales, or the like) with a volume of at least 1 cubic inch that was taken from the original creature's living body.

The piece of flesh need not be fresh, but it must be kept from rotting (for example, by the gentle repose spell).

Once the spell is cast, the duplicate must be grown in a laboratory for 2d4 months.

When the clone is completed, the original's soul enters it immediately, if that creature is already dead.

The clone is physically identical with the original and possesses the same personality and memories as the original.

In other respects, treat the clone as if it were the original character raised from the dead, including the loss of one level or 2 points of Constitution (if the original was a 1st-level character).

If this Constitution adjustment would give the clone a Constitution score of 0, the spell fails.

If the original creature has lost levels since the flesh sample was taken and died at a lower level than the clone would otherwise be, the clone is one level below the level at which the original died.

The spell duplicates only the original's body and mind, not its equipment.

A duplicate can be grown while the original still lives, or when the original soul is unavailable, but the resulting body is merely a soulless bit of inert flesh, which rots if not preserved.

Material Component: The piece of flesh and various laboratory supplies (cost 1,000 gp).

Focus: Special laboratory equipment (cost 500 gp).

COMMAND UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One undead creature

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell allows you some degree of control over an undead creature.

Assuming the subject is intelligent, it perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way (treat its attitude as friendly).

It will not attack you while the spell lasts.

You can try to give the subject orders, but you must win an opposed Charisma check to convince it to do anything it wouldn't ordinarily do.

(Retries are not allowed).

An intelligent commanded undead never obeys suicidal or obviously harmful orders, but it might be convinced that something very dangerous is worth doing (see charm person).

A nonintelligent undead creature (such as a skeleton or zombie) gets no saving throw against this spell.

When you control a mindless being, you can communicate only basic commands, such as "come here", "go there", "fight", "stand still", and so on.

Nonintelligent undead won't resist suicidal or obviously harmful orders.

Any act by you or your apparent allies that threatens the commanded undead (regardless of its Intelligence) breaks the spell.

Your commands are not telepathic.

The undead creature must be able to hear you.

Material Component: A shred of raw meat and a splinter of bone.

CONTAGION

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 3, Destruction 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject contracts a disease selected from the table below, which strikes immediately (no incubation period). The DC noted is for the subsequent saves (use contagion's normal save DC for the initial saving throw).

Disease	DC	Damage
Blinding sickness	16	1d4 Str ¹
Cackle fever	16	1d6 Wis
Filth fever	12	1d3 Dex and 1d3 Con
Mindfire	12	1d4 Int
Red ache	15	1d6 Str
Shakes	13	1d8 Dex
Slimy doom	14	1d4 Con

1 Each time a victim takes 2 or more points of Strength damage from blinding sickness, he or she must make another Fortitude save (using the disease's save DC) or be permanently blinded.

See the Dungeon Master's Guide for descriptions of each disease, as well as for the general effects of disease.

CONTROL UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to 2 HD/level of undead creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell enables you to command undead creatures for a short period of time.

You command them by voice and they understand you, no matter what language you speak.

Even if vocal communication is impossible (in the area of a silence spell, for instance), the controlled undead do not attack you.

At the end of the spell, the subjects revert to their normal behavior.

Intelligent undead creatures remember that you controlled them.

Material Component: A small piece of bone and a small piece of raw meat.

CREATE GREATER UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 8, Death 8, Sor/Wiz 8

This spell functions like create undead, except that you can create more powerful and intelligent sorts of undead: shadows, wraiths, spectres, and devourers (see the Monster Manual for more information on all types of undead).

The type or types of undead you can create is based on your caster level, as shown on the table below.

Caster Level	Undead Created
15th or lower	Shadow
16th–17th	Wraith
18th–19th	Spectre
20th or higher	Devourer

CREATE UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 6, Death 6, Evil 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One corpse

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A much more potent spell than animate dead, this evil spell allows you to create more powerful sorts of undead: ghouls, ghosts, mummies, and mohrgs (see the Monster Manual for more information on all types of undead).

The type or types of undead you can create is based on your caster level, as shown on the table below.

Caster Level Undead Created

11th or lower	Ghoul
12th–14th	Ghast
15th–17th	Mummy
18th or higher	Mohrg

You may create less powerful undead than your level would allow if you choose.

For example, at 16th level you could decide to create a ghoul or a ghast instead of a mummy.

Doing this may be a good idea, because created undead are not automatically under the control of their animator.

If you are capable of commanding undead, you may attempt to command the undead creature as it forms (see Turn or Rebuke Undead, page 159).

This spell must be cast at night.

Material Component: A clay pot filled with grave dirt and another filled with brackish water.

The spell must be cast on a dead body.

You must place a black onyx gem worth at least 50 gp per HD of the undead to be created into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse.

The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless shells.

CURSE WATER

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with negative energy, turning it into unholy water.

Unholy water damages good outsiders the way holy water damages undead and evil outsiders.

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered silver (worth 25 gp).

DEATH KNELL

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Clr 2, Death 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous/10 minutes per HD of subject; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You draw forth the ebbing life force of a creature and use it to fuel your own power.

Upon casting this spell, you touch a living creature that has –1 or fewer hit points.

If the subject fails its saving throw, it dies, and you gain 1d8 temporary hit points and a +2 bonus to Strength.

Additionally, your effective caster level goes up by +1, improving spell effects dependent on caster level. (This increase in effective caster level does not grant you access to more spells). These effects last for 10 minutes per HD of the subject creature.

DEATH WARD

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Death 4, Drd 5, Pal 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject is immune to all death spells, magical death effects, energy drain, and any negative energy effects (such as from inflict spells or chill touch).

This spell doesn't remove negative levels that the subject has already gained, nor does it affect the saving throw necessary 24 hours after gaining a negative level.

Death ward does not protect against other sorts of attacks, such as hit point loss, poison, or petrification, even if those attacks might be lethal.

DEATHWATCH

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using the foul sight granted by the powers of unlife, you can determine the condition of creatures near death within the spell's range.

You instantly know whether each creature within the area is dead, fragile (alive and wounded, with 3 or fewer hit points left), fighting off death (alive with 4 or more hit points), undead, or neither alive nor dead (such as a construct).

Deathwatch sees through any spell or ability that allows creatures to feign death.

DESTRUCTION

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Clr 7, Death 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell instantly slays the subject and consumes its remains (but not its equipment and possessions) utterly.

If the target's Fortitude saving throw succeeds, it instead takes 10d6 points of damage.

The only way to restore life to a character who has failed to save against this spell is to use true resurrection, a carefully worded wish spell followed by resurrection, or miracle.

Focus: A special holy (or unholy) symbol of silver marked with verses of anathema (cost 500 gp).

DISRUPT UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You direct a ray of positive energy.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit, and if the ray hits an undead creature, it deals 1d6 points of damage to it.

DOOM

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell fills a single subject with a feeling of horrible dread that causes it to become shaken.

ENERGY DRAIN

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text for enervation

This spell functions like enervation, except that the creature struck gains 2d4 negative levels, and the negative levels last longer.

There is no saving throw to avoid gaining the negative levels, but 24 hours after gaining them, the subject must make a Fortitude saving throw (DC = energy drain spell's save DC) for each negative level.

If the save succeeds, that negative level is removed.

If it fails, the negative level also goes away, but one of the subject's character levels is permanently drained.

An undead creature struck by the ray gains 2d4×5 temporary hit points for 1 hour.

ENERVATION

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray of negative energy

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point your finger and utter the incantation, releasing a black ray of crackling negative energy that suppresses the life force of any living creature it strikes.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit.

If the attack succeeds, the subject gains 1d4 negative levels.

If the subject has at least as many negative levels as HD, it dies.

Each negative level gives a creature a -1 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, skill checks, ability checks, and effective level (for determining the power, duration, DC, and other details of spells or special abilities).

Additionally, a spellcaster loses one spell or spell slot from his or her highest available level.

Negative levels stack.

Assuming the subject survives, it regains lost levels after a number of hours equal to your caster level (maximum 15 hours).

Usually, negative levels have a chance of permanently draining the victim's levels, but the negative levels from ervation don't last long enough to do so.

An undead creature struck by the ray gains 1d4×5 temporary hit points for 1 hour.

EYEBITE

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round per three levels; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Each round, you may target a single living creature, striking it with waves of evil power.

Depending on the target's HD, this attack has as many as three effects.

HD	Effect
10 or more	Sickened
5-9	Panicked, sickened
4 or less	Comatose, panicked, sickened

The effects are cumulative and concurrent.

Sickened: Sudden pain and fever sweeps over the subject's body.

A sickened creature takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saving throws, skill checks, and ability checks.

A creature affected by this spell remains sickened for 10 minutes per caster level.

The effects cannot be negated by a remove disease or heal spell, but a remove curse is effective.

Panicked: The subject becomes panicked for 1d4 rounds. Even after the panic ends, the creature remains shaken for 10 minutes per caster level, and it automatically becomes panicked again if it comes within sight of you during that time.

This is a fear effect.

Comatose: The subject falls into a catatonic coma for 10 minutes per caster level.

During this time, it cannot be awakened by any means short of dispelling the effect.

This is not a sleep effect, and thus elves are not immune to it.

The spell lasts for 1 round per three caster levels.

You must spend a move action each round after the first to target a foe.

FALSE LIFE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged; see text

You harness the power of unlife to grant yourself a limited ability to avoid death.

While this spell is in effect, you gain temporary hit points equal to 1d10 +1 per caster level (maximum +10).

Material Component: A small amount of alcohol or distilled spirits, which you use to trace certain sigils on your body during casting.

These sigils cannot be seen once the alcohol or spirits evaporate.

FEAR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: 1 round/level or 1 round; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

An invisible cone of terror causes each living creature in the area to become panicked unless it succeeds on a Will save.

If cornered, a panicked creature begins cowering.

(See the Dungeon Master's Guide for more information on fear-panicked creatures).

If the Will save succeeds, the creature is shaken for 1 round.

Material Component: Either the heart of a hen or a white feather.

FINGER OF DEATH

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can slay any one living creature within range.

The target is entitled to a Fortitude saving throw to survive the attack.

If the save is successful, the creature instead takes 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +25). The subject might die from damage even if it succeeds on its saving throw.

GENTLE REPOSE

Necromancy

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Corpse touched

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You preserve the remains of a dead creature so that they do not decay.

Doing so effectively extends the time limit on raising that creature from the dead (see raise dead).

Days spent under the influence of this spell don't count against the time limit.

Additionally, this spell makes transporting a fallen comrade more pleasant.

The spell also works on severed body parts and the like.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of salt, and a copper piece for each eye the corpse has (or had).

GHOUL TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living humanoid touched

Duration: 1d6+2 rounds

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Imbuing you with negative energy, this spell allows you to paralyze a single living humanoid for the duration of the spell with a successful melee touch attack.

Additionally, the paralyzed subject exudes a carrion stench that causes all living creatures (except you) in a 10-foot-radius spread to become sickened (Fortitude negates).

A neutralize poison spell removes the effect from a sickened creature, and creatures immune to poison are unaffected by the stench.

Material Component: A small scrap of cloth taken from clothing worn by a ghoul, or a pinch of earth from a ghoul's lair.

HALT UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to three undead creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell renders as many as three undead creatures immobile.

A nonintelligent undead creature (such as a skeleton or zombie) gets no saving throw; an intelligent undead creature does.

If the spell is successful, it renders the undead creature immobile for the duration of the spell (similar to the effect of hold person on a living creature).

The effect is broken if the halted creatures are attacked or take damage.

Material Component: A pinch of sulfur and powdered garlic.

HARM

Necromancy

Level: Clr 6, Destruction 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Harm charges a subject with negative energy that deals 10 points of damage per caster level (to a maximum of 150 points at 15th level).

If the creature successfully saves, harm deals half this amount, but it cannot reduce the target's hit points to less than 1.

If used on an undead creature, harm acts like heal.

HORRID WILTING

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Water 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: Living creatures, no two of which can be more than 60 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell evaporates moisture from the body of each subject living creature, dealing 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

This spell is especially devastating to water elementals and plant creatures, which instead take 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d8).

Arcane Material Component: A bit of sponge.

INFLECT CRITICAL WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Destruction 4

This spell functions like inflict light wounds, except that you deal 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

INFLECT CRITICAL WOUNDS, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 8

This spell functions like mass inflict light wounds, except that it deals 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +40).

INFLECT LIGHT WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 1, Destruction 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half

Spell Resistance: Yes

When laying your hand upon a creature, you channel negative energy that deals 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +5).

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell cures such a creature of a like amount of damage, rather than harming it.

INFLECT LIGHT WOUNDS, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 5, Destruction 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Negative energy spreads out in all directions from the point of origin, dealing 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +25) to nearby living enemies.

Like other inflict spells, mass inflict light wounds cures undead in its area rather than damaging them.

A cleric capable of spontaneously casting inflict spells can also spontaneously cast mass inflict spells.

INFLECT MINOR WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 0

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like inflict light wounds, except that you deal 1 point of damage and a Will save negates the damage instead of halving it.

INFLECT MODERATE WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 2

This spell functions like inflict light wounds, except that you deal 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10).

INFLECT MODERATE WOUNDS, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 6

This spell functions like mass inflict light wounds, except that it deals 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +30).

INFLECT SERIOUS WOUNDS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 3

This spell functions like inflict light wounds, except that you deal 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15).

INFLECT SERIOUS WOUNDS, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 7

This spell functions like mass inflict light wounds, except that it deals 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +35).

MAGIC JAR

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level or until you return to your body

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

By casting magic jar, you place your soul in a gem or large crystal (known as the magic jar), leaving your body lifeless. Then you can attempt to take control of a nearby body, forcing its soul into the magic jar.

You may move back to the jar (thereby returning the trapped soul to its body) and attempt to possess another body.

The spell ends when you send your soul back to your own body, leaving the receptacle empty.

To cast the spell, the magic jar must be within spell range and you must know where it is, though you do not need line of sight or line of effect to it.

When you transfer your soul upon casting, your body is, as near as anyone can tell, dead.

While in the magic jar, you can sense and attack any life force within 10 feet per caster level (and on the same plane of existence).

You do need line of effect from the jar to the creatures.

You cannot determine the exact creature types or positions of these creatures.

In a group of life forces, you can sense a difference of 4 or more Hit Dice between one creature and another and can determine whether a life force is powered by positive or negative energy.

(Undead creatures are powered by negative energy. Only sentient undead creatures have, or are, souls).

For example, if two 10th-level characters are attacking a hill giant (12 HD) and four ogres (4 HD), you could determine that there are three stronger and four weaker life forces within the range, all powered by positive energy.

You could choose to take over either a stronger or a weaker creature, but which particular stronger or weaker creature you attempt to possess is determined randomly.

Attempting to possess a body is a fullround action. It is blocked by protection from evil or a similar ward. You possess the body and force the creature's soul into the magic jar unless the subject succeeds on a Will save. Failure to take over the host leaves your life force in the magic jar, and the target automatically succeeds on further saving throws if you attempt to possess its body again. If you are successful, your life force occupies the host body, and the host's life force is imprisoned in the magic jar. You keep your Intelligence, Wisdom, Charisma, level, class, base attack bonus, base save bonuses, alignment, and mental abilities.

The body retains its Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, hit points, natural abilities, and automatic abilities. For example, a fish's body breathes water and a troll's body regenerates.

A body with extra limbs does not allow you to make more attacks (or more advantageous two-weapon attacks) than normal.

You can't choose to activate the body's extraordinary or supernatural abilities.

The creature's spells and spell-like abilities do not stay with the body.

As a standard action, you can shift freely from a host to the magic jar if within range, sending the trapped soul back to its body.

The spell ends when you shift from the jar to your own body.

If the host body is slain, you return to the magic jar, if within range, and the life force of the host departs (it is dead).

If the host body is slain beyond the range of the spell, both you and the host die.

Any life force with nowhere to go is treated as slain.

If the spell ends while you are in the magic jar, you return to your body (or die if your body is out of range or destroyed).

If the spell ends while you are in a host, you return to your body (or die, if it is out of range of your current position), and the soul in the magic jar returns to its body (or dies if it is out of range).

Destroying the receptacle ends the spell, and the spell can be dispelled at either the magic jar or at the host's location.

Focus: A gem or crystal worth at least 100 gp.

MARK OF JUSTICE

Necromancy

Level: Clr 5, Pal 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When moral persuasion fails to win a criminal over to right conduct, you can use mark of justice to encourage the miscreant to walk the straight and narrow path.

You draw an indelible mark on the subject and state some behavior on the part of the subject that will activate the mark.

When activated, the mark curses the subject.

Typically, you designate some sort of criminal behavior that activates the mark, but you can pick any act you please.

The effect of the mark is identical with the effect of bestow curse.

Since this spell takes 10 minutes to cast and involves writing on the target, you can cast it only on a creature that is willing or restrained.

Like the effect of bestow curse, a mark of justice cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

Remove curse works only if its caster level is equal to or higher than your mark of justice caster level.

These restrictions apply regardless of whether the mark has activated.

Mass (Spell Name) Any spell whose name begins with mass is alphabetized in this chapter according to the second word of the spell name.

Thus, the description of a mass spell appears near the description of the spell on which it is based.

Spell chains that have mass spells in them include those based on the spells bear's endurance, bull's strength, cat's grace, charm monster, cure critical wounds, cure light wounds, cure moderate wounds, cure serious wounds, eagle's splendor, enlarge person, fox's cunning, heal, hold monster, hold person, inflict critical wounds, inflict light wounds, inflict moderate wounds, inflict serious wounds, invisibility, owl's wisdom, reduce person, and suggestion.

POISON

Necromancy

Level: Clr 4, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the venomous powers of natural predators, you infect the subject with a horrible poison by making a successful melee touch attack.

The poison deals 1d10 points of temporary Constitution damage immediately and another 1d10 points of temporary Constitution damage 1 minute later.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC 10 + 1/2 your caster level + your Wis modifier).

RAY OF ENFEEBLEMENT

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A coruscating ray springs from your hand.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to strike a target.

The subject takes a penalty to Strength equal to 1d6+1 per two caster levels (maximum 1d6+5).

The subject's Strength score cannot drop below 1.

RAY OF EXHAUSTION

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A black ray projects from your pointing finger.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The subject is immediately exhausted for the spell's duration.

A successful Fortitude save means the creature is only fatigued.

A character that is already fatigued instead becomes exhausted.

This spell has no effect on a creature that is already exhausted.

Unlike normal exhaustion or fatigue, the effect ends as soon as the spell's duration expires.

Material Component: A drop of sweat.

SCARE

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One living creature per three levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level or 1 round; see text for cause fear

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like cause fear, except that it causes all targeted creatures of less than 6 HD to become frightened.

Material Component: A bit of bone from an undead skeleton, zombie, ghoul, ghastr, or mummy.

SLAY LIVING

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Clr 5, Death 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can slay any one living creature.

You must succeed on a melee touch attack to touch the subject, and it can avoid death with a successful Fortitude save.

If it succeeds, it instead takes 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level.

(Of course, the subject might die from damage even if it succeeds on its save).

SOUL BIND

Necromancy

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Corpse

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

You draw the soul from a newly dead body and imprison it in a black sapphire gem.

The subject must have been dead no more than 1 round per caster level.

The soul, once trapped in the gem, cannot be returned through clone, raise dead, reincarnation, resurrection, true resurrection, or even a miracle or a wish.

Only by destroying the gem or dispelling the spell on the gem can one free the soul (which is then still dead).

Focus: A black sapphire of at least 1,000 gp value for every Hit Die possessed by the creature whose soul is to be bound.

If the gem is not valuable enough, it shatters when the binding is attempted.

(While creatures have no concept of level or Hit Dice as such, the value of the gem needed to trap an individual can be researched.

Remember that this value can change over time as creatures gain more Hit Dice).

SPEAK WITH DEAD

Necromancy [Language-Dependent]

Level: Clr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 10 ft.

Target: One dead creature

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You grant the semblance of life and intellect to a corpse, allowing it to answer several questions that you put to it.

You may ask one question per two caster levels.

Unasked questions are wasted if the duration expires.

The corpse's knowledge is limited to what the creature knew during life, including the languages it spoke (if any).

Answers are usually brief, cryptic, or repetitive.

If the creature's alignment was different from yours, the corpse gets a Will save to resist the spell as if it were alive.

If the corpse has been subject to speak with dead within the past week, the new spell fails.

You can cast this spell on a corpse that has been deceased for any amount of time, but the body must be mostly intact to be able to respond.

A damaged corpse may be able to give partial answers or partially correct answers, but it must at least have a mouth in order to speak at all.

This spell does not let you actually speak to the person (whose soul has departed).

It instead draws on the imprinted knowledge stored in the corpse.

The partially animated body retains the imprint of the soul that once inhabited it, and thus it can speak with all the knowledge that the creature had while alive. The corpse, however, cannot learn new information. Indeed, it can't even remember being questioned. This spell does not affect a corpse that has been turned into an undead creature.

SPECTRAL HAND

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One spectral hand

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A ghostly, glowing hand shaped from your life force materializes and moves as you desire, allowing you to deliver low-level, touch range spells at a distance.

On casting the spell, you lose 1d4 hit points that return when the spell ends (even if it is dispelled), but not if the hand is destroyed.

(The hit points can be healed as normal).

For as long as the spell lasts, any touch range spell of 4th level or lower that you cast can be delivered by the spectral hand.

The spell gives you a +2 bonus on your melee touch attack roll, and attacking with the hand counts normally as an attack.

The hand always strikes from your direction.

The hand cannot flank targets like a creature can.

After it delivers a spell, or if the hand goes beyond the spell range, goes out of your sight, the hand returns to you and hovers.

The hand is incorporeal and thus cannot be harmed by normal weapons.

It has improved evasion (half damage on a failed Reflex save and no damage on a successful save), your save bonuses, and an AC of at least 22.

Your Intelligence modifier applies to the hand's AC as if it were the hand's Dexterity modifier.

The hand has 1 to 4 hit points, the same number that you lost in creating it.

SYMBOL OF DEATH

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Clr 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.; see text

Effect: One symbol

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell allows you to scribe a potent rune of power upon a surface.

When triggered, a symbol of death slays one or more creatures within 60 feet of the symbol (treat as a burst) whose combined total current hit points do not exceed 150.

The symbol of death affects the closest creatures first, skipping creatures with too many hit points to affect. Once triggered, the symbol becomes active and glows, lasting for 10 minutes per caster level or until it has affected 150 hit points' worth of creatures, whichever comes first. Any creature that enters the area while the symbol of death is active is subject to its effect, whether or not that creature was in the area when it was triggered.

A creature need save against the symbol only once as long as it remains within the area, though if it leaves the area and returns while the symbol is still active, it must save again. Until it is triggered, the symbol of death is inactive (though visible and legible at a distance of 60 feet).

To be effective, a symbol of death must always be placed in plain sight and in a prominent location.

Covering or hiding the rune renders the symbol of death ineffective, unless a creature removes the covering, in which case the symbol of death works normally.

As a default, a symbol of death is triggered whenever a creature does one or more of the following, as you select: looks at the rune; reads the rune; touches the rune; passes over the rune; or passes through a portal bearing the rune. Regardless of the trigger method or methods chosen, a creature more than 60 feet from a symbol of death can't trigger it (even if it meets one or more of the triggering conditions, such as reading the rune).

Once the spell is cast, a symbol of death's triggering conditions cannot be changed.

In this case, "reading" the rune means any attempt to study it, identify it, or fathom its meaning.

Throwing a cover over a symbol of death to render it inoperative triggers it if the symbol reacts to touch.

You can't use a symbol of death offensively; for instance, a touch-triggered symbol of death remains untriggered if an item bearing the symbol of death is used to touch a creature. Likewise, a symbol of death cannot be placed on a weapon and set to activate when the weapon strikes a foe.

You can also set special triggering limitations of your own. These can be as simple or elaborate as you desire.

Special conditions for triggering a symbol of death can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities. Intangibles such as level, class, Hit Dice, and hit points don't qualify.

For example, a symbol of death can be set to activate when a lawful good creature approaches, but not when a paladin approaches.

When scribing a symbol of death, you can specify a password or phrase that prevents a creature using it from triggering the effect.

Anyone using the password remains immune to that particular rune's effects so long as the creature remains within 60 feet of the rune.

If the creature leaves the radius and returns later, it must use the password again.

You also can attune any number of creatures to the symbol of death, but doing this can extend the casting time.

Attuning one or two creatures takes negligible time, and attuning a small group (as many as ten creatures) extends the casting time to 1 hour.

Attuning a large group (as many as twenty-five creatures) takes 24 hours.

Attuning larger groups takes proportionately longer, as the DM sees fit.

Any creature attuned to a symbol of death cannot trigger it and is immune to its effects, even if within its radius when triggered.

You are automatically considered attuned to your own symbols of death, and thus always ignore the effects and cannot inadvertently trigger them.

Read magic allows you to identify a symbol of death with a DC 19 Spellcraft check.

Of course, if the symbol of death is set to be triggered by reading it, this will trigger the symbol.

A symbol of death can be removed by a successful dispel magic targeted solely on the rune.

An erase spell has no effect on a symbol of death.

Destruction of the surface where a symbol of death is inscribed destroys the symbol but also triggers it.

Symbol of death can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent symbol of death that is disabled or that has affected its maximum number of hit points becomes inactive for 10 minutes, then can be triggered again as normal.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of death are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of death and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 33 for symbol of death.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp each.

SYMBOL OF FEAR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that all creatures within 60 feet of the symbol of fear instead become panicked for 1 round per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of fear are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of fear and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 31 for symbol of fear.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 1,000 gp.

SYMBOL OF PAIN

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 5, Sor/Wiz 5

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that each creature within the radius of a symbol of pain instead suffers wracking pains that impose a -4 penalty on attack rolls, skill checks, and ability checks.

These effects last for 1 hour after the creature moves farther than 60 feet from the symbol.

Unlike symbol of death, symbol of pain has no hit point limit; once triggered, a symbol of pain simply remains active for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of pain are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of pain and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 30 for symbol of pain.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 1,000 gp.

SYMBOL OF WEAKNESS

Necromancy

Level: Clr 7, Sor/Wiz 7

This spell functions like symbol of death, except that every creature within 60 feet of a symbol of weakness instead suffers crippling weakness that deals 3d6 points of Strength damage.

Unlike symbol of death, symbol of weakness has no hit point limit; once triggered, a symbol of weakness simply remains active for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps such as symbol of weakness are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of weakness and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 32 for symbol of weakness.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

TOUCH OF FATIGUE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You channel negative energy through your touch, fatiguing the target.

You must succeed on a touch attack to strike a target.

The subject is immediately fatigued for the spell's duration.

This spell has no effect on a creature that is already fatigued.

Unlike with normal fatigue, the effect ends as soon as the spell's duration expires.

Material Component: A drop of sweat.

UNDEATH TO DEATH

Necromancy

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Area: Several undead creatures within a 40-ft.-radius burst

Saving Throw: Will negates

This spell functions like circle of death, except that it destroys undead creatures as noted above.

Material Component: The powder of a crushed diamond worth at least 500 gp.

VAMPIRIC TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous/1 hour; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You must succeed on a melee touch attack.

Your touch deals 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).

You gain temporary hit points equal to the damage you deal.

However, you can't gain more than the subject's current hit points +10, which is enough to kill the subject.

The temporary hit points disappear 1 hour later.

WAIL OF THE BANSHEE

Necromancy [Death, Sonic]

Level: Death 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One living creature/level within a 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You emit a terrible scream that kills creatures that hear it (except for yourself).

Creatures closest to the point of origin are affected first.

WAVES OF EXHAUSTION

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: Yes

Waves of negative energy cause all living creatures in the spell's area to become exhausted.

This spell has no effect on a creature that is already exhausted.

WAVES OF FATIGUE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: Yes

Waves of negative energy render all living creatures in the spell's area fatigued.

This spell has no effect on a creature that is already fatigued.

TRANSMUTATION

AIR WALK

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Air 4, Clr 4, Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature (Gargantuan or smaller) touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can tread on air as if walking on solid ground. Moving upward is similar to walking up a hill.

The maximum upward or downward angle possible is 45 degrees, at a rate equal to one-half the air walker's normal speed.

A strong wind (21+ mph) can push the subject along or hold it back.

At the end of its turn each round, the wind blows the air walker 5 feet for each 5 miles per hour of wind speed.

The creature can, at the DM's option, be subject to additional penalties in exceptionally strong or turbulent winds, such as loss of control over movement or physical damage from being buffeted about.

Should the spell duration expire while the subject is still aloft, the magic fails slowly.

The subject floats downward 60 feet per round for 1d6 rounds.

If it reaches the ground in that amount of time, it lands safely.

If not, it falls the rest of the distance, taking 1d6 points of damage per 10 feet of fall.

Since dispelling a spell effectively ends it, the subject also descends in this way if the air walk spell is dispelled, but not if it is negated by an antimagic field.

You can cast air walk on a specially trained mount so it can be ridden through the air.

You can train a mount to move with the aid of air walk

(counts as a trick; see page 74) with one week of work and a DC 25 Handle Animal check.

ALIGN WEAPON

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Clr 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Align weapon makes a weapon good, evil, lawful, or chaotic, as you choose.

A weapon that is aligned can bypass the damage reduction of certain creatures, usually outsiders of the opposite alignment.

This spell has no effect on a weapon that already has an alignment, such as a holy sword.

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon, such as an unarmed strike.

When you make a weapon good, evil, lawful, or chaotic, align weapon is a good, evil, lawful, or chaotic spell, respectively.

ALTER SELF

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You assume the form of a creature of the same type as your normal form (such as humanoid or magical beast).

The new form must be within one size category of your normal size.

The maximum HD of an assumed form is equal to your caster level, to a maximum of 5 HD at 5th level.

You can change into a member of your own kind or even into yourself.

You retain your own ability scores.

Your class and level, hit points, alignment, base attack bonus, and base save bonuses all remain the same.

You retain all supernatural and spell-like special attacks and qualities of your normal form, except for those requiring a body part that the new form does not have (such as a mouth for a breath weapon or eyes for a gaze attack).

You keep all extraordinary special attacks and qualities derived from class levels (such as a barbarian's rage ability), but you lose any from your normal form that are not derived from class levels (such as a dragon's frightful presence ability).

If the new form is capable of speech, you can communicate normally.

You retain any spellcasting ability you had in your original form, but the new form must be able to speak intelligibly (that is, speak a language) to use verbal components and must have limbs capable of fine manipulation to use somatic or material components.

You acquire the physical qualities of the new form while retaining your own mind.

Physical qualities include natural size, mundane movement capabilities (such as burrowing, climbing, walking, swimming, and flight with wings, to a maximum speed of 120 feet for flying or 60 feet for nonflying movement), natural armor bonus, natural weapons (such as claws, bite, and so on), racial skill bonuses, racial bonus feats, and any gross physical qualities (presence or absence of wings, number of extremities, and so forth).

A body with extra limbs does not allow you to make more attacks (or more advantageous two-weapon attacks) than normal.

You do not gain any extraordinary special attacks or special qualities not noted above under physical qualities, such as darkvision, low-light vision, blindsense, blindsight, fast healing, regeneration, scent, and so forth.

You do not gain any supernatural special attacks, special qualities, or spell-like abilities of the new form.

Your creature type and subtype (if any) remain the same regardless of your new form.

You cannot take the form of any creature with a template, even if that template doesn't change the creature type or subtype.

You can freely designate the new form's minor physical qualities (such as hair color, hair texture, and skin color) within the normal ranges for a creature of that kind. The new form's significant physical qualities (such as height, weight, and gender) are also under your control, but they must fall within the norms for the new form's kind. You are effectively disguised as an average member of the new form's race.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check.

When the change occurs, your equipment, if any, either remains worn or held by the new form (if it is capable of wearing or holding the item), or melds into the new form and becomes nonfunctional.

When you revert to your true form, any objects previously melded into the new form reappear in the same location on your body they previously occupied and are once again functional.

Any new items you wore in the assumed form and can't wear in your normal form fall off and land at your feet; any that you could wear in either form or carry in a body part common to both forms (mouth, hands, or the like) at the time of reversion are still held in the same way.

Any part of the body or piece of equipment that is separated from the whole reverts to its true form.

ANIMAL GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5, Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to one animal (Gargantuan or smaller) per two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A number of animals grow to twice their normal size and eight times their normal weight.

This alteration changes each animal's size category to the next largest (from Large to Huge, for example), grants it a +8 size bonus to Strength and a +4 size bonus to Constitution (and thus an extra 2 hit points per HD), and imposes a -2 size penalty to Dexterity.

The creature's existing natural armor bonus increases by 2. The size change also affects the animal's modifier to AC and attack rolls and its base damage, as detailed on Table 2-2 in the Dungeon Master's Guide.

The animal's space and reach change as indicated on Table 8-4: Creature Size and Scale (page 149), but its speed does not change.

The spell also grants each subject damage reduction 10/magic and a +4 resistance bonus on saving throws.

If insufficient room is available for the desired growth, the creature attains the maximum possible size and may make a

Strength check (using its increased Strength) to burst any enclosures in the process.

If it fails, it is constrained without harm by the materials enclosing it—the spell cannot be used to crush a creature by increasing its size.

All equipment worn or carried by an animal is similarly enlarged by the spell, though this change has no effect on the magical properties of any such equipment.

Any enlarged item that leaves the enlarged creature's possession instantly returns to its normal size.

The spell gives no means of command or influence over the enlarged animals.

Multiple magical effects that increase size do not stack, which means (among other things) that you can't use a second casting of this spell to further increase the size of an animal that's still under the effect of the first casting.

ANIMAL SHAPES

Transmutation

Level: Animal 7, Drd 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to one willing creature per level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As polymorph, except you polymorph up to one willing creature per caster level into an animal of your choice; the spell has no effect on unwilling creatures.

All creatures must take the same kind of animal form; for example, you can't turn one subject into a hawk and another into a dire wolf.

Recipients remain in the animal form until the spell expires or until you dismiss it for all recipients.

In addition, an individual subject may choose to resume its normal form as a full-round action; doing so ends the spell for that subject alone.

The maximum HD of an assumed form is equal to the subject's HD or your caster level, whichever is lower, to a maximum of 20 HD at 20th level.

ANIMATE OBJECTS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Chaos 6, Clr 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One Small object per caster level; see text

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You imbue inanimate objects with mobility and a semblance of life.

Each such animated object then immediately attacks whomever or whatever you initially designate.

An animated object can be of any nonmagical material—wood, metal, stone, fabric, leather, ceramic, glass, or the like.

You may animate one Small or smaller object (such as a chair) or an equivalent number of larger objects per caster level.

A Medium object (such as a coat rack) counts as two Small or smaller objects, a Large object (such as a table) as four, a Huge object as eight, a Gargantuan object as sixteen, and a Colossal object as thirty-two.

You can change the designated target or targets as a move action, as if directing an active spell.

The Monster Manual has game statistics for animated objects.

This spell cannot animate objects carried or worn by a creature.

Animate objects can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

ANIMATE PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 7, Plant 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One Large plant per three caster levels or all plants within range; see text

Duration: 1 round/level or 1 hour/level; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You imbue inanimate plants with mobility and a semblance of life.

Each animated plant then immediately attacks whomever or whatever you initially designate as though it were an animated object of the appropriate size category.

You may animate one Large or smaller plant (such as a tree), or an equivalent number of larger plants, per three caster levels.

A Huge plant counts as two Large or smaller plants, a Gargantuan plant as four, and a Colossal plant as eight. You can change the designated target or targets as a move action, as if directing an active spell.

Use the statistics for animated objects found in the Monster Manual, except that plants smaller than Large don't have hardness unless the DM rules otherwise for a given case. Animate plants cannot affect plant creatures (such as treants), nor does it affect nonliving vegetable material (such as a cotton tunic or hempen rope).

Entangle: Alternatively, you may imbue all plants within range with a degree of mobility, which allows them to entwine around creatures in the area.

This usage of the spell duplicates the effect of an entangle spell.

Spell resistance does not keep creatures from being entangled.

This effect lasts 1 hour per caster level.

ANIMATE ROPE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One ropelike object, length up to 50 ft. + 5 ft./level; see text

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can animate a nonliving ropelike object, such as string, yarn, cord, line, rope, or even a cable.

The maximum length assumes a rope with a 1-inch diameter.

Reduce the maximum length by 50% for every additional inch of thickness, and increase it by 50% for each reduction of the rope's diameter by half.

The possible commands are "coil" (form a neat, coiled stack), "coil and knot", "loop", "loop and knot", "tie and knot", and the opposites of all of the above ("uncoil", and so forth).

You can give one command each round as a move action, as if directing an active spell.

The rope can enwrap only a creature or an object within 1 foot of it—it does not snake outward—so it must be thrown near the intended target.

Doing so requires a successful ranged touch attack roll (range increment 10 feet).

A typical 1-inch-diameter hempen rope has 2 hit points, AC 10, and requires a DC 23 Strength check to burst it.

The rope does not deal damage, but it can be used as a trip line or to cause a single opponent that fails a Reflex saving throw to become entangled.

A creature capable of spellcasting that is bound by this spell must make a DC 15 Concentration check to cast a spell.

An entangled creature can slip free with a DC 20 Escape Artist check.

The rope itself and any knots tied in it are not magical.

This spell grants a +2 bonus on any Use Rope checks you make when using the transmuted rope.

The spell cannot animate objects carried or worn by a creature.

AWAKEN

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 24 hours

Range: Touch

Target: Animal or tree touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You awaken a tree or animal to humanlike sentience.

To succeed, you must make a Will save (DC 10 + the animal's current HD, or the HD the tree will have once awakened).

The awakened animal or tree is friendly toward you.

You have no special empathy or connection with a creature you awaken, although it serves you in specific tasks or endeavors if you communicate your desires to it.

An awakened tree has characteristics as if it were an animated object (see the Monster Manual), except that it gains the plant type and its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores are each 3d6.

An awakened plant gains the ability to move its limbs, roots, vines, creepers, and so forth, and it has senses similar to a human's.

An awakened animal gets 3d6 Intelligence, +1d3 Charisma, and +2 HD.

Its type becomes magical beast (augmented animal).

An awakened animal can't serve as an animal companion, familiar, or special mount.

An awakened tree or animal can speak one language that you know, plus one additional language that you know per point of Intelligence bonus (if any).

XP Cost: 250 XP.

BALEFUL POLYMORPH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates, Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

As polymorph, except that you change the subject into a Small or smaller animal of no more than 1 HD (such as a dog, lizard, monkey, or toad).

If the new form would prove fatal to the creature (for example, if you polymorphed a landbound target into a fish, or a flying target into a toad) the subject gets a +4 bonus on the save.

If the spell succeeds, the subject must also make a Will save.

If this second save fails, the creature loses its extraordinary, supernatural, and spell-like abilities, loses its ability to cast spells (if it had the ability), and gains the alignment, special abilities, and Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores of its new form in place of its own.

It still retains its class and level (or HD), as well as all benefits deriving therefrom (such as base attack bonus, base save bonuses, and hit points).

It retains any class features (other than spellcasting) that aren't extraordinary, supernatural, or spell-like abilities.

Incorporeal or gaseous creatures are immune to being polymorphed, and a creature with the shapechanger subtype (such as a lycanthrope or a doppelganger) can revert to its natural form as a standard action.

BARKSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Rgr 2, Plant 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Barkskin toughens a creature's skin.

The effect grants a +2 enhancement bonus to the creature's existing natural armor bonus.

This enhancement bonus increases by 1 for every three caster levels above 3rd, to a maximum of +5 at caster level 12th.

The enhancement bonus provided by barkskin stacks with the target's natural armor bonus, but not with other enhancement bonuses to natural armor.

A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0, much as a character wearing only normal clothing has an armor bonus of +0.

BEAR'S ENDURANCE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The affected creature gains greater vitality and stamina. The spell grants the subject a +4 enhancement bonus to Constitution, which adds the usual benefits to hit points, Fortitude saves, Constitution checks, and so forth.

Hit points gained by a temporary increase in Constitution score are not temporary hit points.

They go away when the subject's Constitution drops back to normal.

They are not lost first as temporary hit points are (see page 146).

BEAR'S ENDURANCE, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Mass bear's endurance works like bear's endurance, except that it affects multiple creatures.

BLESS WATER

Transmutation [Good]

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This transmutation imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with positive energy, turning it into holy water (page 128).

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered silver (worth 25 gp).

BLESS WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Pal 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This transmutation makes a weapon strike true against evil foes.

The weapon is treated as having a +1 enhancement bonus for the purpose of bypassing the damage reduction of evil creatures or striking evil incorporeal creatures (though the spell doesn't grant an actual enhancement bonus).

The weapon also becomes good, which means it can bypass the damage reduction of certain creatures, particularly evil outsiders.

(This effect overrides and suppresses any other alignment the weapon might have).

Individual arrows or bolts can be transmuted, but affected projectile weapons (such as bows) don't confer the benefit to the projectiles they shoot.

In addition, all critical hit rolls against evil foes are automatically successful, so every threat is a critical hit. This last effect does not apply to any weapon that already has a magical effect related to critical hits, such as a keen weapon or a vorpal sword.

BLINK

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Like a blink dog (see the Monster Manual), you "blink" back and forth between the Material Plane and the Ethereal Plane.

You look as though you're winking in and out of reality very quickly and at random.

Blinking has several effects, as follows.

Physical attacks against you have a 50% miss chance, and the Blind-Fight feat doesn't help opponents, since you're ethereal and not merely invisible.

If the attack is capable of striking ethereal creatures, the miss chance is only 20% (for concealment).

If the attacker can see invisible creatures, the miss chance is also only 20%.

(For an attacker who can both see and strike ethereal creatures, there is no miss chance).

Likewise, your own attacks have a 20% miss chance, since you sometimes go ethereal just as you are about to strike.

Any individually targeted spell has a 50% chance to fail against you while you're blinking unless your attacker can target invisible, ethereal creatures.

Your own spells have a 20% chance to activate just as you go ethereal, in which case they typically do not affect the Material Plane.

While blinking, you take only half damage from area attacks (but full damage from those that extend onto the Ethereal Plane).

You strike as an invisible creature (with a +2 bonus on attack rolls), denying your target any Dexterity bonus to AC.

You take only half damage from falling, since you fall only while you are material.

While blinking, you can step through (but not see through) solid objects.

For each 5 feet of solid material you walk through, there is a 50% chance that you become material.

If this occurs, you are shunted off to the nearest open space and take 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet so traveled. You can move at only three-quarters speed (because movement on the Ethereal Plane is at half speed, and you spend about half your time there and half your time material).

Since you spend about half your time on the Ethereal Plane, you can see and even attack ethereal creatures. You interact with ethereal creatures roughly the same way you interact with material ones.

For instance, your spells against ethereal creatures are 20% likely to activate just as you go material and be lost. An ethereal creature is invisible, incorporeal, and capable of moving in any direction, even up or down.

As an incorporeal creature, you can move through solid objects, including living creatures.

An ethereal creature can see and hear the Material Plane, but everything looks gray and insubstantial.

Sight and hearing on the Material Plane are limited to 60 feet.

Force effects (such as magic missile and wall of force) and abjurations affect you normally.

Their effects extend onto the Ethereal Plane from the Material Plane, but not vice versa.

An ethereal creature can't attack material creatures, and spells you cast while ethereal affect only other ethereal things.

Certain material creatures or objects have attacks or effects that work on the Ethereal Plane (such as the basilisk and its gaze attack).

Treat other ethereal creatures and objects as material.

BULL'S STRENGTH

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 2, Sor/Wiz 2, Strength 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject becomes stronger.

The spell grants a +4 enhancement bonus to Strength, adding the usual benefits to melee attack rolls, melee damage rolls, and other uses of the Strength modifier.

Arcane Material Component: A few hairs, or a pinch of dung, from a bull.

BULL'S STRENGTH, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like bull's strength, except that it affects multiple creatures.

CAT'S GRACE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Drd 2, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The transmuted creature becomes more graceful, agile, and coordinated.

The spell grants a +4 enhancement bonus to Dexterity, adding the usual benefits to AC, Reflex saves, and other uses of the Dexterity modifier.

Material Component: A pinch of cat fur.

CAT'S GRACE, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like cat's grace, except that it affects multiple creatures.

CHANGESTAFF

Transmutation

Level: Drd 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: Your touched staff

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You change a specially prepared quarterstaff into a Huge treantlike creature, about 24 feet tall.

When you plant the end of the staff in the ground and speak a special command to conclude the casting of the spell, your staff turns into a creature that looks and fights just like a treant (see the Monster Manual).

The staff-treant defends you and obeys any spoken commands.

However, it is by no means a true treant; it cannot converse with actual treants or control trees.

If the staff-treant is reduced to 0 or fewer hit points, it crumbles to powder and the staff is destroyed.

Otherwise, the staff returns to its normal form when the spell duration expires (or when the spell is dismissed), and it can be used as the focus for another casting of the spell. The staff-treant is always at full strength when created, despite any wounds it may have incurred the last time it appeared.

Focus: The quarterstaff, which must be specially prepared.

The staff must be a sound limb cut from an ash, oak, or yew, then cured, shaped, carved, and polished (a process requiring twenty-eight days).

You cannot adventure or engage in other strenuous activity during the shaping and carving of the staff.

CHILL METAL

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Metal equipment of one creature per two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart; or 25 lb. of metal/level, none of which can be more than 30 ft. away from any of the rest

Duration: 7 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Chill metal makes metal extremely cold.

Unattended, nonmagical metal gets no saving throw.

Magical metal is allowed a saving throw against the spell (Magic item's saving throws are covered in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

An item in a creature's possession uses the creature's saving throw bonus unless its own is higher.

A creature takes cold damage if its equipment is chilled.

It takes full damage if its armor is affected or if it is holding, touching, wearing, or carrying metal weighing one-fifth of its weight.

The creature takes minimum damage (1 point or 2 points; see the table) if it's not wearing metal armor and the metal that it's carrying weighs less than one-fifth of its weight.

On the first round of the spell, the metal becomes chilly and uncomfortable to touch but deals no damage.

The same effect also occurs on the last round of the spell's duration.

During the second (and also the next-to-last) round, icy coldness causes pain and damage.

In the third, fourth, and fifth rounds, the metal is freezing cold, causing more damage, as shown on the table below.

Round	Metal Temperature	Damage
1	Cold	None
2	Icy	1d4 points
3-5	Freezing	2d4 points
6	Icy	1d4 points
7	Cold	None

Any heat intense enough to damage the creature negates cold damage from the spell (and vice versa) on a point-for-point basis.

For example, if the damage roll from a chill metal spell indicates 5 points of cold damage and the subject plunges through a wall of fire in the same round and takes 8 points of fire damage, it winds up taking no cold damage and only 3 points of fire damage.

Underwater, chill metal deals no damage, but ice immediately forms around the affected metal, making it more buoyant.

Chill metal counters and dispels heat metal.

COMMAND PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4, Plant 4, Rgr 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to 2 HD/level of plant creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell allows you some degree of control over one or more plant creatures.

Affected plant creatures can understand you, and they perceive your words and actions in the most favorable way (treat their attitude as friendly).

They will not attack you while the spell lasts.

You can try to give a subject orders, but you must win an opposed Charisma check to convince it to do anything it wouldn't ordinarily do.

(Retries are not allowed).

A commanded plant never obeys suicidal or obviously harmful orders, but it might be convinced that something very dangerous is worth doing (see charm person).

You can affect a number of plant creatures whose combined level or HD do not exceed twice your level.

CONTROL PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 8, Plant 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to 2 HD/level of plant creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

This spell enables you to control the actions of one or more plant creatures for a short period of time.

You command the creatures by voice and they understand you, no matter what language you speak.

Even if vocal communication is impossible (in the area of a silence spell, for instance), the controlled plants do not attack you.

At the end of the spell, the subjects revert to their normal behavior.

Suicidal or self-destructive commands are simply ignored.

CONTROL WATER

Transmutation [Water]

Level:Clr 4, Drd 4, Sor/Wiz 6, Water 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Water in a volume of 10 ft./level by 10 ft./level by 2 ft./level (S)

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version you choose, the control water spell raises or lowers water.

Lower Water: This causes water or similar liquid to reduce its depth by as much as 2 feet per caster level (to a minimum depth of 1 inch).

The water is lowered within a squarish depression whose sides are up to caster level \times 10 feet long.

In extremely large and deep bodies of water, such as a deep ocean, the spell creates a whirlpool that sweeps ships and similar craft downward, putting them at risk and rendering them unable to leave by normal movement for the duration of the spell.

When cast on water elementals and other water-based creatures, this spell acts as a slow spell (Will negates). The spell has no effect on other creatures.

Raise Water: This causes water or similar liquid to rise in height, just as the lower water version causes it to lower. Boats raised in this way slide down the sides of the hump that the spell creates.

If the area affected by the spell includes riverbanks, a beach, or other land nearby, the water can spill over onto dry land.

With either version, you may reduce one horizontal dimension by half and double the other horizontal dimension.

Arcane Material Component: A drop of water (for raise water) or a pinch of dust (for lower water).

CONTROL WEATHER

Transmutation

Level: Air 7, Clr 7, Drd 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes; see text

Range: 2 miles

Area: 2-mile-radius circle, centered on you; see text

Duration: 4d12 hours; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You change the weather in the local area.

It takes 10 minutes to cast the spell and an additional 10 minutes for the effects to manifest.

The current, natural weather conditions are determined by the DM.

You can call forth weather appropriate to the climate and season of the area you are in.

Season	Possible Weather
Spring	Tornado, thunderstorm, sleet storm, or hot weather
Summer	Torrential rain, heat wave, or hailstorm
Autumn	Hot or cold weather, fog, or sleet
Winter	Frigid cold, blizzard, or thaw
Late winter	Hurricane-force winds or early spring (coastal area)

You control the general tendencies of the weather, such as the direction and intensity of the wind.

You cannot control specific applications of the weather—where lightning strikes, for example, or the exact path of a tornado.

When you select a certain weather condition to occur, the weather assumes that condition 10 minutes later (changing gradually, not abruptly).

The weather continues as you left it for the duration, or until you use a standard action to designate a new kind of weather (which fully manifests itself 10 minutes later).

Contradictory conditions are not possible simultaneously—fog and strong wind, for example.

Control weather can do away with atmospheric phenomena (naturally occurring or otherwise) as well as create them.

A druid casting this spell doubles the duration and affects a circle with a 3-mile radius.

CONTROL WINDS

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Air 5, Drd 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft./level

Area: 40 ft./level radius cylinder 40 ft. high

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You alter wind force in the area surrounding you.

You can make the wind blow in a certain direction or manner, increase its strength, or decrease its strength.

The new wind direction and strength persist until the spell ends or until you choose to alter your handiwork, which requires concentration.

You may create an “eye” of calm air up to 80 feet in diameter at the center of the area if you so desire, and you may choose to limit the area to any cylindrical area less than your full limit (for example, a 20-foot-diameter tornado centered 100 feet away).

Wind Direction: You may choose one of four basic wind patterns to function over the spell’s area.

- A downdraft blows from the center outward in equal strength in all directions.
- An updraft blows from the outer edges in toward the center in equal strength from all directions, veering upward before impinging on the eye in the center.
- A rotation causes the winds to circle the center in clockwise or counter-clockwise fashion.
- A blast simply causes the winds to blow in one direction across the entire area from one side to the other.

Wind Strength: For every three caster levels, you can increase or decrease wind strength by one level. (The categories of wind strength are briefly described below, with more detail to be found in the Dungeon Master’s Guide).

Each round on your turn, a creature in the wind must make a Fortitude save or suffer the effect of being in the windy area.

Strong winds (21+ mph) make sailing difficult.

A severe wind (31+ mph) causes minor ship and building damage.

A windstorm (51+ mph) drives most flying creatures from the skies, uproots small trees, knocks down light wooden structures, tears off roofs, and endangers ships.

Hurricane force winds (75+ mph) destroy wooden buildings, sometimes uproot even large trees, and cause most ships to founder.

A tornado (175+ mph) destroys all nonfortified buildings and often uproots large trees.

DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Rgr 3, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains the ability to see 60 feet even in total darkness.

Darkvision is black and white only but otherwise like normal sight.

Darkvision does not grant one the ability to see in magical darkness.

Darkvision can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: Either a pinch of dried carrot or an agate.

DIMINISH PLANTS

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell has two versions.

Prune Growth: This version causes normal vegetation (grasses, briars, bushes, creepers, hedges, thistles, trees, vines, and so forth) within long range (400 feet + 40 feet per level) to shrink to about one-third of their normal size, becoming untangled and less bushy.

The affected vegetation appears to have been carefully pruned and trimmed.

At your option, the area can be a 100-foot-radius circle, a 150-foot-radius semicircle, or a 200-foot-radius quarter-circle.

You may also designate portions of the area that are not affected.

Stunt Growth: This version targets normal plants within a range of 1/2 mile, reducing their potential productivity over the course of the following year to one-third below normal.

Diminish plants counters plant growth.

This spell has no effect on plant creatures.

DISINTEGRATE

Transmutation

Level: Destruction 7, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A thin, green ray springs from your pointing finger.

You must make a successful ranged touch attack to hit. Any creature struck by the ray takes 2d6 points of damage per caster level (to a maximum of 40d6).

Any creature reduced to 0 or fewer hit points by this spell is entirely disintegrated, leaving behind only a trace of fine dust.

A disintegrated creature's equipment is unaffected.

When used against an object, the ray simply disintegrates as much as one 10-foot cube of nonliving matter.

Thus, the spell disintegrates only part of any very large object or structure targeted.

The ray affects even objects constructed entirely of force, such as Bigby's forceful hand or a wall of force, but not magical effects such as a globe of invulnerability or an antimagic field.

A creature or object that makes a successful Fortitude save is partially affected, taking only 5d6 points of damage.

If this damage reduces the creature or object to 0 or fewer hit points, it is entirely disintegrated.

Only the first creature or object struck can be affected; that is, the ray affects only one target per casting.

Arcane Material Component: A lodestone and a pinch of dust.

DISRUPTING WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One melee weapon

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

This spell makes a melee weapon deadly to undead.

Any undead creature with HD equal to or less than your caster level must succeed on a Will save or be destroyed utterly if struck in combat with this weapon.

Spell resistance does not apply against the destruction effect.

EAGLE'S SPLENDOR

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Pal 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The transmuted creature becomes more poised, articulate, and personally forceful.

The spell grants a +4 enhancement bonus to Charisma, adding the usual benefits to Charisma-based skill checks and other uses of the Charisma modifier.

Sorcerers and bards (and other spellcasters who rely on Charisma) affected by this spell do not gain any additional bonus spells for the increased Charisma, but the save DCs for spells they cast while under this spell's effect do increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few feathers or a pinch of droppings from an eagle.

EAGLE'S SPLENDOR, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like eagle's splendor, except that it affects multiple creatures.

ENLARGE PERSON

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1, Strength 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid creature

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes instant growth of a humanoid creature, doubling its height and multiplying its weight by 8.

This increase changes the creature's size category to the next larger one.

The target gains a +2 size bonus to Strength, a -2 size penalty to Dexterity (to a minimum of 1), and a -1 penalty on attack rolls and AC due to its increased size.

A humanoid creature whose size increases to Large has a space of 10 feet and a natural reach of 10 feet.

This spell does not change the target's speed.

If insufficient room is available for the desired growth, the creature attains the maximum possible size and may make a Strength check (using its increased Strength) to burst any enclosures in the process.

If it fails, it is constrained without harm by the materials enclosing it—the spell cannot be used to crush a creature by increasing its size.

All equipment worn or carried by a creature is similarly enlarged by the spell.

Melee and projectile weapons affected by this spell deal more damage (see Table 2-2 in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Other magical properties are not affected by this spell.

Any enlarged item that leaves an enlarged creature's possession (including a projectile or thrown weapon) instantly returns to its normal size.

This means that thrown weapons deal their normal damage, and projectiles deal damage based on the size of the weapon that fired them.

Magical properties of enlarged items are not increased by this spell—an enlarged +1 sword still has only a +1 enhancement bonus, a staff-sized wand is still only capable of its normal functions, a giant-sized potion merely requires a greater fluid intake to make its magical effects operate, and so on.

Multiple magical effects that increase size do not stack, which means (among other things) that you can't use a second casting of this spell to further increase the size of a humanoid that's still under the effect of the first casting.

Enlarge person counters and dispels reduce person.

Enlarge person can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered iron.

ENLARGE PERSON, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Target: One humanoid creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like enlarge person, except that it affects multiple creatures.

ENTANGLE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Plant 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Plants in a 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Grasses, weeds, bushes, and even trees wrap, twist, and entwine about creatures in the area or those that enter the area, holding them fast and causing them to become entangled.

The creature can break free and move half its normal speed by using a full-round action to make a DC 20 Strength check or a DC 20 Escape Artist check.

A creature that succeeds on a Reflex save is not entangled but can still move at only half speed through the area.

Each round on your turn, the plants once again attempt to entangle all creatures that have avoided or escaped entanglement.

Note: The DM may alter the effects of the spell somewhat, based on the nature of the entangling plants.

ERASE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One scroll or two pages

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

Erase removes writings of either magical or mundane nature from a scroll or from one or two pages of paper, parchment, or similar surfaces.

With this spell, you can remove explosive runes, a glyph of warding, a sepia snake sigil, or an arcane mark, but not illusory script or a symbol spell.

Nonmagical writing is automatically erased if you touch it and no one else is holding it.

Otherwise, the chance of erasing nonmagical writing is 90%.

Magic writing must be touched to be erased, and you also must succeed on a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against DC 15.

(A natural 1 or 2 is always a failure on this check).

If you fail to erase explosive runes, a glyph of warding, or a sepia snake sigil, you accidentally activate that writing instead.

ETHEREAL JAUNT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 7, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You become ethereal, along with your equipment. For the duration of the spell, you are in a place called the Ethereal Plane, which overlaps the normal, physical, Material Plane.

When the spell expires, you return to material existence. An ethereal creature is invisible, insubstantial, and capable of moving in any direction, even up or down, albeit at half normal speed.

As an insubstantial creature, you can move through solid objects, including living creatures.

An ethereal creature can see and hear on the Material Plane, but everything looks gray and ephemeral.

Sight and hearing onto the Material Plane are limited to 60 feet.

Force effects (such as magic missile and wall of force) and abjurations affect an ethereal creature normally.

Their effects extend onto the Ethereal Plane from the Material Plane, but not vice versa.

An ethereal creature can't attack material creatures, and spells you cast while ethereal affect only other ethereal things.

Certain material creatures or objects have attacks or effects that work on the Ethereal Plane (such as a basilisk's gaze attack).

Treat other ethereal creatures and ethereal objects as if they were material.

If you end the spell and become material while inside a material object (such as a solid wall), you are shunted off to the nearest open space and take 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet that you so travel.

ETHEREALNESS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Range: Touch; see text

Targets: You and one other touched creature per three levels

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like ethereal jaunt, except that you and other willing creatures joined by linked hands (along with their equipment) become ethereal.

Besides yourself, you can bring one creature per three caster levels to the Ethereal Plane.

Once ethereal, the subjects need not stay together.

When the spell expires, all affected creatures on the Ethereal Plane return to material existence.

EXPEDITIOUS RETREAT

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

This spell increases your base land speed by 30 feet. (This adjustment is treated as an enhancement bonus). There is no effect on other modes of movement, such as burrow, climb, fly, or swim.

As with any effect that increases your speed, this spell affects your jumping distance (see the Jump skill, page 77). This spell need not be used as part of a retreat; the name of the spell merely hints at the typical wizard's attitude towards combat.

FABRICATE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: See text

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Up to 10 cu. ft./level; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You convert material of one sort into a product that is of the same material.

Thus, you can fabricate a wooden bridge from a clump of tress, a rope from a patch of hemp, clothes from flax or wool, and so forth.

Creatures or magic items cannot be created or transmuted by the fabricate spell.

The quality of items made by this spell is commensurate with the quality of material used as the basis for the new fabrication.

If you work with a mineral, the target is reduced to 1 cubic foot per level instead of 10 cubic feet.

You must make an appropriate Craft check to fabricate articles requiring a high degree of craftsmanship (jewelry, swords, glass, crystal, and the like).

Casting requires 1 round per 10 cubic feet (or 1 cubic foot) of material to be affected by the spell.

Material Component: The original material, which costs the same amount as the raw materials required to craft the item to be created.

FEATHER FALL

Transmutation

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 free action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One Medium or smaller freefalling object or creature/level, no two of which may be more than 20 ft. apart

Duration: Until landing or 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless) or Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The affected creatures or objects fall slowly, though faster than feathers typically do.

Feather fall instantly changes the rate at which the targets fall to a mere 60 feet per round (equivalent to the end of a fall from a few feet), and the subjects take no damage upon landing while the spell is in effect. However, when the spell duration expires, a normal rate of falling resumes.

The spell affects one or more Medium or smaller creatures (including gear and carried objects up to each creature's maximum load) or objects, or the equivalent in larger creatures: A Large creature or object counts as two Medium creatures or objects, a Huge creature or object counts as two Large creatures or objects, and so forth.

You can cast this spell with an instant utterance, quickly enough to save yourself if you unexpectedly fall.

Casting the spell is a free action, like casting a quickened spell, and it counts toward the normal limit of one quickened spell per round.

You may even cast this spell when it isn't your turn.

This spell has no special effect on ranged weapons unless they are falling quite a distance.

If the spell is cast on a falling item, such as a boulder dropped from the top of a castle wall, the object does half normal damage based on its weight, with no bonus for the height of the drop.

(See the Dungeon Master's Guide for information on falling objects).

Feather fall works only upon free-falling objects.

It does not affect a sword blow or a charging or flying creature.

FLAME ARROW

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Fifty projectiles, all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You turn ammunition (such as arrows, bolts, shuriken, and stones) into fiery projectiles.

Each piece of ammunition deals an extra 1d6 points of fire damage to any target it hits.

A flaming projectile can easily ignite a flammable object or structure, but it won't ignite a creature it strikes.

Material Component: A drop of oil and a small piece of flint.

FLESH TO STONE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject, along with all its carried gear, turns into a mindless, inert statue.

If the statue resulting from this spell is broken or damaged, the subject (if ever returned to its original state) has similar damage or deformities.

The creature is not dead, but it does not seem to be alive either when viewed with spells such as deathwatch. Only creatures made of flesh are affected by this spell.
Material Component: Lime, water, and earth.

FLY

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3, Travel 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can fly at a speed of 60 feet (or 40 feet if it wears medium or heavy armor, or if it carries a medium or heavy load).

It can ascend at half speed and descend at double speed, and its maneuverability is good.

Using a fly spell requires only as much concentration as walking, so the subject can attack or cast spells normally.

The subject of a fly spell can charge but not run, and it cannot carry aloft more weight than its maximum load, plus any armor it wears.

Should the spell duration expire while the subject is still aloft, the magic fails slowly.

The subject floats downward 60 feet per round for 1d6 rounds.

If it reaches the ground in that amount of time, it lands safely.

If not, it falls the rest of the distance, taking 1d6 points of damage per 10 feet of fall.

Since dispelling a spell effectively ends it, the subject also descends in this way if the fly spell is dispelled, but not if it is negated by an antimagic field.

Arcane Focus: A wing feather from any bird.

FOX'S CUNNING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The transmuted creature becomes smarter.

The spell grants a +4 enhancement bonus to Intelligence, adding the usual benefits to Intelligence-based skill checks and other uses of the Intelligence modifier.

Wizards (and other spellcasters who rely on Intelligence) affected by this spell do not gain any additional bonus spells for the increased Intelligence, but the save DCs for spells they cast while under this spell's effect do increase. This spell doesn't grant extra skill points.

Arcane Material Component: A few hairs, or a pinch of dung, from a fox.

FOX'S CUNNING, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like fox's cunning, except that it affects multiple creatures.

GASEOUS FORM

Transmutation

Level: Air 3, Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing corporeal creature touched

Duration: 2 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The subject and all its gear become insubstantial, misty, and translucent.

Its material armor (including natural armor) becomes worthless, though its size, Dexterity, deflection bonuses, and armor bonuses from force effects (for example, from the mage armor spell) still apply.

The subject gains damage reduction 10/magic and becomes immune to poison and critical hits.

It can't attack or cast spells with verbal, somatic, material, or focus components while in gaseous form.

(This does not rule out the use of certain spells that the subject may have prepared using the feats Silent Spell, Still Spell, and Eschew Materials).

The subject also loses supernatural abilities while in gaseous form.

If it has a touch spell ready to use, that spell is discharged harmlessly when the gaseous form spell takes effect.

A gaseous creature can't run, but it can fly at a speed of 10 feet (maneuverability perfect).

It can pass through small holes or narrow openings, even mere cracks, with all it was wearing or holding in its hands, as long as the spell persists.

The creature is subject to the effects of wind, and it can't enter water or other liquid.

It also can't manipulate objects or activate items, even those carried along with its gaseous form.

Continuously active items remain active, though in some cases their effects may be moot (such as those that supply armor or natural armor bonuses).

Arcane Material Component: A bit of gauze and a wisp of smoke.

GIANT VERMIN

Transmutation

Level: Clr 4, Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to three vermin, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You turn three normal-sized centipedes, two normal-sized spiders, or a single normal-sized scorpion into larger forms. Only one type of vermin can be transmuted (so a single casting cannot affect both a centipede and a spider), and all must be grown to the same size.

The size to which the vermin can be grown depends on your level; see the table below.

The Monster Manual has game statistics for centipedes, spiders, and scorpions, as well as other kinds of vermin. Any giant vermin created by this spell do not attempt to harm you, but your control of such creatures is limited to simple commands ("Attack", "Defend", "Stop", and so forth). Orders to attack a certain creature when it appears or guard against a particular occurrence are too complex for the vermin to understand.

Unless commanded to do otherwise, the giant vermin attack whoever or whatever is near them.

The DM can extend this spell's effects to other kinds of insects, arachnids, or other vermin, such as ants, bees, beetles, praying mantises, and wasps, if he so chooses.

Caster Level	Vermin Size
9th or lower	Medium
10th–13th	Large
14th–17th	Huge
18th–19th	Gargantuan
20th or higher	Colossal

GLIBNESS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Your speech becomes fluent and more believable.

You gain a +30 bonus on Bluff checks made to convince another of the truth of your words.

(This bonus doesn't apply to other uses of the Bluff skill, such as feinting in combat, creating a diversion to hide, or communicating a hidden message via innuendo).

If a magical effect is used against you that would detect your lies or force you to speak the truth (such as discern lies or zone of truth), the user of the effect must succeed on a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against a DC of 15 + your caster level to succeed.

Failure means the effect does not detect your lies or force you to speak only the truth.

GOODBERRY

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: 2d4 fresh berries touched

Duration: One day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Casting goodberry upon a handful of freshly picked berries makes 2d4 of them magical.

You (as well as any other druid of 3rd or higher level) can immediately discern which berries are affected.

Each transmuted berry provides nourishment as if it were a normal meal for a Medium creature.

The berry also cures 1 point of damage when eaten, subject to a maximum of 8 points of such curing in any 24-hour period.

HASTE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures move and act more quickly than normal.

This extra speed has several effects.

When making a full attack action, a hasted creature may make one extra attack with any weapon he is holding.

The attack is made using the creature's full base attack bonus, plus any modifiers appropriate to the situation.

(This effect is not cumulative with similar effects, such as that provided by a weapon of speed, nor does it actually grant an extra action, so you can't use it to cast a second spell or otherwise take an extra action in the round).

A hasted creature gains a +1 bonus on attack rolls and a +1 dodge bonus to AC and Reflex saves.

Any condition that makes you lose your Dexterity bonus to Armor Class (if any) also makes you lose dodge bonuses.

All of the hasted creature's modes of movement (including land movement, burrow, climb, fly, and swim) increase by 30 feet, to a maximum of twice the subject's normal speed using that form of movement.

This increase counts as an enhancement bonus, and it affects the creature's jumping distance as normal for increased speed.

Multiple haste effects don't stack.

Haste dispels and counters slow.

Material Component: A shaving of licorice root.

HEAT METAL

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Drd 2, Sun 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Metal equipment of one creature per two levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart; or 25 lb. of metal/level, all of which must be within a 30-ft. circle

Duration: 7 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Heat metal makes metal extremely warm.

Unattended, nonmagical metal gets no saving throw.

Magical metal is allowed a saving throw against the spell. (Magic item's saving throws are covered in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

An item in a creature's possession uses the creature's saving throw bonus unless its own is higher.

A creature takes fire damage if its equipment is heated.

It takes full damage if its armor is affected or if it is holding, touching, wearing, or carrying metal weighing one-fifth of its weight.

The creature takes minimum damage (1 point or 2 points; see the table) if it's not wearing metal armor and the metal that it's carrying weighs less than one-fifth of its weight.

On the first round of the spell, the metal becomes warm and uncomfortable to touch but deals no damage.

The same effect also occurs on the last round of the spell's duration.

During the second (and also the next-to-last) round, intense heat causes pain and damage.

In the third, fourth, and fifth rounds, the metal is searing hot, causing more damage, as shown on the table below.

Round	Metal Temperature	Damage
1	Warm	None
2	Hot	1d4 points
3–5	Searing	2d4 points
6	Hot	1d4 points
7	Warm	None

Any cold intense enough to damage the creature negates fire damage from the spell (and vice versa) on a point-for-point basis.

For example, if the damage roll from a heat metal spell indicates 2 points of fire damage and the subject is hit by a ray of frost in the same round and takes 3 points of cold damage, it winds up taking no fire damage and only 1 point of cold damage.

If cast underwater, heat metal deals half damage and boils the surrounding water.

Heat metal counters and dispels chill metal.

IRON BODY

Transmutation

Level: Earth 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

This spell transforms your body into living iron, which grants you several powerful resistances and abilities.

You gain damage reduction 15/adamantine.

You are immune to blindness, critical hits, ability score damage, deafness, disease, drowning, electricity, poison, stunning, and all spells or attacks that affect your physiology or respiration, because you have no physiology or respiration while this spell is in effect.

You take only half damage from acid and fire of all kinds.

However, you also become vulnerable to all special attacks that affect iron golems.

You gain a +6 enhancement bonus to your Strength score, but you take a -6 penalty to Dexterity as well (to a minimum Dexterity score of 1), and your speed is reduced to half normal.

You have an arcane spell failure chance of 50% and a -8 armor check penalty, just as if you were clad in full plate armor.

You cannot drink (and thus can't use potions) or play wind instruments.

Your unarmed attacks deal damage equal to a club sized for you (1d4 for Small characters or 1d6 for Medium characters), and you are considered armed when making unarmed attacks.

Your weight increases by a factor of ten, causing you to sink in water like a stone.

However, you could survive the crushing pressure and lack of air at the bottom of the ocean—at least until the spell duration expires.

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of iron that was once part of either an iron golem, a hero's armor, or a war machine.

IRONWOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute/lb. created

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: An ironwood object weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: One day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Ironwood is a magical substance created by druids from normal wood.

While remaining natural wood in almost every way, ironwood is as strong, heavy, and resistant to fire as steel. Spells that affect metal or iron (such as heat metal) do not function on ironwood.

Spells that affect wood (such as wood shape) do affect ironwood, although ironwood does not burn.

Using this spell with wood shape or a wood-related Craft check, you can fashion wooden items that function as steel items.

Thus, wooden plate armor and wooden swords can be created that are as durable as their normal steel counterparts.

These items are freely usable by druids.

Further, if you make only half as much ironwood as the spell would normally allow, any weapon, shield, or suit of armor so created is treated as a magic item with a +1 enhancement bonus.

Material Component: Wood shaped into the form of the intended ironwood object.

JUMP

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject gets a +10 enhancement bonus on Jump checks.

The enhancement bonus increases to +20 at caster level 5th, and to +30 (the maximum) at caster level 9th.

Material Component: A grasshopper's hind leg, which you break when the spell is cast.

KEEN EDGE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One weapon or fifty projectiles, all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

This spell makes a weapon magically keen, improving its ability to deal telling blows.

This transmutation doubles the threat range of the weapon. A threat range of 20 becomes 19–20, a threat range of 19–20 becomes 17–20, and a threat range of 18–20 becomes 15–20.

The spell can be cast only on piercing or slashing weapons. If cast on arrows or crossbow bolts, the keen edge on a particular projectile ends after one use, whether or not the missile strikes its intended target.

(Treat shuriken as arrows, rather than as thrown weapons, for the purpose of this spell).

Multiple effects that increase a weapon's threat range (such as the keen edge spell and the Improved Critical feat) don't stack.

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon, such as a claw.

KNOCK

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One door, box, or chest with an area of up to 10 sq. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The knock spell opens stuck, barred, locked, held, or arcane locked doors.

It opens secret doors, as well as locked or trick-opening boxes or chests.

It also loosens welds, shackles, or chains (provided they serve to hold closures shut).

If used to open a arcane locked door, the spell does not remove the arcane lock but simply suspends its functioning for 10 minutes.

In all other cases, the door does not relock itself or become stuck again on its own.

Knock does not raise barred gates or similar impediments (such as a portcullis), nor does it affect ropes, vines, and the like.

The effect is limited by the area.

A 3rd-level caster can cast a knock spell on a door of 30 square feet or less (for example, a standard 4-foot-by-7-foot door).

Each spell can undo as many as two means of preventing egress.

Thus if a door is locked, barred, and held, or quadruple locked, opening it requires two knock spells.

LEVITATE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal or close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: You or one willing creature or one object (total weight up to 100 lb./level)

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Levitate allows you to move yourself, another creature, or an object up and down as you wish.

A creature must be willing to be levitated, and an object must be unattended or possessed by a willing creature.

You can mentally direct the recipient to move up or down as much as 20 feet each round; doing so is a move action.

You cannot move the recipient horizontally, but the recipient could clamber along the face of a cliff, for example, or push against a ceiling to move laterally (generally at half its base land speed).

A levitating creature that attacks with a melee or ranged weapon finds itself increasingly unstable; the first attack has a -1 penalty on attack rolls, the second -2, and so on, to a maximum penalty of -5.

A full round spent stabilizing allows the creature to begin again at -1.

Focus: Either a small leather loop or a piece of golden wire bent into a cup shape with a long shank on one end.

LIVEOAK

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Tree touched

Duration: One day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns an oak tree into a protector or guardian. The spell can be cast on only a single tree at a time; while liveoak is in effect, you can't cast it again on another tree. The tree on which the spell is cast must be within 10 feet of your dwelling place, within a place sacred to you, or within 300 feet of something that you wish to guard or protect. Liveoak must be cast on a healthy, Huge oak.

A triggering phrase of up to one word per caster level is placed on the targeted oak.

For instance, "Attack any persons who come near without first saying 'sacred mistletoe'" is an eleven-word trigger phrase that you could use at 11th level or higher.

The liveoak spell triggers the tree into animating as a treant (see the Monster Manual).

At the DM's option, you can extrapolate statistics for a smaller tree from the treant statistics if you cast liveoak on a smaller oak.

If liveoak is dispelled, the tree takes root immediately, wherever it happens to be.

If released by you, the tree tries to return to its original location before taking root.

LONGSTRIDER

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1, Travel 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

This spell increases your base land speed by 10 feet.

(This adjustment counts as an enhancement bonus).

It has no effect on other modes of movement, such as burrow, climb, fly, or swim.

Material Component: A pinch of dirt.

MAGE HAND

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One nonmagical, unattended object weighing up to 5 lb.

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You point your finger at an object and can lift it and move it at will from a distance.

As a move action, you can propel the object as far as 15 feet in any direction, though the spell ends if the distance between you and the object ever exceeds the spell's range.

MAGIC FANG

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Magic fang gives one natural weapon of the subject a +1 enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls.

The spell can affect a slam attack, fist, bite, or other natural weapon.

(The spell does not change an unarmed strike's damage from nonlethal damage to lethal damage).

Magic fang can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

MAGIC FANG, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

This spell functions like magic fang, except that the enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls is +1 per four caster levels (maximum +5).

Alternatively, you may imbue all of the creature's natural weapons with a +1 enhancement bonus (regardless of your caster level).

Greater magic fang can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

MAGIC STONE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 1, Drd 1, Earth 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to three pebbles touched

Duration: 30 minutes or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You transmute as many as three pebbles, which can be no larger than sling bullets, so that they strike with great force when thrown or slung.

If hurled, they have a range increment of 20 feet.

If slung, treat them as sling bullets (range increment 50 feet).

The spell gives them a +1 enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls.

The user of the stones makes a normal ranged attack.

Each stone that hits deals 1d6+1 points of damage (including the spell's enhancement bonus), or 2d6+2 points against undead.

MAGIC VESTMENT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Strength 3, War 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Armor or shield touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You imbue a suit of armor or a shield with an enhancement bonus of +1 per four caster levels (maximum +5 at 20th level).

An outfit of regular clothing counts as armor that grants no AC bonus for the purpose of this spell.

MAGIC WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Clr 1, Pal 1, Sor/Wiz 1, War 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Magic weapon gives a weapon a +1 enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls.

(An enhancement bonus does not stack with a masterwork weapon's +1 bonus on attack rolls).

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon, such as an unarmed strike (instead, see magic fang).

A monk's unarmed strike is considered a weapon, and thus it can be enhanced by this spell.

MAGIC WEAPON, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Clr 4, Pal 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One weapon or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

This spell functions like magic weapon, except that it gives a weapon an enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls of +1 per four caster levels (maximum +5).

Alternatively, you can affect as many as fifty arrows, bolts, or bullets.

The projectiles must be of the same kind, and they have to be together (in the same quiver or other container).

Projectiles, but not thrown weapons, lose their transmutation when used.

(Treat shuriken as projectiles, rather than as thrown weapons, for the purpose of this spell).

Arcane Material Component: Powdered lime and carbon.

MAKE WHOLE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One object of up to 10 cu. ft./level

This spell functions like mending, except that make whole completely repairs an object made of any substance, even one with multiple breaks, to be as strong as new.

The spell does not restore the magical abilities of a broken magic item made whole, and it cannot mend broken magic rods, staves, or wands.

The spell does not repair items that have been warped, burned, disintegrated, ground to powder, melted, or vaporized, nor does it affect creatures (including constructs).

MELD INTO STONE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level

Meld into stone enables you to meld your body and possessions into a single block of stone.

The stone must be large enough to accommodate your body in all three dimensions.

When the casting is complete, you and not more than 100 pounds of nonliving gear merge with the stone.

If either condition is violated, the spell fails and is wasted.

While in the stone, you remain in contact, however tenuous, with the face of the stone through which you melded.

You remain aware of the passage of time and can cast spells on yourself while hiding in the stone.

Nothing that goes on outside the stone can be seen, but you can still hear what happens around you.

Minor physical damage to the stone does not harm you, but its partial destruction (to the extent that you no longer fit within it) expels you and deals you 5d6 points of damage.

The stone's complete destruction expels you and slays you instantly unless you make a DC 18 Fortitude save.

Any time before the duration expires, you can step out of the stone through the surface that you entered.

If the spell's duration expires or the effect is dispelled before you voluntarily exit the stone, you are violently expelled and take 5d6 points of damage.

The following spells harm you if cast upon the stone that you are occupying: Stone to flesh expels you and deals you 5d6 points of damage.

Stone shape deals you 3d6 points of damage but does not expel you.

Transmute rock to mud expels you and then slays you instantly unless you make a DC 18 Fortitude save, in which case you are merely expelled.

Finally, passwall expels you without damage.

MENDING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Clr 0, Drd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Target: One object of up to 1 lb.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Mending repairs small breaks or tears in objects (but not warps, such as might be caused by a warp wood spell).

It will weld broken metallic objects such as a ring, a chain link, a medallion, or a slender dagger, providing but one break exists.

Ceramic or wooden objects with multiple breaks can be invisibly rejoined to be as strong as new.

A hole in a leather sack or a wineskin is completely healed over by mending.

The spell can repair a magic item, but the item's magical abilities are not restored.

(For restoring a broken magic item's abilities, see the item creation feats in Chapter 5: Feats).

The spell cannot mend broken magic rods, staves, or wands, nor does it affect creatures (including constructs).

MESSAGE

Transmutation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can whisper messages and receive whispered replies with little chance of being overheard.

You point your finger at each creature you want to receive the message.

When you whisper, the whispered message is audible to all targeted creatures within range.

Magical silence, 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal (or a thin sheet of lead), or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks the spell.

The message does not have to travel in a straight line.

It can circumvent a barrier if there is an open path between you and the subject, and the path's entire length lies within the spell's range.

The creatures that receive the message can whisper a reply that you hear.

The spell transmits sound, not meaning.

It doesn't transcend language barriers.

Note: To speak a message, you must mouth the words and whisper, possibly allowing observers the opportunity to read your lips.

Focus: A short piece of copper wire.

MORDENKAINEN'S LUCUBRATION

Transmutation

Level: Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You instantly recall any one spell of 5th level or lower that you have used during the past 24 hours.

The spell must have been actually cast during that period.

The recalled spell is stored in your mind as through prepared in the normal fashion.

If the recalled spell requires material components, you must provide them.

The recovered spell is not usable until the material components are available.

MOVE EARTH

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: See text

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Dirt in an area up to 750 ft. square and up to 10 ft. deep (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Move earth moves dirt (clay, loam, sand), possibly collapsing embankments, moving hillocks, shifting dunes, and so forth.

However, in no event can rock formations be collapsed or moved.

The area to be affected determines the casting time.

For every 150-foot square (up to 10 feet deep), casting takes 10 minutes.

The maximum area, 750 feet by 750 feet, takes 4 hours and 10 minutes to move.

This spell does not violently break the surface of the ground.

Instead, it creates wavelike crests and troughs, with the earth reacting with glacierlike fluidity until the desired result is achieved.

Trees, structures, rock formations, and such are mostly unaffected except for changes in elevation and relative topography.

The spell cannot be used for tunneling and is generally too slow to trap or bury creatures.

Its primary use is for digging or filling moats or for adjusting terrain contours before a battle.

This spell has no effect on earth creatures.

Material Component: A mixture of soils (clay, loam, and sand) in a small bag, and an iron blade.

OPEN/CLOSE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Object weighing up to 30 lb. or portal that can be opened or closed

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You can open or close (your choice) a door, chest, box, window, bag, pouch, bottle, barrel, or other container.

If anything resists this activity (such as a bar on a door or a lock on a chest), the spell fails.

In addition, the spell can only open and close things weighing 30 pounds or less.

Thus, doors, chests, and similar objects sized for enormous creatures may be beyond this spell's ability to affect.

Focus: A brass key.

OVERLAND FLIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

This spell functions like a fly spell, except you can fly at a speed of 40 feet (30 feet if wearing medium or heavy armor, or if carrying a medium or heavy load) with average maneuverability.

When using this spell for long-distance movement, you can hustle without taking nonlethal damage (a forced march still requires Constitution checks).

This means you can cover 64 miles in an eight-hour period of flight (or 48 miles at a speed of 30 feet).

See page 164 for more on overland movement.

OWL'S WISDOM

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 2, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

The transmuted creature becomes wiser.

The spell grants a +4 enhancement bonus to Wisdom, adding the usual benefit to Wisdom-related skills.

Clerics, druids, paladins, and rangers (and other Wisdom-based spellcasters) who receive owl's wisdom do not gain any additional bonus spells for the increased Wisdom, but the save DCs for their spells increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few feathers, or a pinch of droppings, from an owl.

OWL'S WISDOM, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like owl's wisdom, except that it affects multiple creatures.

PASS WITHOUT TRACE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1, Rgr 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject or subjects can move through any type of terrain—mud, snow, dust, or the like—and leave neither footprints nor scent.

Tracking the subjects is impossible by nonmagical means.

PASSWALL

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Effect: 5 ft. by 8 ft. opening, 10 ft. deep plus 5 ft. deep per three additional levels

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not through metal or other harder materials. The passage is 10 feet deep plus an additional 5 feet deep per three caster levels above 9th (15 feet at 12th, 20 feet at 15th, and a maximum of 25 feet deep at 18th level). If the wall's thickness is more than the depth of the passage created, then a single passwall simply makes a niche or short tunnel.

Several passwall spells can then form a continuing passage to breach very thick walls.

When passwall ends, creatures within the passage are ejected out the nearest exit.

If someone dispels the passwall or you dismiss it, creatures in the passage are ejected out the far exit, if there is one, or out the sole exit if there is only one.

Material Component: A pinch of sesame seeds.

PLANT GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Plant 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Plant growth has different effects depending on the version chosen.

Overgrowth: This effect causes normal vegetation (grasses, briars, bushes, creepers, thistles, trees, vines) within long range (400 feet + 40 feet per caster level) to become thick and overgrown.

The plants entwine to form a thicket or jungle that creatures must hack or force a way through.

Speed drops to 5 feet, or 10 feet for Large or larger creatures.

(The DM may allow faster movement for very small or very large creatures).

The area must have brush and trees in it for this spell to take effect.

At your option, the area can be a 100-foot-radius circle, a 150-foot-radius semicircle, or a 200-foot-radius quarter circle.

You may designate places within the area that are not affected.

Enrichment: This effect targets plants within a range of one-half mile, raising their potential productivity over the course of the next year to one-third above normal.

Plant growth counters diminish plants.

This spell has no effect on plant creatures.

POLYMORPH ANY OBJECT

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 8, Trickery 8

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature, or one nonmagical object of up to 100 cu. ft./level

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell functions like polymorph, except that it changes one object or creature into another.

The duration of the spell depends on how radical a change is made from the original state to its enchanted state.

The DM determines the duration by using the following guidelines.

Changed Subject Is:	Increase to Duration Factor ¹
Same kingdom (animal, vegetable, mineral)	+5
Same class (mammals, fungi, metals, etc.)	+2
Same size	+2
Related (twig is to tree, wolf fur is to wolf, etc.)	+2
Same or lower Intelligence	+2

Duration

Factor	Duration	Example
0	20 minutes	Pebble to human
2	1 hour	Marionette to human
4	3 hours	Human to marionette
5	12 hours	Lizard to mantichore
6	2 days	Sheep to wool coat
7	1 week	Shrew to mantichore
9+	Permanent	Mantichore to shrew

Unlike polymorph, polymorph any object does grant the creature the Intelligence score of its new form.

If the original form didn't have a Wisdom or Charisma score, it gains those scores as appropriate for the new form. Damage taken by the new form can result in the injury or death of the polymorphed creature.

For example, it is possible to polymorph a creature into rock and then grind it to dust, causing damage, perhaps even death.

If the creature was changed to dust to start with, more creative methods to damage it would be needed. Perhaps you could use a gust of wind spell to scatter the dust far and wide.

In general, damage occurs when the new form is changed through physical force, although the DM must adjudicate many of these situations.

A nonmagical object cannot be made into a magic item with this spell.

Magic items aren't affected by this spell.

This spell cannot create material of great intrinsic value, such as copper, silver, gems, silk, gold, platinum, mithral, or adamantite.

It also cannot reproduce the special properties of cold iron in order to overcome the damage reduction of certain creatures.

This spell can also be used to duplicate the effects of baleful polymorph, polymorph, flesh to stone, stone to flesh, transmute mud to rock, transmute metal to wood, or transmute rock to mud.
Arcane Material Component: Mercury, gum arabic, and smoke.

POLYMORPH

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions like alter self, except that you change the willing subject into another form of living creature. The new form may be of the same type as the subject or any of the following types: aberration, animal, dragon, fey, giant, humanoid, magical beast, monstrous humanoid, ooze, plant, or vermin.

The assumed form can't have more Hit Dice than your caster level (or the subject's HD, whichever is lower), to a maximum of 15 HD at 15th level.

You can't cause a subject to assume a form smaller than Fine, nor can you cause a subject to assume an incorporeal or gaseous form.

The subject's creature type and subtype (if any) change to match the new form (see the Monster Manual for more information).

Upon changing, the subject regains lost hit points as if it had rested for a night (though this healing does not restore temporary ability damage and provide other benefits of resting; and changing back does not heal the subject further).

If slain, the subject reverts to its original form, though it remains dead.

The subject gains the Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores of the new form but retains its own Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores.

It also gains all extraordinary special attacks possessed by the form (such as constrict, improved grab, and poison) but does not gain the extraordinary special qualities possessed by the new form (such as blindsense, fast healing, regeneration, and scent) or any supernatural or spell-like abilities.

Incorporeal or gaseous creatures are immune to being polymorphed, and a creature with the shapechanger subtype (such as a lycanthrope or a doppelganger) can revert to its natural form as a standard action.

Material Component: An empty cocoon.

PURIFY FOOD AND DRINK

Transmutation

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Target: 1 cu. ft./level of contaminated food and water

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

This spell makes spoiled, rotten, poisonous, or otherwise contaminated food and water pure and suitable for eating and drinking.

This spell does not prevent subsequent natural decay or spoilage.

Unholy water and similar food and drink of significance is spoiled by purify food and drink, but the spell has no effect on creatures of any type nor upon magic potions.

Note: Water weighs about 8 pounds per gallon.

One cubic foot of water contains roughly 8 gallons and weighs about 60 pounds.

PYROTECHNICS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: One fire source, up to a 20-ft. cube

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds, or 1d4+1 rounds after creatures leave the smoke cloud; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates or Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes or No; see text

Pyrotechnics turns a fire into either a burst of blinding fireworks or a thick cloud of choking smoke, depending on the version you choose.

Fireworks: The fireworks are a flashing, fiery, momentary burst of glowing, colored aerial lights.

This effect causes creatures within 120 feet of the fire source to become blinded for 1d4+1 rounds (Will negates). These creatures must have line of sight to the fire to be affected.

Spell resistance can prevent blindness.

Smoke Cloud: A writhing stream of smoke billows out from the source, forming a choking cloud.

The cloud spreads 20 feet in all directions and lasts for 1 round per caster level.

All sight, even darkvision, is ineffective in or through the cloud.

All within the cloud take -4 penalties to Strength and Dexterity (Fortitude negates).

These effects last for 1d4+1 rounds after the cloud dissipates or after the creature leaves the area of the cloud. Spell resistance does not apply.

Material Component: The spell uses one fire source, which is immediately extinguished.

A fire so large that it exceeds a 20-foot cube is only partly extinguished.

Magical fires are not extinguished, although a fire-based creature (such as a fire elemental) used as a source takes 1 point of damage per caster level.

QUENCH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area or Target: One 20-ft. cube/level (S) or one fire-based magic item

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (object)

Quench is often used to put out forest fires and other conflagrations.

It extinguishes all nonmagical fires in its area.

The spell also dispels any fire spells in its area, though you must succeed on a dispel check (1d20 +1 per caster level, maximum +15) against each spell to dispel it.

The DC to dispel such spells is 11 + the caster level of the fire spell.

Each elemental (fire) creature within the area of a quench spell takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6, no save allowed).

Alternatively, you can target the spell on a single magic item that creates or controls flame, such as a wand of fireball or a flaming burst sword.

The item loses all its fire-based magical abilities for 1d4 hours unless it succeeds on a Will save.

(Artifacts are immune to this effect).

RARY'S MNEMONIC ENHANCER

Transmutation

Level: Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Casting this spell allows you to prepare additional spells or retain spells recently cast.

Pick one of these two versions when the spell is cast.

Prepare: You prepare up to three additional levels of spells (such as three 1st-level spells, a 2nd- and a 1st-level spell, or a 3rd-level spell).

A cantrip counts as 1/2 level for this purpose.

You prepare and cast these spells normally.

Retain: You retain any spell of 3rd level or lower that you had cast up to 1 round before you started casting the mnemonic enhancer.

This restores the previously cast spell to your mind.

In either event, the spell or spells prepared or retained fade after 24 hours (if not cast).

Material Component: A piece of string, and ink consisting of squid secretion with black dragon's blood.

Focus: An ivory plaque of at least 50 gp value.

REDUCE ANIMAL

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Rgr 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One willing animal of Small, Medium, Large, or Huge size

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions like reduce person, except that it affects a single willing animal (not one with which you are engaged in combat, for instance).

This decrease in size allows the animal to fit better into tight spaces, such as the typical dungeon room or subterranean passage.

Reduce the damage dealt by the animal's natural attacks as shown on Table 2–3 in the Dungeon Master's Guide.

REDUCE PERSON

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid creature

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes instant diminution of a humanoid creature, halving its height, length, and width and dividing its weight by 8.

This decrease changes the creature's size category to the next smaller one.

The target gains a +2 size bonus to Dexterity, a –2 size penalty to Strength (to a minimum of 1), and a +1 bonus on attack rolls and AC due to its reduced size.

A Small humanoid creature whose size decreases to Tiny has a space of 2-1/2 feet and a natural reach of 0 feet (meaning that it must enter an opponent's square to attack).

A Large humanoid creature whose size decreases to Medium has a space of 5 feet and a natural reach of 5 feet.

This spell doesn't change the target's speed.

All equipment worn or carried by a creature is similarly reduced by the spell.

Melee and projectile weapons deal less damage (see Table 2–3 in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Other magical properties are not affected by this spell.

Any reduced item that leaves the reduced creature's possession (including a projectile or thrown weapon) instantly returns to its normal size.

This means that thrown weapons deal their normal damage (projectiles deal damage based on the size of the weapon that fired them).

Multiple magical effects that reduce size do not stack, which means (among other things) that you can't use a second casting of this spell to further reduce the size of a humanoid that's still under the effect of the first casting.

Reduce person counters and dispels enlarge person.

Reduce person can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered iron.

REDUCE PERSON, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Target: One humanoid creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like reduce person, except that it affects multiple creatures.

REINCARNATE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Dead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With this spell, you bring back a dead creature in another body, provided that its death occurred no more than one week before the casting of the spell and the subject's soul is free and willing to return (see Bringing Back the Dead, page 171).

If the subject's soul is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, a subject that wants to return receives no saving throw.

Since the dead creature is returning in a new body, all physical ills and afflictions are repaired.

The condition of the remains is not a factor.

So long as some small portion of the creature's body still exists, it can be reincarnated, but the portion receiving the spell must have been part of the creature's body at the time of death.

The magic of the spell creates an entirely new young adult body for the soul to inhabit from the natural elements at hand.

This process takes 1 hour to complete.

When the body is ready, the subject is reincarnated.

A reincarnated creature recalls the majority of its former life and form.

It retains any class abilities, feats, or skill ranks it formerly possessed.

Its class, base attack bonus, base save bonuses, and hit points are unchanged.

Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores depend partly on the new body.

First eliminate the subject's racial adjustments (since it is no longer of his previous race) and then apply the adjustments found below to its remaining ability scores. The subject's level (or Hit Dice) is reduced by 1.

If the subject was 1st level, its new Constitution score is reduced by 2.

(If this reduction would put its Con at 0 or lower, it can't be reincarnated).

This level/HD loss or Constitution loss cannot be repaired by any means.

It's possible for the change in the subject's ability scores to make it difficult for it to pursue its previous character class. If this is the case, the subject is well advised to become a multiclass character.

For a humanoid creature, the new incarnation is determined using the following table.

For nonhumanoid creatures, the DM should create a similar table of creatures of the same type or simply choose the new form.

A creature that has been turned into an undead creature or killed by a death effect can't be returned to life by this spell. Constructs, elementals, outsiders, and undead creatures can't be reincarnated.

The spell cannot bring back a creature who has died of old age.

The reincarnated creature gains all abilities associated with its new form, including forms of movement and speeds, natural armor, natural attacks, extraordinary abilities, and the like, but it doesn't automatically speak the language of the new form.

Refer to the Monster Manual for details.

A wish or a miracle spell can restore a reincarnated character to his or her original form.

Material Component: Rare oils and unguents worth a total of least 1,000 gp, spread over the remains.

REPEL WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6, Plant 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft. line-shaped emanation from you

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Waves of energy roll forth from you, moving in the direction that you determine, causing all wooden objects in the path of the spell to be pushed away from you to the limit of the range.

Wooden objects larger than 3 inches in diameter that are fixed firmly are not affected, but loose objects are.

Objects 3 inches in diameter or smaller that are fixed in place splinter and break, and the pieces move with the wave of energy.

Objects affected by the spell are repelled at the rate of 40 feet per round.

Objects such as wooden shields, spears, wooden weapon shafts and hafts, and arrows and bolts are pushed back, dragging those carrying them along.

(A creature being dragged by an item it is carrying can let go.)

A creature being dragged by a shield can loose it as a move action and drop it as a free action).

If a spear is planted (set) to prevent this forced movement, it splinters.

Even magic items with wooden sections are repelled, although an antimagic field blocks the effects.

The waves of energy continue to sweep down the set path for the spell's duration.

After you cast the spell, the path is set, and you can then do other things or go elsewhere without affecting the spell's power.

REVERSE GRAVITY

Transmutation

Level: Drd 8, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to one 10-ft. cube per two levels (S)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell reverses gravity in an area, causing all unattached objects and creatures within that area to fall upward and reach the top of the area in 1 round.

If some solid object (such as a ceiling) is encountered in this fall, falling objects and creatures strike it in the same manner as they would during a normal downward fall.

If an object or creature reaches the top of the area without striking anything, it remains there, oscillating slightly, until the spell ends.

At the end of the spell duration, affected objects and creatures fall downward.

Provided it has something to hold onto, a creature caught in the area can attempt a Reflex save to secure itself when the spell strikes.

Creatures who can fly or levitate can keep themselves from falling.

Arcane Material Component: A lodestone and iron filings.

RIGHTEOUS MIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 5, Strength 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Your height immediately doubles, and your weight increases by a factor of eight.

This increase changes your size category to the next larger one, and you gain a +8 size bonus to Strength and a +4 size bonus to Constitution.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to your natural armor.

You gain damage reduction 5/evil (if you normally channel positive energy) or damage reduction 5/good (if you normally channel negative energy).

At 12th level this damage reduction becomes 10/evil or 10/good, and at 15th level it becomes 15/evil or 15/good (the maximum).

Your size modifier for AC and attacks changes as appropriate to your new size category (if your original size was Diminutive, Tiny, Small, Medium, or Large, the modifier decreases by 1; otherwise see Size Modifier, page 134).

Use Table 8–4: Creature Size and Scale to determine your new space and reach.

This spell doesn't change your speed.

If insufficient room is available for the desired growth, you attain the maximum possible size and may make a Strength check (using your increased Strength) to burst any enclosures in the process.

If you fail, you are constrained without harm by the materials enclosing you—the spell cannot crush you by increasing your size.

All equipment you wear or carry is similarly enlarged by the spell.

Melee and projectile weapons deal more damage (see Table 2–2 in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Other magical properties are not affected by this spell.

Any enlarged item that leaves your possession (including a projectile or thrown weapon) instantly returns to its normal size.

This means that thrown weapons deal their normal damage (projectiles deal damage based on the size of the weapon that fired them).

Multiple magical effects that increase size do not stack, which means (among other things) that you can't use a second casting of this spell to further increase your size while you are still under the effect of the first casting.

ROPE TRICK

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched piece of rope from 5 ft. to 30 ft. long

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When this spell is cast upon a piece of rope from 5 to 30 feet long, one end of the rope rises into the air until the whole rope hangs perpendicular to the ground, as if affixed at the upper end.

The upper end is, in fact, fastened to an extradimensional space that is outside the multiverse of extradimensional spaces ("planes").

Creatures in the extradimensional space are hidden, beyond the reach of spells (including divinations), unless those spells work across planes.

The space holds as many as eight creatures (of any size).

Creatures in the space can pull the rope up into the space, making the rope "disappear".

In that case, the rope counts as one of the eight creatures that can fit in the space.

The rope can support up to 16,000 pounds.

A weight greater than that can pull the rope free.

Spells cannot be cast across the extradimensional interface, nor can area effects cross it.

Those in the extradimensional space can see out of it as if a 3-foot-by-5-foot window were centered on the rope.

The window is present on the Material Plane, but it's invisible, and even creatures that can see the window can't see through it.

Anything inside the extradimensional space drops out when the spell ends.
The rope can be climbed by only one person at a time. The rope trick spell enables climbers to reach a normal place if they do not climb all the way to the extradimensional space.

Note: It is hazardous to create an extradimensional space within an existing extradimensional space or to take an extradimensional space into an existing one.

Material Component: Powdered corn extract and a twisted loop of parchment.

RUSTING GRASP

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One nonmagical ferrous object (or the volume of the object within 3 ft. of the touched point) or one ferrous creature

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Any iron or iron alloy item you touch becomes instantaneously rusted, pitted, and worthless, effectively destroyed.

If the item is so large that it cannot fit within a 3-foot radius (a large iron door or a wall of iron), a 3-foot-radius volume of the metal is rusted and destroyed.

Magic items made of metal are immune to this spell.

You may employ rusting grasp in combat with a successful melee touch attack.

Rusting grasp used in this way instantaneously destroys 1d6 points of Armor Class gained from metal armor (to the maximum amount of protection the armor offered) through corrosion.

For example, full plate armor (AC +8) could be reduced to +7 or as low as +2 in protection, depending on the die roll. Weapons in use by an opponent targeted by the spell are more difficult to grasp.

You must succeed on a melee touch attack against the weapon.

A metal weapon that is hit is destroyed.

Note: Striking at an opponent's weapon provokes an attack of opportunity.

Also, you must touch the weapon and not the other way around.

Against a ferrous creature, rusting grasp instantaneously deals 3d6 points of damage +1 per caster level (maximum +15) per successful attack.

The spell lasts for 1 round per level, and you can make one melee touch attack per round.

SCULPT SOUND

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature or object/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You change the sounds that creatures or objects make.

You can create sounds where none exist (such as making trees sing), deaden sounds (such as making a party of adventurers silent), or transform sounds into other sounds (such as making a caster's voice sound like a pig snorting). All affected creatures or objects must be transmuted in the same way.

Once the transmutation is made, you cannot change it.

You can change the qualities of sounds but cannot create words with which you are unfamiliar yourself.

For instance, you can't change your voice so that it sounds as though you are giving the command word to activate a magic item unless you know that command word.

A spellcaster whose voice is changed dramatically (such as into that of the aforementioned snorting pig) is unable to cast spells with verbal components.

SECRET PAGE

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Page touched, up to 3 sq. ft. in size

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Secret page alters the contents of a page so that they appear to be something entirely different.

Thus, a map can be changed to become a treatise on burnishing ebony walking sticks.

The text of a spell can be changed to show a ledger page or even another spell.

Explosive runes or sepia snake sigil can be cast upon the secret page.

A comprehend languages spell alone cannot reveal a secret page's contents.

You are able to reveal the original contents by speaking a special word.

You can then peruse the actual page, and return it to its secret page form at will.

You can also remove the spell by double repetition of the special word.

A detect magic spell reveals dim magic on the page in question but does not reveal its true contents.

True seeing reveals the presence of the hidden material but does not reveal the contents unless cast in combination with comprehend languages.

A secret page spell can be dispelled, and the hidden writings can be destroyed by means of an erase spell.

Material Component: Powdered herring scales and will-o'-wisp essence.

SHAPECHANGE

Transmutation

Level: Animal 9, Drd 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

This spell functions like polymorph, except that it enables you to assume the form of any single nonunique creature (of any type) from Fine to Colossal size.

The assumed form cannot have more than your caster level in Hit Dice (to a maximum of 25 HD).

Unlike polymorph, this spell allows incorporeal or gaseous forms to be assumed.

You gain all extraordinary and supernatural abilities (both attacks and qualities) of the assumed form, but you lose your own supernatural abilities.

You also gain the type of the new form (for example, dragon or magical beast) in place of your own.

The new form does not disorient you.

Parts of your body or pieces of equipment that are separated from you do not revert to their original forms.

You can become just about anything you are familiar with.

You can change form once each round as a free action.

The change takes place either immediately before your regular action or immediately after it, but not during the action.

For example, you are in combat and assume the form of a will-o'-wisp.

When this form is no longer useful, you change into a stone golem and walk away.

When pursued, you change into a flea, which hides on a horse until it can hop off.

From there, you can become a dragon, an orc, or just about anything else you are familiar with.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check.

Focus: A jade circlet worth no less than 1,500 gp, which you must place on your head when casting the spell.

(The focus melds into your new form when you change shape).

SHILLELAGH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched nonmagical oak club or quarterstaff

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Your own nonmagical club or quarterstaff becomes a weapon with a +1 enhancement bonus on attack and damage rolls.

(A quarterstaff gains this enhancement for both ends of the weapon).

It deals damage as if it were two size categories larger (a Small club or quarterstaff so transmuted deals 1d8 points of damage, a Medium 2d6, and a Large 3d6), +1 for its enhancement bonus.

These effects only occur when the weapon is wielded by you.

If you do not wield it, the weapon behaves as if unaffected by this spell.

SHRINK ITEM

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched object of up to 2 cu. ft./level

Duration: One day/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You are able to shrink one nonmagical item (if it is within the size limit) to 1/16 of its normal size in each dimension (to about 1/4,000 the original volume and mass).

This change effectively reduces the object's size by four categories (for instance, from Large to Diminutive).

Optionally, you can also change its now-shrunk composition to a clothlike one.

Objects changed by a shrink item spell can be returned to normal composition and size merely by tossing them onto any solid surface or by a word of command from the original caster.

Even a burning fire and its fuel can be shrunk by this spell. Restoring the shrunk object to its normal size and composition ends the spell.

Shrink item can be made permanent with a permanency spell, in which case the affected object can be shrunk and expanded an indefinite number of times, but only by the original caster.

SLOW

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

An affected creature moves and attacks at a drastically slowed rate.

A slowed creature can take only a single move action or standard action each turn, but not both (nor may it take full-round actions).

Additionally, it takes a -1 penalty on attack rolls, AC, and Reflex saves.

A slowed creature moves at half its normal speed (round down to the next 5-foot increment), which affects the creature's jumping distance as normal for decreased speed. Multiple slow effects don't stack.

Slow counters and dispels haste.

Material Component: A drop of molasses.

SNARE

Transmutation

Level: Rgr 2, Drd 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Touched nonmagical circle of vine, rope, or thong with a 2 ft. diameter + 2 ft./level

Duration: Until triggered or broken

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell enables you to make a snare that functions as a magic trap.

The snare can be made from any supple vine, a thong, or a rope.

When you cast snare upon it, the cordlike object blends with its surroundings (Search DC 23 for a character with the trapfinding ability to locate).

One end of the snare is tied in a loop that contracts around one or more of the limbs of any creature stepping inside the circle.

(The head of a worm or a snake could be thus ensnared, for example).

If a strong and supple tree is nearby, the snare can be fastened to it.

The spell causes the tree to bend and then straighten when the loop is triggered, dealing 1d6 points of damage to the creature trapped and lifting it off the ground by the trapped limb or limbs.

If no such tree is available, the cordlike object tightens around the creature, dealing no damage but causing it to be entangled.

The snare is magical.

To escape, a trapped creature must make a DC 23 Escape Artist check or a DC 23 Strength check that is a full-round action.

The snare has AC 7 and 5 hit points.

A successful escape from the snare breaks the loop and ends the spell.

SOFTEN EARTH AND STONE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Drd 2, Earth 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft. square/level; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When this spell is cast, all natural, undressed earth or stone in the spell's area is softened.

Wet earth becomes thick mud, dry earth becomes loose sand or dirt, and stone becomes soft clay that is easily molded or chopped.

You affect a 10-foot-square area to a depth of 1 to 4 feet, depending on the toughness or resilience of the ground at that spot (DM's option).

Magical, enchanted, dressed, or worked stone cannot be affected.

Earth or stone creatures are not affected.

A creature in mud must succeed on a Reflex save or be caught for 1d2 rounds and unable to move, attack, or cast spells.

A creature that succeeds on its save can move through the mud at half speed, and it can't run or charge.

Loose dirt is not as troublesome as mud, but all creatures in the area can move at only half their normal speed and can't run or charge over the surface.

Stone softened into clay does not hinder movement, but it does allow characters to cut, shape, or excavate areas they may not have been able to affect before.

For example, a party of adventurers trying to break out of a cavern might use this spell to soften a wall.

While soften earth and stone does not affect dressed or worked stone, cavern ceilings or vertical surfaces such as cliff faces can be affected.

Usually, this causes a moderate collapse or landslide as the loosened material peels away from the face of the wall or roof and falls.

A moderate amount of structural damage can be dealt to a manufactured structure (such as a wall or a tower) by softening the ground beneath it, causing it to settle.

However, most well-built structures will only be damaged by this spell, not destroyed.

SPELLSTAFF

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Wooden quarterstaff touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You store one spell that you can normally cast in a wooden quarterstaff.

Only one such spell can be stored in a staff at a given time, and you cannot have more than one spellstaff at any given time.

You can cast a spell stored within a staff just as though it were among those you had prepared, but it does not count against your normal allotment for a given day.

You use up any applicable material components required to cast the spell when you store it in the spellstaff.

Focus: The staff that stores the spell.

SPIDER CLIMB

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can climb and travel on vertical surfaces or even traverse ceilings as well as a spider does.

The affected creature must have its hands free to climb in this manner.

The subject gains a climb speed of 20 feet; furthermore, it need not make Climb checks to traverse a vertical or horizontal surface (even upside down).

A spider climbing creature retains its Dexterity bonus to Armor Class (if any) while climbing, and opponents get no special bonus to their attacks against it.

It cannot, however, use the run action while climbing.

Material Component: A drop of bitumen and a live spider, both of which must be eaten by the subject.

SPIKE GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 20-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any ground-covering vegetation in the spell's area becomes very hard and sharply pointed without changing its appearance.

In areas of bare earth, roots and rootlets act in the same way.

Typically, spike growth can be cast in any outdoor setting except open water, ice, heavy snow, sandy desert, or bare stone.

Any creature moving on foot into or through the spell's area takes 1d4 points of piercing damage for each 5 feet of movement through the spiked area.

Any creature that takes damage from this spell must also succeed on a Reflex save or suffer injuries to its feet and legs that slow its land speed by one-half.

This speed penalty lasts for 24 hours or until the injured creature receives a cure spell (which also restores lost hit points).

Another character can remove the penalty by taking 10 minutes to dress the injuries and succeeding on a Heal check against the spell's save DC.

Spike growth can't be disabled with the Disable Device skill.

Note: Magic traps such as spike growth are hard to detect.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a spike growth.

The DC is 25 + spell level, or DC 28 for spike growth (or DC 27 for spike growth cast by a ranger).

SPIKE STONES

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Drd 4, Earth 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 20-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Rocky ground, stone floors, and similar surfaces shape themselves into long, sharp points that blend into the background.

Spike stones impede progress through an area and deal damage.

Any creature moving on foot into or through the spell's area moves at half speed.

In addition, each creature moving through the area takes 1d8 points of piercing damage for each 5 feet of movement through the spiked area.

Any creature that takes damage from this spell must also succeed on a Reflex save to avoid injuries to its feet and legs.

A failed save causes the creature's speed to be reduced to half normal for 24 hours or until the injured creature receives a cure spell (which also restores lost hit points).

Another character can remove the penalty by taking 10 minutes to dress the injuries and succeeding on a Heal check against the spell's save DC.

Spike stones is a magic trap that can't be disabled with the Disable Device skill.

Note: Magic traps such as spike stones are hard to detect.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find spike stones.

The DC is 25 + spell level, or DC 29 for spike stones.

STATUE

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A statue spell turns the subject to solid stone, along with any garments and equipment worn or carried.

In statue form, the subject gains hardness 8.

The subject retains its own hit points.

The subject can see, hear, and smell normally, but it does not need to eat or breathe.

Feeling is limited to those sensations that can affect the granite-hard substance of the individual's body.

Chipping is equal to a mere scratch, but breaking off one of the statue's arms constitutes serious damage.

The subject of a statue spell can return to its normal state, act, and then return instantly to the statue state (a free action) if it so desires, as long as the spell duration is in effect.

Material Component: Lime, sand, and a drop of water stirred by an iron bar, such as a nail or spike.

STONE SHAPE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Earth 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Stone or stone object touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can form an existing piece of stone into any shape that suits your purpose.

For example, you can make a stone weapon, a special trapdoor, or a crude idol.

Stone shape also permits you to reshape a stone door to make an exit where one didn't exist or to seal a door shut.

While it's possible to make crude coffers, doors, and so forth with stone shape, fine detail isn't possible.

There is a 30% chance that any shape including moving parts simply doesn't work.

Arcane Material Component: Soft clay, which must be worked into roughly the desired shape of the stone object and then touched to the stone while the verbal component is uttered.

STONE TO FLESH

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One petrified creature or a cylinder of stone from 1 ft. to 3 ft. in diameter and up to 10 ft. long

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell restores a petrified creature to its normal state, restoring life and goods.

The creature must make a DC 15 Fortitude save to survive the process.

Any petrified creature, regardless of size, can be restored.

The spell also can convert a mass of stone into a fleshy substance.

Such flesh is inert and lacking a vital life force unless a life force or magical energy is available.

(For example, this spell would turn a stone golem into a flesh golem, but an ordinary statue would become a corpse).

You can affect an object that fits within a cylinder from 1 foot to 3 feet in diameter and up to 10 feet long or a cylinder of up to those dimensions in a larger mass of stone.

Material Component: A pinch of earth and a drop of blood.

TELEKINESIS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target or Targets: See text

Duration: Concentration (up to 1 round/level) or instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (object) or None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object); see text

You move objects or creatures by concentrating on them. Depending on the version selected, the spell can provide a gentle, sustained force, perform a variety of combat maneuvers, or exert a single short, violent thrust.

Sustained Force: A sustained force moves an object weighing no more than 25 pounds per caster level (maximum 375 pounds at 15th level) up to 20 feet per round.

A creature can negate the effect on an object it possesses with a successful Will save or with spell resistance.

This version of the spell can last 1 round per caster level, but it ends if you cease concentration.

The weight can be moved vertically, horizontally, or in both directions.

An object cannot be moved beyond your range.

The spell ends if the object is forced beyond the range.

If you cease concentration for any reason, the object falls or stops.

An object can be telekinetically manipulated as if with one hand.

For example, a lever or rope can be pulled, a key can be turned, an object rotated, and so on, if the force required is within the weight limitation.

You might even be able to untie simple knots, though delicate activities such as these require Intelligence checks against a DC set by the DM.

Combat Maneuver: Alternatively, once per round, you can use telekinesis to perform a bull rush, disarm, grapple (including pin), or trip.

Resolve these attempts as normal, except that they don't provoke attacks of opportunity, you use your caster level in place of your base attack bonus (for disarm and grapple), you use your Intelligence modifier (if a wizard) or Charisma modifier (if a sorcerer) in place of your Strength or Dexterity modifier, and a failed attempt doesn't allow a reactive attempt by the target (such as for disarm or trip). No save is allowed against these attempts, but spell resistance applies normally.

This version of the spell can last 1 round per caster level, but it ends if you cease concentration.

Violent Thrust: Alternatively, the spell energy can be spent in a single round.

You can hurl one object or creature per caster level (maximum 15) that are within range and all within 10 feet of each other toward any target within 10 feet per level of all the objects.

You can hurl up to a total weight of 25 pounds per caster level (maximum 375 pounds at 15th level).

You must succeed on attack rolls (one per creature or object thrown) to hit the target with the items, using your base attack bonus + your Intelligence modifier (if a wizard) or Charisma modifier (if a sorcerer).

Weapons cause standard damage (with no Strength bonus; note that arrows or bolts deal damage as daggers of their size when used in this manner).

Other objects cause damage ranging from 1 point per 25 pounds (for less dangerous objects such as a barrel) to 1d6 points of damage per 25 pounds (for hard, dense objects such as a boulder).

Creatures who fall within the weight capacity of the spell can be hurled, but they are allowed Will saves (and spell resistance) to negate the effect, as are those whose held possessions are targeted by the spell.

If a telekinesed creature is hurled against a solid surface, it takes damage as if it had fallen 10 feet (1d6 points).

TEMPORAL STASIS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You must succeed on a melee touch attack.

You place the subject into a state of suspended animation. For the creature, time ceases to flow and its condition becomes fixed.

The creature does not grow older.

Its body functions virtually cease, and no force or effect can harm it.

This state persists until the magic is removed (such as by a successful dispel magic spell or a freedom spell).

Material Component: A powder composed of diamond, emerald, ruby, and sapphire dust with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

TENSER'S TRANSFORMATION

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You become a virtual fighting machine—stronger, tougher, faster, and more skilled in combat.

Your mind-set changes so that you relish combat and you can't cast spells, even from magic items.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution, a +4 natural armor bonus to AC, a +5 competence bonus on Fortitude saves, and proficiency with all simple and martial weapons.

Your base attack bonus equals your character level (which may give you multiple attacks).

You lose your spellcasting ability, including your ability to use spell activation or spell completion magic items, just as if the spells were no longer on your class list.

Material Component: A potion of bull's strength, which you drink (and whose effects are subsumed by the spell effects).

TIME STOP

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 9, Trickery 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds (apparent time); see text

This spell seems to make time cease to flow for everyone but you.

In fact, you speed up so greatly that all other creatures seem frozen, though they are actually still moving at their normal speeds.

You are free to act for 1d4+1 rounds of apparent time.

Normal and magical fire, cold, gas, and the like can still harm you.

While the time stop is in effect, other creatures are invulnerable to your attacks and spells; you cannot target such creatures with any attack or spell.

A spell that affects an area and has a duration longer than the remaining duration of the time stop (such as cloudkill) have their normal effects on other creatures once the time stop ends.

Most spellcasters use the additional time to improve their defenses, summon allies, or flee from combat.

You cannot move or harm items held, carried, or worn by a creature stuck in normal time, but you can affect any item that is not in another creature's possession.

You are undetectable while time stop lasts.

You cannot enter an area protected by an antimagic field while under the effect of time stop.

TRANSMUTE METAL TO WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: All metal objects within a 40-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object; see text)

This spell enables you to change all metal objects within its area to wood.

Weapons, armor, and other metal objects carried by creatures are affected as well.

A magic object made of metal effectively has spell resistance equal to 20 + its caster level against this spell.

Artifacts cannot be transmuted.

Weapons converted from metal to wood take a -2 penalty on attack and damage rolls.

The armor bonus of any armor converted from metal to wood is reduced by 2.

Weapons changed by this spell splinter and break on any natural attack roll of 1 or 2, and armor changed by this spell loses an additional point of armor bonus every time it is struck with a natural attack roll of 19 or 20.

Only limited wish, miracle, wish, or similar magic can restore a transmuted object to its metallic state.

Otherwise, for example, a metal door changed to wood is forevermore a wooden door.

TRANSMUTE MUD TO ROCK

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell transforms normal mud or quicksand of any depth into soft stone (sandstone or a similar mineral) permanently.

Any creature in the mud is allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area is hardened to stone.

Transmute mud to rock counters and dispels transmute rock to mud.

Arcane Material Component: Sand, lime, and water.

TRANSMUTE ROCK TO MUD

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns natural, uncut or unworked rock of any sort into an equal volume of mud.

If the spell is cast upon a boulder, for example, the boulder collapses into mud.

Magical stone is not affected by the spell.

The depth of the mud created cannot exceed 10 feet.

A creature unable to levitate, fly, or otherwise free itself from the mud sinks until hip- or chest-deep, reducing its speed to 5 feet and causing a -2 penalty on attack rolls and AC.

Brush thrown atop the mud can support creatures able to climb on top of it.

Creatures large enough to walk on the bottom can wade through the area at a speed of 5 feet.

If transmute rock to mud is cast upon the ceiling of a cavern or tunnel, the mud falls to the floor and spreads out in a pool at a depth of 5 feet.

For example, a 10th-level caster could convert twenty 10-foot cubes into mud.

Pooling on the floor, this mud would cover an area of forty 10-foot squares to a depth of 5 feet.

The falling mud and the ensuing cave-in deal 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage to anyone caught directly beneath the area, or half damage to those who succeed on Reflex saves. Castles and large stone buildings are generally immune to the effect of the spell, since transmute rock to mud can't affect worked stone and doesn't reach deep enough to undermine such buildings' foundations.

However, small buildings or structures often rest upon foundations shallow enough to be damaged or even partially toppled by this spell.

The mud remains until a successful dispel magic or transmute mud to rock spell restores its substance—but not necessarily its form.

Evaporation turns the mud to normal dirt over a period of days.

The exact time depends on exposure to the sun, wind, and normal drainage.

Arcane Material Component: Clay and water.

TREE SHAPE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

By means of this spell, you are able to assume the form of a Large living tree or shrub or a Large dead tree trunk with a small number of limbs.

The closest inspection cannot reveal that the tree in question is actually a magically concealed creature.

To all normal tests you are, in fact, a tree or shrub, although a detect magic spell reveals a faint transmutation on the tree.

While in tree form, you can observe all that transpires around you just as if you were in your normal form, and your hit points and save bonuses remain unaffected.

You gain a +10 natural armor bonus to AC but have an effective Dexterity score of 0 and a speed of 0 feet.

You are immune to critical hits while in tree form.

All clothing and gear carried or worn changes with you.

You can dismiss tree shape as a free action (instead of as a standard action).

VIRTUE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 0, Drd 0, Pal 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min.

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains 1 temporary hit point.

WARP WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: 1 Small wooden object/level, all within a 20-ft. radius

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You cause wood to bend and warp, permanently destroying its straightness, form, and strength.

A warped door springs open (or becomes stuck, requiring a Strength check to open, at your option).

A boat or ship springs a leak.

Warped ranged weapons are useless.

A warped melee weapon causes a -4 penalty on attack rolls.

You may warp one Small or smaller object (such as a wagon wheel or a human's crossbow) or its equivalent per caster level.

A Medium object (such as an oar or a human's spear) counts as two Small objects, a Large object (such as a rowboat or a hill giant's greatclub) as four, a Huge object (such as a wagon or a cloud giant's morningstar) as eight, a Gargantuan object (such as a keelboat) as sixteen, and a Colossal object (such as a sailing ship) as thirty-two.

Alternatively, you can unwarped wood (effectively warping it back to normal) with this spell, straightening wood that has been warped by this spell or by other means.

Make whole, on the other hand, does no good in repairing a warped item.

You can combine multiple consecutive warp wood spells to warp (or unwarped) an object that is too large for you to warp with a single spell.

Until the object is completely warped, it suffers no ill effects.

WATER BREATHING

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 3, Water 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creatures touched

Duration: 2 hours/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures can breathe water freely.

Divide the duration evenly among all the creatures you touch.
The spell does not make creatures unable to breathe air.
Arcane Material Component: A short reed or piece of straw.

WATER WALK

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Clr 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/level

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures can tread on any liquid as if it were firm ground.

Mud, oil, snow, quicksand, running water, ice, and even lava can be traversed easily, since the subjects' feet hover an inch or two above the surface.

(Creatures crossing molten lava still take damage from the heat because they are near it).

The subjects can walk, run, charge, or otherwise move across the surface as if it were normal ground.

If the spell is cast underwater (or while the subjects are partially or wholly submerged in whatever liquid they are in), the subjects are borne toward the surface at 60 feet per round until they can stand on it.

WHISPERING WIND

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 1 mile/level

Area: 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: No more than 1 hour/level or until discharged (destination is reached)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You send a message or sound on the wind to a designated spot.

The whispering wind travels to a specific location within range that is familiar to you, provided that it can find a way to the location.

(It can't pass through walls, for instance).

A whispering wind is as gentle and unnoticed as a zephyr until it reaches the location.

It then delivers its whisper-quiet message or other sound. Note that the message is delivered regardless of whether anyone is present to hear it.

The wind then dissipates.

You can prepare the spell to bear a message of no more than twenty-five words, cause the spell to deliver other sounds for 1 round, or merely have the whispering wind seem to be a faint stirring of the air.

You can likewise cause the whispering wind to move as slowly as 1 mile per hour or as quickly as 1 mile per 10 minutes.

When the spell reaches its objective, it swirls and remains in place until the message is delivered.

As with magic mouth, whispering wind cannot speak verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects.

WIND WALK

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Clr 6, Drd 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: You and one touched creature per three levels

Duration: 1 hour/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: No and Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (harmless)

You alter the substance of your body to a cloudlike vapor (as the gaseous form spell) and move through the air, possibly at great speed.

You can take other creatures with you, each of which acts independently.

Normally, a wind walker flies at a speed of 10 feet with perfect maneuverability.

If desired by the subject, a magical wind wafts a wind walker along at up to 600 feet per round (60 mph) with poor maneuverability.

Wind walkers are not invisible but rather appear misty and translucent.

If fully clothed in white, they are 80% likely to be mistaken for clouds, fog, vapors, or the like.

A wind walker can regain its physical form as desired and later resume the cloud form.

Each change to and from vaporous form takes 5 rounds, which counts toward the duration of the spell (as does any time spent in physical form).

As noted above, you can dismiss the spell, and you can even dismiss it for individual wind walkers and not others.

For the last minute of the spell's duration, a wind walker in cloud form automatically descends 60 feet per round (for a total of 600 feet), though it may descend faster if it wishes. This descent serves as a warning that the spell is about to end.

WOOD SHAPE

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched piece of wood no larger than 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Wood shape enables you to form one existing piece of wood into any shape that suits your purpose.

For example, you can make a wooden weapon, fashion a special trapdoor, or sculpt a crude idol.

This spell also permits you to reshape a wood door to make an exit where one didn't exist or to seal a door shut.

While it is possible to make crude coffers, doors, and so forth, fine detail isn't possible.

There is a 30% chance that any shape that includes moving parts simply doesn't work.

UNIVERSAL

ARCANE MARK

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One personal rune or mark, all of which must fit within 1 sq. ft.

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to inscribe your personal rune or mark, which can consist of no more than six characters.

The writing can be visible or invisible.

An arcane mark spell enables you to etch the rune upon any substance (even stone or metal) without harm to the material upon which it is placed.

If an invisible mark is made, a detect magic spell causes it to glow and be visible, though not necessarily understandable.

See invisibility, true seeing, a gem of seeing, or a robe of eyes likewise allows the user to see an invisible arcane mark.

A read magic spell reveals the words, if any.

The mark cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed by the caster or by an erase spell.

If an arcane mark is placed on a living being, normal wear gradually causes the effect to fade in about a month.

Arcane mark must be cast on an object prior to casting

Drawmij's instant summons on the same object (see that spell description for details).

LIMITED WISH

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A limited wish lets you create nearly any type of effect.

For example, a limited wish can do any of the following things.

- Duplicate any sorcerer/wizard spell of 6th level or lower, provided the spell is not of a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any other spell of 5th level or lower, provided the spell is not of a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any sorcerer/wizard spell of 5th level or lower, even if it's of a prohibited school.
- Duplicate any other spell of 4th level or lower, even if it's of a prohibited school.
- Undo the harmful effects of many spells, such as geas/quest or insanity.
- Produce any other effect whose power level is in line with the above effects, such as a single creature automatically hitting on its next attack or taking a -7 penalty on its next saving throw.

A duplicated spell allows saving throws and spell resistance as normal (but the save DC is for a 7th-level spell).

When a limited wish duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay that cost or 300 XP, whichever is more. When a limited wish spell duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 1,000 gp, you must provide that component.

XP Cost: 300 XP or more (see above).

PERMANENCY

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, XP

Casting Time: 2 rounds

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Spells cast on other creatures, objects, or locations (not on you) are vulnerable to dispel magic as normal.

The DM may allow other selected spells to be made permanent.

Researching this possible application of a spell costs as much time and money as independently researching the selected spell (see the Dungeon Master's Guide for details). If the DM has already determined that the application is not possible, the research automatically fails.

Note that you never learn what is possible except by the success or failure of your research.

XP Cost: See tables above.

PRESTIDIGITATION

Universal

Level: Brd 0, Sor/Wiz 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: 1 hour

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

Prestidigitations are minor tricks that novice spellcasters use for practice.

Once cast, a prestidigitation spell enables you to perform simple magical effects for 1 hour.

The effects are minor and have severe limitations.

A prestidigitation can slowly lift 1 pound of material.

It can color, clean, or soil items in a 1-foot cube each round.

It can chill, warm, or flavor 1 pound of nonliving material.

It cannot deal damage or affect the concentration of spellcasters.

Prestidigitation can create small objects, but they look crude and artificial.

The materials created by a prestidigitation spell are extremely fragile, and they cannot be used as tools, weapons, or spell components.

Finally, a prestidigitation lacks the power to duplicate any other spell effects.

Any actual change to an object (beyond just moving, cleaning, or soiling it) persists only 1 hour.

Characters typically use prestidigitation spells to impress common folk, amuse children, and brighten dreary lives.

Common tricks with prestidigitations include producing tinklings of ethereal music, brightening faded flowers, creating glowing balls that float over your hand, generating puffs of wind to flicker candles, spicing up aromas and flavors of bland food, and making little whirlwinds to sweep dust under rugs.

WISH

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target, Effect, or Area: See text

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Wish is the mightiest spell a wizard or sorcerer can cast.

By simply speaking aloud, you can alter reality to better suit you.

Even wish, however, has its limits.

A wish can produce any one of the following effects.

- Duplicate any wizard or sorcerer spell of 8th level or lower, provided the spell is not of a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any other spell of 6th level or lower, provided the spell is not of a school prohibited to you.
- Duplicate any wizard or sorcerer spell of 7th level or lower even if it's of a prohibited school.
- Duplicate any other spell of 5th level or lower even if it's of a prohibited school.
- Undo the harmful effects of many other spells, such as geas/quest or insanity.
- Create a nonmagical item of up to 25,000 gp in value.
- Create a magic item, or add to the powers of an existing magic item.
- Grant a creature a +1 inherent bonus to an ability score. Two to five wish spells cast in immediate succession can grant a creature a +2 to +5 inherent bonus to an ability score

(two wishes for a +2 inherent bonus, three for a +3 inherent bonus, and so on).

Inherent bonuses are instantaneous, so they cannot be dispelled.

Note: An inherent bonus may not exceed +5 for a single ability score, and inherent bonuses to a particular ability score do not stack, so only the best one applies.

- Remove injuries and afflictions.

A single wish can aid one creature per caster level, and all subjects are cured of the same kind of affliction.

For example, you could heal all the damage you and your companions have taken, or remove all poison effects from everyone in the party, but not do both with the same wish. A wish can never restore the experience point loss from casting a spell or the level or Constitution loss from being raised from the dead.

- Revive the dead.

A wish can bring a dead creature back to life by duplicating a resurrection spell.

A wish can revive a dead creature whose body has been destroyed, but the task takes two wishes, one to recreate the body and another to infuse the body with life again.

A wish cannot prevent a character who was brought back to life from losing an experience level.

- Transport travelers.

A wish can lift one creature per caster level from anywhere on any plane and place those creatures anywhere else on any plane regardless of local conditions.

An unwilling target gets a Will save to negate the effect, and spell resistance (if any) applies.

- Undo misfortune.

A wish can undo a single recent event.

The wish forces a reroll of any roll made within the last round (including your last turn).

Reality reshapes itself to accommodate the new result.

For example, a wish could undo an opponent's successful save, a foe's successful critical hit (either the attack roll or the critical roll), a friend's failed save, and so on.

The reroll, however, may be as bad as or worse than the original roll.

An unwilling target gets a Will save to negate the effect, and spell resistance (if any) applies.

You may try to use a wish to produce greater effects than these, but doing so is dangerous.

Such a wish gives the DM the opportunity to fulfil your request without fulfilling it completely.

(The wish may pervert your intent into a literal but undesirable fulfillment or only a partial fulfillment).

For example, wishing for a staff of the magi might get you instantly transported to the presence of the staff's current owner.

Wishing to be immortal could get you imprisoned in a hidden extradimensional space (as by an imprisonment spell), where you could "live" indefinitely.

Duplicated spells allow saves and spell resistance as normal (but save DCs are for 9th-level spells).

Material Component: When a wish duplicates a spell with a material component that costs more than 10,000 gp, you must provide that component.

XP Cost: The minimum XP cost for casting wish is 5,000 XP.

When a wish duplicates a spell that has an XP cost, you must pay 5,000 XP or that cost, whichever is more.

When a wish creates or improves a magic item, you must pay twice the normal XP cost for crafting or improving the item, plus an additional 5,000 XP.

ABJURATION

BLADE BROTHERS

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Two willing creatures

Duration: 1 minute/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You reach out and touch two creatures, and a sparkling tether of multicolored light briefly forms between them.

One time during the duration of this spell, when one subject of the spell attempts a saving throw, both recipients can roll and apply the more favorable result.

When rolling, each subject uses his own save bonus and save modifiers.

If both saving throws fail, both creatures suffer the consequences of a failed save, even if the effect that prompted the saving throw only affected one of the subjects.

If the affected creatures move more than 120 feet away from each other after the spell is cast, the effect ends.

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

As you complete this spell, a shield crafted from divine energy appears before you.

As you channel energy into the shield, it grows stronger and stronger.

The magnitude of this improvement depends on the amount of time you spend casting the spell.

If you cast this spell as a swift action, you gain damage reduction 2/evil for the duration of this spell.

If you cast this spell as a standard action, you gain damage reduction 5/evil.

If you cast this spell as a full-round action, you gain damage reduction 8/evil.

If you spend 2 rounds casting this spell, you gain damage reduction 10/evil.

DEFLECT

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Duskblade 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

This spell functions like lesser deflect, except that you gain a shield bonus to AC equal to 1/2 your caster level (round down) against the next attack made against you before the end of your next turn.

DEFLECT, LESSER

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Duskblade 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round or until discharged

With a word, you evoke a barrier of invisible force.

You project a field of invisible force, creating a short-lived protective barrier.

You gain a deflection bonus to your AC against a single attack; this bonus is equal to +1 per three caster levels (maximum +5).

You can cast this spell even when it's not your turn; however, you must cast it before your opponent makes his attack roll to gain the benefit.

DISPELLING TOUCH

Abjuration

Level: Duskblade 3, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One touched creature, object, or spell effect

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Your touch causes one spell to rip free of its source and dissipate into nothingness.

You can use dispelling touch to end an ongoing spell that has been cast on a creature or object, or a spell that has a noticeable ongoing effect.

You make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +10) against the spell effect with the highest caster level.

If that check fails, you make dispel checks against progressively weaker spells until you dispel one spell or until you fail all your checks.

Magic items carried by a creature are not affected.

ENERGY AEGIS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, duskblade 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A nigh-invisible ripple of magical energy courses through the creature touched, granting it resistance against one type of energy specified by you during the casting of the spell.

When you cast energy aegis, specify an energy type (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic).

Against the next attack using this energy type that targets the subject, it gains resistance 20.

ENERGY VULNERABILITY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One or more creatures within a 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Silvery tendrils erupt from your outstretched arms and strike the creatures you choose.

A lingering silvery aura engulfs them thereafter.

Energy vulnerability can affect a number of creatures with total Hit Dice equal to twice your caster level or lower.

You select which creatures are affected. When you cast this spell, specify an energy type (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic). The affected creatures gain vulnerability to that energy type (they take +50% damage from that energy, even on a successful save).
Arcane Material Component: A tiny wooden shield, which the caster snaps in half.

FIELD OF RESISTANCE

Abjuration
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space
Duration: 1 round/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

The air in this spell's effect shimmers with arcane energy. A buzzing sound echoes in your mind as the flow of magic into the affected area chokes off and ends.
This spell creates a zone that impedes the flow of magic. The energy of this zone clings to creatures and objects, granting them a shield against spells. All creatures in the spell's area gain spell resistance of 11 + caster level for as long as they remain in the area. If a creature already has spell resistance higher than this amount, this spell does not affect it. Unlike personal spell resistance, this spell resistance cannot be voluntarily lowered. A creature loses this spell resistance when it leaves the spell's area, and gains it again if it returns.

MANA FLUX

Abjuration
Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

The air crackles and warps as you flood the area with unstable, disrupting magical energy. The light shed by a continual flame torch flutters wildly, while your magic items hum and vibrate.
This spell creates a field of unstable magical energy. Any creature trying to cast a spell, use a spell-like ability, activate a supernatural ability, or manifest a psionic power in the spell's area has a 20% chance of failure. Spell completion items, such as scrolls, also have this failure chance. If a creature within the spell's area has a spell failure chance due to some other source, such as wearing armor, check each source of spell failure chance separately. Feats and abilities that reduce the chance of spell failure due to armor have no effect on this field. A failed spell uses up a spell slot or other resources as appropriate.

Magic items do not have a chance of failure, since the power invested in them is too ingrained to be disrupted by this spell.

MYSTIC AEGIS

Abjuration
Level: Cleric 4
Components: V, DF
Casting Time: 1 immediate action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: Instantaneous
A mantle of scintillating, multicolored light appears around you to block the spell, then fades away.
You cast mystic aegis immediately when you are targeted by a hostile spell. You gain spell resistance equal to 12 + your caster level against that spell.

STIFLE SPELL

Abjuration
Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4
Components: V
Casting Time: 1 immediate action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One creature casting a spell
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: See text
Spell Resistance: Yes
As the creature casts a spell, you utter a simple magical phrase that momentarily confounds it.
You cast this spell to distract another creature as it attempts to cast a spell. The target must succeed on a Concentration check (DC equal to 14 + your key ability modifier + the level of the spell being cast) to ignore the distraction, or else it loses the spell.

CONJURATION

BLOOD CREEPERS

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Druid 5
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One creature
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Fortitude negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
Thorny vines burst from the creature's body, punching through bone, flesh, and skin to enwrap its arms and legs and tether it to the ground.
The subject takes 1 point of piercing damage per caster level (maximum 15) as the creepers rip apart its body. In addition, the creepers entwine securely around it, trapping its legs and arms. The subject is immobilized (unable to move from its current location) and entangled.

Each round, the subject takes an extra 1 point of piercing damage per caster level (maximum 15) unless it is able to escape.

A trapped creature can attempt to break free with a DC 20 Strength check or wriggle free with a DC 25 Escape Artist check, either of which ends the spell if successful. Other creatures can use the aid another action as normal on these checks.

They can make attacks against these vines as if they were wooden objects with a thickness of 3 inches (see Smashing an Object, PH 185).

Despite its name, blood creepers is equally effective on living and nonliving creatures.

BONES OF THE EARTH

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Effect: One 5-ft.-diameter pillar of stone per round

Duration: 1 round/2 levels (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

A pillar of rock explodes upward from the ground.

Each round as a standard action, you conjure a pillar of rock that bursts from a stone or earthen surface anywhere within the spell's range.

Each pillar fills a 5-foot square and grows to a height of 20 feet or until it hits a barrier such as a ceiling or wall.

A Large or smaller creature in a square where a pillar erupts must succeed on a Reflex save or be carried upward by the force of the pillar.

If a pillar is created in a room with a ceiling height of 20 feet or less, the rock slams into the ceiling, dealing 4d6 points of damage to any creature atop it.

In a location with a ceiling height of more than 20 feet, a creature carried up by a pillar must succeed on a DC 20 Balance check or fall from the top of the pillar when it reaches its maximum height.

On a failed check, the creature plummets to the ground, taking 2d6 points of damage from the fall.

You can also cause a pillar to erupt from a vertical surface, in which case any creatures in the pillar's path must succeed on their Reflex saves or take 2d6 points of damage and be knocked prone.

The pillar created is permanent and has AC 3, hardness 8, and 900 hit points.

A pillar can be climbed with a DC 20 Climb check.

BRIGHT WORMS

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

With a loud pop, a nest of writhing worms of multicolored light appears in the air.

You create a knot of living light with wormlike tendrils extending out from the mass.

The worms hang in the air as if suspended.

The worms drift away from the paths of your allies, but they attack enemies that enter the area, lashing out with lightning speed and combusting creatures that they touch. When you cast the spell, and in each later round at the beginning of your turn, the flaming worms deal 2d6 points of fire damage to any of your enemies in the area.

The fire damage increases as you gain levels, to 3d6 per round for a 11th-level caster and 4d6 per round for a 15th-level caster.

Any area spell that deals cold damage eliminates the bright worms from its area.

CHANNELED DIVINE HEALTH

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: See text

Range: See text

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You bring forth a sphere of pure healing energy.

You pour divine power into it, slowly building the energy it holds, until it is ready to mend an ally's wounds.

This spell allows you to heal an ally, or damage an undead creature, at a range greater than touch.

When you cast this spell, you channel energy into it.

You can choose how long to spend casting this spell.

If you cast this spell as a swift action, it has a range of touch, and you heal a single touched creature of 1d8 points of damage.

An undead creature you touch takes this amount of damage instead of being healed.

If you cast this spell as a standard action, it has a range of close, and you heal a single creature within range of damage equal to 1d8 points + your caster level (maximum +10).

An undead creature you designate within range takes this amount of damage instead of being healed.

If you cast this spell as a full-round casting this spell, it has a range of medium, and you heal a single creature within range of damage equal to 2d8 points + your caster level (maximum +15).

An undead creature you designate within range takes this amount of damage instead of being healed.

If you spend 2 full rounds casting this spell, it has a range of long, and you heal a single creature within range of damage equal to 4d8 points + your caster level (maximum +20).

An undead creature you designate within range takes this amount of damage instead of being healed.

You do not need to declare ahead of time how long you want to spend casting the spell.

When you begin casting this spell, you decide that you are finished casting after the appropriate time has passed.

CLOUD OF KNIVES

Conjuration

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You conjure a cloud of sharp knives around you.

The knives float in the air around your upper body, pointing in the direction you look.

Each round as a free action at the beginning of your turn, you can release one of these knives at any target within 30 feet that you can see.

This is a ranged attack that uses an attack bonus equal to your caster level + your key ability modifier.

Each successful hit deals 1d6 points of damage +1 per three caster levels (maximum +5) and threatens a critical hit on a roll of 19–20.

Damage reduction applies to knife attacks from this spell.

The knives are treated as magic for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Material Component: A knife.

Optional Material Component: Using a silvered dagger (22 gp) in the casting of this spell allows the knives to overcome damage reduction as if they were both magic and silver, but the knives deal 1 less point of damage.

DIMENSION HOP

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Duskblade 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Pale motes of light dance and swirl about your fingertips.

When you touch the creature, it disappears, leaves a cloud of motes in its wake, and reappears somewhere nearby.

You instantly teleport the subject creature a distance of 5 feet per two caster levels.

The destination must be an unoccupied space within line of sight.

DIMENSION SHUFFLE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a slight blue shimmer of energy and an audible pop, a number of creatures around you disappear and reappear in new positions.

You instantly transfer any subject creature from its current location to any other spot within 30 feet.

You must have line of sight to its new location.

An unwilling creature can make a Will saving throw to negate this effect.

The creature must be placed on solid ground capable of supporting its weight.

If you attempt to place a creature within a solid object or into a space where it cannot fit, the spell fails.

DIMENSION STEP

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One willing creature/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

All the creatures you target with this spell gain a dark, shimmering pattern of runes on their shoes and feet.

The runes blaze with arcane light for a moment.

Less than a second later, the targets have shifted position on the battlefield.

This spell allows your allies to make a short teleport.

All creatures targeted by this spell can teleport a distance equal to their base land speed.

A target can teleport to any square within its line of sight.

This movement does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

A creature can teleport up to a ledge, down to the base of a flight of stairs, and so forth as long as it observes the restrictions and limits given above.

EXPLOSIVE RUNE FIELD

Conjuration (Fire)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

You infuse an area with arcane patterns that shift and slide along the ground.

They seethe with arcane energy, and an occasional bolt of energy surges from them with a bright flash.

This spell creates a hazardous field of energy similar to that created by an explosive runes.

spell.

Unlike that spell, the runes created by this spell detonate when they come into contact with a living creature other than the caster.

Any creature that begins its turn in the spell's area must attempt a Reflex save.

On a failed save, the creature takes 4d6 points of fire damage.

Moving through the spell's area is hazardous at best.

Creatures that move at their normal speed must succeed on Reflex saves to avoid the spell's explosive effects.

Creatures that move at half speed through the spell's area can avoid the damage just as if they had succeeded on their saves.

Material Component: A piece of parchment scribed with runes.

The runes must be drawn with silver-flecked ink (25 gp).

HEALING SPIRIT

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Bard 4, cleric 4, druid 4, paladin 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One conjured healing spirit

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless); see text

A 1-foot-diameter ball of light appears and moves by your command, healing those it touches.

You conjure an incorporeal object of magical energy that appears in any square within range.

This healing spirit resembles a 1-foot-diameter ball of light.

It sheds bright illumination in a 10-foot radius and shadowy illumination for another 20 feet.

A healing spirit cannot be affected by attacks or spells.

A healing spirit flies at a speed of 30 feet with perfect maneuverability.

In the round you cast the spell and at the start of your turn once per round thereafter, you can direct the healing spirit to move and touch a creature by entering its space.

The spirit's touch carries positive energy, healing a living creature of 1d8 points of damage.

Since undead are powered by negative energy, a healing spirit damages them instead of healing them.

The spirit can affect an unwilling target (such as an undead) by succeeding on an incorporeal touch attack, using your base attack bonus and a Strength bonus of +0.

An undead creature hit by such an attack can use spell resistance against the effect and is allowed a Will save for half damage.

If a healing spirit travels farther from you than the spell's range, it winks out of existence and the spell ends.

INVEST HEAVY PROTECTION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 5

This spell functions like invest light protection, except that it cures 5d4 points of damage +1 per two caster levels (maximum +12) and grants damage reduction 5/evil.

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless); see text

You invest the target with an infusion of divine energy.

His wounds knit shut, while the power you grant to him helps ward off future injuries.

You heal a living creature you touch of 1d4 points of damage +1 per two caster levels (maximum +3).

In addition, the creature touched gains damage reduction 1/evil for 1 minute.

Like cure light wounds, this spell deals damage to undead creatures instead of curing them.

KELGORE'S GRAVE MIST

Conjuration/Necromancy [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft. radius spread, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

With a gesture, you create a cloud of clammy, thin mist.

The light in the area seems to dim as the mist appears, and a slight wind washes over the area, sending a chill down your spine.

This spell creates a thin mist within the spell's area.

The mist is too thin to have any effect on vision, but the necromantic energy infused within it hampers the living. All living creatures within the mist become fatigued and take 1d6 points of cold damage per round.

If the spell fails to overcome a creature's spell resistance, the subject takes the cold damage but ignores the fatigue.

You conjure a vaguely humanoid being composed of yellow light. It wields a radiant blade and moves with unearthly grace. A lesser luminous assassin appears above one creature within range and drops onto it, slashing and stabbing. The assassin attacks as it falls, and the target creature is considered flat-footed against this initial attack. Place the assassin in any square adjacent to the creature that can hold the assassin. The assassin's statistics are provided below. After its initial attack, a luminous assassin attacks its target every round, taking its turn after your turn is completed. It fights intelligently and does not need to be directed by you. If the creature flees, the assassin pursues it to the best of its ability. If the creature dies or escapes, the assassin waits for you to direct it to another creature (a free action). You cannot command the assassin to do anything except attack creatures or wait (do nothing but defend itself), nor can you direct it to attack another creature if the originally targeted creature still lives and is within the spell's range. The assassin and all its possessions vanish when the spell's duration expires.

Focus: A serrated dagger.

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You alter the flow of magic about your body so that spells heal you. Whenever a creature, including you, casts a spell within the area of this spell, you heal 1 hit point per level of the spell cast.

MELF'S UNICORN ARROW

Conjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target or Targets: One creature or up to five creatures, no two of which are more than 15 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The shimmering, transparent form of a unicorn flies forward, its corporeal horn lowered in a charge at its enemy.

A translucent unicorn shape appears in midair and speeds toward the target of this spell.

If you succeed on a ranged touch attack, the horn slams into the target and deals 1d8+8 points of damage.

In addition, the target is subject to a bull rush, and must make a Strength check (with appropriate modifiers for a bull rush) against a DC of 21.

If the check is failed, the subject is pushed back 5 feet, plus 5 feet for every 5 points by which it failed the check.

You can conjure an additional unicorn arrow for every three caster levels beyond 5th, up to five at 17th level.

You can have them strike a single creature or several creatures, but each horn can strike only one creature.

You must designate targets before you make your attack rolls.

A creature struck by more than one horn is only required to make one Strength check to avoid the bull rush, but the DC of the check increases by 2 for each horn beyond the first that strikes it.

Focus: An ivory replica of a unicorn (25 gp).

REGROUP

Level: Duskblade 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Targets: One willing creature/level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

SCATTERING TRAP

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Areas you designate on the floor flare dimly.

This spell imbues a number of 5-foot squares you designate with a teleportation trap.

A creature moving through one of these squares and failing its saving throw is teleported 1d6 squares in a random direction (use the Missing with a Thrown Weapon diagram, PH 158).

If reaching the destination involves teleporting the subject into a solid space such as within a wall, the subject is forcibly shunted into the nearest open space and takes 1d6 points of damage.

When you cast this spell, the 5-foot squares you designate do not have to be adjacent but must all be within 30 feet of one another.

Material Component: A pinch of dandelion seeds.

Duration: 1 hour or until discharged

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You touch the weapon, and an oily liquid appears on its surface. When you cast this spell, you coat the target weapon with poison.

The next successful melee attack with that weapon delivers the poison.

The poison deals 1d10 points of Constitution damage immediately and another 1d10 points of Constitution damage 1 minute later.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC equal to this spell's save DC).

If the weapon has not scored a successful hit after 1 hour, the poison becomes inert and evaporates.

You create an arcane crown that grants the wearer a +2 competence bonus on Listen and Spot checks.

As an immediate action, the creature wearing a crown of clarity can discharge its magic to gain a +8 bonus on a single Spot or Listen check.

The spell ends after the wearer uses the crown in this manner.

He must choose to use this ability before the check is attempted, and the spell expires once the second die is rolled.

You gain a +2 sacred bonus on all saving throws and +2 dodge bonus to Armor Class.

Once during the spell's duration, as an immediate action, you can choose to discharge the spell to gain a greater bonus.

When you discharge the spell in this manner, you gain a sacred bonus on all saving throws and a dodge bonus to your Armor Class equal to 1/2 your caster level (maximum +25).

This bonus lasts until the beginning of your next turn.

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

ENCHANTMENT

BLACK KARMA CURSE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a word and a gesture, you compel the bewildered creature to attack itself.

If the creature has more than one eligible attack form, it uses the one that deals the most damage.

HESITATE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, beguiler 3, cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

In the eyes of your enemy, you seem large, powerful, and indomitable.

You fill a subject with doubts and misgivings, making it believe it is inferior to you.

On a failed save, the subject can take no action other than a move action on its current turn.

Hesitate confers no special bonuses for attackers attempting to hit the subject; the subject still defends itself.

If you attack the affected creature, the spell ends immediately.

Each round, as a swift action at the start of its turn, the subject can attempt a new saving throw to end the effect.

If the save succeeds, the subject can then act normally.

You can cast this spell even when it's not your turn; however, you must cast it at the start of your opponent's turn to gain the benefit.

INCITE RIOT

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 5, beguiler 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You sow discord among your enemies, spurring them to physical violence.

Each creature that fails its saving throw attacks the nearest creature on its next turn, whether friend or foe.

An affected creature attacks with whatever weapon is in hand, or with natural weapons.

An unarmed creature attacks with an unarmed strike.

An affected creature not already adjacent to another creature will move or (if possible) charge the nearest creature; if the nearest creature is not within range of a charge, the subject moves toward the nearest creature along the most efficient route.

INEVITABLE DEFEAT

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Beguiler 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None and Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch the creature with your hand, and it teeters on the edge of unconsciousness.

You draw a cloud over the subject's mind, dealing 3d6 points of nonlethal damage.

No saving throw is allowed against this effect.

Each round on its turn, the subject must succeed on a Will save or take another 3d6 points of nonlethal damage.

STAY THE HAND

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, beguiler 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your words invoke compassion and mercy in the merciless.

If the target creature fails its save against stay the hand, it refrains from attacking you or targeting you with spells for the remainder of the current round.

You can cast this spell during an opponent's turn after the opponent announces its intention to attack you or target you with a spell.

If the opponent becomes subject to this spell, it can choose a new target to attack, but it takes a -4 circumstance penalty on its attack roll due to the sudden change of intentions at the last second.

Likewise, the subject of this spell can redirect a spell that had been targeted on you, but it must succeed on a Concentration check (DC 15 + the spell's level) or the spell is wasted.

For every two caster levels beyond 1st, you deal an extra 1d6 points of nonlethal damage to the subject, to a maximum of 5d6 at 9th level.

EVOCATION

BIGBY'S DISRUPTING HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One hand of force

Duration: 1 minute (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A small, spectral human hand springs into existence before your target.

It hovers in the air, ready to deliver a backhanded blow.

Like Bigby's interposing hand, this spell creates a magical construct in the form of a human hand.

The hand targets a single opponent of your choice within range.

You choose this opponent as you cast the spell.

You can target a different opponent with this spell by taking a move action to do so. When the subject of Bigby's disrupting hand attempts to cast a spell, the hand punches him. This attack causes no damage, but it forces the subject to make a Concentration check with a DC equal to this spell's save DC. If the subject fails the check, the hand's blow ruins his casting attempt. The hand is about 1 foot long. It has hit points equal to half your full normal hit points, and its AC is 20 (+4 size, +6 natural). It makes saving throws using your total save bonuses and takes damage from spells and attacks as normal. Focus: A soft glove.

BIGBY'S HELPFUL HAND

Evocation [Force]
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1
Components: V, S, F
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 0 ft.

*A magical construct in the shape of a hand appears next to you. Its fingers open toward you, waiting for you to hand it an item. This spell creates a hand of magical force that holds items for you, helps you complete long, involved tasks, and otherwise aids you. The spell grants you a +2 competence bonus on Craft, Disable Device, and Open Lock checks for the duration of the spell. It can hold a single object weighing up to 20 pounds. You can grasp the object that the hand carries or place an object in its grasp as a swift action. The hand remains in your square at all times. It matches your speed, and you can bring the hand and the object along with you if you use dimension door, teleport, and similar spells. You cannot order the hand to move away from you. If you are separated from the hand, the spell immediately ends. The hand is about 1 foot long. It has hit points equal to half your full normal hit points, and its AC is 20 (+4 size, +6 natural). You designate a target when casting this spell. You can change the spell's target by taking a move action to do so. This spell has no effect on Huge or larger creatures. You channel energy into it, causing it to bubble and seethe with power.

When you have poured enough energy into the sphere, you send it flying into your foes.

This spell creates a bolt of fiery energy that blasts your enemies.

The spell's strength depends on the amount of time you spend channeling energy into it.

CROWN OF SMITING

Evocation

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D) or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A crown of divine energy appears upon the target's brow.

The holy symbol of the caster's faith is set at the front of the crown.

You create a magic crown infused with divine energy harmful to enemies of your faith.

Choose a single alignment (chaotic, evil, good, or lawful) when you cast this spell.

Once per minute, the crown's wearer gains a +2 divine bonus on damage rolls on his next melee or ranged attack if his target has the designated alignment.

The crown's wearer must decide to use this extra damage before making his attack.

If he misses, the extra damage is lost.

As an immediate action, the creature wearing a crown of smiting can discharge its magic to gain a +8 divine bonus on damage on a single attack.

The spell ends after the wearer uses the crown in this manner.

The crown occupies space on the body as a headband, hat, or helm.

If the crown is removed, the spell immediately ends.

CRUSHING GRIP

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 3 rounds

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You conjure a band of energy that slowly squeezes your opponent. As the band tightens, it restricts his movement and eventually holds him in place, rigid with paralysis.

This spell has one effect on an opponent when you begin casting it.

At the beginning of your next turn, when you finish casting the spell, it has a second effect.

When you start casting this spell, your target takes a –2 penalty on attacks, checks, saves, and AC.

He also takes a 20-foot penalty to speed.

This effect does not allow a saving throw, but spell resistance applies.

If you fail to overcome the target's spell resistance, you immediately stop casting the spell, and the secondary effect does not take place.

When you complete the casting of this spell, your target must make a Fortitude saving throw or be paralyzed.

Even if the target makes this saving throw, this spell's initial effect continues to affect him for the spell's duration.

This spell's duration begins after you have completed casting it.

DETONATE

Evocation [Death, Fire]

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

The creature you point at explodes in a massive spray of fire.

Creatures in this area take 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), though they can attempt Reflex saves for half damage.

The exploded creature's remains are scattered and vaporized, leaving nothing but dry ash.

If the target succeeds on its saving throw, it is wracked by a series of small explosions and takes 7d6 points of fire damage.

If this damage kills the creature, it explodes as described above.

Detonate has no effect on creatures that have immunity to fire.

Material Component: A tindertwig and a piece of string.

DIVINE RETALIATION

Evocation [Force]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Magic weapon of force

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A spectral weapon composed of pure force energy springs into existence next to you.

Each time a foe strikes you, the weapon springs into action, chopping into your foe and dealing a grievous wound.

This spell creates a divine weapon that mimics your deity's favored weapon.

Any time you are struck for damage by a melee attack, this weapon strikes at your foe.

It has a base attack bonus equal to your caster level + your Str modifier or Wis modifier (your choice).

It deals damage as per your deity's favored weapon, and is of a size equal to your current size.

The weapon gains a bonus on damage rolls equal to 1-1/2 times your Str modifier or Wis modifier (your choice).

There is no limit to the number of attacks that this weapon can make.

If a hydra bites at and hits you six times, this weapon in turn strikes at the hydra six times.

The weapon has reach or range appropriate to its type.

It shares a space with you.

If you are Large or larger, it counts as occupying each square of the space you fill.

DRIFTS OF THE SHALM

Evocation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 5-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call upon the power of Obad-Hai and conjure forth a great drift of snow, leaves, or smoldering ash.

Druids of Obad-Hai routinely evoke the drifts of their lord to delay their enemies, to buy themselves time in the face of a sudden threat, and simply to decorate their groves.

You create drifts of snow, leaves, or ash 3 feet thick.

It costs 2 squares of movement to enter a drift-covered square.

Additional effects apply based on the type of drift.

A snow drift ripples with freezing energy.

Anyone moving through or located in a snow drift takes 3 points of cold damage each round.

If any part of a leaf drift comes in contact with fire (anything from a torch to a fireball will do), the whole drift instantly ignites.

The heat from the burning leaves deals 2d6 points of fire damage to anyone in the inferno.

An ash drift smolders with dying embers.

Anyone moving through or located in an ash drift takes 3 points of fire damage each round.

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You call forth a thin, multihued mist that fills the area. Small incandescent lights, no brighter than candles, drift lazily throughout the mist.

The mist is too thin to obscure vision or provide concealment, but walking through it is hazardous. Each round, a creature that begins its turn in the area of the spell, or that enters the mist during its turn, is subject to one or more of the following effects based on the (randomly determined) color of the mist in the area around the creature.

Consult the table below to determine the color of the mist and its effect.

d8	Color	Effect
1	Red	1d4 points fire damage
2	Orange	1d6 points acid damage

A bright, scintillating light shines from your body.

For the duration of this spell, you emanate a bright light that undead find uncomfortable.

The illumination within the area is bright, the equivalent of a daylight spell.

Undead in the area are dazzled for as long as they remain in the radius and for 1d6 rounds thereafter.

Radiance counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level.

RAY OF THE PYTHON

Evocation

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see below

Spell Resistance: Yes

A ray of pulsing yellow light springs from your hand.

It strikes your target and wraps around him like a snake, hampering his ability to move and attack.

This spell creates a ropey strand of arcane energy that restricts a creature's movements. A creature struck by this ray can only make one attack per round and cannot make attacks of opportunity. In addition, the creature's speed is reduced by 10 feet. After the spell has been in effect for 1 round, at the start of its turn in each round thereafter, the subject is allowed a Reflex save to resist the spell's effects. If the save succeeds, the creature ignores the spell's effects for that round. It must make a new save each round, regardless of the result of a previous save.

RIGHTEOUS BURST

Evocation [Good]

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

SEEKING RAY

Evocation

Level: Duskblade 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A ray of electricity springs from your hand.

It snakes around obstacles, cover, and other impediments on its way toward your target.

You create a ray that deals 4d6 points of electricity damage if it strikes your target.

While this ray requires a ranged touch attack to strike an opponent, it ignores concealment and cover (but not total concealment or total cover), and it does not take the standard penalty for firing into melee.

In addition to the damage it deals, the ray creates a link of energy between you and the subject.

If this ray struck the target and dealt damage, you gain a +4 bonus on attacks you make with ray spells (including another casting of this one, if desired) against the subject for 1 round per caster level.

If you cast seeking ray a second time on a creature that is still linked to you from a previous casting, the duration of the new link overlaps (does not stack with) the remaining duration of the previous one.

SONIC SHIELD

Evocation

Level: Bard 3, duskblade 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

The air around you shifts and shimmers as a field of pure sonic energy forms before you.

This shield repels all attacks with a blast of energy that sends the attacker stumbling backward.

This spell grants you a +4 deflection bonus to AC.

In addition, anyone who successfully hits you with a melee attack takes 1d8 points of sonic damage and must make a Fortitude saving throw or be knocked 5 feet away from you into an unoccupied space of your choice.

If no space of sufficient size is available for it to enter, it instead takes an extra 1d8 points of sonic damage.

THUNDER FIELD

Evocation

Level: Bard 4, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

The air around you crackles with the distant boom of thunder.

A dome of translucent golden energy surrounds the spell's area.

The dome shakes and rattles, while the muffled sounds of explosive blasts echoes from it.

Any creature within the dome is knocked into the air by the powerful, ear-splitting blasts.

This spell creates an area of turbulent, sonic energy.

For the duration of the spell, any creature that starts its turn in the spell's area must make a Fortitude save or take 1d8 points of sonic damage.

In addition, affected creatures must make a Reflex save or be knocked prone.

If a creature is already prone, failing this save has no effect on it.

WRACK EARTH

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Druid 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You stomp your foot, causing a shockwave to shoot out from you.

When you cast this spell, earth and stone blast upward along a 30-foot line, smashing creatures and knocking them out of the way.

This spell deals 1d6 points of bludgeoning damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to every creature it contacts and creates a 5-foot-wide mound of stone and rubble along the path of the line. Creatures within the area that fail their Reflex saves are moved to a random side of the rubble. The rubble created is difficult terrain that requires 2 squares of movement to enter. Creatures that succeed on their saving throws take half damage and are not moved by the mound of rubble.

ILLUSION

BLINDING COLOR SURGE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Beguiler 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: You and one creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point at the target of this spell.

The colors of your clothing, skin, and hair shine for a brief moment before they surge away from you, forming a multicolored ray that strikes your target.

You disappear as the colors of your body and items leap from you into the beam.

The target clutches his eyes and staggers.

You strip the color from your body and gear, turn it into a lance of energy, and hurl it at a target.

When you cast this spell, you target a creature with the colors stripped from your form.

The target must make a Will save or be blinded for 1 round.

You also gain the benefit of invisibility, for the duration of this spell, even if the target creature succeeds on its save or if its spell resistance protects it.

The spell's recipient gains a +2 competence bonus on Disguise and Hide checks.

As an immediate action, the creature wearing the crown of veils can discharge its magic to gain a +8 competence bonus on a single Disguise or Hide check.

The spell ends after the wearer uses the crown in this manner.

The crown occupies space on the body as a headband, hat, or helm.

If the crown is removed, the spell immediately ends.

Focus: A brass hoop 6 inches in diameter.

FRIEND TO FOE

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 5, beguiler 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One living creature/level, none of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your enemies transform into what they each hate the most, suddenly turning against each other.

You overlay phantasmal images over your enemies, making them appear to each other as loathsome and despicable, implanting an urge to kill and destroy the object of their ire.

Orcs might see each other as elves or dwarves, demons might see angels, and so on.

All subjects receive a Will save to see through the phantasm.

Each individual failing its save turns on the closest ally and attacks until the first time it deals damage, which causes the spell to end for that attacker.

Material Component: A swatch of white silk.

LEGION OF SENTINELS

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Beguiler 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A phalanx of spectral swordfighters appears.

Their blades are drawn, and they stand ready to strike.

A ghostly, incorporeal swordfighter appears in each square covered by this spell's area.

A swordfighter can share a space with another creature or object.

Each swordfighter threatens the squares adjacent to it and can make one attack of opportunity per round.

The swordfighters do not hinder movement, block terrain, or block line of effect.

They can flank an opponent with each other and with your allies.

Each swordfighter has hit points equal to twice your caster level and an Armor Class of 25.

It makes saving throws or checks with a bonus equal to your caster level.

Material Component: A pewter swordfighter miniature figure.

MIRROR IMAGE, GREATER

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Bard 4, beguiler 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal; see text for mirror image (PH 254)

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Several illusory duplicates of you pop into being.

This spell functions like mirror image, except that an additional image is created in each round after the first, up to a maximum of eight concurrent images.

If all images are destroyed, the spell ends.

This spell also differs from mirror image in that you can cast this spell even when it's not your turn.

PHANTOM BATTLE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Bard 3, beguiler 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create an illusory horde of snarling ogres, fierce orcs, and proud knights in armor, all locked in battle.

Creatures in the area move cautiously as they are caught up in the phantom melee.

This spell creates the illusion of a fierce battle.

Your enemies move cautiously and pass up the opportunity to strike their foes, since the roar and confusion of the battle distracts them.

All creatures within the area of the spell that fail their saving throws cannot make attacks of opportunity.

In addition, all creatures within the area are considered flanked.

A creature ignores these effects when it leaves the spell's area.

If a creature reenters the spell's area after leaving it, the creature can attempt another save to resist the spell if its initial save failed.

A creature that enters the area for the first time after the spell is cast must also make a saving throw to resist the effect.

A phantom battle spell produces noise appropriate to a mob of creatures locked in battle.

Anyone in the battle can plainly see that the conjured fighters are no threat, since they strike solely at other phantom warriors, but the din, tumult, and confusion make it difficult to focus on the true foes at hand.

A creature that succeeds on its save can still see the spectral outline of the illusion, but is able to block out the distraction and fight as normal.

When you cast this spell, you can choose for it not to affect a number of allies you designate less than or equal to your caster level.

VERTIGO FIELD

Illusion (Pattern)

Level: Beguiler 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a field of swirling patterns of color, light, and motion.

Creatures in the area stagger as the barrage of sensations overloads their senses and leaves them overcome with vertigo.

This spell creates a field of illusory magic that hampers the movement and senses of any creature that enters it.

The area within the field counts as difficult terrain.

Attacks made through or from inside the field have a 20% miss chance.

A creature that begins its turn inside the field must make a Fortitude save or become nauseated for 1 round.

Once a creature fails this save, it does not need to make another save against this effect.

When you cast this spell, you can choose for this nauseating effect not to apply to a number of allies you designate less than or equal to your caster level.

Those allies still treat the vertigo field as difficult terrain and have the 20% miss chance on attacks.

VERTIGO

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, beguiler 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief

Spell Resistance: No

You cripple a target with sensations of falling.

The subject of this spell becomes dizzy as the ground seems to drop away beneath its feet.

The subject must succeed on a DC 10 Balance check at the start of each turn to take a move action.

If it fails, it cannot move.

If it fails the check by 5 or more, it falls prone.

While affected, the subject also takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls and saving throws.

Airborne creatures receive a +4 bonus on saves against this spell and do not need to make the Balance checks.

NECROMANCY

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Red blood erupts along the weapon's blade, bludgeon, or point. The blood drips to spatter in thick, viscous drops upon the ground. This spell infuses the weapon touched with baleful energy. The next time this weapon strikes a living creature, blade of blood discharges.

You can voluntarily take 5 hit points of damage to empower the weapon to deal an extra 2d6 points of damage (for a total of 3d6 points of extra damage).

The weapon loses this property if its wielder drops it or otherwise loses contact with it.

CROWN OF THE GRAVE

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D) or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A ring of ghostly fog surrounds the target's head.

With a swirl, the fog dissipates, leaving behind a crown made of human bones.

This spell creates a magic crown that grants its wearer the power to command undead.

Once per minute, the crown's wearer can issue a one-word order to an undead creature, as per the command spell.

The undead creature must make a Will save to resist this effect.

Even though command is normally a mind-affecting spell, the crown channels holy or unholy energy (depending on your alignment; neutral casters choose one or the other) to compel obedience.

In addition, a cleric who wears the crown can expend a use of his turn or rebuke undead ability to increase this ability's save DC by 4.

As an immediate action, the creature wearing a crown of the grave can discharge its magic to gain a +4 bonus on a single turn or rebuke undead attempt.

The spell ends after the wearer uses the crown in this manner.

The crown occupies space on the body as a headband, hat, or helm.

If the crown is removed, the spell immediately ends.

Material Component: A pinch of grave dirt.

Focus: A wooden hoop 6 inches in diameter.

MARK OF DOOM

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a mighty invocation to your deity, you mark a creature as a target of your holy judgment.

The ground shakes, the air grows still, and all wild animals in the air become suddenly quiet and fearful as your deity passes judgment upon the target.

This spell marks an opponent as an enemy of your faith, one who must pay for his transgressions.

As long as the subject insists on fighting, it suffers divine punishment from your deity.

The subject of this spell takes 1d6 points of damage each time it casts a spell that causes damage or disables a creature, makes a melee or ranged attack, or uses spell-like or supernatural abilities to harm other creatures.

The subject of this spell must have an alignment that opposes yours on at least one axis—evil if you are good, lawful if you are chaotic, and so on.

For example, a chaotic good cleric can place a mark of doom upon a lawful good, lawful evil, or neutral evil opponent.

A neutral caster can use this spell against any good, evil, lawful, or chaotic foe.

MARK OF JUDGMENT

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call upon your deity to mark your foes as enemies of the faith. Divine energy surges through the area, and for a brief moment a holy symbol of your deity shines from the forehead of each targeted creature.

You and your allies see the mark of judgment on a creature and know to strike it in preference over other unmarked targets.

Whenever a creature succeeds on a melee or ranged attack against any subject of a mark of judgment spell, that attacker heals 2 points of damage.

The targets of this spell must have an alignment that opposes yours on at least one axis—evil if you are good, lawful if you are chaotic, and so on.

For example, a lawful good cleric can place a mark of judgment upon a chaotic good, chaotic neutral, lawful evil, neutral evil, or chaotic evil opponent.

A neutral caster can use this spell against any good, evil, lawful, or chaotic foe.

PLAGUE

Necromancy [Evil]

Suddenly, one or more of the target creatures seem overcome by a dreadful malady.

The subjects contract a disease selected from the table below, which strikes immediately (no incubation period). The disease progresses rapidly; the subjects must attempt additional saves each round, instead of each day.

Use plague's DC for all saves.

See page 292 of the Dungeon Master's Guide for more information on these diseases.

Blinding sickness	1d4 Str*
Cackle fever	1d6 Wis
Filth fever	1d3 Dex, 1d3 Con
Mindfire	1d4 Int
Red ache	1d6 Str

Slimy doom	1d4 Con

*Each time a victim takes 2 or more points of Strength damage from blinding sickness, he or she must make another Fortitude save (using the plague spell's save DC) or be permanently blinded.

Saving Throw: Will half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A sparkling nimbus of green light appears around the creature.

As the light fades, the creature seems a shade larger and assumes a more animalistic, even feral countenance.

You imbue the subject with an aspect of the natural world.

The subject gains a +2 enhancement bonus to Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution.

Material Component: A bit of animal fur, feathers, or skin.

ANIMALISTIC POWER, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 7, druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like animalistic power, except that it affects multiple creature.

AS THE FROST

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

With a crystalline tinkling, your body transforms into a figure of ice and cold, your equipment melding into your new form.

Your skin becomes brilliant blue and transparent, with glimpses of liquid beneath.

Frost forms across your hands and arms, dripping down to form knifelike icicles.

Your breath hisses white in the bitterly cold air surrounding you.

Snow swirls about you as your presence freezes the air's moisture.

Ice crystals spread from your footprints.

Your creature type changes to outsider.

Unlike other outsiders, you can be brought back to life if you die in this form.

You gain the following qualities and abilities:

- Immunity to cold.
- Damage reduction 10/magic and piercing.
- At the beginning of your action, creatures within 15 feet of you take 2d6 points of cold damage per round.

A creature that takes damage from this effect must make a Fortitude save (DC 17 + your key ability modifier) or be slowed, as the slow spell, for the remaining duration of as the frost.

Spell resistance applies to this effect.

Material Component: A chunk of ice or crystal.

BALEFUL BLINK

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You cause the creature to wink in and out of existence erratically, much to its chagrin.

You curse one creature to a frustrating existence on the edge of the Ethereal Plane.

The subject shimmers between the Ethereal Plane and the Material Plane, has a 50% miss chance on any melee or ranged attacks (as if the target of the attack had total concealment), and there is a 50% chance that any spell she casts does not have an effect on the desired plane while she blinks between the planes.

Because the magic of the spell only causes the subject to blink when attacking or casting, attackers have no miss chance against her, and spells cast against her affect her normally.

Because the blinking is so rapid, she cannot attempt to blink through walls or move in the Ethereal Plane. The subject of a baleful blink spell can cast spells on itself with impunity; in this case, it has no miss chance because the target of its spell (itself) travels along with the spell. The subject can also target creatures on the Ethereal Plane, but still has a 50% chance of failure on attacks and spells. Spells with the force descriptor are unaffected by the effect of baleful blink.

BURNING RAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you imbue an ally with this spell, a nimbus of shimmering blue flame surrounds him.

He winces in pain as the flames scorch his flesh, but when the eldritch power flows into him, his muscles surge with might.

This spell imbues a creature with burning magical energy that enhances the subject's strength and endurance.

The searing energy also burns and injures the subject.

The subject of this spell gains a +1 bonus on attack rolls, a +2 bonus on damage rolls, and damage reduction 2/magic.

This spell's burning energy deals 4 points of fire damage to the subject at the start of each of its turns until the spell's duration expires or you dismiss the effect.

CALL OF STONE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A beam of sickly gray energy strikes the target of this spell.

He acquires an ashen tone to his skin.

With each passing moment, the grayish tone becomes deeper in color as the target transforms into a stone statue.

This spell slowly transforms a creature into an inanimate stone statue.

The target must make a Fortitude save each round for the duration of spell at the start of its turn or take a cumulative 10-foot penalty to speed and a -2 penalty to Dexterity.

If the target's speed drops to 0 feet, it cannot move.

If the target fails four or more saves, it permanently transforms into a statue as if affected by flesh to stone.

Any effect or spell that reverses flesh to stone also cures this condition.

CELERITY

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

As an immediate action, the creature wearing a crown of protection can discharge its magic to gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC or a +4 resistance bonus on saves for 1 round.

Level: Bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a word and a gesture, the sword in your hand leaps to life with a swooping salute.

This spell animates a melee weapon currently in your possession, causing it to fight your foes as you direct it. Once each round as a free action, you can direct the blade to attack an adjacent foe (a weapon with reach can attack a foe 10 feet away).

The weapon's bonus on attack rolls is equal to your caster level + your key ability modifier, plus any enhancement bonus the weapon might have.

It deals damage equal to the normal damage of the weapon, plus your key ability modifier and any enhancement bonus or other bonus on damage inherent in the weapon.

The weapon attacks once per round.

Despite the spell's name, it works on any melee weapon (not just blades).

While your weapon is dancing, it cannot make attacks of opportunity, and you are not considered armed with the weapon.

It remains in your space and accompanies you everywhere, whether you move by physical or magical means.

You temporarily imbue a weapon with elemental energy.

When you cast this spell, specify an energy type (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic).

This spell is a spell of that type, and the target weapon is sheathed in that energy.

If the attack is successful, it deals an extra 1d6 points of damage of the specified energy type.

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

The tentacles have 10-foot reach and are animate.

Each round as a free action, starting on the turn when you cast the spell, you can direct each tentacle to attack one opponent within reach.

The tentacles use your base attack bonus and Strength score, and each deals bludgeoning damage equal to 1d8 points + your Str modifier.

The tentacles threaten the area within their reach, and each can make one attack of opportunity per round.

The tentacles also grant you a +4 bonus on Climb checks.

The subject creature's feet (or whatever pass for its feet) become momentarily stuck to the floor.

The creature must stop moving, and cannot move farther in its current turn.

This spell has no effect on creatures that are not touching the ground (such as flying creatures), and the subject can still use a standard action (if it has one available in this round) to move by means of teleportation magic.

You can cast this spell even when it's not your turn; however, you must cast it before your opponent finishes its movement on its current turn to gain the benefit.

TRANSFERENCE

Universal

Level: Bard 1, Cleric 1, Druid 1, Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 10 ft.

Target: 10-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

Wisps of ethereal light rise off the targeted creatures, consolidate into glowing orbs, and then streak toward the spellcaster, fusing with their body.

This spell allows you to store a transfer of XP from one or more creatures (maximum five), but only for the purpose of constructing an agreed upon magic item.

The XP gained from other creatures through this spell is not counted toward attaining a new level.

Targeted creatures must agree to the focus component that will be used in creating the magic item before allowing this spell to be cast on them.

Once the spell is cast, targeted creatures control how much XP to transfer.

You cannot accept a transfer of more XP than is needed to construct the agreed upon magic item.

All the requirements for transferring XP, compensating for XP, and sharing XP costs apply to the casting of this spell.

If allowable changes are made that require more XP, you must provide that XP yourself or cast this spell again to store a transfer of more XP as needed.

If allowable changes are made that require less XP, the difference is returned to the targeted creatures in proportionate amounts (as per their original contributions). If you start making a magic item that is not allowed by even one of the targeted creatures, all the transferred XP is immediately returned to those creatures.

If you spend at least one day making the agreed upon magic item, the XP is consumed regardless of whether the magic item is completed or not.

If you start working on a new magic item after spending at least one day making the agreed upon magic item, the XP is consumed and lost (as per the normal rules for creating magic items).

Focus: The raw material of agreed upon magic item (for example, a cloak, sword, or wand).

POWER OF FAERÛN (3.5)

You can affect 10 cubic inches of metal—the equivalent of about 150 coins or 3 pounds—per level.

If you want to affect multiple objects, such as a chest full of coins, you only need to touch one of the objects, providing that all of the other objects to be affected are in contact with one another.

Material Component: A powdered gem of at least 5 gp in value sprinkled over the object(s).

RACES OF DESTINY (3.5)

ABJURATION

INSIGNIA OF ALARM

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 400 ft. + 40 ft./level spread, centered on you

Target: All wearers of special insignia within range

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell alerts all wearers of a specific insignia (see below) within range.

Such creatures hear a single mental “ping” (as the alarm spell, page 197 of the Player's Handbook) when this spell is cast.

This spell requires significant preparation.

Before using this spell you must forge specially crafted insignias.

These can be crafted in the form of amulets, badges, rings, or any similar object, but each one must bear the same logo, crest, or symbol.

Each insignia costs 10 gp.

Militias, guilds, or churches within a city use this spell to call all its members together.

Focus: A specially prepared insignia (see above).

INSIGNIA OF WARDING

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell works just like insignia of alarm except the insignia wearers also gain a +1 divine bonus to AC and on Fortitude saves.

URBAN SHIELD

Abjuration

Level: City 7

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

The city itself shields you from harm, leaning in to protect you with its walls, lampposts, and other structures.

You gain cover (+4 bonus to AC, +2 bonus on Reflex saves) against all attacks and spells.

At the same time, the city reshapes itself to accommodate your attacks.

Against your attacks and spells, enemies within the city never benefit from cover that would be gained from the walls, objects, or other parts of the city and its structures. You must be within a community no smaller than a small city to cast this spell.

Material Component: A chip of stone or brick.

CONJURATION

CITY STRIDE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Bard 6, City 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: You and touched objects or touched willing creatures

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

This spell instantly transports you from one community to a second designated community.

Each community must be at least as large as a small city (see page 137 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

The destination city may be as distant as 100 miles per caster level.

Interplanar travel is not possible.

You can bring along objects as long as their weight doesn't exceed your maximum load.

You may also bring along one additional willing Medium or smaller creature (carrying gear or objects up to its maximum load) or its equivalent (see below) per three caster levels.

A Large creature counts as two Medium creatures, a Huge creature counts as two Large creatures, and so forth.

All creatures to be transported must be in contact with one another, and at least one of those creatures must be in contact with you.

Only objects held or in use (attended) by another person receive saving throws and spell resistance.

You must have visited the destination city at some point in the past.

You do not have precise control over your arrival point; you appear at a randomly determined safe location within the borders of the city (not within a building).

Material Component: A chip of city stone or brick from the selected destination.

INSIGNIA OF HEALING

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Bard 3, cleric 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless); see text

This spell works just like insignia of alarm except the insignia wearers are instead healed by positive energy. The spell cures 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10) to all wearers of the insignia. Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell deals damage to them instead of curing their wounds. Any undead creature can apply spell resistance and attempt a Will save to take half damage.

UNSEEN SERVANT, MASS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One invisible, mindless, shapeless servant/level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions as unseen servant, except that it creates multiple servants.

It is most often used by arcane spellcasters to entertain large numbers of guests, or by adventuring spellcasters to gather up large treasure hoards in a short period of time.

Material Component: A ball of twine and wooden splinters.

DIVINATION

CHOOSE DESTINY

Divination

Level: Destiny 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You gain a limited ability to discern a successful path for your actions.

For the duration of the spell, any time you make an attack roll, skill check, ability check, or saving throw, you may roll twice and select which die roll to use.

COMMUNE WITH CITY

Divination

Level: City 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You become one with a community that you are in, attaining knowledge of the surrounding community. You instantly gain knowledge of as many as three facts from among the following subjects: the population of the community, the dominant race within the community and the percentage of the population it encompasses, any given race's percentage of the total population, the level of the highest-level character in a given class, the type and alignment of one of the community's power centers (if the community has more than one, roll randomly), a significant economic factor affecting trade within the city, or a major news item within the city (see Gather Information, page 74 of the Player's Handbook).

DISCERN BLOODLINE

Divination

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature per round

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The caster can instantly tell the race of the targeted individual, plus any inherited templates possessed by the target (such as celestial or half-dragon).

Each round that the caster remains concentrating he can determine the race and inherited templates of another target.

Material Component: A drop of blood.

LOCATE CITY

Divination

Level: Bard 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 10 miles/level

Area: 10 miles/level radius circle, centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

You sense the distance and direction to the nearest community of a minimum size designated by you at the time of casting.

For instance, you could choose to find the nearest community at least as large as a village, or you could choose to locate only the nearest metropolis.

This spell measures the distance to the “nearest” community as the minimum distance one would have to travel to reach the city without moving through solid objects.

Thus, a caster on the surface isn't likely to locate a subterranean city half a mile beneath his feet, even if the next closest community is 5 miles away overland.

OMEN OF PERIL

Divination

Level: Cleric 1, Destiny 1, druid 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

A brief supplication grants you a vision that hints at how dangerous the immediate future is likely to be.

Based on an assessment of the caster's immediate surroundings and likely path of travel, the caster receives one of three visions: safety, peril, or great danger.

The base chance for receiving an accurate reply is 70% + 1% per caster level, to a maximum of 90%; the DM makes the roll secretly.

If the omen of peril is successful, you receive one of three fleeting visions:

• Safety: The caster isn't in any immediate danger.

If he continues on his present course (or remains where he is if he's been stationary for some time before casting the spell), he'll face no significant monsters, traps, or challenges for the next hour or so.

• Peril: The caster will face challenges typical of an adventure: challenging but not overwhelming monsters, dangerous traps, and other hazards for the next hour or so.

• Great danger: The caster's very life is at grave risk. He will likely face powerful NPCs or deadly traps in the next hour.

If the roll fails, you receive one of the other two results, determined randomly by the DM, and you don't necessarily know you failed because the DM rolls secretly.

Choosing which vision is “correct” takes some educated guesswork on the part of the DM, who should assess the party's likely courses of action and what dangers they're likely to face.

The form that an omen of peril takes depends on whether the caster worships a specific deity, venerates nature as a druid, or simply upholds abstract principles.

A druid might see a white dove for safety, a dark cloud obscuring the sun for peril, and a forest fire for great danger.

A cleric of Fharlanghn might see a vision of a straight road for safety, a crossroads for peril, and a washed-out bridge for great danger.

Unlike the more powerful augury, an omen of peril doesn't respond to a specific question.

It only indicates the level of danger likely for the next hour, not what form the danger will take.

Focus: A set of marked sticks, bones, or similar tokens of at least 25 gp value.

SCHOLAR'S TOUCH

Divination

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: One book/round

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

With this spell you can touch a book or scroll and absorb the knowledge contained within as if you had just read it. This is equivalent to a solid reading but not deep study—the character does not gain perfect recall of the information, just whatever he would have gotten from reading it completely once.

If you can't read the language of the source, the spell has no effect.

This spell cannot be used to prepare spells or to cast magical scrolls, nor does it have any effect when reading a magical book (such as a tome of understanding).

Material Component: A scrap of parchment and a pinch of tinder.

Focus: A thin crystal disc.

ENCHANTMENT

CHARM PERSON, MASS

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like charm person, except that mass charm person affects a number of creatures whose combined HD do not exceed twice your level, or at least one creature regardless of HD.

If there are more potential targets than you can affect, you choose them one at a time until you choose a creature with too many HD.

INSIGNIA OF BLESSING

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell functions just like insignia of alarm except that the insignia wearers are also filled with courage.

Each insignia wearer gains a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls and on saving throws against fear effects.

PROUD ARROGANCE

Enchantment (Charm)

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell lets a group of creatures resist effects that convince them they should not be following their present course of action.

The creatures affected gain a +4 resistance bonus on saves against charm, compulsion, and fear effects.

The proud arrogance spell only functions for creatures of the same race as the caster.

In other words, a human wizard casting the spell can target only humans with it.

Material Component: A piece of polished brass.

EVOCATION

CITY LIGHTS

Evocation [Light]

Level: City 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You temporarily absorb all nearby artificial light and release it as a flare.

Any artificial light (including magical and mundane sources) flickers out momentarily, then a burst of light flares from you.

All creatures within the area (except you) are blinded for 1 round if they fail a Fortitude save; regardless of the saving throws success, all creatures in the area are dazzled for 1 minute.

Afterward, the lights return to normal.

Sightless creatures are unaffected.

The spell only functions if at least four active artificial light sources (torches, lanterns, light spells, and so forth) are within 60 feet of the caster.

The spell's name refers to its most common use (in well-lit city streets), but it can function in any area with sufficient lighting.

City lights counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level, such as darkness.

Material Component: A pinch of tinder.

STALWART PACT

Evocation

Level: Cleric 5, Destiny 5 Components; V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: Permanent until triggered, then 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell allows the target to enter a binding agreement with a deity, who provides a measure of protection when the need is dire.

Once this spell is cast, the pact remains dormant until the target is reduced to fewer than half of her full normal hit points.

The target immediately gains 5 temporary hit points per caster level, damage reduction 5/magic, and a +4 luck bonus on saving throws.

The hit points, damage reduction, and saving throw bonus disappear when the spell ends.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

ILLUSION

FRIENDLY FACE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You subtly change your appearance so that it seems particularly friendly to the viewer.

You gain a +5 circumstance bonus on Diplomacy and Gather Information checks made to influence or gain information from creatures with Intelligence scores of 3 or higher, as long as those creatures aren't already hostile toward you.

This spell does not alter your appearance in any significant way, and thus provides no bonus on Disguise checks.

PHANTOM GUARDIANS

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One illusory figure/level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the illusion of one or more Small or Medium figures of a chosen humanoid race.

Each figure is effectively a minor image, and can appear dressed in any way the caster chooses.

When the spell is cast, each figure is given a brief set of orders to follow for the spell's duration, such as "walk back and forth along that wall" or "stand by this gate".

The orders can be different for each figure.

These instructions can't be changed later.

The illusory figures can't speak or react to their surroundings—they are typically used to scare off would-be intruders (as the spell's name suggests).

Material Component: A piece of charcoal.

SHADOW GUARDIANS

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

As phantom guardians, except that the figures are partially real.

Each guardian has the statistics noted below (regardless of its actual size or appearance).

In addition to the brief orders given to each new shadow guardian, the caster can give each guardian a simple trigger that causes it to attack, such as "attack anyone approaching within 30 feet" or "attack anyone not wearing these colors".

The shadow guardians have no special visual acuity—invisibility, disguises, and the like can easily fool them.

The shadow guardians deal normal damage.

Against a creature that recognizes a shadow guardian as an illusion, it deals only 50% normal damage.

☛ Shadow Guardian: Medium construct; HD 4d8; hp 18; Init +1; Spd 30 ft.; AC 17, touch 17, flat-footed 15; Base Atk +2; Grp +4; Atk +4 melee (1d8+2, weapon); AL N; SV Fort +2, Ref +4, Will +4; Str 14, Dex 14, Con —, Int —, Wis 14, Cha 1.

WINDING ALLEYS

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, City 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The subject suddenly feels as if the walls of the city are closing in around him.

If the subject fails a Will save, he believes he is trapped in a maze of narrow city alleys that twist and turn in circles.

The subject remains in his current location, but is effectively stunned as long as the spell lasts.

Each round at the end of his turn, the subject may attempt a DC 15 Intelligence check to escape the maze and end the effect.

If the subject takes any damage, the spell immediately ends.

The spell must be cast in a community no smaller than a small town, otherwise it has no effect.

NECROMANCY

DELAY DEATH

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, Destiny 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject of this powerful spell is unable to die from hit point damage.

While under the protection of this spell, the normal limit of -9 hit points before a character dies is extended without limit.

A condition or spell that destroys enough of the subject's body to prohibit raise dead (such as a disintegrate effect) still kills the creature, as does death brought about by ability score damage or drain, level drain, or a death effect.

The spell does not prevent the subject from entering the dying state by dropping to -1 hit points.

It merely prevents death as a result of hit point loss.

If the subject has fewer than -9 hit points when the spell's duration expires, he or she dies instantly.

TRANSMUTATION

ANIMATE CITY

Transmutation

Level: City 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft.-radius emanation, centered on you

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The buildings and other structures of the city attack your enemies.

Every round on your turn, every enemy within the spell's area is subject to one melee attack as if from a Gargantuan animated object (slam +15 melee, 2d8+10 damage).

The animated city's attacks disregard cover and concealment (even invisibility is useless).

In addition, all enemies within the area of the spell move at half normal speed (regardless of their mode of movement).

Damage dealt to the animated city structures has no effect.

You may cast this spell only when within a community at least as large as a small city (see page 137 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

BESTOW CURSE, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Bard 6, cleric 7, Destiny 7, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The spellcaster places a curse on the creature touched, choosing one of the three following effects:

- One ability score is reduced to 1, or two ability scores take –6 penalties (minimum 1).
- –8 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, and skill checks.
- Each turn, the subject has a 25% chance to act normally; otherwise, he takes no action.

You may also invent your own curse, but it should be no more powerful than those described above, and the DM has final say on the curse's effect.

A greater curse cannot be dispelled, nor can it be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, or remove curse spell.

A miracle or wish spell removes the greater curse, but each greater curse also must have a single means of removing it with some deed that the spellcaster designates.

The deed must be something that the subject can accomplish within one year (assuming he undertakes it immediately).

For example, the deed might be “slay the dragon under Castle Bluecraft”, or “climb the tallest mountain in the world”.

The cursed victim can have help accomplishing the task.

CITY'S MIGHT

Transmutation

Level: City 8

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

You draw upon a city and its inhabitants for additional strength.

You gain an enhancement bonus to Strength and Constitution, as well as damage reduction, based on the size of the community you are in (see page 137 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Community Size	Str/Con Bonus	DR
Large town or smaller	+2	2/adamantine
Small city	+4	4/adamantine
Large city	+6	6/adamantine
Metropolis	+10	10/adamantine

If you are not within 100 feet of a community when the spell is cast, the spell has no effect.

If you move more than 100 feet from the community before the duration elapses, the spell's effect ends immediately.

For example, you could retain the effect while adventuring within the city's sewers, but heading to a dungeon a mile away would end the effect.

Material Component: A chip of city stone or brick.

ROOFTOP STRIDER

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 1, City 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

You can run across rooftops or similar uneven surfaces much more easily than normal.

You gain a +5 competence bonus on Balance and Jump checks.

You automatically succeed on all Jump checks to clear a horizontal distance of 5 feet or less.

You do not need to make Balance checks for running or charging across a sloped surface.

Material Component: A chip of roof tile.

SKYLINE RUNNER

Transmutation

Level: City 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

You can walk normally on any city surface as if it were level ground.

This includes perfectly vertical walls, glass windows, and even clothes-drying lines.

Your movement speed remains unchanged, even when walking straight up a wall.

WARP DESTINY

Transmutation

Level: Destiny 6
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 immediate action
Range: Personal
Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous
You reshape your personal fate to potentially avoid some tragic action, but the ripples caused in your destiny have unpleasant side effects for a brief period. After learning the result of a saving throw that you have rolled, you may cast this spell to reroll the save, but with an insight bonus equal to your caster level (maximum +20). Alternatively, if you are struck in combat you can apply the insight bonus to your AC against the attack (even if flat-footed); if your new AC exceeds the attack roll, the attack misses you. Casting this spell has a side effect: until the start of your next turn, you take a -4 penalty on all saving throws and to your AC.

RACES OF FAERÛN (3.0)

ABJURATION

STONE BODY

Abjuration
Level: Clr 6 (gnome), Sor/Wiz 6
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 minute/level (D)
As iron body, except as follows.
You gain damage reduction 20/+2.
You are vulnerable to all special attacks that affect stone golems.
You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Strength and a -4 penalty to Dexterity (to a minimum Dexterity score of 1).
Your speed is reduced to half normal.
Your weight increases by a factor of three.
Arcane Material Component: A small piece of stone that was once part of either a stone golem, a greater earth elemental, or a castle's outer wall.

CONJURATION

AERIAL SUMMONING DANCE

Conjuration (Summoning)
Level: Clr 4
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 3 rounds
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: One summoned Large air elemental
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
As summon monster VI, except as noted above and that casting the spell requires a flying dance by the caster and at least four aarakocra, all of whom are treated as participating in the spellcasting for the purpose of provoking attacks of opportunity and maintaining concentration.

SPORE CLOAK

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 6
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 minute/level
You become shrouded in a dense cloud of yellow mold spores. You can see through the cloud with ease and are not affected by it in any way, but it provides you one-half concealment (20% miss chance). The cloak of swirling yellow spores travels with you and does not leave a trail as you move. Anyone who passes through your square, or anyone whom you successfully overrun, bull rush, grapple, or who otherwise shares your area must make a Fortitude saving throw or suffer 1d6 points of temporary Constitution damage; another Fortitude saving throw is required 1 minute later to avoid taking 2d6 points of temporary Constitution damage. As long as the spore cloak is active, you are immune to fungal infestations such as the spores of brown or yellow mold and the rotting touch of violet fungi. If you fail a saving throw against a fire spell or effect, the spores are instantly burnt away and the spell ends. If you are in direct sunlight, the spell continues but the spores become inert until you reach shelter. Inert spores continue to provide one-half concealment but cannot infest others and do not provide protection from fungal attacks.

DIVINATION

COMMUNE WITH EARTH

Divination
Level: Clr 5, Drd 5 (dwarf)
As commune with nature, except you instantly gain knowledge of the ground, minerals, bodies of water, people, general animal population, burrowing or subterranean creatures, fungi, and so on. The spell is only effective in hills, mountains, or underground (including mines). The spell operates in a radius of one-half mile per level of the caster and to a depth of one-quarter mile per level.

DETECT METAL AND MINERALS

Divination
Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: 60 ft.
Area: Quarter-circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range
Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes/level (D)
Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can detect large accumulations of metals and other minerals, whether worked or unworked.

The spell will detect everything from a vein of iron ore to a pile of gold coins, even through solid stone or other barriers.

When you cast this spell, you must concentrate on at least 10 pounds of the metal or mineral you're searching for.

If an accumulation of that metal 10 pounds or larger is within the spell area, you will unerringly sense it (most coins are 50 to the pound).

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area:

1st Round: Presence or absence of the particular metal or mineral.

2nd Round: Approximate weight of the metal or mineral.

3rd Round: Distance and direction (measured in a straight line) to the metal or mineral.

As long as the spell is active, you can change the metal or mineral you're trying to detect by simply concentrating on a different sample (it takes a standard action to refocus on the new sample).

Thus you could search for gold, then switch to adamantite, then seek out sources of iron.

If you stop concentrating on a sample, the spell ends.

If your sample is unworked, you will detect only unworked accumulations of the metal, such as ore deposits and mineral veins.

You will only detect worked metal, such as gold coins or mithral armor, if your sample is likewise refined.

Note: Each round you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate any nonmagical solid barrier.

Material Component: A 10-pound sample of the metal or mineral to be detected.

ENCHANTMENT

VERRAKETH'S SHADOW CROWN

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Created by the legendary Shadowking of the Talfir, Verraketh's shadow crown cloaks the top of your head in a crown of magical shadow.

For the duration of this spell, your bardic music abilities tap the Shadow Weave instead of the Weave.

You receive a +4 competence bonus on Perform checks while under the effects of this spell.

The effects of this spell do not stack with the Shadow Weave Magic feat.

EVOCATION

LAWFUL SWORD

Evocation

Level: Pal 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell allows you to channel the power of law into your sword, or any weapon you choose.

The weapon acts as a +5 magic weapon and deals double damage against chaotic opponents.

It emits a magic circle against chaos (as the spell).

If the magic circle is broken before the spell's duration ends, the sword creates a new one on your turn as a free action.

The spell is automatically canceled 1 round after the weapon leaves your hand.

You cannot have more than one lawful sword at a time.

If this spell is cast on a magic weapon, the powers of the spell supersede any that the weapon normally has, rendering the normal enhancement bonus and powers of the weapon inoperative for the duration of the spell.

This spell is not cumulative with bless weapon or any other spell that might modify the weapon in any way.

This spell does not work on artifacts.

SHADOW CANOPY

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cylinder 25 ft. high with diameter 100 ft. + 50 ft./level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates or none (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes or no (object)

You create a field of shadow.

The outer surface of the field is impenetrable to normal vision and darkvision, granting 100% concealment to creatures and objects within the spell's area.

A creature under the effect of blacklight cannot see through the field.

The interior of the field casts a deep shadow on everything within, reducing normal vision to 5 feet; creatures with darkvision can see normally within the field.

Light, including sunlight, cannot penetrate the field.

Creatures that would normally be adversely affected by sunlight, such as shades and vampires, are able to function normally within the field.

You can cast the spell on a point in space, but the effect is stationary unless you cast it on a mobile object.

You can cast the spell on a creature, and the effect radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

Unattended objects and points in space do not get saving throws or benefit from spell resistance to resist this spell.

Shadow canopy counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower level.

Light spells of equal level have no effect on shadow canopy, but light spells of higher level counter or dispel shadow canopy.

Material Component: A handful of coal dust and the dried eyeball of any diurnal creature.

NECROMANCY

HANDFANG

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You create a fanged, biting mouth in the palm of your hand.

When you lay your hand upon a creature, the mouth deals 1d6 points of damage.

If the target makes a successful Reflex save, she suffers only half damage.

If the target fails her Reflex save, you may start a grapple as a free action without provoking an attack of opportunity.

If you establish a hold, the fanged mouth sinks its teeth into the target's flesh and continues to bite for an additional 1d6 points of damage each round until the hold is broken or the spell ends.

Additionally, the fanged mouth delivers venom to a grappled foe when you achieve a hold, dealing 1d6 points of temporary Constitution damage (initial and secondary).

A Fortitude save negates each instance of the poison damage.

MASS CONTAGION

Necromancy

Level: Clr 5, Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of whom can be more than 30 ft. apart

As contagion, except as noted above.

PLAGUE CARRIER

Necromancy

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Duration: See text

As contagion, except that the target is not stricken immediately: there is an incubation period.

During the incubation period the target can transmit the disease to others but shows no symptoms until his incubation period has ended.

TRANSMUTATION

BURROW

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Your hands sprout claws as hard as stone.

You can use these claws to burrow through earth, sand, clay, and gravel (but not solid rock), excavating with enough speed to move through the earth at a speed of 10 feet, much like a badger.

You can use the claws as weapons that deal 1d6 points of damage.

If your normal unarmed damage is greater than 1d6, the damage does not change.

You are considered armed while this spell is in effect.

Arcane Material Component: A tuft of fur from a burrowing animal, and a tiny replica of a shovel.

SHAPE METAL

Transmutation

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Metal or metal object touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As stone shape, except as noted above and that you affect metal instead of stone.

You may employ this spell in combat with a successful melee touch attack.

Shape metal successfully used in this way against a target's armor reduces the armor's protection by 1d6 points of Armor Class (armor such as studded leather that mostly made of nonmetal materials take half damage from this spell).

If used against a shield, weapon, or metallic creature, the spell deals 1d6 points of damage per 2 caster levels, bypassing the target's hardness (or damage reduction in the case of a creature).

Touching an unwilling creature or an item held by an unwilling creature requires a melee touch attack and provokes an attack of opportunity from the defender. You may ready an action to touch a creature, its armor, its shield, or its weapon when it attempts to strike you; this does not provoke an attack of opportunity (you are using the creature's movement to come into contact with it).

Arcane Material Component: A piece of wire, bent approximately into the desired shape and touched to the metal while the verbal component is uttered.

RACES OF STONE (3.5)

DIVINATION

EYE OF STONE

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You create an invisible magical sensor that can move through solid stone and send you visual information. This spell functions like the arcane eye spell (see page 200 of the Player's Handbook), except that you can move the sensor through stone.

TRANSMUTATION

EARTH GLIDE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You give the subject the ability to glide through earth and stone as easily as an earth elemental does.

The affected creature can glide through stone, dirt, or almost any other sort of earth except metal as easily as a fish swims through water.

Its burrowing leaves behind no tunnel or hole, nor does it create any ripple or other signs of its presence.

A move earth spell cast on an area containing the affected creature flings the creature back 30 feet and stuns the creature for 1 round unless it succeeds on a DC 15 Fortitude save.

EARTH HAMMER

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 5, paladin 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You infuse one melee weapon with the power of the earth. The base damage of the weapon improves by one step (as if the weapon were one size category larger).

Regardless of the weapon's normal material and damage type, the weapon deals bludgeoning damage and overcomes damage reduction as if it were made of adamantine.

If this spell is cast on a weapon made of a different special material (such as alchemical silver), the properties of that material are replaced with those of adamantine for the duration of the spell.

HARMONIZE

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

You blend magic and music seamlessly.

While this spell is in effect, starting a bardic music effect requires only a move action.

Concentrating on a bardic music effect that requires concentration still requires a standard action.

HARMONIZE, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

You blend magic and music seamlessly.

While this spell is in effect, starting a bardic music effect requires only a move action.

In addition, concentrating on a bardic music effect that requires concentration only requires a move action.

For example, this benefit means that you can maintain concentration on a bardic music effect and cast a spell, make an attack, or begin (or maintain) another bardic music effect.

STONE FIST

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Your fists turn into menacing, rocky lumps capable of inflicting deadly wounds.

While this spell is in effect, your unarmed attacks do not provoke attacks of opportunity, and they deal lethal bludgeoning damage.

The damage that your unarmed attacks deal increases as well, according to your size as given on the table below.

Size	Unarmed Damage	Size	Unarmed Damage
Fine	1d3	Large	3d6
Diminutive	1d4	Huge	4d6
Tiny	1d6	Gargantuan	6d6
Small	1d8	Colossal	8d6
Medium	2d6

If your unarmed strike already deals more damage than the indicated amount, you always use the higher value.

In addition, if you are a dwarf or a goliath under the effects of this spell, your unarmed attacks overcome damage reduction as if they were cold iron weapons.

WALK THE MOUNTAIN'S PATH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You infuse the subject with the strength and power of the earth, granting it great ability to climb, jump, and maneuver through mountain pathways.

While under the effect of this spell, a creature is not slowed by slopes (see page 89 of the Dungeon Master's Guide for information on terrain effects), gains a climb speed equal to its base land speed, and gains a +10 enhancement bonus on Jump checks and Balance checks.

Material Component: A small rock or pebble taken from the top of a mountain.

RACES OF THE DRAGON (3.5)

ABJURATION

PEACEFUL SERENITY OF IO

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2, druid 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature plus one additional creature/four levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You croon an ancient, wordless melody, and a sense of calm settles about those around you.

You fill the subject with the peacefulness and balance of Io's great Song, granting it a +4 morale bonus on Concentration checks, and saves against compulsions and fear effects for 10 minutes.

If the subject is under the influence of compulsion or fear effects when receiving the spell, those effects are suppressed for the duration of the spell.

CONJURATION

CREATE TRAP

Conjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One trap; see text

Duration: 12 hours

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: No

You throw a small gear, and when it hits the ground a trap springs up at the place you designate.

You create a CR 1 trap selected from the following list: basic arrow trap, fusillade of darts, scything blade trap, or spear trap (DMG 70–71).

You can locate the 5-foot-by-5-foot trigger in any square of your choice within the range of this spell.

Once create trap is cast, the trap is active and ready to be sprung, with every design feature installed.

Material Component: A miniature bronze gear.

GNOME BLIGHT

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cloud spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You blow a mixture of pollen and ground mandrake root from your palm toward the targeted area.

The granules are carried by a directed wind and explode into a cloud of yellow dust and seed.

Gnome blight creates a thick cloud of agonizingly itchy pollen similar to that created by fog cloud, except that the pollen is sickening.

Living creatures in the cloud become sickened.

This condition lasts as long as a creature is in the cloud and for 1d4+1 rounds after it leaves.

(Roll separately for each sickened individual).

Any creature that succeeds on its save but remains in the cloud must continue to save each round on your turn.

Creatures with sensitive olfactory senses (such as gnomes or creatures with the scent ability) take a –4 penalty on their saving throws.

Material Component: Flower pollen and ground mandrake root.

HOARD LIFE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Sorcerer 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Personal and touch

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

You clasp your hands around a gem.

A flash goes off, and then a feeling of deep weariness passes through you.

The gem now bears a spark of light within it.

Although true healing magic is usually the province of the divine, dragon sorcerers have devised an arcane method of creating a “reserve” of health for use in emergencies.

This spell siphons off hit points from the caster and temporarily stores them in a gem for later retrieval. When you cast this spell, you deal nonlethal damage equal to twice your caster level to yourself, and you become fatigued.

(If you are immune to nonlethal damage, this spell automatically fails).

At any point during the spell's duration, you can use a standard action while holding the gem to heal yourself of an amount of damage equal to the nonlethal damage the spell dealt to you.

This healing can't cause you to exceed your full normal hit points; any healing in excess of this amount is lost.

Triggering this effect ends the spell's duration (so you can't portion out the healing over multiple uses).

Triggering the healing does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

If the spell's duration elapses before you have triggered the healing, you gain no benefit from the spell.

Casting this spell a second time automatically ends the duration of any previous casting of the spell that you have performed.

Focus: A gem worth at least 50 gp.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, casts this spell at +1 caster level.

MANIFEST DRAGON HERITAGE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One wyvern

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a shuddering gasp, you dig your nails into your flesh as though pulling the skin from your bones.

A glistening wyvern appears before you.

This spell creates a wyvern that springs forth from your body.

It appears where you designate and acts immediately, on your turn.

It attacks your opponents to the best of its ability.

You must be able to speak Draconic to communicate with the wyvern, or have some form of telepathic communication that does not require a shared language.

If you can communicate with the wyvern, you can direct it not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

The conjured creature gains bonus hit points equal to twice your caster level.

If it is killed, the caster takes 2d6 points of damage.

MANIFEST DRAGON HERITAGE, GREATER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer 8

Effect: One dragon turtle

As manifest dragon heritage, except that you create a dragon turtle.

STICKY FLOOR

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-by-10-ft. square

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: No

For an instant, a translucent sheen that only you can see falls across the area you designate.

Creatures that are within or that enter the area of a sticky floor spell are immediately stuck in place and entangled. A successful Reflex save means the creature can move from its space but is still considered entangled as long as it remains in the area.

A creature stuck in place can break loose by using a standard action to make a DC 15 Strength check or Escape Artist check.

Each round at the beginning of your turn, any creature within the area must succeed on another Reflex save to avoid becoming stuck in place again.

The effect of this spell even extends through footwear, so merely removing your boots doesn't free you from the effect.

Creatures not in contact with the surface of the ground (such as flying, burrowing or incorporeal creatures) are unaffected by sticky floor.

Kobold sorcerers often use this spell to protect their lairs, and some theorize that they learned it from dragons.

Material Component: A drop of hardened tree sap, which must be eaten by the caster.

SUMMON ASPECT OF BAHAMUT

Conjuration (Summoning, Good)

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer 7/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One aspect of Bahamut

Duration: Concentration (maximum of 1 round/level) + 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You send a plea to Bahamut and are answered by the appearance of a long, sinuous dragon covered in silver-white scales that sparkle and gleam.

If you are a nongood spellcaster, you cannot cast this spell.

By casting this spell, you request Bahamut to send you one of his aspects.

Otherwise, the aspect appears where you designate and acts immediately, on your turn.

It attacks your opponents to the best of its ability.

If you can communicate with the aspect (it understands Celestial, Common, and Draconic), you can direct it not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions before the duration elapses.

More information on the aspect of Bahamut can be found on page 152 of this book.

Arcane Focus: A silver dragon scale.

WALL OF SCALES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Dragonhide wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square per level (S)

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You blow a dragon scale from your palm, and before you sprouts a wall of glittering scales, pulsing like living flesh.

You create a barrier of living dragonhide that is anchored to the ground or floor, or between two vertical surfaces.

A wall of scales is 1 inch thick per two caster levels and composed of up to one 5-foot square per level.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

You can create a wall of scales in almost any shape you desire, provided it is anchored in some fashion.

It need not be vertical, and you can shape it into a circular or dome-shaped enclosure about yourself or another creature.

The wall can be destroyed by normal means of dealing damage, as well as by disintegrate spells and so forth.

It is immune to acid and fire.

In addition, the wall of scales has damage reduction 5/magic. For every five caster levels above 5th, this damage reduction increases by 5, reaching a maximum of 20/magic at 20th level.

Each 5-foot square of wall has 10 hit points per inch of thickness.

A section of wall whose hit points are reduced to 0 is breached.

It is not possible to break a wall of scales with a Strength check.

It is possible, but difficult, to trap mobile opponents within or under a wall of scales, provided the wall is shaped so it can hold the creatures.

Creatures can avoid entrapment with successful Reflex saves.

Material Component: A pristine dragon scale.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

If it succeeds on that check, the creature immediately ends and escapes from any grapple or pin that it is currently subject to (even if it isn't the creature's turn).

Typically, this spell is used to free an ally from the grasp of a creature that is larger and/or stronger than the ally.

This spell was developed by dragonborn sorcerers to better face the threat of their enormous dragon enemies (many of which have the ability to snatch up smaller foes).

EVOCATION

GHOSTLY TAIL

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Effect: Evoked tail

Duration: 1 hour/level

A partially translucent, scaled tail uncoils from behind you, as if it had always been there, and slaps at foes that leave themselves open to attack.

You evoke a partially translucent, scaled tail that can attack foes that are vulnerable to attacks of opportunity.

If your foe takes an action that would provoke an attack of opportunity from you, even if you are not holding a melee weapon that would normally threaten your foe, your evoked dragon's tail attacks the target with a melee touch attack, dealing 2d6 points of damage on a successful hit.

You can only strike with a ghostly tail if you have not already taken your allowed number of attacks of opportunity in the round.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, deals an extra 1 point of damage per level with a ghostly tail (maximum 20 points).

LOCAL TREMOR

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft. line

Duration: 1 minute/level or until expended; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

The earth around your feet begins to ripple, and a directed shock wave of tectonic force is released that shoots through the ground.

Immediately upon completion of the casting of this spell and as often as once per round thereafter, you can cause the ground to shake along a 30-foot line.

You can produce a number of these tremors equal to your caster level (maximum five).

The tremors begin at your location and extend in the direction you indicate; any creature caught standing within the area must make a Reflex save or fall prone.

A spellcaster caught standing on one of these squares must make a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) or lose any spell that was being attempted.

You need not produce a tremor immediately upon finishing the casting of this spell.

You can perform other actions, even the casting of other spells, between producing new tremors.

Calling up a new tremor in any round after the spell has been cast requires a standard action (as you refocus your concentration on the spell).

TAIL SLAP

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Effect: Evoked tail

Duration: 1 round/level

A partially translucent, scaled tail uncoils from behind you and savagely slaps at your foe.

You evoke a dragon's tail that you can use to strike at a target once per round as a standard action (including the round in which you evoke it) that deals 1d6 points of damage per two levels (to a maximum of 10d6 points of damage) if you hit your foe with a melee touch attack.

In addition, if a subject of up to one size category larger than you fails a Strength check (DC equal to your caster level + 12) against your first attack, the driving force of the tail slap pushes your foe back 5 feet plus another 5 feet for every 5 points of damage your foe takes.

If a wall or other solid object prevents the subject from being pushed back, the subject instead slams into the object and takes an extra 2d6 points of damage from the impact (no save).

The movement of your foe caused by a tail slap does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

The chance to push your foe back is only gained on the attack you make in the round when you initially cast the spell.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, has a chance to push back a foe with every attack it makes during the spell's duration, instead of just the first attack made in the round when the spell is cast.

TAIL SWEEP

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 feet

Area: 10-foot-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A partially translucent, scaled tail uncoils from behind you and sweeps through the area, then vanishes as quickly as it appeared.

You evoke a dragon's tail that savagely sweeps through the space around you in a 10-foot radius, dealing 1d6 points of damage per level to all creatures that fail a Reflex saving throw and half that damage to creatures that succeed on the save.

Creatures that fail the Reflex save are also knocked prone.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, casts this spell at +1 caster level.

WINGS OF BOUNDING

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Immense, partially translucent wings unfurl from behind you for an instant just before you jump, helping you achieve incredible distance or height.

You evoke immense, partially translucent wings that grant you a +20 circumstance bonus on a Jump check you make in the same round when you cast the spell.

In addition, if you are intentionally jumping down from a height and you succeed on the DC 15 Jump check to do so, you take falling damage as if you had dropped 30 fewer feet than you actually did.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, gains an additional +1 bonus on the Jump check for every two caster levels (maximum +10).

WINGS OF COVER

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Immense, partially translucent wings unfurl from behind you and completely shield you from the sight of your enemies for a single heartbeat.

Your evoked wings grant cover against a specific attack. If your foe is about to attack you with a melee, ranged, spell, or psionic attack, you can cast this spell immediately, creating a hemispherical barrier (or a spherical barrier if you are not standing on solid ground) of force shaped like dragon wings.

The wings of force last just long enough to disrupt your foe's line of effect to you, providing you total cover against a single attack with a weapon, spell, or psionic power.

Your foe's first attack in this round cannot be made and is wasted against you, though he could decide to take any other action, including choosing to attack one of your allies instead, or take a full attack action that grants him additional melee attacks against you in this round (if your foe is of high enough level to have additional attacks).

The wings unfurl and then dissipate an instant later.

Your foe could choose to attack the area in which you have taken cover with an area attack (such as a fireball spell).

In this case, you gain a +8 bonus to AC (if applicable) and a +4 bonus on Reflex saves.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, can provide cover for one additional adjacent ally for every three caster levels.

WINGS OF FLURRY

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Immense, scaled wings unfurl from behind you and beat at nearby foes in a savage flurry before vanishing as quickly as they appeared.

You evoke flickering dragon's wings that strike at every target in range, dealing 1d6 points of damage per caster level to all designated targets within 30 feet that fail a Reflex saving throw and half that damage to creatures that succeed on the save.

Creatures that fail the Reflex save are also dazed for 1 round.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, casts this spell at +1 caster level.

WINGS OF SWIFT FLYING

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until underlying flight effect lapses; see text

Immense, partially translucent wings unfurl from behind you and begin to beat expertly against the air, accelerating your flight.

After you have already cast fly or overland flight or are enjoying some other temporary power or magical flight effect, you can cast wings of swift flying to increase your speed.

This spell evokes ghostly, translucent wings that add 30 feet to your fly speed granted by the underlying spell for that spell's duration.

When the underlying flight effect's duration elapses, the wings of swift flying spell also immediately ends.

Only characters who are already enjoying the effect of flight granted by a spell, power, or other temporary magical or psionic effect can make use of this spell.

Characters who are flying through some other means (such as natural wings of their own) gain no benefit from casting this spell.

Special: A dragonblooded character, or a character with the dragon type, adds an additional 10 feet to her fly speed when this spell is cast (total 40-foot bonus to fly speed).

ILLUSION

INSTANT DIVERSION

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal; see text

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

As you spin around, you produce residual images of yourself, each of which splits off from your body and moves away.

One or more illusory doubles of you appear, spinning off from your original location as you turn in a circle.

You create one double plus one for every four caster levels you have (minimum one, maximum five).

You are then free to go elsewhere while your doubles move away in a manner of your choosing.

The doubles move at your speed and can emit minor sounds such as footsteps or metal clanking, but they can only be made to move, withdraw, or run.

Any successful attack against an illusory double destroys it. A double's Armor Class is equal to 10 + your size modifier + your Dex modifier.

Figments seem to react normally to area spells (such as looking as though they are burned or dead after being hit by a fireball).

TRANSMUTATION

ESSENCE OF THE DRAGON

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer 2

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With the touch of your bloodied hand, your ally's appearance shifts.

Her eyes become slitted, and a shimmer of scales ghosts momentarily across her skin.

You confer the dragon type on the touched creature.

For the duration of the spell, that creature counts as a dragon for the purpose of spell effects, magic item wielder requirements, favored enemy bonuses, and other factors that depend on a creature's type.

The subject of the spell is immune to magic sleep and paralysis effects and ignores the frightful presence of dragons.

The recipient also receives darkvision out to 60 feet and low-light vision.

It is also now vulnerable to harmful effects that specify dragons, such as dragon bane weapons.

Material Component: A drop of blood from a dragon or dragon-descended creature.

GHOSTLY RELOAD

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Hand, light, or heavy crossbow

Duration: 1 hour or until expended; see text

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: No

Shimmering ghostly hands pull your crossbow's string back into the catch as you prepare to fire another bolt.

After the wielder shoots a projectile from the crossbow affected by this spell, the magic immediately cocks the crossbow so that the weapon can be loaded again.

Ghostly reload pulls the string of a hand crossbow or light crossbow into place once per caster level (maximum ten times at caster level 10th) and the string of a heavy crossbow into place once per two caster levels (maximum five times at caster level 10th).

Cumulative castings of ghostly reload do not stack.

This spell allows the crossbow's wielder to fire a light crossbow or heavy crossbow as a standard action and move in the same round.

If the character benefits from a high base attack bonus, the crossbow can be fired multiple times as a full attack, but only if ghostly reload can be applied to each attack in that round.

Focus: A crossbow.

MIGHTY WALLOP

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One bludgeoning melee weapon

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None (object)

Spell Resistance: No (object)

The head of the weapon you touch is suddenly encased in a filmy halo that only you can see, extending out from the weapon to a distance of several inches.

Mighty wallop increases the damage of a bludgeoning melee weapon by one size category without increasing the dimensions or weight of the weapon.

For a Small weapon, find the weapon's damage value on the table below and adjust it to the value in the right-hand column for the duration of the spell.

Original Damage	Adjusted Damage
1	1d2
1d2	1d3
1d3	1d4
1d4	1d6
1d6	1d8
1d8	1d10
1d10	1d12

For a Medium or larger weapon, refer to Table 2–2: Increasing Damage by Weapon Size (DMG 28).

Focus: A melee weapon.

MIGHTY WALLOP, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Duration: 1 hour/level

As mighty wallop, except that the bludgeoning melee weapon damage increases by one size category for every four caster levels you have, to a maximum of five size categories or up to an effective size of Colossal.

For a Small weapon that increases by more than one size category, begin by referring to the table in the mighty wallop spell description.

Once the weapon has been adjusted to an effective size of Medium, or if it was already a Medium or larger weapon, refer to Table 2–2: Increasing Damage by Weapon Size (DMG 28).

SENSE OF THE DRAGON

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As you finish casting the spell on yourself, a mild ringing arises inside your head that changes pitch depending on the locations of objects and creatures around you.

The subject gains augmented nonvisual senses out to a distance of 30 feet.

The subject does not need to make Spot or Listen checks to pinpoint the location of a creature within 30 feet, provided that it has line of effect to that creature.

Any opponent the subject cannot see still has total concealment against the recipient of this spell, and the subject still has the normal miss chance when attacking foes that have concealment.

Visibility still affects the movement of the subject, and the recipient of this spell is still denied its Dexterity bonus to Armor Class against attacks from creatures it cannot see.

Sense of the dragon can be made permanent with a permanency spell in regard to yourself for a cost of 1,500 XP.

Material Component: A worn dragon scale.

STEAL SIZE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid creature larger than you

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You throw the powdered iron toward your target, and the creature shrinks before your eyes—just as you simultaneously grow larger.

You eclipse, balance, or minimize the size advantage of another creature.

A target that fails a Fortitude save shrinks by one size category, halving its height, length, and width and dividing its weight by eight, as the reduce person spell, while you grow by one size category, doubling your height, length, and width and multiplying your weight by eight, as the enlarge person spell.

If the spell ends for either of you, the spell ends for both of you.

Material Component: A dash of powdered iron.

RACES OF THE WILD (3.5)

CONJURATION

SUMMON DEVOTED ROC

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Sky 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned roc

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons a particularly powerful roc. It appears where you designate (assuming the space is large enough to hold a Gargantuan creature) and acts immediately, on your turn.

You may command the roc telepathically as a free action, allowing you to direct its actions as you desire.

The roc has normal statistics for a creature of its kind (see page 215 of the Monster Manual), with the addition of a +5 enhancement bonus on its attack rolls, damage rolls, and saving throws.

Its natural weapons are treated as magic weapons for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

SUMMON DIRE HAWK

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Druid 2, Sky 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned dire hawk

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons a dire hawk (see page 189).

It appears where you designate and acts immediately, on your turn.

You may command the dire hawk telepathically as a free action, allowing you to direct its actions as you desire.

ILLUSION

WOODLAND VEIL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 feet apart

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell makes its subjects blend in with natural surroundings, hiding them and quieting the sounds they make.

All targets gain a +5 competence bonus on Hide and Move Silently checks while outdoors in a natural setting.

The spell has no effect in urban settings or indoors (including dungeons).

Those affected by this spell can see and hear each other and themselves as if unaffected by the spell.

Any affected creature moving more than 30 feet from another target loses the bonuses the spell provides.

TRANSMUTATION

AERIAL ALACRITY

Transmutation

Level: Sky 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You become quicker and more maneuverable while airborne.

Your fly speed increases by 30 feet, and your maneuverability when flying improves by one category, to a maximum of perfect (see page 20 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

While airborne, you gain a +1 dodge bonus to Armor Class and on Reflex saves.

DUST TO DUST

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A golden ray springs from your pointing finger.

You must make a successful ranged touch attack to hit your intended target.

A corpse or undead creature struck by the ray takes 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d8).

Any Large or smaller creature reduced to 0 or fewer hit points by this spell is disintegrated, leaving behind only a trace of fine dust.

The ray has no effect on objects that are not corpses; thus, the creature's equipment is unaffected.

A creature that makes a successful Fortitude takes half damage.

ENDURING FLIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Sky 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: See text

You can carry more weight aloft while flying, and your flight lasts longer than normal.

You can fly at normal speed when wearing medium armor or carrying up to a medium load.

If your ability to fly (whether natural or magical) has a limited duration, that duration is doubled.

This spell lasts as long as you remain airborne; it ends the moment you land.

MASTERY OF THE SKY

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Sky 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

The air around you shapes itself to assist you and interfere with your foes' attacks.

While airborne, you gain a +2 competence bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls.

Your maneuverability becomes perfect, and your movement (whether airborne or not) is unaffected by winds of less than hurricane strength (see page 95 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

The winds whipping around you (the equivalent of a windstorm) cause ranged weapon attacks made against you to automatically miss, and even siege weapons take a -4 penalty on attack rolls.

Melee attacks made against you by Huge or smaller creatures have a 50% miss chance.

Medium or smaller creatures cannot enter your space (such as to bull rush you or tumble through your space).

This spell has no effect if cast underwater or in an airless environment.

RAPTOR'S SIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, Sky 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Your visual acuity improves dramatically.

You gain a +5 competence bonus on Spot checks.

If you have 5 or more ranks in Spot, you take only half the normal range increment penalty for ranged attacks (-1 per range increment instead of -2).

RETURNING WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: One thrown weapon

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No (harmless)

The weapon targeted by this spell gains the ability to return to the hand of its thrower (as the returning special ability described on page 225 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

RULES COMPENDIUM (3.5)

TRANSMUTATION

ANIMAL SHAPES

Transmutation (Polymorph)

Level: Animal 7, druid 8, Moon 8, Scalykind 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Up to one willing creature per level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You transform up to one willing creature per caster level into an animal of your choice; the spell has no effect on unwilling creatures.

Use the alternate form special ability to determine each subject's new abilities, rather than the polymorph subschool.

The maximum Hit Dice of an assumed form is equal to the subject's HD or your caster level, whichever is lower, to a maximum of 20 HD at 20th level.

Recipients remain in the assumed form until the spell expires or until you dismiss it for all recipients.

An individual subject can choose to resume its natural form as a full-round action.

Doing so ends the spell for that subject.

BALEFUL POLYMORPH

Transmutation (Polymorph)

Level: Druid 5, Gluttony 5, hexblade 4, Limbo 5, sorcerer/wizard 5, wu jen 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates, Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You force the subject to assume the form of a Small or smaller animal of no more than 1 HD.

The subject takes on all the statistics and special abilities of an average member of the assumed form in place of its own except as follows.

- The target retains its alignment and personality, within the limits of the assumed form's ability scores.
- If the target has the shapechanger subtype, it retains that subtype.
- The target retains its hit points.
- The target is treated as having its normal Hit Dice for purpose of adjudicating effects based on HD, such as the sleep spell, though it uses the assumed form's base attack bonus, base save bonuses, and all other statistics derived from Hit Dice.

- The target retains the ability to understand but not to speak the languages it understood in its natural form. It can write in the languages it understands only if the assumed form is capable of writing in some manner, such as drawing in the dirt with a paw.

With those exceptions, the game statistics of the assumed form replace the target's normal ones.

The target loses all the special abilities it has in its natural form, including its class features.

All items worn or carried by the subject fall to the ground in the subject's space, even if they could be worn or carried by the assumed form.

If the assumed form would prove fatal to the creature—such as if you polymorphed a landbound target into a fish, or an airborne target into a toad—the subject gets a +4 bonus on the save.

If the subject remains in the assumed form for 24 consecutive hours, it must attempt a Will save.

If this save fails, the subject loses its ability to understand language, as well as all other memories of its previous form, and its Hit Dice and hit points change to match an average creature of its assumed form.

These abilities and statistics return to normal if the effect is later ended.

Incorporeal or gaseous creatures are immune to baleful polymorph.

A creature of the shapechanger subtype can revert to its natural form as a standard action, ending the spell's effect.

SHAPECHANGE

Transmutation (Polymorph)

Level: Animal 9, druid 9, Limbo 9, Scalykind 9, sorcerer/wizard 9, wu jen 9

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

This spell functions like polymorph, except that it enables you to assume the form of any single nonunique creature (of any type) from Fine to Colossal size.

The assumed form can't have more than your caster level in Hit Dice (to a maximum of 25 HD).

Unlike polymorph, this spell allows incorporeal or gaseous forms to be assumed.

You gain all extraordinary and supernatural abilities of the assumed form, but you lose your own supernatural abilities. You also gain the type of the assumed form in place of your own.

The assumed form doesn't disorient you.

Parts of your body or pieces of equipment that are separated from you don't revert to their natural forms.

You can become just about anything you're familiar with, changing form up to once each round as a free action.

The change can't take place during another action.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check.

Focus: A jade circlet worth at least 1,500 gp, which you must place on your head when casting the spell.

This focus melds into your assumed form.

SANDSTORM (3.5)

ABJURATION

ANTIFIRE SPHERE

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation from touched creature

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No; see text

You bring into being a mobile, spherical energy field that protects against fire.

All creatures within the area of the spell gain immunity to fire damage.

In addition, the sphere prevents the entrance of any creature with the fire subtype and hedges out such creatures that are in the area when the spell is cast.

You must overcome a creature's spell resistance to keep it at bay.

CLOAK OF SHADE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject is wrapped in an envelope of perfect shade.

Inside the cloak, the temperature is one band lower than the actual temperature (see Heat Dangers, page 12), but the spell has no effect on unearthly or hotter heat, nor does it offer any protection against fire damage.

The target is treated as though it is in shade, thereby protected from sunburn, able to begin recovering from sun glare, and able to begin healing nonlethal damage taken from exposure to heat.

Cloak of shade has no effect on light, daylight, sunburst, and similar magical light effects, and it offers no protection from damage that creatures vulnerable to sunlight might take from the sun.

DISPEL WATER

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, cleric 5, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 5, Thirst 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target or Area: See text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

You call on the power of the waste to counter and dismiss water creatures, spells, and effects. However, dispel water cannot counter an instantaneous spell or effect.

You choose to use dispel water in one of three ways: to dry up a body of water, to counter a water-based spell or effect, or to dismiss an extraplanar creature of the water subtype. Dry Up Water: This effect instantly destroys 200 cubic feet of water per level.

Remaining water rushes in to fill the void. Cast in a large body of water, such as an ocean, the destruction of 1,000 or more cubic feet of water produces a strong current that pulls boats and creatures down. Creatures caught in the current must make a DC 20 Swim check to avoid going under.

A creature that fails the Swim check is pulled down to a depth of 10 feet per caster level and must hold its breath or begin to drown (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide). The current might capsize vessels: The chance is 95% for a craft shorter than 20 feet long, 50% for one from 20 to 60 feet long, and 20% for one over 60 feet long.

Counterspell: Used in this way, dispel water targets a spellcaster and is cast as a counterspell (see page 170 of the Player's Handbook).

It only counters spells and spell-like abilities that have the water descriptor, or appear on the Water domain spell list, or clearly involve water (such as create food and water, sleet storm, and wall of ice).

To successfully counter the other spell, you must make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +20) against a DC equal to 11 + the spell's caster level.

Dismiss Water Creature: Cast in this way, dispel water targets a single extraplanar creature of the water subtype within range.

The creature can negate the effect with a successful Will save (and its spell resistance, if any, applies).

If it fails to save or resist the spell, the creature is forced back to its home plane.

FREEDOM OF BREATH

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, paladin 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can breathe freely in conditions that ordinarily inhibit respiration, such as sandstorms.

While freedom of breath is in effect, the subject does not make Constitution checks to avoid the onset of suffocation unless no breathable substance is available (such as for a human underwater or buried under sand).

The spell also protects against stench, such as those produced by a troglodyte or a stinking cloud spell.

The subject does not have to make saves or checks against nausea and similar effects from strong odors.

Freedom of breath also grants a +2 bonus on Fortitude saves and Constitution checks to resist poisonous vapors, such as those from a volcanic caldera or a cloudkill spell, for the duration of the spell.

Material Component: A sliver of mica.

HALO OF SAND

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level

Halo of sand creates a thin band of sand that swirls and twists around your body, helping to deflect incoming attacks.

The sand does not make it difficult for others to see you, but it grants a +1 deflection bonus to AC.

This deflection bonus increases by 1 for every three caster levels above 3rd, to a maximum of +4 at caster level 12th.

IMPEDE SUN'S BRILLIANCE

Abjuration

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, Summer 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cylinder (10-ft. radius, 20 ft. high)

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell reduces the sun's light to a comfortable glow in a stationary area, dropping the temperature by 20 degrees.

Creatures inside the effect gain a one-step improvement in protection against heat, are not subject to sunburn, and can begin to recover from sun glare and nonlethal damage due to heat (see Chapter 1).

Impede sun's brilliance has no effect on light, daylight, sunburst, and similar magical light effects, and it offers no protection from damage that creatures vulnerable to sunlight might take from the sun.

PROTECTION FROM DESSICATION

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, druid 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 3, Summer 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The warded creature gains temporary immunity to dehydration of any kind.

While protected by the spell, the subject cannot become dehydrated even if it takes dessication damage.

Once the spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage from dehydration per caster level (maximum 100 points), whether that damage is dessication damage or nonlethal damage, it is discharged.

SKIN OF THE CACTUS

Abjuration

Level: Druid 4, ranger 3, Summer 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell grants a living creature the toughness, resilience, and needles of a cactus.

The effect grants a +3 enhancement bonus to the creature's existing natural armor bonus.

This enhancement bonus increases to +4 at caster level 10th and to a maximum of +5 at caster level 13th.

In addition to the enhancement bonus, skin of the cactus causes the subject to grow needles from its skin, clothing, or armor.

Any creature grappling the subject or striking it with natural weapons takes 1d6 points of piercing damage from the needles.

Finally, the subject of this spell is protected from nonlethal damage due to dehydration.

Skin of the cactus provides the subject with a +4 bonus on saves to resist becoming dehydrated from heat or exposure, but it offers no protection against desiccation damage or spells that cause a target to become dehydrated.

The enhancement bonus provided by skin of the cactus stacks with the target's natural armor bonus, but not with other enhancement bonuses to natural armor.

A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0, much as a character wearing only normal clothing has an armor bonus of +0.

Material Component: A cactus spine.

SURELIFE

Abjuration

Level: Repose 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level

This spell protects you against some condition—such as being immersed in boiling oil or buried under an avalanche—that would ordinarily cause certain death.

You can protect yourself only against a natural occurrence or nonmagical condition, not against a spell or the action of a creature (such as the breath of a dragon or the swords of a group of bandits).

At the time of the casting, you must specify the condition against which you wish to protect yourself, and the spell is effective against only that condition.

Should you be subjected to that condition during the duration of the spell, you feel no discomfort and take no damage from the condition, though the spell does not protect any items you carry.

If you are still subject to the condition at the end of the spell's duration, you experience its full normal effects.

Material Component: An ointment of peach syrup and cinnabar.

TRANSCRIBE SYMBOL

Abjuration

Level: Rune 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Magic symbol touched

Duration: 10 minutes or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You place a protective spell upon your hand that allows you to touch an untriggered magic sigil (such as a glyph of warding or symbol of death), and even move it, without triggering it.

To pick up the symbol in this manner, you must make a successful caster level check (DC 20 + spell level).

Failure indicates that you trigger the magic sigil.

If the check is successful, you transfer the sigil to your hand.

You can then use a standard action to place it upon a surface of the sort on which it can normally be inscribed.

The transferred sigil works normally thereafter and retains its original triggering conditions, although its new location might make those conditions difficult or impossible to achieve.

You can maintain the magic sigil on your hand as long as you concentrate, up to the duration of the spell.

If your concentration lapses or the spell duration expires while the sigil is stored, it immediately triggers upon you (and only you), even if you would normally not meet its trigger conditions.

The effect has the same saving throw and spell resistance aspects as the original sigil did.

The only safe way to rid yourself of a stored sigil is to place it upon a suitable surface.

Focus: A piece of slate that is smooth on one side.

CONJURATION

ASHSTAR

Conjuration (Creation) [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft. level)

Effect: One ashstar; see text

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You create a magical construct called an ashstar.

It shoots from your hand and hovers in the air anywhere within the limit of the range.

Each round, you can move the ashstar anywhere within range by spending a move action to concentrate on the new position.

The ashstar gives off a reddish light, akin to the hazy light within a sandstorm, providing shadowy illumination in a 20-foot radius.

A creature you designate within 10 feet of the ashstar that takes damage from any source must make a Fortitude saving throw.

On a failed save, the damage is considered desiccation damage, and the victim becomes dehydrated. An ashstar can be attacked as if it were an object. It has hardness 10 and 20 hit points.

BLAST OF SAND

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Druid 4, Sand 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

Sand sprays from your outstretched palm with enough force to strip flesh from bone and scour surfaces.

The spell deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6).

Do not divide damage from sand scour by four when applying it to objects.

Material Component: A pinch of sand.

DESERT DIVERSION

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A gray ray flecked with red springs from your outstretched hand.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit the target.

A target struck is covered with a glittering red field that usurps some forms of planar travel.

Forms of travel taken over by desert diversion include dimension door, ethereal jaunt, etherealness, gate, greater teleport, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, teleport object, teleportation circle, and similar spells and spell-like abilities.

If the subject of desert diversion casts one of the above spells, he and those traveling with him (or anyone using the gate or teleportation circle) are diverted.

This spell can also be cast upon a gate or teleportation circle, thereafter diverting all who use the affected spell for the duration of desert diversion.

Subjects are diverted to a wasteland location, chosen by the caster or randomly determined.

Until desert diversion ends or is dispelled, the subjects of the spell cannot use any of the abovementioned spells to travel from the area.

If they try, the casting simply returns them to the same spot in the middle of the waste.

When the duration expires, the diversion ends, and subjects return to their point of origin.

FLASHFLOOD

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Cleric 8, druid 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped spread

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You create a roaring, frothing wall of water 10 feet high that erupts from where you stand and surges forward, sweeping away or smashing down nearly everything in its path.

The effect lasts for 1 round, although the water created by the spell does not disappear after 1 round, during which time creatures on the ground within the area cannot move or attack.

A spellcaster on the ground must make a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) to successfully cast a spell.

The force of the water and debris deals those caught in the area 1d6 points of nonlethal damage plus another 1d6 points per five caster levels (maximum 4d6).

Any creature or object that is not soundly secured is pushed violently to the outer edge of the area.

If this forces the creature or object into a solid surface, it takes 8d6 points of damage.

A creature holding onto a sturdy object can make a DC 20 Strength check to avoid being moved.

A creature not already holding onto such an object can make a DC 20 Reflex save or Swim check to grab one.

A creature of Huge size or larger can make a DC 30 Strength check to dig in its feet and simply withstand the oncoming wave.

A creature that fails any of these checks falls prone in addition to being swept away.

The specific effect and aftereffects of a flashflood spell on the environment depend on the nature of the terrain where it is cast.

When the spell is completed, a total volume of 100,000 cubic feet of water (400 5-foot squares, in a 120-ft. cone, 10 feet deep) is left behind.

This water behaves like ordinary water—draining away and leaving puddles in most cases, or perhaps forming a shallow lake or pond.

Unless the caster has taken care to create the flashflood in a cleared area, however, the water left behind is full of debris, dirt, and perhaps a few corpses.

Such water is unfit to drink.

Cave, Cavern, or Tunnel: The sudden surge of water knocks down support beams, but otherwise has no real effect, aside from filling the tunnel with water to a depth of 10 feet.

If the area is insufficient to support 100,000 cubic feet of water, the water level rises above 10 feet until the entire volume is filled, or it spills outward from the confines of the original 400 squares.

What happens is based on the layout of the area.

In the case of level terrain, the water simply drains away over the course of a minute or so, leaving pools in depressions from which it cannot drain.

When the ground in a tunnel is not level, the water might flood sections of the tunnel.

In such cases, determine whether the flooded area is sufficient to contain the entire volume of water created—and, if not, how deeply the water floods the next level up. Any creatures caught in water over their heads might drown.

For example, Miyish casts flashflood in the dungeon of a ruined castle.

The dungeon's total volume is only 40,000 cubic feet (160 squares, with a 10-foot ceiling).

The remaining 60,000 cubic feet of water has to go somewhere, so it rushes up and out the entrance to the dungeon.

Since the terrain above the dungeon is another level of the castle, and is basically watertight, the water collects up here.

The total volume of this level is 80,000 cubic feet (320 squares, with a 10-foot ceiling), leaving 20,000 cubic feet of air.

Since the water has nowhere to go but up, and it has gone as high as it can, the water on this level is 7-1/2 feet deep (60,000 cubic feet divided by 8,000—the square footage of 320 5-foot squares).

If Miyish can't swim or breathe water, he has made a grave tactical error by casting flashflood in an area too small to contain it.

Cliffs: Casting flashflood at the base of a cliff has no effect on the cliff.

Casting flashflood from the top of a cliff can force creatures and objects over the edge, so that they take falling damage.

Open Ground: Creatures on open ground are safest from the worst effects of flashflood.

They might be knocked prone by the force of the water, or even swept 120 feet (24 squares) away, but they are not in any particular danger of drowning or being crushed.

Structure(s): Any structure standing on open ground takes 60 points of damage, enough to collapse a typical wooden building, but not a structure built of stone, masonry, or reinforced masonry.

Hardness reduces this damage, but it isn't halved as damage dealt to objects normally is.

Any creature caught inside a collapsing structure takes 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage (Reflex DC 15 half).

The debris is swept away by the flashflood.

River, Lake, or Marsh: The river, lake, or marsh overflows its banks, though with rivers the effect is transitory.

In the case of lakes and marshes, determine how much the body of water overflows, given the 100,000 cubic feet of water added to it.

Only calculate this amount if the total surface area of the lake or marsh is less than 40,000 square feet—and even then, it's only academic unless it is important to determine whether something on the shore gets wet.

HABOOB

Conjuration (Creation) [Air, Earth]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, ranger 3, Sand 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Abrasive dust spreads in 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None or Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

A thick haze of swirling dust and sand swirls out from the point you designate.

The effect obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment.

Creatures farther away have total concealment.

Unprotected, nonmagical flames are automatically extinguished, and there is a 50% chance that protected flames will be snuffed.

In addition to obscuring sight, the swirling dust abrades any creature within it or attempting to move through it. Any creature passing through the haze takes 1d4 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d4), with no save allowed.

If you conjure haboob so that it appears where creatures are located, each creature takes damage as if passing through the haze.

Such creatures take half damage with a successful Reflex save, but if these creatures do not leave the affected area at their next opportunity, they take full damage from the abrading sands (no save) as if they had voluntarily entered the area.

Any creature that remains within the affected area for more than 1 round likewise takes damage automatically (no save).

A moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses the dust in 8 rounds; a strong wind (21+ mph) disperses it in 4 rounds.

This spell does not function underwater.

Material Component: A pinch of ash, dust, or sand.

HYDRATE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2, druid 2, paladin 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

This spell allows you to create moisture within the body of a living creature, healing damage from dehydration.

Hydrate heals 2d8 points +1 point per caster level (maximum +10) of dessication damage, removes all nonlethal damage from dehydration, and clears up any lingering effects of the dehydrated condition.

When cast on a creature of the fire subtype, hydrate deals damage instead of healing.

Such a creature can apply spell resistance and attempt a Will save to take half damage.

MEPHIT MOB

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Bard 6, druid 6, Thirst 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons 2d6 mephits of a kind you designate.

These are average mephits, as described in the Monster Manual and in Chapter 6 of this book.

The mephits appear where you choose and act immediately, on your turn.

They attack your opponents to the best of their ability.

If you can communicate with the mephits, you can direct them not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

You can dismiss them singly, or in groups, at any time. Summoned mephits cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can they use any teleportation or planar travel abilities.

Mephits cannot be summoned into an environment that cannot support them.

When you use a summoning spell to summon an air, earth, fire, or water creature, it is a spell of that type.

For example, mephit mob is an earth spell when you cast it to summon salt mephits.

SANDSTORM

Conjuration (Creation) [Air, Earth]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft./level

Area: 40 ft./level radius cylinder 40 ft. high

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You create a duststorm or sandstorm.

Sandstorm uses the parameters of control winds (see page 214 of the Player's Handbook), differing from that spell as shown above and as follows.

A spellcaster who knows sandstorm need not be in an area of exposed, sandy soil to create the effects described below—this spell conjures both sand and wind.

Duststorm Strength: For every three caster levels, you can increase or decrease wind strength by one level.

Wind speeds of less than severe are insufficient to carry suspended sand.

(Wind strength and related duststorm effects are briefly summarized below, with more detail found on page 16). Each round on your turn, creatures in the area must make Fortitude saves or suffer the effects of being in the wind, as well as the effects of suspended grit.

A severe wind (31+ mph) causes minor ship and building damage, and creates a duststorm with fine grains of sand that reduces visibility, smothers unprotected flames, and even chokes protected flames.

A windstorm (51+ mph) drives most flying creatures from the skies, uproots small trees, knocks down light wooden structures, tears off roofs, and endangers ships.

Wind of this speed creates a sandstorm that badly reduces visibility and deals 1d3 points of nonlethal damage each round to anyone caught out in the open.

Hurricane force winds (75+ mph) destroy wooden buildings, sometimes uproot even large trees, and cause most ships to founder.

Wind of this speed creates a flensing sandstorm that severely reduces visibility and deals 1d3 points of lethal damage each round to anyone caught out in the open.

A tornado (175+ mph) destroys all nonfortified buildings and often uproots large trees.

Tornado-force sandstorms are of the flensing variety.

SUMMON DESERT ALLY I

Conjuration [Summoning]

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One summoned creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell summons a dustform creature (see page 161).

It appears where you designate and acts immediately on your turn.

It attacks your opponents to the best of its ability.

If you can communicate with the creature, you can direct it not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

A summoned creature cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can it use any teleportation or planar travel abilities.

Creatures cannot be summoned into an environment that cannot support them.

This spell conjures one of the creatures from the 1st-level list on the accompanying Summon Desert Ally table.

You choose which kind of creature to summon, and you can change that choice each time you cast the spell.

All the creatures on the table are neutral unless otherwise noted.

WALL OF MAGMA

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth, Fire]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall of molten stone whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates a wall of thick magma that glows with a dull red heat.

It merges into adjoining rock surfaces, melting the rock at the point of connection to form a smooth bond.

The wall can seal off a passage or breach, but the intense heat causes flammable materials in contact with the wall of magma to catch fire instantly.

A wall of magma is 1 inch thick per four caster levels.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

You can shape a wall of magma into sheets and curves, but the molten wall cannot form domes or unsupported horizontal surfaces more than 5 feet across.

The wall need not be vertical but must rest upon a firm foundation; it must merge with and be solidly supported by existing stone.

The wall cannot hold complex forms such as crenellations.

It is possible (though difficult) to form the wall into a ring to enclose creatures, but they can avoid this with successful Reflex saves.

The wall sends forth waves of heat, dealing 2d6 points of fire damage to creatures within 10 feet and 1d6 points of fire damage to those past 10 feet but within 20 feet.

Unlike a wall of fire, both sides of a wall of magma radiate heat.

Since it is molten, the wall cannot be broken as such, but an object or creature could force its way through.

It costs 4 squares of movement to move through a square containing a wall of magma, but creatures of the earth subtype can pass through the wall at normal speed.

A wall of magma deals 5d6 points of fire damage +1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum +20) to creatures passing through it, the same amount each round to any creature within it, and 2d6 points of fire damage per round for 1d3 rounds after a creature leaves the area of the wall. It deals double damage to undead and creatures with the water subtype.

The wall can be destroyed normally by a disintegrate spell.

If any 5-foot section of the wall takes 40 points of cold damage or more in a round, that section hardens into normal stone (hardness 8, 15 hit points per inch of thickness), which can then be chipped or broken as normal (DC 20 Strength check, +2 per inch of thickness).

Do not divide cold damage by four, as normal for objects.

Casting create water on the surface of a wall of magma creates a cloud of steamy fog that fills a cube with the dimensions of the length of wall affected.

The fog dissipates after 10 minutes.

Only the surface of the stone hardens; the wall is not cooled completely.

Wall of magma can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

A permanent wall of magma that is chilled by cold damage stays solid for 10 minutes, then returns to its molten state.

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of pumice, obsidian, or other volcanic rock.

WALL OF SALT

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Salt wall whose area is up to one 5-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates a gleaming wall of salt crystal that merges into adjoining rock surfaces.

The wall can seal off a passage or breach, or be used to construct new walls.

A wall of salt is 1 inch thick per caster level.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

You can form a wall of salt into nearly any shape desired.

The wall need not be vertical, nor rest upon any firm foundation; however, it must merge with and be solidly supported by existing stone.

It can be used to bridge a chasm or as a ramp.

If such a span is more than 20 feet long, the wall must be arched and buttressed, reducing the spell's area by half.

For example, a 10th-level caster could create a salt span with a surface area of five 5-foot squares.

The wall can be crudely shaped to allow crenellations, battlements, and so forth, by likewise reducing the area.

The wall can be destroyed normally by a disintegrate spell or by chipping and breaking.

Each 5-foot square of the wall has 3 hit points per inch and hardness 2.

A section of wall whose hit points drop to 0 is breached.

If a creature tries to break through the wall with a single attack, the DC for the Strength check is 15 + 1 per inch of thickness.

Directing a constant blast of water at a wall of salt (for example, a geyser from a decanter of endless water) dissolves the mineral, dealing 10 points of damage per minute (which hardness does not reduce).

It is possible, but difficult, to trap mobile opponents within or under a wall of salt, provided the wall is shaped so it can hold the creatures.

Creatures can avoid entrapment with successful Reflex saves.

Arcane Material Component: A crystal of rock salt.

WALL OF SAND

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Sand wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a flat, vertical wall of churning sand to spring up.

The wall is 1 inch thick per caster level and covers up to a 10-foot square area per caster level.

You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness.

The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

No form of physical attack can harm a wall of sand directly, but each 10-foot section has 2 hit points per inch of thickness for determining whether an attack passes through it.

The wall reduces damage dealt by attacks that pass through it.

It essentially absorbs damage, so attacks must deal more damage than the wall has hit points to have any effect on a target on the other side of the wall of sand.

Breaches in the wall close immediately after the attack that made them passes through.

The sand blocks line of effect for any fire spell.

Creatures on the opposite side of the wall from an attack's origin have total concealment against that attack.

Moving through a wall of sand requires a Strength check (DC 10 + 1 per inch of thickness).

Those who fail must stop in the space from which they attempted to enter the wall.

Any creature that attempts to pass through a wall of sand must also make a Fortitude save or be blinded for 1d4+1 rounds.

(Creatures without eyes are not subject to this effect).

A creature passing through the roiling wall does not leave a usable breach for others.

All nonmagical flames are extinguished if carried through a wall of sand.

The spells control sand and move earth can breach and hold open a break in a wall of sand.

It is possible, but difficult, to trap mobile opponents within a wall of sand, provided the wall is shaped so it can hold the creatures.

Creatures can avoid entrapment with successful Reflex saves.

A wall of sand is treated like normal sand for the duration of the spell, so it can be affected by any spell or effect that affects sand, such as transmute sand to stone or transmute sand to glass.

The wall still lasts only for its normal duration, even if its consistency changes.

A wall of sand can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: A handful of sand.

WALL OF WATER

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall of water 1 ft. thick whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a vertical wall of swirling water to appear.

You can double the area of the wall's effect by halving its thickness.

Any creature attempting to pass through a square occupied by a wall of water must make a Swim check (DC 14 + your spellcasting ability modifier) or become trapped in the water, unable to move.

A creature trapped in this fashion can attempt another Swim check each round and might drown (see Drowning, page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

If you conjure the wall so that it appears where creatures are, each creature must make a Swim check or become trapped; those that succeed can choose on which side they wish to emerge from the water.

Any nonmagical flame is extinguished if carried through a wall of water.

Few forms of physical attack can harm a wall of water directly.

Thrown weapons are ineffective through it, and attacks with other ranged weapons are made with a -2 penalty for every 5 feet of wall through which they must pass (in addition to normal range penalties; minimum penalty -2).

A breach in the wall closes immediately after the attack that made it goes through.

The water blocks line of effect for any fire spell.

Creatures on one side of the wall have cover against those on the other side unless the creature making the attack is under the effect of freedom of movement.

If any 5-foot section of water takes 20 or more points of fire damage in a single round, that section evaporates into steamy fog that lasts for 1 minute.

If any 5-foot section of wall takes 20 or more points of cold damage in 1 round, that length freezes for 10 minutes.

Treat a frozen section as a wall of ice instead.

In either instance, do not divide damage by four, as is normal for objects.

Control water can open and hold open a breach in a wall of water, so long as that spell can affect enough of the wall.

A wall of water can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

Arcane Material Component: A vial of water.

DIVINATION

LOCATE WATER

Divination

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You sense the direction of a substantial body of water.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you search a particular area.

1st Round: Presence or absence of water.

2nd Round: Number of water sources in the area and the rough size of the largest one present.

3rd Round: The size (see below) and location of each source of water.

If a water source is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Size: For the purpose of this spell, the size categories of bodies of water are as follows.

Small: A small pond or pool (200 cubic feet or less) or a brook (5 feet across or smaller).

Medium: A large pond or small lake (up to 20,000 cubic feet) or a good-sized stream (up to 30 feet across).

Large: A large lake (up to 10 million cubic feet) or a broad river.

Vast: An ocean or an inland sea.

Creatures cannot be found by this spell.

The spell ignores small quantities of water, such as filled bottles and skins.

The spell reveals nothing about the quality of the water or how easy it is to reach.
The presence of fire or magma within the spell's area blocks it.
Arcane Focus: A forked hazel wand.

ENCHANTMENT

DESERT BINDING

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sand 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: See text (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like binding (see page 204 of the Player's Handbook), except as noted here.

Sand in the Hourglass: The subject assumes the form of a minute portion of sand, each grain of which looks like its head.

Held in a clear glass container, usually an hourglass, the subject remains aware of its surroundings (from multiple viewpoints) and can speak (from multiple, tiny mouths), but cannot leave the hourglass, attack, or use any other abilities.

The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while subject to sand in the hourglass, nor does it age.

Shattering the hourglass before the spell ends slays the bound creature, and its body remains sand (effectively destroyed).

The duration is one year per caster level, after which time the victim reforms into its original shape, destroying the hourglass.

Reduce the save DC by 4.

Wind in the Waste: The subject is transformed into a howling wind blowing across the waste.

The victim retains knowledge of its prior existence, but has no abilities other than to howl with the wind.

Because of its insubstantial nature, the subject is nearly impossible to define or specifically locate.

The DM might allow the victim to be found through special means or through powerful magic (such as limited wish).

The duration is one year per caster level, after which time the subject returns to its original shape in the location where it was first subjected to wind in the waste.

Reduce the save DC by 4.

Material Component: As the binding spell; see page 204 of the Player's Handbook.

SLEEP MOTE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 5-ft.-diameter sphere

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a dust devil composed of slumber-inducing particles.

It flies at a speed of 30 feet per round (perfect maneuverability), and you can concentrate on controlling its every movement or specify a simple program.

Directing the vortex's movement is a move action, while changing its programmed movement is a standard action.

If you don't move or program the vortex, it merely stays at rest, spinning and howling.

The vortex dissipates if it exceeds the spell's range.

If the sleep mote enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and causes a magical slumber to come upon any creature whose space it completely engulfs that fails a Will saving throw (thus, creatures larger than Medium size have immunity to a sleep mote).

Even on a successful Will saving throw, affected creatures are sleepy, and take a -2 penalty on all Wisdom, Intelligence, and Charisma checks for the spell's duration. Sleeping creatures are helpless.

Slapping or wounding awakens an affected creature, but normal noise does not.

Awakening a creature is a standard action (an application of the aid another action).

Sleep mote has no effect on unconscious creatures.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of fine sand and a live cricket.

SYMBOL OF THIRST

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 6, Thirst 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.; see text

Target: One symbol

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like symbol of death (see page 289 of the Player's Handbook), except that all creatures within 60 feet of a symbol of thirst are consumed by a terrible sense of thirst (as the tormenting thirst spell; see below) for 10 minutes per caster level.

Note: Magic traps, such as symbol of thirst, are hard to detect and disable.

A rogue (only) can use the Search skill to find a symbol of thirst and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 25 + spell level, or 32 for symbol of thirst.

Material Component: Mercury and phosphorus, plus powdered diamond and opal with a total value of at least 5,000 gp.

TORMENTING THIRST

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3, Thirst 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell fills the subject with a terrible sense of thirst. Desperate and unable to focus on any other goal, it must drink as deeply as it can.

The affected creature runs to the nearest body of water in sight, grabs and empties the closest container of water or liquor (even those carried by allies), or runs toward the nearest known source of water.

No matter how much the subject drinks, the sensation of thirst is not quenched.

If denied the opportunity to quench its thirst, an affected creature flies into a rage similar to the barbarian class feature (see page 25 of the Player's Handbook).

The subject attacks friend and foe alike in its quest to find water, though not necessarily with lethal force.

EVOCATION

BODY BLAZE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal; see text

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You are surrounded in flame, which does not harm you or your equipment.

When you move, you leave a vertical trail of flame in your wake.

The sheet of flame left behind you is up to 20 feet high, 2 inches wide, and lengthens as you move, exactly following the path you take across a horizontal surface—you leave no trail on vertical surfaces or through the air because the sheet of flame must be anchored on a horizontal surface.

The blazing wall deals 2d6 points of fire damage +1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum +20) to any creature passing through it.

If you pass through a square more than once, the damage dealt by the wall to creatures moving through that square does not increase.

You take no damage from your own blazing wall.

If you overrun a creature or otherwise manage to pass through its square, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall.

If any 5-foot length of wall takes 20 points of cold damage or more in 1 round, that section goes out.

Material Component: A small piece of phosphorus.

FLAYWIND BURST

Evocation [Air, Earth]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5, Sand 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell produces a brief windstorm (approximately 70 mph), filled with scouring, supernatural grit that literally strips flesh.

In addition to the possible effects of the wind, creatures within the area of a flaywind burst spell take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) from the scouring sands.

A successful Reflex save halves this damage.

A creature within the area of flaywind burst must make a Fortitude save or experience the effects of the wind's force.

A Small or smaller creature is knocked down and rolled 1d4×10 feet, taking 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per 10 feet.

If flying, a Small or smaller creature is blown back 2d6×10 feet and takes 2d6 points of nonlethal damage.

Medium creatures are knocked prone, or if flying are blown back 1d6×10 feet.

Large or Huge creatures are unable to move forward against the force of the blast, or if flying are blown back 1d6×5 feet.

Gargantuan or larger creatures can move normally within a flaywind burst.

Flaywind burst can't move a creature beyond its range.

In addition to the effects noted, flaywind burst can do anything else that a windstorm-force sandstorm would be expected to do, such as briefly obscure vision, heel over a boat, or blow gases and vapors to the limit of its area.

Material Component: A pinch of sand and the wing feather of a vulture.

PARBOIL

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You flash-heat the air in an area, boiling the blood and baking the brains of creatures caught inside.

The hot air deals 6d6 points of fire damage and 2d4 points of Intelligence damage.

Creatures that make successful Fortitude saves take half fire damage and no Intelligence damage.

Arcane Material Component: Water and a pinch of sulfur.

SCIMITAR OF SAND

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Scimitar of grinding sand

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A curved, 3-foot-long blade of sand springs forth from your hand, screaming and churning like a caged sandstorm.

Attacks with a scimitar of sand are melee touch attacks.

The blade deals 1d6 points of damage, +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

The blade is not solid, so your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage.
You can use a scimitar of sand without penalty even if you lack proficiency with a normal scimitar.
In addition to being dealt damage, a creature struck by your weapon must succeed on a Fortitude save or become dehydrated.
Arcane Material Component: A pinch of sand, salt, and iron filings.

SEARING EXPOSURE

Evocation [Fire, Light]
Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One living creature
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
You expose the target to the effect of hours of exposure to severe heat and the desert sun in only a moment. The subject must make a Fortitude saving throw or take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per caster level (maximum 15d4).
Nonlethal damage that exceeds the subject's hit points is considered lethal damage.
In addition, the subject is dazzled (as if by sun glare), dehydrated, and sunburned (see Chapter 1).
Protection from heat and exposure (such as keepcool salve or a hydration suit; see Chapter 4) helps mitigate these effects, providing the target with a +4 bonus on the Fortitude save.
A creature wearing heavy clothing or armor takes a -4 penalty on the Fortitude saving throw, but is not sunburned.
Those that succeed on their Fortitude saves take half damage, are dehydrated, and are dazzled for 1d4+1 rounds.
Arcane Material Component: A shard of thick glass.

STORM MOTE

Evocation [Air, Earth]
Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: Cylinder (5-ft. radius, 10 ft. high)
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Fortitude half
Spell Resistance: Yes
You create a whirling vortex of sand. It flies at speed of 60 feet per round (perfect maneuverability), and you can concentrate on controlling its every movement or specify a simple program. Directing the vortex's movement is a move action, while changing its programmed movement is a standard action. If you don't move or program the vortex, it merely stays at rest, spinning and howling.
The vortex dissipates if it exceeds the spell's range. If a storm mote enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 2d8 points of damage to the creature.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half. Those outside the vortex have concealment against those inside.
The vortex extinguishes all nonmagical flame.
Arcane Material Component: A pinch of sand.

NECROMANCY

ASHEN UNION

Necromancy
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One living creature
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Fortitude half and Fortitude partial; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
You drain all the moisture from the body of a living creature, dealing it 1d6 points of desiccation damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).
A creature that makes a successful Fortitude save takes half damage.
If the subject takes damage from the spell (whether its first save was successful or not) equal to more than half of its current hit points, it must make another Fortitude saving throw or die as its body expels all remaining fluid, leaving behind only a fragile husk that powders to ash at the least touch.
A victim's equipment is unaffected.
A creature that is affected but not slain by the spell is dehydrated (see page 15).
Material Component: A piece of dried fruit and a pinch of dust.

BLACK SAND

Necromancy [Darkness, Evil]
Level: Cleric 3, Sand 2
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: 20-ft.-radius spread
Duration: 1 min./level
Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
This spell creates an area of black sand (see page 20), infused with shadowstuff and negative energy. A region of black sand literally swallows light, emitting magical darkness rising to a height of 20 feet over the surface.
Creatures that come in contact with the sand take 1d4 points of damage per round from negative energy (no save). Those reduced to 0 hit points crumble into black sand themselves.
Creatures can make Reflex saves to avoid being caught in the area upon which the spell is first cast.
Only the surface of the sand is affected by the spell, so creatures burrowing beneath an area of black sand are unaffected unless they break its surface.

Creatures that do so immediately take damage from the spell.
Black sand can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

CHOKING SANDS

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You coat the target's lungs with dust and sand.

The target can cough up the sand by taking a full-round action and making a Fortitude save.

If it chooses not to do so, it must make Constitution checks to avoid suffocation (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Material Component: A tiny stuffed animal filled with sand.

DESICCATE

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2, Thirst 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You evaporate moisture from the body of a living creature, dealing it 1d6 points of dessication damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6) and making it dehydrated (see page 15).

A successful Fortitude save results in half damage and negates the dehydration.

A plant or elemental of the water subtype takes 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

An elemental of the earth subtype takes only 1d4 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d4).

Material Component: A pinch of dust.

DESICCATE, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6, Thirst 5

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like desiccate, except that it affects multiple creatures.

MUMMIFY

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You flash-dry a creature, killing it and preserving it in an instantaneous mummification process.

A creature that makes a successful Fortitude saving throw instead takes 6d6 points of dessication damage and is dehydrated.

If the damage kills the target, it is still mummified.

Arcane Material Component: A strip of salted cloth.

PARCHING TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1, Thirst 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature or creatures touched (up to one/level)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your hand glows with a dull, ruby light, and your touch drains moisture from the body of a living creature, dealing 1d6 points of dessication damage.

A plant or elemental of the water subtype instead takes 1d8 points of dessication damage.

A touched creature also takes 1 point of Constitution damage and is dehydrated unless it makes a successful Fortitude saving throw.

You can use this melee touch attack up to once per caster level.

SUNSTROKE

Necromancy

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1, Summer 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause a living creature to experience the effects of heatstroke.

The target takes 2d6 points of nonlethal damage.

If the target fails a Fortitude save, it immediately becomes fatigued, or exhausted if already fatigued.

Since this spell causes heatstroke, the damage and fatigue dealt can only be healed after that condition is treated properly (see page 13).

WITHER

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell drains moisture from the body of a living creature.

The target takes 1d6 points of desiccation damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) and is dehydrated (see page 15).

A creature that makes a successful Fortitude save takes half damage and is not dehydrated.

A plant or elemental of the water subtype instead takes 1d8 points of desiccation damage per caster level (maximum 15d8).

Material Component: A pinch of powdered bone.

TRANSMUTATION

AWAKEN SAND

Transmutation

Level: Druid 6, Sand 6

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 24 hours

Range: Touch

Target: 15-ft. area of sand touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You awaken a region of sand, or similar material, to humanlike sentience.

To succeed, you must make a DC 18 Will save.

The awakened sand is friendly toward you.

You have no special empathy or connection with sand you awaken, although it serves you in specific tasks or endeavors if you communicate your desire to it.

The sand creature you awaken has the same statistics as a Huge animated object with a base land speed of 40 feet and a burrow speed of 20 feet.

Unlike normal animated objects, awakened sand beings have the earth subtype, and their Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores are each 3d6.

A sand being has immunity to polymorphing.

The awakened sand can speak one language you know, plus one additional language that you know per point of Intelligence bonus (if any) it has.

A sand creature can engulf Large or smaller creatures as a standard action.

It cannot make a slam attack during a round in which it engulfs.

The sand creature merely has to move over the opponents, affecting as many as it can cover.

Opponents can make attacks of opportunity against the creature, but if they do so they are not entitled to a saving throw.

Those who do not attempt attacks of opportunity must succeed on a DC 19 Reflex save or be engulfed; on a success, they are pushed back or aside (opponent's choice) as the creature moves forward.

Engulfed opponents are considered grappled and are trapped within the sand creature's body.

The sand creature deals 1d6+3 points of damage to trapped opponents each round after the one in which it engulfed them.

Opponents that need to breathe risk suffocation (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

The save DC is Strength-based.

Sand creatures are amorphous and can do anything sand would be expected to do—hide perfectly atop other sand, form into dunes and drifts, and pour through small openings (although passing through an opening two size categories smaller than the creature takes a full-round action).

XP Cost: 500 XP.

CONTROL SAND

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Dust or sand in a volume of 10 ft./level wide by 10 ft./level long by 2 ft./level deep (S)

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Depending on the version you choose, control sand raises or lowers fine particles of material, such as dust or sand.

For either version, the caster can reduce one horizontal dimension by half and double the other horizontal dimension.

Lower Sand: This effect causes sand to reduce its depth by as much as 2 feet per caster level, to a minimum depth of 1 inch.

The dust and sand is lowered within a square-shaped depression whose sides are up to 10 feet long per caster level.

In extremely large and deep sand piles, such as a sand dune, the spell creates a pit that sweeps creatures downward (without dealing damage), putting them at risk and rendering them unable to leave by normal movement for the duration of the spell.

When cast on earth elementals, dust paraelementals, and other earth- or dust-based creatures, this spell acts as a slow spell (Will negates).

The spell has no effect on other creatures.

Raise Sand: This effect causes dust and sand to rise in height, just as the lower sand version causes it to lower.

Creatures and objects on top of the dust or sand are raised along with the top level of sand.

FLESH TO SALT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call the essence of salt forth in the target, dealing 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).

If the target takes more than half of its current hit points in damage from the spell, it must make a Fortitude saving throw or its body completely crystallizes.

The subject, but not its carried gear, turns into a mindless, inert statue.

If a statue resulting from this spell is broken or damaged, the subject has similar damage or deformities if ever returned to its original state.

The creature is not dead, but it does not seem to be alive either when viewed with spells such as deathwatch.

The transformed creature takes on the consistency of rock salt (hardness 2, 5 hp per inch of thickness).

Salt statues are extremely susceptible to dissolution by water—if exposed to flooding or heavy rain, they take damage that is not reduced by hardness.

A constant blast of water (for example, a geyser from a decanter of endless water) deals 10 points of damage per minute.

A steady rain deals 1 point of damage per minute.

A stone to flesh spell affects salt as if it were stone, returning an affected creature to its original state.

Material Component: A lump of rock salt.

FLESH TO SALT, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Target: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like flesh to salt, except that it affects multiple creatures.

You can transform one additional creature for every four caster levels, to a maximum of five creatures at 20th level.

FUSE SAND

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes per level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes normal sand to melt slightly and stick, forming a relatively soft and porous building material (see Dungeon Waste Terrains, page 31).

Any creature in the sand is allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area hardens.

Creatures that are unable to escape become trapped and must be broken out.

A creature trapped beneath the surface begins to suffocate (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

The fused sand has hardness 3 and 5 hp per inch of thickness, and a break DC of 22.

Material Component: A glass marble.

MANTLE OF THE FIERY SPIRIT

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 9, druid 8

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Mantle of the fiery spirit permanently grants the target the fire subtype.

Material Component: A burning lump of coal and a fire opal worth 5,000 gp.

XP Cost: 2,000 XP.

SANDFORM

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

This spell transforms your body, along with all equipment worn or carried, into living sand.

You take the form of an ooze, and you gain immunity to poison, sleep effects, paralysis, polymorphing, and stunning for the duration of the spell.

You are not subject to extra damage from critical hits or flanking.

Since, unlike an ooze, you are not mindless and retain your Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, you can still be affected by mind-affecting spells and abilities.

While in sandform, you don't experience the environmental effects of heat or dehydration, but you can still take fire or desiccation damage.

You become blind, but you gain blindsight out to 60 feet.

Your base attack bonus, base saves, alignment, level, class, hit points, type (and subtype), extraordinary abilities, spells, and spell-like abilities remain unchanged, but your supernatural abilities are suppressed in sandform.

You can cast spells for which you have components.

The new form can be disorienting.

Any time you are in a demanding situation (such as combat), you must succeed on a DC 19 Will save or take a –2 penalty on all attack rolls, saves, skill checks, and ability checks until the situation passes.

While in sandform, you have a base land speed of 20 feet.

You can pass through openings as small as a quarter of an inch in diameter, although passing through a space two or more size categories smaller than yours takes a full-round action.

You also gain a natural attack—an abrasive slam with a gritty pseudopod that grants 5 additional feet of reach.

A successful hit deals bludgeoning damage according to your size:

Caster Size	Slam Damage
Fine	—
Diminutive	1
Tiny	1d4
Small	1d6
Medium	1d8
Large	2d6
Huge	3d6
Gargantuan	4d6
Colossal	5d6

The number of times you can attack with this pseudopod each round is determined by your base attack bonus, and you apply $1-1/2$ times your Strength bonus on damage as though attacking with a two-handed weapon.

However, you cannot wield weapons while in sandform. In sandy terrain, you gain a burrow speed equal to your base land speed.

You also gain a +10 circumstance bonus on all Hide checks and you have concealment.

Upon death, you revert to your original form.

Material Component: A handful of sand taken from an elemental with the earth subtype.

SCALDING MUD

Transmutation [Earth, Fire]

Level: Druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Duration: Permanent; see text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions as transmute rock to mud (see page 295 of the Player's Handbook), except that it can be cast on sand, earth, and unworked, nonmagical rock (within the normal restrictions for transmute rock to mud), and the mud created is boiling hot.

Creatures mired in the hot mud take 5d6 points of fire damage per round, while those completely submerged in the sludge take 10d6 points of fire damage per round.

Creatures atop the mud (such as those standing on straw) take 1d6 points of fire damage each round from hot steam.

Damage from boiling mud continues for 1d3 rounds after exposure ceases, but this additional damage is only 1d6 points of fire damage per round.

The transmuted material cools after a period of 1 round per caster level.

The number of dice of damage the mud deals is halved each round after this duration expires.

The transmuted rock remains as mud even after it cools. It eventually dries into soil, as per transmute rock to mud.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of a mixture of clay, sulfur, and water.

SLIPSAND

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One 10-ft.-cube region of slipsand/level

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns an area of natural sand into a pit of deadly slipsand (see page 25).

Supernatural sandlike materials, such as black sand or slumber sand, are not affected by the spell.

A creature unable to free itself from the slipsand immediately sinks to the bottom and must hold its breath or begin to suffocate.

If slipsand is cast on a structure of fused sand or on a sandy foundation, it causes the affected part (or more) of the structure to collapse.

If the spell is cast on a building's material, slipsand spreads out to fill the available space, possibly burying those within its area.

The collapsing structure is also dangerous (see Cave-ins and Collapses, page 66 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Slipsand creates a magic trap that is difficult to detect.

A character must succeed on a Survival check (DC equals the save DC of the spell) to notice a pit of slipsand.

Running or charging characters have no chance to detect the trap.

A rogue can find the trap with a successful Search check, but cannot disable it.

The DC is 25 + spell level, or 29 for slipsand.

Material Component: A pinch of slipsand.

SOUL OF THE WASTE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You meld your body and possessions into an accumulation of sand, dust, ash, or even loose earth.

The area must be large enough to accommodate your body in all three dimensions.

When the casting is complete, you and not more than 100 pounds of nonliving gear merge with the sand.

While in the sand, you remain aware of the passage of time, can cast spells on yourself, and can still hear on the surface above you, but you cannot see or communicate.

Since the substance you inhabit is an accumulation of many particles, it is difficult to damage the material (and you).

If some creature were to shovel or otherwise remove sufficient sand from the area so that you no longer fit within it, you are expelled and take 5d6 points of damage.

Any time before the duration expires, you can step out of the sand (or become physical while still partially or wholly within the sand).

If the spell's duration expires or the effect is dispelled before you voluntarily exit, you are violently expelled and take 5d6 points of damage.

The following spells affect you if cast upon the sand you are occupying: Control sand and move earth merely move you along with their effects.

Transmute sand to glass or transmute sand to stone expels you and slays you instantly unless you make a DC 18 Fortitude save, in which case you are expelled and take 5d6 points of damage.

TRANSMUTE SAND TO GLASS

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell transforms a mass of normal sand of any depth into solid glass permanently.

Any creature in the sand is allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area is hardened to glass.

Creatures unable to escape the area become trapped and must be broken out.

A creature so caught can break free by making a Strength check to break the glass or by dealing damage to the glass. Glass has hardness 1, 1 hit point per inch of thickness, and a break DC of 12, +1 per inch of thickness.

A creature partially caught in the glass takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls and a -4 penalty to Dexterity, and is unable to move.

When breaking glass, a creature takes 1d6 points of damage each time it makes a successful Strength check to break free.

If broken free by others, the creature takes 1d6 points of damage from broken glass.

A creature trapped beneath the surface of the glass may begin to suffocate (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Arcane Material Component: A mixture of crushed glass and sand.

TRANSMUTE SAND TO STONE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell transforms a mass of sand of any depth into solid stone permanently.

Any creature in the sand is allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area is hardened to stone.

If the creature fails its save, it is entangled and can't move.

It is not considered helpless, however, and it can break out by damaging the stone.

Stone has hardness 8 and 15 hit points per inch of thickness.

The creature can also make a Strength check to break free.

The break DC is 20, +2 per inch of thickness of the stone.

Transmute sand to stone counters and dispels transmute stone to sand.

Arcane Material Component: Sand, dirt, and water.

TRANSMUTE STONE TO SAND

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to two 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns natural, uncut, or unworked stone of any sort into an equal volume of sand.

If the spell is cast upon a boulder, for example, the boulder collapses into a heap of sand.

Magical stone is not affected by this spell.

The depth of the sand created cannot exceed 10 feet.

If transmute stone to sand is cast upon the ceiling of a cavern or tunnel, the sand falls to the floor and scatters in a pile 5 feet deep.

For example, a 10th-level caster could convert twenty 10-foot cubes into sand.

Piling on the floor, this sand would cover an area of forty 10-foot squares to a depth of 5 feet.

The falling sand and the ensuing cave-in deal 8d6 points of bludgeoning damage to anyone caught directly beneath the area, or half damage to those who succeed on Reflex saves.

Castles and large stone buildings generally have immunity to this spell, since transmute stone to sand can't affect worked stone and doesn't reach deep enough to undermine such buildings' foundations.

However, small buildings or structures often rest upon foundations shallow enough to be damaged or even partially toppled by this spell.

The sand remains until a successful dispel magic or transmute sand to stone spell restores its substance—though not necessarily its form.

Arcane Material Component: Sandstone and granite.

UNEARTHLY HEAT

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5, Summer 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your touch raises the effective body temperature of the target as though it were exposed to unearthly heat.

Each round, the subject takes 1d6 points of lethal damage and 1d4 points of nonlethal damage.

A creature can make a Fortitude save each round for the spell's duration to negate the damage.

A creature that takes damage from the spell is fatigued (or exhausted if it is already fatigued).

Partially protected creatures can reduce the effects and make Fortitude saves to avoid damage and fatigue each round (see Protection against Heat, page 14).

A creature wearing heavy clothing or armor takes a -4 penalty on its save.

VITRIFY

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Sand 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to one 10-ft. cube/5 levels (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

This spell transforms normal sand of any depth into crude glass.

The sand is instantly heated to the melting point and then slowly hardens in its new form.

Objects on or in the sand sink into the hot glass.

A creature is allowed a Reflex save to escape before the area is changed.

A creature that fails its save and that is unable to levitate, fly, or otherwise free itself sinks partway into the molten glass, reducing its speed to 5 feet and giving it a -2 penalty on attack rolls and to AC.

Creatures of the earth subtype can move only 10 feet per round slower in molten glass.

If a creature is only partially in the area (such as a Large or larger creature on the edge of the effect), it still takes full damage, but its speed is reduced only by half (instead of to 5 feet).

A creature caught in molten glass takes 10d6 points of fire damage on the first round.

The transmuted material cools over a period of 10 rounds. Each round, the number of dice of damage the cooling glass deals is reduced by one, until it deals no damage.

The glass is solid enough to trap creatures by the sixth round.

Creatures unable to escape the glass before it hardens become trapped and must be broken out.

A creature so caught can break free by making a Strength check to break the glass or by dealing damage to the glass. Glass has hardness 1, 1 hit point per inch of thickness, and a break DC of 12, +1 per inch of thickness.

A creature partially caught in the glass takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls, a -4 penalty to Dexterity, and is unable to move.

When breaking glass, a creature takes 1d6 points of damage each time it makes a successful Strength check to break free.

If broken free by others, the creature takes 1d6 points of damage from broken glass.

A creature trapped beneath the surface of the glass might begin to suffocate (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Arcane Material Component: A small glass marble.

WASTE STRIDER

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, Sand 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/level

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject can move through desert environments without hindrance, ignoring movement penalties and penalties on skill checks for all types of desert and waste terrain.

This spell does not grant a subject immunity to other ill effects of waste environments, such as heat and sun.

WHISPERING SAND

Transmutation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target: One creature/level

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Sand, ash, or dust serves as a conduit for your conversation with other creatures in far-removed locales.

You fix in your mind the identity of the creatures with whom you wish to communicate (you must know, have met, or know the name of the targets), and then speak.

You know immediately which of the targets can respond, if any—if the targets possess the appropriate sandy focus (see below), or if the targets are located in areas of sand, dust, or ash, the spell functions; if not, it immediately ends.

Barriers and distance are not a factor, as long as both you and the targets have the appropriate focus and are on the same plane.

If contact is achieved, the sand whispers your messages back and forth for the duration of the spell, no matter your distance from each other, gleaning a message from a sound akin to wind on sand.

The spell does not transcend language barriers.

Focus: At least 1 pound of sand, dust, or ash.

SAVAGE SPECIES (3.0)

ABJURATION

COUNTERMOON

Abjuration

Level: Drd 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One lycanthrope

Duration: 12 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (D)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell stops a lycanthrope from changing form, preventing both voluntary shapechanging via the alternate form ability and involuntary shapechanging because of lycanthropy.

The subject retains whatever form he or she had when the spell was cast for the duration; even death does not cause reversion to normal form until the spell ends.

Natural lycanthropes gain a +4 bonus on the saving throw against this spell.

Material Component: A hair, scale, or other cast-off item from the creature to be affected.

DAWN

Abjuration

Level: Drd 0, Rgr 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: All creatures within a 15-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

All sleeping creatures in the affected area awaken.

Those who are unconscious because of subdual damage wake up and become staggered (see Subdual Damage in Chapter 8 of the Player's Handbook).

This spell does not affect dying creatures.

DISSONANT CHANT

Abjuration [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 100-foot radius emanation

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a distracting and discordant chant.

Affected creatures that attempt spellcasting or other activities that require concentration must make Concentration checks (DC 18 + Int or Cha modifier, for wizards or sorcerers respectively) to succeed.

Activities that already require Concentration checks, such as casting defensively, have their DC increased by the save DC of this spell -10.

For example, this spell cast by a wizard with 14 Intelligence would have a DC of 14; a cleric trying to cast spiritual weapon within the area would have to succeed on a Concentration check against DC 21 (15 + 2 for spiritual weapon spell level + 14 for dissonant chant save DC - 10 = 21). Creatures within the area gain a bonus on saving throws against language-dependent effects equal to this spell's DC -10.

While this spell does not allow a saving throw, the save DC for the spell is calculated normally (10 + spell level + Int or Cha modifier) to determine the modifier to the Concentration checks of those within the spell's area.

HOLY STAR

Abjuration

Level: Clr 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Effect: Protective star of energy

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You create a glowing mote of energy that stays near your shoulder, providing light equal to a candle.

It has three functions, and you can designate which function to activate as a free action on your turn.

Spell Turning: The holy star can turn 1d4+3 spell levels as the spell turning spell.

Any spell levels turned are gone for the remainder of the spell (the holy star does not recover these spent levels every time you choose this function).

If all spell levels are expended, this function no longer works, but the other functions still do.

Cover: The holy star gives you a +10 cover bonus to Armor Class without affecting your actions.

Fire Bolt: The holy star lashes out with a beam of energy as a ranged touch attack against a creature up to 90 feet away, dealing fire damage equal to 1d4 +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

MAJOR RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Drd 2, Pal 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You imbue the subject with a strong magical energy that protects her from harm, granting a +3 resistance bonus on saves.

Arcane Material Component: A miniature cloak of fine cloth.

MAW OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaotic, Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (see text)

You create a yawning area of roiling purple-red energy resembling a great mouth.

This field of energy has the following effects upon anything that touches or enters it.

First, all creatures except you take 1 point of damage per caster level.

Spell resistance applies to the damage (but not the other effects of the spell).

Those affected by the spell make a Will saving throw every round.

A successful saving throw halves the damage in that round. Second, the chaotic energy makes it difficult to concentrate.

Any activity that involves concentration (such as casting a spell or using a spell-like ability) requires a Concentration check (DC 25 + spell level) to succeed.

Creatures with the chaotic subtype are unaffected by this spell.

Material Component: A jawbone with teeth.

REJECTION

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

As repulsion, except as noted above.

SUPERIOR RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 5, Clr 5, Drd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You imbue the subject with a powerful magical energy that protects him from harm, granting a +6 resistance bonus on saves.

Arcane Material Component: A miniature cloak of fine cloth.

CONJURATION

BRIDGE OF SOUND

Conjuration (Creation) [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One bridge of sound 5 ft. wide, 1 in. thick, and up to 10 ft./level long

Duration: Concentration plus 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a ribbonlike, weightless, unbreakable, invisible bridge of sound.

The bridge must be anchored to solid objects at both ends, but otherwise can be at any angle.

Like a wall of force, it must be continuous and unbroken when formed.

It is typically used to cross a chasm or a hazardous space.

Creatures can move on the bridge of sound without penalty, since it is no more slippery than a typical dungeon floor.

It is only a physical barrier to solid objects and has no effect on spells, line of sight, gaze attacks, ethereal creatures, or incorporeal creatures and objects.

The bridge of sound can support a maximum of 200 pounds per caster level.

Creatures that cause the total weight on the bridge of sound to exceed this limit sink through the bridge as if it weren't there.

A bridge of sound is temporarily negated within the area of a silence spell, causing anything on it to fall.

If the silence effect ends or is dispelled before the bridge's duration expires, the bridge is once again whole.

CRAWLING DARKNESS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You bring into being a shroud of dark, writhing tentacles around your body.

The tentacles do not interfere with your movement or spellcasting, but they provide you one-half concealment (20% miss chance) and totally hide your features.

You get a +4 competence bonus on grapple checks, Climb checks, and Escape Artist checks.

Crawling darkness automatically protects you with a feather fall effect if you ever fall more than 3 feet and allows you to use water walk at will.

INKY CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cloud that spreads underwater in a 30-ft. radius, centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The inky cloud created by this spell billows out from your location.

The cloud obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has one-half concealment (attacks have a 20% miss chance).

Creatures farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance, and the attacker can't use sight to locate the target).

A moderate current (11+ mph) disperses the cloud in 4 rounds; a strong current (21+ mph) disperses the cloud in 1 round.

The spell functions only underwater.

Material Component: A small vial containing the ink of a squid or octopus.

LAOZED'S BREATH

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

SPIDER PLAGUE

Conjuration (Summoning) (see text)

Level: Clr 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1d4+1 summoned creatures

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

They attack your opponents to the best of their ability.

If you can communicate with the spiders, you can direct them not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

VILE DEATH

Conjuration (Calling) [Evil]

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: One corporeal undead creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You summon the spirit of a fiend from the depths of Hell or the Abyss and bind it into the body of a corporeal undead creature.

Both the undead creature and the fiend get a Will saving throw to negate the effects of vile death.

Some fiends may voluntarily fail the save if you swear to dismiss the effect after a certain task or an amount of time.

Similarly, some undead may voluntarily fail the save in order to gain the fiend's power, even temporarily.

Binding the fiend applies the fiendish template from the Monster Manual to the undead creature.

The resulting creature is independent of you, and may act on its own, and its initial attitude toward you is indifferent.

Arcane Material Component: A bit of brimstone.

VIPERGOUT

Conjuration (Summoning) (see text)

EVOCATION

BLOOD WIND

Evocation

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 caster levels)

Target: A single creature with Intelligence of 4 or higher

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject may take a full attack action to use one of its natural weapons as if it were a thrown weapon with a 20-foot range increment.

The subject may do so every round while the spell is in effect.

The subject gestures with the natural weapon as if making a melee attack.

The effect of this attack always emanates from the subject's location.

The attack does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

The subject uses its highest melee attack bonus, and deals damage normally if it hits.

All normal modifiers to ranged combat apply.

If the subject has more than one natural weapon, it may choose which weapon to use during each round the spell is in effect.

BUOYANT LIFTING

Evocation

Level: Drd 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One willing swimming or floating creature or object (total weight up to 200 lb./level)

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D) (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You command the water supporting or surrounding a swimming or floating creature or object to rise and hold the creature above the surface of the water.

An object so lifted may contain creatures or other objects (for example, a boat).

The creature must be willing to be lifted in this manner, and an object must be unattended or possessed by a willing creature.

The spell causes a smooth wave of water to rise under the subject and hold it 20 feet above the rest of the water's surface.

If obstructions prevent the subject from being raised that high (such as being in a cave with a low ceiling), the wave lifts the subject until it touches the obstruction.

The subject is otherwise resting at the top of this wave (rescuing it from drowning if it was a sinking air-breather) and can swim away under its own power or be moved by others (such as with a rope).

If the subject is removed from the wave, it collapses gently and the spell ends.

CACOPHONIC BURST

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause a burst of low, discordant noise to erupt at the chosen location.

It deals 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to all creatures within the area.

Cacophonic burst cannot penetrate the area of a silence spell.

HAILSTONES

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One frigid globe/five levels

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create frigid globes that strike your enemies.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack roll to hit.

The hailstone deals 5d6 points of cold damage (Reflex save half).

If you create extra frigid globes (at 10th level or higher, to a maximum of four globes at 20th level), all globes must be aimed at enemies that are all within 30 feet of each other.

Material Component: A handful of crystal globes.

SONOROUS HUM

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 2, Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

After you cast this spell, the next spell you cast within the duration that requires concentration to maintain is maintained for you until the sonorous hum spell expires.

This effect allows you to cast other spells, even another spell that also requires concentration.

If the spell maintained by the sonorous hum has a shorter duration than that of this spell, the maintained spell expires as it normally would and you gain no further benefits from this casting of sonorous hum.

The sound created by the spell is as loud as a person in armor walking at a slow pace trying not to make noise (normally a DC 5 Listen check to detect).

You may end the sonorous hum as a free action.

For example, you could cast this spell, then cast detect thoughts, and this spell maintains the concentration on detect thoughts while you cast discern lies and maintain concentration on that spell yourself.

You control all aspects of both spells, so you could change the orientation of the detect thoughts effect and select a different target for your discern lies spell in the same round.

SOUND LANCE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sound lance causes a projectile of intense sonic energy sound to leap unerringly from you to a target within range.

The sound does 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level, to a maximum of 10d6.

The sound lance strikes unerringly, unless the target has total cover or total concealment.

A sound lance cannot penetrate the area of a silence spell.

WALL OF LIMBS

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Wall of whirling limbs up to 20 ft. long/caster level, or a ring of whirling limbs with a radius of up to 5 ft./two caster levels, either form 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half or Reflex negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

An immobile, vertical curtain of whirling limbs springs into existence.

The limbs resemble your own forelimbs.

Any creature passing through the wall takes 1d6 points of bludgeoning damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), with a Reflex save for half damage.

If you evoke the wall so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall.

Each such creature can avoid the wall (ending up on the side of its choice) and thus take no damage by making a successful Reflex save.

The wall of limbs provides one-half cover (+4 AC, +2 Reflex saves) against attacks made through it.

ILLUSION

DREAM CASTING

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting] (see text)

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Unlimited

Target: You and one dreamer

Duration: 1 day/level (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless) and Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless) and yes

As the dream spell, except as noted above; also, you can alter the sleeping person's dreams to produce a specific desired effect.

The dreamer gets a Will saving throw to resist the additional effects of this spell; if he succeeds, the dream casting spell can only send a message in the manner of the dream spell.

If the saving throw fails, you decide what additional effect the message carries.

Fear: Your image in the dream is surrounded by intimidating imagery and an aura of power.

For the duration of the spell, any time the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he is shaken.

This is a compulsion and fear effect.

Charm: Your image in the dream appears particularly helpful and kind.

For the duration of the spell, the dreamer is under the effect of a charm monster spell.

This is a charm effect.

Rage: Your image in the dream taunts and harasses the dreamer.

For the duration of the spell, any time the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he preferentially attacks you if in a combat situation.

The dreamer gains a +2 morale bonus on saving throws, attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls while under this effect.

This is a compulsion effect.

Harrow: Your image in the dream behaves in a bizarre and irrational manner.

For the duration of the spell, the dreamer behaves in an unusual manner, gaining two random traits from Table 5-5: One Hundred Traits in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide (reroll any physical traits, such as baldness).

If the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he acts bewildered.

ILLUSORY PIT

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Image 10 ft. by 10 ft. by 20 ft.

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates the illusion of a pit 10 feet square and 20 feet deep.

It may be cast on a flat surface (such as a floor) or in an open space (such as on an actual pit to conceal its contents).

It appears absolutely real when viewed.

If it is cast on a solid floor, objects dropped into the pit do not fall, instead resting in place on top of the pit as if levitating or as if the pit were covered with a wall of force.

If it is cast in an open space, objects dropped into the pit appear to fall into it until they pass below the bottom of the spell's area (at which point they vanish) or come to rest on a solid object within the spell's area (at which point they appear to float within the pit).

Detection abilities that do not require sight work normally on the pit, instantly revealing it to be illusory (for example, a creature with blindsight or a character feeling the ground with a pole would realize that there is no pit) or covered in some invisible way.

Touching the illusion does not cause it to disappear.

The bottom of the illusory pit may be bare, or it may contain metal spikes, a humanoid skeleton, filth, or any combination you desire, chosen at the casting of the spell.

STALKING SPELL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

As improved invisibility, except as noted above and that the creature is hidden from hearing and scent as well.

The subject radiates silence to a radius of 5 feet and neither leaves a scent nor can be detected by the scent ability.

NECROMANCY

AWAKEN UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. plus 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: All mindless undead within a circle 25 ft. in radius plus 5 ft./2 levels

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell grants Intelligence to mindless undead such as skeletons and zombies.

Undead with Intelligence scores are unaffected.

Each mindless undead creature within the radius gains an Intelligence score of 1d6+4.

A subject of the spell cannot gain a higher Intelligence than is typical for its original kind.

A skeletal dog simply has Intelligence 2, while a skeletal orc uses the 1d6+4 die roll but can't have a score higher than 8.

Awakened undead do not regain any skills, feats, or extraordinary abilities they had in life, but they do gain skill points ($[4 + \text{Int mod}] \times \text{HD}$) and feats (one for first Hit Die, one for each three HD thereafter) normally after being awakened.

Undead regain the armor and weapon proficiencies they had in life (assume the undead were formerly NPC warriors unless your DM specifies otherwise) and will don armor and take up weapons while obeying your commands.

A zombie fighter can wear any armor and wield any simple or martial weapon, while a zombie warhorse can wear any armor.

Awakened undead gain a +2 profane bonus on their Will saving throws to resist being controlled.

Material Component: A humanoid fingerbone.

XP Cost: 200 XP.

DESICCATING BUBBLE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 3-ft.-radius sphere of air

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A globe of supernaturally dry air rolls in whichever direction you point and engulfs those it strikes.

It moves 30 feet per round and can leap up to 30 feet to strike a target.

If it enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 2d4 points of damage as it evaporates moisture from the target.

(The subject can negate this damage with a successful Reflex save).

Oozes, creatures composed of water (such as water elementals), and creatures with the aquatic subtype take 2d6 points of damage.

The bubble moves as long as you actively direct it (a move-equivalent action for you); otherwise, it merely stays at rest. The surface of the bubble has a spongy, yielding consistency (similar to that of a soap bubble, but not fragile and allowing objects to pass through it without affecting the spell) and so does not cause damage except by absorbing moisture.

It cannot batter down large obstacles.

The bubble winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Arcane Material Component: A tiny bag or bladder filled with air, and a sprinkle of dust.

SKELETAL GUARD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One or more fingerbones

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a number of loyal skeletons from fingerbones. All skeletons are Medium-size, with the normal Monster Manual statistics for their kind, except that their effective Hit Dice as far as turning is concerned is equal to your caster level.

You can create one skeleton per caster level.

These skeletons count toward the number of Hit Dice of undead you can have in your control (2 HD worth per caster level, as with the animate dead spell).

Unlike the animate dead spell, these skeletons try to remain within 60 feet of you.

If this distance is exceeded, a skeleton becomes inert until you return to within 60 feet of it.

Material Component: One fingerbone from a Medium-size creature and one onyx gem worth 50 gp per skeleton to be created.

The skeleton that forms from the fingerbone is that type of creature.

UNDEAD MASK

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Clr 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You imbue the subject with powerful transformative magic, granting it some of the characteristics of the undead type. The subject's flesh seems necrotic and rotting, much like that of a zombie.

Nonintelligent undead ignore the subject unless the subject attacks the undead.

Any spell or effect that affects undead also affects the subject.

The subject can be turned, destroyed, rebuked, or commanded as an undead of its Hit Dice (and gets no saving throw to resist the result).

Negative energy effects (such as inflict spells) heal the subject, while positive energy effects (such as cure spells) harm her.

An undead creature is immune to mind-affecting effects, poison, sleep, paralysis, stunning, and disease.

It is immune to critical hits, subdual damage, ability damage, energy drain, or death from massive damage.

The subject loses its Constitution score while the spell is in effect, along with any bonus hit points from Constitution.

The subject is immune to any effect that requires a Fortitude save unless the effect also works on objects.

An undead spellcaster uses its Charisma modifier when making Concentration checks.

The subject's other ability scores are unaffected.

The subject retains its skills and feats.

Material Component: A pinch of vampire dust.

TRANSMUTATION

AIR BREATHING

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creatures touched

Duration: 2 hours/level (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creatures can breathe air freely.

Divide the duration evenly among all the creatures you touch.

The spell does not make creatures unable to breathe water.

Air breathing dispels and counters water breathing.

Arcane Material Component: A short reed or piece of straw.

AWAKEN CONSTRUCT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 9, Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 8 hours

Range: Touch

Target: One construct

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell awakens a humanoid-shaped construct to humanlike sentience.

The spell does not work on constructs that are only constructs temporarily (such as objects affected by an animate objects spell).

The awakened creature is independent of both you and the being who originally made it, though it is initially friendly toward both you and its maker.

Material Component: The brain of a humanoid that has been dead less than 8 hours.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP.

BLINDSIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it allow the subject to fly if it cannot already do so.

EARTH REAVER

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread, +10 ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point at a spot on the ground, and the earth at that point erupts in a shower of rock, dirt, and fire.

Creatures and objects within the area take 7d6 points of damage; the damage is 4d6 impact and 3d6 fire.

Those that fail the saving throw are knocked prone.

EMBRACE THE WILD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 3, Rgr 3

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

This spell allows you to adopt the nature and some abilities of a wild animal.

You retain your own form, but you gain the natural and extraordinary senses of the creature you choose, as well as its skill ranks (though these do not stack with any ranks you already have in the same skills), for the duration of the spell.

Thus, depending on your choice of animal, you could gain blindsight, scent, and ranks in Listen, Spot, or other skills.

Embrace the wild does not grant you the animal's natural attacks, methods of locomotion, feats, or nonsensory extraordinary abilities, such as trample or improved grab.

Focus: Hide, skin, or feathers of the selected animal, or an item or component of its lair.

You must have obtained the focus from the animal yourself.

EXTEND TENTACLES

Transmutation

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Originally developed by medusas, this spell lengthens your tentacles, increasing the reach of your tentacle attacks by 5 feet.

The tentacles attack as normal.

This spell can also increase the length of a medusa's snakes so they may make normal attacks with a 10-foot reach, or they may start a grapple after a successful attack as if you had the improved grab ability.

If the snakes get a successful hold, they can constrict on any following round for 1d3 points of damage plus your Strength modifier with a successful grapple check.

FINS TO FEET

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell transforms tails or finned extremities into humanoid legs and feet.

Transformed Medium-size creatures have a land speed of 30 feet, Small and smaller creatures have a land speed of 20 feet, and Large and larger creatures have a land speed of 40 feet.

This is a common spell among merfolk, naga, and tritons.

FLAME WHIPS

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Effect: Flaming whips

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Your forelimbs transform into flaming whips.

Attacks with these flaming whips replace any natural attacks you had with those limbs, and deal 5d6 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20) each.

While this spell is in effect, you may not cast spells with material components, nor may you carry items with your forelimbs.

Any items worn on your forelimbs cease functioning while the spell is active.

FORESTFOLD

Transmutation

Level: Drd 4, Rgr 3

As camouflage, except as noted above and that you gain a +20 circumstance bonus on Hide and Move Silently checks.

FOX'S CUNNING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature becomes smarter.

The spell grants an enhancement bonus to Intelligence of 1d4+1 points, adding the usual benefits to Intelligence-related skills.

Wizards who receive fox's cunning do not gain extra spells, but the save DCs for their spells increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few hairs, or a pinch of dung, from a fox.

FUSE ARMS

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature with at least four arms or tentacles touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You cause a creature's multiple arms or tentacles to fuse together into a single pair of stronger limbs.

Only limbs that the creature can use as arms or grasping limbs are affected by the spell (so basilisks and monstrous centipedes, neither of which use their limbs to attack or manipulate objects, are unaffected).

For every set of limbs fused into the primary set of limbs, the creature gains +4 to Strength when using those fused limbs (affecting activities that would use those limbs, but not activities relying on its bite, legs, and so on).

For example, a girallon under the effect of this spell would have one pair of arms and Strength 30 for the purpose of using those arms.

A behir, which has three pairs of limbs that it can use as arms, would end up with one pair of arm-limbs with a +8 bonus to Strength for those arms (its six legs would be unaffected).

The loss of limbs reduces the number of attacks available to the subject.

GIRALLON'S BLESSING

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You give the subject one additional pair of arms for every four caster levels.

Each arm ends in a hand with fingers and an opposable thumb.

The spell can create a maximum of five pairs of arms, but the size of the subject limits the number of pairs of additional arms it can have: one for Small, two for Medium-size, three for Large, or four for a Huge or larger creature.

The creature's original arms (if any) are its primary arms, and all others are secondary limbs (if the subject had no arms, the arms created by the spell are its primary arms). The new limbs can be confusing.

In a stressful or demanding situation, such as combat, the subject must make a Will save (DC 19) or take a -2 penalty on all attack rolls, saves, skill checks, and ability checks until the situation passes.

Nonmagical clothing or armor is destroyed by the transformation, but magic armor and clothing shifts to accommodate the new arms.

The additional arms do not allow additional attacks or several simultaneous physical tasks.

They do not increase the subject's reach.

However, they do allow the subject to use items designed for creatures with more than two arms, or to use a two-handed item and another piece of equipment.

For instance, a subject could wield a greatsword while using a shield.

Material Component: A few strands of girallon hair.

IMPROVED BLINDSIGHT

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The spell does not work on constructs that are only constructs temporarily (such as objects affected by an animate objects spell).

The construct gains the incarnate construct template (see Chapter 10).

The incarnated creature is independent of both you and the being who originally made it, though it is initially friendly toward both you and its maker.

Range: Touch

Effect: One object up to 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: None (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You imbue an inanimate object with mobility and a semblance of life.

The animated object is friendly toward you.

You have no special empathy or connection with the object, although it serves you in specific tasks or endeavors if you communicate your desires to it.

The object can be of any nonmagical material, including wood, metal, stone, fabric, leather, ceramic, and glass.

You can also animate masses of raw matter, such as water, a rock from a wall, or a rock on the ground, as long as the volume of material does not exceed 1 cubic foot per caster level.

For each cubic foot of volume, the animated object has 1 Hit Die.

The object gains an Intelligence score (roll 3d6) and a Charisma score (roll 1d3) from the spell.

Other statistics for animated objects are found in the Monster Manual.

Material Component: A piece or handful of material of the same type as the object to be animated.

XP Cost: 250 XP per cubic foot of material affected.

PLANT BODY

Transmutation

Level: Drd 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You imbue the subject with powerful transformative magic, granting it some of the characteristics of the plant type.

The subject's skin becomes covered over with moss and ivy, not unlike the appearance of a shambling mound.

Any spell or effect that affects plant creatures also affects the subject.

A plant creature is immune to critical hits, mind-affecting effects, poison, sleep, paralysis, stunning, and polymorphing. The subject's ability scores, skills, and feats are unaffected (although its new form may make it difficult or impossible for the subject to use certain skills or feats).

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Drd 1, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell increases the touched creature's burrow speed by 20 feet.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it allow the subject to burrow if it cannot already do so or the ability to burrow through stone if it cannot already do so.

SCENT

Transmutation

Level: Drd 2, Rgr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You give the subject an enhanced sense of smell, equivalent to the scent ability of some monsters.

This ability allows the creature to detect approaching enemies, sniff out hidden foes, and track by sense of smell. Creatures with the scent ability can identify familiar odors just as humans do familiar sights.

For more details, see Scent in the introduction to the Monster Manual.

Arcane Material Component: A sprinkle of mustard and pepper, and a drop of sweat.

SPEAK TO ALLIES

Transmutation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Brd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Targets: Any number of allied creatures, no two of which may be more than 30 ft. apart

As message, except as noted above and that you and the recipients don't have to mouth the words or whisper, which means that those skilled in reading lips have no opportunity to learn the messages.

SPELL FLOWER

Transmutation

Level: Clr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You are able to hold the charge on one touch spell per forelimb of your body as long as you don't use that limb to cast other spells or touch anything with it.

Each touch spell you cast resides in a different forelimb.

For the duration of this spell, any touch spells you cast are only discharged if you cast another spell with that forelimb or touch something with that forelimb.

For example, a human sorcerer casts this spell, then casts chill touch and holds the charge in his left hand, then casts shocking grasp and holds the charge in his right hand.

Because of the spell flower, he can hold the charge on both of these spells at the same time.

If he cast another spell with a somatic component (which requires the use of one of his hands), he immediately loses one of his held touch spells (his choice), but if the spell he casts is also a touch spell, he may immediately hold the charge in the available hand.

If he chooses to attack with a touch spell, it works normally.

Since he has multiple limbs that are considered armed, he may make an off-hand attack with the other touch spell in the same round (with the normal penalties for fighting with two weapons).

A marilith spellcaster could do the same as the sorcerer in the previous example, except that she could hold the charge on up to six touch spells.

She could also use any of her spell-like or supernatural abilities, since those do not interfere with holding the charge.

If the spell flower ends, the most recent touch spell cast remains as a held charge and all other held spells dissipate.

STONE BODY

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

This spell transforms your body into living stone.

You gain damage reduction 10/-.

You are immune to blindness, critical hits, ability score damage, deafness, disease, drowning, electricity, poison, stunning, and all spells or attacks that affect your physiology or respiration, because you have no physiology or respiration while this spell is in effect.

You take only half damage from cold and fire of all kinds.

However, you also become vulnerable to all special attacks that affect stone golems.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to your Strength score, but you take a -4 penalty to Dexterity as well (to a minimum Dexterity score of 1), and your speed is reduced to half normal.

You have an arcane spell failure chance of 50% and a -8 armor check penalty, just as if you were clad in full plate armor.

You cannot drink (and thus can't use potions) or play wind instruments.

Your unarmed attacks deal 1d6 points of normal damage, and you are considered armed when making unarmed attacks (a Small caster deals 1d4 points of damage, not 1d6).

If your natural attacks already deal more than 1d6 points of damage, use the greater value.

Your weight increases by a factor of three, causing you to sink in water like a stone.

However, you could survive the crushing pressure and lack of air at the bottom of the ocean—at least until the spell expires.

Material Component: A small piece of stone that was once part of either a stone golem, a greater earth elemental, or a castle.

WEAPON OF ENERGY

Transmutation (see text)

Level: Clr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Person

Target: One weapon

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude (object, harmless)

Spell Resistance: None

You cause a weapon to gain the ability to deal energy damage in addition to its other abilities, similar to how a flaming burst weapon deals extra fire damage on a hit or critical hit.

The weapon can deal acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic damage, chosen by you at the time of casting.

The weapon deals +1d6 damage of that energy type on a successful hit.

On a critical hit, the weapon deals an additional +1d10 points of energy damage.

If the weapon's critical multiplier is $\times 3$, add +2d10 points of energy damage instead, and if the multiplier is $\times 4$, add +3d10 points of bonus energy damage.

This spell can be cast on a weapon that already deals energy damage, but if the weapon already creates the same type of damage as the spell, the effects do not stack.

For example, if cast on a +1 flaming longsword to give it additional fire damage, the spell has no effect, but it can give the weapon any of the other types of energy damage.

This spell has a subtype that is the same as the energy created by the target weapon.

For example, weapon of energy is a fire spell when used to give a weapon bonus fire damage.

WINGS OF THE SEA

Transmutation

Level: Clr 2, Drd 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: You or person touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell increases the touched creature's swim speed by 30 feet.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it give the subject a swim speed if it does not already have one.

Material Component: A drop of water.

SERPENT KINGDOMS (3.5)

ABJURATION

FANG TRAP

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, DF/M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target or Area: Object touched or area up to 5 sq. ft./level

Duration: Permanent until discharged (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

While casting this spell, you physically trace the area or handle the object to be trapped.

A fang trap functions like a glyph of warding, except that it can't be made to activate on the basis of faith or alignment, and you can't be caught in your own fang trap.

A fang trap is usually cast on a specific spot, such as a doorway or an area of floor.

It can be set to distinguish between humans and Scaled Ones, or between beings wearing particular items and those who are not.

The trigger can't be a symbol, but it may be one or more specific items (for example, "six metal rings on digits, no more and no less").

When a fang trap discharges, the subject is held immobile for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude saving throw frees the subject after that period without further effect.

A failed save means the subject takes 1d4 points of piercing and bludgeoning damage per caster level from the bite of a pair of unseen jaws.

Material Component: A fang from any snake.

CONJURATION

LAOGZED'S BREATH

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

As stinking cloud, except that the nauseating vapors persist for 10 rounds.

LAVA MISSILE

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Up to five creatures, no two of which can be more than 15 ft. apart.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

A missile of lava darts forth from your fingertip and strikes its target, dealing 1d4 points of fire damage.

The missile strikes unerringly if the target has less than total cover or concealment.

Specific parts of a creature can't be singled out.

A target that fails its saving throw catches on fire (see Catching on Fire in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

For every two caster levels, you gain an additional missile—two at 4th level, three at 6th level, four at 8th level, and the maximum of five at 10th level or higher.

If you shoot multiple missiles, you can have them strike a single creature or several creatures.

A single missile can strike only one creature.

You must designate targets before you check for spell resistance or roll damage.

A lava missile cures firenewts of 1d4 points of damage.

This spell was first used by firenewt clerics of Kossuth.

LAVA SPLASH

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 4

Components: V, S, DF, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cylinder (20-foot radius, 20 feet high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates a wave of lava that rises up and showers the designated area.

Each creature in the area takes 1d4 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Lava splash acts as a cure moderate wounds spell to firenewts.

This spell was first used by firenewt clerics of Kossuth.

Focus: A fist-sized lump of volcanic rock.

EVOCATION

VENOM BOLT

Evocation [Acid]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 100 ft.

Area: 100-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half, Fortitude partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a beam of fell energy from your eye, mouth, fingertip, or tail tip that travels in a straight line.

Every creature in its path takes 2d8 points of acid damage, though the beam is not actually composed of any acidic substance.

A successful Reflex save halves this damage.

Furthermore, every creature in the path of the venom bolt must also make a successful Fortitude save or be paralyzed for 1d4+1 rounds.

Success means the subject is slowed for 1 round.

Creatures do not block the beam, but walls and other solid barriers do.

Yuan-ti and their creations (such as tainted ones and broodguards) are immune to the effects of this spell, as are creatures with the Snake Blood feat (see Feats in FORGOTTEN REALMS Campaign Setting).

Other Scaled Ones are immune to the paralysis effect and need not save against it.

Material Component: A drop of venom from any sort of poisonous snake.

WHIRL OF FANGS

Evocation [Force]

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall or plane of darting jaws up to 20 ft. long/level, or a ringed wall of whirling jaws with a radius up to 5 ft./2 levels; either form 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create an immobile curtain of snapping, serpent-fanged jaws shaped of pure force.

You can choose to orient this barrier at any angle from vertical to horizontal at the time of casting.

The force jaws race to bite at any creature other than you that comes into contact with them.

Any creature passing through the curtain takes 12d4 points of damage, with a Reflex save for half damage.

If you evoke the barrier so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the curtain.

Each such creature can avoid the wall (ending up on the side of its choice, where feasible) and thus take no damage by making a successful Reflex save.

A successful Reflex save means the creature has reached either side of the wall without taking any damage.

A creature inside a whirl of fangs takes 2d4 points of damage (Reflex save for half) on its turn each round that it remains in contact with the effect.

You can move through or remain within your own whirl of fangs without taking damage.

Accordingly, many Yuan-ti spellcasters “wear” this spell as a sort of immobile cloak when fighting formidable foes.

TRANSMUTATION

ABILITY RIP

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Targets: Two living creatures

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You rip a supernatural ability of your choice away from one creature and transfer it to another.

The two creatures must be within 30 feet of each other and remain conscious throughout the casting of the spell.

In exchange for this new ability, the recipient permanently loses a supernatural ability it already possesses.

If it has none to exchange, it instead loses two class levels (or 2 Hit Dice if it has no class levels).

Class features cannot be transferred by means of this spell.

The spell fails if used to transfer an ability to a creature that lacks the proper body parts, size, or other criterion for its use, or if the target creature has fewer than 2 Hit Dice and no supernatural abilities to trade.

Either subject may negate the transfer with a successful Fortitude save.

Material Component: A caterpillar in a cocoon.

ERUPT

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Area: Burst with a radius of 100 ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You draw molten lava up through the ground.

Every creature within the area that fails a Fortitude saving throw takes 10 points of fire damage per caster level and catches on fire (see Catching on Fire, page 303 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Furthermore, anyone wearing metal armor who fails the saving throw is also affected as though by a heat metal spell. A successful saving throw negates the heat metal effect and halves the damage.

Structures and unattended objects automatically take full damage (no save).

Erupt leaves its entire area a blackened ruin incapable of supporting plant or animal life for a full year.

HANDFANG

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You create a fanged, biting mouth in the palm of your hand. When you lay your hand upon a creature by making a touch attack, the mouth deals 1d8 points of damage.

If you scored a critical hit with your touch attack, you may start a grapple as a free action without provoking an attack of opportunity.

If you establish a hold, the fanged mouth sinks its teeth into the target's flesh and continues to bite for an additional 1d6 points of damage each round until the hold is broken or the spell ends.

RAZORSCALES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, DF/M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Your scales become razor-sharp.

While this spell is in effect, you deal lethal instead of nonlethal damage when grappling.

If are not a Scaled One, this spell automatically fails.

Material Component: A thin-bladed razor.

SCENT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You give the target an enhanced sense of smell, equivalent to the scent ability of some monsters.

This ability allows the creature to detect approaching enemies, sniff out hidden foes, and track by sense of smell. Creatures with the scent ability can identify familiar odors just as humans do familiar sights.

The creature can detect opponents within 30 feet by sense of smell.

If the opponent is upwind, the range increases to 60 feet; if downwind, it drops to 15 feet.

Strong scents, such as smoke or rotting garbage, can be detected at twice the ranges noted above.

Overpowering scents, such as skunk musk or troglodyte stench, can be detected at triple normal range.

When a creature detects a scent, the exact location is not revealed—only its presence somewhere within range.

The creature can take a partial action to note the direction of the scent.

If it moves within 5 feet of the source, the creature can pinpoint that source.

A creature with the scent ability can follow tracks by smell, making a Wisdom check to find or follow a track.

The typical DC for a fresh trail is 10 (no matter what kind of surface holds the scent).

This DC increases or decreases depending on the strength of the quarry's odor, the number of creatures, and the age of the trail.

For each hour that the trail is cold, the DC increases by 2.

The ability otherwise follows the rules for the Track feat.

Creatures tracking by scent ignore the effects of surface conditions and poor visibility.

Arcane material Components: A sprinkle of mustard and pepper, and a drop of sweat.

SERPENT ARROW

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Up to eight wooden projectiles, all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You imbue wooden arrows or darts with the potential to turn into Tiny vipers (see the Snake entry, page 280 of the Monster Manual for statistics).

These missiles remain rigid and harmless until fired or hurled.

They need not be used by the caster.

If a serpent arrow hits, the snake automatically bites the target creature, dealing 1 point of damage plus poison (injury, Fortitude DC 11, initial and secondary damage 1d6 Con).

The missile remains in snake form for the remaining duration of the spell, attacking their original opponents to the best of their ability, continuing to bite it even if the target dies.

If the serpent arrow misses its target or the designated opponent moves outside of the snake's ability to attack (such as via flying or teleportation), the creature attacks the nearest opponent.

If you can communicate with the viper, you can direct it to attack particular enemies.

When the duration of the spell expires, any focus that became a viper melts away, leaving nothing behind.

Focuses that did not turn into serpent arrows retain their natural form.

Material Component: A scale from any sort of snake.

TRAIT REMOVAL

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: One touched living creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You temporarily remove one extraordinary or supernatural ability of your choice from the target creature.

This spell does not work on constructs, oozes, or undead.

Material Component: A pinch of ash.

VENOMFIRE

Transmutation [Acid]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, ranger 4

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You cause the subject's venom to become caustic, dealing an additional 1d6 points of acid damage per caster level with each use.

This spell has no effect on creatures that do not naturally produce poison.

Material Component: A drop of acid.

SHINING SOUTH (3.5)

ABJURATION

DISPEL FOG

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Up to four 10-ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: 1 min./level; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You make normal or magical fog within the affected area instantly and completely vanish.

This spell is effective against fog and mist from any source, including spells such as obscuring mist or cloudkill, but not against bodies of water, precipitation, or smoke.

The dispelled area stays clear for 1 minute per level regardless of other conditions—after that, it can fill in again if there is sufficient fog in the surrounding vicinity. Natural fog is automatically cleared in the affected area; natural fog reform within 1 minute after the expiration of the spell.

Magical fog (such as that from a fog cloud spell) requires you to make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +10) against the spell to clear the area.

The DC for this dispel check is 11 + the spell's caster level. Success means the spell is dispelled in the area you designate, but magic fogs covering large areas might not be completely cleared away by dispel fog.

Creatures in fog or mist form who are in the area must succeed on a Fortitude save or take 2d10 points of damage. Even those who make their saves must immediately assume another shape.

EASY TRAIL

Abjuration

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You radiate energy that gently pushes plants aside, allowing easy movement and hiding your trail after you pass.

Creatures in the effect (including the caster) find the undergrowth held aside as they pass.

This essentially provides a "trail" through any terrain (see Table 9–5: Terrain and Overland Movement, page 164 of the Player's Handbook).

Once you have passed, plants return to their normal shapes. The DC to track anyone who traveled within the effect is increased by 5 (the equivalent of hiding the trail). This spell cannot push or hold plant creatures aside.

ENTROPIC SHIELD, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions like entropic shield, except that it affects multiple creatures.

LAND WOMB

Abjuration

Level: Druid 4, halthran 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: You and one other creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You descend into a protective bubble in the earth 10 feet below where you are standing.

It appears as though the ground opened up and swallowed you.

A land womb only opens through tillable soil, not rock.

One additional creature per caster level can accompany you into the land womb.

Such creatures must be touching one another, with at least one touching you (a ring of hands, for instance).

Creatures inside the land womb can breathe and speak normally, but the space is too tight to move about in or cast spells with somatic components.

The surface above the land womb cannot be sensed without magical means, and anything within the land womb cannot be detected by divination spells of 4th level or lower.

At the end of the duration, or upon the spell's dismissal, everything inside the land womb returns to the spot where it stood before the spell took effect.

PROTECTION FROM WINGED FLYERS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, paladin 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No; see text

The spell functions like protection from evil, except that the bonuses apply to attacks from creatures that have wings and a fly speed.

Summoned creatures that fly with wings cannot touch the subject.

Spell resistance can allow a creature to overcome this protection and touch the warded creature.

Arcane Material Component: A feather or bat wing.

REDIRECT SPELL

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a magical connection between you and an ally such that any spells targeting the ally (rather than an area or effect) are redirected to you.

For example, magic missiles cast at your ally target you instead.

Both you and your ally must be within range of a spell for the redirect to occur.

If your ally is within range of the caster but you are not, the spell targets your ally normally.

Should you and the subject of the spell move out of range of each other, the spell ends.

SAFE CLEARING

Abjuration

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Area: 30-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You make an area safe from attacks, as if the entire space were under a sanctuary spell.

Once the spell is cast, its area is immobile.

Any opponent attempting to strike or otherwise directly attack a creature within the area, even with a targeted spell, must attempt a Will save.

If the save succeeds, the opponent can attack normally and is unaffected by the spell.

If the save fails, the opponent cannot follow through with the attack, that part of its action is lost, and it can't directly attack anyone in the safe clearing for the duration of the spell.

Those not attempting to attack creatures inside the warded area remain unaffected.

This spell does not prevent the warded creatures from being affected by area or effect spells.

Those inside the safe clearing cannot attack without breaking the spell, even if they are unaffected by it.

CONJURATION

DALTIM'S FIERY TENTACLES

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Saving Throw: None and Reflex half; see text

This spell functions similarly to Evard's black tentacles, except that the tentacles are limned in blue-white fire.

Every creature within the area of the spell takes 1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum 15 points) each round.

A successful Reflex save halves this damage, but a character grappled by the tentacles cannot make the save.

LIGHTNING FOG

Conjuration [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog spreads in a 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a smoky cloud that fills the area with small electrical discharges.

The smoke obscures all sight as a fog cloud does.

In addition, the discharges deal 1d4 points of electricity damage plus 1 point per caster level (maximum +15) to everything within the cloud on your turn each round.

As with a fog cloud spell, wind disperses the smoke, and the spell can't be cast underwater.

SHUFFLE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One or more willing creatures touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You grant one creature, plus one additional creature for every five caster levels, the ability to teleport a short distance as a move action.

Each subject can use the ability once per round, on its turn, to travel to a spot it knows intimately or can see, which can be no more than 5 feet per two caster levels away (maximum 50 feet at 20th level).

Creatures affected by this spell can carry objects, as long as the weight of those objects doesn't exceed the subject's maximum load.

If a subject of shuffle would arrive in an area occupied by solid material, that attempted teleport simply fails.

SPARKLES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)
Area: 10-ft.-radius/level spread
Duration: 1 min./level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

You create a cloud of multicolored, sparkling motes that shower down and attach to any living creature in the area. The sparkles visibly outline anything to which they stick, cannot be removed by nonmagical means, continue to twinkle and glow until the spell fades, and visibly outline invisible things in the area for the duration of the spell. Any creature covered by motes takes a -40 penalty on Hide checks.

This spell is popular during festivals in Halruaa, where the wizards cast it over the cities from their skyships and let the motes decorate the celebrants.

However, others have found more practical uses for it, including exposing invisible and hiding foes.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of ground mica.

DIVINATION

ARCANE SENSITIVITY

Divination

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: One creature touched
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No

With a touch, you instantly determine if a creature can cast arcane spells and the maximum spell level it can cast.

EVOCATION

DARSSON'S CHILLING CHAMBER

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Area: Up to a 10-ft. cube/level (S)
Duration: 1 hour/level (D)
Saving Throw: See text
Spell Resistance: Yes

You lower the temperature in the affected area to the level of extreme cold (as defined under Cold Dangers, page 302 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

For every minute spent in the area, a creature vulnerable to cold takes 1d6 points of lethal damage (no save).

In addition, a creature must make a Fortitude save (DC 15, +1 per previous check) or take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage.

Those wearing metal armor, as well as those coming in contact with metal that has been in the area for at least 1 hour, are affected as if by a chill metal spell.

This spell was originally developed as a means of preserving food (cast inside cellars), but wizards quickly determined that it could be used as a deterrent (on long hallways or in treasure vaults, for example) or for creating a comfortable environment for cold-loving pets.

Darsson's chilling chamber can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

DARSSON'S COOLING BREEZE

Evocation [Air]

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Effect: Line-shaped breeze emanating out from a point you designate within 10 feet of you to the extreme of the range

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a light breeze (approximately 9 mph) that originates from a point you designate, affecting all creatures, gasses, clouds, and fogs in its path.

Any airborne vapors, fumes, clouds, smoke, and gasses drift away from the point at a speed of 80 feet per round and dissipate in one-fourth the normal time.

In addition to the effects noted, the cooling breeze can do anything that a normal breeze would be expected to do.

It can move wind chimes, scatter pieces of paper or parchment, cause candle or hearth flames to flicker, and so forth.

Darsson's cooling breeze can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

DARSSON'S FIERY FURNACE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Up to one 10-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You raise the temperature in the affected area to the level of extreme heat (as defined under Heat Dangers, page 303 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

For every minute spent breathing the air in the area, a creature vulnerable to heat takes 1d6 points of lethal damage (no save).

In addition, the creature must make a Fortitude save every 5 minutes (DC 15, +1 per previous check) or take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage.

Those wearing heavy clothing or any sort of armor take a -4 penalty on their saves.

In addition, those wearing metal armor, as well as those coming in contact with metal that has been in the area for at least 1 hour, are affected as if by a heat metal spell.

This spell was originally developed as a means of cooking food (cast inside cauldrons, brick ovens, and smoke houses), but wizards quickly determined that it could be used as a deterrent (on long hallways or in treasure vaults, for example) or for creating a comfortable environment for heat-loving pets.

Darsson's fiery furnace can be made permanent with a permanency spell.

FIERY VISION

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Two rays of fire per round

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Immediately on completion of the spell, and once per round thereafter, you can emit two fiery rays from your eyes, targeting one or two opponents within range as a free action during your turn each round.

A successful ranged touch attack is required to strike with each beam, and one that hits deals 4d6 points of fire damage.

You need not use your eye rays while the spell is in effect; other actions, such as spellcasting, can be performed.

However, each round after the first you can use a standard action (concentrating on the spell) to use the eye rays.

MYCONTIL'S LAST RESORT

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Area: 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You unleash deadly explosive power, similar to the effects of a retributive strike created by breaking a staff of power (see page 245 of the Dungeon Master's Guide for more information).

The spell converts any remaining spell slots in your mind into a blast of magical energy.

All creatures within 10 feet of you take 8 points of damage per spell slot remaining, creatures between 11 and 20 feet take 6 points per spell slot, and creatures between 21 and 30 feet take 4 points per remaining spell slot.

You take maximum damage and are allowed no saving throw.

It is widely thought that Mycontil and his assistants used this spell in a circle magic ceremony to defeat the Arkaiun barbarian chieftain, Reinhart I of Dambrath, during Dambrath's invasion of Halruaa.

Mycontil and his assistants vanished after the blast and were presumed destroyed.

There has been no other recorded use of the spell.

Material Component: The finger bone of an archmage that has been packed in diamond dust worth 5,000 gp for 1 week.

ROCKBURST

Evocation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half or Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a stone object, with volume of at least 8 cubic feet, to explode.

Rock shards fly outward from the detonation, and all creatures within the area of the spell take 1d4 points of damage plus 1 point per caster level (maximum +15).

A successful Reflex save halves this damage.

A magic stone object, or a nonmagic stone object in the possession of another creature, gets a Fortitude save to negate the effect.

Creatures cannot be affected by rockburst.

STONEFIRE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: One 5-ft. square + one 5-ft. square/four levels

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause natural, nonliving stone to combust, emitting thick black smoke and sending forth waves of heat.

Anyone touching the burning rock takes 2d6 points of fire damage each round, while the intense heat coming from the stone deals 2d4 points of fire damage to creatures within 10 feet and 1d4 points of fire damage to those past 10 feet but within 20 feet.

The burning stone deals its damage to all creatures in the area when it appears and on your turn each round.

Undead take double damage from stonefire.

Ignited stone is consumed by the flames at the rate of 1 foot of thickness per round (so a 10-foot-thick wall covered with stonefire would require 10 rounds to burn through).

Burning away load-bearing walls, columns, or other supports might cause cave-ins or collapses.

See Cave-Ins and Collapses, page 66 of the Dungeon Master's Guide.

If the burning stone takes 20 points of cold damage or more in 1 round, the flames go out.

(Do not divide cold damage by 4, as normal for objects).

STREAMERS

Evocation

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One or more streamers

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause a number of glowing, red streamers to shoot forth from the your hand when you cast the spell.

You may fire one streamer, plus one additional streamer for every three levels beyond 9th (to a maximum of four streamers at 18th level).

Each streamer targets one creature; multiple streamers can each be targeted at a different creature, or many streamers can target one creature.

A streamer moves on its own, pursuing its target without your concentration, hovering in the same space as the target with a readied touch attack.

Whenever the target next takes any sort of action, the streamer makes a touch attack against it (at the caster's base attack bonus).

On a successful attack roll, the streamer deals 5d10 points of damage.

If a target takes no actions for the duration of the spell, the streamers around it disappear with no effect.

Streamers can be attacked (AC 20), but only magic weapons have any effect on them.

Any successful attack destroys a streamer.

Material Component: 6-inch strand of red spider silk.

SUN BOLT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A ray of burning sunlight springs from your hand.

You must make a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

A creature struck by the bolt is blinded for 1 round and takes 2d6 points of damage.

Creatures harmed by sunlight take double damage.

Undead always take double damage, as do fungi, molds, oozes, and slimes; undead damaged by sunlight (such as vampires) always take triple damage.

A successful Reflex save negates the blindness.

TIDAL WAVE

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: A wave 75 ft. high and 500 ft. wide

Duration: 1 min./level; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a moving wall of water that can drown swimmers, swamp ships, and flood port cities.

Upon completion of the spell, the tidal wave forms and moves from the starting point you designate in the direction you specify at a speed of 150 feet per round for the duration of the spell, or until it strikes land.

Any creature swimming in the water as the tidal wave hits it must make a DC 30 Swim check each round to remain afloat.

Creatures that succeed are washed forward by the tidal wave and must continue to make Swim checks each round. Creatures that fail the check are sucked beneath the tidal wave and forced 8d10 feet below the surface of the water, taking 4d6 points of nonlethal damage.

The wave passes over submerged creatures, which are subject to drowning (see page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Any Medium or smaller ship caught in the path of the tidal wave takes 6d10 points of damage, while larger ships take an additional 6d10 points of damage per size category they are larger than Medium.

Furthermore, the ship is carried along by the tidal wave for a number of feet equal to the number of points of damage taken $\times 5$.

For example, a sailing ship that takes 66 points of damage is carried in the surge of the wave for 330 feet.

If the movement of the ship results in a collision with another ship or with land, the ship takes additional damage (see below).

Any creatures and equipment aboard the ship that are not lashed down are swept off the decks and into the sea (and creatures are then subject to the Swim checks noted above). If a tidal wave drives up onto shore, it deals 6d10 points of damage to everything in its path within 200 feet of the shore, 3d10 points of damage to everything farther than 200 feet but within 400 feet of the shore, and 1d10 points of damage to everything farther than 400 feet but within 1,000 feet of shore.

Any ships in port or washed ahead of the tidal wave take 6d10 points of damage in addition to any taken for being struck by the wave (see above) and end up 5d10 \times 10 feet inland when they come to rest.

Material Component: A plank of wood smacked against the surface of the water.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

NECROMANCY

CIRCLET OF ENERVATION

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 6-inch circlet of negative energy

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You form a small ring of negative energy in your hand, which harms neither you nor your equipment.

The circlet launches from your hand, and you must succeed on a ranged touch attack to strike your target.

A struck creature takes 2d6 points of damage and gains one negative level (a Fortitude save negates the negative level).

No sooner do you hurl the circlet than another one appears in your hand, ready to be launched again on your next turn.

Negative levels from circlet of enervation function exactly like those gained from the enervation spell.

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell heals 2d6 points of damage when it strikes an undead, rather than harming it.

Further, each time an undead creature is struck by the circlet, it gains 5 temporary hit points.

The spell has no effect on constructs or inanimate objects.

Focus: A jet bracelet worth 100 gp.

KYRISTAN'S MALEVOLENT TENTACLES

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Saving Throw: None and Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions similarly to Evard's black tentacles, except that the tentacles are formed of negative energy.

Living creatures grappled by the tentacles gain one negative level each round unless they succeed on Fortitude saves.

STICKS AND STONES

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One Small pile of debris

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You animate a pile of rocks, branches, limbs, and other debris into the crude shape of a skeletal creature of Medium size that immediately attacks whatever foe you designate.

You can change the animated creature's chosen target as a move action.

The creature's combat statistics are those of a 2 HD humanoid skeleton, except that it also has a wight's energy drain supernatural ability (see the Skeleton and Wight entries in the Monster Manual for details).

WALL OF PAIN

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You fill an area with horrid energy that inflicts severe pain upon any who pass through it.

Affected creatures take a -2 penalty on all attacks, saving throws, and checks while inside the area of the wall.

Further, the wall deals 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per caster level (to a maximum of 15d4) per round to anyone caught in it.

Focus: A miniature scourge.

BRITTLESKIN

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause a creature's natural armor to crystallize and become brittle.

Whenever the affected creature is hit in combat, part of the crystallized hide cracks and shatters, dealing it additional lethal damage equal to its natural armor bonus.

Thus, if a creature with +3 natural armor is affected by this spell, it takes an extra 3 points of damage each time it is struck by a melee, ranged, or natural weapon.

The creature's actual Armor Class does not change.

CORAL GROWTH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 5 ft. cube of coral/level (S)

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cause living, submerged coral to grow at an accelerated pace in a shape you control.

Since you control the form, you can cause the coral to grow into a wall, a large ball, and so forth.

You are limited in the size of the new coral, but this is not dependent upon the amount of existing material—a tiny piece can be used as a starter seed for the new growth, so long as that piece is alive.

Coral growth is popular for constructing buildings and statues out of coral in Halruua.

It is also a favorite of various aquatic races for building underwater cities.

Material Component: A small piece of coral.

JUMP, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like jump, except that it affects a group of creatures in an area, all of which gain a +10 enhancement bonus on Jump checks.

The enhancement bonus increases to +20 at caster level 10th, and to +30 (the maximum) at caster level 14th.

Pirates on the Great Sea are fond of this spell during boarding actions.

ROCK CATCH

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A single creature you touch gains the ability to catch hurled rocks of Small to Large size (including projectiles of a similar shape and size, such as catapult ammunition).

Once per round, as an immediate action (a free action taken during another creature's turn), when the subject of this spell would normally be hit by a rock, he can make a Reflex save to catch it.

The DC for catching a Small or smaller rock is 15, 20 for a Medium one, and 25 for a Large one.

Caught rocks must be subsequently dropped as part of the action.

SEA LEGS

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You grant a creature the ability to maneuver easily while aboard ship, even during inclement weather.

Any creature affected by a sea legs spell automatically succeeds on Balance checks (DC 20 or lower) made due to sloped surfaces and slightly slippery conditions.

Furthermore, the creature can move at its normal speed while balancing on a ship's deck, rather than half speed.

See the Balance skill description in the Player's Handbook for more information.

STONE TRAP

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Stone object up to 200 lb./level

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a block of stone to turn invisible and hover at a designated point in the air.

The stone remains there until triggered, either by special conditions set by you or by a command word you choose.

Once triggered, the stone trap turns visible and falls naturally.

The stone of the stone trap can be positioned so that it holds up additional material within the weight limit of the spell.

For example, a 2,200-pound stone with stone trap cast on it by a 13th-level cleric could support an additional 400 pounds.

This additional weight could be placed on top of the stone in midair, the stone could function as a plug in a hole in a ceiling, and so on.

As a trap, the suspended stone has an attack bonus equal to your caster level.

Any creatures hit by the stone when it falls take 1d6 points of damage for every 200 pounds of weight, plus 1d6 points of damage for every 10 feet the stone falls, for a maximum of 20d6 points of damage.

Anything atop the stone might deal additional damage, but such supplementary material can only deal damage above and beyond the maximum (20d6) if it doesn't rely on the fall to deal that damage.

The conditions for triggering a stone trap can be as simple or as elaborate as you desire.

Special conditions can be based on a creature's name, identity, or alignment, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

Other intangibles such as level, class, Hit Dice, and hit points don't qualify.

For example, a stone trap can be set to activate when a lawful evil creature approaches, but not when a blackguard approaches.

Arcane Material Component: A drop of blood and a pebble.

SUSPENSION

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Any nonliving object up to 1,000 lb./level

Duration: 1d4 days + 1 day/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell functions like levitate, except as noted above and as follows.

You can mentally direct the object to move up or down as much as 45 feet each round for the duration of the spell; doing so is a move action.

When you cease concentration, the object remains in place for the duration of the spell.

Material Component: A small leather loop suspended from a bent wire of gold.

SILVER MARCHES (3.0)

EVOCATION

ALICORN LANCE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2 (Lurue)

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Short (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Horn of force

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a horn of force on your forehead, similar in size and shape to a unicorn's horn.

At any time up until the spell expires, you may launch the horn at a single target as a free action.

Striking the target requires a successful touch attack.

If the horn hits, it is destroyed and deals 3d6 points of force damage to the target creature and outlines it in silver-colored faerie fire for the remaining duration of the spell.

If it misses, the spell dissipates.

ILLUSION

ALUSTRIEL'S BANNER

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Figment of a banner and sound of a trumpet or horn

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

An early spell created by Alustriel, this illusion has been circulated among the arcane spellcasters of Silvermoon and to others beyond the city.

A simplified form of minor image, it allows you to cause a banner (such as a battle standard, family crest, or other identifying device) to appear anywhere within range, accompanied by musical fanfare or the sound of a horn blowing.

The banner may appear large or small (up to 10 feet square), new or old, clean or dirty, and of any color or pattern you desire and bearing any identifying images you desire.

The banner sheds light as a light spell.

You can move it anywhere within range as a move-equivalent action.

The fanfare or horn is normally of the sort announcing the presence of an important person or a military unit, although the spell can create any sort of horn signal.

Normally, casters use the spell to rally troops or direct people to a particular location, especially at night when its light aspect becomes more useful.

Material Component: A horn or trumpet, whether normal size or miniature.

TRANSMUTATION

FAVOR OF YATHAGHERA

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3 (Lurue)

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: One unicorn or equine animal

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You give the target creature large feathered wings in the manner of a pegasus, allowing it to fly with a speed of 100 feet (average maneuverability).

The creature reacts to these wings as if they were naturally part of its body and can use them immediately.

Ride checks to manipulate the mount are made as if it were not flying (so a rider familiar with horses can handle a flying horse just as easily as a normal one).

The spell gets its name from the Elvish name for Lurue: Yathagera the Winged Queen, ruler of the pegasi and unicorns of Evermeet.

SONG AND SILENCE (3.0)

ABJURATION

FOCUSING CHANT

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Up to 5 rounds/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can use focusing chant to block out distractions from the task at hand.

Upon casting the spell, you gain a +1 circumstance bonus on attack rolls or on one type of skill or ability check for as long as you continue to do the same thing every round.

You can attend to the task without concentrating on focusing chant, but no speech is possible because you must continue to mutter the syllables of the chant to maintain the spell.

If you spend a round doing anything else, the spell ends.

For example, you could use focusing chant to gain a +1 circumstance bonus on Climb checks just before you start climbing a tall cliff, or on Decipher Script just before you begin deciphering ancient runes.

In combat, you can gain the bonus on your attack rolls as long as you continue to attack the same opponent with the same weapon every round.

You can still move freely and change tactics—for example, you could charge a monster one round, attempt to disarm it with your rapier the second round, and simply attack it on the third round.

But if you attack a different monster, switch weapons, or spend a round doing something other than attacking, the benefit is lost.

JOYFUL NOISE

Abjuration

Level: Brd 1

Components: S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: Concentration (see text)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

By making a strumming, drumming, or whistling gesture, you negate any magical silence in the area.

This zone of negation moves with you and lasts as long as you continue the performance.

The silence is not dispelled but simply held in abeyance; it remains in effect outside the area of the joyful noise.

Thus, this spell is usually used to move a group out of range of a silence effect.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

CONJURATION

HEALTHFUL SLUMBER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Living creatures within range

Duration: 1 day

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Healthful slumber doubles the subjects' natural healing rate.

Each affected creature regains twice the hit points it otherwise would have during that day, depending on activity level.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

SUMMON INSTRUMENT

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Brd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Effect: One musical instrument

Duration: Concentration plus 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell conjures one instrument of the type the caster typically favors.

The quality of this summoned instrument can vary widely (roll 1d6): poor (1), average (2–5), or masterwork (6).

Only one instrument appears per casting, and it cannot be exchanged for another.

The caster can, however, reject the instrument simply by dismissing the spell.

This is a real instrument temporarily borrowed from elsewhere, not a figment or creation.

For that reason, it is considered good form to deposit a small fee inside the instrument before it returns whence it came.

DIVINATION

LISTENING COIN

Divination

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: See text

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can turn two ordinary coins into magic listening devices—one a sensor and the other a receiver.

After casting the spell, you simply give the sensor coin away, either surreptitiously or overtly.

By holding the receiver coin up to your ear and making a successful Listen check, you can hear whatever is transpiring near the sensor.

If the sensor coin is in a pocket, pouch, or sack, the DC for the Listen check increases by +5 for all but the most obvious sounds.

The coins continue to function no matter how far apart they are, although they fall silent if they're on different planes.

Lead sheeting or magical protection (such as antimagic field, mind blank, or nondetection) blocks the transfer of sound.

Any creature with an Intelligence score of 12 or higher can notice that a coin has a magical sensor by making a successful Scry (or Intelligence) check (DC 20).

The sensor can be dispelled.

ENCHANTMENT

FOLLOW THE LEADER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Brd 4

Components: V S, F

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Living creatures with fewer than 5 HD

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Like the legendary piper, you can play a tune so beguiling that those who hear it feel compelled to follow along behind you, dancing merrily.

You can lure up to 1 HD of eligible creatures for each bard level you possess, up to a maximum of 10 HD.

Those with the fewest hit dice are the first to be affected.

Once you have reached your limit of creatures, the music does not affect any others.

Creatures thus captivated can defend themselves but do not initiate attacks.

If you lead your followers directly into danger, each is allowed another Will save to avoid walking off a cliff, stepping into deep water, or the like.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

GETAWAY

Enchantment (Mind-Affecting)

Level: Asn 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Area: Up to 1 city block/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell helps you elude pursuers by causing them to run down blind alleys, make wrong turns at intersections, and bypass obvious directional indicators during a chase.

Any pursuer who loses sight of you and fails a Will save has a 50% chance of making a wrong turn or heading in the wrong direction, even in the face of physical evidence (such as a dangling rope or an open door) as to your true path.

Material Component: A fox's tail.

INSIDIOUS RHYTHM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour per level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The caster plays a catchy, silly, little tune that sticks in the mind of any subject who fails a Will save.

The endlessly recycling melody makes it very difficult for the subject to cast spells, disarm traps, or perform any other action that requires mental focus.

Thus, the subject incurs a -4 circumstance penalty on all skill checks based on Intelligence and must make a Concentration check (DC = insidious rhythms save DC + level of the spell being attempted) for each spellcasting attempt.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

LULLABY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Living creatures within a 15-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Concentration (see text) plus 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The caster play a gentle melody that lulls the senses of those who hear it.

Any creature within the area that fails a Will save becomes drowsy and inattentive, suffering a -2 circumstance penalty on Spot and Listen checks and a -2 circumstance penalty on Will saves against sleep while the lullaby is in effect.

Many bards use this spell in conjunction with either ambient song or a silent or disguised spell to improve the odds against anyone noticing such a ruse.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

OTTO'S RESISTIBLE DANCE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One living creature per level

Duration: Concentration (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You can play a tune so foot-tappingly appealing that everyone who hears it wants to jump up and dance.

In fact, unless your target makes a successful Will save to resist, that's exactly what happens.

A dancing creature suffers a -2 circumstance penalty to its Armor Class, Will saves, Concentration checks, and Spellcraft checks for as long as you keep playing.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

SONG OF DISCORD

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Creatures within a 15-ft.-radius sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes those within the area to turn on each other rather than attack their foes.

Each affected creature has a 50% chance to attack the nearest target each round.

(Roll to determine each creature's behavior every round at the beginning of its turn).

A creature that does not attack its nearest neighbor is free to act normally for that round.

Creatures forced by a song of discord to attack their fellows employ all methods at their disposal, choosing their deadliest spells and most advantageous combat tactics.

They do not, however, harm targets that have fallen unconscious.

EVOCATION

CRESCENDO

Evocation

Level: Brd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: The caster and all allies within a 30-ft. sphere

Duration: 4 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell creates a martial fanfare that slowly builds in volume, inspiring you and your comrades to ever-greater combat prowess.

During the first round of the spell, the horns and drums can be heard faintly, but no other effect occurs.

On the second round, as the music becomes louder and more inspiring, each affected creature gains a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls.

This bonus increases to +2 in the third round, then to +3 in the fourth round as the music gets louder and louder.

Allies who move more than 30 feet away from you lose the bonus, but they regain it at its then-current level if they later step back within range.

FANFARE

Evocation

Level: Brd 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 100 ft.

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Fanfare creates a trumpet blast so loud that it can shake the foundations of buildings or stop an army in its tracks. Every creature within the area must make a Fortitude save. Success means the creature is stunned for 1d4 rounds and deafened for twice as many rounds; failure means the creature takes 4d6 points of damage in addition to suffering those effects.

Any object made of glass, wood, stone, or metal within the cone takes 2d6 points of damage, ignoring hardness.

Material Component: A small, tin horn.

FORTISSIMO

Evocation

Level: Brd 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature or item

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Fortissimo doubles the volume of one source of sound specified by the caster.

Bards often use this spell to help their music carry to larger audiences—or just be heard over the din of a noisy tavern. When casting fortissimo on a creature, the caster may specify items that the creature is wearing or carrying for inclusion in the effect.

For example, casting fortissimo on a singer and including her lute would make both her song and her accompaniment twice as loud.

If the affected creature or item can generate a sonic or language-based attack, such as a command spell, a harpy's song, the fascinate effect of bardic music, or a horn of blasting, the saving throw DC against that attack increases by +2.

If a sonic attack deals damage (like a shout), the spell increases that damage by +1d6 points.

Fortissimo counters and dispels silence and is countered and dispelled by it.

If cast at a target affected by silence, it negates the effect for that creature or item only.

HARMONIZE

Evocation

Level: Brd 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to 4 bards (including the caster), none of whom can be more than 10 feet from the nearest other target

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell enables two to four bards to pool their talents by performing in a group.

The caster designates one bard to be the lead performer, and the rest provide backup.

Harmonize grants the lead performer a circumstance bonus on Perform checks equal to +1 per three bard levels of the backup performers for the duration of the spell.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

HYMN OF PRAISE

Evocation [Good, Sonic]

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: A sphere with a radius equal to the range, centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can strike up a rousing, inspirational spiritual that temporarily boosts the effective caster level of each good-aligned divine spellcaster within range by +1.

This increase does not grant access to additional spells, but it does improve all spell effects that are dependent on caster level.

In addition, hymn of praise mimics the effect of a hallow spell with respect to turning or rebuking undead.

Within the spell's area, each good-aligned divine spellcaster gains a +4 sacred bonus on Charisma checks to turn undead, and each evil-aligned divine spellcaster incurs a -4 sacred penalty on Charisma checks to rebuke undead.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

INFERNAL THRENODY

Evocation [Evil, Sonic]

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: A sphere with a radius equal to the range, centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can strike up a pulsing, powerful rhythm that temporarily boosts the effective caster level of each evil-aligned divine spellcaster within range by +1.

This increase does not grant access to more spells, but it does improve all spell effects that are dependent on caster level.

In addition, infernal threnody mimics the effect of an unhallow spell with respect to turning or rebuking undead. Within the spell's area, each evil-aligned divine spellcaster gains a +4 profane bonus on Charisma checks to rebuke undead, and each good-aligned divine spellcaster incurs a –4 profane penalty on Charisma checks to turn undead.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

PROTÉGÉ

Evocation

Level: Brd 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute per caster level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can briefly grant bardic abilities to a creature of your choice.

The subject of the spell can then function as a bard of half your current bard level with respect to bardic music and bardic knowledge.

However, protégé imparts no spellcasting ability and does not grant access to spells not normally available to the subject.

For Perform checks and bardic music prerequisites, the creature uses its own ranks in Perform or half of yours, whichever is better.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

SYMPATHETIC VIBRATION

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One freestanding structure

Duration: Up to 1 round per level

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

By attuning yourself to a freestanding structure such as a building, bridge, or dam, you can create a damaging vibration within it.

Once it begins, the vibration deals 2d10 points of damage per round to the target structure.

You can choose at the time of casting to limit the duration of the spell; otherwise it lasts for 1 round/level, if cast upon a target that is not freestanding, such as a hillside, the surrounding stone dissipates the effect and no damage occurs.

Sympathetic vibration cannot affect living creatures.

A structure gets no saving throw, but a construct gets a Will save to resist the effects.

Material Component: A tuning fork.

WAIL OF DOOM

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Cone

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Anyone caught in the cone of this spell suffers excruciating pain and is disheartened and demoralized besides.

Each creature that fails its Will save takes 1d4 points of damage per caster level, suffers a –2 morale penalty on saving throws for 1 round per caster level, and flees from the caster for the same period.

A fleeing creature has a 50% chance to drop whatever it's holding.

It chooses a random path of flight away from the caster and flees any other dangers that confront it as well.

If cornered, the affected creature cowers instead of fleeing (see Condition Summary in Chapter 3 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

ILLUSION

AMBIENT SONG

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal (see text)

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief

Spell Resistance: No

Ambient song transforms the sounds needed to produce any bardic music effect into background noise.

Those who hear bardic music masked in this way remain unaware of its true nature, though it still has its normal effects.

For example, you could use this spell to make a song intended to inspire competence sound like the chirping of crickets, the rustling of leaves, or the crackling of the campfire.

You choose what your ambient song sounds like, but it should be a noise that's in harmony with the immediate environment.

A subject who makes a successful Will save realizes that the sound has been altered and can hear its true nature.

Material Component: A small bit of whatever naturally makes the sound you're trying to mimic.

For example, a cricket's leg, a dried leaf, or a charred twig would produce the ambient song effects mentioned above.

CHOIR

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Three illusory performers

Duration: Concentration + 4 rounds

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (see below)

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates spectral accompanists.

They appear to be normal performers of any humanoid race (caster's choice) who back up the bard's performance by playing, dancing, singing, or any other means the caster desires.

They can also interact with others on a limited basis—smiling, nodding, responding to questions with a few stock phrases, serving as dance partners, and the like. These illusory performers grant the caster a +2 circumstance bonus on Perform checks for the spell's duration.

Choir is a Pattern, not a Figment—creatures that become aware of the accompanists' spectral nature can still see them.

However, not only does a successful Will save negate the bard's bonus on Perform checks with respect to that creature, it also imposes a -2 circumstance penalty on those checks for the remainder of the spell's duration.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

PERCUSSION

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Brd 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Illusory sounds

Duration: 5 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

Percussion fills the immediate area with the sounds of drums, chimes, and other percussive instruments.

The music can range from the gentle tapping of a single tom-tom to the thunder of a squad of drummers.

Upon casting the spell, you set the tempo of the drums and the rhythm they repeat.

Thereafter, you can change the tempo, rhythm, or volume simply by concentrating for 1 round.

Bards often use this spell to provide background accompaniment for their own music and songs.

The sounds produced are no louder than real drums would be, but the effect is realistic enough to fool anyone who can't see that no drummers are present.

Material Component: Two smooth wooden sticks, which you must touch together to cast the spell.

SPECTRAL WEAPON

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Effect: One weapon

Duration: Up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using material from the Plane of Shadow, you can fashion a quasi-real weapon of any type you are proficient with.

This spectral weapon appears in your hand and behaves as a normal weapon of its type, with one exception: Any foe who makes a successful Will save recognizes its shadowy nature and thereafter takes only one-fifth normal damage from it.

The weapon has the ghost touch ability and is +1 for every 5 levels of the bard casting the spell.

You can maintain only one spectral weapon at a time, and only you can wield it.

The weapon dissipates when you let go of it or when the spell's duration expires, whichever comes first.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

ZONE OF SILENCE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 5-ft. radius

Area: 5-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

By casting zone of silence, you can manipulate sound waves in your immediate vicinity so that you and those within the spell's area can converse normally, yet no one outside can hear your voices or any other noises from within.

This effect is centered on you and moves with you.

Anyone who enters the zone immediately becomes subject to its effects, but those who leave are no longer affected.

Note, however, that a successful Read Lips attempt can still reveal what's said inside a zone of silence.

Focus: The caster's instrument.

TRANSMUTATION

ABSORB WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Asn 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Effect: One touched weapon not in another creature's possession

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You can harmlessly absorb any light weapon you touch (even a poisoned one) into your arm, as long as it is not in another creature's possession.

The absorbed weapon cannot be felt under the skin and doesn't restrict your range of motion in any way.

An absorbed weapon cannot be detected with even a careful search, although a detect magic spell reveals the presence of a magical aura.

The only evidence of the weapon is a faint blotch on the skin that's shaped vaguely like the weapon.

When you touch the spot (an action equivalent to drawing a weapon), or when the spell duration expires, the weapon appears in your hand and the spell ends.

An intelligent magic weapon gets a saving throw against this spell, but other weapons do not.

ALLEGRO

Transmutation

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: Creatures within a 10-ft.-radius burst, centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell makes you and your companions extraordinarily fleet of foot by doubling each subject's speed and maximum jumping distance (treated as an enhancement bonus to both).

Affected creatures retain these effects for the duration of the spell, even if they leave the original area.

Material Component: A tail feather from a bird of prey.

BLUNT WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Brd 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: All piercing and slashing weapons within a 20-ft radius burst

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Blunt weapon reduces the effectiveness of certain weapons by rendering them semisubstantial.

Affected weapons appear shimmery or shadowy when examined closely, but the wielder must specifically examine the weapon (a move-equivalent action) to notice the effect.

An affected weapon retains its full enhancement bonus and magical abilities (if any), but its base damage is reduced by half.

The strength bonus of the wielder still applies normally to attacks and damage.

A weapon carried by a creature uses that creature's Fortitude saving throw.

A magic weapon gets a bonus equal to its enhancement bonus on this save.

Only manufactured piercing and slashing weapons are affected by blunt weapon.

It has no effect on natural weapons.

Arrows and other projectile weapons affected by the spell remain blunted even after they leave the spell's area.

EASY MATH

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: No (see below)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This minor magical effect makes counting and calculating a breeze.

You can estimate the number of gold pieces in a pile, the distance of a gap you might have to leap, the number of foes rushing toward you, or the like—all in a flash.

To make such an estimate, make a Perform check (DC 15).

Success means your guess is within 10% of the true figure; failure means it is off by 20/6 or more.

The exact extent of such a miscalculation is up to the DM.

FINE-TUNING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 0

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: One instrument

Duration: 1 minute per level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell enables the caster to make an ordinary instrument perform as if it were of masterwork quality.

For the duration of the spell, the instrument grants the user a +2 circumstance bonus on Perform checks, or an alternate effect as described in Chapter 3 for that instrument type, if desired.

Fine-tuning has no effect if cast upon an instrument already of masterwork quality.

Focus: The target of the spell.

HARMONIC CHORUS

Transmutation

Level: Brd 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Harmonic chorus lets you improve the spellcasting ability of another spellcaster.

For the duration of the spell, the save DCs for all spells that the subject casts increase by 1d4+1.

If such a spell deals damage, that damage increases by +1 point per die.

For example, if you cast harmonic chorus on a 9th-level wizard who in turn casts fireball, the DC of the fireball's Reflex save would increase by 1d4+1, and the spell would deal 9d6+9 points of fire damage.

Other variable aspects of the spell (range, duration, and so forth) remain unchanged.

The benefits of multiple harmonic chorus spells stack only when they are cast by different casters.

Material Component: A tuning fork.

IMPROVISATION

Transmutation

Level: Brd 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Improvisation makes available a floating "pool" of bonus points that the caster can use as desired to improve his or her odds of success at various tasks.

This bonus pool consists of 2 points per level, which the caster can divide as desired among attack rolls and skill or ability checks.

The caster must declare any bonus-point usage before the appropriate rolls are made.

Used points disappear from the pool, and any points remaining when the spell ends are wasted.

These points count as luck bonuses for purposes of stacking.

For example, a 14th-level bard pauses from chasing a pickpocket to cast improvisation.

Over the next 14 rounds, he could add +8 to a Spot check, +6 to a Climb check, and +7 to two of his attack rolls.

Material Component: A pair of dice.

SNIPER'S EYE

Transmutation

Level: Asn 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Effect: Personal

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell magically enhances your senses, making you deadly with ranged weapons.

When you cast sniper's eye, you gain the following benefits:

- Darkvision as a spell-like ability, lasting for the duration of sniper's eye.
- The ability to make a ranged sneak attack against anyone within 60 feet, rather than the usual 30 feet.
- The ability to make a death attack with a ranged weapon within 30 feet.
- A +15 competence bonus on Spot checks.

Sniper's eye attunes you completely to the vantage point you have when you cast the spell.

You understand the nuances of the breeze and every angle and shadow—from that spot.

If you move more than 5 feet from there, you lose the benefits of sniper's eye until you return within the spell's duration.

Material Component: A magnifying glass lens.

SPRING SHEATH

Transmutation

Level: Asn 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Effect: One sheath, buckle, or strap

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You can use this spell to turn an ordinary weapon sheath into a helpful magic device.

Any quick hand motion in front of the affected weapon-holding device (a free action) causes the weapon inside to shoot forth of its own volition and settle into your hand.

The overall effect is the same as that of the Quick Draw feat.

Although this spell is usually cast on a sword sheath, it also works on the straps, buckles, and pockets that hold other weapons.

You could, for example, cast spring sheath on the strap of the backpack that usually holds your longbow to make that weapon fly into your hand.

SPELL COMPENDIUM (3.5)

ABJURATION

ABSORPTION

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Until expended or 10 minutes/level

As you complete the spell's intricate gestures, you detect a slight buzz at the edge of your hearing.

Your body feels warmer, and a feeling of security fills you.

Spells and spell-like effects that target you are absorbed, their energy stored to power spells of your own.

Absorption absorbs only ranged spells that have you as a target.

Touch spells, effect spells, and area spells that affect you cannot be absorbed.

Once the spell is cast, you can absorb 1d4+6 spell levels (rolled secretly by the DM).

The level of each spell you absorb is subtracted from the total.

If a spell is only partially absorbed (because its level exceeds the number of levels remaining to be absorbed), divide the number of spell levels left unabsorbed by the original spell level.

For spells that deal damage, use the result to determine what fraction of the damage you take.

For spells that create effects, use the result as a percentage chance to be affected.

For example, you have three spell levels of absorption remaining and are struck by dominate person cast as a 5th-level spell.

Absorption absorbs three levels of the spell, resulting in a 40% chance (2/5) that you will be affected normally.

If affected, any saving throw the spell allows you still applies.

Likewise, if you're struck by disintegrate cast as a 6th-level spell with four levels of absorption remaining, two levels of the spell remain, and you take only 33% (1/3) of the damage you would normally take from the spell.

You can use captured spell energy to cast any spell you know or have prepared, but spells so cast don't disappear from your list of prepared spells or count against the number of spells you can normally cast per day (so you so must keep a running total of spell levels absorbed and used).

The levels of spell energy you have stored must be equal to or greater than the level of the spell you want to cast, and you must have at hand (and expend) any material components required for the spell.

AIMING AT THE TARGET

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Concentration, up to 20 minutes; see text

As you intone the words of power to release this spell, you feel far more focused on the spell on which you have been concentrating.

When you cast this spell, you increase your ability to concentrate on a spell you have already cast.

You can cast this spell while maintaining concentration on another spell.

Aiming at the target gives you a +10 circumstance bonus on Concentration checks you make to maintain concentration on the other spell, and its effect lasts as long as you concentrate on the other spell (to a maximum of 20 minutes).

ALARM, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Duration: 4 hours/level (D)

Uttering a low chant, you ring a crystal bell with the drumming of your fingernails, bringing into being an invisible warded area.

This spell functions like alarm (PH 197), and in addition the spell works on creatures traveling through the area on coterminous or coexistent planes (DMG 150), such the Ethereal Plane and the Plane of Shadow.

Focus: A bell made of carved crystal, worth at least 100 gp.

ANGELSKIN

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Lawful good creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your ally with the holy symbol and invoke the blessed words.

An opalescent glow spreads across her skin, imbuing it with a pearl-like sheen.

The subject gains damage reduction 5/evil.

ANTICIPATE TELEPORTATION

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: One willing creature touched

Area: 5-ft./level radius emanation from touched creature

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The arcane words that activate this spell linger in the air for a moment.

As they fade from your hearing, you become more aware of both your surroundings and the possibility of intrusion.

The subject of the spell is surrounded with an invisible aura that anticipates and delays the teleportation of any creature into the spell's area.

Any teleportation spell or effect (including all spells with the teleportation descriptor) can be anticipated, making the spell's recipient instantly aware of the exact location where the teleporting creature will arrive (subject to the restrictions below), the creature's size, and how many other creatures (and their sizes) are arriving with the teleporting creature.

The spell also delays the arrival of the teleporting creature by 1 round (so that it arrives on its initiative count immediately before its next turn), generally giving the recipient of the spell and anyone else made aware of the information 1 round to act or ready actions.

The teleporting creature does not perceive this delay.

Since a teleporting creature doesn't necessarily arrive at the precise location it intends, the spell also functions against a creature that arrives in range even though its intended destination was elsewhere.

For a creature that intends to teleport into range but inadvertently arrives outside the spell's area, the spell gives the recipient awareness that a creature has attempted to teleport into range and delays the creature as normal, but doesn't give any awareness as to the actual location of its imminent arrival.

The spell has no effect on creatures attempting to teleport away from the spell's area, although if their destination is within the area, the spell will affect their reentry as normal.

Focus: A tiny hourglass of platinum and crystal costing at least 500 gp, which must be carried or worn by the spell's recipient while the spell is in effect.

ANTICIPATE TELEPORTATION, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6 This spell functions like anticipate teleportation, except that greater anticipate teleportation identifies the type of the arriving creature (and any companions accompanying it) and creates a delay of 3 rounds, providing the recipient with even more warning and preparation time.

Focus: A tiny hourglass of platinum and crystal filled with diamond dust, costing at least 1,000 gp.

The hourglass must be carried or worn by the spell's recipient while the spell is in effect.

ANTICOLD SPHERE

Abjuration [Cold]

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

As a rosy color flickers into being in the surrounding air, you feel a sense of warmth and well-being.

All creatures within the area of the spell gain immunity to cold damage.

In addition, the emanation prevents the entrance of any creature with the cold subtype.

The effect hedges out such creatures in the area when it is cast.

Note: Forcing an abjuration barrier against creatures that the spell keeps at bay collapses the barrier (PH 172).

ANTIDRAGON AURA

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/2 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You unleash the power of this spell and the nugget of platinum vanishes from your palm.

Your companions are bathed in a white aura with a silver scale pattern overlaid upon it.

All subjects gain a +2 luck bonus to Armor Class and on saving throws against the attacks, spells, and special attacks (extraordinary, supernatural, and spell-like) of dragons.

This bonus increases by 1 for every four caster levels above 5th (to +3 at 9th, +4 at 13th, and a maximum of +5 at 17th).

Material Component: A chunk of platinum worth at least 25 gp (slightly less than 1 ounce).

ANTIMAGIC RAY

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you cast this spell, an invisible ray projects from your fingers.

Where it strikes your foe, it ripples across his body, like water spreading across a calm pond.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The target, if struck, functions as if it were inside an antimagic field (PH 200) if it fails its Will save.

If this spell is used against a creature, the subject can't cast spells or use supernatural or spell-like abilities, nor do such abilities have any effect on the creature.

However, the creature can still use spell completion items (such as scrolls) or spell trigger items (such as wands), even though it can't cast the spells required.

If this spell is used against an object, that object's magical powers are suppressed—including any spells previously cast and currently in effect on the item, as well as any spells or magical effects targeted on the object during the antimagic ray's duration.

The spell doesn't affect any objects other than the subject itself, even if those objects are worn, carried by, or in contact with the subject.

For instance, if a creature is the target, its equipment remains unaffected.

Material Component: A pinch of iron filings mixed with ruby dust worth 100 gp.

ARMOR OF DARKNESS

Abjuration [Darkness]

Level: Darkness 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The spell envelops the creature in a shroud of flickering shadows.

The shroud grants the subject a +4 deflection bonus to Armor Class plus an additional +1 for every three caster levels above 7th (for a total of +5 at 10th level, +6 at 13th, +7 at 16th, to a maximum of +8 at 19th level).

The subject can see through the armor as if it did not exist and is also afforded darkvision out to 60 feet.

The subject gains a +2 saving throw bonus against any holy, good, or light spells or effects.

Undead creatures that are subjects of armor of darkness also gain +4 turn resistance.

AURA AGAINST FLAME

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2, druid 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

With the casting of this spell you are surrounded with a cool, blue mist that clings to your body, dampening the heat of the nearby flames.

You create an aura of blue mist that protects you against fire, absorbing the first 10 points of fire damage as a resist energy (fire) spell (PH 272).

In addition to the resist energy (fire) effect, the spell can be used to snuff out fires.

Any nonmagical flame that the aura contacts is immediately extinguished if the flame's maximum damage is 10 or fewer points per round.

This means that torches, small fires, and hurled alchemist's fire are snuffed out and cause no damage if used against you or if you touch them.

You can use a standard action to touch an existing magical fire (such as a flaming sphere or a wall of fire) and attempt to dispel it as if using a dispel magic spell against it (use the caster level of aura against flame for the caster level check).

If you succeed, you take no damage from the touch and the magical fire and aura both vanish.

If you fail, you take damage from the magical fire source normally (reduced by your aura against flame), and both spells remain.

With a readied action, you can use the aura as a dispel magic effect to counterspell a magical fire attack against you. If successful, the spell is counterspelled and the aura disappears. If you fail the dispel check, or if the attack is not a fire attack, the aura remains.

AURA OF EVASION

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: No

"Stay together", you shout, and intone the words of this spell, casting the crushed gemstone in the air at its conclusion.

You are all bathed in a silver-green nimbus of light.

You and all creatures within 10 feet of you gain evasion, but only against breath weapons.

(If a breath weapon would normally allow a Reflex saving throw for half damage, a creature within an aura of evasion that successfully saves takes no damage instead).

Creatures within the spell's area that already have evasion or improved evasion get a +4 bonus on Reflex saving throws against breath weapons.

Material Component: Powdered emerald worth 500 gp.

AVOID PLANAR EFFECTS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The danger of the plane surprises you, and you have barely time to bark out a few elder words of power.

In a moment you're safe, and you gain a brief respite—time enough to cast more permanent protective spells.

You gain a temporary respite from the natural effects of a specific plane.

These effects include extremes in temperature, lack of air, poisonous fumes, emanations of positive or negative energy, or other attributes of the plane itself (DMG 150).

Avoid planar effects provides protection from the 3d10 points of fire damage that characters normally take when on a plane with the fire-dominant trait.

Avoid planar effects allows a character to breathe water on a water-dominant plane and ignore the threat of suffocation on an earth-dominant plane.

A character protected by avoid planar effects can't be blinded by the energy of a major positive-dominant plane and automatically stops gaining temporary hit points when they equal the character's full normal hit point total.

Negative-dominant planes don't deal damage or bestow negative levels to characters protected by avoid planar effects.

In addition, some effects specific to a plane are negated by avoid planar effects.

In the D&D cosmology, avoid planar effects negates the deafening effect of Pandemonium and the cold damage on the Cania layer of the Nine Hells.

The DM can add additional protections for a cosmology he creates.

If the campaign has an Elemental Plane of Cold, for example, avoid planar effects protects against the base cold damage dealt to everyone on the plane.

The effects of gravity traits, alignment traits, and magic traits aren't negated by avoid planar effects, nor is the special entrapping trait of certain planes (such as Elysium and Hades).

The spell does not provide protection against creatures, native or otherwise, nor does it protect against spells, special abilities, or extreme and nonnatural formations within the plane.

This spell allows you to survive on the Elemental Plane of Earth, for instance, but it won't protect you if you walk into a pool of magma on that same plane.

Level: Paladin 3

Components: V, S, M

Abjuration

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A nimbus of silver rays surrounds the warrior's head as you touch him and invoke the spell's holy power.

His thoughts grow clearer, and he is better able to see through the mind-warping effects of spells.

You grant the subject a +4 insight bonus on saving throws against all mind-affecting spells and effects.

If the subject of clarity of mind attacks a creature that has concealment and fails the miss chance roll, he can reroll the miss chance once to see if his attack actually hit the target.

CLEAR MIND

Abjuration

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

A silver glow sheathes your body as you complete the spell.

You gain a +4 sacred bonus on saving throws made against mind-affecting spells and effects.

CLOAK OF BRAVERY

Abjuration [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 3, Courage 3, paladin 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Summoning up your courage, you throw out your arm and sweep it over the area, cloaking all your allies in a glittering mantle of magic that bolsters their bravery.

All allies within the emanation (including you) gain a morale bonus on saves against fear effects equal to your caster level (to a maximum of +10 at caster level 10th).

CLOAK OF BRAVERY, GREATER

Abjuration [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Courage 9

Range: 1 mile; see text

Area: 1-mile-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 hour/level

This spell functions like cloak of bravery, except all allies within the emanation (including you) are immune to fear effects and gain a +2 morale bonus on attack rolls.

Allies who don't have line of sight to you are unaffected.

CLOAK OF DARK POWER

Abjuration

Level: Drow 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A dim gray haze appears around the creature.

Light bends around this haze, leaving the creature in a patch of strange and shifting darkness.

Cloak of dark power creates a dusky haze around the subject. The haze does not interfere with vision, but the subject and anything it wears or carries is protected from the effects of full sunlight, even under the open, daytime sky of the surface world.

A drow subject suffers no blindness or bright illumination combat penalties while under the effect of cloak of dark power.

The subject also gains a +4 resistance bonus on saves against light or darkness spells or effects.

CONTINGENT ENERGY RESISTANCE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

As you finish chanting the words, a pearlescent film covers your body before fading into your skin, a pale rainbow of colors offering their protection against potential damage to come.

This spell functions similarly to contingency (PH 213), but with a more limited scope.

While contingent energy resistance is in effect, if you are dealt damage associated with one of the five types of energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic), the spell automatically grants you resistance 10 against that type of energy for up to 10 minutes per caster level, or until the remainder of the spell's duration, just as if you were under the effect of a resist energy spell of the appropriate type.

Once the energy type protected against by a particular casting of this spell is determined, it can't be changed.

You can't have more than one contingent energy resistance in effect on yourself at the same time—if you cast the spell a second time while an earlier casting is still in effect, the earlier spell automatically expires.

The energy resistance granted by this spell does not stack with similar benefits against the same energy type (such as from the resist energy spell).

However, it is possible to be simultaneously under the effect of resist energy (fire) and contingent energy resistance (electricity), or any other two such spells that protect against different types of energy.

Material Component: An oyster shell.

CONVICTION

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You hold the holy passage in your hand and touch your ally, intoning the spell.

A sea-blue nimbus of light blossoms about his head and shoulders, strengthening his resolve.

This spell bolsters the mental, physical, and spiritual strength of the creature touched.

The spell grants the subject a +2 morale bonus on saving throws, with an additional +1 to the bonus for every six caster levels you have (maximum +5 morale bonus at 18th level).

Material Component: A small parchment with a bit of holy text written upon it.

CONVICTION, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Allies in a 20-ft.-radius burst

You hold the holy passage aloft and invoke the power of its words. Around you, your friends are bathed in a sea-blue nimbus of light. This spell functions like conviction, except that it affects multiple allies at a distance.

COUNTERMOON

Abjuration

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One lycanthrope

Duration: 12 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (D)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Translucent red chains fly from your outstretched hand to wrap around the target before fading away.

This spell forces a lycanthrope back to its natural form and keeps it from changing form, preventing both voluntary shapechanging through the alternate form ability and involuntary shapechanging because of lycanthropy.

Material Component: A hair, scale, or other cast-off item from the type of creature.

DAGGERSPELL STANCE

Abjuration

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

The daggers in your hands glow silver as you complete the spell. They feel as if they have become a part of your body.

While this spell is in effect, if you make a full attack while holding a dagger in each hand, you gain a +2 insight bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls made with daggers in that round.

The magical energy that permeates your daggers while this spell is active allows you to deflect the magical energy of spells.

When wielding two daggers and fighting defensively, you gain spell resistance equal to 5 + your caster level.

The spell focuses your concentration so that when you devote all of your attention to defense, you can turn the force of most blows away from your body with your daggers.

When wielding two daggers and using the total defense action, you gain both the spell resistance benefit described above and damage reduction 5/magic.

Focus: A pair of daggers.

DANCE OF THE UNICORN

Abjuration

Level: Druid 5, Purification 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 5 ft./level

Area: 5 ft./level-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Whirling your pointed finger through a complex gesture, you create a cool and fresh mist that cleanses the air of pollutants.

You surround yourself with a purifying, swirling mist that washes the air clean of smoke, dust, and poisons.

Nonmagical contaminants, including inhaled poisons, are automatically negated within the cloud.

Dance of the unicorn also grants everyone within the mist a +4 bonus on saving throws against magical or supernatural gas effects, such as acid fog, cloudkill, and green dragon breath.

The cloud of mist leaves everything within its area damp.

DAWN

Abjuration

Level: Druid 0, ranger 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: 15 ft.

Target: All creatures in a 15-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With a cry similar to a rooster's you cast the spell.

For a moment you feel as if you had just awakened from a comfortable nap, but as the feeling fades, those around you begin to stir.

All sleeping creatures in the affected area awaken.

Those who are unconscious because of nonlethal damage wake up and are staggered.

This spell does not affect dying creatures.

DEMONHIDE

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Evil creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your minion with your holy symbol and invoke the horrid words of the lower planes.

A fiery glow spreads across your servant's skin, leaving it with a deep red luster.

The subject gains damage reduction 5/cold iron or good.

DISPEL WARD

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One warded object or area

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Your head throbs with energy as you recite the final few phrases of the spell.

A moment later, the energy releases and the area you designated as the spell's target glows silver for several seconds.

You hear a sound like a mechanical object winding down.

This spell functions like dispel magic (PH 223), except that it can be used only in the targeted or area version, and it affects only abjuration magic placed upon objects or areas (such as arcane lock, explosive runes, fire trap, glyph of warding, and guards and wards).

The maximum bonus on the level check is +10.

DISPELLING BREATH

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

You exhale a cloud of poisonous gas mixed with starlight notes that gravitate toward the spellcasters and summoned monsters within the cloud.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, your breath weapon acts as a targeted dispel magic (PH 223).

For each creature or object that fails its saving throw against your breath weapon and that is the subject of one or more spells, you make a dispel check against the highest level spell currently in effect on the object or creature.

A dispel check is 1d20 + 1 per caster level (maximum +15) against a DC of 11 + the spell's caster level.

If that check fails, you make dispel checks against progressively weaker spells until you dispel one spell or until you fail all your checks.

A creature's magic items are not affected, and creatures and objects that rolled successful saving throws against your breath weapon are likewise not affected.

If a creature that is the effect of an ongoing spell (such as a monster summoned by monster summoning), is in the area and fails its saving throw against your breath weapon, you can also make a dispel check to end the spell that conjured the creature (returning it whence it came).

For each ongoing area or effect spell centered within the area of your breath weapon, you make a dispel check to dispel the spell.

Spells are dispelled prior to the effect of your breath weapon being resolved.

You can choose to automatically succeed on dispel checks against any spell in the area that you have cast.

DISPELLING SCREEN

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Energy wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level, or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By tossing down the sheet of crystal in your hand and completing the mysterious words of power needed to release the energy of the spell, you create an immobile, shimmering screen of violet energy.

Any spell effect operating on a creature or unattended object that passes through the screen is affected as by a targeted dispel magic (PH 223) at your caster level.

Attended items that pass through are not affected by the screen, which is the only way the screen differs from a normal targeted casting of dispel magic—attended items are essentially not targeted by the screen.

Make a caster level check (1d20 + 1 per caster level, maximum +10) to dispel spell effects (DC 11 + caster level) or suppress an unattended object's magical properties for 1d4 rounds (DC equal to the item's caster level).

Spell effects not operating on objects or creatures cannot pass through the screen.

A disintegrate or successful dispel magic removes dispelling screen, while an antimagic field suppresses it.

Material Component: A sheet of fine lead crystal.

DISPELLING SCREEN, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Drow 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

This spell functions like dispelling screen, except that the maximum caster level bonus on the dispel check is +20.

DISSONANT CHANT

Abjuration [Sonic]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 100-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your intricate hand motions slow and then stop even as you begin chanting the arcane words that unlock the spell's power.

As you conclude, your disembodied words continue on, growing both in tempo and volume.

You create a distracting and discordant chant.

Affected creatures that attempt spellcasting or other activities that require concentration must make Concentration checks (DC equal to this spell's DC + the level of the spell being cast).

The DCs of activities that already require Concentration checks, such as casting defensively, increase by 4.

Creatures within the area gain a +4 bonus on saving throws against language-dependent effects.

DISTRACTING RAY

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You blast a nearby creature with a multicolored ray.

The ray explodes on contact to form a dizzying array of bizarre swirling and flashing lights around the targeted creature.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

This ray attempts to undo magic as it is being cast.

Used in the same manner as a counterspell (as a readied action), the ray interferes with the manipulation of divine or arcane magic by dazzling the target.

If the ray successfully strikes a spellcaster, and that spellcaster is in the process of casting a spell, then the target spellcaster must make a Concentration check to avoid losing the spell.

The DC of the Concentration check is equal to 17 + the level of the spell the target is casting.

DIVINE INTERDICTION

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on a creature, object, or point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates or None (object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes or No (object); see text

You shout out a plea, calling upon your deity to quell the power of another deity's follower.

This spell can be cast at a point in space, but the effect is stationary unless cast on a mobile object.

The spell can be cast on a creature, and the effect then radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

A creature can attempt a Will save to negate the spell, and spell resistance, if any, applies if the spell is cast on a creature.

Divine interdiction interferes with a cleric's connection to her divine source of power, resulting in a temporary loss of the ability to turn or rebuke creatures and loss of granted domain powers.

Paladins, blackguards, and other classes capable of rebuking and turning also suffer a temporary loss of this ability.

This affects the subject's ability to channel energy through the use of a turn or rebuke attempt, and so also interferes with the use of many divine feats.

DUELWARD

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged (D)

The air around you crackles with magical energy as you finish uttering the last syllables of the spell's formula.

You immediately feel as if your link to the arcane somehow has increased, filling you with confidence and a sense of security.

While a duelward spell is in effect, counterspelling is an immediate action for you, allowing you to counterspell even when it is not your turn without having previously readied an action.

You also gain a +4 competence bonus on Spellcraft checks made to identify spells being cast.

The first time you successfully counterspell while the spell is in effect (whether you counterspell as an immediate action or not), duelward is discharged.

Material Component: A miniature silk glove.

EARTH LOCK

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One 1-foot length of tunnel with a diameter of up to 10 feet

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You scribe a spiral in the air with the diamond-tipped bit of charcoal, chanting the words of the spell.

Immediately the sides of the cavern begin to contract, sealing the passage behind you.

You cause a 1-foot length of subterranean tunnel to constrict, "locking" it against others who might wish to traverse its length.

This spell affects only naturally occurring tunnels or worked tunnels that are surrounded on all sides by unworked, natural, subterranean earth.

You can affect any tunnel whose diameter does not exceed 10 feet.

A square-sided or rough tunnel can also be affected, as long as its diameter at the point where the spell is cast does not exceed 10 feet.

The constriction takes 1 round to complete.

Any Large or smaller object or creature that partially blocks the constriction point is pushed, unharmed, to one side or the other.

(A creature can decide which way to move; an object moves randomly).

A Large or larger object or creature that blocks the constriction point prevents the spell from working until moved.

You can freely pass through tunnels that you have secured with this spell.

(The constriction opens and closes on your command, taking 1 round for either process).

A tunnel secured with earth lock can be bypassed by others in several ways.

A DC 20 Escape Artist check allows the creature making the check to squeeze through the constriction but leaves it intact.

A DC 25 Strength check breaks the constriction and ends the spell.

A successful dispel magic or knock spell opens the constriction—the former by ending the spell and the latter by suppressing it for 10 minutes.

If a creature burrows through the earth lock, the spell ends.

The constricted tunnel can also be dug out normally. Identifying a tunnel secured with earth lock (as opposed to a tunnel that just ends) requires a DC 20 Search check.
Material Component: A diamond chip worth at least 50 gp, embedded in a piece of charcoal.

EARTHEN GRACE

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You sprinkle the spell's component on your target, causing its skin to momentarily take on the speckled gray look of granite.

The smell of dust hangs heavily in the air.

You grant the subject an affinity for earth and stone.

Any damage the subject takes from a stone or earthen source counts as nonlethal damage for the duration of the spell.

Natural attacks by creatures made of earth or stone (such as stone golems), natural attacks by creatures of the earth subtype, and attacks by stone weapons (such as a stone hammer or a sling stone) instead deal nonlethal damage, as does falling damage when the subject lands on rock or earth.

When the nonlethal damage the subject has taken (from any source) equals the subject's current hit points, the spell ends, and any further damage from a stone or earthen source causes damage normally.

Material Component: A chunk of granite.

EASY TRAIL

Abjuration

Level: Druid 2, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: 40-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You sweep your arm as if to push aside a branch and simultaneously call out for the plants around you to move aside.

Obediently, the plants surrounding you oblige.

Anyone in the area of the spell (including you) finds the undergrowth held aside while they pass.

This effect essentially provides a trail through any kind of undergrowth, and you treat any trackless terrain as having a trail (PH 164).

Once the effect of the spell passes, the plants return to their normal shape.

The DC to track anyone who traveled within the area of this spell increases by 5 (the equivalent of hiding the trail).

This spell has no effect on plant creatures (that is, they aren't pushed or held aside by its effect).

ECTOPLASMIC ARMOR

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

With a final word, shimmering translucent slime appears around the target and fits to its form like a suit of plate.

The subject of the spell gains a +5 armor bonus to AC, with an additional +1 to the bonus for every four caster levels you have (maximum +9 bonus at 16th level).

This armor bonus applies only against incorporeal touch attacks.

All other attacks ignore the armor bonus from ectoplasmic armor.

ECTOPLASMIC FEEDBACK

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: See text

A shimmering sheath of energy surrounds you, promising harm to incorporeal creatures that touch you.

Any creature that hits you with an incorporeal touch attack takes 1d6 points of force damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10).

If the attacker has spell resistance, it applies to this effect.

EFFULGENT EPURATION

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One magic-absorbing sphere per caster level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Completing the powerful spell, you bring into being floating spheres of silver, like bubbles of mercury.

When you cast this spell, you bring forth one floating, silvery sphere per caster level, each about the size of your head.

These spheres hover around you to provide protection from magical effects.

As a standard action, you can shift the spell's effect (and thus all the spheres) to any other creature within range.

You can shift the effect once per round.

Each of these spheres can absorb and completely negate any spell or spell-like ability, regardless of level, that directly targets the subject.

The spheres do not automatically absorb all spells; the subject can choose whether or not to let them absorb any given spell cast upon it.

(This option allows the creature to benefit from helpful spells).

Area spells and spells that do not actually have a target cannot be absorbed.

Once a sphere has absorbed a spell or spell-like ability, it simply fades away.

Only spells and spell-like abilities of deific power can overcome the protection provided by effulgent epuration.

ENERGIZED SHIELD

Abjuration [see text for lesser energized shield]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2 This spell functions like lesser energized shield, except that the energy resistance is 10 and damage dealt is 2d6.

ENERGIZED SHIELD, LESSER

Abjuration [see text]

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Shield touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A silver aura surrounds the touched shield for a moment before it appears to transform into the chosen type of energy.

The shield hums with power.

When this spell is cast, the shield touched appears to be made entirely out of one type of energy (fire, cold, electricity, acid, or sonic).

Whoever bears the shield gains resistance 5 against the chosen energy type.

Additionally, if the wielder successfully hits someone with the shield with a shield bash attack, the victim takes 1d6 points of the appropriate energy damage in addition to the normal shield bash damage.

The energy type must be chosen when the spell is cast and cannot be changed during the duration of the spell.

The energy resistance overlaps (and does not stack) with resist elements.

A given shield cannot be the subject of more than one lesser energized shield or energized shield spell at the same time.

The descriptor of this spell is the same as the energy type you choose when you cast it.

ENERGY IMMUNITY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A sense of security fills you as you complete the spell.

As you touch the intended target of the spell, the feeling lingers for a moment before fading.

This abjuration grants a creature and its equipment complete immunity to damage from one of the five energy types—acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic.

Energy immunity absorbs only hit point damage, so the recipient could still suffer side effects such as drowning in acid, being deafened by a sonic attack, or becoming immobilized in ice (and thus helpless).

Energy immunity overlaps protection from energy and resist energy.

As long as energy immunity is in effect, the other spells absorb no damage.

ERADICATE EARTH

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: 40-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You grasp the stone firmly and point your fist outward.

You feel the stone vanish, and a huge, silent explosion ripples through the air.

A shock wave radiates from you, seismically damaging all nearby creatures that have the earth subtype.

Any such creature that is within the area of the spell takes 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

Material Component: A small stone.

EYE OF THE HURRICANE

Abjuration [Air]

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 ft.

Area: 40-ft.-radius emanation centered on you, with 10-ft.-radius quiet area centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your voice trails off into whispers as you near the end of the spell's complex ritual.

The whispers begin to build upon one another, echoing in the air around you, swirling and twisting until they become a steady cacophony.

The wind gathers speed, creating a spherical vortex around you.

With this spell, you create a swirling miniature storm that provides a measure of protection, but leaves you and those near you unaffected.

The storm that surrounds you has hurricane-force winds spinning in a circle with you at the center.

Normal ranged attacks through the hurricane's windy area are impossible, and even heavier projectiles such as siege weapons and giant boulders take a –8 penalty on the attack roll.

Creatures who move inside the spell's area suffer effects depending on their size and whether they're airborne.

Each creature must make a saving throw at the beginning of its turn or when it enters the affected area. Medium or smaller creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be knocked 1d4?10 feet away from the eye of the hurricane's center and take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per 10 feet traveled in this manner. Creatures blown away are knocked prone as well. Flying creatures are blown back 2d6?10 feet and take 2d6 points of nonlethal damage. Large creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be knocked prone by the force of the wind. Flying creatures are instead blown back 1d6?10 feet. Huge creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be checked. Flying creatures are instead blown back 1d6?5 feet. Gargantuan and Colossal creatures can move through the spell's area without adverse consequences. Even creatures that succeed on their saving throws must attempt them again whenever they start a turn inside the spell's area or whenever they move back into it. The spell's area is effectively a sphere. Although the area is centered on you, you're not within the wind. If you move, the eye of the hurricane moves as well to keep you in the center. If you cast eye of the hurricane so that creatures are inside the eye when the spell begins, they must make Fortitude saves when your movement brings the area of wind upon them. Thereafter, if you move the spell area into a square occupied by another creature, that creature makes a Fortitude save at the beginning of its next turn (assuming the windy area of the spell is still on it).

FAVORABLE SACRIFICE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The gems vaporize in your hand as you intone the spell.

The rising vapors surround your ally, granting him the blessing of your beliefs.

The subject receives the protection of a divine power commensurate with the value of the expended material component.

Only one of the benefits described below applies per casting of this spell; they do not stack.

By expending 250 gp, you grant the subject damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid, cold, electricity, fire, and sonic 10; and spell resistance equal to your caster level.

By expending 1,000 gp, you grant the subject damage reduction 10/magic; resistance to acid, cold, electricity, fire, and sonic 15; and spell resistance equal to your caster level +5.

By expending 10,000 gp, you grant the subject damage reduction 20/magic; resistance to acid, cold, electricity, fire, and sonic 20; and spell resistance equal to your caster level +10.

Material Component: Gems worth a total of 250 gp, 1,000 gp, or 10,000 gp.

FORCEWARD

Abjuration [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 15 ft.

Effect: 15-ft.-radius sphere centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Waiving your arm about your head to trace the curve of a dome, you call up a hemisphere of force as clear as glass.

You create an unmoving, transparent sphere of force centered on you.

The sphere negates force effects and provides an impassable barrier against incorporeal creatures.

Spells with the force descriptor do not affect anything within the sphere, and any force spell that overlaps the area, such as wall of force, is automatically countered.

Incorporeal creatures, or creatures with the force descriptor must make a Will save to enter the area of the sphere.

Forceward does not push a creature out of the way if you move toward an incorporeal creature or force effect, and such creatures are treated as if they automatically succeeded on their saving throws against this spell.

GHOST TRAP

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 5 ft./level

Area: 5 ft./level-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Energy ripples outward from you, rendering solid the insubstantial.

You are surrounded by a field of energy that negates incorporeality.

The radius of the field is 5 feet per caster level.

All incorporeal creatures in this field become corporeal.

Creatures cannot turn ethereal while in this area, and ethereal creatures cannot enter or affect the plane this spell was cast on while in this field.

HAND OF THE FAITHFUL

Abjuration [see text]

Level: Cleric 4, paladin 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You summon the protective field, and the shimmering border limns out along the floor, carrying with it the ephemeral image of blocking hands.

You create an immobile zone of warding that is permeable to those of your religion but repels all others.

Creatures that have the same deity as you, or are wearing the holy symbol of your deity, can enter and move within the warded area unhindered.

Other creatures that try to enter or move within the area must make a Fortitude save each round or be stunned for 1 round.

If the creature's only action is to try to move completely out of the area, the ward does not hinder it.

Once a creature succeeds on its saving throw, it is no longer affected by that casting of hand of the faithful.

This spell has the alignment components of your deity, so if your deity is good and lawful, this is a lawful and good spell.

HIDE FROM DRAGONS

Abjuration

Level: Assassin 4, bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature touched/2 levels

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Silently you make the motions and the dragon's scale smolders in your hand.

The rising smoke wraps around you and sinks into your skin.

Dragons cannot see, hear, or smell the warded creatures, even with blindsense.

They act as though the warded creatures are not there.

Warded creatures could stand before the hungriest of red dragons and not be molested or even noticed.

If a warded character touches or attacks a dragon or the dragon's hoard, even with a spell, the spell ends for all recipients.

Material Component: A dragon scale.

HIDE THE PATH

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Anywhere in the area to be warded

Area: Up to 200 sq. ft./level (S)

Duration: 24 hours (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

After what feels like an hour, you finish the chant and rest your hands on the onyx sphere, envisioning the places you wish to protect from those seeking your secrets.

Hide the path wards a large, continuous area against divination magic.

The ward protects 200 square feet per caster level and can be shaped as you desire.

The warded area can be as much as 20 feet high.

Find the path won't function in an area warded by hide the path.

In addition, any spellcaster attempting to cast a 1st-through 6th-level divination spell in the warded area must make a caster level check (DC 11 + your caster level) or the spell fails.

Higher-level divinations function normally.

Hide the path has no effect on divination spells cast outside the warded area.

Focus: A 6-inch onyx sphere mounted upon an obsidian stand; the entire focus must be worth no less than 1,000 gp. Any creature in physical contact with the focus can cast divination spells without restriction from the hide the path effect.

If the focus is destroyed or brought beyond the boundaries of the hide the path spell, the spell is immediately dismissed.

HOLY STAR

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Protective star of energy

Duration: 3 rounds (D)

By calling upon the power of your deity, you bring into existence a glowing mote of energy near your shoulder.

While no brighter than a candle, the mote of light fills your body with an inner warmth and feeling of reassuring protection.

You create a glowing mote of energy that stays near your shoulder, providing light equal to that of a candle.

This star has the following three functions, and you can designate which function to activate as a free action on your turn.

Spell Turning: A holy star can turn a total of four to seven (1d4+3) spell levels, as the spell turning spell (PH 282).

Any turning potential depleted through this use remains so for the duration of the spell; the holy star does not return to full capacity every time you choose this function.

If its entire spell turning capacity is expended, this function no longer works, but the others do.

Protection: A holy star gives you a +6 circumstance bonus to AC.

Fire Bolt: A holy star lashes out with a beam of energy as a ranged touch attack against a creature (you choose the target) up to 90 feet away (no range increment).

This attack uses your attack bonus and deals fire damage equal to 1d6 points per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).

INDOMITABILITY

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The spell's energy makes you feel impervious to wounds, if only for a limited time.

The indomitability spell protects its recipient from the first incapacitating attack the creature suffers during the spell's duration.

An incapacitating attack is one that would reduce the recipient to fewer than 1 hit point. The attack must be one that deals damage; the indomitability spell offers no protection from nondamaging effects or attacks that kill or destroy without dealing any damage, such as death effects. Regardless of how much damage the attack deals, the recipient of the indomitability spell takes only enough damage to be reduced to 1 hp. The remaining damage from the attack is ignored. Once the spell protects the subject in this manner, the spell is discharged.

IRONGUARD

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F, M

This spell functions like lesser ironguard, except that the subject you touch is immune to magic metal as well.

Material Component: A tiny shield of wood, glass, or crystal.

Focus: A small nugget of adamantite worth 100 gp.

IRONGUARD, LESSER

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You watch as your target's skin lightens and takes on a translucent look.

The subject of lesser ironguard becomes immune to nonmagical metal.

Metal items (including metal weapons) simply pass through you, and you can walk through metal barriers such as iron bars.

Magic metal affects you normally, as do spells, spell-like abilities, and supernatural effects.

Attacks delivered by metal items (such as poison on a dagger) affect you normally.

If the spell expires while metal is inside you, the metal object is shunted out of your body (or you away from the metal, if it is an immovable object such as a set of iron bars).

You and the object each take 1d6 points of damage as a result (ignoring the object's hardness for determining damage to it).

Because you pass through metal, you can ignore armor bonuses from nonmagic metal armor on opponents you attack with unarmed attacks.

Material Component: A tiny shield of wood, glass, or crystal.

IRONGUTS

Abjuration

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You mutter the spell and uncork a bottle with a noxious concoction of scorpion venom, toad sweat, adder venom, and the strained brains of carrion crawlers.

The poisonous liquid evaporates into a black cloud that surrounds your hand as you reach out to touch the target.

You enable a creature to better fight off the effect of poison.

The subject is filled with antitoxin and gains a +5 alchemical bonus on Fortitude saves against all kinds of poisons, whether injury, contact, ingestion, or inhalation.

After the spell ends, the subject is nauseated for 1 round.

Material Component: A vial containing the diluted poison of four different creatures.

JOYFUL NOISE

Abjuration

Level: Bard 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: Concentration; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You stomp your foot on the ground, creating a ripple of noise that unleashes suppressed sounds behind it.

You create sonic vibrations that negate any magical silence effect in the area.

This zone of negation moves with you and lasts as long as you continue to concentrate.

The silence effect is not dispelled but simply held in abeyance; it remains in effect outside the area of the joyful noise effect.

LAND WOMB

Abjuration

Level: Druid 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: You and one other creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Others watch you speak the spell, and the earth opens up and swallows you whole.

You remain safe and secure beneath the ground, untouched by events above.

You cannot enter a land womb through stone or rock, only through tillable soil.

The land womb holds you secure 10 feet below the surface. Anyone in a land womb cannot be perceived by divination spells of 4th level or less.

You can bring one additional creature per caster level with you into the land womb.

All creatures to be brought into the land womb must be touching each other (for instance, holding hands in a ring).

Land womb creates an underground space large enough to hold all target creatures.

While space is tight, spellcasting by targets is still possible while in the confines of the spell's effect.

You can no longer hear or see anything on the surface by nonmagical means.

You can end the spell at will, but those who are with you cannot.

At the end of the spell's duration, all within the land womb return to the spot where they stood before the spell took effect.

LIFE WARD

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a brush of your hand you surround the creature in crawling shadows, a cloak of negative energy that whirls and swims across the creature's body.

A creature warded by this spell gains protection from the effects of positive energy, including magical healing.

The spell can be cast upon undead to offer additional protection against the turning abilities of clerics.

The subject is immune to all positive energy effects, including conjuration (healing) spells, channeled positive energy such as from the turn undead ability, or other effects that derive their power from positive energy.

This spell offers protection from the blinding effect of the Positive Energy Plane, and warded creatures gain no temporary hit points while there.

LIFE'S GRACE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You say a brief prayer and touch your holy symbol to a creature. Symbols of warding and safety appear and flow out to cover the creature in a web of protective magic before fading from sight, absorbed into the creature's form.

The living creature touched becomes immune to all death spells, magical death effects, energy drain, and any negative energy effects.

In addition, the subject is immune to undead special attacks that deal ability damage, ability drain, and magical disease (such as mummy rot), even if these attacks do not have a magical source.

(For example, the spell prevents poison damage from the poisonous bite of an undead creature).

This spell does not prevent such attacks from undead originating from spells, magic items, or class abilities; only the special attacks from the undead's base nature are affected.

In addition, the subject's armor or clothing is considered ghost touch armor, and its armor bonus counts against incorporeal attacks.

(A suit of clothing is considered armor that gives +0 AC for this purpose, though it can be enhanced with spells such as magic vestment).

This spell doesn't remove negative levels that the subject has already gained, nor does it affect the saving throw necessary 24 hours after gaining a negative level.

LIONHEART

Abjuration [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your ally while intoning the spell.

Where your finger touches, a warm glow appears, then fades.

The subject gains immunity to fear effects.

Material Component: A hair from a lion's mane.

LOYAL VASSAL

Abjuration [Lawful]

Level: Paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One willing creature touched/3 levels

Duration: 10 minutes/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Upon invoking the divine words, glowing silver runes encircle your allies' heads.

The runes quickly fade, but the resolve they instilled remain.

You protect the subjects against mindaffecting spells and abilities, giving them a +3 sacred bonus on saving throws against such effects.

The spell also helps prevent them from being magically compelled to harm you or anyone else affected by this spell.

Any attempt to make a loyal vassal do so (whether the originating effect occurred before or after this spell was cast) counts as a suicidal order, triggering appropriate responses and possibly ending the controlling spell.

If the subjects willingly attempt to harm you, the spell is broken for them immediately.

MAGIC MIASMA

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

A thick, sparkling cloud of billowing mist rolls into being from the point you indicate.

This potent spell conjures a cloud of mist that functions as a solid fog spell (PH 281).

In addition, any spells cast within the fog have a -4 penalty to the spellcaster's caster level, and the save DC of any such spell is reduced by 2.

Creatures within the fog, or that enter the fog, must succeed on a Will save or suffer the reduction in caster level and DC even after they leave the fog, for the duration of the spell.

Material Component: A small piece of quilted cloth, which must be soaked in water while the spell is cast.

MANTLE OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaos]

Level: Cleric 3, Limbo 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You invoke the powers of chaos, and a flickering yellow field of anarchic energy surrounds you.

The power of this spell grants you spell resistance equal to 12 + your caster level against spells with the lawful descriptor.

MANTLE OF EVIL

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 3, cleric 3, Hades 3

You invoke the powers of evil, and a dark, wavering field of unholy energy wraps around you like a cloak.

This spell functions like mantle of chaos, except that mantle of evil grants spell resistance against spells with the good descriptor.

MANTLE OF GOOD

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Cleric 3, Elysium 3, paladin 3

You invoke the powers of good, and a shimmering white field of holy energy swaddles you.

This spell functions like mantle of chaos, except that mantle of good grants spell resistance against spells with the evil descriptor.

MANTLE OF LAW

Abjuration [Law]

Level: Cleric 3, Mechanus 3, paladin 3

You invoke the powers of law, and a constant blue field of axiomatic energy surrounds you.

This spell functions like mantle of chaos, except that mantle of law grants spell resistance against spells with the chaotic descriptor.

MAW OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

At the culmination of casting the spell you open your mouth wide as if to yawn.

In imitation, the air cracks and splits, opening into a yawning area of roiling blue-green energy resembling a great mouth.

All creatures in the area take 1d6 points of damage per caster level in the round when you cast the spell and each round thereafter at the start of your turn.

Those damaged must also make a Will saving throw or be dazed for 1 round.

Second, the chaotic energy makes it difficult to concentrate.

Any activity that involves concentration (such as casting a spell or using a spell-like ability) requires a Concentration check (DC 25 + spell level) to succeed.

Creatures with the chaotic subtype are unaffected by this spell.

Material Component: A jawbone with teeth.

MOMENT OF CLARITY

Abjuration

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You feel a dark, oppressive weight pressing against your mind.

When you touch your target, the weight lifts.

The creature you touched seems now to be battling with a similar oppression.

When you cast this spell and touch a creature that is under the influence of a mind-affecting spell or ability, that creature immediately receives another saving throw against the effect's original DC to break free of the effect.

If the spell or ability did not originally permit a saving throw, this spell has no effect.

NIGHTSHIELD

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

With a whisper-quiet whoosh, a field of shadowy energy cloaks your body.

This spell provides a +1 resistance bonus on saving throws; this resistance bonus increases to +2 at caster level 6th and +3 at caster level 9th.

In addition, the spell negates magic missile attacks directed at you.

PLANAR BUBBLE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation from touched creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No; see text

You cast the spell and sprinkle silver dust around you.

Where it lands the dust sparkles and evaporates, and the elemental region around you calms and becomes more hospitable.

This spell creates an area around the subject creature that emulates its native planar environment.

Thus, a character hailing from the Material Plane would have normal gravity, temperature, magic, and so on.

This spell cast on a native of the Plane of Shadow (DMG 152) would make the area around the creature mimic its home plane's normal gravity, a mild neutral alignment, enhanced shadow spells, and impeded light or fire spells.

Arcane Material Component: A sprinkling of silver dust.

PLANAR TOLERANCE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, Elysium 2, ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Duration: 1 hour/level

You have barely time to bark out a few elder words of power, but then the pressure subsides, and you know you are safe long enough to complete your mission.

This spell functions like avoid planar effects (page 19), except as noted above.

PORTAL ALARM

Abjuration

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One interplanar gate or portal

Duration: 2 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cast a tiny bell at the portal, and it rings as you finish the last gesture of the spell.

With the completion of the spell, the bell vanishes in midair, but it continues to ring for a few moments more.

Portal alarm sounds a mental or audible alarm each time a creature of Tiny or larger size passes through the magic gate or portal the spell is cast upon.

You decide at the time of casting whether the portal alarm will be mental or audible.

Mental Alarm: A mental alarm alerts you (and only you) as long as you remain within 1 mile of the warded area and on the same plane.

You notice a mental tremor that would awaken you from a normal sleep but does not otherwise disturb concentration (it would not interfere with spellcasting).

A silence spell has no effect on a mental alarm.

Audible Alarm: An audible portal alarm produces the sound of a hand bell, buzzer, or other similar repeating sound that can be heard clearly up to 60 feet away, and it pierces closed doors and extends onto other planes.

The ringing can be heard faintly up to 180 feet away and lasts for 1 round.

Creatures within the area of a silence spell cannot hear the ringing, and if the portal itself is within the area of a silence spell, no alarm is sounded.

Ethereal and astral creatures trigger a portal alarm if they pass through the portal.

You can set a portal alarm with a password, determined at the time of the casting, and this password can be discerned with the analyze portal spell (page 10).

Those speaking the password before passing through the portal do not set off the alarm.

Material Component: A tiny bell.

PORTAL ALARM, IMPROVED

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Duration: 8 hours/level (D)

This spell functions like portal alarm, with the following additions.

- You can designate the alarm set off by an improved portal alarm to be mental, audible, or both.

- If a mental alarm is chosen, you receive a mental picture of all creatures that have passed through the portal and which direction they passed through.

The mental image provides information as if you were standing 10 feet away from the portal.

- You can enable another creature to receive the mental alarm instead of yourself.

You must touch the creature, which receives a Will saving throw to negate the effect, if applicable.

Focus: A small leather pouch containing three brass bells.

PROTECTION FROM NEGATIVE ENERGY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Swaddling your ally in a protective field drawn by your hand like a blanket, you guard him against negative energy attacks.

The warded creature gains partial protection against negative energy effects.

For as long as the spell lasts, it subtracts 10 from the hit point damage dealt by any negative energy effect (such as an inflict spell) that adversely affects it.

Negative energy effects that don't deal hit point damage to the subject, such as an energy drain spell, affect the subject normally.

PROTECTION FROM POSITIVE ENERGY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A black seed of magic floats above your finger, and you implant it in the creature before you, guarding it against positive energy.

The warded creature gains partial protection against positive energy effects.

For as long as the spell lasts, it subtracts 10 from the hit point damage dealt by any positive energy effect (such as a cure spell) that adversely affects it.

Positive energy effects that don't deal hit point damage to the subject, such as turning attempts, affect the subject normally.

RAY DEFLECTION

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As the spell is cast, a brief shimmering field appears around you. Small motes of silver float within the field.

For the duration of the spell, you are protected against ranged touch attacks, including ray spells and ray attacks made by creatures.

Any ray attack directed at you is automatically reflected harmlessly away.

Focus: A glass prism.

RAY OF DEANIMATION

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Target: One construct

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A copper-red ray bursts from your outstretched hand.

The sound of grinding gears and breaking metal accompanies the ray's flight.

This ray interferes with magical animation, degenerating the magic bound within constructs and effectively causing damage.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The ray deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level to the subject (maximum 15d6).

REAVING DISPEL

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

Bringing to your lips some of the most elemental words of arcane power, you feel stirring within you the spirits of ancient mages as you prepare to absorb the spell energies you have targeted.

Your body shakes uncontrollably, as if eagerly anticipating the power behind those spells.

This spell functions like dispel magic (PH 223), except that your caster level for your dispel check is a maximum of +20 instead of +10, and (as with greater dispel magic) you have a chance to dispel any effect that remove curse can remove, even if dispel magic can't dispel that effect.

When casting a targeted dispel or counterspell, you can choose to reave each spell you successfully dispel, stealing its power and effect for yourself.

When making a targeted dispel, make a Spellcraft check (DC 25 + spell level) to identify the target spell or each ongoing spell currently in effect on the target creature or object.

Each spell you dispel with a targeted dispel can be reaved if you so desire, and the spell's effects are redirected to you, continuing as if cast on you by the original caster with no interruption to or extension of duration.

Once you reave the spell, you identify it if you haven't done so already (see below).

If the subject was the caster and the spell is dismissible, you can dismiss it as if you had cast it yourself.

Likewise, if the subject was the caster and the spell requires concentration, you must concentrate to maintain the spell's effect as if you had cast it yourself.

You can still attempt to reave a spell you didn't identify with your Spellcraft check, but doing so can be risky if you don't know the specifics of the spell's effect.

For example, if you fail to identify an ongoing spell effect on an enemy character and choose to reave anyway, you might find yourself under the influence of the dominate person effect that character was suffering from.

Any spell resistance you might have has no effect against harmful spells you might inadvertently reave, but you get the same chance to save against those spell effects as the original target.

If you choose to reave a spell you have successfully counterspelled with reaving dispel, you seize control of the spell after the enemy caster completes it, and you can redirect the spell to whatever targets or area you wish (including the original caster, if appropriate).

Again, you must make a Spellcraft check (DC 25 + spell level) to identify the spell you intend to reave, but you are free to choose to redirect a spell whose effect, range, and area you don't know.

If the redirected spell's correct casting conditions aren't met (because you guess at an improper target or range, for example), the spell fails.

Reaving dispel can be used to cast an area dispel with the increased maximum caster level, but any magical effects so dispelled cannot be reaved.

RECIPROCAL GYRE

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half, then Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You finger the tiny loop of wire in your hands as you complete the spell.

You manipulate the magical aura of the target, creating a damaging feedback reaction, and the target explodes with white sparks.

The subject takes 1d12 points of damage per functioning spell or spell-like ability currently affecting it (maximum 25d12).

In addition, any creature so affected that fails its Will save must then succeed on a Fortitude save or be dazed for 1d6 rounds.

Only spells specifically targeted on the creature in question can be used to create the backlash of a reciprocal gyre, so spells that affect an area can't be used to deal reciprocal damage to creatures within their area.

Likewise, persistent or continuous effects from magic items can't be used to deal reciprocal damage, but targeted spell effects can be.

Material Component: A tiny closed loop of copper wire.

REFUSAL

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect and Area: Invisible ward that occupies two 10-ft. squares/level (S)

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A metallic stretching sound, as if a thin sheet of metal were bowed then released, echoes forth from your outstretched hand.

You can see for just an instant a glowing grid that defines the protected area of your spell.

You create a special ward that prevents unauthorized spellcasters or creatures with spell-like abilities from entering an area.

Any creature that has spells prepared, spell slots available for casting without preparation, or innate spell-like abilities must succeed on a Will save or be halted by an invisible barrier that prevents passage.

The DC of the Will save increases by a number equal to the spell level of the highest-level spell the creature has prepared or is capable of casting (so that a 10th-level sorcerer who hasn't yet depleted his 5th-level spell slots for the day adds 5 to the save DC).

You can choose to designate a password or special condition (such as character race, alignment, possession of a token, or any other observable or detectable characteristic) by which spellcasting characters and creatures can enter the refusal-warded area.

Creatures that have no spellcasting capability or spell-like abilities (including spellcasters who have used up their spell slots and creatures with spell trigger or spell completion magic items) can pass through the barrier with no difficulty.

Spellcasters and creatures that have spell-like abilities and that are already within the area you protect when you create the ward are not compelled to leave or restricted in their movement within it (and spells and spell-like abilities can pass through the barrier in either direction with no difficulty).

However, if such creatures leave the area, they must succeed on saving throws as described above to return. Creatures attempting to use any teleportation spell or effect to enter the warded area make the normal saving throw. They are shunted harmlessly to the nearest safe space outside the warded area if they fail.

Material Component: A pinch of dust from a wizard's tomb.

REJECTION

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a stern word of disallowance, you cast the spell.

A barely perceptible hum sounds in the direction you indicate.

A creature in the area must succeed on a Fortitude saving throw or be pushed away from you to a distance of 5 feet per caster level.

If the creature is pushed into a wall or similarly solid surface, it takes 1d6 points of damage for every 10 feet it was moved.

Movement forced by this spell can take the creature beyond the spell's range.

RESIST ENERGY, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You call upon the protective energies of magical power, surrounding your subjects in temporarily visible fields of energy. Although the fields fade from view, you can still just barely sense their existence.

This spell functions like resist energy (PH 272), except that it affects all targeted creatures.

RESIST PLANAR ALIGNMENT

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, Hades 2, Limbo 2, paladin 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can tell that your target feels the oppression of the plane around you, the rank evil of the place.

A few spoken phrases, backed by magical power, and that oppression seems to lift.

This abjuration grants a creature limited protection from a plane's alignment traits (DMG 149).

When the subject visits a plane with an alignment trait, this spell grants it immunity to penalties on its Charisma-based checks that mildly aligned planes impose on visitors of opposed alignments.

The Charisma-, Wisdom-, and Intelligence-based check penalties associated with strongly aligned planes are halved while the spell's duration lasts.

RESISTANCE, GREATER

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Duration: 24 hours

Just as you touch the spell's subject, a feeling of peace and watchful guardianship fills your being.

This spell functions like resistance (PH 272), except as noted here.

You grant the subject a +3 resistance bonus on saves.

RESISTANCE, SUPERIOR

Abjuration

Level: Bard 6, cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Duration: 24 hours

As you finish casting the spell, you feel imbued with the feeling that something greater than yourself is protecting you.

When you touch your intended subject and release the spell, the feeling disappears.

This spell functions like resistance (PH 272), except as noted here.

You grant the subject a +6 resistance bonus on saves.

RESURGENCE

Abjuration

Level: Blackguard 1, cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

By laying hands on your ally and saying a brief prayer, you convince a higher power to grant him a second chance.

The subject of a resurgence spell can make a second attempt to save against an ongoing spell, spell-like ability, or supernatural ability, such as dominate person.

If the subject of resurgence is affected by more than one ongoing magical effect, the subject chooses one of them to retry the save against.

If the subject succeeds on the saving throw on the second attempt, the effect ends immediately.

Resurgence never restores hit points or ability score damage, but it does eliminate any conditions such as shaken, fatigued, or nauseated that were caused by a spell, spell-like ability, or supernatural ability.

If a spell, spell-like ability, or supernatural ability doesn't allow a save (such as power word stun), then resurgence won't help the subject recover.

RESURGENCE, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Blackguard 3, cleric 3, paladin 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Throwing out your hand and calling upon your deity for favor, you give your allies a chance to free themselves of the baleful magic.

This spell functions like resurgence, except as noted here.

The spell grants a second save attempt against a single spell or ability chosen by you.

For instance, if three of your allies have been mind blasted by mind flayers and two others have been turned into toads by baleful polymorph spells, you must choose to affect either the mind blast (granting three new save attempts) or the baleful polymorphs (granting two new save attempts).

REVERSE ARROWS

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

As you clasp the shell in one hand and the ball of sap in the other, a silver radiance flecked with blue lines surrounds you.

You pocket the items, but the radiance remains.

This spell functions like protection from arrows (PH 266), except as noted here.

If any projectile fired from a ranged weapon that strikes you has all its damage negated by your damage reduction (10/magic), the projectile is turned back upon the creature that fired it.

The attacker's attack roll is used to determine if the reversed projectile strikes the attacker, but the damage is rerolled.

If the attacker is also protected by a reverse arrows spell, it is possible for the projectile to bounce between both individuals until one of the spells is discharged from accumulated damage.

Once this spell has prevented a total of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 100 points), it is discharged.

Focus: A piece of shell from a tortoise and a ball of tree sap.

RIGHTEOUS AURA

Abjuration [Good, Light]

Level: Paladin 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

You invoke the powers of good and law, and in response to your pleas, you glow with the golden radiance of the sun.

You are bathed in an unearthly glow for the duration of the spell, as if a daylight spell (PH 216) had been cast on you.

You get a +4 sacred bonus to Charisma.

If you die, your body is converted into an explosive blast of energy in a 20-foot-radius burst centered where you fell, dealing 2d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6) to all evil creatures in the burst's area.

Good creatures in the area are healed by the same amount, and undead take double this damage.

Spell resistance cannot prevent this damage, but a successful Reflex save reduces it to half.

Your body is disintegrated, so you cannot be raised with a raise dead spell.

Spells that do not require an intact body, such as true resurrection, can be used to bring you back to life as normal.

RUBY RAY OF REVERSAL

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One natural or magical hazard; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

From your fingertips springs a thin line of bright red light to negate the hazard before you.

Each version of this spell can target one of the hazards described below and "correct" it in the manner described. Unless specifically stated otherwise, this spell affects magical and mundane hazards of the indicated type equally. For example, a ruby ray of reversal can eliminate the webs of a monstrous spider or the effect of a web spell.

- Any trap targeted by the ray is sprung.

This version of the spell can have adverse effects on creatures standing within a trap's area.

You must be aware of a trap to cast ruby ray of reversal on it.

- The spell unties knots and causes chains, manacles, and similar restraining devices to fall away.

Entangle and similar magical effects are dispelled.

Doors (or chests, drawers, cabinets, and so on) that are locked, barred, or under the effect of an arcane lock spell are opened.

- A 5-foot-diameter hole is created in a wall of force, forcecage, or similar spell or effect.

This function of the spell does not destroy the targeted effect, but creatures trapped by it might be able to wriggle free.

- A creature that has been polymorphed, turned to stone, or otherwise transformed from its natural state is returned to its natural form.

- A magic jar spell is dispelled if a ruby ray of reversal targets the crystal holding the caster's soul.

- Webs, slime, grease, and other substances that would hamper movement are destroyed in a 20-foot-radius spread.

Focus: A ruby worth at least 500 gp.

SACRED HAVEN

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Paladin 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: You and allies in a 30-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A rosy glow passes from your hand and briefly spreads around you.

You and affected allies gain a +2 sacred bonus to Armor Class.

In addition, while protected by this spell, an affected creature retains its Dexterity bonus to Armor Class when flat-footed or when struck by an invisible attacker.

For the duration of the spell, you gain awareness of the health of all affected creatures, as with the status spell (PH 284), and you need not be able to touch the affected creatures to heal them with your lay on hands ability.

Use of the lay on hands ability still requires a standard action, but it can be done at any range, as long as you and your target are on the same plane.

SAFE CLEARING

Abjuration

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You press your hand against the ground and intone the ancient words.

A green radiance spreads from your hand, forming a ring of translucent jade flames.

"We're safe", you tell your allies, "for the moment."

You make an area safe from attacks.

This spell's benefit functions much like that of the sanctuary spell (PH 274).

The area of a safe clearing spell is immobile.

Any creature attempting to strike or otherwise directly attack anyone within the safe clearing, or any creature attempting to enter the area, must make a Will save.

Success means the creature can act normally and is not affected by this casting of the spell.

Failure means it can't attack anyone in the area or even enter the area for the duration of the spell.

Those not attempting to attack creatures in the warded area remain unaffected.

This spell does not prevent creatures in the warded area from being attacked or affected by area spells.

A creature within the area that makes an attack is no longer protected by the spell, and can be targeted normally.

SAFETY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No or Yes (harmless)

After an intonation and clasping of the subject creature, you grant it knowledge of where safety lies.

The recipient of this spell can find the shortest, most direct direction to a place of safety, with safety being defined as a location where the individual is not taking immediate damage from the environment, and immediate damage is not imminent.

It does not provide the means for the subject to move in that direction.

A safety spell points out the shortest distance out of a poisonous cloud, or the direction one should dig to reach the surface if entombed in earth.

It does not function against the maze spell, because that spell deals no physical damage.

Nor does the spell provide knowledge of or protection against the creatures that inhabit those safe places.

In the D&D cosmology (DMG 150), safety has the following effects when cast on specific planes.

Plane of Shadow: Shortest route out of darklands.

Elemental Plane of Air: Nearest windproof shelter, shortest route out of smoke bank.

Elemental Plane of Earth: Nearest air pocket or open cavern.

Elemental Plane of Fire: Shortest route out of magma pools or other unusually hot places.

Elemental Plane of Water: Nearest pocket of breathable air; shortest route out of hot spot, ice pocket, or red tide.

Negative Energy Plane: Nearest doldrum area with the minor negative-dominant trait.

Positive Energy Plane: Nearest edge zone with the minor positive-dominant trait.

Limbo: Nearest area of stabilized limbo.

Pandemonium: Nearest shelter from a windstorm.

Carceri: Shortest route out of a Minethys sandstorm.

Gehenna: Nearest flat ledge, nearest shelter from Mungoth's acidic snow.

Nine Hells: Nearest shelter from fireballs on Avernus, rockslides on Malbolge, or cold on Cania.

Acheron: Nearest shelter from Ocanthus bladestorms.

On planes you create yourself, safety might provide other information.

This spell is mostly used in hostile environments, such as one of the Inner Planes, to locate the nearest pocket of habitable space.

If safety is cast and then followed by a plane shift spell (PH 262), the plane shift sends the subject of safety to a place of relative safety on that plane.

It is transported to a pocket of air on the Elemental Plane of Water, for example, or a cool spot on the Elemental Plane of Fire.

SANCTUARY, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Balance 5, cleric 5

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You cast this spell and you are infused with a clear, silvery aura. You touch each of your companions in turn, and they are infused with the aura as well.

This spell functions like sanctuary (PH 274), except that it affects multiple creatures.

SCINTILLATING SCALES

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You invoke the words of this spell, and your skin glistens and shimmers with a silvery protective aura that makes you shine.

This spell transforms your natural armor bonus to Armor Class into a deflection bonus to your Armor Class.

While your overall Armor Class might not change, the deflection bonus applies to melee touch attacks and ranged touch attacks, including incorporeal touch attacks.

If you have no natural armor bonus, this spell has no effect.

SEAL PORTAL

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One interplanar gate or portal

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cast a silver bar in the direction of the portal and it vanishes, becoming a semitranslucent net of silver magic that briefly encases the portal before disappearing.

You can permanently seal an interplanar gate or portal.

The spell prevents any use of the portal, although seal portal can be dispelled by a dispel magic spell.

A knock spell does not function on a sealed portal, but a chime of opening dispels seal portal if seal portal was cast by a spellcaster of lower than 15th level.

Once a portal is opened, seal portal does not remain in effect and must be cast again.

Material Component: A silver bar worth 50 gp.

SHELTERED VITALITY

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Pressing your hand to the creature's chest, you utter a low chant, and a warm glow passes from your hand into the subject.

The subject gains immunity to fatigue, exhaustion, and ability damage or ability drain (regardless of the source).

SHIELD OF FAITH, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 4

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart
You hold your arms aloft and implore the power you venerate. Your comrades are bathed in a silver light, and over their hearts appears the symbol of your god, showing the deity's protection. This spell functions like shield of faith (PH 278), except that it affects multiple allies at a distance.

SHIELD OF WARDING

Abjuration [Good]
Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: One shield or buckler touched
Duration: 1 minute/level
Saving Throw: Will negates (object, harmless)
Spell Resistance: No
You press your palm against the shield and speak the words of power. A silver radiance, in the shape of your holy symbol spreads over the shield.
The touched shield or buckler grants its wielder a +1 sacred bonus to Armor Class and on Reflex saves, +1 per five caster levels (maximum +5 at 20th level).
The bonus applies only when the shield is worn or carried normally (but not, for instance, if it is slung over the shoulder).

SIGN OF SEALING

Abjuration
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One door, chest, or other opening up to 30 sq. ft./level
Duration: Permanent
Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text
Spell Resistance: No
While pointing at the target, you trace the lines of a complicated sigil that visually appears where it is to seal. The sigil glows with latent magical energy.
You seal a door, chest, or similar closure with a prominent magical sigil that bars entry and prevents opening.
A door or object protected by this spell can be opened only by breaking (add 10 to the normal break DC) or by the use of knock or dispel magic.
If the door or object is forced open by any means (magical or physical), the sign of sealing deals 1d4 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d4) in a 30-foot radius (Reflex half).
A knock spell doesn't negate or automatically bypass a sign of sealing, but will suppress the sign for 10 minutes on a successful caster level check (DC 11 + the caster level of the sign's creator).
A sign of sealing is a magic trap that can be disarmed with a DC 28 Disable Device check.
You can pass your own sign safely, and it remains set behind you.
Material Component: A crushed emerald worth 100 gp.

SIGN OF SEALING, GREATER

Abjuration
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6
Casting Time: 10 minutes
Target: One door, chest, or other opening or open space up to 30 sq. ft./level This spell functions like sign of sealing, except that it can also be used to seal an open space (such as a corridor or an archway), creating a magical barrier of force that repels any creature attempting to pass.
In addition, doors and objects protected by a greater sign of sealing are strengthened, increasing their hardness by 10 and granting them an extra 5 hit points per caster level.
Any object protected by a greater sign of sealing is treated as a magic item for the purpose of making saving throws and gains a +4 resistance bonus on saving throws.
If its seal is broken, a greater sign of sealing deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6) in a 40-foot radius (Reflex half).
A greater sign of sealing cannot be passed with a knock spell, but it can be dispelled (DC 15 + the caster level of the sign's creator).
It can be disarmed with a DC 31 Disable Device check.
Material Component: A crushed emerald worth at least 500 gp.

SPELL ENGINE

Abjuration [Force]
Level: Wizard 8
Components: V, S, M, XP
Casting Time: 10 minutes
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: 5-ft.-radius magical wheel
Duration: See text
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes; see text
You speak a word of abjuration and thrust aloft the bone disk and silver wheel, held together by a single tear. The disk and wheel begin to spin, then vanish, but you feel the power of the mystic engine created nearby.
Upon casting this spell, you can swap out any or all of your prepared spells for other spells from your spellbook.
Each prepared spell must be swapped for a spell of the same level.
Empty spell slots from a spell cast earlier in the day (including the casting of this spell) cannot be refreshed.
Preparing spells within the light provided by a spell engine takes only half as long as normal.
Material Components: A disk of polished bone, one of your tears, and a silver wheel worth 500 gp.
XP Cost: 250 XP.

SPELL IMMUNITY, LESSER

Abjuration
Level: Cleric 2
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: Creature touched
Duration: 10 minutes/level
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Silvery motes of light begin to snow down as you complete the spell, shifting to its recipient upon your successful touch.

The motes coalesce into a nimbus that contracts and holds to the subject as a silvery sheen.

This spell protects one creature from a single 1st- or 2nd-level spell.

The creature effectively has unbeatable spell resistance regarding the chosen spell.

Lesser spell immunity can't protect a creature from a spell to which spell resistance doesn't apply.

This spell works against other spells, spell-like effects, and innate spell-like abilities.

It does not protect against supernatural or extraordinary abilities, such as breath weapons or gaze attacks.

Only a particular spell can be protected against, not a school of spells or a group of spells with similar effects; thus, a creature given immunity to inflict light wounds is still susceptible to inflict moderate wounds.

A creature can have only one lesser spell immunity or spell immunity (PH 282) in effect at a time.

SPELL RESISTANCE, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 7

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Wrapping your allies in protective magic, you give them the ability to shrug off spells.

This spell functions like spell resistance (PH 282), except as noted here.

STORM TOWER

Abjuration [Air]

Level: Druid 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 100 ft. high)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You form an enormous tower of dark, swirling storm clouds and howling wind.

A storm tower absorbs any electricity damage dealt to those within it.

Magic missiles cannot be cast into, out of, or within a storm tower.

The storm tower is composed of windstorm-strength winds (DMG 95), making ranged attacks impossible within it, though it has no effect on the movement of creatures within it.

However, only Gargantuan or Colossal creatures can pass through the outer edge of the storm tower; all creatures of smaller size must succeed on a Fortitude saving throw to enter; otherwise, they are checked at the edge.

Anyone within a storm tower has concealment relative to those outside the tower.

The howling winds of a storm tower also apply a -10 penalty on Listen checks made within 50 feet of it (including all those made inside the tower).

STRATEGIC CHARGE

Abjuration

Level: Blackguard 1, paladin 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

A red nimbus surrounds you as you move smoothly across the crowded battlefield.

You gain the benefit of the Mobility feat (PH 98), even if you not meet the prerequisites.

You do not have to be charging to gain this benefit.

SUPPRESS GLYPH

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 100 ft.

Area: 100-ft.-radius burst centered on you.

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You cast the spell, and a dancing crown of ruby runes orbits your head briefly.

You gain an enhanced awareness of magical writing within range.

Magical writing such as a glyph of warding, explosive runes, sepia snake sigil, or symbol is covered by a blue nimbus of light (which sheds light equal to a candle).

This effect reveals the location of the writing without triggering it.

For every source of magical writing, you can make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +10) against a DC equal to 11 + the writing's caster level.

If you are successful, the magical writing is suppressed for 1 minute per caster level.

You and other creatures could then read a book warded by explosive runes, or open a drawer guarded by a glyph of warding, or pass through a doorway protected by a symbol without effect.

This spell covers and negates any active or triggered magical writing (such as a quickly scribed symbol of fear or a triggered symbol of death), although creatures that have already succumbed to the effect of the writing are unaffected.

Once this spell ends, all magical writing in the area can be triggered normally, and active or triggered writings resume their function if they have any duration left.

SUREFOOT

Abjuration

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You speak a few words and motion toward your feet, which begin to glow with a green hue.

Your steps are sure and true, even on the narrowest ledges. You gain a +10 competence bonus on Balance, Climb, Jump, and Tumble checks. In addition, you do not lose your Dexterity bonus to AC when balancing or climbing.

SYMBOL OF SPELL LOSS

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.; see text

Effect: One symbol

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

You trace the symbol and feel a pull as it tugs against the magical energy in your mind.

This spell functions like symbol of death (PH 289), except that when it is triggered, the symbol begins to attack the minds of spellcasters within 60 feet.

Each must attempt a Will saving throw every round they are within range, at the beginning of their turn.

Failure means that the highest-level spell prepared by the spellcaster (or highest-level spell slot, if the character casts spells spontaneously) is lost for the day.

The symbol remains active for 10 minutes per level or until it has erased fifty levels of spells.

The symbol attacks creatures with spell-like abilities as if they had spells, consuming a daily use of the highest-level ability the creature possesses, or suppressing an ability usable at will for 1 round.

TRANSCRIBE SYMBOL

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Magic symbol touched

Duration: 10 minutes or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Mimicking the marks of the sigil on the slate you hold, you render yourself immune to detection by the magic symbol.

You place a protective spell upon your hand that allows you to touch an untriggered magic sigil (such as a glyph of warding or a symbol of death) without setting it off.

The touched sigil is removed from its location and held as magical potential on your hand, as though it were a touch spell.

To pick up a sigil in this manner, you must make a successful caster level check (DC 20 + the target glyph's spell level).

Failure indicates that you have triggered the glyph or symbol.

If you successfully transfer the sigil to your hand, you can use a standard action to place it on a surface (not a creature) of the sort on which it can normally be scribed.

The transferred sigil works normally thereafter and retains all its original triggering conditions, although its current location might make its triggers difficult or impossible to achieve.

You can maintain the magic sigil on your hand as long as you concentrate.

If your concentration lapses or the spell duration expires while the sigil is thus stored as potential, it immediately triggers upon you (and only you), even if you normally would not meet its trigger conditions.

The effect has the same saving throw and spell resistance as the original spell did.

The only safe way to rid yourself of the stored sigil is to place it upon a suitable surface.

Focus: A piece of slate that has been scoured bare and smooth on one side.

UNBINDING

Abjuration

Level: Liberation 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 180 ft.

Area: 180-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A burst of white energy erupts from your body to destroy spells that contain, constrain, or seal.

An unbinding spell negates charm and hold spells of all types; arcane locks and similar closures; and spells that create physical or magical barriers, such as wall of fire, wall of force, guards and wards, temporal stasis, and slow spells, among others.

The effect of a statue spell is also ended, and a magic jar is shattered—forever destroyed—and the life force within snuffed out.

In addition, any spell that holds magical effects, including other spells (magic mouth, imbue with spell ability, and so on), immediately releases them at a range of 0 feet.

Protective spells such as protection from evil, shield, globe of invulnerability, and similar spells are not affected by an unbinding.

Petrified creatures are neither revealed nor restored.

Individuals bound to service are not freed (including creatures such as familiars, invisible stalkers, genies, and elementals).

An antimagic field is not affected, nor does the effect of unbinding penetrate one.

A magic circle against evil (or another alignment) that currently holds a creature imprisoned is dispelled.

Curses and geas/quest spells are negated only if you are of a level equal to or greater than that of the original caster.

All these effects occur without regard to the caster's wishes. Spell effects on the person of the caster, or effects or items being carried or worn by the caster, remain undisturbed, but any others within the area are affected, including those of allies.

The opening of locks or other closures triggers any alarms or traps attached to them.

Any released creature might or might not be friendly to the caster.

Material Components: A lodestone and a pinch of saltpeper.

UNDEATH'S ETERNAL FOE

Abjuration [Good]

Level: Cleric 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

You invoke the power of good and indicate each of your party members in turn.

A crystal blue aura springs up around each of them, fortifying them against the assaults of undead.

You grant one or more creatures special abilities that allow them to effectively destroy undead.

All subjects receive a death ward effect (PH 217).

The subjects also have immunity to the special attacks and abilities of undead that deal ability damage, ability drain, fear effects, disease, paralysis, or poison.

Targets can make melee and ranged attacks against ethereal or incorporeal undead as if they were using ghost touch weapons.

They also gain a +4 sacred bonus to AC against attacks by undead.

WALL OF CHAOS

Abjuration [Chaotic]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

You invoke the abjuration, and a wall of multicolored energy springs up, becoming translucent and vanishing in a flash.

This spell functions like wall of good (see below), except that lawful creatures are blocked.

WALL OF DISPEL MAGIC

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cast the spell and a translucent wall springs up, a shimmering field of faded colors that swirls and merges with itself like the surface of a soap bubble.

This spell creates a transparent, permeable barrier.

Anyone passing through it becomes the target of a dispel magic effect (PH 223) at your caster level.

A summoned creature targeted in this way can be dispelled by the effect.

A wall of dispel magic cannot be seen or felt by ordinary means, or even with a see invisibility spell.

Detect magic indicates the presence of the effect, and true seeing reveals its presence.

WALL OF EVIL

Abjuration [Evil]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

You invoke the abjuration and a wall of red and black energy springs up, only to fade away to invisibility.

This spell functions like wall of good (see below), except that good creatures are blocked.

WALL OF GOOD

Abjuration [Good]

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You invoke the abjuration, and a cascade of brilliant white energy springs up in a wall that becomes invisible almost instantly.

You create an immobile barrier that inhibits evil creatures.

An evil summoned creature cannot pass through the wall in either direction, and any other evil creature must succeed on a Will save each time it attempts to move through the wall.

If the saving throw is failed, the creature's movement is stopped, and it can take no other action that round.

A wall of good must be continuous and unbroken when formed.

If it is cast so that an object or creature breaks its surface, the spell fails.

Arcane Material Component: Powdered silver worth 25 gp.

Level: Cleric 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

You cast the spell and a translucent wall springs up, its shimmering field pulsing with strong, malignant shades that spin and twist into each other.

You invoke the abjuration, and a wall of translucent silver energy springs up before fading away to nothingness.

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

The words of this spell produce hissing, sibilant echoes that spin around you, invoking doom upon those who dare to harm you.

Any creature striking you with its body or a handheld weapon takes 1d6 points of sonic damage +1 point per caster level.

If a creature has spell resistance, it applies to this damage. Weapons with reach, such as longswords, do not endanger their users in this way.

You cannot use this spell to deal damage to another target (for instance, with an unarmed attack or by forcing the whisps against a target).

Only if another creature touches you does the effect deal damage.

Also, you can move through enemies as if they were allies for the duration of this spell, as long as you finish your movement closer to your chosen foe than when you began it.

ZONE OF RESPITE

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 2 rounds

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Smearing blood between your fingers, you inscribe a ward in the air and cast the power of that ward over a wide area.

You create a region that is temporarily protected against interplanar intrusion.

This includes spells and abilities that use other planes, including dimension door, teleport, plane shift, and travel through such planes as the Astral Plane, the Ethereal Plane, and the Plane of Shadow.

Summoning and calling spells do not function within a zone of respite, but summoned and called creatures outside a zone of respite can be sent inside it.

Gate spells and other portals cannot be created within a zone of respite, but existing portals are unaffected by the spell.

Creatures on coterminous or coexistent planes (DMG 150) must retreat to the edge of the zone of respite and cannot enter the corresponding area on the coterminous or coexistent plane.

Material Component: A small amount of blood from a gorgon.

You complete the spell and a hot fog rises from the ground, coiling round you.

Stepping out of the billowing steam comes a handful of squat, blubbery demons.

Other, greater silhouettes loom behind them, answering your call.

This spell summons a pack of demons from the Infinite Layers of the Abyss to serve you.

When the spell is complete, 2d4 dretches (MM 42) appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 babau demons (MM 40) appear.

Ten minutes after that, one vroock demon (MM 48) appears.

Each creature has maximum hit points per Hit Die.

Once these creatures appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

You enclose yourself in a fluid sheath of acid that does not harm you.

You can breathe normally and cast spells while the acid sheath is present.

Any creature striking you deals normal damage, but at the same time the attacker takes 2 points of acid damage per caster level (maximum 30 points).

Reach weapons, such as longswords, do not endanger their users in this way.

The acid sheath does not protect you against other attack forms, such as fire.

If you are in a grapple, other creatures in the grapple takes acid damage once per round at the beginning of their turn.

Any spell you cast with the acid descriptor while the sheath surrounds you deals an extra 1 point of damage per die.

Spell Resistance: No

You call upon the powers of chaos, and a heavy rain begins to fall around you, its drops a rainbow of soft radiances.

Above you, a multicolored lightning bolt flashes.

The downpour created by this spell falls in a fixed area once created.

The storm reduces hearing and visibility, resulting in a -4 penalty on Listen, Spot, and Search checks.

It also applies a -4 penalty on ranged attacks made into, out of, or through the storm.

Finally, it automatically extinguishes any unprotected flames and has a 50% chance to extinguish protected flames (such as those of lanterns).

The rain damages lawful creatures, dealing 2d6 points of damage per round (lawful outsiders take double damage).

In addition, each round, a bolt of lightning strikes a randomly selected lawful outsider within the spell's area, dealing 5d6 points of electricity damage.

After the spell's duration expires, the water disappears.

ASTRAL HOSPICE

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: See text

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You fish out the gem and, floating in the Astral Plane, cast the spell.

A small pinprick of light appears next to you, widening to form a circular portal of a bronze hue.

You step through the portal and begin the process of healing.

This spell can be cast only upon the Astral Plane (DMG 154).

It opens up a small planar portal to a demiplane where natural healing can occur (unlike on the Astral Plane itself).

The firm surface of the demiplane is roughly 50 feet square, and the demiplane extends 50 feet above the surface.

The demiplane's traits (including time, gravity, and magic) match those of the Material Plane, and the demiplane is self-contained; walking to one end returns a character to the point from which he began.

The demiplane has no unusual planar traits.

The only way in or out of the demiplane is through the entrance created by you, and only those named or described by you upon the casting of the spell can enter.

The portal continues to exist and remains visible on the Astral Plane only while the hospice demiplane exists.

When you leave the demiplane, the portal seals shut and vanishes.

Anyone still in the hospice demiplane at that time appears on the Astral Plane at the location of the hospice's entrance. Material Component: A single flawless gemstone of at least 250 gp value.

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call upon the forces of law and a heavy rain begins to fall around you, its raindrops harsh and metallic.

Above you, a jet of caustic acid lances down from the heavens.

A driving rain falls around you.

It falls in a fixed area once created.

The storm reduces hearing and visibility, resulting in a -4 penalty on Listen, Spot, and Search checks.

It also applies a -4 penalty on ranged attacks made into, out of, or through the storm.

Finally, it automatically extinguishes any unprotected flames and has a 50% chance to extinguish protected flames (such as those of lanterns).

The rain damages chaotic creatures, dealing 2d6 points of damage per round (chaotic outsiders take double damage).

In addition, each round, a gout of acid strikes a randomly selected chaotic outsider within the spell's area, dealing 5d6 points of acid damage.

Two target creatures, of which you can be one, instantly swap positions.

A solid object such as the ground, a bridge, or a rope must connect the creatures.

Both subjects must be within range.

The movement is instantaneous and does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

If either creature succeeds on its Will save, the spell is negated.

The interlocking hoops become briefly hot then disappear even as similar, larger bands streak from your outstretched hand toward the creature you indicate.

With a satisfying metallic clank, the bands wrap around the indicated creature.

The victim must succeed on a Reflex save or be immobilized and thus unable to move.

If the saving throw succeeds, the victim is only partially trapped by the bands, and is entangled.

A creature immobilized by the bands can attempt to escape as a full-round action, either by bursting free (Strength DC 18) or wriggling out (Escape Artist DC 18).

An entangled creature can use a full-round action to break free (Strength DC 13) or disentangle itself (Escape Artist DC 13).

A bogun is a small nature servant created by a druid. Like a homunculus, it is an extension of its creator, sharing the same alignment and link to nature. A bogun does not fight particularly well, but it can perform any simple action, such as attacking, carrying a message, or opening a door or window. For the most part, a bogun simply carries out its creator's instructions. Because it is self-aware and somewhat willful, however, its behavior is not entirely predictable. On rare occasions (5% of the time), a bogun might refuse to perform a particular task. In that case, the creator must make a DC 11 Diplomacy check to convince the creature to cooperate. Success means the bogun performs the task as requested; failure indicates that it either does exactly the opposite or refuses to do anything at all for 24 hours (DM's option as to which).

A bogun cannot speak, but the process of creating one links it telepathically with its creator. It knows what its creator knows and can convey to him or her everything it sees and hears, up to a range of 500 yards. A bogun never travels beyond this range willingly, though it can be removed forcibly. In that case, it does everything in its power to regain contact with its creator. An attack that destroys a bogun also deals its creator 2d10 points of damage. If its creator is slain, a bogun also dies, and its body collapses into a heap of rotting vegetation.

A bogun looks like a vaguely humanoid mound of compost. The creator determines its precise features, but a typical bogun stands about 18 inches tall and has a wingspan of about 2 feet. Its skin is covered with nettles and branches.

Combat: A bogun attacks by brushing against opponents with harsh nettles that deliver an irritating poison.

Construction: Unlike a homunculus, a bogun is created from natural materials available in any forest. Thus, there is no gold piece cost for its creation. All materials used become permanent parts of the bogun.

The creator must be at least 7th level and possess the Craft Wondrous Item feat to make a bogun. Before casting any spells, the creator must weave a physical form out of living (or once-living) vegetable matter to hold the magical energy. A bit of the creator's own body, such as a few strands of hair or a drop of blood, must also be incorporated into this crude mannequin. The creator can assemble the body personally or hire someone else to do it. Creating this mannequin requires a DC 12 Craft (basketweaving or weaving) check.

Once the body is finished, the creator must animate it through an extended magical ritual that requires a week to complete. The creator must labor for at least 8 hours each day in complete solitude in a forest grove; any interruption from another sentient creature undoes the magic. If the creator is personally weaving the creature's body, that process and the ritual can be performed together.

When not actively working on the ritual, the creator must rest and can perform no other activities except eating, sleeping, or talking. Missing even one day causes the process to fail. At that point, the ritual must be started anew, though the previously crafted body and the grove can be reused.

On the final day of the ritual, the creator must personally cast control plants, wood shape, and beget bogun. These spells can come from outside sources, such as scrolls, rather than being prepared, if the creator prefers.

BENIGN TRANSPOSITION

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Two willing creatures of up to Large size

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Calling out the arcane words, you suddenly stand where your companion was, and he has taken your place, outside the reach of his foes.

Two target creatures, of which you can be one, instantly swap positions.

Both subjects must be within range.

Objects carried by the creatures (up to the creatures' maximum loads) go with them, but other creatures do not, even if they are carried.

The movement is instantaneous and does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

BLACK BLADE OF DISASTER

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Sword-shaped planar rift

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you cast the spell, a large black tear in the universe appears in the form of a crackling ebony sword made of the material of the planes.

The blade flies off at your mental command to destroy your foes. You create a black blade-shaped planar rift about 3 feet long.

The blade strikes at any creature within its range, as you desire, starting the round you cast the spell.

The blade makes a melee touch attack against its designated target once each round.

Its attack bonus is equal to your base attack bonus + your Intelligence bonus or your Charisma bonus (for wizards and sorcerers, respectively).

Anything hit by the blade is disintegrated if it fails a Fortitude save, taking 2d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 40d6), or 5d6 points of damage if the saving throw is successful.

The blade can pass through any magical barrier equal to or less than its spell level, but cannot penetrate dead magic areas or an antimagic field.

It can harm ethereal and incorporeal creatures as if it were a force effect.

The blade always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

If the blade exceeds its range or goes out of your line of sight, the spell ends.

You can direct the blade to attack another target as a standard action.

A gate spell can be used to counterspell a black blade of disaster.

A dimensional anchor spell cast at the blade dispels it automatically.

The blade cannot be harmed by physical attacks, but dispel magic, a sphere of annihilation, or a rod of cancellation can affect it.

Its touch attack AC is 13.

BLADES OF FIRE

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Targets: Up to two melee weapons you are wielding

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a word your weapons burst into flame.

You feel no heat and the flames merely tickle your skin.

Your melee weapons each deal an extra 1d8 points of fire damage.

This damage stacks with any energy damage your weapons already deal.

BLAST OF FLAME

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

As you cast the spell, your hand becomes sheathed in barely perceptible yellow flames.

With a roar, the flames burst from your hand in the shape of a cone, leaving your hand trailing wisps of smoke.

Flames fill the area, dealing 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to any creature in the area that fails its saving throw.

Material Component: A bit of wick soaked in oil.

BLOODSTAR

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A bloodstar

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

In a ruby flash a blood-colored, glowing crystal appears near your foes to suck the blood from their wounds.

You create a magic construct called a bloodstar that shoots from your hand and hovers in the air anywhere within the limit of the range (each round, you can move the bloodstar anywhere within range with a standard action spent concentrating on the new position).

The bloodstar pulses with ruby light (providing illumination in a 20-foot radius).

Any creature you initially designate within 10 feet of the bloodstar that takes damage from any source must make a saving throw.

On a failed save, the victim takes 1 point of Constitution damage.

Each time victims are damaged, they can attempt new saves.

The bloodstar cannot be attacked or harmed by physical attacks.

Focus: A ruby worth at least 30 gp.

BOMBARDMENT

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (15-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You point to the empty air and boulders tumble into being, burying your opponents.

You designate the spot on which the cylinder is centered. Each creature in the area that fails a Reflex saving throw takes 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d8) and is buried under 5 feet of rubble.

A successful save halves the damage and avoids burial.

A buried creature can free itself with a DC 20 Strength check (a full-round action), or it can be dug free by others (a single creature working alone requires 1 minute to free a trapped creature).

A buried creature is unable to move, and cannot cast spells with somatic components, and any material components must be in hand.

After this spell is cast, its area is covered in 5 feet of dense rubble (DMG 90).

Focus: A quartz crystal embedded in rock.

BOTTLE OF SMOKE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Effect: One smoky, horselike creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You wave an ornate bottle about and smoke twists into it, filling it with a white cloud.

You create a plume of smoke that you capture in a special bottle you're holding.

If the bottle is thereafter opened before the spell duration expires, the smoke emerges to form a vaguely horselike creature made of wisps of smoke.

It makes no sound, and anything that touches it simply passes through it.

To mount this smoke horse, the would-be rider must make a DC 10 Ride check while holding the bottle in one hand.

Anyone attempting to mount without the bottle simply passes through the horse's form.

Letting go of the bottle after mounting causes the rider to fall through the horse's smoky form; he or she cannot thereafter remount without the intact bottle in hand.

If the bottle is broken, the spell ends immediately and the rider (if mounted) falls to the ground.

The smoke horse has a speed of 20 feet per caster level, to a maximum of 240 feet.

It can send smoke billowing out behind it at the rider's behest, leaving behind a bank of smoke 5 feet wide and 20 feet high as it moves.

A severe wind, or magical wind of any kind, disperses the horse (and any smoke it has produced) instantly.

Otherwise, the bank of smoke lasts 10 minutes, starting on the turn it was laid down.

Starting or stopping the smoke trail is a free action.

The mount and the smoke trail it produces give concealment to anyone behind them.

The mount is immune to all damage and other attacks because material objects and spells simply pass through it.

It cannot attack.

The rider can return the smoke horse to the bottle, and thus pause the spell, at any time by simply uncorking it (a move action) and stoppering it again (another move action) in the next round after the horse is inside.

If the bottle is reopened later, the spell reactivates with its remaining duration intact.

Regardless of how much duration remains unused, the spell ceases functioning 24 hours after it is cast.

If dispelled at any time while the bottle is corked, the spell ends.

Focus: An ornate, corked bottle worth at least 50 gp.

BUZZING BEE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A small but extremely loud bee appears, buzzing around the head of the designated target.

This spell creates an unnerving noise that disrupts the subject's concentration.

The subject is distracted and takes a –10 penalty on Move Silently checks.

Creatures that can't hear are not distracted.

The DC of Concentration checks to cast spells or maintain concentration while distracted is equal to this spell's DC + the level of the spell being cast.

The bee has a fly speed of 180 feet (perfect).

It remains near the subject in spite of darkness, invisibility, polymorph, cover, concealment, or any other attempt at disguising or hiding.

The bee remains until the spell's duration expires or the subject moves out of range.

The bee can't be attacked, but it can be dispelled.

Material Component: A dab of honey.

CALL KOLYARUT

Conjuration (Calling) [Lawful]

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One called kolyarut

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As you complete the spell, the powers of Mechanus respond.

The kolyarut does not manifest before you as much as assembles itself in your presence, a single whirling cog unfolding until the construct stands complete.

"Who is to be punished?" it asks in the flat voice of a clock mechanism.

By casting this spell, you receive the aid of a kolyarut inevitable (MM 159).

If you know an individual kolyarut's name, you can request that individual by speaking the name during the spell (though you might get a different creature, anyway).

You can ask the kolyarut to perform one duty for you.

The task must take no more than 1 hour to complete.

The inevitable does not ask for any payment for the task.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

CALL MARUT

Conjuration (Calling) [Lawful]

Level: Cleric 9, Mechanus 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One called marut

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call across the boundaries of the multiverse, and the powers of Mechanus respond.

The marut warps into place in an eyeblink with a whirling throb of thunder.

“Who denies death?” it asks with the voice of an avalanche.

By casting this spell, you receive the aid of a marut inevitable (MM 159).

If you know an individual marut’s name, you can request that individual by speaking the name during the spell (though you might get a different creature, anyway).

You can ask the marut to perform one duty for you.

The task must take no more than 1 hour to complete.

The inevitable does not ask for any payment for the task.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

CALL ZELEKHUT

Conjuration (Calling) [Lawful]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One called zelekhut

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You make the necessary conjurations and the powers of Mechanus respond.

The zelekhut fades into view, its centaur form accompanied by the sound of rattling silver chains.

“Who seeks to escape justice?” it asks with the solemn tones of a judge’s gavel.

By casting this spell, you receive the aid of a zelekhut inevitable (MM 160).

If you know an individual zelekhut’s name, you can request that individual by speaking the name during the spell (though you might get a different creature, anyway).

You can ask the zelekhut to perform one duty for you.

The task must take no more than 1 hour to complete.

The inevitable does not ask for any payment for the task.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

CALTROPS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: See text

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You speak the words and spread your palm open, as if you were throwing jacks.

Coppery sparks spring from your palm, filling the corridor with small four-pronged spikes.

A caltrops spell covers one 5-foot-by-5-foot square with caltrops.

Every time a creature moves into an area covered by caltrops or spends a round fighting while standing in such an area, it might step on one.

The caltrops make one attack roll (+0 melee) against the creature.

For this attack, the target’s shield and deflection bonuses do not count, nor does its armor bonus for armor worn.

A target wearing shoes or other footwear gains a +2 armor bonus to Armor Class (which does count).

If the caltrops succeed on the attack, the creature has stepped on one.

A successful attack by a caltrop deals 1 point of damage.

If the target is Small, Medium, or Large, its land speed is reduced by one-half because of the injury.

This movement penalty lasts for 24 hours, until the creature is successfully treated with a DC 15 Heal check, or until it receives at least 1 point of magical healing.

A charging or running creature must immediately stop if it steps on a caltrop.

Any creature moving at half speed or slower can pick its way through a bed of caltrops with no trouble.

The DM judges the effectiveness of caltrops against unusual opponents or opponents outside the size range given above.

A giant centipede, for example, can scramble among the caltrops with no chance of hurting itself, and a fire giant wearing thick, massive boots might be immune to their attacks.

For every two caster levels beyond 1st, you can affect an additional 5-foot-by-5-foot square, and the caltrops’ attack bonus increases by 1.

Thus, you affect two squares at 3rd level (+1 melee), three at 5th level (+2 melee), four at 7th level (+3 melee), and a maximum of five at 9th level or higher (+4 melee maximum).

Multiple caltrops spells (or mundane caltrops) occupying the same space have no additional effect.

CLOSE WOUNDS

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Your ally falls from a crushing blow, but you don’t have time to reach him.

You quickly speak words of power, and the worst of his injuries glow golden and begin to heal.

This spell cures 1d4 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +5).

If you cast this spell immediately after the subject takes damage, it effectively prevents the damage.

It would keep alive someone who had just dropped to –10 hit points, for example, leaving the character at negative hit points but stable.

Used against an undead creature, close wounds deals damage instead of curing the creature (which takes half damage if it makes a Will saving throw).

CLOUD OF BEWILDERMENT

Conjuration

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft. cube

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

As you exhale the last syllables of the incantation, your breath forms an invisible spray of noxious air.

This spell creates a small cloud of nauseating vapors.

Any living creature in the area becomes nauseated.

This condition lasts as long as the creature is in the cloud and for 1d4+1 rounds after it leaves.

Any creature that succeeds on its save but remains in the cloud must continue to save each round on your turn.

The cloud obscures sight, including darkvision, providing concealment to creatures within the area or against attacks made through the cloud.

Material Component: A rotten egg.

COCOON

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One corpse

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The silkworm cocoon disappears from your palm, and silk threads coalesce from thin air around your target, quickly wrapping about the body until it is fully encased.

When cast upon a deceased creature (whose death can be no less recent than 1 round per caster level), this spell preserves the body and begins a slow process of rebirth.

If the corpse is raised, resurrected, or reincarnated at any point during the next week, the creature takes no level loss or Constitution loss normally associated with such spells.

At the conclusion of the week, if the subject has not been returned to life, the creature is automatically reincarnated, as the spell, with no loss of level or Constitution.

Material Component: A silkworm cocoon.

XP Cost: 250 XP

COMETFALL

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 400-pound ball of rock and ice

Area: 5-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure a bright, glowing comet, which appears in midair above your enemies, then strikes the ground with tremendous force and a thunderous boom.

You conjure a comet that immediately falls to the ground, dealing 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to everything in the area.

The force of the comet can also knock creatures over.

Creatures who fail their Reflex save are knocked prone.

A creature that succeeds on its saving throw takes half damage from the comet and is not knocked down.

The comet breaks apart on impact, filling the 10-foot-square area with dense rubble (DMG 90).

You must cast this spell in an area with at least 40 feet of vertical space above the point of impact.

If you do not have 40 feet of space, the spell fails.

CONTAGIOUS FOG

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spitting the last phrase of the spell, you throw out your arm, and a brown mist whirls into being around your foes.

This spell functions like fog cloud (PH 232), except as noted here.

Each round that a creature is within the fog, it must make a Fortitude save or contract a disease equivalent to the shakes (DMG 292), which strikes immediately (no incubation period).

A creature afflicted with this disease takes 1d8 points of Dexterity damage immediately, and each day that the disease persists, it must make a DC 13 Fortitude save or take another 1d8 points of Dexterity damage.

The fog moves away from you at 10 feet per round, rolling along the surface of the ground or water.

(Figure out the cloud's new spread each round based on its new center, which is 10 feet farther away from the point of origin where you cast the spell).

Because the vapors are heavier than air, they sink to the lowest level of the surface over which they move, pouring down sinkhole openings, and even down through minute cracks.

Contagious fog cannot penetrate liquids, nor can it be cast underwater.

Material Component: A used handkerchief.

CORPSE CANDLE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ghostly hand and candle

Duration: 1 minute/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You hold out a piece of flesh before you, and as you concentrate on your desired spell effect, the flesh dissolves into nothingness.

Nearby, in the place of your choosing, a severed hand appears bearing a lit candle.

The ghostly hand carries a lit candle that sheds light in a 5-foot radius.

You can move the hand at the beginning of your turn as you desire—forward or back, up or down, straight or around corners—up to 50 feet per round.

Directing the candle is a free action.

The hand and candle are incorporeal and can pass through objects.

A corpse candle illuminates hidden, ethereal, and invisible beings and items, all of which become faintly visible as wispy outlines.

Ethereal creatures remain unreachable from the Material Plane (except with force effects), but illuminated incorporeal and invisible creatures do not benefit from concealment, and so attacks against them suffer no miss chance.

The hand cannot be attacked or damaged, though dispel magic and similar spells can dispel it.

The hand winks out if the distance between you and it exceeds the spell's range.

Material Component: A piece of a corpse untreated by any kind of preservative.

CORROSIVE GRASP

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: Creatures touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your hand glistens and smokes from a viscous coating of acid. It does not harm you, but your opponents are less fortunate.

A touch attack with this hand causes 1d8 points of acid damage.

You can use this melee touch attack up to one time per level.

You can also deal this damage as extra damage with an unarmed strike or an attack with a natural weapon.

If you grapple an opponent, you can deal this damage in addition to other damage you deal with a successful grapple check.

CRAWLING DARKNESS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

A shroud of dark, writhing tentacles forms around your body as you speak the spell's final syllables.

This spell creates a number of tentacles that surround you but do not interfere with your movement or spellcasting. They provide concealment and completely hide your features.

You gain a +4 competence bonus on grapple checks, Climb checks, and Escape Artist checks.

When you are attacked, the tentacles strike back at your attacker.

They have an attack bonus equal to your base attack bonus + your Wis modifier, and a successful attack deals 1d12 points of damage.

CREATE MAGIC TATTOO

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You finish the last detail and lean back to look at your work.

The tattoo looks good.

It should prove useful.

This spell creates a single magic tattoo.

You determine the exact type of tattoo, though the selection is limited by your caster level, as indicated below.

You must possess a modicum of artistic talent to sketch the desired tattoo—at least 1 rank of Craft (drawing), Craft (painting), Craft (calligraphy), or a similar Craft skill.

Inscribing a magic tattoo requires a successful Craft check.

The DC varies with the kind of tattoo, as noted below.

If you are a 3rd- to 6th-level caster, you can inscribe a tattoo that generates any one of the following effects (Craft DC 10).

- +2 resistance bonus on one type of saving throw (Fortitude, Reflex, or Will).
- +1 luck bonus on attack rolls.
- +1 deflection bonus to AC.

At 7th to 12th caster level, you can add the following tattoos to the list that you can inscribe (Craft DC 15).

- +2 resistance bonus on saving throws.
- +2 competence bonus on attack rolls.

When your caster level reaches 13th, you can add the following to the list of tattoos you can inscribe (Craft DC 20).

- Spell resistance equal to 10 + 1 per three caster levels.
- +2 enhancement bonus to any one ability score.
- +1 spellcaster level.

This effect increases the subject's effective level, but not the total number of spells.

For example, an 11th-level caster who receives this tattoo functions as a 12th-level caster for the purpose of determining level-based spell variables (such as range, area, effect, and so on), but he does not receive any extra spells. A single creature can have only three magic tattoos at a time.

Any attempt to apply more than that automatically fails.

A successful erase spell removes a single magic tattoo.

A successful dispel magic spell can remove multiple magic tattoos if targeted on the creature bearing them.

Material Components: Tattoo inks in appropriate colors costing at least 100 gp.

Focus: Tattoo needles.

DEADFALL

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Mass of dead wood forming in a cylinder (20-ft. radius, 40 ft. high); see text

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

With the final word of the spell you call into being a huge tower of logs and branches.

It collapses to the ground with a roar, crushing creatures beneath its weight.

Pick a point on the ground as the center of the radius and bottom of the cylinder.

Deadfall creates a tangled mass of huge branches, logs, and fallen trees on the ground.

The deadfall immediately collapses in on itself with terrific force and noise.

Creatures and objects in the area take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

In addition, creatures in the area must succeed on a Reflex save or be knocked prone.

Once you cast the spell, a considerable volume of dead wood remains behind.

This pile of brush is 5 feet high, with a 20-foot radius, and it counts as dense rubble (DMG 90).

DEEP BREATH

Conjuration (Creation) [Air]

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You let out a quick cry and instantly feel your chest swell with air, as if you had taken a deep breath.

Strangely, you feel no need to exhale.

Your lungs instantly fill with air, and continue to refill with air for the duration of the spell.

When the spell's duration expires, you can continue to hold your breath as if you had just gulped down a lungful of air.

You can cast this spell with an instant utterance, quickly enough to save yourself from drowning after being suddenly plunged into water.

DEIFIC VENGEANCE

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Cleric 2, Purification 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call out to your deity, declaring your foe's crimes and asking your deity to punish him.

This spell deals 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6), or 1d6 points per caster level (maximum 10d6) if the target is undead.

DELAY DISEASE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You press your focus to the creature and implore the contagion that ravages it to lie dormant.

As the spell takes effect, a dim yellow glow passes over the creature's body.

The progress of any nonmagical disease that already afflicts the target is halted for the duration of the spell.

Delay disease allows the subject to skip the required saving throw against the disease for the day that the spell is in effect.

During this period, the subject accrues no further ability damage from the disease.

A skipped saving throw counts as neither a success nor a failure for the purpose of recovery from the disease.

Furthermore, the incubation period of any disease to which the subject is exposed during the spell's duration does not begin until the spell expires.

Delay disease does not cure any damage that a disease might already have dealt, and it has no effect on magical or supernatural diseases.

DIMENSION DOOR, GREATER

Conjuration [Teleportation]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Range: Touch

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Your flesh gives an involuntary shudder as you will yourself elsewhere.

You vanish, reappearing some distance away.

This spell functions like dimension door (PH 221), except as noted above and that you can transfer the targets once per round, up to a distance of 25 feet + 5 feet per two levels, as a move action that does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

DRAGON ALLY

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Dragon 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Effect: One called dragon of 18 HD or less

This spell functions like lesser dragon ally, except you can call a single dragon of up to 18 HD.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

DRAGON ALLY, GREATER

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Effect: One called dragon of 22 HD or less

This spell functions like lesser dragon ally, except you can call a single dragon of up to 22 HD.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

DRAGON ALLY, LESSER

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One called dragon of 15 HD or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You feel some of your lifeforce being pulled from you in the casting of the spell.

A large dragon lands nearby.

"You wish to discuss something?" it asks, eyeing your belongings.

This spell calls a dragon.

You can ask the dragon to perform one task in exchange for a payment from you.

Tasks might range from the simple (fly us across the chasm, help us fight a battle) to the complex (spy on our enemies, protect us on our foray into the dungeon).

You must be able to communicate with the dragon to bargain for its services.

The summoned dragon requires payment for its services, which takes the form of coins, gems, or other precious objects the dragon can add to its hoard.

This payment must be made before the dragon agrees to perform any services.

The bargaining takes at least 1 round, so any actions by the creature begin in the round after it arrives.

Tasks requiring up to 1 minute per caster level require a payment of 50 gp per HD of the called dragon.

For a task requiring up to 1 hour per caster level, the creature requires a payment of 250 gp per HD.

Long-term tasks (those requiring up to 1 day per caster level) require a payment of 500 gp per HD.

Especially hazardous tasks require a greater gift, up to twice the given amount.

A dragon never accepts less than the indicated amount, even for a nonhazardous task.

At the end of its task, or when the duration bargained for elapses, the creature returns to the place it was called from (after reporting back to you, if appropriate and possible).

XP Cost: 100 XP.

Special: Sorcerers cast this spell at +1 caster level.

DROWN

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You speak the words and make the sign of the wave.

Your foe sputters, water gushing from his mouth, then collapses.

You create water in the lungs of the subject, causing it to begin drowning (DMG 304) as if it had failed to continue holding its breath.

The subject's hit points immediately drop to 0, and it falls unconscious.

In the next round, it loses another hit point (bringing its hit points to -1) and is dying.

In the following round, it dies.

Coughing and other attempts by the subject to physically expel the water from its lungs are useless.

However, another creature can stabilize the subject by making a DC 15 Heal check on the creature before it dies.

Undead, constructs, creatures that do not need to breathe, and creatures that can breathe water are unaffected by this spell.

DROWN, MASS

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 9

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You speak the words and make the sign of the wave, indicating each of your foes in turn.

They sputter and pitch forward, water gushing from their mouths and nostrils.

This spell functions like drown, except that it affects multiple creatures.

ETHEREAL MOUNT

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Effect: One quasi-real mount, plus one additional mount/2 levels

Your spell draws ether into form, creating a misty mount for you to ride.

This spell functions like phantom steed (PH 260), except as noted here.

You call into being one or more quasi-real mounts.

These mounts accept only you and those that you designate as riders.

The mounts appear as horses or any other commonly ridden mounts, but they have a foggy, almost translucent nature, and their colors shift across the spectrum over time. These mounts have AC 18 (-1 size, +4 natural armor, +5 Dex), and hit points equal to 10 + your caster level.

They do not fight and have no attacks.

If reduced to 0 hit points, an ethereal mount melts into the ethereal fog from which it came.

An ethereal mount has a speed of 240 feet on the Ethereal Plane and can carry its rider's weight plus 10 pounds per level.

(If the Deep Ethereal is used in your cosmology, then the amount of time to reach destinations is halved while on an ethereal mount).

EYES OF THE KING

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Hunger 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Unlimited

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: Concentration + 5 rounds, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Letting a bit of bat fur loose to float on the air, you summon huge, glowing green bats to serve as your eyes.

You summon four fiendish dire bats (MM 62) that blaze with a faint ghoul-green light (they glow as bright as a candle).

These fiendish dire bats have damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5 and fire 5; spell resistance 9; and a smite good attack that provides a +4 bonus on one damage roll. The bats allow you to see through their eyes, from their perspective, using your own visual senses.

If you have darkvision, low-light vision, or spells cast that enhance your visual senses, such as true seeing or see invisibility, you continue to gain the benefit of those abilities or spells through the eyes of your bat minions. The bats also give you the benefit of their blindsense ability for the purpose of viewing their surroundings for the duration of the spell.

You can summon the bats at any point you can see, but they can then travel outside your line of sight without hindrance.

Even while outside your line of sight, they follow your mental directions on where to explore.

The dire bats travel together, never separating by more than 40 feet.

They fly with a speed of 40 feet if viewing an area ahead as a human would (primarily looking at the floor) or at half speed (speed 20 feet) if examining the ceiling and walls as well as the floor ahead.

The bats can travel in any direction as long as the spell lasts.

You must concentrate to control the dire bats.

If you do not concentrate, the bats move to attack the closest active creature.

Once concentration lapses, the spell ends 5 rounds later.

Material Component: A bit of bat fur.

FAITH HEALING

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Blackguard 1, cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You place your hands on your loyal acolyte and blue-silver radiance discharges from your hands.

The horrendous wounds across his chest heal, leaving no scar.

When laying your hand upon a living creature, you channel positive energy that cures 8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +5).

The spell works only on a creature that worships the same deity as you.

A target with no deity or a different deity from yours is unaffected by the spell, even if the target would normally be harmed by positive energy.

FANTASTIC MACHINE

Conjuration [Creation]

Level: Craft 6, Gnome 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A 10-ft. machine

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Your spell generates an illusory, manyarmed, noisy, massive mechanical construct of impressive appearance.

This spell creates a bizarre, but useful, machine that you can command to perform any simple, physical task that can be described in twenty-five words or less.

You can order the machine to perform the same task over and over, but you can't change the task.

You must specify the task when you cast the spell.

The machine always acts on your turn in the initiative order.

(It can act during the turn you cast the spell).

The machine functions as a Large animated object (MM 13).

It trundles over the ground at a speed of 40 feet.

It can swim or fly at a speed of 10 feet (clumsy).

It has 22 hit points, AC 14 (-1 size, +5 natural), and hardness 10.

Its saving throw modifiers are Fortitude +1, Reflex +1, Will -4.

The machine has a Strength of 16.

A light load for the machine is up to 172 pounds; a medium load is 173–346 pounds; and a heavy load is 347–520 pounds.

The machine can fly or swim only when lightly loaded.

The machine can lift a weight of up to 1,040 pounds to a height of 15 feet.

It can push or drag 2,600 pounds.

It can excavate 7,000 pounds of loose rock each minute (which is sufficient to clear a 5-by-5-by-5-foot space in 3 rounds).

It can excavate sand or loose soil at twice that rate.

The machine has an attack bonus of +5 and can make one slam attack each round that deals 1d8+4 points of damage.

It deals triple slam damage (3d8+12) against stone or metal.

The machine can hurl Small rocks (if any are at hand) with an attack bonus of +3.

Its range increment is 150 feet, and it can throw a rock up to 10 range increments.

A thrown rock deals 2d6+4 points of damage.

FANTASTIC MACHINE, GREATER

Conjuration [Creation]

Level: Craft 9

This spell functions like fantastic machine, but you can concentrate on controlling the machine's every action or specify a simple program, such as to collect all the logs in an area and stack them in a neat pile, plow a field, drive piles, or the like.

The machine can perform only fairly simple physical tasks.

Directing the machine's actions or changing its programmed movement is a standard action for you.

The machine always acts on your turn in the initiative order.

(It can act during the turn you cast the spell).

Except where noted below, the machine functions as a Large animated object (MM 13) constructed from adamantite.

It trundles over the ground at a speed of 60 feet.

It can swim or fly at a speed of 20 feet (poor).

It has 16 HD, 88 hit points, AC 20 (-1 size, +11 natural), and hardness 20.

Its saving throw modifiers are Fortitude +5, Reflex +5, and Will +0.

The machine has a Strength of 22.

A light load for the machine is up to 346 pounds, a medium load is 347–692 pounds, and a heavy load is 693–1,040 pounds.

The machine can fly or swim only when lightly loaded. The machine can lift a weight of up to 2,080 pounds to a height of 15 feet.

It can push or drag 5,200 pounds.

It can excavate 20,000 pounds of loose rock each minute (which is sufficient to clear a 5-by-5-by-5-foot space in 1 round).

It can excavate sand or loose soil at twice that rate.

The machine makes slam attacks with an attack bonus of +17/+12 for 1d8+9 points of damage.

It deals triple slam damage (3d8+27) against stone or metal. The machine can hurl Small rocks (if any are at hand) with an attack bonus of +12/+7.

Its range increment is 150 feet, and it can throw a rock up to 10 range increments.

A thrown rock deals 2d6+9 points of damage.

FIERCE PRIDE OF THE BEASTLANDS

Conjuration (Summoning) [Chaotic, Good]

Level: Cleric 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Green-white fog rises from the ground as you intone this spell, and great feline shadows takes shape within the misty cloud.

The first of a pride of golden-pelted lions with silver eyes emerges from the fog.

When the spell is complete, 2d4 celestial lions (MM 274) appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 celestial dire lions (MM 63) appear.

Each creature has maximum hit points per Hit Die.

Once these creatures appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

A celestial lion called by this spell has damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5, cold 5, and electricity 5; spell resistance 9; and a smite evil attack that provides a +5 bonus on one damage roll.

A celestial dire lion called by this spell has damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 10, cold 10, and electricity 10; spell resistance 13; and a smite evil attack that provides a +8 bonus on one damage roll.

The creatures obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them.

You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the creatures.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

FIRE SPIDERS

Conjuration (Summoning) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Fiery spiders that cover a 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Tiny lights appear in the darkness—one, ten, over a hundred.

As they appear, the sound of insectile chittering increases, until a swarming army of flaming, otherworldly arachnids is gathered together at your command.

You call forth a teeming mass of fire elementals the size of common spiders.

A creature that starts its turn in the affected area takes 4d6 points of fire damage.

Each round, you can use a move action to direct the spiders to move up to 30 feet.

If the spiders are left undirected, they move at a speed of 15 feet toward the nearest living creature, if one isn't already in the affected area.

As fire elementals, the fire spiders have immunity to fire and are thwarted by barriers that block neutral outsiders.

Any cold spell of 3rd level or higher can disperse the fire spiders, ending the spell.

Material Component: A pinch of sulfur.

FORTUNATE FATE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A golden aura spreads out from your fingertips, suffusing your ally with a golden glow that brightens, then fades into her skin.

You surround the subject with an aura that immediately heals the creature if it is subjected to an effect that would kill it (reduce its hit points to –10 or below).

When this event occurs, the fortunate fate spell intervenes by immediately triggering a heal spell upon the target.

If the effect is one that causes harm in a way that a heal spell can repair (disease, hit point damage, ability damage, or poison), the target does not actually die, saved by the heal.

If the effect is one that heal cannot countermand (such as ability drain, old age, negative levels, disintegration, ability drain, or death effects), the fortunate fate spell cannot prevent the creature's death.

FREEZE

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon divine power, your hand turns cold and numb as you complete the spell.

A moment later, a thin blue ray swirled with white streaks from your outstretched hand, leaving a light fog in the air where it passed.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A target struck takes 2d6 points of cold damage.

A creature struck must succeed on a Reflex save or be encased in a 5-inch-thick sheath of ice and be immobilized (and thus helpless).

A creature encased in ice takes 2d6 points of cold damage each round until freed.

A target encased in ice is aware and breathes normally but cannot speak or move other than to attempt to escape by making a Strength check (see below).

It can still execute purely mental actions, such as using a spell-like ability.

A spellcaster can cast a spell with no verbal or somatic component as long as the spell lacks a focus or material component, or the material component, focus, or divine focus is already in the spellcaster's hand.

The ice blocks line of effect.

A winged creature cannot flap its wings and falls.

A swimmer can't swim but, because ice floats, the encased swimmer will rise to the surface and bob about.

A DC 22 Strength check breaks the ice, freeing the encased creature.

Creatures other than the target can also attack the ice.

The ice has hardness 0 and 15 hit points.

When the duration of the spell expires, the ice melts and the encased creature is freed.

Damage that would harm the creature must first deal enough damage to destroy the ice before the creature takes damage, and damage dealt to the ice is subtracted from damage that would be dealt to the creature.

FREEZING FOG

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Fog spreads in a 20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

A cool mist rises from the area you indicate.

The thick mist blocks your ability to see within it, but the ground at its edge has turned white with frost.

A bank of freezing mist billows out from the point you designate, obscuring all sight (including darkvision) beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment, while creatures farther away have total concealment.

Each round on your turn, the frigid mist deals 1d6 points of cold damage to each creature and object within it.

The fog is so thick that any creature attempting to move through it progresses at a maximum speed of 5 feet (regardless of its normal speed) and takes a -2 penalty on melee attack rolls and damage rolls and a -6 penalty on ranged weapon attack rolls (but not ranged spell attack rolls).

A creature or object that falls into the fog from above is slowed, so that each 10 feet of mist it passes through effectively reduces overall falling damage by 1d6.

Freezing fog also coats all solid surfaces in its area with a slick, icy rime, and on your turn each round, each creature in the area of the fog must make a successful Reflex save or fall prone.

A creature that manages to stand must make a DC 10 Balance check in order to move, falling prone if it fails its save by 5 or more.

Creatures in the fog can't take a 5-foot step.

A severe wind disperses the cloud in 1 round.

The spell does not function underwater.

G'ELSEWHERE CHANT

Conjuration [Sonic, Teleportation]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One creature or object touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch the target and it vanishes in a shower of golden sparks. Almost instantly, it appears a short distance away.

You teleport a target to a random, safe location up to 100 feet distant and visible to you.

To randomly determine the subject's destination, roll 1d8 to determine the direction, then roll 1d10?10 to determine the distance from the subject's previous location.

Roll direction and distance again if this new destination is outside your line of sight, within a solid object, or more than 5 feet above the ground.

If your target is being held (whether an object held by a character or a character being grappled by a creature), the holding or grappling creature also receives a Will saving throw to resist.

GEMJUMP

Conjuration [Teleportation]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Unlimited; see text

Target: You and willing creatures totaling up to one/3 levels; see text

Duration: Until triggered

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No; see text

You mutter over the iridescent, faceted gem.

It twinkles in response, and you feel a strong link between you and the stone.

When you speak the word, the two of you will be reunited.

This spell teleports you to the location of a specially prepared gem.

You initially cast gemjump upon the focus, which you must touch.

As a standard action any time after you prepare the stone, you can utter a command word and instantly teleport to the location of the gem, provided you and the stone are on the same plane.

The teleport is always on target (as though you are using a greater teleport spell).

If the area containing the gem is too small for you, you appear in the nearest sufficiently large space.

You can transport, in addition to yourself, one Medium or smaller creature per three caster levels, and can bring along objects as long as their weight does not exceed your maximum load.

An unwilling creature can't be teleported by gemjump. Likewise, a creature's Will save (or spell resistance) prevents items in its possession from being teleported. Unattended, nonmagical objects receive no saving throw. Focus: A gem worth 500 gp.

GOLDEN BARDING

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Blackguard 1, paladin 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Special mount touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a flash, a glowing, golden suit of barding for your special mount appears.

You create a suit of barding for your mount to wear.

The armor appears on your mount, fitting perfectly.

The golden barding you create has no armor check penalty and has no effect on your mount's speed.

The exact nature of the barding depends on your caster level.

2nd–3rd: Scale mail barding (+4 armor bonus).

4th–5th: Chainmail barding (+5).

6th–7th: Splint mail barding (+6).

8th–9th: Half-plate barding (+7).

10th+: Full plate barding (+8).

You can cast magic vestment or other spells that target a suit of armor on the golden barding.

HAIL OF STONE

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (5-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You hold the jade chip before you and blow on it as you end the spell.

The chip flares with a green flame and vanishes as rocks begin to fall on your pursuers.

You create a rain of stones that deals 1d4 points of damage per caster level (maximum 5d4) to creatures and objects within the area.

Material Component: A piece of jade worth at least 5 gp.

HEAL ANIMAL COMPANION

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Druid 5, ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Your animal companion touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You lay your hand on your animal companion, and as you do, its eyes become clear and focused, and it breathes easier.

This spell functions like heal (PH 239), except that it affects only your animal companion.

HEALTHFUL REST

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A diffuse glow of golden light spreads from you, wrapping those you have chosen in a soft nimbus.

The subjects of your spell look relaxed and rested, the stresses of the day forgotten.

Healthful rest doubles the subjects' natural healing rate.

Each affected creature regains twice the hit points and ability damage it otherwise would have regained during that day, depending on its activity level (PH 76).

HEAVENLY HOST

Conjuration (Summoning) [Good, Lawful]

Level: Cleric 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You invoke this spell and heavenly rays lance down from above.

Out of these sparkling rays manifest great glowing balls of power.

The shadows of greater warriors coalesce within this light.

When the spell is complete, 2d4 lantern archons (MM 16) appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 hound archons (MM 17) appear.

Each creature has maximum hit points per Hit Die.

Once these creatures appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

The creatures obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them. You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the creatures.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

HELLISH HORDE

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil, Lawful]

Level: Cleric 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

When the spell is complete, 2d4 bearded devils (MM 52) appear.

Ten minutes later, 1d4 chain devils (MM 53) appear.

Ten minutes after that, one bone devil (MM 52) appears.

Each creature has maximum hit points per Hit Die.

Once these creatures appear, they serve you for the duration of the spell.

The devils obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them.

You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the devils.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

HIDDEN LODGE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F; see text

Duration: 24 hours

You picture in your mind the desired appearance of a camouflaged lodge even as you complete the motions and words of the spell.

When you finish, you open your eyes and note a new feature in the landscape roughly the size of a house.

This spell functions like Leomund's secure shelter (PH 247), except as noted here.

The house created by hidden lodge is perfectly camouflaged to blend in with whatever terrain or surroundings are appropriate.

It might appear as a house-sized boulder in a rocky or mountainous area, as a sand dune in the desert, as a densely tangled thicket, a grassy knoll, or even a mighty tree.

The lodge also obscures all telltale signs of habitation, including any smoke, light, or sound coming from within.

At any distance of more than 30 feet, the lodge is indistinguishable from natural terrain.

Any creature approaching within 30 feet is entitled to a DC 30 Survival check to spot the hidden lodge as an artificial dwelling and not a natural part of the landscape.

Focus: The focus of an alarm spell (silver wire and a tiny bell), if this benefit is to be included in the hidden lodge (see Leomund's secure shelter for more information).

HOLY STORM

Conjuration (Creation) [Good, Water]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 3

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call upon the forces of good, and a heavy rain begins to fall around you, its raindrops soft and warm.

A driving rain falls around you.

It falls in a fixed area once created.

The storm reduces hearing and visibility, resulting in a -4 penalty on Listen, Spot, and Search checks.

It also applies a -4 penalty on ranged attacks made into, out of, or through the storm.

Finally, it automatically extinguishes any unprotected flames and has a 50% chance to extinguish protected flames (such as those of lanterns).

The rain damages evil creatures, dealing 2d6 points of damage per round (evil outsiders take double damage) at the beginning of your turn.

Material Component: A flask of holy water (25 gp).

HUNGRY GIZZARD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One Medium or smaller creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

What appears to be a massive gizzard from a bird attempts to consume a creature you indicate.

The gizzard pulses with glowing red blood and supernatural energy.

A large bulbous, fleshy mass seethes into being around a single Medium or smaller target within range.

The target can make a Reflex save to avoid becoming engulfed by the hungry gizzard, otherwise it is entombed within the disembodied digestive organ.

If the target successfully saves, the gizzard immediately vanishes without further effect.

Each round a creature remains trapped inside a hungry gizzard (starting in the round the spell is cast), the target creature is considered grappled and takes 2d8+8 points of crushing damage per round and 1d8 points of acid damage. While engulfed, the target creature can cast a spell only if the spell has no somatic component, the material components are in hand, and it makes a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level).

An engulfed creature can cut its way out by using claws or a light slashing weapon to deal 25 points of damage to the gizzard (AC 12).

Once the creature exits, the gizzard immediately melts into a pool of blood and meaty chunks.

There is no immediate physical exit; the only way for those trapped inside to escape is to cut their way free, to dispel the spell, or to have allies outside destroy the gizzard.

The gizzard is fairly easy to strike in combat from a vantage point outside of its interior, due to its size (AC 4).

A newly formed hungry gizzard has 5 hit points per caster level.

The gizzard is treated like an unattended object for the purpose of saving throws.

A hungry gizzard reduced to 0 hit points is immediately destroyed.

Material Component: A dried gizzard.

HUNTERS OF HADES

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Cleric 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Two summoned pack fiends, which can be no more than 30 ft. apart, or one retriever

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You evoke the dark powers and the ground splits near you. Up from the smoking depths comes a pair of creatures, each resembling a mating of wolf and cockroach.

This spell summons either a single retriever (MM 46) or a pair of pack fiends (Planar Handbook 128) from the Gray Waste of Hades to serve you.

The creatures magically understand your spoken commands (regardless of your language).

They are treated as trained hunting beasts, so you can command them to track if you so choose.

The creatures obey you explicitly and never attack you, even if someone else manages to gain control over them. You do not need to concentrate to maintain control over the creatures.

You can dismiss them singly or in groups at any time.

Material Component: A pinch of ash.

If a retriever is summoned, a 500 gp bloodstone must also be used.

ICE KNIFE

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Assassin 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: One icy missile

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial or Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You shake your hand as if to free it from some substance you disdain.

As you do, a magical shard of ice blasts from your hand and speeds to its target, the sound of cracking ice following in its wake.

You must succeed on a normal ranged attack to hit (with a +2 bonus on the attack roll for every two caster levels).

If it hits, an ice knife deals 2d8 points of cold damage and 2 points of Dexterity damage (a successful Fortitude save negates the Dexterity damage).

Creatures that have immunity to cold also take no Dexterity damage automatically.

A knife that misses creates a shower of ice crystals in a 10-foot-radius burst (see Missing with a Thrown Weapon, PH 158, to determine where the shard hits).

The icy burst deals 1d8 points of cold damage to all creatures within the area (Reflex half).

Material Component: A drop of water or piece of ice.

ICELANCE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One lance of ice

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You clutch the quartz in your hand, focusing the energy of the spell into a sharp spear.

With a thought, you send it whistling through the air at your foe.

You must succeed on a normal ranged attack to strike a target with an icelance.

You gain a +4 bonus on your attack roll.

If you hit, the icelance deals 6d6 points of damage to the target.

Half of this damage is piercing damage; the rest is cold damage.

In addition, the target must make a Fortitude save or be stunned for 1d4 rounds.

Regardless of the result of the attack, the icelance shatters upon its first use.

Focus: A 50-gp clear quartz gemstone.

Alternatively, if you are in a cold region, you can substitute 10 pounds of ice or snow for the quartz.

INKY CLOUD

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Black bubbles of ink boil up from the vial in your hand and quickly spread to fill all the water around you with darkness, blocking your vision.

You create an inky cloud that billows out from your location.

The cloud obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment.

Creatures farther away have total concealment.

A moderate current disperses the cloud in 4 rounds; a strong current disperses the cloud in 1 round.

This spell functions only underwater.

Material Component: A small vial containing the ink of a squid or octopus.

KELPSTRAND

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You stretch out your hand and long strands of wet kelp streak out to envelop your foes.

Make a ranged touch attack at each target.

If you hit a creature, you immediately make an opposed grapple check against the creature as a free action without provoking attacks of opportunity.

You add your caster level and your Wisdom bonus to the result of your grapple check rather than your Strength bonus and size bonus.

If you succeed, the target becomes entangled in the thick strands of kelp and is grappled.

Each round, the target can attempt to escape the kelpstrand by making a successful grapple or Escape Artist check against the kelpstrand's grapple check.

You are not considered grappling yourself while using this spell.

Once you shoot your strands of kelp, you need not take any action to maintain the effect.

A creature targeted with multiple kelpstrands has to make separate grapple or Escape Artist checks against each kelpstrand currently grappling it to escape.

If you cast this spell while you are within 300 feet of the ocean shore, you gain a +4 bonus on any grapple checks made to determine the outcome of a kelpstrand grapple.

Material Component: A piece of dried seaweed.

MAELSTROM

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 8, Ocean 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: A whirlpool 120 ft. wide and 60 ft. deep

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Whirling about your hand and pulling it down, your magic reaches out and does the same to the water but on a titanic scale, creating a vortex of sucking waves.

Maelstrom causes a deadly vortex to form in water.

A body of water in which you form the maelstrom must be at least 120 feet wide and 60 feet deep, or the spell is wasted.

Waterborne creatures or objects within 50 feet of the vortex (below and on all sides) must make successful Reflex saves or be sucked in.

Trained swimmers can attempt Swim checks instead if their skill modifier is higher than their Reflex save bonus.

Waterborne vessels avoid being sucked in if their operators make Profession (sailor) checks against the same DC as the spell's saving throw.

These creatures and objects take 3d8 points of damage upon being sucked in.

Once inside, creatures and objects take 3d8 points of bludgeoning damage each round at the beginning of your turn.

They remain trapped for 2d4 rounds, after which time they are ejected to any square adjacent to the bottom of the vortex (your choice).

Ejected subjects might be sucked back into the vortex, but they receive a new Reflex save.

Subjects of Large or smaller size are ejected from the bottom of the vortex.

Larger subjects are ejected from the top.

MAGE ARMOR, GREATER

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

An invisible sheen of armor-shaped force surrounds you.

This spell functions like mage armor (PH 249), except that it requires no material component and its tangible field of force provides a +6 armor bonus to Armor Class.

MAGE ARMOR, MASS

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

MALEVOLENT MIASMA

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 15-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You click the stones together in your hand and a gray fog, tinged with darker, malevolent streaks, springs up in the midst of your enemies.

The spell produces a toxic fog that deals 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per level (maximum 5d4).

Creatures in the area that hold their breath are still subject to the effect.

Creatures that are immune to poison are not affected by this spell.

Focus: Three polished gray stones.

MURDEROUS MIST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Cloud spreads in a 30-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Drawing the power of steaming volcanic vents into your body, you exhale, and a cloud of boiling steam roils away from you.

You create a cloud of scalding hot steam that moves in a straight line, away from you, at a speed of 10 feet per round. Anyone within the cloud takes 2d6 points of damage and is permanently blinded.

If a creature within the area makes a successful Reflex saving throw, it takes only half damage and is not blinded. Any creature within the cloud has concealment. Winds do not affect the cloud's direction or speed. However, a moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses the cloud in 4 rounds, and a strong wind (21+ mph) disperses it in 1 round.

NAUSEATING BREATH

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You windmill your arm to complete the spell and nearly gag before exhaling a great gout of putrid-smelling green gas.

You breathe out a cone of nauseating vapors.

Any creature in the area must succeed on a Fortitude save or be nauseated for 1d6 rounds.

Material Component: A piece of fish at least one day old.

OBEDIENT AVALANCHE

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Cold 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 20-ft.-radius avalanche of snow centered on a point in space; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half or Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You summon an avalanche of snow out of a rift in midair, burying your foes and sending them to a frosty death.

An obedient avalanche spell affects creatures differently, depending on where they are in relation to the avalanche. Within 20 feet of the Center Point: Creatures take 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d8) and an additional 1d6 points of cold damage per two caster levels. A successful Reflex save halves the damage. Creatures who fail their saves are also buried (DMG 90).

All squares within 20 feet of the center point are covered in heavy snow (DMG 94), which persists as long as ordinary snow would.

A buried creature can free itself with a DC 20 Strength check as a full-round action, and can be dug free by others (a single creature working alone requires 1 minute to free a trapped creature).

A trapped creature is unable to move, and cannot cast spells with somatic components, and any material components must be in hand.

Between 20 feet and 40 feet of the Center Point: Creatures take half as much damage from the impact of the avalanche as the creatures nearer the center point took (Reflex negates). Creatures who fail their saves must also resist the force of the snow moving past them as if they were being bull rushed.

The snow has a +13 attack bonus (+5 for effective Strength of 20 and +8 for effectively being Huge) on the bull rush check, and it pushes characters away from the center point of the spell.

All squares in the 20-foot to 40-foot ring are covered in snow (DMG 94), which persists as long as ordinary snow would.

Terrain and Structures: The avalanche uproots small trees and other vegetation automatically, and it leaves a trail of light rubble (DMG 91) even after the snow melts.

Structures struck by an obedient avalanche take 1d6?10 points of damage.

An obedient avalanche extinguishes all flames it touches, whether they are normal or magical.

ORB OF ACID

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One orb of acid

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

An orb of acid about 3 inches across shoots from your palm at its target, dealing 1d6 points of acid damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

A creature struck by the orb takes damage and becomes sickened by the acid's noxious fumes for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude save negates the sickened effect but does not reduce the damage.

ORB OF ACID, LESSER

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

An orb of dark green acid flies from your hand.

An orb of acid about 2 inches across shoots from your palm at its target, dealing 1d8 points of acid damage.

For every two caster levels beyond 1st, your orb deals an additional 1d8 points of damage: 2d8 at 3rd level, 3d8 at 5th level, 4d8 at 7th level, and the maximum of 5d8 at 9th level or higher.

ORB OF COLD

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

ORB OF COLD, LESSER

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Effect: One orb of cold

Your hand takes on a blue tint and your fingers turn numb and unresponsive as you complete the spell.

From your chilled palm flies an orb composed of blue ice.

This spell functions like lesser orb of acid, except that it deals cold damage.

ORB OF ELECTRICITY

Conjuration (Creation) [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Effect: One orb of electricity

This spell functions like orb of acid, except that it deals electricity damage.

In addition, a creature wearing metal armor struck by an orb of electricity must make a Fortitude save or be entangled for 1 round instead of being sickened.

ORB OF ELECTRICITY, LESSER

Conjuration (Creation) [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Effect: One orb of electricity

The air crackles around your outstretched hand and the smell of ozone assaults your nostrils as a ball of electrical energy, its surface crackling with bolts of lightning, streaks from your open palm.

This spell functions like lesser orb of acid, except that it deals electricity damage.

ORB OF FIRE

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Effect: One orb of fire

This spell functions like orb of acid, except that it deals fire damage.

ORB OF FIRE, LESSER

Conjuration (Creation) [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Effect: One orb of fire

Your hand heats to an uncomfortable temperature just moments before you release the spell's energy in the form of an orb of white flames speeding from your outward-facing palm.

ORB OF FORCE

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One orb of force

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As you gather the energies of the spell, you feel against your palm a spherical weight that seems almost bonded to your skin.

The sphere grows, until with a final precise movement, you release the translucent blue orb, sending it hurtling toward your intended target.

You create a globe of force 3 inches across, which streaks from your palm toward your target.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to hit the target. The orb deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6).

ORB OF SOUND

Conjuration (Creation) [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Effect: One orb of sonic energy

Symbols recognizable as musical notation—the visual representation of sound—appear in midair within the curve of your palm accompanied by the fractious sounds they represent. The notes begin to whirl and stretch, forming into a spherical whirlwind of cacophonous chaos, as you make ready to release the spell.

At last, you send the sphere of noise toward your chosen target.

This spell functions like orb of acid, except that it deals 1d4 points of sonic damage per level (maximum 15d4).

In addition, a creature struck by an orb of sound must make a Fortitude save or be deafened for 1 round instead of being sickened.

ORB OF SOUND, LESSER

Conjuration (Creation) [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Effect: One orb of sonic energy

This spell functions like lesser orb of acid, except that it deals 1d6 points of sonic damage, plus an additional 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels beyond 1st: 2d6 at 3rd level, 3d6 at 5th level, 4d6 at 7th level, and the maximum of 5d6 at 9th level or higher.

OTYUGH SWARM

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Pestilence 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Three or more otyughs, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Seven days or seven months (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Focusing your will on a disgusting pile of refuse, you cause toothed and tentacled horrors to rise up and stalk about at your command. Otyugh swarm creates otyughs from a large collection of refuse and filth, such as a sewer or cesspool.

You can choose to create 3d4 ordinary otyughs (MM 204) or 1d3+1 Huge otyughs with 15 HD (MM 292). The otyughs willingly aid you in combat or battle, perform a specific mission, or serve as bodyguards. They remain with you for seven days unless you dismiss them. If the otyughs are created only for guard duty, the duration of the spell is seven months. In this case, the otyughs must be ordered to guard only a specific site or location. Otyughs summoned to guard duty cannot move outside the spell's range. You must create the otyughs in an area containing at least 6,000 pounds of sewage, refuse, or offal. After you cast the spell, otyughs not summoned for guard duty can leave the area of offal at your command.

PANACEA

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 4, druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You kneel next to your afflicted comrade and speak the soft words of this spell.

At your touch a golden radiance infuses your companion.

This spell channels positive energy into a creature to wipe away its afflictions.

It immediately ends any of the following conditions affecting the subject: blinded, confused, dazed, dazzled, deafened, diseased, exhausted, fatigued, frightened, nauseated, panicked, paralyzed, shaken, sickened, and stunned.

It negates sleep effects and the effect of the feblemind spell, and ends any additional effects from poison, as the neutralize poison spell.

It also cures 1d8 points of damage + 1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

Panacea does not remove ability damage, negative levels, or drained levels.

Used against an undead creature, panacea deals damage instead of curing the creature (which takes half damage if it makes a Will saving throw), but it has no other effect.

PAVILION OF GRANDEUR

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Creation 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Extradimensional pavilion, up to five 10-ft. cubes/level (S), plus feast for 12 creatures/level

Duration: 24 hours/level (D) plus 12 hours; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Thinking sweet thoughts of home and hearth, you conjure an invisible bastion of comfort and security.

You conjure up a grand pavilion-sized tent that has a single entrance on the plane from which the spell was cast. The entry point looks like a faint shimmering in the air that is 10 feet wide by 15 feet high.

Only those you designate can enter the pavilion, and the entrance is shut and made invisible behind you when you enter.

You can open it again from your own side at will.

Once observers have passed beyond the entrance, they are in a spacious tent decorated in the colors of your faith.

The lighting can vary between darkness and daylight, and the temperature between 40 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit, at your discretion when casting the spell.

The pavilion is sumptuously furnished, including a full meal for a dozen creatures per caster level.

Anyone who spends 1 hour dining here gains benefits identical to those of a heroes' feast spell (PH 240).

While in the pavilion, creatures heal naturally at double the normal rate (not including fast healing or regeneration).

PHANTASMAL THIEF

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Greed 8, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One invisible, mindless, shapeless thief

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As you invoke this spell, the spool begins to spin, the thread vanishing as it unravels.

There is a wrinkle of force that flashes briefly; then it evaporates, leaving only the promise of power behind.

An invisible force, not unlike the product of an unseen servant spell (PH 297), comes into being where you wish.

On your turn, this force steals objects from others as you inaudibly direct it (a free action).

A phantasmal thief can steal an object from a creature or can pick up an unattended object, as long as the object weighs no more than 1 pound per caster level.

It cannot break into locked chests.

A phantasmal thief has a Hide modifier (useful against those who can see invisible creatures) and a Move Silently modifier both equal to your caster level.

If a phantasmal thief goes undetected, it can steal any object a creature possesses but is not holding or wearing.

Even objects in a bag of holding can be stolen.

It can steal objects, bring objects to you, or put them back where they came from.

It can take no other actions.

A phantasmal thief needs 1 round to steal an object and another round to bring it to you.

A phantasmal thief can hold only one object at a time, and the object becomes invisible in its grasp.

A thief cannot take an item if it is detected by the creature it's trying to steal from (with a Listen or Spot check).

However, the thief can repeat the attempt in the next round.

It cannot be harmed in any way, although it can be dispelled.

A phantasmal thief can steal an object from a creature's hand by making a successful disarm attempt.

It does so with a bonus on the disarm check equal to your caster level.

If a phantasmal thief is used in this way, it disappears after it brings the stolen object to you.

Material Component: A spool of green thread.

The ghostly image of a great bear appears before you.

It rises silently on its hind legs and violently falls onto its forepaws, still making no sound.

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One quasi-real, staglike creature

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Putting your fingers to your lips to whistle, you blow a deer's call, and a great ghostly stag appears before you.

You conjure a Large, corporeal staglike creature that bears you or a person you designate into combat or overland at great speed.

A phantom stag has a black body and head with sharp, silvery antlers, and smoke-colored, insubstantial hooves that make no sound.

It has no saddle, bridle, or bit, but it is exceptionally alert to the nudges and balance changes of its rider.

The phantom stag has an AC of 20 (–1 size, +6 natural armor, +5 Dex) and 40 hit points +5 hit points per caster level. It attacks with its antlers at a +10 bonus, dealing 1d8+9 points of damage (doubled on a successful charge).

A phantom stag has a speed of 20 feet per caster level, to a maximum of 300 feet.

It can bear its rider's weight plus up to 10 pounds per caster level in other gear.

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Cupping a hand to your mouth, you howl like a wolf, and in a moment, mist coalesces into a wolflike form with terrible jaws.

You conjure forth an incorporeal white wolf with abnormally large, frosty jaws.

This phantom wolf follows your mental commands, acting on your behalf as long as it remains within range and you continue to concentrate on it.

A phantom wolf appears where you designate and acts as you direct on your turn.

You don't need to maintain line of effect once the spell is cast, but the spell ends if the phantom wolf is ever outside the spell's range.

PLAGUE OF RATS

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Pestilence 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One swarm of rats/2 levels, each of which is adjacent to at least one other swarm

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Black balls of fur litter the ground, rolling about as they rapidly expand, growing tails, feet, and snarling, diseased mouths.

You summon a number of rat swarms (MM 239)—one per two caster levels—to a maximum of six swarms at 12th level.

The swarms must be summoned so that each one is adjacent to at least one other swarm (that is, the swarms must fill one contiguous area).

You can summon the rat swarms so that they share the spaces of other creatures.

Each swarm attacks any creatures occupying its space. If no living creatures are within its space, a swarm attacks or pursues the nearest creature as best it can.

You have no control over its target or direction of travel.

PLANAR EXCHANGE

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar exchange]

Level: Cleric 6

This spell functions like lesser planar exchange, except as noted here.

You trade places with an avoral guardinal (MM 141), bone devil (MM 52), or babau demon (MM 40).

The called creature has full access to all its abilities, with one exception: A demon or devil you conjure can't summon other creatures.

If the creature is slain, you take 3d6 points of damage and the spell ends.

PLANAR EXCHANGE, GREATER

Conjuration (Calling) [see text for lesser planar exchange]

Level: Cleric 8

This spell functions like lesser planar exchange, except as noted here.

You trade places with a leonal guardinal (MM 142), barbed devil (MM 51), or hezrou demon (MM 44).

The called creature has full access to all its abilities, with one exception: A demon or devil you conjure can't summon other creatures.

If the creature is slain, you take 4d6 points of damage and the spell ends.

PLANAR EXCHANGE, LESSER

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One called creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cross your arms and close your eyes, intoning the ancient spell.

There is a bright flash, and another creature stands in your place.

When you cast this spell, you call a celestial brown bear (MM 269), celestial griffon (MM 139), fiendish dire ape (MM 62), or fiendish tiger (MM 281), at your option, to your precise location.

At the same instant, you are transported to that creature's home plane, where you exist in stasis for the duration of the spell.

To a casual observer, it appears that you have transformed into the called creature (though an onlooker who makes a DC 25 Spot check notices the slight gap in time between your disappearance and the creature's appearance).

If the called creature would not fit in the place you occupied when you cast the spell, the spell fails.

If the called creature is slain, you take 2d6 points of damage, the spell ends, and you are returned to your origin plane in the space last occupied by the called creature.

A celestial creature (MM 31) called by this spell gains damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5, cold 5, and electricity 5; spell resistance equal to its HD +5; and a smite evil attack that provides a bonus equal to its HD on one damage roll.

A fiendish creature (MM 107) called by this spell gains damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5 and fire 5; spell resistance equal to its HD +5; and a smite good attack that provides a bonus equal to its HD on one damage roll. You have full control over the creature's actions and can perceive the environment around the called creature as if you were seeing through its eyes, hearing through its ears, and so on.

While in stasis, you can't take any actions other than to control the called creature or to dismiss the spell, nor can anything on the creature's home plane affect you in any way.

You also can't perceive anything around your body's location.

When you dismiss the spell, or when the creature is slain, you appear in the creature's location, and it is returned to its home plane.

When you use a calling spell that calls a chaotic, evil, good, or lawful creature, it is a spell of that type.

PLANE SHIFT, GREATER

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 8

You and the others link hands, and you concentrate on the forked copper rod.

You rap the fork against your thigh and speak the words of the spell.

You know where you're going, and as the landscape around you fades, a new plane takes shape around you.

This spell functions like plane shift (PH 262), except that if you have visited the desired location, the spell takes you to the precise location (rather than 5 to 500 miles distant).

POISON VINES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 4

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

In an instant you cause glistening green vines to spring up at your command.

This spell functions like vine mine (page 230), except that the vines you create are poisonous (contact, 1d6 Dex/2d6 Dex).

A successful Fortitude save is required only upon the first entry into the spell's area (and again 1 minute later); creatures don't have to save each time they enter (or each round they remain within).

You are immune to the poison of the vines you create, and you can select a number of other targets equal to your caster level to share this immunity.

POSITIVE ENERGY AURA

Conjuration (Healing)

Each round on your turn, every living creature within 10 feet of you gains 1 hit point per three caster levels (maximum 5).

Creatures can't exceed their full normal hit point totals as a result of this effect.

Undead creatures take 2 points of damage per round.

Characters with immunity to positive energy effects are not affected by this aura.

A positive energy aura does not affect you.

QUILL BLAST

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Needle-sharp quills emerge from your skin as you begin casting this spell, then fly outward in every direction when you complete the spell.

Creatures within the spread of a quill blast are hit by one or more quills, depending on their size: Tiny or smaller, 4 quills; Small, 6 quills; Medium, 8 quills; Large, 10 quills; and Huge or larger, 12 quills.

Small or larger creatures that make their saves are struck by half as many quills; Tiny or smaller creatures that make their saves avoid the quills completely.

Each quill deals 1d6 points of damage and lodges itself into the creature it hits.

Lodged quills impose a noncumulative –1 penalty on attack rolls, saves, and checks.

All quills can be removed safely as a standard action with a DC 20 Heal check.

Otherwise, removing the quills deals an extra 1d6 points of damage.

Material Component: A porcupine quill.

Level: Cleric 4, Purification 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: All allies and foes within a 60-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

By reciting a sacred passage or declaration, you invoke your deity's blessing upon yourself and your allies.

The spell affects all allies within the spell's area at the moment you cast it.

Your allies gain a +2 luck bonus to AC, on attack rolls, and on saving throws, or a +3 luck bonus if they worship the same deity as you.

Divine Focus: In addition to your holy symbol, this spell requires a sacred text as a divine focus.

REGAL PROCESSION

Conjuration (Summoning)

Level: Paladin 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

This spell functions like mount (PH 256), except you can summon several mounts.

Each comes with a bit and bridle, riding saddle, saddle blanket, ribbons, adornments, and a banner.

You select the colors of the horses and the livery, either or both of which can include a heraldic or personal symbol.

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing creature touched

Duration: 2 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You pass your hand over the body of your friend, drawing a cocoon of glowing yellow-green energy about him.

When you cast the spell, the rejuvenation cocoon forms around the subject.

One round after the cocoon forms, it heals the subject of 10 points of damage per caster level (maximum 150 hit points) and purges the subject of poison and disease.

At the end of the second round, the rejuvenation cocoon dissipates and the subject emerges, able to move and act freely.

The cocoon is made of force, but it is somewhat flexible and responds to pressure from the inside of the cocoon.

The subject can't move from the space it is in while cocooned, however.

The cocoon has hardness 10 and 10 hit points per caster level.

If it is destroyed, the spell ends.

Material Component: A cocoon of a butterfly.

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell remains dormant until the subject is subjected to one or more of the following adverse conditions: ability damage, blinded, confused, dazed, dazzled, deafened, diseased, exhausted, fatigued, feebleminded, insanity, nauseated, sickened, stunned, or poisoned.

One round after the subject is affected by a condition that triggers the renewal pact, the subject receives a panacea spell (page 152) at a caster level equal to that of the caster of the renewal pact.

A creature can be subject to only one renewal pact at a time. Casting renewal pact on a subject who already has an untriggered renewal pact voids the earlier pact.

The subject can have been dead for up to 1 round per level.

Your target functions as if a raise dead spell (PH 268) had been cast upon her, except that she does not lose a level and has half of her full normal hit points.

She is alive (not undead) for the duration of the spell and can be healed normally, but dies as soon as the spell ends.

While under the effect of this spell, the subject is not affected by spells that raise the dead.

The subject gains a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls, damage rolls, saves, and checks against the creature that killed her.

You can restore to life any creature of the outsider type of up to your level in Hit Dice, and the creature can have been dead for any length of time.

Before the soul of the deceased has completely left the body, this spell halts its journey while repairing somewhat the damage to the body.

The creature has -1 hit points (but is stable).

Material Component: Diamonds worth at least 1,000 gp.

RING OF BLADES

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

As you twirl the small dagger in your hand, it slowly fades from existence and is replaced by dozens of larger blades swirling about you in a horizontal ring.

This spell conjures a horizontal ring of swirling metal blades around you.

The ring extends 5 feet from you, into all squares adjacent to your space, and it moves with you as you move.

Each round, at the beginning of your turn, and also when you cast the spell, the blades deal 1d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10) to all creatures in the affected area.

Spell resistance does not apply to the damage dealt, but a creature's damage reduction does apply.

The blades are treated as magic, silvered, and slashing for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.
Material Component: A small dagger.

RUSHING WATERS

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You invoke the powers of nature, and a great fountain rises up before you, sending waves in all directions.

Cold water gushes in a great wave outward from the point you choose, violently spreading to the limits of the area. This wave makes a bull rush attempt against each creature in the affected area without provoking attacks of opportunity.

The wave has a +15 bonus on the opposed Strength check. If the wave wins the opposed Strength check, the defender is moved 5 feet directly away from the spell's point of origin, plus an additional 5 feet for every 5 points by which the wave's check result exceeds that of the defender.

Any creature moved 5 or more feet by rushing waters must succeed on a Reflex save or fall prone.

The wave also drenches anything in its area and extinguishes any normal fire as large as a bonfire.

SARCOPHAGUS OF STONE

Conjuration (Creation)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

The ground quakes as native stone erupts from the ground.

This sharply rising stone takes the form of a sarcophagus.

This spell creates an airtight stone coffin that forms around the target.

The stone is 1 inch thick, has hardness 8, and requires 15 points of damage to break through.

Decreasing its size does not change the thickness of the walls; the coffin is always just large enough to hold the subject.

This coffin is sealed upon formation and completely impervious to air and gas.

A creature trapped within a sarcophagus of stone has 1 hour worth of air, and after that time must hold its breath or begin to suffocate (DMG 304).

A creature that has no need to breathe (such as a construct, elemental, or undead) needs not fear suffocation, but it remains trapped within the sarcophagus until it breaks free or is freed.

A creature within the coffin can attack the stone with a natural weapon or light melee weapon.

A creature can attempt a DC 26 Strength check to break free of the stone, and allies can also help to break the trapped creature free.

Material Component: A fragment of a sarcophagus.

You create a wave of green slime (DMG 76) that begins at the point of origin you choose and violently spreads to the limit of the area.

The wave splashes and splatters as it passes; some slime clings to any wall or ceiling the wave touches.

Green slime devours flesh and organic materials on contact, and even dissolves metal.

Each creature in the area is covered with one patch of green slime.

Unlike normal green slime, the slime created by this spell gradually evaporates, disappearing by the end of the duration.

Material Component: A few drops of stagnant pond water.

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you successfully complete the intricate gestures and tongue-tying syllables of this spell, you conjure a featureless black sphere of nothingness.

Matter that touches the sphere disappears, causing a slight breeze to form that blows endlessly in the direction of the all-consuming blackness.

You create a terrible sphere that destroys anything it touches.

The sphere flies up to 30 feet per round.

The sphere stops moving when it enters a space containing a creature, automatically striking it.

You must actively direct it to a new target as a move action.

When struck by the sphere, a subject takes 2d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 40d6).

Any creature reduced to 0 or fewer hit points by this spell is disintegrated, leaving behind only a trace of fine dust (though its equipment is unaffected).

When used against an object, the sphere disintegrates as much as one 10-foot cube of nonliving matter.

A creature or object that makes a successful Fortitude save is partially affected, taking only 5d6 points of damage.

If this damage reduces the creature or object to 0 or fewer hit points, it is disintegrated.

The effects of the sphere count as a disintegrate spell for the purpose of destroying a wall of force or any other spell or effect specifically affected by disintegrate.

If the sphere moves beyond the spell's range, it winks out.

Material Component: A pinch of dust from a disintegrated creature.

They appear where you designate and act immediately, on your turn.

They attack your opponents to the best of their ability.

If you can communicate with the spiders, you can direct them not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

A celestial spider summoned by this spell has damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5, cold 5, and electricity 5; spell resistance 9; and a smite evil attack that provides a +4 bonus on one damage roll.

A fiendish creature (MM 107) summoned by this spell has damage reduction 5/magic; resistance to acid 5 and fire 5; spell resistance 9; and a smite good attack that provides a +4 bonus on one damage roll.

When you use a summoning spell to summon an evil or good creature, it is a spell of that type.

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cast this spell, and a large and ornate chariot made of transparent, faintly glowing azure energy forms behind your special mount.

You conjure a chariot of force.

When the chariot appears, your special mount is correctly harnessed to it.

The chariot can hold one Medium creature or two Small creatures plus the driver (usually the paladin).

Although the chariot seems large and sturdy, it and its occupants have no weight for the purpose of the mount's load, so the mount can travel at full speed.

If the chariot is ever unhitched from the special mount, it disappears.

The driver of the spiritual chariot gains a +4 sacred bonus on Handle Animal checks.

The chariot is made of magical force and has immunity to most types of damage.

It interacts with other spells just as a wall of force (PH 298) does.

Those in the chariot have cover based on their size and the position of their attackers.

In most situations, Medium creatures inside the chariot gain cover.

A splinterbolt threatens a critical hit on a roll of 18–20.

You can fire one additional splinterbolt for every four levels beyond 3rd (to a maximum of three at 11th level).

You can fire these splinterbolts at the same or different targets, but all splinterbolts must be aimed at targets within 30 feet of each other and fired simultaneously. Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

As you finish casting, they retreat beneath the stone surface, a trap set for future trespassers.

This spell conjures thick stony arms that spring forth from any rock or stone formation whenever anyone passes near it.

Each 10-foot square in the spell's area contains one stone arm.

Any creature that enters the area of the spell is immobilized by the arms unless it succeeds on a Reflex save.

Such a creature is rooted in place and unable to move.

It can take actions normally; it just can't move from the space it currently occupies.

Held creatures take 1d6+5 points of damage each round, at the beginning of your turn.

Creatures that succeed on the Reflex save can move through the area normally.

Creatures that start their turn in the affected area must attempt another Reflex save or be affected by the spell.

A held creature can attempt a DC 20 Strength check or a DC 25 Escape Artist check to break free, and can also break free by dealing enough damage to destroy the arm.

An arm has AC 15, hardness 8, and 15 hit points.

Before they attack, the arms remain beneath the surface of the stone.

They can be discovered (but not disarmed) as a magic trap can be.

Duration: 4 rounds

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Each round, the storm generates one of the following effects, starting with the first effect, then progressing to the second, until it has run its 4-round course.

1st Round: A storm of elemental fury buffets the area immediately beneath it with a whirling windstorm (DMG 94–95).

Ranged attacks within the area of the storm are impossible, and Small or smaller creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be blown away.

Medium creatures must make their Fortitude save or be knocked prone, and Large or larger creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save to move that round.

Flying creatures that fail their saves are instead blown in a random direction, traveling 1d6?5 feet if Large or larger, 1d6?10 feet if Medium, and 2d6?10 feet if Small or smaller. Spells cast within the area are disrupted unless the caster succeeds on a Concentration check against a DC equal to the storm of elemental fury's save DC + the level of the spell the caster is trying to cast.

2nd Round: Chunks of rock fall from the sky, dealing 5d6 points of damage (no save) to all creatures in the storm.

3rd Round: A deluge of rain extinguishes unprotected flames and perhaps protected ones as well (50% chance). The torrential downpour reduces visibility to 5 feet and cuts movement in half.

The stalagmite deals 1d6 points of piercing damage per caster level (maximum 10d6).

In addition, a target that fails to make a saving throw against this spell and takes damage from it is impaled on the stalagmite and cannot move from its current location until it makes a DC 15 Escape Artist check.

Summon undead I conjures one of the creatures from the 1st-level list in the accompanying sidebar.

You choose which creature to summon, and you can change that choice each time you cast the spell.

Summoned undead do not count toward the total Hit Dice of undead that you can control with animate dead or the other command undead abilities.

No undead creature you summon can have more Hit Dice than your caster level +1.

Focus: A tiny bag, a small (not lit) candle, and a carved bone from any humanoid.

SUMMON UNDEAD II

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Effect: One or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like summon undead I, except that you can summon one undead from the 2nd-level list or two undead of the same kind from the 1st-level list.

SUMMON UNDEAD III

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 3, cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Effect: One or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like summon undead I, except that you can summon one undead from the 3rd-level list, two undead of the same kind from the 2nd-level list, or four undead of the same kind from the 1st-level list.

SUMMON UNDEAD IV

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 4, cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Effect: One or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like summon undead I, except that you can summon one undead from the 4th-level list, two undead of the same kind from the 3rd-level list, or four undead of the same kind from a lower-level list.

SUMMON UNDEAD V

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Effect: One or more summoned creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like summon undead I, except that you can summon one undead from the 5th-level list, two undead of the same kind from the 4th-level list, or four undead of the same kind from a lower-level list.

SUMMON UNDEAD LISTS

1st Level: Human warrior skeleton (MM 226), kobold zombie (MM 266)
2nd Level: Owlbear skeleton (MM 226), bugbear zombie (MM 267).
3rd Level: Ghoul (MM 118), troll skeleton (MM 227), ogre zombie (MM 267).
4th Level: Allip (MM 10), ghost (MM 119), wyvern zombie (MM 267).
5th Level: Mummy (MM 190), shadow (MM 221), vampire spawn (MM 253), wight (MM 255).

SWAMP LUNG

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature with a respiratory system

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

You take a deep breath and feel the power of the spell surround you.

Choosing your target, you unleash the spell's energy.

A sea-green halo forms around your target's head.

Moments later, the targeted creature begins coughing up water.

This spell causes stagnant swamp water to flood the target's lungs.

If the target is unable to breathe water, it must cough it out. If it makes the save, then this expulsion is done with little effort.

If it fails the save, the creature falls prone in a coughing fit for 1d6 rounds and is helpless during that time.

Furthermore, on a failed save, the subject contracts filth fever (DMG 292).

Creatures able to breathe water must make the Fortitude save in order to avoid the disease, but are otherwise unaffected.

SWAMP STRIDE

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Druid 5, ranger 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until expended; see text

Instinctively, you know the depth of the nearest pool of water, as well as other pools nearby of a similar depth. In your mind's eye you see the pools connected to one another magically, as if each were a doorway with a tunnel linking it to all the others.

This spell functions like tree stride (PH 296), but it is used for diving into pools of water rather than trees.

Each pool must be at least 1 foot deep, and the exit pool of water must be similar in depth to the entry pool (within 1 foot).

Unlike with tree stride, each jump has a maximum range of 500 feet.

All other effects and limitations are the same.

TRANSLOCATION TRICK

Conjuration [Teleportation]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: You and one creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter the words, and in an instant you and your target are switched—you take its position and form, and it appears where you had stood moments before, looking to others as you appear.

You and the other target switch locations, as if simultaneously using dimension door spells (PH 221) and exchange appearances, as if using disguise self spells (PH 222) to appear as each other.

Your target can negate this spell with a successful saving throw.

If you or your target exceed the capacity of the dimension door spell or if you and your target have bodies that are so different that the disguise self spell could not disguise you as your target, this spell fails.

Magic that penetrates disguises (such as true seeing) reveals the identities of you and your target.

Otherwise, you are considered to be disguised as your target and vice versa for the duration of the spell.

You get a +10 bonus on Disguise checks to impersonate the target.

When the spell ends, you and your target revert to your true appearances in your current locations.

You do not switch places again.

TRUE CREATION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Creation 8

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Unattended, nonmagical object of nonliving matter, up to 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With one last invocation to your deity, you end the spell and bring into being the object you desire.

You create a nonmagical, unattended object of any sort of matter.

Items created are permanent and cannot be negated by dispelling magic or negating powers.

For all intents and purposes, these items are completely real.

The volume of the item created cannot exceed 1 cubic foot per caster level.

You must succeed on an appropriate skill check to make a complex item, such as a Craft (bowmaking) check to make straight arrow shafts or a Craft (gemcutting) check to make a cut and polished gem.

Unlike the items brought into being by the lower-level spells minor creation and major creation, objects created by the casting of true creation can be used as material components.

Material Component: A small piece of matter of the same type of item you plan to create—a sliver of wood to create arrow shafts, a tiny piece of the appropriate stone to create a polished gem, and so forth.

XP Cost: Half the item's gold piece value in XP, or 50 XP, whichever is more.

TSUNAMI

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: 20-ft./level-wide, 10-ft.-long, 40-ft.-high wave of water; see text

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial (object)

Spell Resistance: No

The eldest, most powerful forces of elemental water heed your summons and obey your request.

These forces of pure elemental power gather together a wall of water that moves inexorably in the direction of your choice, crushing all that it encounters.

This spell creates a towering tsunami and sends it forth in a powerful wave to smash all in its path.

The tsunami starts at any point you select within range of the spell and then moves at a speed of 60 feet in any direction chosen by you.

Once the direction is set, the tsunami cannot change course.

The tsunami deals 1d6 points of bludgeoning damage per caster level (maximum 20d6) to all in its path.

Anything struck can make a Fortitude saving throw for half damage.

Gargantuan or larger creatures that fail the save are knocked prone.

Huge or smaller creatures that fail the save are picked up and carried with the wave.

Each round a victim is carried by the tsunami, it takes the bludgeoning damage again and can make an additional Fortitude save for half damage.

Creatures being carried by a tsunami cannot move in any other way.

They can otherwise act normally, but must make a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) to cast a spell.

Creatures caught in a tsunami take a -4 penalty to Dexterity and a -2 penalty on attack rolls.

They can escape the wave by making successful DC 20 Swim checks, as long as they end their movement outside the effect of the tsunami.

Any creature that comes in contact with a tsunami as a result of movement during its turn is considered to have been struck by the tsunami's movement.

A creature can attempt to extract another creature caught by a tsunami, providing the rescuer resists being swept up or knocked down by the tsunami and can reach the victim. Extracting a victim in this manner requires a DC 20 Strength check.

A tsunami's progress can be halted by anything that would normally block line of effect along its path, assuming the tsunami does not destroy the intervening object or creature. If only a portion of the tsunami is blocked, the rest of it continues on.

Although this spell can be cast on dry land, it is most effective when cast on the open sea.

In this case, saving throws to avoid full damage are made with a -4 penalty, and the width of the tsunami increases to 40 feet per caster level.

A tsunami that begins on water but then travels onto land immediately shrinks to its land size and speed.

A tsunami does not vanish if it moves beyond the spell's initial range.

Material Component: A crown of coral set with pearls (total value of at least 5,000 gp).

TUNNEL SWALLOW

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: Tunnel section up to 20 ft. in diameter and up to 50 ft. long

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You unleash the power of this spell, and the walls of the tunnel begin to roil and shift on all sides, clenching in rapid succession as they fling your opponents down the hallway.

You cause a section of tunnel to flex with peristaltic convulsions, crushing its contents and moving them along its length in the direction you designate.

Each creature and object in the affected tunnel section is crushed for 1d6 points of damage per level (maximum 15d6) and is moved from its former position to a point just outside the affected tunnel section.

A creature that makes a successful Reflex saving throw takes only half damage and is moved halfway from its former position in the tunnel toward the designated end of the tunnel section.

When the spell duration expires, the tunnel returns to its former shape and size, with no harm done to its structure. Tunnel swallow affects both worked and natural tunnels, as well as corridors in surface buildings, but does not harm the structure.

Movement caused by this spell does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

Material Component: A lump of chewed vegetable or meat.

UNHOLY STORM

Conjuration (Creation) [Evil, Water]

Level: Blackguard 3, cleric 3

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 20 ft. high)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You call upon the forces of evil, and a heavy rain begins to fall in the area you indicate, its raindrops foul and steaming.

A driving rain falls around you.

It falls in a fixed area once created.

The storm reduces hearing and visibility, resulting in a -4 penalty on Listen, Spot, and Search checks.

It also applies a -4 penalty on ranged attacks made into, out of, or through the storm.

Finally, it automatically extinguishes any unprotected flames and has a 50% chance to extinguish protected flames (such as those of lanterns).

The rain damages good creatures, dealing 2d6 points of damage per round (good outsiders take double damage).

Material Component: A flask of unholy water (25 gp).

UPDRAFT

Conjuration (Creation) [Air]

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Detritus and loose debris on the ground beneath you begins to spin about, caught in a small vortex.

The vortex quickly coalesces into a column of dirty gray-brown air thick enough to hold you aloft.

Updraft conjures forth rushing air that propels you upward. You gain 10 feet per level of altitude, and then gently float back down to the ground.

At any point during your descent, you can move up to 5 feet laterally.

Material Component: A miniature propeller or windmill.

VIGOR

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Duration: 10 rounds + 1 round/level (max 25 rounds)

This spell functions like lesser vigor, except as noted here and that it grants fast healing 2.

VIGOR, GREATER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5

Duration: 10 rounds + 1 round/level (max 35 rounds)

This spell functions like lesser vigor, except as noted here and that it grants fast healing 4.

VIGOR, LESSER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 rounds + 1 round/level (max 15 rounds)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The sounds of battle ring in your ears as you lay hands on your fallen comrade.

You can spare neither time nor magic to do more right now, but the blood flow slows to a trickle and her breathing becomes less labored, even as you are called to the aid of another.

The subject gains fast healing 1, enabling it to heal 1 hit point per round until the spell ends and automatically becoming stabilized if it begins dying from hit point loss during that time.

Lesser vigor does not restore hit points lost from starvation, thirst, or suffocation, nor does it allow a creature to regrow or attach lost body parts.

The effects of multiple vigor spells do not stack; only the highest-level effect applies.

VIGOR, MASS LESSER

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Range: 20 ft.

Target: One creature/2 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 rounds + 1 round/level (max 25 rounds)

This spell functions like lesser vigor, except that it affects multiple creatures.

VIGOROUS CIRCLE

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6

Duration: 10 rounds + 1 round/level (max 40 rounds)

This spell functions like mass lesser vigor, except as noted here and that it grants fast healing 3.

VILE DEATH

Conjuration (Calling) [Evil]

Level: Cleric 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: One corporeal undead creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The ground tears at your feet, and you can hear the distant screams of people in pain.

An unwholesome red light emanates from the tear and coalesces into the translucent form of a fiend.

It sneers at you as the earth closes, then it turns to look at the undead host you chose as the spell's subject.

Both the undead and the fiend shudder as they meld together and the red glow dissipates.

You summon the spirit of a fiend from the depths of the Nine Hells or the Abyss and bind it into the body of a corporeal undead creature—either a bodak, devourer, ghast, ghoul, mohrg, mummy, nightshade, skeleton, vampire, vampire spawn, wight, or zombie.

Binding the fiend applies the fiendish template (MM 108) to the undead creature.

The resulting creature is independent of you, and can act on its own.

Its initial attitude toward you is indifferent.

Material Component: A bit of brimstone and a bloodstone worth at least 500 gp.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

VINE MINE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 10-ft.-radius/level spread

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold the crown of ivy leaves aloft, invoking the powers of nature, and an explosion of plant growth fills the area—plants over which you have control.

You create and direct the rapid growth of vines.

When you cast the spell, choose one of the following effects.

- Climbing aid (treat as knotted ropes)
 - Bind helpless targets (Escape Artist DC 25 to escape)
 - Hamper movement (as heavy undergrowth)
 - Camouflage (add +4 competence bonus on Hide checks)
- As a standard action, you can redirect the vines' growth (thus changing the effect).

Material Component: A crown of ivy leaves.

VIPERGOUT

Conjuration (Summoning) [see text]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 1d4+3 summoned creatures

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A churning in your stomach overtakes you as you complete the spell.

Something slithers up your throat, and you vomit serpents.

This spell summons 1d4+1 celestial or fiendish Medium vipers (MM 280), which leap forth from your mouth to attack your enemies.

A celestial viper summoned by this spell has resistance to acid 5, cold 5, and electricity 5; spell resistance 7; and a smite evil attack that provides a +2 bonus on one damage roll.

A fiendish viper summoned by this spell has resistance to acid 5 and fire 5; spell resistance 7; and a smite good attack that provides a +2 bonus on one damage roll.

Starting in the round you complete the spell, you can spit three vipers as a standard action or one viper as a move action.

(Thus, if you move and then cast this spell, you cannot spit any vipers until your next turn, but if you cast this spell without moving, you can spit forth one viper as your move action in that round).

Spat vipers land at your feet in an adjacent square of your choice and act on the same round, on your turn, just as creatures summoned by a summon monster spell do.

The snakes are not actually present in your mouth, and they do not interfere with your breathing.

However, until you have brought forth all the snakes summoned by the spell, you cannot speak, cast spells with verbal components, or activate items that require speech.

When the spell's duration expires, all the vipers disappear, and any not yet brought forth are lost.

When you use a summoning spell to summon a good creature or an evil creature, it is a spell of that type.

Material Component: A snakeskin.

VISCID GLOB

Conjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You speak the words of this spell and toss the small ball of silk in the air.

It turns into a 5-foot-wide glob of dripping, green-gray goo, and the sticky mass rockets toward your target.

When you attack with a viscid glob, you make a ranged touch attack against the target.

If you miss, the glob might strike a nearby square or creature (see Missing with a Thrown Weapon, PH 158).

Once you have established the direction of the miss, roll 1d4 to determine the number of squares away from the target square that the glob lands.

A Medium or smaller creature struck by the glob must make a successful Reflex save or be instantly stuck in place.

A stuck creature can speak but is otherwise limited to purely mental actions (such as casting spells with no somatic or material components) and attempts to free itself by means of a Strength check or Escape Artist check (against a DC equal to this spell's DC) made as a full-round action.

A Large or larger creature stuck in the goo can't move from the spot where it is glued, but it can otherwise act normally. The glob dissipates when the spell duration expires.

Until then, it remains sticky, and any creature touching it (for example, a creature attempting to pull out an ally) must make a successful Reflex save or become stuck itself.

A creature stuck by such secondary contact is not trapped as thoroughly as a creature targeted by the glob, however, so the DC of the Strength check or Escape Artist check required to get free is reduced by 5.

Material Component: A tiny ball of spider silk.

VITRIOLIC SPHERE

Conjuration (Creation) [Acid]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

At the successful casting of the spell, you conjure a sizzling emerald sphere.

The sphere immediately shatters, drenching all in the area with a potent acid.

Affected creatures take 6d6 points of acid damage.

Creatures that succeed on their Reflex saving throws take half of this damage.

Creatures that fail their Reflex saves take full damage, and also take 6d6 points of acid damage in each of the following 2 rounds.

Material Component: A tiny glass vial filled with aqua regia.

WALL OF GEARS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Mechanus 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A straight wall of moving gears whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level; see text

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You pop the gear into your mouth and make a humming, buzzing incantation.

The sound takes on a life of its own, and springing from the ground is a huge wall made of machinery, all spinning, clattering and moving about, endangering all who are close to it.

This spell creates a 6-inch-thick wall of moving iron cogs, wheels, gears, pistons, and assorted mechanical parts.

Each 5-foot square of the wall's surface has hardness 10 and 90 hit points.

Both sides of the wall have hundreds of moving parts that flail out, dealing 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 15d6) to all creatures within 10 feet.

A successful Reflex save halves this damage.

Material Component: A small gear.

WALL OF SAND

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a rush of hot air, a swirling wall of blowing sand leaps into being.

This spell conjures up a 10-foot-thick, viscous, opaque wall of swirling sand.

The spell must be cast so that it rests on a solid surface.

Once cast, the wall is immobile.

The sand is sufficiently thick to block ranged attacks, providing normal cover appropriate for its size, but creatures can attempt to force their way through it.

Moving through a wall of sand is difficult, requiring a full-round action and a Strength check.

A creature moves 5 feet through a wall of sand for every 5 points by which its Strength check result exceeds 10. Creatures within a wall of sand are considered blinded and deafened, and they are unable to speak or breathe. Thus, they might begin to suffocate (DMG 304) if they remain within the wall too long. Spells with verbal components cannot be cast within the wall, and any other spell requires a successful Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level). Creatures with reach can attempt to attack through the wall, but targets have total concealment and total cover, and the attacker must have a general idea where the target is located. Any open, unprotected flame thrust into a wall of sand is instantly extinguished.

Arcane Material Component: A handful of sand.

WALL OF SMOKE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You wave your hand in a circular motion, and black smoke swirls into existence as a dark wall.

This spell creates a thin wall of black smoke.

The wall is stationary once created.

The wall blocks sight to a limited degree.

Creatures on opposite sides of the wall that cannot see over it gain concealment from each other.

A creature can pass through a wall of smoke, but it must make a Fortitude save to avoid being nauseated for 1 round.

A moderate wind (11+ mph), such as from a gust of wind spell, destroys the wall in 1 round.

This spell does not function underwater.

WALL OF WATER

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level (S)

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

A wall springs up in the area you designate.

Composed of a sheet of water rising vertically, the transparent wall does not prevent you from seeing beyond it.

The water of the wall is calm as a lake on a windless day.

This spell creates a 10-foot-thick wall of fresh water or seawater (as selected by you).

The water forms around objects and creatures in its area, plunging these creatures and objects underwater.

A creature in the area where the water is created can make a Reflex save to move to a random side of the wall before it forms completely.

This movement must occur on the creature's next turn, or it immediately suffers the full effect of being in the wall.

Creatures can move through a wall of water by making Swim checks, or can walk along the floor at half speed; the water itself is considered to be calm water.

Any open flames in the area when the water forms are immediately extinguished.

Creatures with the fire subtype take 2d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level each round they remain partially or wholly in the wall.

Although the wall is transparent, it provides cover to any targets inside against attacks launched from outside the wall.

It cannot be destroyed by physical damage, nor can it be drained off to a different location.

Water brought out of the wall in a container instantly evaporates as the wall itself forms more water to replace what was removed.

Material Component: A sponge.

WATERSPOUT

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 7, Ocean 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Cylinder (5-ft. radius, 80 ft. high)

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

Water whirls into the air, swirling upward with a thunderous noise like a tornado of fluid.

Waterspout causes water to rise up into a whirling, cylindrical column.

You can direct the movement of the waterspout as a move action.

A waterspout moves at a speed of 30 feet.

You can concentrate on controlling the waterspout's every movement or specify a simple program, such as move straight ahead, zigzag, circle, or the like.

Directing a waterspout's movement or changing its programmed movement is a move action for you.

A waterspout always moves during your turn in the initiative order.

If the waterspout exceeds the spell's range, it collapses and the spell ends.

A waterspout batters creatures and objects it touches, and it often sucks them up.

Any creature or object that comes in contact with it must succeed on a Reflex save or take 3d8 points of damage.

Medium or smaller creatures that fail their saves are sucked into the spout and held suspended in its powerful currents, taking 2d6 points of damage each round (no save).

Trapped creatures remain inside for 1d3 rounds before the waterspout ejects them out the top of the spout, and they fall back to the surface (taking 8d6 points of falling damage) 1d8?5 feet from the base of the waterspout.

Waterborne creatures or objects within 10 feet of the spout (below and on all sides) also must make successful Reflex saves or be sucked into the spout if they are Medium or smaller.

Anything sucked into the spout takes 3d8 points of damage and is then trapped for 1d3 rounds as described above. Only the smallest of watercraft, such as canoes, kayaks, or coracles, can be sucked into the spout.
The occupant of any such craft can make a Profession (sailor) check instead of a Reflex save if it so chooses to avoid being sucked up.

WOOD WOSE

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One nature servant

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Whistling up nature's power and waving a branch of holly, you create a helper for the task at hand.

A wood wose is a translucent green nature spirit that you can command to perform simple natural tasks.

It can build a campfire, gather herbs, feed an animal companion, catch a fish, or perform any other simple task that doesn't involve knowledge of technology.

It cannot, for example, open a latched chest, since it doesn't know how a latch works.

A wood wose can perform only one activity at a time, but it repeats the same activity if told to do so.

Thus, if you commanded it to gather leaves, it would continue to do so while you turned your attention elsewhere, as long as you remained within range.

A wood wose has an effective Strength of 2, so it can lift 20 pounds or drag 100 pounds.

It can trigger traps, but the 20 pounds of force it can exert is not enough to activate most pressure plates.

It has a land speed of 15 feet and a fly speed of 15 feet (perfect).

A wood wose cannot attack in any way; it is never allowed an attack roll or a saving throw.

It cannot be killed, but it dissipates if it takes 6 points of damage from area attacks.

If you attempt to send the wose beyond the spell's range (measured from your current position), it ceases to exist.

WORD OF BINDING

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Paladin 3

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./level)

Target: One Medium or smaller humanoid or monstrous humanoid

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

When you cast this spell and call to the target, shining steel manacles appear around its wrists and ankles.

You create masterwork steel manacles that attempt to bind your target.

A successful Reflex save allows the target to dodge the forming manacles; otherwise it is bound at its wrists and ankles.

The imprisoned creature can slip free with a DC 35 Escape Artist check or a DC 28 Strength check.

The manacles have hardness 10 and hit points equal to 10 + 1 per caster level.

The manacles automatically scale to fit any Medium or smaller humanoid creature.

While imprisoned by the manacles, the subject cannot take any actions requiring the use of its hands and can move only 5 feet per round.

The manacles come complete with an average quality lock (Open Lock DC 25).

WORD OF BINDING

Target: One Medium or smaller humanoid or monstrous humanoid

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

DIVINATION

ANALYZE PORTAL

Divination

Level: Bard 3, Portal 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

Seeing with a magic eye, you sense the portal.

Studying it, knowledge about the portal comes into your mind as though it was a memory you could not recall until now.

You can tell whether an area contains a magical portal or the effect of a gate spell.

If you study an area for 1 round, you know the sizes and locations of any such portals in the area.

Once you find a portal, you can study it.

(If you find more than one portal, you can study only one at a time).

Each round you study a portal, you can discover one property of the portal, in this order.

- Any key or command word needed to activate the portal.
- Any special circumstances governing the portal's use (such as specific times when it can be activated).
- Whether the portal is one-way or two-way.
- A glimpse of the area where the portal leads.

You can look at the area where the portal leads for 1 round; the range of your vision is the spell's range.

Analyze portal does not allow other divination spells or spell-like abilities to extend through the portal.

For example, you cannot also use detect magic or detect evil to study the area where the portal leads while viewing the area with analyze portal.

For each property, you make a caster level check (1d20 + caster level) against DC 17.

If fail, you can try again in the next round.

Analyze portal has only a limited ability to reveal unusual properties, as follows.

- Random Portals: The spell reveals only that the portal is random and whether it can be activated now.

It does not reveal when the portal starts or stops functioning.

- Variable Portals: The spell reveals only that the portal is variable.

If you study the portal's destination, the spell reveals only the destination to which the portal is currently set.

- Creature-Only Portals: The spell reveals this property.

If you study the portal's destination, the spell reveals where the portal sends creatures.

If it is the kind of portal that sends creatures to one place and their equipment to another place, the spell does not reveal where the equipment goes.

- Malfunctioning Portals: The spell reveals only that the portal is malfunctioning, not what sort of malfunction the portal produces.

Material Components: A crystal lens and a small mirror.

APPRAISING TOUCH

Divination

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

Encircling your eye with thumb and forefinger as if holding a jeweler's lens, you speak the arcane words that complete the spell.

Objects near you suddenly seem clearer, more in focus.

You note blemishes and imperfections you had missed before.

You gain an intuitive insight into the value of objects you come into contact with.

You gain a +10 insight bonus on Appraise checks to determine the value of items you touch while this spell is in effect.

Using the Appraise skill in this fashion requires 2 minutes instead of the normal 1 minute.

Even if you fail an Appraise check while this spell is in effect, you never mistakenly estimate the worth of an item by more than 50%.

ARROW MIND

Divination

Level: Ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

The bow in your hand feels more like an extension of your body as you complete the spell—as if it's become a part of your arm.

Creatures nearby seem sharper to your eyes, more in focus.

While this spell is in effect and you are wielding a projectile weapon that fires arrows, such as a longbow or shortbow, you threaten all squares within your normal melee reach (5 feet if Small or Medium, 10 feet if Large) with your bow, allowing you to make attacks of opportunity with arrows shot from the bow.

In addition, you do not provoke attacks of opportunity when you shoot a bow while you are in another creature's threatened square.

Material Component: A flint arrowhead.

ASSAY SPELL RESISTANCE

Divination

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Finishing the spell, your eyes glow with a pale blue radiance, and you understand how to overcome your foe's resistance to your magic.

This spell gives you a +10 bonus on caster level checks to overcome the spell resistance of a specific creature.

Assay resistance is effective against only one specific creature per casting, and you must be able to see the creature when you cast the spell.

BALANCING LORECALL

Divination

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

As you perform the final gestures of the spell you feel magic surround you, pushing on you from all sides as if trying to help keep you standing tall.

You gain a +4 insight bonus on Balance checks.

If you have sufficient ranks in the Balance skill, you can even balance on an otherwise-impossible surface with a DC 20 Balance check.

If you have 5 or more ranks in Balance, you can balance on vertical surfaces; the normal modifier for a sloped or angled surface no longer applies to you, though other DC modifiers (such as for a slippery surface) do apply.

If you balance on a vertical surface, you can move up or down as if you were climbing.

However, you are not actually climbing, so you can make attacks normally, retain your Dexterity bonus to Armor Class, and generally follow the rules of the Balance skill rather than the Climb skill.

If you have 10 or more ranks in Balance, you can balance on liquids, semisolid surfaces such as mud or snow, or similar surfaces that normally couldn't support your weight.

For each consecutive round that you begin balanced on a particular surface of this sort, the DC of your Balance check increases by 5.

As with all uses of the Balance skill, you move at half speed unless you decide to use the accelerated movement option (thereby increasing the DC of the Balance check by 5).

Arcane Material Component: A thin, 3-inch-long wooden dowel.

BLESSED AIM

Divination

Level: Blackguard 1, cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 50 ft.

Effect: 50-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

With the blessing of your deity, you bolster your allies' aim with an exhortation.

This spell grants your allies within the spread a +2 morale bonus on ranged attack rolls.

BLOODHOUND

Divination

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 24 hours (D)

A white film slips over your vision.

Strangely, your eyes seem more focused and you note barely perceptible traces of passage that you had missed before.

If you fail a Survival check to track a creature while this spell functions, you can immediately attempt another roll against the same DC to reestablish the trail.

If the reroll fails, you must search for the trail for 30 minutes (if outdoors) or 5 minutes (if indoors) before trying again.

BRAIN SPIDER

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 7, Mind 7

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: Up to eight living creatures

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch a spider's body and think of the targets.

As each target succumbs to the spell, a leg of the spider vanishes into nothingness.

For the duration of the spell, as a standard action, you can eavesdrop on the thoughts of up to eight other creatures at once, hearing as desired:

- A creature's surface thoughts.
- Individual trains of thought in whatever order you desire.
- One nugget of information per caster level from all the minds regarding one particular topic, thing, or being.
- The thoughts and memories of one creature of the group in detail.

Once per round, if you do not perform a detailed study of one creature's mind, you can attempt (as a standard action) to implant a suggestion (PH 285) in the mind of any one of the affected creatures.

The creature can make another Will saving throw to resist the suggestion, using the original save DC.

(Creatures with special resistance to enchantment spells can use this resistance to keep from being affected by the suggestion).

Success on this saving throw does not negate the other effects of the brain spider for that creature.

Material Component: A dead spider of any size or type.

It must still have all eight legs.

CHAIN OF EYES

Divination

Level: Cleric 3, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With the creature's will to resist brushed aside, you gaze out from its eyes to see your own satisfied smile.

You can use another creature's vision instead of your own. While this spell gives you no control over the subject, each time it comes into physical contact with another living being, you can choose to transfer your sensor to the new creature.

During your turn in a round, you can use a free action to switch from seeing through the current creature's eyes to seeing normally or back again.

Each transfer attempt allows the new target a saving throw and spell resistance.

If a target resists, the spell ends.

CIRCLE DANCE

Divination

Level: Bard 2, cleric 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You dance to each point of the compass rose, then finish the spell in a wide, circular sweep.

At the end, you know that the creature you seek lies in the direction you face.

You divine the relative direction and condition of another creature.

You must have firsthand knowledge of the creature for the spell to function.

If the creature is alive and on the same plane as you, the spell leaves you facing in its direction.

You also get an impression of its physical and emotional condition (unharméd, wounded, unconscious, dying, and so on).

If the creature you seek is on a different plane or dead, you feel nothing.

CRITICAL STRIKE

Divination

Level: Assassin 1, bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Upon uttering the ancient phrase that completes the spell, you feel the weapon in your hand drawn toward a creature standing nearby.

Whenever you make a melee attack against a flanked foe or against a foe denied its Dexterity bonus, you deal an extra 1d6 points of damage, your weapon's threat range is doubled (as if under the effect of keen edge), and you gain a +4 insight bonus on rolls made to confirm critical threats. The increased threat range granted by this spell doesn't stack with any other effect that increases your weapon's threat range.

Creatures immune to extra damage from sneak attacks are immune to the extra damage dealt by your attacks.

DETECT FAVORED ENEMY

Divination

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Quarter circle emanating from you to the extreme of the range

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using your passion for fighting your foe, you reach out with your magic and your mind to sense the presence of your enemies.

You can sense the presence of a favored enemy.

The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study a particular area.

1st Round: Presence or absence of a favored enemy in the area.

2nd Round: Types of favored enemies in the area and the number of each type.

3rd Round: The location and HD of each individual present.

Note: Each round you can turn to detect things in a new area.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks detection.

DISCERN SHAPECHANGER

Divination

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

The smell of wet animal dander assaults your nose even as the perfume of the material component fades.

You feel suddenly more suspicious of beings around you, as if some of them might not be what they seem.

By taking a standard action to concentrate, you can see the true form of creatures within 60 feet.

Each round, you can examine one creature you can see to determine whether it is polymorphed, disguised, or transmuted, and what its true form is.

If you look at a shapechanger in its true form, you immediately sense its shapechanging ability, but you can't determine what other forms it might be capable of assuming.

For the purpose of this spell, a shapechanger is any creature with the shapechanger type or a supernatural or extraordinary ability that allows it to assume an alternate form.

A wizard who knows alter self is not a shapechanger (since a spell is not a supernatural or extraordinary ability), but a barghest is (since it has the supernatural ability to assume alternate forms, even though its type is outsider).

Material Component: A balm of honey and lotus flower costing 25 gp, smeared on your eyelids.

DIVINE INSIGHT

Divination

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged (D)

Clutching the focus of your spells to your chest, you let your eyes flutter shut.

As you complete the short prayer you feel your deity's presence fill you with confidence.

Once during the spell's duration, you can choose to use its effect.

This spell grants you an insight bonus equal to 5 + your caster level (maximum bonus of +15) on any single skill check.

Activating the effect requires an immediate action.

You must choose to use the insight bonus before you make the check you want to modify.

Once used, the spell ends.

You can't have more than one divine insight effect active on you at the same time.

DREAM SIGHT

Divination

Level: Dream 6

Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: See text

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

In sleep your spirit rises to travel about and observe the world.

You fall into a deep sleep while your spirit leaves your body invisibly in incorporeal form and travels to distant locations.

Your spirit can move 100 feet per round, and can see and hear anything you could if you were in the same location.

The spirit can be blocked by any spell that wards incorporeal creatures, and it can be detected and attacked in the same way as incorporeal creatures can.

Your spirit can do nothing but move and observe—it cannot speak, attack, cast spells, or perform any other action.

At the end of the spell, your spirit instantaneously returns to your body and you wake up.

If your body is disturbed or attacked while your spirit is wandering, the spell ends immediately.

ECHO SKULL

Divination

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Animal skull touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You cast the spell and the animal skull in your hand glows green, the radiance fading quickly.

You cast your perception into the skull and see your own form holding it.

You switch your viewpoint back and set the skull aside, able to eavesdrop and surprise any trespassers.

You can see, hear, and speak through a tiny dried animal skull at any distance.

As long as you and the skull remain on the same plane, you can see and hear as if you were standing where it is, and during your turn you can switch your perception from its location to your own or back again as a free action.

Focus: A tiny dried animal skull.

EYE OF POWER

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Unlimited

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Your invocation creates a miniature floating eye of faintly glowing blue energy.

Spying your enemy from the safety of your magical sensor, you unleash your spell.

This spell functions like arcane eye (PH 200), except as noted here.

You can cast any spell of 3rd level or lower that has a range other than personal through the eye.

Any spell so cast functions as though it had been cast from the eye's location rather than yours.

Casting any spell of higher than 3rd level through the eye not only produces no effect (though the spell is still expended), but it destroys the eye of power and ends the spell.

Unlike an arcane eye, an eye of power is visible and corporeal, so it can be destroyed.

The eye is a Fine object with AC 18 and 77 hit points.

It uses your save bonuses for saving throws.

Material Component: A bit of bat fur.

FIND TEMPLE

Divination

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 miles + 1 mile/level

Area: Circle centered on you, with a radius of 10 miles + 1 mile/level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

At ease and filled with a reassuring calm, you close your eyes for a moment to allow your deity to guide you to a holy place.

With this spell, you can easily find a place to worship and possible aid or shelter from the priests within.

When the spell is cast, you sense the direction of the nearest temple to your god.

If there is none within the spell's area, the spell instead shows you the direction of the nearest temple dedicated to a god of the same alignment as yours.

You can also specify a particular temple to search for, but you must have visited the temple personally at some point in the past (seeing the temple through a divination does not count).

FIND THE GAP

Divination

Level: Assassin 3, paladin 3, ranger 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You speak the words of this spell, and a blue mark that only you can see appears on your opponent, highlighting a weak spot in her defense.

You gain the ability to perceive weak points in your opponent's armor.

Your first melee or ranged attack each round is resolved as a touch attack, disregarding the subject's armor, shield, and natural armor bonuses (including any enhancement bonuses) to Armor Class.

Other AC bonuses, such as dodge bonuses, deflection bonuses, and luck bonuses, still apply.

GHOSTHARP

Divination

Level: Bard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 5 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You place the coin on the table, touch it, and whisper the words of the spell.

Softly the coin begins to replay the music of the previous night's performance.

You prepare an object that records and replays a song previously played or sung in its vicinity.

When cast, the spell searches a radius of 50 feet for the lingering notes of a tune played there within the last day.

It records these notes and reverberations.

At your verbal command, "Play", the ghostharp replays the music.

The tune repeats until you command it to stop, or until its duration comes to an end.

The ghostharp does not record conversations.

Its imperfect replay can't reproduce bardic music or other magical effects, nor can it cast spells.

GOLEM STRIKE

Divination

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

A dim glow fills your eyes, allowing you to see—briefly—weak points in the magic infused within a nearby construct.

For 1 round, you can deliver sneak attacks against constructs as if they were not immune to extra damage from sneak attacks.

To attack a construct in this manner, you must still meet the other requirements for making a sneak attack.

This spell applies only to sneak attack damage.

It gives you no ability to affect constructs with critical hits, nor does it confer any special ability to overcome the damage reduction or other defenses of constructs.

GRAVE STRIKE

Divination [Good]

Level: Cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Golden motes of light dance before your eyes.

They converge on undead you look at, hovering about them and forming wedges of positive energy.

For 1 round, you can deliver sneak attacks against undead as if they were not immune to extra damage from sneak attacks.

To attack an undead creature in this manner, you must still meet the other requirements for making a sneak attack.

This spell applies only to sneak attack damage.

It gives you no ability to affect undead with critical hits, nor does it confer any special ability to overcome the damage reduction or other defenses of undead creatures.

GUIDED SHOT

Divination

Level: Ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

With a guttural utterance made with unmoving lips, you magically focus your attention on a distant foe.

Upon aiming your weapon, you note how clearly defined your intended target is.

While this spell is in effect, your ranged attacks do not take a penalty due to distance.

In addition, your ranged attacks ignore the AC bonus granted to targets by anything less than total cover, and also ignore the miss chance granted to targets by anything less than total concealment.

This spell does not provide any ability to exceed the maximum range of the weapon with which you are attacking, nor does it confer any ability to attack targets protected by total cover.

HEALING LORECALL

Divination

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2, ranger 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

With a mint leaf under your tongue, you whisper quiet words of soothing comfort.

You feel a divine touch guiding your healing hand.

A caster with 5 or more ranks in Heal can, when casting a conjuration (healing) spell, choose to remove any one of the following conditions affecting the subject of the spell, in addition to the spell's normal effects: dazed, dazzled, or fatigued.

A caster with 10 or more ranks in Heal can choose from the following conditions in addition to those above: exhausted, nauseated, or sickened.

Also, when determining the amount of damage healed by your conjuration (healing) spells, you can substitute your total ranks in Heal for your caster level.

The normal caster level limit for individual spells still applies; thus, a 3rd-level cleric with 6 ranks in Heal when under the effect of healing lorecall cures 1d8+5 points of damage with a cure light wounds spell.

Material Component: A mint leaf.

HINDSIGHT

Divination

Level: Bard 6, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The rigorous ritual of the spell finally draws to a close.

You breathe a sigh of relief even as phantom images appear before your eyes, moving in reverse.

Suddenly they cease their movements and seem more real.

You watch as the phantom images play out their parts in quick succession, showing you the knowledge of the past you seek.

You can see and hear into the past, getting a look at events that happened previously at your current location.

The level of detail you see and hear by means of this spell depends on the span of time you wish to observe;

concentrating on a span of days renders a more detailed perspective than a span of centuries, for example.

You can view only one span of time per casting, chosen from the following options.

Days: You sense the events of the past, stretching back one day per caster level.

You gain detailed knowledge of the people, conversations, and events that transpired.

Weeks: You gain a summary of the events of the past, stretching back one week per caster level.

Exact wording and details are lost, but you know all the participants and the highlights of the conversations and events that took place.

Years: You gain a general idea of the events of the past, stretching back one year per caster level.

You notice only noteworthy events such as deaths, battles, scenes of great emotion, important discoveries, and significant happenings.

Centuries: You gain a general idea of the events of the past, stretching back one century plus an additional century for every four caster levels beyond 1st.

For instance, a 16th-level caster would gain insight into the events of four centuries in the past, and a 17th-level caster would see back across five centuries.

You notice only the most remarkable of events: coronations, deaths of important personages, major battles, and other truly historic happenings.

Material Component: An hourglass-shaped diamond worth at least 1,000 gp.

IMPLACABLE PURSUER

Divination

Level: Assassin 4, blackguard 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level); see text

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With this spell, you become an unerring tracker, instantly aware of your quarry's location whenever it's on the move.

The implacable pursuer spell gives you the direction and distance to the target creature whenever it finishes a turn more than 10 feet away from where it started.

If you are a ranger, you apply your favored enemy bonus to the DC of the Will save.

Once you successfully target a creature with implacable pursuer, you know its location as long as the subject is moving, no matter where it goes on the same plane.

Even if it leaves the plane, implacable pursuer tells you what plane the subject creature went to.

The spell then provides no further information until you and the subject creature are on the same plane, in which case the spell resumes functioning normally.

INSIGHTFUL FEINT

Divination

Level: Assassin 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

With a chuckle you whisper the words that will make your ruse more effective.

You gain a +10 insight bonus on the next single Bluff check that you make to feint in combat (if it is made before the start of your next turn).

You can make the feint as a move action, or once as a free action if you have the Improved Feint feat.

INSTANT LOCKSMITH

Divination

Level: Assassin 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round You point at a mechanism, twist your hand, and make a clicking sound with your tongue.

You now have a better idea of how the mechanism works.

You can make one Disable Device check or one Open Lock check in this round as a free action.

You gain a +2 insight bonus on the check.

INSTANT SEARCH

Divination

Level: Assassin 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

By pointing at a small area nearby and whistling briefly, you release the power of the spell, granting you knowledge of the area you indicated.

You can make one Search check in this round as a free action.

You gain a +2 insight bonus on the check.

INTERPLANAR TELEPATHIC BOND

Divination

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Targets: You plus one willing creature/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart
Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You crush the eggshells as you cast this spell, indicating your comrades in the party.
 Now, regardless of where they might end up, you will be able to communicate with them.
 This spell functions like Rary's telepathic bond (PH 268), except that the communication functions both on the same plane and across planes.
Material Component: Pieces of eggshell from two different kinds of creatures.

KNOW GREATEST ENEMY

Divination
Level: Blackguard 1, paladin 1
Components: V, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 60 ft.
Area: Cone-shaped emanation
Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
Your eyes flash green, turning golden as you survey your opponents.
To your eyes, the weakest of them are limned with a pale green nimbus, which intensifies with power.
The most powerful is wrapped in a brilliant, shimmering green aura.
 This spell evaluates the creatures in the area and determines the relative power level of each. Creatures are evaluated as follows.

CR	Strength
4 or lower	Weak
5–10	Moderate
11–15	Strong
16 or higher	Overwhelming

Among creatures within the same category, you know which is the most powerful, but not why. For example, among a group of ogres (CR 2), you would know one of them (an ogre with two levels of barbarian, CR 4) was the most powerful, but not know if it was because the ogre had class levels, a template (such as half-fiendish), or for another reason.
 Any spell of 3rd level or higher that prevents scrying attempts on a creature (such as nondetection) or an area (such as false vision) thwarts this spell's ability to evaluate that creature or creatures within that area.

KNOW OPPONENT

Divination
Level: Bard 3, cleric 3
Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One creature
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
You feel your eyes glow with magical energy as you complete the spell.
You see luminous words appear in the air above your spell's target.
The words describe the creature's strengths or weaknesses, as you desire.
 You gauge the strengths and weaknesses of an opponent to gain combat advantages.
 Upon casting this spell, you learn a number of strengths or weaknesses of the target equal to one, plus one strength or weakness per two caster levels (maximum four).
 You can choose to learn strengths, weaknesses, or some combination thereof that you specify.
 If a creature has more strengths or weaknesses than you can learn with a single casting, you learn the most powerful ones first.
 Thus, if a monster can use finger of death at will and has resistance to sonic 5, you would learn about finger of death first.
 Strengths can include attack forms and special abilities (including spell-like abilities or supernatural abilities). Weaknesses include vulnerability to an energy type.
 For example, suppose a 7th-level cleric casts know opponent on a black-armored warrior, choosing to learn one strength and two weaknesses.
 The warrior fails his save, and the DM informs the cleric's player that the opponent has the ability to drain energy (a strength), is adversely affected by sunlight, and can be repelled by a holy symbol (both weaknesses).
 The cleric then concludes that he faces a vampire and breaks out the wooden stakes.

KNOW VULNERABILITIES

Divination
Level: Bard 2, cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One creature
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
Your eyes turn red, then take on a golden hue.
As you look at the creature, you see small runes dancing around its head.
Each rune identifies a particular vulnerability or resistance—red for resistances, green for vulnerabilities.
 You learn any special qualities, vulnerabilities, and resistances the target creature has.
 Vulnerabilities include anything that causes the creature more than the normal amount of damage (such as a creature with the cold subtype having vulnerability to fire or a crystalline creature's susceptibility to the shatter spell). Resistances include any effects that reduce or negate damage the creature takes and immunities to particular attacks.
 The spell identifies resistances and vulnerabilities granted by spell effects.

For example, if cast upon a balor, you learn that it has damage reduction 15/cold iron and good; spell resistance 28; immunity to poison, fire, and electricity; resistance to acid 10 and cold 10; and that it does not have any particular vulnerabilities.

LAY OF THE LAND

Divination

Level: Bard 4, druid 4, ranger 1

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 3 rounds

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You cast this spell and are surrounded with a nimbus of green light.

In your mind, a map unfolds of the surrounding area, showing the cities, hamlets, and known ruins as if penned by a cartographer.

The light fades but the knowledge of the map remains.

You instantly gain an overview of the area around you.

Lay of the land gives basic information relevant to major landmarks, such as rivers, lakes, and settlements (of at least hamlet size).

It indicates the direction and distance to each from the current location.

You have a good understanding of the terrain up to 50 miles from your current location.

Unlike find the path, this spell does not give information on traps, passwords, or impediments to a journey.

Arcane Focus: A small piece of lodestone.

LISTENING COIN

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Effect: Magical sensor

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Rubbing two coins together with your fingers, you whisper arcane words into them.

Holding one to your ear surreptitiously, you hand over the other.

You turn two ordinary coins into magic listening devices—one a sensor and the other a receiver.

After casting the spell, you simply give the sensor coin away, either surreptitiously or overtly.

By holding the receiver coin up to your ear, you can hear whatever transpires near the sensor as if you were there (much like a clairaudience effect).

If the sensor coin is in a pocket, pouch, or sack, the DC of the Listen check increases by 5.

The coins continue to function no matter how far apart they are, although they fall silent if they're on different planes.

Focus: The pair of coins.

LISTENING LORECALL

Divination

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You feel conscious of your ears as they warm noticeably.

Sounds that seem as though they should be muffled become clear to you.

You gain a +4 insight bonus on Listen checks.

In addition, if you have 5 or more ranks in Listen, you gain blindsense out to 30 feet.

If you have 12 or more ranks in Listen, you gain blindsight out to 15 feet.

A silence spell or effect negates the blindsense or blindsight granted by a listening lorecall spell.

LIVING PRINTS

Divination

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

Your eyes glow green and you can now see the trails laid down almost a month ago, as clearly as if your quarry had just passed through.

You perceive tracks as if they had just been made.

You must notice the prints normally with a successful Search or Survival check, but this eliminates any penalties to your tracking due to the passage of time or any rainfall since the making of the trail.

This spell has no effect on tracks more than thirty days old.

MARK OF THE HUNTER

Divination

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature, which must be a favored enemy

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

By pointing your finger at one of your favored enemies, you mark it with a glowing rune that only you can see.

Your favored enemy bonuses against a foe with a mark of the hunter are 4 higher than they would otherwise be.

Furthermore, the rune limns your enemy, making the foe easier for you to attack.

The subject of a mark of the hunter spell gains no bonus to Armor Class against your attacks from any cover less than total cover, nor does it gain a miss chance against your attacks from any concealment less than total concealment. Other effects that grant a miss chance (such as incorporeality) work normally.

Material Component: A bit of skin or bone from the relevant favored enemy type or subtype.

MARKED OBJECT

Divination

Level: Assassin 2, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 24 hours/level

By holding the small item to your nose and reciting the ancient words of power you unleash the spell.

You immediately have a sense of the object's owner such that you believe you could find further indications of the creature's passage. Upon casting this spell, you become attuned to the specific creature that owns the spell's focus item.

(A creature is considered to own an item if it was the last creature to carry the item on its person for 24 hours or more.

You do not count when considering what creature was last to carry an item).

This attunement grants you a +10 bonus on Search and Survival checks made to track the item's owner or find evidence of the owner's passage.

This spell does not give you insight into who or what the creature you are attuned to is or where that creature ultimately might be.

Also, the spell does not provide a trail that is not already there nor provide you with the benefit of the Track feat.

Arcane Focus: An object owned by the creature or a piece of the creature to be tracked, such as a tuft of hair or a fingernail.

MASTER'S TOUCH

Divination

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Holding aloft an item you wish to use effectively, you address it directly with a command to obey your desire to wield it.

You gain proficiency with a single weapon or shield you hold in your hands when the spell is cast.

The lack of a somatic component means the spell can be cast in the middle of a fight while you keep ready whatever items stand between you and danger.

Proficiency is granted for only a single, specific item, although multiple castings allow for multiple proficiencies.

For example, if you hold a short sword and a rapier, with a buckler strapped to your off hand, you could cast the spell three times, once for each weapon and once for the shield.

This spell does not grant proficiency for a kind or category of item (such as short swords) but only for the one specific item held in your hand at the time the spell is cast (this short sword).

Should you set that item down or otherwise lose your grip on it, the proficiency does not transfer to a different item of the same kind you might pick up.

However, if you recover the original item before the spell's effect runs out, you are still proficient with that specific weapon or shield for the duration.

Focus: The item in whose use you wish to be proficient.

OMEN OF PERIL

Divination

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, Liberation 1, ranger 1

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

A brief supplication gives you a vision that hints at how dangerous the immediate future is likely to be.

Based on an assessment of your immediate surroundings and chosen path of travel, you receive one of three visions that reflect the next hour's journey: safety, peril, or great danger.

The base chance for receiving an accurate reply is 70% +1% per caster level, to a maximum of 90%; the DM makes the roll secretly.

If the omen of peril is successful, you get one of three visions, which lasts just a second or two.

- Safety: You aren't in any immediate danger.

If you continue on your present course (or remain where you are if you have been stationary for some time before casting the spell), you will face no significant monsters, traps, or other challenges for the next hour or so.

- Peril: You will face challenges typical of an adventure: challenging but not overwhelming monsters, dangerous traps, and other hazards for the next hour or so.

- Great Danger: Your very life is at grave risk.

You will likely face powerful NPCs or deadly traps in the next hour.

If the roll fails, you get one of the two incorrect results, determined randomly by the DM, and you don't necessarily know that you failed because the DM rolls secretly.

Choosing which vision is "correct" takes some educated guesswork on the part of the DM, who should assess the characters' likely courses of action and what dangers they're likely to face.

The exact form that an omen of peril takes depends on whether you worship a specific deity, venerate nature as a druid, or simply uphold abstract principles.

A druid might see a white dove for safety, a dark cloud obscuring the sun for peril, and a forest fire for great danger.

A cleric of Fharlanghn might get a vision of a straight road for safety, a crossroads for peril, and a washed-out bridge for great danger.

Unlike the more powerful augury spell (PH 202), an omen of peril doesn't respond to a specific question.

It indicates only the level of danger likely for the next hour, not what form the danger will take.

Focus: A set of marked sticks, bones, or similar tokens worth at least 25 gp.

ONE MIND

Divination

Level: Paladin 2

This spell functions like lesser one mind, except as noted here, and in addition it allows you and your special mount to predict each other's movements, giving you a significant edge in combat.

You and your mount both gain a +2 bonus on attack rolls as long as you are mounted.

ONE MIND, GREATER

Divination

Level: Paladin 3

This spell functions like one mind, except as noted here, and in addition you and your mount gain a +2 bonus on melee damage rolls as long as you are mounted.

ONE MIND, LESSER

Divination

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

Your mount begins to move in a predictable, complementary manner to yourself.

It positions itself to maximize its effectiveness as a combat partner, and you feel that your actions instinctively do the same for it.

You temporarily strengthen the mental bond with your special mount when you cast this spell.

When you are mounted on your special mount, the link with your mount sharpens your senses, giving you a +4 insight bonus on Spot and Listen checks and the scent ability (MM 314) for the duration of the spell.

If your mount ever moves more than 10 feet from you, the spell ends.

PROBE THOUGHTS

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Mind 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Reaching out with your thoughts, you break through your target's mental defenses and reap answers to your desires.

All of the subject's memories and knowledge are accessible to you, ranging from memories deep below the surface to those still easily called to mind.

You can learn the answer to one question per round, to the best of the subject's knowledge.

You pose the questions telepathically, and the answers to those questions are imparted directly to your mind.

You and the subject do not need to speak the same language, though less intelligent creatures might yield up only appropriate visual images in answer to your questions.

The subject is not aware that its mind is being probed, unless you wish to make it aware.

If the subject moves beyond the range of the spell, the effect ends.

SENSE HERETIC

Divination

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Holding the target item aloft, you quietly chant the last few words to cast the spell.

The item immediately flares a soft blue color, which fades almost immediately.

This spell is usually cast on a weapon or a holy symbol.

If an evil creature that has the ability to cast divine spells comes within 100 feet of the item, the item begins to glow with a faint blue radiance.

You cannot tell where, or in which direction, the detected creature is, only that such a creature is within range.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

SHARE HUSK

Divination

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Animal touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

As the bit of dried food vanishes from your hand, you gain a wolf's-eye view of the world—and a wolf's-nose view as well.

You sense through an animal's senses, seeing through its eyes and hearing through its ears.

While doing so, you use either your Listen or Spot modifiers or the animal's, whichever is better.

This spell gives you no special ability to understand what you sense.

You can switch your perceptions between the animal's and your own on your turn as a free action.

You and the animal must be on the same plane for the spell to function.

Material Component: An edible treat that would appeal to the animal (vegetable or meat).

SNIPER'S SHOT

Divination

Level: Assassin 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

While muttering a short chant you focus your awareness, looking only at the areas of your foe that seem most vital to its survival.

Your ranged attacks made before the start of your next turn can be sneak attacks regardless of the distance between you and your target.

You must still fulfill the other conditions for making a sneak attack against the target.

This spell doesn't grant you the ability to make a sneak attack if you don't already have that ability.

SPEECHLINK

Divination

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: You and one creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Tapping your finger to the side of your head and to your intended subject, you whisper words of greeting to complete the spell.

You then hear your subject's voice as if it were speaking directly into your ear.

You and a willing subject can communicate verbally no matter how much distance you put between yourselves on the same plane.

Either participant can end the spell at any time.

Speechlink allows you and your allies each to hear the other's vocalizations, whatever their volume.

It does not transfer other sounds from either participant's location.

This spell works on any creatures, including animals, but does not convey any special language comprehension ability.

SPONTANEOUS SEARCH

Divination

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With a leisurely wave and a declaration of boredom, you complete the spell.

You instantly become aware of the location and types of objects in the spell's area, as if you had made a quick search.

The subject of this spell knows the contents of a 20-foot-radius burst, as if it had taken 10 on a Search check for each object and space in the burst radius, including noting the location of traps (though only a rogue can locate those traps with a DC greater than 20).

Material Component: A silk glove.

TACTICAL PRECISION

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You hold aloft a toy soldier and shake it at your allies, calling them to arms as you do so.

The toy soldier dissipates, but you feel a connection to your allies as though you could hear each one whispering her intended actions before she performed them.

When you cast this spell, you grant your allies greater insight into one another's actions, allowing them to better coordinate their attacks.

If two affected allies flank the same creature, each gains a +2 insight bonus on melee attack rolls and deals an extra 1d6 points of damage against the flanked creature.

Creatures not subject to extra damage from sneak attacks are immune to this extra damage.

Material Component: A toy soldier.

TARGETING RAY

Divination

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

From your clenched fist you produce a luminous ray.

The ray pulsates between the target creature and you.

The ray acts as a rangefinder for you and any allies.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

It provides a +1 insight bonus per three caster levels on ranged attacks directed at the subject for the duration of the spell.

Your allies need not see you, but they must be able to see the ray.

You can otherwise act normally for the duration of the spell.

Allies who can see the target of the ray receive the bonus even if you lose line of sight to the target.

Focus: A small metal or stone tube.

TELEPATHIC AURA

Divination

Level: Paladin 4

Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 100 ft.

Area: 100-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You make a silent gesture with your holy symbol and think about your fellowship with your companions.

In a moment, they all look up as if someone called their names.

You can mentally communicate with all allies within range, though this is one-way communication.

(You can send thoughts, but you cannot receive thoughts in response).

Anything you choose to send is received by all creatures you perceive as allies within the emanation (you cannot send thoughts only to certain allies), and they all understand you regardless of language.

Allies with Intelligence scores lower than 3 understand basic commands but not complex information ("Attack" is understood, but “Ignore the foot soldiers and attack the spellcasters” gets the same reaction as “Attack”).

TELEPATHIC BOND, LESSER

Divination [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Mind 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: You and one willing creature within 30 ft.

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As you send your thoughts outward, your mind brushes against the consciousness of your friend and it welcomes you, forming a bond that no distance can break.

You forge a telepathic bond with another creature with an Intelligence score of 6 or higher.

You can communicate telepathically through the bond regardless of language.

No special power or influence is established as a result of the bond.

Once the bond is formed, it works over any distance (although not from one plane to another).

TREASURE SCENT

Divination

Level: Bard 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

A multihued glow of metallic colors surrounds you.

The swirling glow manifests as a thin mist that forces itself up into your nose.

Suppressing a sneeze, you note with excitement the unmistakable scent of treasure.

You can detect copper, silver, gold, platinum, and gems within 30 feet, as well as differentiate between the five kinds of valuables.

When you detect one of these types of valuables, the exact location of the source is not revealed—only its presence and direction.

Whenever you come within 5 feet of the treasure, you can pinpoint its exact location.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

UNLUCK

Divination

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Spewing a curse of bad luck, you fling a piece of broken mirror at your target.

The mirror shard dissipates harmlessly as soon as it leaves your hand, and the sound of rolling dice is perceptible for an instant.

When you cast this spell, you negatively influence the randomness of fortune for the target.

Whenever the affected creature undertakes an action involving random chance (specifically, whenever any die roll is made for the creature, including attack rolls, damage rolls, and saving throws), two separate rolls are made and the worse result applied.

A creature carrying a stone of good luck is immune to the effect of unluck.

Material Component: A piece of a broken mirror.

VINE STRIKE

Divination

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

As you intone the sounds of the spell, your sight temporarily dims under a green gloom.

An eyeblink later, the dimness disappears, and you feel a new connection with the natural order, as if it were directing where to land your blow.

While this spell is in effect, you have a special connection to the forces of nature that allows you to deliver sneak attacks on plant creatures as if they were not immune to sneak attacks.

To attack a plant creature in this manner, you must still meet the other requirements for making a sneak attack.

This spell applies only to sneak attack damage.

It gives you no ability to affect plant creatures with critical hits, nor does it confer any special ability to overcome the damage reduction or other defenses of plant creatures.

VISION OF GLORY

Divination

Level: Cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute or until discharged

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch your ally, and her eyes mist over momentarily.

You know she is seeing an image of her deity, imploring her to battle in his name.

You give the subject creature a brief vision of a divine entity that is giving it support and inspiring it to continue.

The creature gets a morale bonus equal to your Charisma modifier on a single saving throw.

It must choose to use the bonus before making the roll to which it applies.

Using the bonus discharges the spell.

WEATHER EYE

Divination

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: 1 mile + 1 mile/level

Area: 1-mile radius + 1-mile/level centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using your connection to the divine forces and nature, you gaze into your scrying device and summon images to mind of what the future holds for the weather.

You can accurately predict the natural weather up to one week into the future.

If unnatural forces currently affect the weather, then weather eye reveals the spells or abilities in effect, though not the source of those abilities.

Material Component: Incense.

Focus: A scrying device of some kind (bowl, mirror, crystal ball, and so forth).

ZONE OF REVELATION

Divination

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 5-ft.-radius/level emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

After making a dramatic gesture and uttering a few words of power, you close your eyes and open them again, revealing all that is hidden.

All creatures and objects within a zone of revelation are made visible.

This includes invisible creatures, as well as those on coexistent planes such as the Ethereal Plane and the Plane of Shadow (DMG 150).

Natives of these planes do not lose any abilities but are simply made visible.

Zone of revelation suppresses but does not dispel invisibility, etherealness, or other spells.

Once a formerly invisible object or creature leaves the area, it becomes invisible again.

Ethereal creatures in the spell's area become nonethereal until they move beyond the spell's range.

Arcane Material Component: A handful of dust from the grave clothes of an undead creature.

ENCHANTMENT

AID, MASS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You hold your holy symbol aloft and cast the spell.

A silvery radiance dances from your hands, leaping over all the nearby party members and strengthening them.

This spell functions like aid (PH 196), except that it affects multiple subjects at a distance and each subject gains temporary hit points equal to 1d8 + caster level (to a maximum of 1d8+15).

AWAKEN SIN

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Good, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One evil creature with Intelligence 3+

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A command for repentance issues from your mouth, carrying with it the power of the spell.

The crushing feeling of guilt that grew within you while you cast the spell lifts as you project the feeling at your target.

The subject immediately takes 1d6 points of nonlethal damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) and is stunned for 1 round.

If this knocks the subject unconscious, it also takes 1d6 points of Wisdom damage.

BATTLE HYMN

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: All allies within 30 ft.

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You wave your hand as if a conductor and hum an uplifting tune under your breath.

As the energy of the spell releases, you hear the air around you fill with the song you are humming, as if performed by a small troupe.

This spell brings forth a stirring martial tune that inspires all creatures within the area who are friendly to you.

These creatures can reroll one Will save that they have just made each round for the duration of the spell.

The reroll must be made before the DM declares whether the roll results in success or failure, and the result of the second roll must be used, even if it is a lower result.

BEASTLAND FEROCITY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You cast the spell and lay your hand upon your ally, and beneath your glowing fingers, give him a mixed gift—the ability to fight on, but at the cost of not knowing when to stop.

The subject becomes such a tenacious combatant that it continues to fight without penalty even while disabled or dying.

While between -1 and -9 hit points, the creature gains a $+4$ enhancement bonus to Strength.

If the creature is reduced to -10 hit points, it dies normally.

BOLTS OF BEDEVILMENT

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 5, Madness 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a strangled peal of laughter to complete the spell, you point your hand at your enemy and fire a black beam from your finger.

This spell grants you the ability to make one ray attack per round.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A living creature struck by the ray is dazed for 1d3 rounds if it fails its save.

CELEBRATION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: All creatures in a 15-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a few slurred words and fumbling motions, you complete the spell and prepare to perform.

You cause any creatures in the area to feel increasingly more intoxicated the longer you perform a drinking song.

In the round this spell is cast, all creatures that fail their saving throws take a -2 penalty to Dexterity, Intelligence, and Wisdom.

If you use a standard action to continue performing in a second consecutive round, each affected creature must succeed on a second Will saving throw or become nauseated.

Succeeding on this saving throw prevents the nausea, and the creature is immune to further effects of this spell.

If you use a standard action to continue performing in a third consecutive round, any affected creatures must succeed on a Will save or pass out, becoming unconscious and helpless.

CROWN OF GLORY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Glory 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: You and one creature/level in a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

When you cast this spell, you crown yourself with your deity's favor and draw all eyes toward you.

You are imbued with an aura of celestial authority, inspiring awe in all lesser creatures that behold your terrible perfection and righteousness.

You gain a $+4$ enhancement bonus to Charisma for the duration of the spell.

In addition, the subject creatures gain a $+4$ morale bonus on attack rolls, saves, and skill checks, immunity to fear effects, and temporary hit points equal to your caster level (maximum 20).

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create an unholy, cacophonous dirge that fills the targets' minds with the screams of the dying, the wailing of the damned, and the howling of the mad.

Creatures affected by this spell take a -4 penalty on attack rolls and Dexterity, a 50% reduction in their speed (to a minimum of 5 feet), and must make a Concentration check to cast any spell (DC equal to this spell's DC + the level of the spell being cast).

Material Component: A pinch of ashes from a destrachan.

DISQUIETUDE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your spell warns of unseen dangers and untrustworthy allies.

As you sing, your target eases away from her compatriots, doubt written on her face.

The affected subject restricts its movement to avoid any physical contact, even with allies.

Any ally that wishes to touch the subject must make a successful melee touch attack to do so.

The subject must stay 15 feet away from all other creatures.

If, at the beginning of its turn, the creature is within 15 feet of any creature, it must first move away (beyond 15 feet from any creature) before taking any action.

If the subject cannot safely move that distance, it instead must take the total defense action and remain in its space.

DISTRACT ASSAILANT

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Buzzing under your breath like a fly, you swat at the sky and toss the fly's wing in your hand into the air.

The target of your spell becomes distracted, starting at shadows and looking about for unseen assailants.

A creature affected by this spell is flat-footed until the beginning of its next turn.

Material Component: The dried wing of a fly.

DISTRACT

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell arouses a zest and appreciation for life in the targets.

The targets are distracted as they study the shapes of the clouds, the texture of tree bark, the patterns carved into a stone wall, the temperature and scent of a breeze—anything and everything gets their attention, if just for a moment.

The targets of this spell must succeed on a Will save or lose themselves to the urge to experience nearly everything.

Failure indicates the creatures take a –4 penalty on all Concentration, Listen, Search, and Spot checks, and can take only a single standard or move action each round, but not both.

Creatures with more than 6 HD are unaffected.

DIVINE PROTECTION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Targets: Allies in a 20-ft.-radius burst

Target: One animal

Duration: Concentration +1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You feel inexplicably angry as you near the conclusion of the spell's casting.

The feeling subsides slightly as you release the spell into your target.

Enrage animal affects only creatures of the animal type and bestows a +4 morale bonus to Strength and Constitution, a +2 morale bonus on Will saves, and a –2 penalty to Armor Class.

This effect is otherwise identical to a barbarian's rage (PH 25), except that the animal is not fatigued at the end of the rage.

ENTICE GIFT

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, Greed 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast the spell and a purple glow appears in your mark's eyes.

You hold out your hand and demand the object it holds in a compelling voice.

You enchant a creature so that it feels suddenly compelled to give you what it is holding when you cast this spell.

On the creature's next action, it moves as close to you as it can get in a single round and offers you the object as a standard action.

This spell allows you to act out of turn and accept the "gift" if the creature reaches you to hand you the object (assuming you have a free hand and can accept it).

The subject defends itself normally and acts as it wishes on subsequent rounds, including attempting to get the object back if desired.

If the subject is prevented from doing as the spell compels, the spell has no effect.

For example, if the subject is paralyzed and cannot move or drop the item, nothing happens.

Level: Bard 1

Components: V

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sweeping your arm as if presenting a gift to someone, you call out to the intended subject of your spell.

A mantle of sweet tones settles about your subject, whose face is now twisted in concentration.

Harmonic chorus lets you improve the spellcasting ability of another spellcaster.

For the duration of the spell, the subject gains a +2 morale bonus to caster level and a +2 morale bonus on save DCs for all spells it casts.

Focus: A tuning fork.

HAUNTING TUNE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

By placing your hand to your mouth and calling out, you gain the attention of creatures around you.

For a moment, all eyes snap to you.

Some creatures seem reluctant or unable to pull their eyes away.

Any creature with 5 Hit Dice or less is slowed (PH 280) for 1 round.

Creatures beyond the radius of the burst might hear the shout, but they are not slowed.

An affected creature under the effect of a haste spell has the haste spell suppressed (not dispelled) for 1 round.

HISS OF SLEEP

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

From your hiding place, you whisper the spell softly, your words taking on a sonorous drone.

One by one, your foes drop to ground, asleep.

The targets of this spell fall into a comatose slumber.

Sleeping creatures are helpless.

Slapping or wounding the subjects awakens them, but normal noise does not.

Awakening a creature is a standard action.

INCITE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Creatures in a 10-ft. burst

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast this spell and your opponent is swallowed in a spiral of sparkling notes that urge your targets to act.

Affected creatures are not allowed to delay or to ready an action.

If a subject is currently delaying, it acts as soon as the spell is cast.

If the subject currently has an action readied, it loses that action.

INHIBIT

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast this spell and a spiral of dark notes surrounds your foe, slowing and distracting him from the task at hand.

You inhibit your foe from acting.

The subject is forced to delay until the following round, acting immediately before you on your initiative count.

INSIDIOUS RHYTHM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You recite a foolhardy ditty, tapping your foot in time.

With a wink and a grin you mark your target, who shortly thereafter follows suit.

The subject takes a -4 penalty on Intelligence-based skill checks and Concentration checks due to an endlessly recycling melody stuck in its mind.

Whenever the subject attempts to cast, concentrate on, or direct a spell, it must succeed on a Concentration check (DC equal to insidious rhythm's save DC + spell's level) or fail at the attempt.

INSPIRATIONAL BOOST

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round or special; see text

You concentrate on assisting your friends as you begin the short chant and simple hand-chopping motion necessary to cast the spell. As you finish, the spell's chant allows you to segue easily into bolstering your allies.

While this spell is in effect, the morale bonus granted by your inspire courage bardic music increases by 1.

The effect lasts until your inspire courage effect ends.

If you don't begin to use your inspire courage ability before the beginning of your next turn, the spell's effect ends.

LOVE'S LAMENT

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Dirgelike music fills the area, reminding those in range of lost loves and life's disappointments.

Creatures within the area of this spell that fail their saves take 1d6 points of Wisdom damage and are nauseated for 1d4 rounds.

MADDENING SCREAM

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Madness 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1d4+1 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

With an incomprehensible word and the touch of a hand wrapped in black magic, you reduce your foe to a screaming lunatic.

This spell makes it impossible for the victim to do anything other than race about caterwauling.

The creature must move its speed each turn, unless somehow prevented, and can take no other action.

The spell gives the subject a -4 penalty to Armor Class, its Reflex saving throws fail except on a roll of 20, and the subject cannot use a shield.

MADDENING WHISPERS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you mutter this spell, your words burrow into your foes' minds like hungry maggots, spawning dark and disturbing thoughts.

You can choose to inflict one of the following conditions upon any creatures that fail their saving throws.

Hysteria: The subjects fall into fits of uncontrollable laughing or crying (equal chance for either).

This hysteria affects subjects as though they were nauseated; they are unable to attack, cast spells, concentrate on spells, or do anything else requiring attention.

The only action a subject can take is a single move action per turn.

Panic: The subjects become panicked.

If cornered, a panicked creature cowers.

Violent Hallucinations: The subjects perceive any nearby creatures as dangerous enemies, attacking the nearest ones and fighting until the subjects are slain or until no more creatures are in sight.

Stupor: The subjects curl up on the floor and remain oblivious to events around them.

Characters in a stupor are effectively stunned and prone.

MECHANUS MIND

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Lawful, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Mechanus 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You speak the words of the spell and your mind feels clearer and more organized, as if it were mere drawers where everything was put in its proper place.

Your face grows calmer and unexpressive, but your thoughts are more rational and ordered.

The subject gains a +4 resistance bonus on Will saving throws to resist mindaffecting spells and abilities.

While in the grip of Mechanus mind, the subject also becomes more analytical and less emotional.

The subject gains a +2 competence bonus on Intelligence-based checks, but takes a -2 penalty on Charisma-based checks.

MESMERIZING GLARE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One living creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You say nothing, but your eyes glow with a warm, friendly fire.

Others stop to regard you, and once enraptured, they cannot look away.

Directing your gaze toward the target creatures, you cause them to stop and stare blankly at you.

Creatures that fail their saving throws become fascinated.

MINDLESS RAGE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

By waving a scarlet cloth and shouting taunts at your intended subject, you gain its undivided attention.

You fill the subject with so great a rage that it can do nothing but focus on engaging you in personal physical combat.

The target must be able to see you when you cast this spell.

If the subject later loses line of sight to you, the spell immediately ends.

(A subject can't voluntarily break line of sight with you, such as by closing its eyes, to end this spell prematurely).

If the subject threatens you, it must make a full attack against you using a melee weapon or a natural weapon.

If the subject doesn't threaten you at the start of its turn, it must move toward you (taking nothing but move actions) and end its movement as close to you as possible.

If it gets close enough with a single move action to threaten you, it stops and makes a melee attack against you as normal.

While under the effect of a mindless rage spell, the subject can make use of all its normal melee combat skills, abilities, and feats—either offensive or defensive.

However, the subject can't make ranged attacks, cast spells, or activate magic items that require a command word, a spell trigger, or spell completion to function.

The subject can't make any attack against a creature other than you.

The subject of this spell, though overcome with rage, is by no means rendered idiotic or suicidal.

For example, an affected creature will not charge off a cliff in an attempt to reach you.

An interesting side effect of mindless rage occurs when the spell affects any character or creature that has the rage ability (such as a barbarian).

In these cases, the mindless rage spell automatically activates the creature's rage ability (and counts as one of the creature's uses of rage for that day).

Focus: A scarlet handkerchief or similar piece of cloth, waved in the target's direction while you vocalize the verbal component.

MISER'S ENVY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Upon invoking the power of this spell, both the dwarf and the small idol across the room glow with a violet shade.

The dwarf starts moving toward it, his eyes tinged violet with greed.

When you cast this spell, you designate a target creature and specify an object, both of which must be within the spell's range.

If the target creature fails its saving throw, it becomes consumed by a powerful desire for the object.

For the duration of the spell, the creature seeks to obtain the object (going so far as to attack anyone holding or wearing it).

Once the creature gains possession of the object, it protects the item greedily, attacking anyone who approaches within 30 feet or who otherwise appears to be trying to take the object away.

If no one approaches within 30 feet or seems interested in trying to take the object, the subject can act normally.

Dragons, due to their greedy nature, take a -4 penalty on their saving throws against this spell.

Material Component: A copper piece.

MONSTROUS THRALL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Domination 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon your reserves of personal power, you reach outward with your mind and gain control of the will of your foe.

This spell functions like true domination (page 224), except that the subject can be any creature and is permanently dominated if it fails its initial Will save.

A subject ordered to take an action against its nature receives a saving throw with a -4 penalty to resist taking that particular action.

If the save succeeds, the subject still remains your thrall despite its minor mutiny.

Once a subject makes a successful saving throw to resist a specific order, it makes all future saving throws to resist taking that specific action without a penalty.

NIGHTMARE LULLABY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your music calms your foe, sending it to sleep while it remains upright.

As you perform, it starts to twitch and moan, as if tormented by unseen fears.

This spell can put a target into a surreal, sleepwalking state. The target must make a Will saving throw or become confused, thinking it has entered a nightmare.

PROGRAMMED AMNESIA

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you finish the complicated procedure necessary to cast the spell, your target's mind opens up to you like a book.

You see the target's memories like stories and know that you can rewrite them as a master bard rewrites the inferior works of his apprentices.

You can selectively destroy, alter, or implant memories in the subject creature as you see fit.

Casting the spell gives you access to all of the subject's thoughts and memories, allowing you to implement as many of the following specific effects as you like.

Memory Erasure: Memories possessed by the subject can be erased, including knowledge of specific events, people, or places.

You can erase up to one full week of memories from the subject's mind.

Memory Implant: You can create false memories in the subject's mind as you see fit.

You can implant memories of being friends with a hated enemy, events that didn't really take place, or betrayals by people the subject regards as friends.

Negative Levels: You can bestow a number of negative levels equal to 1/2 the subject's character level (rounding down, minimum 1st level) or less.

This effect represents erasure of class knowledge and training.

These negative levels never become permanent level loss, but they cannot be removed by spells such as restoration, instead returning at a rate of one level per day.

Persona Rebuilding: By erasing the subject's previous personality and implanting a false set of memories, you can build a new persona for the creature, altering its alignment, beliefs, values, and personality traits.

(Some class abilities might be affected by alignment changes).

Programmed Trigger: You can program the subject to delay the onset of any of the above effects until a specific event takes place, such as the receipt of a coded message, capture by enemies, or arrival at some destination.

Similarly, you could specify some or all of the alterations you create in a subject to be removed by a specific event.

The nature of programmed amnesia is such that a subject given new memories (whether willing or not) might be given cause to suspect that those memories are false, based on how complete your programming is.

For example, a paladin subject to a persona rebuilding effect that changes her alignment to neutral loses her paladin abilities.

Unless you impart a specific believable memory of why she changed alignment, the character will perceive this unexplained gap in her memory and might take steps (such as seeking a magical cure for her "amnesia") that could negate the spell's effect (see below).

Generally, your subject must be either willing to undergo the spell or restrained in some way so that it cannot leave or interfere with the casting.

Programmed amnesia cannot be dispelled, and so is normally permanent unless you care to specify events that will end the effect.

Its effect can also be removed by a greater restoration, miracle, or wish spell.

Material Component: A set of small crystal lenses set in gold loops worth 500 gp.

PUPPETEER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

In casting this spell, you see what others do not—strings of silver energy running from your hands and feet to your target's wrists and ankles.

You wave, and she waves back, in an awkward, resisting fashion.

You start walking toward the edge of the cliff...

You force the subject to mimic your actions.

The subject matches your motions exactly, though it takes a -4 penalty to Dexterity and Strength.

Its movements look awkward, and its actions aren't as effective as if it were actually doing them itself.

You can try to make the subject commit a suicidal act, but it receives another Will save to break the spell.

If that save is successful, the subject collapses, helpless and in a comatose state, for 1d4 rounds.

Anyone observing the subject of this spell can determine that the subject's actions are being controlled by making a DC 15 Sense Motive check (or DC 10 if the controlling bard is also visible).

This spell doesn't grant the subject extraordinary, supernatural, spell-like abilities, or spellcasting abilities, even if you have and use such abilities during the spell's duration.

RAY OF DIZZINESS

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a drab violet ray from your palm.

The ray shoots toward your target in a spiraling corkscrew.

You strike out at your enemy with a ray that causes intense feelings of vertigo.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A struck subject experiences strong feelings of vertigo and can take only a move action or a standard action each round (but not both, and it cannot take a full-round action).

Focus: A small top.

RAY OF STUPIDITY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A bright yellow beam bursts from your extended fingertips.

The beam emits an "uh" sound, like someone trying to think of a word.

This ray clouds the mind of your enemy, damaging its intellect.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A subject struck by the ray takes 1d4+1 points of Intelligence damage.

If the target is a wizard, she might temporarily lose the ability to cast some or all of her spells if her Intelligence drops too low.

Material Component: A miniature cone-shaped hat.

REBUKE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2, Hades 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You rap the switch in your hand and then sharply against your thigh, finishing the final gesture that will bring discomfort to your foe.

When the spell is cast, the subject is dazed for 1 round and shaken for the duration of the spell.

Furthermore, a spellcaster targeted by rebuke must make a successful Concentration check (DC equal to the save DC for this spell + the level of the spell being cast) to cast spells while under its effect.

Focus: A stick at least 1 foot long.

REBUKE, FINAL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Saving Throw: Will partial

You jab the stick into your side and twist it, causing yourself some discomfort but creating a killing pain in the target.

*This spell functions like rebuke, except that the target dies instantly if it fails its saving throw.*

A creature that survives this effect is dazed for 1 round.

REBUKE, GREATER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

*This spell functions like rebuke, except that the subject is cowering for 1d4 rounds instead of being dazed for 1 round.*

RIGHTEOUS WRATH OF THE FAITHFUL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 5, Purification 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: Allies within a 30-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

When you cast this spell, you fire your allies and companions with a divine madness or fury, greatly enhancing their combat ability.

Allies gain one additional melee attack each round, at their highest attack bonus, when making a full attack.

*(This additional attack is not cumulative with other effects that grant extra attacks, such as a haste spell).*

They also gain a +3 morale bonus on melee attack rolls and damage rolls.

*(This bonus on melee attack rolls does stack with the bonus provided by haste).*

SHOCK AND AWE

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Assassin 1, bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart.

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Upon completing this spell, you feel a nagging compulsion to divert your attention from your enemies.

Shaking off the feeling, you note with satisfaction that your targeted enemies seem even more distracted than you.

This spell distracts its targets, preventing them from reacting with the deftness they might otherwise possess. Only effective when cast in the surprise round of combat and against flat-footed creatures, this spell causes those it affects to take a –10 penalty on their next initiative check. Targets that cannot be caught flat-footed (such as a rogue with uncanny dodge) cannot be affected by this spell.

SIGN

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

From your outstretched hand leaps forth a ray of glittering energy apparently composed of countless minuscule writhing insects.

The hum of minute chitinous bodies scrambling over one another fills the air.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

When this ray successfully strikes, it creates a sensation of many tiny insects biting and crawling on the victim's body. The target can attempt a Will save each round to shake off the effect.

Until the spell is shrugged off, the victim is hampered by the unsettling feeling of all the stinging and biting, and is able to perform only a single move or standard action each round.

The victim also takes a –2 penalty to AC.

In addition, if the victim attempts to cast a spell, it must succeed on a Concentration check with a DC equal to the sting ray's DC + the level of the spell the subject is attempting to cast.

For example, if a 6th-level sorcerer with a Charisma score of 16 casts sting ray on a wizard casting a fireball, the Concentration check DC is 19 (16 [sting ray DC] + 3 [fireball spell level]).

A successful Will save negates the effect restricting the subject's action to one move or one standard action each round, nor does the subject need to make a Concentration check each time it wishes to cast a spell.

However, the subject still takes the penalty to AC for the duration of the spell with a successful save.

Material Component: Four dried stinging insects (bees, wasps, and so on).

SUPPRESS BREATH WEAPON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature that has a breath weapon

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No

You shout out the words of this spell and the creature's throat constricts, a blue ring of runes visible around its neck.

The subject of this spell cannot use its breath weapon for the duration of the spell.

SYMPHONIC NIGHTMARE

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 6, cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch; see text

Target: Living creature touched; see text

Duration: 24 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A dark and ominous aura forms around you as you complete the spell.

Distant chords of a harsh and terrible symphony—as if multiple orchestras played different pieces simultaneously—echo continuously in the air as you reach for your victim.

A creature targeted by this spell loses the ability to dream during sleep or rest.

Rather, in place of dreams, the subject's slumbering mind is filled with the sounds of a discordant orchestra.

After the victim's first attempt to sleep, it incurs a –2 penalty on Wisdom-based skill checks.

This penalty persists as long as the symphonic nightmare maintains its hold.

This spell affects all creatures that sleep or enter sleeplike trances, although creatures without the need to sleep are effectively immune.

In addition, the creature's sleep is now haunted.

It can no longer gain complete rest from sleeping or resting.

The subject does not regain hit points or heal ability damage naturally, nor is it able to prepare spells if doing so requires a full night's rest.

The creature is, however, now immune to the dream and nightmare spells, as well as to other effects that cause nightmares (such as the night hag's dream haunting ability).

You can lift the effect of this curse at will, but it is otherwise difficult to remove a symphonic nightmare before its duration expires.

A remove curse cast at a higher caster level than the symphonic nightmare spell removes it, as does a successful break enchantment.

Otherwise, a wish or miracle is required to lift the curse.

This spell can also be cast on a creature you are scrying, or on a creature distant from you if you hold something the creature carried within the past 24 hours.

Focus: A small statue of an opened skull, within which is arranged a miniature orchestra.

The quality of this component must be extraordinary, and it carries a value of 1,000 gp.

TOUCH OF MADNESS

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Madness 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your hand glows with roiling purple light as you reach out to deliver lunacy with your touch.

You can cause one living creature to become dazed by making a successful touch attack.

If the target creature does not make a successful Will save, its mind is clouded and it takes no actions for 1 round per caster level.

TRAIN ANIMAL

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Animal touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

At last, you near the end of the spell's complicated procedure.

As the final act of the ritual, you call out the tricks you wish to teach the animal you are touching.

Your hand tingles for a moment as the spell takes effect.

While this spell is in effect, the affected animal gains a number of additional tricks equal to half your caster level (maximum five).

This spell does not modify an animal's attitude toward you, nor does it guarantee that an animal will cooperate when instructed to perform the newly learned tricks.

TRANSFIX

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a declaration, you finish your casting.

Immediately, beings in the affected area cease moving, standing as still as statues.

This spell causes any Medium or smaller humanoids within the area of the spell to become paralyzed.

When casting the spell, you must specify a condition that will end it ("Wait here until the dragon arrives"), even if that condition can never feasibly be met ("Stay here until the sun shines at night").

Subjects in the area that fail their saves immediately become aware of the condition, but they cannot communicate it due to their paralyzed state (although someone could use a spell such as detect thoughts to ascertain the condition).

For every hour the creatures are transfixed before the condition is met, they are allowed another saving throw to break free of the spell's effect.

As long as the spell operates, any Medium or smaller humanoid that enters its area must make a successful saving throw or become transfixed with the same exit conditions (they too become aware of the exit conditions on becoming transfixed).

Likewise, any creatures removed from the area are freed from the spell's effect.

An affected creature that is attacked gains a new saving throw to break free of the enchantment.

Material Component: A drop of pine resin.

TRUE DOMINATION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Domination 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Reaching out with your thoughts, you grasp the mind of your foe and take command of its actions.

You can control the actions of any humanoid.

You establish a telepathic link with the subject's mind.

If a common language is shared, you can generally force the subject to perform as you desire, within the limits of its abilities.

If no common language is shared, you can communicate only basic commands, such as "Come here", "Go there", "Fight", and "Stand still".

You know what the subject is experiencing, but you do not receive direct sensory input from it.

Subjects have a chance of resisting this control by making a Will save to avoid the effect when the spell is cast.

Those affected by the spell and then forced to take actions against their nature receive a new saving throw with a -4 penalty.

Obviously self-destructive orders might be carried out, unless the subject can make a saving throw with the -4 penalty.

Once control is established, the range at which it can be exercised is unlimited, as long as you and the subject are on the same plane.

You need not see the subject to control it.

Protection from evil or a similar spell can prevent you from exercising control or using the telepathic link while the subject is so warded, but it does not prevent the establishment of domination or dispel it.

WAR CRY

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You jab your weapon into the air as if in triumph, letting out a cry of victory before you have even made your attack.

Foes around you seem surprised by your display even as the feeling grows within you that you cannot fail.

You gain a +4 morale bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls made as part of a charge.

If you deal damage with a charge attack, your foe must succeed on a Will save or become panicked for 1 round (spell resistance applies to this effect).

WAVE OF GRIEF

Enchantment [Evil, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, blackguard 2, cleric 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Emitting a mournful wail, you send out a pulse of magic imbued with sorrow and sadness.

All within the cone when the spell is cast take a -3 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, and skill checks.

Material Component: Three tears.

WRATHFUL CASTIGATION

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You brandish the whip, and your target begins to shake uncontrollably, then collapses on the ground, its spasms eventually fading as it dies.

This spell causes wracking pain and violent convulsions, ending in death.

The target creature must make a Will save or writhe in pain, helpless, before it dies 1 round later at the start of your turn.

A creature that makes the Will save must also succeed on a second Will save or be dazed and take a -4 penalty on saving throws for the duration of the spell.

Focus: A whip.

EVOCATION

ANGER OF THE NOONDAY SUN

Evocation [Light]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 feet

Area: All sighted creatures within a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your body explodes with radiance that bathes the area around you in sunlight.

Any creature within the area of the spell that can see you must make a saving throw or be temporarily blinded.

The blindness lasts for 1 minute per caster level.

An undead creature caught within the spell's area takes 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6), or half damage if a Reflex save is successful.

In addition, the beam results in the destruction of any undead creature specifically harmed by bright light (such as a vampire) if it fails its save.

The ultraviolet light generated by the spell deals damage to fungi, mold, oozes, and slimes as if they were undead creatures.

BALL LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One lightning ball

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a circuitous pass of your hand through the air, a crackling ball of lightning appears before you, accompanied by the smell of ozone.

You create a 5-foot-diameter ball of concentrated electricity that rolls in whichever direction you point, dealing electricity damage to creatures it strikes.

It moves 30 feet per round.

As part of this movement, it can ascend or jump up to 30 feet to strike a subject.

If it enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), though a successful Reflex save negates that damage.

The ball moves as long as you actively direct it (a move action for you), otherwise it merely stays at rest, damaging any creature in its space.

It cannot push aside unwilling creatures or batter down large obstacles.

The lightning winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Material Component: A handful of copper and iron pellets.

BATTERING RAM

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One object or creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point the shard of carved ram's horn at your foe and snap off the last words of the spell.

An invisible wedge of force slams into the creature's midsection, doubling it over and driving it back.

You create a ramlike force that can strike with considerable power.

The force can target a creature or an object.

The force deals 1d6 points of damage to the subject.

If the subject is a creature, this attack initiates a bull rush (as a Medium creature with Strength 30, for a +10 bonus on the bull rush attempt).

If the subject is a movable object, such as a door, you can make a Strength check (with a +10 bonus) to attempt to force open the door.

Focus: A piece of carved ram's horn.

BINDING WINDS

Evocation [Air]

Level: Druid 2, Windstorm 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the power of elemental air, you encircle the target in whipping winds.

The subject can act normally, but it cannot move from its current location.

The winds carry its voice away, so it can speak but cannot be heard, and it cannot hear anything but the roar of the winds.

This spell distracts spellcasters, and so a Concentration check is required to successfully cast any spell (DC equal to this spell's DC + the level of the spell being cast).

Furthermore, no sonic or language-dependent spells or effects can be cast into or out of the winds (though spells cast by you upon yourself function normally).

Ranged attacks made into or out of the winds take a -2 penalty.

Binding winds holds flying creatures in midair.

BLACKLIGHT

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Darkness 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: A 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a creature, object, or point in space

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates or none (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes or no (object)

With a few short words of power, you draw the light from the surrounding area.

Within just a few seconds, the light dims to utter darkness.

You create an area of total darkness.

The darkness is impenetrable to normal vision and darkvision, but you can see normally within the blacklit area.

Creatures outside the spell's area, even you, cannot see through it.

You can cast the spell on a point in space, but the effect is stationary unless you cast it on a mobile object.

You can cast the spell on a creature, and the effect then radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

Unattended objects and points in space do not get saving throws or benefit from spell resistance.

Blacklight counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower level, such as daylight.

Material Component: A piece of coal and the dried eyeball of any creature.

BLADE OF PAIN AND FEAR

Evocation

Level: Assassin 2, blackguard 2, cleric 3, Deathbound 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Swordlike column of gnashing teeth

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A three-foot-long column of disembodied gnashing teeth springs forth from your hand.

For the duration of the spell, you can make melee touch attacks that deal 1d6 points of damage +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

Your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage.

A creature that you successfully deal damage to must also make a Will saving throw or become frightened for 1d4 rounds.

BLAST OF FORCE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Force 3, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Drawing upon magic in its purest form, you send invisible energy whistling through the air to batter your foe.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A blast of force deals 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

In addition, a successful hit forces the subject to make a Fortitude save or be knocked prone (size and stability modifiers apply to the saving throw as if the spell were a bull rush).

BLISTERING RADIANCE

Evocation [Fire, Light]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 50-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None and Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you conclude the ritual to release the energy of the spell, you hurl a blazing ball of light toward the point you designate, and it erupts into a brilliant hovering sphere.

All sighted creatures in the area are dazzled (no save), and the heat from the blistering radiance deals 2d6 points of fire damage to all creatures and objects in the area each round on your turn (Fortitude half).

Like a fireball spell, blistering radiance erupts if it strikes any material body or solid barrier before attaining the prescribed range, and you must make a successful ranged touch attack to send the sphere through a narrow opening or passage.

Blistering radiance counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level.

Material Component: A bit of tinder and a small lens.

BLOOD SIROCCO

Evocation

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Effect: Cone-shaped emanation centered on you or on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a hot exhalation and a circular wave of your outstretched arm, a stifling wind tears across the landscape, kicking up clouds of dust and sand and spreading out to blow over your foes.

A blood sirocco blows out from your location with the force of a windstorm (DMG 95).

Creatures in the affected area of Small or smaller size are knocked prone and rolled 1d4?10 feet, taking 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per 10 feet.

Medium creatures are knocked prone, and creatures of Large or Huge size are unable to move toward the origin point of the cone.

A successful Fortitude save allows the creature to move normally in that round.

In addition, the stifling winds dehydrate those within the cone.

In each round when an affected living creature fails its saving throw, it takes 2 points of damage.

The wind of a blood sirocco automatically extinguishes candles, torches, and similar unprotected flames.

It causes protected flames, such as those of lanterns, to dance wildly and has a 50% chance to extinguish these lights.

The wind of a blood sirocco continues to blow from the origin point to the wide end of the cone for the duration of the spell.

Any creature within this area is entitled a saving throw each round to ignore the effects of the blood sirocco.

BLOOD WIND

Evocation

Level: Cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: A single creature with Intelligence 4 or higher

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

After you complete the spell, the subject's limbs ripple with power and grow slightly in length.

The subject can take a full attack action to use all of its natural weapons or unarmed strikes as if they were thrown weapons with a 20-foot range increment.

The subject gestures as if making a melee attack, but the result of the attack affects a target within range.

This spell does not actually grant reach, and so does not help provide a flanking bonus or allow the subject to make attacks of opportunity at any range greater than normal.

The subject uses its normal melee attack bonuses and deals damage normally if it hits, though the target of the attacks can benefit from cover or concealment.

BOLT OF GLORY

Evocation [Good]

Level: Cleric 6, Glory 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the Positive Energy Plane and the power of your faith, you project a white bolt of hissing positive energy at your foe.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A creature struck takes varying damage, depending on its nature or its home plane of existence and your level.

Creatures native to the Negative Energy Plane, evil-aligned outsiders, and all undead creatures take 1d12 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d12).

Creatures native to the Material Plane or an Elemental Plane, or any other neutral-aligned outsiders, take 1d12 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 7d12).

Creatures native to the Positive Energy Plane and all good-aligned outsiders are not affected by this spell.

BUOYANT LIFTING

Evocation

Level: Druid 1

Components: S, DF

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One willing creature/level, no two of which are more than 20 ft. apart

Duration: 1 minute/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a sharp jab of your finger, the water around your indicated subjects begins to push them toward the surface.

The subjects of this spell are borne toward the surface at 60 feet per round until they are floating on it.

The subject then rests at the top of the liquid (rescuing it from drowning if it was a sinking air-breather) and can swim away under its own power or be moved by others (such as with a rope).

If the subject is removed from the liquid, the spell ends.

BURNING SWORD

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By chopping your hand like an axe and uttering the last few phrases of the spell, you cause the weapon you've touched to become wreathed in flickering blue flames.

The flames from this spell shed azure light out to 30 feet.

These flames do not harm the weapon or its wielder, but for the duration of the spell, it delivers fire damage in addition to its normal damage.

The enchanted weapon deals an extra 1d6 points of fire damage on a successful hit.

Also, on a critical hit, the weapon deals additional fire damage based on the weapon's critical multiplier:

Critical Multiplier	Additional Fire Damage
×2	+1d10
×3	+2d10
×4	+3d10

CACOPHONIC BURST

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You complete the spell with a scream, and echoes of your cry travel outward and burst into ear-shattering sounds.

You cause a burst of low, discordant noise to erupt at the chosen location.

It deals 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to all creatures within the area.

Cacophonic burst cannot penetrate the area of a silence spell.

CACOPHONIC SHIELD

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your words speed into a jumble of sounds that mix together until only a constant, faint buzzing sound remains.

You create a barrier of sonic energy at a distance of 10 feet from yourself.

Creatures on either side of the barrier hear it as a loud but harmless buzzing.

Nonmagical sound (including sound produced by a thunderstone) does not cross the barrier.

Supernatural or spell-based sounds or sonic effects penetrate the barrier only if the caster or originator of the effect succeeds on a caster level check (DC 11 + your caster level).

A creature that crosses the barrier takes 1d6 points of sonic damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20) and must make a Fortitude save or be deafened for 1 minute.

The sonic vibrations create a 20% miss chance for any missiles (including siege weapon attacks) crossing the barrier in either direction.

The barrier moves with you, but you cannot force another creature to pass through it (for example, by moving adjacent to an enemy).

If you force a creature to pass through, the barrier has no effect on that creature.

CAPRICIOUS ZEPHYR

Evocation [Air]

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 5-ft.-diameter sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None or Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Blowing on your twirling hand, you complete the spell, creating a roiling ball of dust and gale-force winds.

A ball of swirling wind and dust moves as you direct it, pushing your foes across the battlefield.

From its starting point, a capricious zephyr moves 30 feet per round in the direction you point, regardless of the presence or absence of terrain.

If the sphere enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for that round and tries to bowl over the creature with its wind force.

That creature must resist a bull rush attack from the capricious zephyr, which has a +6 bonus on the check.

If the spell wins the bull rush, it pushes the creature as far as it can in a random direction (roll 1d8; 1 indicates a push into the square closest to you, and 2 through 8 indicate the other squares, moving clockwise around the creature).

Any creature pushed by the sphere must succeed on a Reflex save or fall prone.

A capricious zephyr moves as long as you actively direct it (a move action for you).

Otherwise, it merely stays at rest and attempts to bowl over anyone in its square.

The spell ends if the distance between the sphere and you ever exceeds the spell's range.

CASTIGATE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Cleric 4, paladin 4, Purification 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Shouting your deity's teachings, you rebuke your foes with the magic of your sacred words.

This spell has no effect on creatures that cannot hear.

All creatures whose alignment differs from yours on both the law–chaos and the good–evil axes take 1d4 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d4).

All creatures whose alignment differs from yours on one component take half damage, and this spell does not deal damage to those who share your alignment.

For example, a lawful good cleric who casts this spell deals full damage to any creature that is not lawful and not good, half damage to any creature that is lawful or good (but not both), and no damage to lawful good creatures.

A Fortitude saving throw reduces damage by half.

CHAIN MISSILE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: One creature, plus one more creature/2 levels (each of which must be within 30 ft. of the primary target)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Bolts of pale blue energy spring forth from your finger and slam into the desired target.

An instant later, the bolts bounce away toward other creatures, slamming into each one.

Missiles of magical energy dart from your fingertip to unerringly strike a creature.

The missiles strike one creature initially, then spring to other targets.

Each missile deals 1d4+1 points of force damage.

One missile strikes the primary target per two caster levels, to a maximum of ten missiles (dealing 10d4+10 points of damage).

After the missiles strike, they ricochet to a number of targets up to the number of missiles created by the spell.

Each secondary target takes 1d4+1 points of damage, as if struck by a single magic missile.

You choose secondary targets as you like, but they must all be within 30 feet of the primary target, and no secondary target can be struck more than once.

You can choose to affect fewer secondary targets than the maximum (to avoid allies in the area, for example).

Missiles without a secondary target do not ricochet off the primary target.

Spells, magic items, and abilities that protect against magic missile (such as the shield spell or a brooch of shielding) also protect against this spell.

If the primary target has that sort of protection, the spell has no effect against it but still springs to all secondary targets.

(A brooch of shielding loses a number of charges equal to the number of missiles hitting the creature—up to ten missiles).

If spell resistance causes the spell to fail to harm the primary target, the spell fails and missiles do not ricochet to additional targets.

The missiles strike unerringly, even if the targets are in melee or have anything less than total cover or concealment.

You cannot single out specific parts of a creature to strike.

This spell cannot target or damage inanimate objects.

CHECKMATE'S LIGHT

Evocation [Lawful]

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Melee weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You intone your deity's name and the weapon you touch hums a harmonic response before it lights up with a soothing red glow.

You imbue the touched weapon with a +1 enhancement bonus per three caster levels (maximum +5 at 15th level), and it is treated as lawful-aligned for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

In addition, you can cause it to cast a red glow as bright as a torch.

Any creature within the radius of its clear illumination (20 feet) gets a +1 morale bonus on saving throws against fear effects.

If the weapon leaves your grasp, the spell effect is suppressed until you or another worshiper of your deity picks it up.

Time that passes while the spell's effects are suppressed counts against the spell's duration.

CLOUDBURST

Evocation [Water]

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 100-ft.-radius emanation

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Clouds whirl into existence and, with a peal of thunder, let loose a drenching downpour.

You cause clouds to gather and a heavy rain to fall.

The rain reduces visibility ranges by half, resulting in a -4 penalty on Spot and Search checks.

It automatically extinguishes unprotected flames and has a 50% chance of extinguishing protected flames.

Ranged weapon attacks and Listen checks take a -4 penalty.

Fire damage in this spell's area is reduced by 1 point per die of damage.

This spell does not function indoors, underground, underwater, or in desert climates.

After the spell ends, the water created evaporates over the next 10 minutes.

The water created with this spell does not slake thirst or provide any nourishment to plants.

COMBUST

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Touched creature or combustible object that weighs no more than 25 lb./level

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You rub the oil against the flint and murmur the ancient words, touching your target.

It immediately smolders and then bursts into bright flames.

This spell makes a combustible object or a creature's combustible equipment burst into flame, even if damp.

If the target is a creature, the initial eruption of flame causes 1d8 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d8) with no saving throw.

Further, the creature must make a DC 15 Reflex save or catch fire (DMG 303).

If the target is a combustible, unattended object, the initial eruption of flame deals fire damage to the object as noted above.

The object catches fire and takes 1d6 points of fire damage each round until consumed or someone puts out the fire.

Material Component: A drop of oil and a piece of flint.

CORONA OF COLD

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you complete the spell you feel your extremities turn ice cold, numb, and slug-gish.

The feeling subsides as the cold drains away from your body into the air around you, causing your breath to emerge as white puffs in the now-chill air.

You are surrounded by a protective aura of cold that also causes damage to others within its radius.

You gain resistance to fire 10.

Starting in the round you cast the spell, corona of cold also deals 1d12 points of cold damage each round at the beginning of your turn to all other creatures within the area.

A successful save prevents the damage caused by the spell in that round, but does not prevent damage in future rounds.

Creatures damaged by the spell shiver uncontrollably, taking a -2 penalty to their Strength and Dexterity and moving at half speed for as long as they remain within the area; these penalties do not stack with consecutive rounds of damage or additional corona of cold spells.

CYCLONIC BLAST

Evocation [Air]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: 120-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Cupping a child's top, you forcefully thrust your hand forward, simultaneously speaking the final words of the spell's proscribed formula.

Immediately thereafter, a blast of whirling wind issues forth from your outstretched fingers, sweeping up within it all who stand in its way.

You send a twisting torrent of wind, not unlike a tornado turned on its side, toward your enemies.

A cyclonic blast deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6 points of damage) to all creatures and objects in the area.

Objects bigger than Large take half damage.

The cyclonic blast begins at your fingertips.

Creatures who fail their Reflex saving throws against a cyclonic blast are additionally in danger of being knocked back by the force of the wind.

Treat this as a bull rush attack made with a +12 bonus on the Strength check.

The cyclonic blast always moves with the opponent to push that target back the full distance allowed, and (unlike a normal bull rush) you can exceed your normal movement limit with a sufficiently high check result.

Airborne creatures are treated as if they were one size category smaller for the purpose of resisting the bull rush.

If the damage caused to an interposing barrier by the blast shatters or breaks through it, the cyclonic blast can continue beyond the barrier if the spell's range permits; otherwise, it stops at the barrier just as any other spell effect does.

Focus: A child's spinning top.

DARKBOLT

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Darkness 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One ray/2 levels (maximum seven rays)

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a quick invocation to your deity, you call forth a nimbus of jet-black night.

This terrible radiance, laced with the will of your deity, allows you to shoot black bolts of power.

You unleash beams of darkness from your open palm.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to strike your target.

You can hurl one bolt for every two caster levels you have (maximum seven bolts).

You can hurl all the bolts at once, or you can hurl one bolt per round as a free action, starting in the round when you cast the spell.

You do not have to hurl a bolt in every round, but if you don't hurl the bolt you were entitled to in a round, it is lost. If you hurl all the bolts at once, all your targets must be within 60 feet of each other.

A darkbolt deals 2d8 points of damage to a living creature, and the creature is dazed for 1 round unless it makes a Will save (a creature struck by multiple bolts during the same round is dazed for a maximum of 1 round, no matter how many times it fails its save).

An undead creature takes no damage, but is dazed if it fails its save.

DARKFIRE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Flame in your palm

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your hand feels warm cupping the eldritch flames.

You cannot see the fire in the shadows, but you know it is there, as will those who will soon feel the hungry flames.

Dark flames appear in your hand.

You can hurl them or use them to touch enemies.

The flames appear in your open hand and harm neither you nor your equipment.

They emit no light but produce the same amount of heat as an actual fire.

Beginning the following round, you can strike opponents with a melee touch attack, dealing 1d6 points of fire damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

Alternatively, you can hurl the flames up to 120 feet as a thrown weapon.

When doing so, you make a ranged touch attack (with no range penalty) and deal the same damage as with the melee attack.

No sooner do you hurl the flames than a new set appears in your hand.

The darkfire is invisible to normal vision but can be seen with darkvision as easily as a normal flame can be seen in darkness (this means that darkfire can be used as a signal or beacon for creatures with darkvision).

The spell does not function underwater.

DEFENESTRATING SPHERE

Evocation [Air]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 2-ft.-radius sphere

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

From the pearl you hold between your thumb and ring finger erupts a cloudy gray sphere of whirling air and howling wind that flies to attack your enemies.

When you cast this spell, you create a violently swirling sphere of air.

As a move action, you can make the sphere travel up to 30 feet per round and strike a creature or object you indicate as a ranged touch attack.

Any creature struck by the sphere takes 3d6 points of damage from the force of its winds.

In addition, Medium or smaller creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be knocked prone.

Creatures that fall prone must then succeed on a second Fortitude save or be swept up by the sphere and driven 1d8?10 feet into the air, dropping 1d6 squares from their original position in a random direction and taking falling damage as normal.

If a window is within range, the subject is automatically thrown in that direction.

If some obstacle prevents the subject creature from reaching its expelled height, it takes 1d6 points of damage for every 10 feet of movement it was unable to complete, so that a creature hurled 50 feet up in a room with a 20-foot ceiling would take 3d6 points of damage from the impact, then take 2d6 points of damage when it falls back to the ground.

The sphere can affect a maximum of one creature or object per round, and winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Focus: A gray pearl worth at least 100 gp.

DINOSAUR STAMPEDE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Throwing down and shattering a fossil to complete the spell, you call upon potent natural forces and energies, and manifest them in the form of a swath of intangible, spectral, stampeding dinosaurs.

Creatures in the spell's area take 1d12 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +20).

Creatures more than 10 feet above the ground are not affected by dinosaur stampede.

With a simple gesture (a free action), you can make the spectral forms move along the ground up to 40 feet per round (moving its effective point of origin).

Creatures cannot be damaged more than once per round by dinosaur stampede.

Material Component: A fossil.

DIRGE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 50 ft.

Area: All enemies within a 50-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you sing, translucent spectral skulls float down from the sky like falling snow.

Your song draws the energies of death and destruction down on your enemies.

Each round, any enemy in the area takes 2 points of Strength and Dexterity damage.

Subjects can attempt a Fortitude save each round to negate the damage, but a successful save does not prevent damage in future rounds.

DISSONANT CHORD

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Area: 10-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You emit a terrible, piercing note.

The note pulses in the air, radiating like a shockwave.

It slams into nearby creatures and rattles loose objects.

Creatures (other than you) in the affected area take 1d8 points of sonic damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8).

DIVINE SACRIFICE

Evocation

Level: Blackguard 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Giving up some of your life force to win the battle, you empower your next blow against your foe.

Your first attack each round for the duration of the spell deals an extra 5d6 points of damage if it hits, and you take 10 points of damage each time you make such an attack, whether or not the attack is successful.

DOWNDRAFT

Evocation [Air]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (20-ft. radius, 100 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Dropping the small carving in your hand to the ground, you crush it with your foot as you recite the last few words of the spell.

In the distance you see a column of air turn a hazy gray.

The air column then blasts toward the ground, and you hear a distant whoosh.

Downdraft sends a column of turbulent air rushing toward the earth.

Airborne creatures caught in the area of a downdraft must succeed on a Reflex save or immediately plummet up to 100 feet straight downward, taking falling damage (1d6 points of damage per 10 feet fallen) if the downdraft makes them hit the ground or collide with an object.

Those who succeed on the Reflex save plummet only 50 feet.

Creatures already on the ground must succeed on a Reflex save or be knocked prone by the spell.

Material Component: A balsa-wood bird carving, which is crushed underfoot.

DRAGON BREATH

Evocation [Good or Evil]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Using magic to mimic a dragon's breath, you spew forth a gout of energy.

You gain the ability to breathe a gout of energy as a standard action that mimics a dragon's breath.

Once you've used the breath attack, you must wait 1d4 rounds before doing so again.

When you cast dragon breath, you choose one true dragon whose breath you're emulating.

If you choose a chromatic dragon, then the spell gains the evil descriptor.

If you choose a metallic dragon, then it gains the good descriptor.

Particulars for the breath weapons of each of the true dragons are provided below.

Chromatic Dragons

Black: 30-ft. line of acid, 1d8/2 caster levels (maximum 10d8); Reflex half.

Blue: 30-ft. line of electricity, 1d8/2 caster levels (maximum 10d8); Reflex half.

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A white-hot electric spark dances on your fingertip and then bolts toward your target.

You release a small stroke of electrical energy.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The spell deals 1d3 points of electricity damage.

ELECTRIC LOOP

Evocation [Electricity]

Targets: One creature/3 levels, each of which is adjacent to another target

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Spitting a harsh-sounding arcane word, you snap your fingers, and lightning leaps among your foes.

You create one small stroke of lightning that targets one creature per three caster levels you possess (maximum four creatures).

Each target must be in a square adjacent to another target.

The spell deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6) to each target.

A creature that fails its Reflex save must make a successful Will save or be stunned for 1 round.

Material Component: A loop of copper wire and a magnet.

EMERALD FLAME FIST

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object touched

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Crackling emerald flames wreath your hand as you finish the spell, lighting the area around you in a green glow.

One of your hands bursts into an aura of brilliant emerald flame, shedding light equal to that of a torch.

With a standard action, you can make a melee touch attack that deals 3d6 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

The creature you touch is engulfed by the fiercely hot aura of flame.

Each round at the beginning of its turn, the creature is allowed a Fortitude save to prevent further damage, but on a failed save the creature is still engulfed in the flaming aura and again takes 3d6 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

An engulfed creature that fails its Fortitude save can use a full-round action to attempt a DC 15 Reflex save, which extinguishes the flames and ends the spell.

You can use this spell to attack an object.

Nonmagical, unattended objects are automatically engulfed in green flame and take 3d6 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level each round.

ENERGY SPHERES

Evocation [Acid, Cold, Electricity, Fire, Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Five floating spheres

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You toss each of the marbles into the air, making the incantation as you do so.

Each marble turns a different color—pale green, white, blue, red, and violet—and settles into orbit around your head.

You create a circle of five colored spheres that orbit your head at a distance of 1 foot.

These spheres provide as much light as a torch and can be used offensively or defensively.

Each sphere corresponds to one of the five types of energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, sonic).

If used to attack, on your turn as a standard action you can direct one or more spheres to strike a creature or creatures in range, no two of which are more than 30 feet apart.

Each sphere deals 5 points of energy damage per five caster levels (maximum 20 points of damage) to a single creature, so an 11th-level caster's sphere deals 10 points of energy damage.

The subject can make a Reflex save for half damage against each sphere.

If you are attacked with an effect that causes energy damage, and the sphere of that type of energy is still present, you can have that sphere absorb some of that energy damage.

Each sphere grants you energy resistance 5 per five caster levels.

If a sphere is used to absorb damage, that sphere is destroyed.

When used to attack a creature with spell resistance, make one spell resistance roll for all spheres that attack the target in a round.

Success or failure applies to all spheres striking the creature that round.

Material Component: Five glass marbles.

ENERGY VORTEX

Evocation [see text]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: All creatures within a 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Energy wells up inside you and explodes outward in a furious burst.

When you cast energy vortex, you choose one of four energy types: acid, cold, electricity, or fire.

A blast of that energy type bursts in all directions from you, dealing 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20) to nearby creatures other than you.

If you are willing to take the damage yourself, you deal twice as much damage.

You don't get a Reflex save, but spell resistance applies, as do any resistances and immunities you have to the energy type.

The descriptor of this spell is the same as the energy type you choose when you cast it.

ENVELOPING COCOON

Evocation [Force]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cocoon of force around one Large or smaller creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Crushing a caterpillar between your fingers, you create a tight cocoon of shimmering blue-green energy around your foe.

A cocoon of force encloses a creature of size Large or smaller, containing it for the spell's duration or until the cocoon is destroyed.

The cocoon has hardness 10 and 10 hit points per caster level.

The enveloping cocoon prevents the creature trapped inside from moving or casting spells with somatic components.

The cocoon is too confining to permit effective attacks with anything larger than a natural or light weapon (and the creature inside can attack only the cocoon in any event).

You can attach a second spell to the cocoon by casting it at the cocoon.

When the enveloping cocoon spell ends or is dismissed, the attached spell automatically affects the creature inside, with no save allowed (although spell resistance, if any, still applies).

If the cocoon is destroyed before it is dismissed or the spell duration ends, the attached spell is wasted.

Any of the following spells from this book can be attached to an enveloping cocoon: infestation of maggots, langwor, miasma, and phantasmal disorientation.

In addition, a cocoon can be used in conjunction with these spells from the Player's Handbook: baleful polymorph, blight, contagion, dominate animal, flame strike, and poison (the subject fails the initial save but can attempt the second save).

Material Component: A live caterpillar.

ETHEREAL CHAMBER

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One ethereal creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You pinch a piece of glass between your fingers and as it crumbles to nothingness, a glassy prison springs into being.

You create a translucent prison of pure crystalline force around a target on the Ethereal Plane.

You must be able to see or otherwise target the creature you wish to affect.

The subject affected by the chamber cannot move on either the Ethereal Plane or its coterminous planes for the duration of the spell but is otherwise unaffected.

The subject cannot move onto another plane while inside the chamber, including the Material Plane.

The subject within the crystalline prison cannot make physical attacks or be attacked and is unaffected by most spells and supernatural abilities.

Gaze attacks and sonic spells function through the walls of the crystalline prison, but a creature within the chamber gains a +2 bonus on saving throws.

The target of ethereal chamber can break the crystalline prison by making a Strength check (DC 10 + caster level).

A disintegrate spell destroys an ethereal chamber.

Material Component: A piece of translucent glass.

EXPLOSIVE CASCADE

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One 5-ft. square/level, all of which must be connected in one continuous path (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold the metal tube out from your body and cast the spell.

A bright ball of flame manifests and skips across the battlefield, immolating targets in its path.

You create a path of flame when you cast this spell.

Anything along this path takes 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to all creatures and objects it touches.

The flame lights up the area as if it were a torch, and small sparks and decaying flames remain in the area for 1 round, shedding light as candles but dealing no damage.

A creature or object can be affected only once by each casting of this spell.

If the damage from the flame destroys an interposing barrier, the flame can move beyond the barrier if it has area remaining.

Material Component: Bat guano, sulfur, and copper packed into a metal tube with one closed end.

FIELD OF ICY RAZORS

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 60 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous plus 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your breath becomes cold and frosty as you intone this spell, and blue-white crystals erupt from the soil, chill air swirling around their needle-sharp tips.

Razor-sharp ice crystals surround the targets.

Each target takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6); half of this damage is cold damage, and half is slashing.

In addition, each target's speed is reduced by 20 feet for 1 round per caster level.

Creatures that succeed on Reflex saving throws take half damage and their movement is unaffected.

Focus: A silver shuriken worth 50 gp that looks like a snowflake.

With a few frenzied motions you complete the spell, bathing your allies in halos of magical flame.

This spell functions like fire shield (PH 230), except as noted above.

FIRE SHURIKEN

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Assassin 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One magic shuriken/3 levels

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

With dark intent you complete the quick motions of the spell and find in your hand several shuriken composed of flame.

This spell creates shuriken formed of magical fire that you can throw as a normal ranged attack.

You are automatically considered proficient with the fire shuriken, which have a range increment of 10 feet, threaten a critical hit on a roll of 19–20, and deal 3d6 points of fire damage each on a successful hit (although you and your possessions take no damage as the shuriken are thrown). Any additional damage dealt by the fire shuriken (including your Strength bonus and sneak attack damage) is also fire damage.

The shuriken disappear when they hit, so they cannot set fire to combustibles or damage objects.

You can create one fire shuriken per three caster levels, up to a maximum of six at 18th level.

Material Component: A shuriken coated with pine sap and sulfur.

FIREBRAND

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 5-ft.-radius burst/level (S)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

The flask of alchemist's fire vanishes from your hand and the ground erupts beneath your foes, shooting multiple fountains of fiery liquid upward.

Each burst deals 1d6 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to all creatures within the area.

All subjects hit by the burst in the round the spell is cast or within the area in the following round take 1d6 points of fire damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

A character struck in the round the spell is cast can attempt to extinguish the flames on itself as a full-round action with a successful DC 15 Reflex save.

Burst effects that overlap do not deal additional damage (a creature can be affected by only one burst).

Material Component: A flask of alchemist's fire (worth 20 gp).

FIREBURST

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 10 ft.

Effect: Burst of fire extending 10 ft. from you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a grand circular gesture the air around you fills with flame.

An instant later the fire explodes outward, engulfing everything close to you.

Fireburst causes a powerful explosion of flame to burst from you, damaging anyone within 10 feet of you.

All creatures and objects within that area, except for you and any creatures or objects that share your space, take 1d8 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 5d8).

Material Component: A bit of sulfur.

FIREBURST, GREATER

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Effect: Burst of fire extending 15 ft. from you. This spell functions like fireburst, except that it affects creatures within 15 feet of you and deals 1d10 points of fire damage per caster level (maximum 15d10).

FIRES OF PURITY

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Druid 6, Purification 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless); see text

You touch the target, and it bursts into flames that do not harm it, although the heat you feel from the fire seems quite real to you.

The creature you touch bursts into magical flames that do not harm the subject, but are capable of harming anyone else who comes into contact with the creature.

With a successful melee attack, the subject deals an extra 1 point of fire damage per caster level (maximum +15).

If the defender has spell resistance, it applies to this effect.

Creatures that make successful melee attacks against the subject are susceptible to the same damage unless they attack with weapons that have reach, such as longspears.

The subject of fires of purity takes only half damage from fire-based attacks.

If such an attack allows a Reflex save for half damage, the subject takes no damage on a successful save.

FLAME DAGGER

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: A daggerlike beam

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You evoke the spell and a blazing beam of red-hot fire springs forth from your hand, ready to be used as a weapon.

You create a bladelike beam that you can wield as if it were a dagger.

Attacks with a flame dagger are melee touch attacks, and the blade deals 1d4 points of fire damage +1 point per caster level (to a maximum of +10).

Because the blade is immaterial, your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage.

A flame dagger can ignite combustible materials such as parchment, straw, dry sticks, cloth, and so on.

This spell does not function underwater.

Material Component: A candle.

FLAME OF FAITH

Evocation

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Using your faith as a guide for your magic, you touch the weapon and it bursts into flame.

You can temporarily turn any single normal or masterwork melee weapon into a magic, flaming one.

For the duration of the spell, the weapon acts as a +1 flaming burst weapon.

Material Component: A lump of phosphorus, touched to the target weapon.

FLASHBURST

Evocation [Fire]

However, the disk must remain within 15 feet of you at all times.

You can concentrate (as a standard action) on the disk to make it move with a fly speed of 20 feet (perfect).

This allows you to sit on the disk and command it to carry you about.

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Against creatures of the selected enemy kind, the weapon acts as a +5 magic weapon and deals an extra 2d6 points of damage.

Furthermore, while you wield the weapon, you gain a +4 resistance bonus on saving throws against effects created by creatures of that kind.

The spell is automatically canceled 1 round after the weapon leaves your hand for any reason.

You cannot have more than one foebane weapon active at a time.

Solid walls of force form the chest's five sides and lid.

You and other creatures cannot open the lid except by first speaking the password (determined by you at the time of casting).

Both objects and Tiny and smaller creatures can fit in the box; it holds enough air to supply one Tiny, two

Diminutive, or four Fine creatures for 1 hour.

Like a wall of force spell, a force chest is immune to damage of all kinds and resists dispel magic, but it is susceptible to disintegrate and Mordenkainen's disjunction, and it can be destroyed by a sphere of annihilation or a rod of cancellation. The box is a spell effect, and Open Lock and Use Magic Device cannot open it.

Material Component: A 2-inch-square glass cube.

The missile then explodes in a burst of force that deals half this amount of damage to any creatures adjacent to the primary target.

The missile strikes unerringly, even if the target is in melee or has anything less than total cover or concealment.

A caster cannot single out specific parts of a creature.

The spell can target and damage unattended objects.

You gain one missile for every four caster levels.

You can make more than one missile strike a single target, if desired.

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Upon completing the spell, a discordant cacophony of haunting and alien music rises up in the area you designate.

Although the strange music reaches your ears, you feel no effect from it.

Creatures that fail their save become affected by the haunting fugue in semirandom ways.

On each affected creature's turn (as long as it remains in the affected area), you make a Perform check.

The check result determines how the victim's mind and body are affected by the spell.

You can select any of the effects for which your Perform check equals or exceeds the required DC.

DC Result

15 Victim takes 3d6 points of nonlethal damage

20 Victim takes 3d6 points of sonic damage

25 Victim is knocked prone

30 Victim is nauseated for 1 round

Spell Resistance: No

Calling on the limitless light of the Positive Energy Plane, you coax a tiny portion of its power into a fragile glass sphere.

This spell places a magical light source inside a glass sphere roughly the size of a human fist.

You can control the light level generated by a glowing orb by mental command (a standard action), provided that the orb is within 30 feet of you.

The light level ranges from no light at all to illumination within a 60-foot radius.

There is no limit to the number of glowing orbs you can possess, and you can control their light levels independently or in concert.

If a glowing orb is smashed, the magic is lost.

If you die, however, an orb retains its magic.

Any character with an Intelligence or Wisdom of at least 13 can gain control of an orb simply by touching it.

Focus: A glass sphere (50 gp) into which the light is placed.

An orb usable for this purpose has hardness 0 and 2 hit points.

The spell has three effects.

First, all creatures in the area must make Will saves to avoid being stunned for 1 round.

Second, the creatures must make Fortitude saves or be deafened for 1 minute.

Third, they must make Reflex saves or fall prone.

Creatures that cannot hear are not stunned, but might still fall prone.

Focus: An iron bell.

You create frigid hailstones that strike your enemies.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack to hit with a globe.

Each hailstone deals 5d6 points of cold damage.

For every five caster levels, you gain an additional hailstone (maximum of four stones at 20th level), and all globes must be aimed at enemies that are all within 30 feet of each other.

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

The effect fades, but your target briefly glows with a healthy orange nimbus.

If your deity is non-evil, this spell grants a +2 sacred bonus on saving throws, and the spell is a good spell.
If your deity is evil, this spell grants a +2 profane bonus on saving throws, and the spell is an evil spell.
This spell works only on a creature with the same deity as you or the same alignment as your deity.
If cast on a target that does not meet this criteria, the spell has no effect.

HEARTFIRE

Evocation [Light, Fire]

Level: Bard 2, druid 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Living creatures within a 5-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A flickering red fire bursts in the area you intended.

Creatures in the area are outlined in the flame, some more intensely than others.

Outlined subjects shed light as torches.

Outlined creatures do not benefit from the concealment normally provided by darkness (although a 3rd-level or higher magical darkness effect functions normally), blur, displacement, invisibility, or similar effects.

In addition, if they fail a Fortitude save, affected creatures take 1d4 points of fire damage each round as their passions manifest as physically damaging fire.

Creatures that make a successful Fortitude save take only half damage each round for the duration of the spell (minimum 1 point per round).

Spellcasters affected by this spell who try to cast spells must make Concentration checks (DC 10 + half the continuous damage last dealt) each round as they take continuous damage from the spell.

The fire created by this spell can be extinguished by normal means; doing so ends the outlining effect.

HOWLING CHAIN

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One chain of force

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A blood-red chain of pure force appears, howling instead of rattling as it shakes and twines.

You create a chain of force, which lashes out and attacks your enemies.

The chain has a reach of 15 feet, but cannot move from the space you designate.

The chain attacks by attempting to trip your foes (+12 melee touch attack, +15 on the opposed Strength check).

It does not provoke attacks of opportunity for tripping, nor can it be tripped in response on a failed attempt.

If it succeeds in tripping an enemy, it immediately follows up with a melee attack on the prone defender (+12 melee attack, 2d6+10 points of damage).

Any creature struck by the chain must make a Will saving throw or become shaken.

A howling chain can make one attack of opportunity each round for every four caster levels you have, using the same tactic as above.

A howling chain has as many hit points as you do when you're undamaged, and its AC is AC 20 (-1 size, +11 natural).

It takes damage as a normal creature, but most magical effects that don't deal damage do not affect it.

It makes saving throws as its caster.

Disintegrate or a successful dispel magic destroys it.

Focus: A small length of platinum chain worth at least 500 gp.

HYMN OF PRAISE

Evocation [Good, Sonic]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 50 ft.

Area: 50-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your heart light and joyful, you feel a sense of optimism as you launch into an inspiring melody.

You can strike up a rousing, inspirational song that temporarily boosts by 2 the effective caster level of each good-aligned divine spellcaster within range.

This increase does not grant access to additional spells, but it does improve all spell effects that are dependent on caster level.

Within the spell's area, each good-aligned divine spellcaster gains a +4 sacred bonus on Charisma checks to turn undead, and each evil-aligned divine spellcaster takes a -4 sacred penalty on Charisma checks to rebuke undead.

HYPOTHERMIA

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

The fighter drops to her knees, her face pale and a bluish cast to her lips and fingers.

A cloud of frosted breath escapes her lips as she whispers, "So...c-c-cold..." The subject takes 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) and becomes fatigued.

A successful Fortitude save halves the damage and negates the fatigue.

ICE AXE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Battleaxe-shaped weapon of swirling ice

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A thin layer of frost forms around your hand as shards of ice descend from the sky and coalesce into the form of a battleaxe.

This spell creates a battleaxe-shaped formation of jagged, fast-swirling ice shards in your hand.

You are automatically considered proficient with the ice axe.

Attacks with the ice axe are melee touch attacks.

The axe deals 2d12 points of cold damage +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10) with a successful hit.

You cannot be disarmed of the ice axe nor can it be sundered.

Since the axe is virtually weightless, your Strength modifier does not apply on damage rolls.

If your base attack bonus is high enough to allow for multiple attacks in a round, you can make them with the ice axe.

If you choose to hold something other than the ice axe in your hand or use the hand in some other way, the ice axe vanishes until the hand is empty again.

Material Component: A shard of ice, glass, or crystal.

ICE CLAW

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 10-ft. ice claw

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You finish this evocation and a great white claw appears before you, cold air wafting off its crystalline surface.

This spell creates a massive reptilian claw made of ice.

The ice claw can make one grapple attack per round.

Its attack bonus and grapple modifier are equal to your caster level + your Int modifier or Cha modifier (for wizards and sorcerers, respectively) + 7 for the claw's Strength (24).

In any round when the claw is grappling a target, it deals 1d8 points of cold damage.

The claw can attack in the round it appears.

Directing it to change targets is a standard action.

It always attacks from your direction and does not get a flanking bonus or help a combatant get one.

The claw has as many hit points as you do when undamaged and has AC 20 (+10 natural).

It takes damage as a normal creature, but most magical effects that do not deal damage do not affect it.

The claw cannot push through a wall of force or enter an antimagic field.

It suffers the full effects of a prismatic wall or prismatic sphere.

The claw has your saving throw bonuses.

Disintegrate or a successful dispel magic destroys it.

It has immunity to cold and vulnerability to fire.

Focus: A white leather glove and a piece of clear rock crystal.

ICE DAGGER

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Dagger of ice

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

The melted ice cupped in your palm crystallizes into a daggerlike shard of ice that then flies at your foe, exploding into a ball of icy fragments at its feet.

The ice dagger created by this spell launches itself at a target.

Treat the attack as a thrown splash weapon (PH 158) that requires a ranged touch attack to hit.

The ice dagger deals 1d4 points of cold damage to the target per caster level (maximum 5d4), and splash damage of 1 point of cold damage to adjacent creatures.

Material Component: A few drops of water made from melted ice.

ICE GAUNTLET

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

All warmth leaves your hand as at first a sheen of white frost covers it, then larger crystals of clear ice form around it.

In seconds a large bristling ball of rock-hard ice spikes surrounds your fist, a cold mist enshrouding your forearm.

You can attack with your fist in all respects as if you were wearing a +1 spiked gauntlet.

The +1 spiked gauntlet deals normal damage for your size and 1d4 points of cold damage.

Damage reduction applies to the ice gauntlet's normal damage, but it does not affect the cold damage.

If you fail a saving throw against a fire effect, the ice gauntlet melts and the spell ends.

INFERNAL THRENODY

Evocation [Evil, Sonic]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: 50 ft.

Area: 50-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You feel invigorated with dark power.

You can strike up a pulsing, powerful rhythm that temporarily boosts by 2 the effective caster level of each evil-aligned divine spellcaster within range.

This increase does not grant access to additional spells, but it does improve all spell effects that are dependent on caster level.

Within the spell's area, each evil-aligned divine spellcaster gains a +4 profane bonus on Charisma checks to rebuke undead, and each good-aligned divine spellcaster takes a -4 profane penalty on Charisma checks to turn undead.

INSTANT REFUGE

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Until discharged

You set invisible arcane triggers within your mind and body, allowing you to escape great peril in an instant.

This powerful variant of the contingency spell automatically transfers you and everything you carry or touch (except for other creatures or objects that weigh more than 50 pounds) to a locale you name.

When casting instant refuge, you must specify the locale and detail up to six specific conditions that trigger the spell.

When any of these situations occurs, you are whisked away to the location.

The location can be any place you have visited, even on another plane.

Material Component: A concoction made from demon skin and rare herbs worth 250 gp.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

INTERPLANAR MESSAGE

Evocation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: See text

Target: One creature

Duration: 24 hours/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Your spell creates a bond between yourself and the creature you touch, a bond unbroken even by the distance between planes.

This spell allows you to send a limited message of twenty-five words or less to the targeted creature, who can be on another plane when the message is received.

Casting the spell takes a standard action, during which you touch the creature you intend to communicate with.

That creature should be able to understand a language you know (otherwise, when the magic is activated, the creature knows that you sent the message, but has no idea what the message is).

At any time afterward, you can send your interplanar message to that creature.

The message pops into the target's mind, awake or asleep, and the target is aware that the message has been delivered.

If the message arrives when the target is asleep, it might appear as a vivid dream that the target remembers upon awakening.

This spell does not obligate nor force the creature you communicate with to act.

The target cannot reply to tell you its plans or intentions. The message travels through the Astral Plane to reach its target, so the spell cannot reach planes separate from (not coterminous to or coexistent with) the Astral Plane. You can have only one interplanar message active at any given time.

LAWFUL SWORD

Evocation

Level: Paladin 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Calling to mind thoughts of justice, you run your fingers along the weapon, imbuing it with power.

This spell functions like holy sword (PH 242), except as follows.

The weapon functions as a +5 axiomatic weapon (+5 enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls, lawful-aligned, deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against chaotic opponents).

It also emits a magic circle against chaos effect (as the spell).

LIGHT OF LUNIA

Evocation [Good, Light]

Level: Celestia 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target and Effect: You and up to two rays; see text

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D) or until discharged; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You invoke the powers of good and you begin to glow with the silver light of fabled Lunia, the first layer of the Seven Mounting Heavens of Celestia.

The silvery radiance created by this spell emanates from you in a 30-foot radius, and dim light extends for an additional 30 feet.

Beginning one turn after you cast this spell, you can choose to expend some or all of the light of Lunia as a ray of light. You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

You can make a single ranged touch attack that deals 1d6 points of damage, or 2d6 points of damage against undead or evil outsiders, with a range of 30 feet.

Spell resistance applies to this attack.

This dims your silvery radiance to half (15-foot light, with dim light for an additional 15 feet).

You can choose to fire one additional ray with the same characteristics either on the same round or on a subsequent round.

Firing the second ray quenches your radiance and ends the spell.

LIGHT OF MERCURIA

Evocation [Good, Light]

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

LIGHT OF VENYA

Evocation [Good, Light]

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

This spell functions like light of Lunia, except that a softy pearly radiance is created.

Your light rays deal 3d6 points of damage, or 6d6 points of damage against undead and evil outsiders.

LIGHTNING RING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Effect: Ring of electricity

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your body quakes as a ring of crackling electricity explodes from your chest to whirl about you.

The ring of electricity moves with you and does not interfere with your spellcasting or attacks, or with others attacking you.

As long as the lightning ring is in effect, you gain resistance to electricity 20.

At the beginning of your turn each round, adjacent creatures take 10d6 points of electricity damage, or half that with a successful Reflex save.

In addition, each round as a free action at the beginning of your turn, you can direct two lightning bolts that deal 5d6 points of electricity damage each, exactly as the lightning bolt spell (caster level 5th), in any directions you choose.

Each bolt can be aimed separately.

A creature struck by one of these bolts can make a Reflex save for half damage.

The DC for this save is calculated for an 8th-level spell, even though the bolts mimic a 3rd-level spell.

Material Components: A small glass ring and a bit of fur from any animal.

LION'S ROAR

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Cleric 8, Courage 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: 120-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous or 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial or Will negates (harmless); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes or Yes (harmless); see text

You open your mouth and emit a tremendous roar, a sound like a lion but as loud as a mountain falling.

All enemies within the spell's area take 1d8 points of sonic damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d8) and are stunned for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude save halves the damage and negates the stunning effect.

In addition, all allies within the spell's area gain a +1 morale bonus on attack rolls and saves against fear effects, plus temporary hit points equal to 1d8 + caster level (to a maximum of 1d8+20 temporary hit points at caster level 20th).

LUMINOUS GAZE

Evocation [Light]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

At the corners of your vision you see a brightly glowing light. Wherever you look, that area fills with light as bright as a torch. This spell causes your eyes to glow with an unearthly radiance.

The glow from your eyes provides light as per the light spell.

Each creature within a 20-foot radius of you is dazzled as long as they remain with range.

Sightless creatures are unaffected.

MANYJAWS

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One pair of disembodied, flying jaws per caster level (maximum ten pairs)

Duration: Concentration, up to 3 rounds

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You clamp your teeth together with the last gesture, and several disembodied jaws of blue force appear and float toward your foes, gnashing their teeth.

When you cast this spell, you summon several pairs of mystical, disembodied jaws that fly about and attack your foes.

These pairs of jaws can be commanded to attack separate targets, or multiple pairs can be sent to attack a single foe. The jaws originate at your location and fly out to attack their targets, moving at a fly speed of 40 feet with perfect maneuverability.

You can redirect as many of the jaws as you desire as a standard action.

Each round on your action, each pair of jaws automatically hits its target and deals 1d6 points of damage, or half that amount with a successful Reflex save.

A creature targeted by multiple pairs of jaws in a single round makes only one saving throw, with success halving the total damage.

Material Component: A pair of teeth.

MEMORY ROT

Evocation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You blow across your open palm at your opponent, and your breath coalesces into a cloud of glowing yellow spores that surround your foe's head, driving through its scalp into the brain beneath.

You create a cloud of spores that infests the brain of the subject creature, gradually destroying its mind.

The spores deal 1d6 points of Intelligence damage immediately.

The spores then gradually eat away at the subject's brain, dealing 1 point of Intelligence drain each round thereafter at the beginning of your turn.

The subject can attempt a Fortitude save each round to combat the effect of the spores.

A successful save ends the spores' advance and halts any further Intelligence drain.

MIASMA

Evocation

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 3 rounds/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hiss out a red mist that streaks toward your target despite prevailing winds and claws into his mouth and nose, choking him.

By filling the subject's mouth and throat with unbreathable gas, you prevent it from doing much more than coughing and spitting.

An affected creature cannot speak, cast spells with verbal components, use breath weapons, or utter command words to activate magic items, but it can otherwise act normally.

The subject can hold its breath for 2 rounds per point of Constitution but must make a Constitution check (DC 10 +1 per previous success) each round thereafter to continue doing so.

Failure on any such check (or voluntary resumption of breathing) causes the subject to fall unconscious (0 hp).

On the next round, the subject drops to -1 hit points and is dying; on the third round, it suffocates (DMG 304).

MOON BLADE

Evocation

Level: Moon 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: A swordlike beam

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A 3-foot-long blazing beam of moonlight springs forth from your hand.

You call a swordlike beam of moonlight into your hand. Anyone who can cast moon blade can wield the beam with proficiency.

However, if you are proficient with any type of sword, you can wield the beam as if it were any type of sword and thus gain the benefits of any special sword skill you might have, such as Weapon Focus.

Attacks with a moon blade are melee touch attacks.

Its strike saps vitality or life force, causing no visible wounds but dealing 1d8 points of damage +1 point per two caster levels (to a maximum of +10) to any type of creature except undead.

Undead are visibly wounded by a moon blade.

Their substance boils away from its touch, and they take 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (to a maximum of +20) per blow.

The blade is immaterial, and your Strength modifier does not apply to the damage.

A successful moon blade strike temporarily scrambles magic. On the target's next turn after a hit from a moon blade, the creature must make a Concentration check to use any spell or spell-like ability.

The DC is equal to 10 + damage dealt + spell level.

(An opponent hit by a moon blade while casting a spell must make the usual Concentration check to avoid losing the spell in addition to the check on its next turn).

Arcane Material Component: A small candy made with wintergreen oil.

MOON BOLT

Evocation

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Target: One living or undead creature, or two living or undead creatures that are no more than 15 ft. apart; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half (living target) or Will negates (undead target)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Picturing a full moon in your mind you call upon the cyclical energies of the celestial body.

You create a bolt of shimmering moonlight that streaks from your outstretched hand.

A moon bolt strikes unerringly against any living or undead creature in range.

A living creature struck by a moon bolt takes 1d4 points of Strength damage per three caster levels (maximum 5d4).

If the subject makes a successful Fortitude saving throw, the Strength damage is halved.

An undead creature struck by a moon bolt must make a Will save or fall helpless for 1d4 rounds, after which time it is no longer helpless and can stand upright, but it takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls and Will saving throws for the next minute.

MOON PATH

Evocation [Force]

Level: Moon 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A variable-width, glowing white stair or bridge of translucent force up to 15 ft./level long; see text

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

As you cast this spell, pure, pale moonlight shapes itself into a stair or bridge, as you desire.

Moon path allows you to create a stair or bridge from one spot to another.

The effect is a railless ribbon of glowing white translucent force like a glass strip.

The strip can be from 3 to 20 feet wide as you decide.

(You can vary the width over the ribbon's length if you want).

It sticks to its endpoints unshakably, even if these endpoints are in midair.

At the time of casting, you designate up to one creature per caster level to receive extra protection while standing on or moving along the moon path.

Protected creatures gain the benefit of a sanctuary effect.

This functions like the 1st-level spell sanctuary except that the save DC is 15 + your Wis modifier, and any subject of the spell who attacks breaks the sanctuary effect for all subjects.

Protected creatures also stick to the top of the moon path as though they have received spider climb spells.

A creature loses both benefits immediately when it leaves the path.

Unlike a wall of force, a moon path can be dispelled.

It is otherwise similar to a wall of force in that it needs no supports and it is immune to damage of all kinds.

A disintegrate spell blasts a hole in the path 10 feet square, leaving the rest of the path intact.

(If the moon path is 10 feet wide or less, this merely creates a 10-foot gap).

A hit from a rod of cancellation, a sphere of annihilation, or Mordenkainen's disjunction destroys a moon path.

Spells and breath weapons cannot pass through a moon path, although dimension door, teleport, and similar effects can bypass the barrier.

It blocks ethereal creatures as well as material creatures.

Gaze attacks cannot operate through a moon path.

A moon path must be straight, continuous, and unbroken when formed.

If its surface would be interrupted by any object or creature, the spell fails.

The bridge version of the spell must be created flat.

The stair version cannot rise or descend any more sharply than 45 degrees.

Arcane Material Component: A white handkerchief.

MOONBEAM

Evocation [Light]

Level: Moon 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

As you complete this spell, a swath of pale moonlight springs from your hand.

On your turn each round, you can change the direction the cone of light points.

Light from a moonbeam spell does not adversely affect creatures that are sensitive to light, but lycanthropes in humanoid form caught in the cone must make a Will save to avoid involuntarily assuming their animal forms.

A lycanthrope in animal form can change out of it on the creature's next turn (spending a round in animal form).

However, if it is still in the area of the spell, it must succeed on a Will save to do so.

Once a lycanthrope successfully saves against moonbeam, it is not affected by any more of your moonbeam spells for 24 hours.

Moonbeam penetrates any darkness spell of equal or lower level, but does not counter or dispel it.

Darkness spells of higher level block a moonbeam.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of white powder.

MOONBOW

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 1d4 motes of electricity

Duration: Instantaneous or up to 4 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sparks flit among your fingers as you call electricity from the surrounding air.

This spell conjures three glowing motes of electricity.

You direct any number of the motes to fly off and strike targets within the spell's range.

Multiple motes can be fired at the same target, or each can be sent against a separate target.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with a mote to strike a target.

Any creature struck by a mote takes 1d6 points of electricity damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6).

If you do not immediately fire all the motes created by the spell, you can choose to fire as many of the remaining ones as you wish as a standard action during the next round.

If a round passes in which you do not fire one of your motes, the spell ends and all remaining motes vanish.

Material Component: A small piece of moonstone.

MOONFIRE

Evocation [Light]

Level: Moon 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst and cone-shaped emanation; see text

Duration: Instantaneous and 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Reflex half and Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A cone of fiery white moonlight springs from your hand.

Living creatures in the area of a moonfire spell feel an unnatural chill and take 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d8).

Undead and shapechangers take 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d8).

This application of the spell allows a Reflex save for half damage.

All magical auras within the cone glow with a faint blue light for 1 round per caster level.

Disguised, shapechanged, or polymorphed creatures and objects in the spell's area at the time the spell is cast must make Will saves or immediately return to their normal forms.

Even if the save succeeds, they remain covered in ghostly white outlines that show their true forms for 1 round per caster level.

The entire area covered by the cone glows silver-white for 1 round per caster level.

This radiance is as bright as the light of a full moon and negates electricity damage for 1 round per caster level unless the item or creature generating the electricity effect makes a caster level check (1d20 + item's caster level or creature's caster level) against a DC equal to 10 + your caster level.

If an electricity effect is generated outside the glowing cone, the cone blocks the electricity effect unless the creature generating the effect succeeds on a caster level check.

If an electricity effect is generated inside the glowing cone, the cone negates the electricity effect unless the creature generating the effect succeeds on a caster level check.

NATURE'S FAVOR

Evocation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Animal touched

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Rubbing the animal's side, you whisper the final bit of the spell's ritual.

The animal glances at you before turning its attention to your foes, bristling as it does so.

You grant the subject animal a +1 luck bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls for every three caster levels you possess (maximum +5).

NIMBUS OF LIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Cleric 1, Purification 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level or until discharged (D)

A glittering corona of sunlight surrounds your body at a few inches distance—until you release it as a focused blast of divine energy.

The nimbus of light around you glows like a lantern, providing bright illumination in a 30-foot radius (and shadowy illumination for an additional 30 feet) from you.

As a move action, you can coalesce the energy from a nimbus of light around your outstretched arm, and then as a standard action fling it toward a foe within 30 feet.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the energy to strike a target.

A nimbus of light deals 1d8 points of damage +1 point per round that has elapsed since you cast the spell (maximum 1d8 + caster level).

Attacking with a nimbus of light ends the spell, whether your ranged touch attack is successful or not.

PERSISTENT BLADE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One dagger made of force

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold a dagger in your hand and concentrate on it, evoking the power of the spell.

A duplicate of the dagger, made of translucent force, appears besides it and flies off at your command.

You bring into being a tiny blade of force.

The blade flies at a speed of 40 feet (perfect) and attacks any target within its range, as you desire, starting in the round when you cast the spell.

The blade attacks on your turn once each round, striking with an attack bonus equal to your base attack bonus + 1/2 your Cha modifier or Int modifier (for sorcerers and wizards, respectively) and deals 1d4 points of damage, with a critical threat range of 19–20.

If an ally also attacks the creature, the blade moves on your turn to flank the target.

As a force effect, it can strike ethereal and incorporeal creatures.

The blade cannot be attacked.

Each round after the first, you can use a standard action to switch the blade to a new target; otherwise, it continues to attack the same target.

If an attacked creature has spell resistance, the resistance is checked the first time the persistent blade strikes.

If the blade is successfully resisted, the spell is dispelled.

If not, the blade has its normal full effect on that creature for the duration of the spell.

Focus: A silvered dagger.

PRISMATIC EYE

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Magical eye

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a popping sound, a moist, apple-sized eye with a rainbow-hued iris appears and sends a beam of colored light at the foe you designate.

You create a visible orb that can produce ray effects duplicating the beams of a prismatic spray spell (PH 264).

You can move the eye up to your speed as a move action, but it cannot go beyond the spell's range.

Starting in the round the eye appears, you can command it to fire a ray (50-foot range) as a free action once per round.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with a ray to strike a target, but each ray uses a +6 bonus on attack rolls instead of your ranged attack bonus.

A target struck by a ray suffers the effect of one beam of a prismatic spray spell (roll 1d8 to determine the effect, rerolling any result of 8), except that the save DC (if applicable) is 19.

After a particular color of ray has been used, it is no longer available to the eye, and die rolls that indicate the same color are rerolled.

Once all seven rays have been fired, the eye remains until the spell's duration expires.

You can still move it, but it can fire no more rays.

The eye is a Fine object with AC 18 (+8 size) and 9 hit points.

It uses your save bonuses for saving throws.

Focus: A polished, rainbow-hued abalone shell.

PRISMATIC RAY

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You feel within you, as the spell nears completion, various energies locked in a battle within your body.

As nausea threatens to overcome you, you croak out the final syllables of arcane power and point your hand.

A single beam of brilliantly colored light then shoots from your outstretched hand.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

On a successful attack, a creature with 6 Hit Dice or fewer is blinded for 2d4 rounds by the prismatic ray in addition to suffering a randomly determined effect:

	Color of
1d8	Beam	Effect$
1	Red	20 points fire damage (Reflex half)
2	Orange	40 points acid damage (Reflex half)
3	Yellow	80 points electricity damage (Reflex half)
4	Green	Poison (Kills; Fortitude partial, take 1d6 Con damage instead)
5	Blue	Turned to stone (Fortitude negates)
6	Indigo	Insane, as insanity spell (Will negates)
7	Violet	Sent to another plane (Will negates)
8	—	Two effects; roll twice more, ignoring any "8" results

RADIANT ASSAULT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

With outstretched hand, you gesture toward the area where the spell will come into effect.

An instant later a blast of multicolored light fills that area.

This spell releases energy in the form of a multitude of rainbow-colored beams that erupt in every direction within the area designated by you.

This kaleidoscopic burst of energy deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), and all creatures within the burst are dazed for 1d6 rounds.

Those that succeed on a Will save take only half normal damage and are dazzled for 1d6 rounds instead.

Sightless creatures are unaffected by this spell.

Focus: An eye from any outsider that has 4 or more Hit Dice.

RAINBOW BEAM

Evocation [Light]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You fire a ray of swirling, multihued light drawn from radiant energies.

The light's hues wind together but remain independent.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If you hit, the subject is dazzled for 1 minute.

The spell also deals 1d12 points of damage per three caster levels (maximum 5d12).

A rainbow beam deals a random type of damage as determined by the following table.

If two types of energy are indicated, rainbow beam deals half its damage from each type of energy indicated.

Creatures apply energy resistance separately to each type of damage.

1d8	Color	Damage Type
1	red	fire
2	orange	acid
3	yellow	electricity
4	green	poison
5	blue	cold
6	indigo	sonic
7	violet	force
8	multihued	roll twice (ignore further results of 8)

Focus: A small clear gem or crystal prism worth at least 10 gp.

RAINBOW BLAST

Evocation [Light]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 120 ft.

Area: 120-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

From your splayed fingers shoots a beam of mixed energy and multihued lights.

The beam burns and freezes, sizzles and screams.

This spell is a wide-spectrum blast of radiant energy composed of all five energy types.

Rainbow blast deals 1d6 points of damage from each of the five energy types (acid, cold, electricity, fire, and sonic), for a total of 5d6 points of damage.

Creatures apply resistance to energy separately for each type of damage.

As you gain in levels, the damage die increases in size.

At 7th level the spell deals 5d8 points of damage, at 9th level it deals 5d10 points of damage, and at 11th level it deals 5d12 points of damage—one die for each of the five energy types.

Focus: A small clear gem or crystal prism worth at least 50 gp.

RAY OF FLAME

Evocation [Flame]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A burning ray shoots out at the target from your upturned palm.

The sound of a crackling fire follows the ray's path.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If your attack is successful, the ray deals 1d6 points of fire damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

The target must also make a Reflex save or catch fire, taking 1d6 points of fire damage each round until the flames are put out (requiring a DC 15 Reflex save; see Catching on Fire, DMG 303).

Focus: A small, polished glass lens.

RAY OF ICE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

A cyan ray beams from your fingertips.

You shudder with cold as the ray leaves your hand.

You launch a ray of numbing cold at your enemy.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If successful, the ray deals 1d6 points of cold damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6).

The target must also make a Reflex save or be frozen to the ground with its feet encased in ice.

A frozen creature cannot move, receives no Dexterity bonus to AC, and incurs a -2 penalty on attack rolls.

A frozen creature can free itself with a DC 18 Strength check or by dealing 15 points of damage to the ice.

Material Component: Ice or a vial of melted mountain snow.

RAY OF LIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Bard 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your palm emits a ray of light.

The ray gives off a soft, continuous glow. You direct a short ray at the eyes of a target. You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target. With a successful ranged touch attack, the subject is blinded for 1d4 rounds.

REALITY MAELSTROM

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space, and 40-ft.-radius emanation centered on the same point; see text

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates, Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A lightning strike and a tearing sound as loud as thunder fills the area as a hole in space opens.

Wind rushes into the void, and objects nearby lift into the air as everything is drawn inexorably toward the rip in reality.

You tear a temporary hole in reality itself that sucks all loose material and living creatures into it, sending them to a random plane (see sidebar).

RANDOM PLANAR DESTINATIONS

Spells such as prismatic spray, reality maelstrom, and scramble portal, and items such as an amulet of the planes and a staff of power can send an individual to a random plane. The list of available planes varies according to the cosmology you've chosen. An example using the D&D cosmology is presented in the next column.

Transitive Planes such as the Ethereal Plane, the Astral Plane, and the Plane of Shadow should not be considered for such random destinations.

The layer and exact location on the particular plane is up to the DM. Transportation to a random plane does not guarantee survival there, and individuals who risk such effects should be aware of the dangers.

If an individual is someplace other than the Material Plane when randomly switching planes, simply replace the plane of origin's entry on the table with the Material Plane. Thus, a staff of power broken on the Elemental Plane of Fire sends the wielder to the Material Plane if a 91 is rolled.

RED TIDE

Evocation [Water]

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Everything sucked into the reality maelstrom goes to the same plane.

Reality maelstrom has a primary area and a secondary area. The primary area is the hole itself: a sphere with a 20-foot radius centered on the spell's point of origin.

Within that area, all unattended objects weighing 100 pounds or less are sucked into the maelstrom, as are all individuals who fail a Will saving throw.

The rip also creates a windstorm of air that affects objects and creatures in the secondary area of the spell.

The secondary area is all the space farther than 20 feet from the spell's point of origin but not farther than 40 feet away. All unattended objects within the secondary area that weigh 50 pounds or less are drawn into the primary area of the maelstrom.

Individuals within the secondary area must make a Reflex saving throw.

Those who fail are sucked into the primary area and must then make a Will saving throw to avoid being drawn into the maelstrom.

Individuals who succeed on either saving throw can move and attack as normal.

A reality maelstrom is a one-way portal, so nothing ever emerges from the hole the spell makes.

Material Component: A golden hoop no less than 1 inch across.

94–95	Elemental Plane of Air
96–97	Elemental Plane of Water
98	Positive Energy Plane
99	Negative Energy Plane
100	Demiplane of DM's choice

As you complete the spell, a surging, frothing wave of thick, red seawater washes over everything in the area.

All creatures in the area of a red tide spell are immediately knocked prone and must make a Fortitude saving throw. A creature that makes its Fortitude save against a red tide is sickened for 1 minute.

A creature that fails this saving throw is nauseated for 1 minute, and it takes 2d6 points of Strength damage.

After 1 minute, the nausea ends but the creature must make a second Fortitude saving throw or take an additional 2d6 points of Strength damage.

Creatures that are immune to poison are immune to these effects of a red tide.

Creatures with the fire subtype take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), or half with a successful Reflex save.

The tainted water evoked by this spell vanishes almost immediately, and any objects or creatures in the area do not emerge wet.

RESONATING BOLT

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: 60-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your quick movements and rapid utterances release the spell's energy, culminating in a final cry that unleashes a tremendous bolt of sonic energy from your open hand.

The bolt of sonic energy deals 1d4 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 10d4) to each creature within its area.

In addition, a resonating bolt deals full damage to objects and can easily shatter or break interposing barriers.

If the bolt destroys a barrier, it can continue beyond the barrier if its range permits; otherwise, it stops.

It flies from your fingers, trailing a smell of ozone, and grows into a ball of multicolored sparks that detonate in a burst of spherical lightning.

A scintillating sphere is a massive electrical discharge that deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) to every creature and unattended object within the area.

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Light flashes bright and white for an instant in the area of this spell, dispersing portals to the Plane of Shadow and stunning the unnatural creatures that fear the light.

Natives of the Plane of Shadow caught in a shadowblast are stunned for 1d6 rounds if they fail a Fortitude saving throw. Shadow natives that are also undead or vulnerable to light take an additional 2d10 points of damage if they fail a second Fortitude save.

Creatures that fail either Fortitude save cannot use spell-like or supernatural abilities to open any portal to the Plane of Shadow for 3d6 minutes.

Shadowblast closes all portals, gates, and other openings to the Plane of Shadow in its area.

Creatures on the other side of a portal are unaffected by shadowblast.

Material Component: A handful of grave dirt, squeezed tightly and flung.

SHARD STORM

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One or more 20-ft.-radius bursts of piercing force

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Tossing the shard from your grasp, you complete the spell.

An instant later, translucent shards of arcane energy blast the area you designated.

In addition to deadly shards, the area fills with the chiming sound of shattering glass.

Immediately upon completion of this spell, and once per round thereafter, you can cause minuscule shards of magical force to explode out in a 20-foot-radius burst from the point of origin.

The storm deals 3d6 points of force damage to all creatures within the radius.

A successful Reflex save halves the damage.

Each round at the beginning of your turn, creatures in the area take an additional 3d6 points of force damage.

You can use a free action to suppress the storm for that round.

Material Component: A small shard of clear glass or crystal.

SHATTERFLOOR

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You strike the bell with the hammer and evoke a loud thrumming vibration.

It quickly builds to a painful crescendo, then fades.

In its wake it leaves a circle of crushed stone and rubble.

Creatures and objects in the area take 1d4 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 10d4), and can make a saving throw to take half damage.

If the floor of the area is made of stone, wood, ice, or material with hardness less than those, the floor is pulverized, resulting in an area of difficult terrain composed of soft dust, wood fragments, or loose crushed ice, as appropriate.

Focus: A miniature hammer and bell worth at least 10 gp.

SHROUD OF FLAME

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You snap your fingers, and a small explosion of black smoke results.

Nearby, one of your foes bursts into flames.

This spell causes a creature to take 2d6 points of fire damage in each round of the spell's duration.

The shroud of flame around the creature sheds bright illumination out to 40 feet and negates any concealment the creature might have.

Immersing the subject creature in a nonflammable liquid ends the spell.

Material Component: A pinch of saltpeter, a small piece of phosphorus, and a scrap of lace cloth or a spiderweb.

SIRINE'S GRACE

Evocation

Level: Bard 4, druid 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Upon completion of this spell, you are infused with unearthly grace and confidence.

For the duration of this spell, you gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Charisma and Dexterity, a deflection bonus to AC equal to your Charisma modifier, and a +8 bonus on Perform checks.

You also gain a swim speed of 60 feet and the ability to breathe water.

You can move and attack normally while underwater, even with slashing or bludgeoning weapons.

Material Component: A shard of mirror.

SLAPPING HAND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One Tiny hand

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You complete the spell and blow into the leather glove.

Immediately a blue-white, translucent hand appears next to the enemy and smacks it across the side of the head—not enough to hurt it, but hard enough to give others nearby a chance to attack.

This spell distracts the subject, causing it to immediately provoke attacks of opportunity from creatures threatening its space.

The spell allows no saving throw, but a slapped creature can negate the effect with a DC 20 Concentration check.

Focus: A leather glove.

SLASHING DARKNESS

Evocation

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You complete this spell and a hissing, hurtling ribbon of pure darkness flies from your hand.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A creature struck by this ray of negative energy takes 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8).

An undead creature instead heals 1d8 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d8).

SNOWBALL SWARM

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you cast this spell, those around you sense an unnatural chill. This vanishes, though, as you release a burst of frost-filled power in the midst of your foes.

A flurry of magic snowballs erupts from a point you select. The swarm of snowballs deals 2d6 points of cold damage to creatures and objects within the burst.

For every two caster levels beyond 3rd, the snowballs deal an extra 1d6 points of damage, to a maximum of 5d6 at 9th level or higher.

Material Component: A piece of ice or a small white rock chip.

SONIC BLAST

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

The words of your spell twist upon each other and grow stronger. Then, like a cluster of bees, they streak toward your target and detonate in a screaming bellow around him.

You blast the target with loud and high-pitched sounds. The subject takes 1d4 points of sonic damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d4) and must make a Will save or be deafened for 1d4 rounds.

This spell has no effect if cast into the area of a silence spell.

SONIC RUMBLE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your final words of the spell become a deep, rumbling hum, as loud as the din of a battlefield, and they blast outward from you in a cone.

You create a cone of powerful sound.

If used to attack, the cone deals 1d6 points of sonic damage per two levels (maximum 10d6) each round a creature is within the area; a successful Reflex save reduces this damage by half.

Targets within the area of a silence spell are immune.

Focus: A hollow cone of brass and gold worth 50 gp.

SONIC SNAP

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bark the last word of the spell, and that word takes life, streaking toward your target and exploding in a shout.

You create a brief but loud noise adjacent to the target.

The subject takes 1 point of sonic damage and must succeed on a Will saving throw or be deafened for 1 round.

This spell has no effect if cast into the area of a silence spell.

SONIC WHIP

Evocation [Sonic, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: A whip of force

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

As you make a cracking sound and hold out your hand, the small silk whip within your grasp dissipates and a life-sized whip of hissing blue force appears in your grasp.

With expert precision, you manage to make the invisible whip in your hand crack.

This spell creates a whip of sonic energy that you wield as if you had proficiency with it.

Simply cracking a sonic whip as a free action keeps normal animals (but not dire animals, magical beasts, or vermin) at bay unless they succeed on a Will save.

Affected animals stay at least 30 feet away from you for the duration of the spell, as space permits.

On a successful ranged attack with the whip, any normal animal you strike must succeed on a Will save or become frightened.

Against other creature types, you can use a sonic whip in combat as if it were a normal whip.

Material Component: A miniature silk whip.

SONOROUS HUM

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 2, cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You finish casting this spell, and the area around you is abuzz with a low, droning hum that improves your concentration.

After you cast this spell, the next spell you cast within the duration that requires concentration to maintain is maintained for you until the sonorous hum spell expires. This effect allows you to cast other spells, even another spell that also requires concentration.

If the spell maintained by the sonorous hum has a shorter duration than that of this spell, the maintained spell expires as it normally would, and you gain no further benefits from this casting of sonorous hum.

The sound created by the spell is as loud as a person in armor walking at a slow pace trying not to make noise (normally a DC 5 Listen check to detect).

You can end the spell as a free action.

For example, you could cast this spell, then cast detect thoughts, and this spell maintains the concentration on detect thoughts while you cast discern lies and maintain concentration on that spell yourself.

You control all aspects of both spells, so you could change the orientation of the detect thoughts effect and select a different target for your discern lies spell in the same round.

If you take damage, you must still make a Concentration check to maintain the spell.

SOUND LANCE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature or object

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You unleash a shrill, piercing cry at your target, which takes the barely visible form of a translucent lance hurtling through the air. This spell causes a projectile of intense sonic energy to leap from you to a target within range.

The sound deals 1d8 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

A sound lance cannot penetrate the area of a silence spell.

SPIRITJAWS

Evocation [Force]

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Jaws of force

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You call upon the power of the dinosaurs to complete the spell. A set of ghostly dinosaur jaws comes into being and attacks the creature you designate.

This spell creates a set of powerful jaws of force.

The jaws attempt to grapple the designated opponent, starting with one attack in the round the spell is cast and continuing each round thereafter.

The spiritjaws use your base attack bonus (possibly allowing it multiple attacks per round in subsequent rounds) + your Wis modifier as its attack bonus.

If an initial attack hits, the spiritjaws deal 2d6 points of damage and attempt to start a grapple as a free action.

The jaws' bonus on grapple checks is equal to their attack bonus + 4.

Once the opponent is grappled, the jaws deal 2d6 points of damage with each subsequent grapple check.

The target is considered to be grappling and cannot move.

The target creature no longer threatens squares and loses its Dexterity bonus to AC against opponents not grappling it.

The set of jaws always strikes from your direction.

It does not get a bonus for flanking or help a combatant get one.

Your feats do not affect the jaws.

If the jaws move beyond the range of the spell, they vanish. Attacking the set of jaws has no effect.

As a magical force effect, the jaws cannot be damaged, but disintegrate or a sphere of annihilation destroys the effect.

The grappled opponent can cast a spell only if the spell has no somatic component, the material components are in hand, and a Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) is made.

A creature grappled by the set of jaws can attempt to escape by succeeding on a grapple check against the jaws or by making a successful Escape Artist check as a standard action opposed by the set of jaws' grapple check.

As a free action, you can direct the jaws to pin a grappled opponent instead of dealing damage with a grapple check. If the jaws win the opposed grapple check, the opponent is pinned.

A pinned opponent is held immobile and must break the pin before it can escape the grapple.

Creatures other than those grappling the pinned target gain a +4 bonus on attack rolls to hit it.

If the jaws have multiple attacks (granted by your attack bonus), you can use them to cause damage to a pinned target or to make more grapple attempts against that target.

If you become unable to command the jaws, they vanish.

Material Component: A piece of bone from a dinosaur's jaw.

STALWART PACT

Evocation

Level: Cleric 5, Pact 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: Permanent until triggered, then 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your ally and empower him with a spell that will later take effect in dire need.

Once this spell is cast, it remains dormant until the subject is reduced to half or less of its full normal hit points.

Once the subject has taken enough damage to reduce it to half or lower hit points, it immediately gains 5 temporary hit points per two caster levels (maximum 35 hit points at 14th level), damage reduction 5/magic, and a +2 luck bonus on saving throws.

The hit points, damage reduction, and saving throw bonus disappear when the spell ends.

Material Component: Incense worth 250 gp.

STONE SHATTER

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./level)

Target: One stone object or creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You call up energies from deep within you and utter a perfect note. The stone rocks as it is struck, and cracks appear in its form.

You aim a single note of perfect pitch toward an unattended stone object weighing no more than 2 pounds per caster level, or toward a stone creature, causing it to shatter.

A stone object is destroyed, whereas a stone creature (of any weight) takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), with a Fortitude save for half damage.

STONE SPHERE

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One 5-ft.-diameter stone sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You toss the marble in the air, and it vanishes as you speak the words of the spell.

A larger version of the marble, five feet across, appears in the hallway and bears down on your foe.

You create a smoothly polished, 5-foot-diameter sphere of stone that moves under your control at a speed of 30 feet.

A stone sphere has AC 5, hardness 8, and 500 hit points.

In the round when you cast the spell, the stone sphere appears at the spot you designate within the spell's range, and you can direct its movement as a free action.

In subsequent rounds, you must actively direct the stone sphere in order to move it; otherwise, it remains motionless. Directing the movement of a stone sphere in any round after its initial appearance requires a move action.

If you move a stone sphere into a square occupied by an enemy, it stops moving and deals 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6) to every creature in that square.

A successful Reflex save negates the damage.

Material Component: A smooth sphere of marble 1 inch in diameter.

SUBMERGE SHIP

Evocation [Water]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Ship touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Holding forth a miniature rudder, you touch the target ship.

Immediately you feel connected to it, knowing the intricate details of its construction.

You sense an invisible aura surrounding the ship and permeating its every space.

Although it seems to be riding lower in the water than its weight would suggest, you instinctively know that you can control its every movement.

You grant the ship touched a swim speed of 60 feet and the ability to move beneath the surface of the water.

You can control the ship's speed and direction as a free action.

All interior spaces of the ship remain dry even if a doorway or porthole is open while the ship is underwater.

Any creature aboard the ship when the spell is cast can move about the ship with ease (including climbing and jumping) as if it were afloat on a calm sea.

Such creatures can breathe water for the duration of the spell as long as they remain within 10 feet of the ship.

External forces, such as a storm or an angry dragon, can still jostle the ship and cause it to shake and possibly knock passengers and objects from it, but nothing falls from the ship as a result of your direction of its movement.

You can transfer control of the ship to another individual by giving that individual the miniature rudder you used as a focus to cast the spell.

If the focus is ever lost or becomes unattended, the spell's duration expires.

Once the spell ends (either because the duration expired, the focus was lost or became unattended, or the magic was successfully dispelled), the magic lingers for 1 additional round per caster level.

During this time, the ship ascends toward the water's surface at a rate of 60 feet per round.

If the ship is still underwater when this additional time runs out, it immediately sinks, and its passengers risk drowning.

Focus: A miniature wooden rudder inlaid with silver, worth 2,500 gp.

SWORD OF DECEPTION

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Pale green blade of force

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Swinging a miniature replica of a sword as if it were real, you bring into being a full-sized representation of your replica made entirely of pale green force.

The blade immediately attacks your enemy.

You cause a blade of pale green force to appear and strike the opponent you designate, starting with one attack in the round when the spell is cast and continuing each round thereafter.

Though it makes regular melee attacks, the sword strikes as a spell, not a weapon (and so can strike incorporeal creatures).

A sword of deception always strikes from your direction, and so it can't be used to flank with your attacks, but it could flank with your allies.

The blade attacks with a base attack bonus equal to your caster level, dealing 1d8 points of damage per hit and threatening a critical hit on a roll of 19–20.

In addition, each successful hit provides a –2 penalty on the target's next saving throw roll (–4 on a successful critical hit).

This penalty is cumulative (to a maximum of –5 on a single creature) and lasts until the creature is forced to make a saving throw in a dangerous situation or receives the benefit of a remove curse spell.

Each round, a sword of deception continues to attack the previous round's target unless you use a standard action to switch it to a new target within range.

In any round when the weapon switches targets, it gets one attack as a standard action (as it does in the round when the spell is cast).

The weapon can make multiple attack rolls against a single target with a full attack action if its base attack bonus permits.

A sword of deception cannot be attacked or damaged (though it can be dispelled as any other spell).

If an attacked creature has spell resistance, make a caster level check the first time the sword attacks.

If the check is successful, the sword can attack that creature with normal effect for the duration of the spell.

If not, the sword of deception is dispelled.

If the target goes beyond the spell range or out of your sight, the sword of deception returns to you and hovers.

Focus: A miniature replica of a sword and a set of loaded dice.

THUNDERHEAD

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Black mist forms near the ground and sweeps upward to join a small cloud forming above the creature you designate as your target.

Miniature peals of thunder erupt from the cloud.

Thunderhead creates a small thundercloud over the subject's head.

The cloud moves with the subject, following it unerringly even if he becomes invisible or leaves the region.

In every round of the spell's duration, a miniature bolt of lightning leaps from the thundercloud to strike the subject. Each bolt deals 1 point of electricity damage that is negated by a successful Reflex save.

Material Component: A small piece of copper wire.

THUNDERLANCE

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: A spearlike beam

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A faint gray shimmering force in the general shape of a staff or spear springs from your hand.

When you cast this spell, you create a deadly lance of force.

You can freely make a thunderlance retract or grow to any length from 1 foot to 20 feet, but it always remains a straight lance of force.

This effect gives you a natural reach of 20 feet.

You can use a thunderlance to make powerful melee attacks.

You can wield a thunderlance in one or two hands, dealing a base 3d6 points of damage (crit 20/?3).

Instead of using your Strength modifier, you use the higher of your Intelligence modifier or Charisma modifier as a bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls.

If you successfully strike a target protected by any force effect of 3rd level or lower, such as a shield or mage armor spell, the thunderlance might dispel the force effect in addition to damaging the target.

Make a dispel check against the level of the caster who created the effect.

If you succeed, the effect is dispelled.

The thunderlance remains whether you succeed or fail on this check.

Material Component: A small metal spear.

THUNDEROUS ROAR

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the lost voices of dead creatures, you cause the targeted area to become filled with the enraged roaring of a thousand dinosaurs.

The ground beneath the area shakes with the sound.

The resulting blast of sound from the casting of thunderous roar can be heard for miles, but the spell affects only those in its area.

All creatures in the affected area take 1d6 points of sonic damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6). A successful Fortitude saving throw halves the damage. Additionally, any creature that takes damage from this spell must make a Reflex saving throw or be knocked prone from the force of the roar. Crystalline creatures take 1d6 points of sonic damage per caster level (maximum 10d6).

TIDAL SURGE

Evocation [Water]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature or all creatures in a 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

An explosion of water rushes out from the point you designate, bowling over your enemies.

When you cast this spell, you create a huge wave of water that slams into one or more targets within range.

If no large, natural source of water (a river, lake, or ocean) exists within the spell's range, you can affect only one target.

If such a source of water exists within the range of the spell, the spell creates a burst centered on a location you designate.

In either case, the water deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) to the target or to creatures within the burst.

In addition, all affected creatures are subjected to a bull rush attack, forcing them to make opposed Strength checks against the wave of water.

The water has a +5 bonus on the opposed Strength check, or a +10 bonus if the spell is cast near a source of water.

You designate the direction the wave pushes when you cast the spell; creatures that lose the opposed Strength check are pushed back 5 feet, plus an additional 5 feet for every 5 points by which the wave beats their Strength checks, in the chosen direction.

It is possible for a wave arising from a body of water to push characters into the water.

The wave puts out torches, campfires, exposed lanterns, and other open flames if they are carried by the target or located within the area and they are Large or smaller.

If the wave hits a magical fire, those flames are targeted by a dispel magic effect as if you had cast the spell.

TREMOR

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/3 levels

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

When you cast this spell, a small, localized tremor shakes the ground in the area.

Debris and loose debris rattle with the small quake, and creatures caught in the area stumble and fall.

This minor quake is not strong enough to damage structures.

The effect lasts for 1 round per three caster levels, during which time any spellcaster on the ground in the area must succeed on a Concentration check (DC 15 + spell level) or lose any spell she is casting.

A creature attempting to use a skill that would provoke attacks of opportunity (such as Disable Device, Heal, Open Lock, and Use Rope, among others) must succeed on a DC 15 Concentration check, or the action automatically fails and is wasted.

Each creature in the area must make a Reflex save each round or be knocked prone.

VEIL OF SHADOW

Evocation [Darkness]

Level: Assassin 2, blackguard 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You speak the words of this spell, and tendrils of purple darkness rise from the ground, surrounding you and concealing you from your foes.

Swirling wisps of darkness obscure your form, granting you concealment.

The 20% miss chance is in effect even if the attacker has darkvision.

This spell effect is dispelled in daylight or in the area of a light spell of 3rd level or higher.

See invisibility does not counter a veil of shadow's concealment effect, but a true seeing spell does.

VORTEX OF TEETH

Evocation [Force]

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Hollow cylinder (40-ft. radius, 20 ft. high, with a 5-ft.-radius safe zone at the center)

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A huge school of transparent piranhas swims rapidly through the air in the area you indicate.

These magic fish are made of force and tear into the bodies of creatures as though ravenous.

Creatures in the area take 3d8 points of damage per round at the beginning of your turn.

Because this spell is a force effect, it harms incorporeal creatures.

Material Component: A fish tooth.

WALL OF LIGHT

Evocation [Light]

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 5 ft./2 levels

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

A blinding flash accompanies the completion of this spell as a wall of pure light springs into being.

This spell causes a wall of dazzling yellow-white light to come into being at any point within range.

The wall is opaque to all other creatures, though you can see through it without difficulty.

A wall of light has no physical substance and does not otherwise hinder attacks, movement, or spells passing through it, although it blocks line of sight for other creatures.

A creature that passes through a wall of light becomes dazzled for the duration of the spell.

Spell resistance applies when passing through the wall. Sightless creatures and those already dazzled are not affected by passing through a wall of light.

A wall of light sheds light equivalent to a daylight spell.

Wall of light counters or dispels any darkness spell of equal or lower level.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered sunstone.

WALL OF LIMBS

Evocation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A wall of whirling limbs up to 20 ft. long/level, or a ring of whirling limbs with a radius of up to 5 ft./2 levels, either form 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

By flexing your arm and speaking the repetitive words of power, you unleash the spell.

In the distance, the ground is covered in a writhing mass.

As you watch, over the course of a few seconds, the writhing mass rises up and forms a wall of thousands of wriggling arms resembling your own.

An immobile, vertical curtain of whirling limbs springs into existence.

The limbs resemble your own forelimbs.

A creature attempting to move through the wall takes 5d6 points of damage and must succeed on a DC 18 Strength check or become stuck within the wall and unable to move (a charging creature gains a +2 bonus on the Strength check).

The creature takes 5d6 points of damage each round at the beginning of your turn until freed.

A creature can free itself with a DC 18 Strength check, or by dealing 30 points of damage to a 5-foot section of wall.

A creature that starts its turn next to a wall of limbs must succeed on a DC 18 Strength check or be grabbed by the flailing arms and become stuck, as above.

If you evoke the wall so that it appears where creatures are, each creature takes damage as if passing through the wall. Each such creature can avoid the wall (ending up on the side of its choice) and thus take no damage by making a successful Reflex save.

A wall of limbs provides cover against attacks made through it.

WHIRLWIND, GREATER

Evocation [Air]

Level: Druid 9, Windstorm 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 20-ft.-radius tornado, up to 5 ft./level high, centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Wind whips into a frenzy and becomes a tornado that wreaks destruction as you direct, flinging your foes into the air and destroying nearby structures.

This spell is a more potent version of whirlwind (PH 301).

A greater whirlwind affects creatures differently, depending on their size and where they are in relation to the twister.

Near the Tornado: Large or smaller creatures who start their turn within 60 feet of the center of a greater whirlwind must succeed on a Fortitude save or be dragged 1d4?10 feet toward the center of the twister, taking 1d4 points of nonlethal damage per 10 feet dragged.

Huge creatures within 40 feet of the twister must succeed on a Fortitude save or be knocked prone.

Gargantuan and Colossal creatures within 40 feet of the twister must succeed on a Fortitude save before moving away from the twister.

Flying creatures of Huge size or smaller that fail their Fortitude saves are sucked to the center of the twister, taking 2d6 points of damage from the battering and buffeting.

Gargantuan flying creatures must succeed on a Fortitude save or be pulled 1d6?10 feet toward the center of the twister.

Colossal flyers must likewise make Fortitude saves or be pulled 1d6?5 feet toward the twister's center.

Any Huge or smaller creature that comes in contact with the spell effect must succeed on a Reflex save or take 3d6 points of damage.

A Large or smaller creature that fails its first save must succeed on a second one or be picked up bodily by the cyclone and held suspended in its powerful winds.

Any creature picked up is ejected 3 rounds later.

Inside the Tornado: Creatures that start their turn inside the tornado take 6d6 points of damage for each round they remain inside at the beginning of your turn.

Creatures inside the tornado can't do much; attacks, spellcasting, and movement are impossible within a greater whirlwind.

When the greater whirlwind ejects a creature, it reappears 4d6?5 feet away from the twister's center in a random direction, and 4d6?5 feet off the ground (immediately falling if it can't fly).

Terrain and Structures: The tornado uproots trees and other vegetation automatically, and it leaves a trail of dense rubble (DMG 90) wherever it goes.

Structures within a greater whirlwind take 2d6+10 points of damage per round.

In a round or two, that amount of damage is sufficient to destroy any building made of materials less sturdy than reinforced masonry.

No ranged attacks can pass through the twister.

A greater whirlwind extinguishes all flames it touches.

Listen checks are impossible within a greater whirlwind.

A greater whirlwind remains stationary unless you direct it elsewhere as a move action.

It moves up to 60 feet per round.

WIND AT BACK

Evocation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 12 hours

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You intone the words that will give you and your allies speed and stamina for the long journey ahead.

Your companions are bathed in a soft green radiance as the spell is cast.

This spell doubles the overland speed (PH 164) of all subjects, assuming they are all traveling together in the same direction, including pack animals and mounts.

This spell does not affect nonliving material.

The spell does not affect tactical speed.

WIND TUNNEL

Evocation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You evoke the powers of the sky, and the wind picks up around you.

It blows from your back, now, and wraps itself around your allies' missiles, sending them to their targets more surely.

You call on the wind to assist your allies' accuracy.

A wind tunnel improves the accuracy of your allies' ranged weapons, granting each subject a +5 competence bonus on ranged attacks.

Further, it doubles the range increment of these weapons.

WINGBIND

Evocation [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The flying creature lets out a surprised howl and then plummets to the ground, its wings flat against its body and struggling against a green glowing net.

A web of force surrounds the target, entangling it like a net. This spell functions like earthbind (page 76), except that an ensnared creature immediately falls to the ground, taking falling damage.

An entangled creature can escape with a successful Escape Artist check against a DC equal to the save DC of the spell. Like a wall of force (PH 298), this web of force is impervious to most attacks: It is immune to damage of all kinds, cannot be burst with a Strength check, and is unaffected by most spells, including dispel magic.

Also like a wall of force, the web is immediately destroyed by disintegrate, a rod of cancellation, a sphere of annihilation, or Mordenkainen's disjunction.

WINTER'S EMBRACE

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You clutch at the air as though grabbing a nearby creature, and then you blow on your fist.

As you do so, ice and snow appear around your foe.

A target that fails its save takes 1d8 points of cold damage per round at the beginning of your turn.

Each round, the subject can make a new Fortitude saving throw to avoid taking damage that round.

The second time a subject takes damage from a single casting of winter's embrace, it becomes fatigued.

The fourth time it takes damage from the same spell, it becomes exhausted.

WORD OF BALANCE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Balance 7, druid 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter the elder words of balance.

Those who stray too far from the path of even-handedness pay the price for their sins as the words judge them.

Any lawful good, chaotic good, lawful evil, or chaotic evil creature that hears a word of balance suffers ill effects according to its Hit Dice, as given below, with no saving throw.

These effects are cumulative.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Nauseated
Up to caster level -1	Weakened, nauseated
Up to caster level -5	Paralyzed, weakened, nauseated
Up to caster level -10	Killed

Nauseated: The creature is limited to a single move action for 1 round but can defend itself normally.

Weakened: The creature's Strength decreases by 2d6 points for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless for 1d10 minutes.

Killed: The creature dies if living or is destroyed if undead.

If you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, every lawful good, chaotic good, lawful evil, and chaotic evil elemental and outsider within the area is instantly banished back to its home plane unless it makes a successful Will saving throw at a -4 penalty. Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours. The banishment effect occurs whether or not the creatures actually hear the word of balance, though those that do also suffer the appropriate effects (see above). Creatures whose HD exceed your caster level are unaffected by word of balance.

ZEALOT PACT

Evocation

Level: Cleric 6, Competition 6, Pact 6

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: Permanent until triggered; then 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

By binding the subject to your deity, you give it the ability to crush the deity's enemies.

Once this spell is cast, the zealot pact remains dormant until the subject successfully hits a foe whose alignment is exactly opposite that of your deity.

The subject's subsequent melee attacks gain a +4 bonus and deal double damage.

Once the spell is active, the subject must attack foes of opposite alignment every round if able to do so, or the spell effect ends.

The subject knows which creatures within 60 feet are of opposite alignment.

If you create a zealot pact with a neutral deity (such as Obad-Hai), choose one alignment from among the following that triggers the zealot pact: lawful good, lawful evil, chaotic evil, or -chaotic good.

A creature can be subject to only one zealot pact at a time.

Casting zealot pact on a subject that already has an untriggered zealot pact voids the earlier pact.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

ILLUSION

BLADEWEAVE

Illusion [Pattern]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

With a shout you unleash the power of the spell, causing every movement you make with your weapon to seem beautiful and full of flourish.

Once per round, choose one target that you successfully attacked with a melee weapon.

That creature must succeed on a Will save or be dazed for 1 round.

Spell resistance applies to this effect.

CLAWS OF DARKNESS

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You draw material from the Plane of Shadow to cause your hands and forearms to elongate and change shape into featureless claws of inky blackness.

When you cast this spell, your hands become shadowy claws.

Starting on your next action, you can use the claws to make unarmed attacks as if they were natural weapons.

(You attack with one claw and can use the other claw for an off-hand attack.)

If you have multiple attacks, you use them normally when attacking with the claws).

Attacks with the claws are melee touch attacks.

Each claw deals 1d8 points of cold damage.

If you grapple an opponent, you deal claw damage with each successful grapple check, and the grappled target is under the effect of a slow spell for as long as you maintain the grapple.

An opponent that makes a successful Fortitude save is not slowed, and it cannot be slowed by this casting of claws of darkness.

You can extend the claws up to 6 feet, which gives you a natural reach of 10 feet, or retract them as a free action. When the spell is in effect, you cannot cast spells with components other than verbal ones, nor can you carry items with your hands.

Any magic items worn on your hands are temporarily absorbed and cease functioning while the spell is active.

CLOAK POOL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One color pool

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: No

A few words and motions, and the swirling color pool becomes as silver-gray as the rest of the Astral Plane.

This spell causes a color pool on the Astral Plane (DMG 154)—an irregular patch of color containing a portal to another plane—to seemingly cease to exist.

In truth, the color pool is only hidden from view.

The use of this spell does not hide the area around the pool; it masks only the fact that a pool is present.

See invisibility or true seeing reveals the presence of the pool, as does analyze portal.

CONE OF DIMNESS

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Playing your fingers, you call upon the energies that dwell within the shadowy places of the world.

Your arm shakes with barely contained power, causing a translucent gray cone to burst forth from your outstretched hand.

Creatures in the cone must succeed on a Will save or believe darkness has engulfed them, rendering them blinded.

A creature that makes its initial Will save suffers no ill effects.

A creature that fails its initial save can attempt a new saving throw each round until it succeeds or the spell expires.

Failing the subsequent saving throws results in continued blindness.

Success on a later save means the creature feels its vision beginning to clear, although its vision remains dim and hazy for the remainder of the spell.

This results in a 20% miss chance for any attack the creature makes.

CREAKING CACOPHONY

Illusion (Figment) [Sonic]

Level: Bard 3, druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Noise swells into a cacophonous din, as if hundreds of intertwined trees and branches were rubbing together in a chaotic medley of groans and creaks.

The sound from this spell is as loud as a pitched battle and is audible far beyond the spell's area.

Outside the spell's area, the sound is merely loud.

Inside the spell's area, the sound is overwhelming.

All creatures within the spell's area take a -4 penalty on Listen checks.

Spellcasters are distracted and must make a Concentration check to cast any spell (DC equals this spell's DC + the level of the spell being cast).

A creaking cacophony spell enhances and focuses sonic energy.

Creatures in the area that do not have immunity to sonic damage gain vulnerability to sonic damage.

DARK WAY

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One bridge of force 5 ft. wide, 1 in. thick, and up to 20 ft./level long

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You stand at the edge of the canyon and invoke the power. At your feet appears a thin black bridge that arches over the canyon.

You create a ribbonlike, weightless, unbreakable bridge.

A dark way must be anchored at both ends to solid objects, but otherwise can be at any angle.

Like a wall of force (PH 298), it must be continuous and unbroken when formed.

It is typically used to cross a chasm or a hazardous space.

Creatures can move on a dark way without penalty, since it is no more slippery than a typical dungeon floor.

A dark way can support a maximum of 200 pounds per caster level.

Creatures that cause the total weight on a dark way to exceed this limit fall through it as if it weren't there.

You never fall through a dark way unless your own weight exceeds the spell's maximum capacity.

DEAD END

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Assassin 1, bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless) or Will disbelief (if interacted with); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Sprinkling spice on the ground, you complete the final step of the spell.

Upon touching your intended targets, you note with satisfaction that the area around all of you seems a little cleaner and less tread upon.

This spell flawlessly disguises the spoor left by the subjects, concealing their tracks, scent, and other signs of their passage with an illusion that defeats even the senses of taste and touch.

Any creature making a Search check, using the scent ability, or using the Survival skill to track a creature affected by this spell interacts with the illusion and can make a Will save to disbelieve.

Creatures that succeed on the save can detect the subjects normally.

Creatures merely passing through an area the subjects passed through do not count as interacting with the illusion.

Targets of this spell can make a Will save to negate it, and spell resistance applies.

Material Component: A pinch of some odoriferous spice.

DECOY IMAGE

Illusion (Figment)

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Figment that mimics you and all allies within 50 ft. of you

Duration: 8 hours (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You finish the spell, and mystic duplicates of you and your allies appear ahead of you.

As you move forward, they set out as well.

In order to flush ambushes, you project a duplicate image of yourself and your companions.

This spell creates an illusion complete with visual images, sounds (including speech), smells, textures, and temperature.

It mimics exactly what you and any of your allies within 50 feet of you do.

If the terrain differs significantly between that of the illusion and that of the characters, or if any character takes an action the illusion can't duplicate (for instance, climbing a tree if none are present for the illusory duplicate to mimic) onlookers automatically receive a saving throw.

In addition, anyone who moves out of the spell's area disappears from the illusion.

DELUSIONS OF GRANDEUR

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

By shouting flattering comments at your intended subject, you release the energy of the spell.

The target of your spell glows momentarily with a white nimbus of crackling energy that fades to a sickly gray before disappearing completely.

This powerful phantasm fools the subject into believing itself more competent and safe than it really is.

The spell makes any action the subject considers attempting seem easily accomplished, requiring only a token effort.

Deadly wounds seem like mere scratches, stalwart foes appear weak and intimidated, and the subject's own attacks seem stronger and more effective.

As a result of its skewed perceptions, the subject takes a –2 penalty on attack rolls, saves, ability checks, and skill checks, as well as to Wisdom.

This penalty cannot reduce the subject's Wisdom below 1. Finally, the subject becomes so completely enamored with its own (false) abilities that it cannot fight defensively or take the total defense action.

DISCOLOR POOL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One color pool

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

The color pool glows with the rust-shade of Hades, but a few words and a spattering of ink, and it glows with the amber of the Blessed Fields of Elysium.

Those who pass through it will not know their error until it is too late.

This spell causes a color pool on the Astral Plane—an irregular patch of color containing a portal to another plane—to appear to be a different color, and thus, to lead to another plane.

True seeing or analyze portal reveals the true nature of the pool.

Material Component: Four drops of colored ink.

DISGUISE UNDEAD

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: 1 corporeal undead

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

One cannot just march a ghoul into the Duke's Court.

But as the fumes issuing from the cocoon surround the creature, the form of the ghoul is replaced with that of a stately courtier armed with a rapier.

Of course, it will have to keep its mouth shut.

You make one undead—including its clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different.

You can make it seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between.

You cannot change the creature's body type.

For example, a wight could look human, humanoid, or like any other generally human-shaped bipedal creature.

Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you. You could add or obscure a minor feature, such as a mole or a beard, or make it look like an entirely different creature. The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form.

It does not alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of the undead or its equipment.

A battleaxe made to look like a dagger still functions as a battleaxe.

This spell also foils magical means of detecting undead.

The subject of disguise undead detects as a creature of the type simulated.

Creatures get Will saves to recognize the glamor as an illusion if they interact with the subject (such as by touching the undead and having that not match what they see, in the case of this spell).

Focus: A cocoon of a death's head moth.

DOOMTIDE

Illusion (Pattern)

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 80 ft.

Effect: Eight 10-ft. cubes extending straight from you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You fill an area with illusory black, creeping mist that vaguely resembles thousands of slender grasping tentacles.

Creatures within the area must make Will saves or be dazed for 1 round.

Any creature moving into the mist, or a creature that begins its turn in the mist, must succeed on a Will save or also be dazed for 1 round.

The mist filling the area obscures all sight, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

A creature within 5 feet has concealment.

Creatures farther away have total concealment.

When you cast the spell, you decide if the effect remains stationary or if its point of origin moves straight away from you at a rate of 10 feet per round.

A moderate wind disperses the effect in 4 rounds; a strong wind disperses the mist in 1 round.

DREAM CASTING

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]; see text

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Casting Time: 1 hour

Target: You and one dreamer

Duration: 24 hours/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

You complete the spell with a few last gestures and arcane words.

You feel a pressure in your mind as you begin to relay the intent of your dreaming contact.

This spell functions like dream (PH 225), except as noted above and that you can alter the sleeping person's dreams to produce a specific desired effect.

The dreamer gets a Will saving throw to resist the additional effects of this spell; if the save succeeds, the dream casting spell can send only a message, in the manner of the dream spell.

If the saving throw fails, you decide what additional effect the message carries.

Fear: Your image in the dream is surrounded by intimidating imagery and an aura of power.

For the duration of the spell, any time the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he is shaken.

This is a compulsion and fear effect.

Charm: Your image in the dream appears particularly helpful and kind.

For the duration of the spell, the dreamer is under the effect of a charm monster spell.

This is a charm effect.

Rage: Your image in the dream taunts and harasses the dreamer.

For the duration of the spell, any time the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he preferentially attacks you if in a combat situation.

The dreamer gains a +2 morale bonus on saving throws, attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and weapon damage rolls when attacking you while under this effect. This is a compulsion effect.

Harrow: Your image in the dream behaves in a bizarre and irrational manner.

For the duration of the spell, the dreamer behaves in an unusual manner, gaining two random traits from Table 4–24: One Hundred Traits (DMG 128), rerolling any results not pertinent to behavior.

If the dreamer can see you or knows you are present, he is confused for 1 round/level.

ILLUSORY FEAST

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your stomach growls as an entire feast appears in the distance.

You perceive the composition of the feast continuously shifting, its contents sometimes appealing to the point where you almost forget it is an illusion.

Tantalizing food and drink appears, causing creatures in the area to stop what they are doing and eat.

A creature in the area that fails its save stops its current activities, drops held or carried items, and begins consuming the illusory food and drink.

The food looks, feels, smells, tastes, and even sounds real to the affected creature, and it appears to be whatever kind of food the creature prefers.

The creature is considered dazed.
An attack on an affected creature frees it from the spell immediately.
Sightless creatures are affected by this spell due to its effect on all the senses.
Creatures that do not eat are unaffected by this spell.
Material Component: A piece of trail rations.

ILLUSORY PIT

Illusion (Glamer)
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: 10-ft. cube/level
Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will disbelief
Spell Resistance: No
You shove downward with your hand, speaking the spell's arcane words as you do so.
The ground disappears where you indicate, forming an impossibly deep pit.
You create the illusion of a pit, and each creature entering or within the area is forced to make a Will save or believe the floor on which it stands has become a bottomless chasm.
Those that fail their saves fall prone and are unable to take any action except clawing desperately at the floor in the hopes of stopping their apparent fall.
An attack on an affected creature frees it from the effect of the illusion but leaves it stunned for 1 round.
Likewise, when the spell ends, creatures that believed they were falling are stunned for 1 round.
Flying creatures passing over an illusory pit are unaffected by the spell.

INVISIBILITY, SUPERIOR

Illusion (Glamer)
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Personal or touch
Target: You or a creature or object weighing no more than 100 lb./level
Duration: 1 minute/level (D)
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: No
As you complete the spell, your senses dull somewhat. Upon releasing the spell's energy on your desired subject, your senses clear, although the spell's recipient can no longer be perceived.
This powerful glamer functions like invisibility (PH 245), except that it masks image, scent, and sound alike, concealing the subject from all senses except touch.
As with greater invisibility, this spell doesn't end if the subject attacks.
While invisible, the subject exudes no scent and is undetectable by scent, blindsense, tremorsense, and blindsight.
Superior invisibility renders the recipient immune to detection by see invisibility, faerie fire, glitterdust, invisibility purge, and dust of appearance, although creatures under the effect of the spell can be detected by true seeing.

Certain mundane conditions (such as leaving footprints) can also render a subject detectable.

INVISIBILITY, SWIFT

Illusion (Glamer)
Level: Assassin 2, bard 1
Components: V
Casting Time: 1 swift action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 round
With a whispered syllable you complete the spell. You notice that others look past you as if you weren't there.
This spell functions like invisibility (PH 245), except as noted above.

MOON LUST

Illusion (Pattern) [Mind-Affecting]
Level: Cleric 1
Components: V, S, F
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One living creature
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will partial
Spell Resistance: Yes
Forcefully presenting a silver ingot in your hand, you extol the virtues of the moon's beauty in a language both beautiful and dead.
The words of your loving declaration call forth a silver-white glow around your target that swiftly fades.
This spell instills in the target an obsessive fascination with the moon.
If the target fails its save, it fixates on the moon, staring at the moon or imagining it in its mind, and is considered fascinated for the duration of the spell.
If the saving throw is successful, the subject is instead dazzled for the duration of the spell.
Sightless creatures are not affected by this spell.
Focus: A silver ingot worth 5 gp.

NET OF SHADOWS

Illusion (Shadow) [Darkness]
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 25 ft. apart
Duration: 1d6 rounds
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
You cast the spell, and the surrounding shadows shift at your command, flying toward your targets and wrapping themselves around them.
This spell gives the subjects concealment, but the shifting magic shadows also inhibit the subjects' ability to ascertain their surroundings.

The subjects can see only 5 feet through the shadows that coat them, and foes within that range have concealment from the subjects.

Darkvision does not penetrate a net of shadows.

PHANTASMAL ASSAILANTS

Illusion (Phantasm) [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with), then Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point at your intended target.

Instantly, shadowy shapes form at your flank and rush toward the creature you indicate, surrounding it.

Others nearby do not notice the images that plague your target.

You create phantasmal images of nightmare creatures in the target's mind, visible only as shadowy shapes to you and unseen by all others.

If the target succeeds on an initial Will save, it recognizes that the images are not real, and the spell fails.

If not, the phantasms strike the target, dealing 8 points of Wisdom damage and 8 points of Dexterity damage (4 points each on a successful Fortitude save).

If the subject of a phantasmal assailant succeeds in disbelieving and is wearing a helm of telepathy, the spell can be turned back upon you with the same effect.

PHANTASMAL DECOY

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates, and Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Reaching into your foe's mind, you weave an illusion of his most hated foe.

You create a phantasmal image of the subject's most hated enemy by sifting through the subconscious mind of the subject.

Only you and the spell's subject can see the phantasmal creature, and the phantasm seems blurry and indistinct to you.

If the target fails its Will saving throw, you designate a space that the phantasm appears to occupy.

The subject must attack the phantasm, or move to be adjacent to it.

A creature that attacks the phantasm is allowed an additional saving throw to disbelieve the illusion.

If moving up to the phantasm would cause the subject to cross dangerous terrain (such as a pool of lava), it does not move to be adjacent to the phantasm.

It merely moves as close as it can and takes no further actions unless the phantasm moves to a space it can reach.

As a move action, you can move a phantasmal decoy up to 60 feet in any direction.

Because it's not real, a phantasmal decoy isn't affected by terrain that slows movement (although you can slow its progress voluntarily if you like to help maintain the facade of realism).

PHANTASMAL DISORIENTATION

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create ever-shifting phantasmal terrain and landmarks that confuse the subject when it tries to move.

The very ground shifts and twists beneath the subject's feet, and the landscape moves of its own accord.

The subject finds it nearly impossible to walk in a straight line.

The target of a phantasmal disorientation spell must make a Will save after this spell is cast to discern true landmarks from phantasmal ones.

If the save succeeds, the creature moves and acts normally.

If the save fails, it instead moves in a direction 90 degrees to either side (equal chance of going left or right), and cannot target any creature with ranged attacks or ranged spells.

Because of the disorientation, the subject doesn't realize it's headed in the wrong direction until it meaningfully interacts with its environment (by making an attack or manipulating an object such as a door, for example).

For the duration of the spell, an affected creature must succeed on a Will save each round to move normally.

A phantasmal disorientation spell affects only the direction of movement and attacks made at range.

Creatures subject to it can still make melee attacks, cast personal or touch spells, or otherwise act normally.

PHANTOM FOE

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Assassin 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief

Spell Resistance: No

By waving around a tiny pewter figurine and picturing in your mind the figurine attacking the target creature, you complete the spell.

You feel a phantasmal force leap from the figurine toward your target.

If the target creature fails its saving throw, this spell creates in the subject's mind an illusory double of whichever creature currently threatens it that it deems most dangerous.

The form of this phantom foe changes as appropriate whenever the target perceives a different threatening creature more dangerous than the last.

This illusory double provides two effects. First, the subject believes it is being flanked by the phantom foe and the real creature the foe duplicates. Thus, the duplicated creature is always considered to be flanking the subject in melee.

A creature that can't be flanked is immune to this aspect of the spell.

Second, the subject of the spell is unable to determine that the phantom foe is not a real threat, and whenever the subject attempts to attack the creature duplicated by the phantom foe, that creature benefits from a 50% miss chance against attacks from the subject of the spell.

Because this miss chance comes from the subject's inability to tell the phantom foe from the original, it is rolled separately from any miss chance that applies due to displacement or concealment.

Creatures other than the subject cannot see the phantom foe, although they can attempt to guess its location by how the target acts.

If the subject is not threatened by any creature at the start of its turn, the spell ends.

Focus: A tiny pewter figure of a warrior that is worth 10 gp.

PHANTOM THREAT

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Reaching out to your foe's mind, you cause him to feel as though a threat looms close behind no matter which way he turns.

You create the sensation in the subject's mind that it is threatened by more foes than it actually faces.

Though the subject doesn't actually perceive any additional enemies (and thus doesn't waste any attacks on the phantasm), a creature affected by this spell is considered flanked, even if not threatened by other creatures.

No amount of convincing by others can help the subject of this spell avoid its effect—only a successful saving throw against the spell when initially cast can help the target.

A creature that can't be flanked is immune to this spell.

REFLECTIVE DISGUISE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You invoke the spell and, to your eyes, you are covered with a glittering net of sparks and spangles.

To the eyes of the drow in the underground marketplace, you look like just another dark elf.

A reflective disguise spell causes any intelligent creature viewing you to perceive you as the same species and gender as itself, provided that its size category is no more than one step different from your own.

The spell changes perceptions of clothing, race, and gender. Reflective disguise does not give you any knowledge of the abilities or mannerisms of the reflected form, nor does it alter the perceived tactile (touch), audible (sound), or olfactory (smell) properties of you or your equipment.

A creature that interacts with the glamer, beyond simply viewing it, gets a Will save to recognize it as an illusion.

For example, a creature that touched you and realized that the tactile sensation did not match the visual one would be entitled to such a save.

A creature with the scent ability automatically gets a Will save if you are within its scent range.

REFLECTIVE DISGUISE, MASS

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/2 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 12 hours (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast the spell, and your allies all suddenly appear to be members of the same orc tribe you plan to infiltrate.

This spell functions like reflective disguise, except you can change the appearance of other creatures as well.

Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.

An unwilling target can negate the spell's effect on itself by making a successful Will save or with spell resistance.

SENSORY DEPRIVATION

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your vision blurs, and sounds seem muffled as you cast the spell.

Upon completing it, you release the spell's energy, freeing your senses from that which dampened them.

The target of your spell glows for an instant with a black aura.

Rather than creating an illusion of something, this spell creates an illusion of absolute nothingness.

The spell effect surrounds the subject in a dark, clinging shadow that only it perceives, which blocks all auditory, olfactory, taste, and visual sensations.

In addition, it blocks finely tuned senses of touch such as those that provide a creature with tremorsense.

A subject that fails its save is blinded and deafened, and it gains no benefit from blindsense, blindsight, scent, or tremorsense.

The subject retains any telepathic or empathic links it might possess with other creatures while affected by the spell.

Material Component: Black silk cloth tied like a blindfold.

SERENE VISAGE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

By casting this spell, you imbue yourself with an ephemeral quality that induces others to trust what you say.

Simple illusions aid your attempts to be persuasive.

You gain an insight bonus equal to one-half your caster level (maximum +10) on Bluff checks.

SHADOW BINDING

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As the links of chain in your hand dissipate to feed the arcane energies of your spell, a multitude of ribbonlike shadows instantaneously explodes outward from an indicated point nearby. Creatures in the area that fail a Will save are entangled and unable to move.

Breaking free of a shadow binding requires a DC 20 Strength check or a DC 20 Escape Artist check, taken as a full-round action.

Material Component: A few links of iron chain.

SHADOW CACHE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 1-ft.-diameter circle

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: No

Spell Resistance: No

With a flourish, you open an invisible portal.

Plunging your arm inside, you see your hand vanish as though it were invisible.

You can temporarily stash small items on the Plane of Shadow (DMG 152) or permanently dispose of them there. This spell opens a small portal to the Plane of Shadow that is invisible on the Material Plane and appears as a small disk on the Plane of Shadow.

You can reach into the Plane of Shadow through the portal created by shadow cache, but only small, nonliving objects can pass entirely through the hole.

The cache can hold up to 30 cubic feet of material, or 250 pounds.

You can recover objects placed in the portal throughout the duration of the spell, or by casting another shadow cache later.

A shadow cache remains stationary at the point where you create it.

Items placed in a shadow cache can possibly be picked up by natives of the Plane of Shadow, and in any event are slowly moved by the morphic trait of the plane.

For every 24 hours that passes, there is a 10% chance each day that objects placed on the Plane of Shadow with shadow cache are gone (either moved or taken).

The spell cannot be cast on the Plane of Shadow itself, but only on planes coexistent with the Plane of Shadow.

SHADOW FORM

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Assassin 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Shadows rise from the ground to envelop you.

The shadows easily move with you, guiding your steps and how to hold your body.

While this spell is in effect, you gain a number of benefits.

The shadows wrapping your form grant you a +4 competence bonus on Escape Artist, Hide, and Move Silently checks.

Your shadowy form also provides you with concealment.

This shadowy concealment is not negated by a see invisibility spell, but a true seeing spell counteracts the effect.

Standing within the radius of a daylight spell or in bright natural sunlight temporarily suppresses the concealment effect.

In addition, if you have 5 ranks in Escape Artist, you can attempt to slip through a solid object or barrier up to 5 feet thick with a DC 20 Escape Artist check, though doing this ends the spell as soon as the attempt is completed (regardless of success).

If you have 10 ranks in Escape Artist, you can attempt to pass through an object or barrier up to 10 feet thick.

If you have 15 ranks in Escape Artist, you can attempt to pass through a barrier composed of magical force (or similar magical obstacles).

Material Component: A small piece of black cloth taken from a funeral shroud.

SHADOW HAND

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Medium shadowy hand

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You intone the spell, and an enormous hand made out of thick gray fog floats in the air before you.

You create a floating Medium hand made of shadow material.

A shadow hand is an opaque gray color, 5 feet long, and 5 feet wide with its fingers outstretched.

It can grant total concealment against a single opponent you designate, carry materials as Tenser's floating disk (PH 294), or point or gesture as a normal hand does. The hand has an AC of 18 (+6 natural, +2 deflection) and has half as many hit points as your full normal total. It can be damaged just as Bigby's interposing hand (PH 204) can be, and it makes all saving throws as if it were you. Changing the hand's task or target is a standard action, and it can move anywhere in range. If not given any commands, the hand follows you at your speed, maintaining the same distance from you. The spell ends if the hand moves out of the spell's range. If carrying items and commanded to do something else, the hand drops whatever it is holding to complete its task (you can order the hand to rid itself of items gently as a standard action). Unlike Tenser's floating disk, it does not have to follow you at a fixed distance—you direct where the hand goes.

SHADOW LANDSCAPE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Druid 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: One-mile-radius spread centered on a point in space

Duration: 24 hours/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

By infusing the nearby landscape with power stolen from the Plane of Shadow, you make the surrounding terrain a more savage, dangerous place.

The spell's exact effects vary with the terrain upon which it is cast.

Desert: The spell transforms a desert into a place where no one goes willingly.

The average temperature increases by 30 degrees, or decreases by 30 degrees if the desert is actually a tundra (see Cold Dangers and Heat Dangers, DMG 302–303).

Sandstorms (or snowstorms if in a tundra) blow through a shadow landscape desert on an hourly basis.

Forest: Forests augmented with a shadow landscape spell become frightening places where a canopy of rotting leaves blocks the sun and all the trees are strangely twisted.

Spaces with light undergrowth have heavy undergrowth instead, and spaces covered with heavy undergrowth grasp at passersby as if an entangle spell (PH 227) had been cast on them (save DC equal to the shadow landscape's DC).

Hill: Even gentle hills become more treacherous under the effect of a shadow landscape spell.

Light undergrowth becomes heavy undergrowth in hill terrain, and slopes seem steeper than their elevation would indicate.

It takes 2 squares of movement to move uphill on a gradual slope, and 4 squares to move uphill on a steep slope.

Cliffs have frequent overhangs and are made of crumbling rock, requiring a DC 25 Climb check to ascend or descend.

Marsh: Marshes seem swampier and more forbidding. Half the undergrowth spaces in the marsh become quicksand (DMG 88).

Mountain: The mountains become places of jagged peaks, slippery slopes, and howling winds.

Cliffs and chasms require a DC 25 Climb check to scale.

Creatures who fail Climb checks or make loud noises have a 10% chance of starting an avalanche (DMG 90).

Altitude effects are one category worse: areas lower than 5,000 feet are treated as the 5,000- to 15,000-foot category, and anything above 5,000 feet is treated as being above 15,000 feet.

Plain: Only natural grasslands change as a result of shadow landscape, but they become wide-open spaces with stands of thick bushes where thunderstorms and tornados are frequent.

Half the spaces with undergrowth (light or heavy) grasp at passersby as if an entangle spell (PH 227) had been cast on them (save DC equal to the shadow landscape's DC).

Underground: Ordinary dungeons aren't affected by shadow landscape, but naturally occurring caverns are.

Natural stone floors take 4 squares of movement per space to enter.

Stalagmites cover 10% of the available floor space.

In addition to terrain-specific effects, a shadow landscape spell worsens the weather within the spell's area.

When rolling random weather (DMG 94), roll twice and take the higher result.

In plains terrain, roll three times and take the highest result.

This effect does not apply underground.

You don't suffer the terrain-specific effects (entangling terrain, hindrances to movement, altitude effects, higher Climb DCs, and so on) of a shadow landscape you created.

When you cast shadow landscape, you can designate one creature per four caster levels as a designated traveler.

Creatures so designated don't suffer the terrain-specific effects of the spell, but they're still subject to the bad weather.

You can also designate one or more animals, plants, or magical beasts native to the spell's area as shadow guardians of the landscape.

You can designate 1 HD of creature per caster level, split up however you like.

For example, a 20th-level druid could designate two treants (7 HD each) and a dire wolf (6 HD) as shadow guardians.

As long as the designated guardians remain within the spell's area, they have a friendly attitude toward you and the travelers you have designated, and they also gain the following special qualities: resistance to cold 10, darkvision out to 60 feet, damage reduction 5/magic, evasion, and lowlight vision.

If the creature already has one or more of these special qualities, use the better value.

SHADOW MASK

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You draw raw energy from the Plane of Shadow to obscure your face.

You cause a mask of shadows to form around your face.

It does not impede your vision, cannot be physically removed, completely hides your features, and protects you against certain attacks.

You receive a +4 bonus on saving throws against light or darkness spells and any spells that rely on bright light for damaging effects, such as the flare spell or the fireworks effect of pyrotechnics.

You also gain a 50% chance each round to avoid having to make a saving throw against gaze attacks, just as if you averted your eyes.

If you avert your eyes while using shadow mask, you get to check twice to see if you avoid having to make the saving throw.

When the spell's duration ends, the shadow mask fades over the course of 1d4 rounds (rather than immediately), giving you time to keep your face hidden by other means.

A successful dispel magic cast against a shadow mask effectively ends the spell and causes the same slow fading.

Material Component: A mask of black cloth.

SHADOW RADIANCE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Whispering the final syllable of the complicated formula, you cast the spell.

Instantly, a blast of bright light fills the targeted area.

From your vantage point, the spell's light glows like a torch, although you note some creatures turn away from it as if it were a blinding radiance.

This spell creates an intensifying illusion of bright light that affects all creatures within the area (except those that are sightless or blinded).

Viewers that fail their saving throws see a burst of bright light on the first round and become blinded for 1 round. On subsequent rounds for the rest of the spell's duration, the affected creatures continue to perceive a bright light. If they take penalties in bright illumination, they take them for the duration of their exposure to this light.

Additionally, they are dazzled while in the area of the spell. Those who escape the area of a shadow radiance spell completely recover within 1 round.

Those who make their saves and those outside the initial burst see only the equivalent of torchlight emanating from the center of the area.

Material Component: A flame at least the size of a torch.

SHADOW SPRAY

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 5-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you finish casting this spell, ribbonlike shadows burst outward from the midst of your foes.

You cause a multitude of ribbonlike shadows to instantaneously explode outward from the point of origin. Creatures in the area take 4 points of Strength damage and are dazed for 1 round.

Material Component: A handful of black ribbons.

SHADOW WELL

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You spit out the words of the spell, and the shadow of your foe darkens, becoming a solid black pit.

Your opponent pinwheels its arms as it topples backward into the darkness.

You cause the target's shadow to become a temporary gateway to a pocket realm within the Plane of Shadow. The target must make a Will save or be pulled into the gateway.

Inside the pocket realm, the creature sees a deserted, gloomy duplicate of the real world, while shadowy phantasms stalk and taunt it without causing actual harm. Each round, the creature can attempt another Will save to return from the shadow well.

Otherwise, the subject returns to the real world when the spell's duration expires.

Being trapped in a shadow well can be terrifying; upon returning to the real world, the subject must succeed on another Will save or be frightened for 1d4 rounds. Upon leaving the pocket realm, the subject reappears in the spot it had been in when the shadow well spell was cast.

If this spot is filled with a solid object, the subject appears in the nearest adjacent empty space.

Spells and abilities that move a creature within a plane, such as teleport and dimension door, do not help a creature escape a shadow well spell, although a plane shift spell allows it to flee to another plane as normal.

The target might still become frightened upon leaving.

SHADOWFADE

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One 10-ft. portal to the Plane of Shadow

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Summoning to mind a dark reflection of the world around you, you inscribe a doorway into the air with your hand, opening a portal to the Plane of Shadow.

You open a 10-foot-diameter portal onto the Plane of Shadow, allowing you and creatures you designate within range to pass into that area.

This does not grant you the ability to open another such portal automatically, so the spell is often used as a temporary hiding place or a method of gaining access to the Plane of Shadow.

The portal remains for the duration of the spell, and other creatures can pass through it in either direction if they make a Will save.

The portal is invisible from the Material Plane and looks like a white hole on the Plane of Shadow.

You must be in a region of heavy shadows to cast shadowfade.

The spell can be cast only on a plane coexistent with the Plane of Shadow (DMG 152), and it cannot be cast on the Plane of Shadow itself.

SHADOWY GRAPPLER

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You feel a spectral force form near you, as if some intangible shadow being stood nearby.

Upon choosing the target of your spell, you sense the shadowy force depart from your side, moving as fast as thought toward the creature you designated as your target.

You see the target creature move as if attacked by an unseen foe.

Upon casting this spell, you create a shadowy force that automatically grabs the target (PH 156).

The shadowy force immediately attempts to establish a hold on the target with a grapple check bonus equal to the DC of this spell.

If the target succeeds on its saving throw, the grapple check bonus of the shadowy grappler is cut in half.

For example, a sorcerer with a 16 Charisma who casts this spell creates a shadowy grappler with a grapple check bonus of +19 if the target fails its save and +9 if the target makes its save.

Every round on your turn, the shadowy grappler makes a grapple check against the target.

Once it has a hold, the shadowy force attempts to pin the target on the following round.

If the grappler establishes a pin, it uses the option to prevent the target from speaking.

The grappler always attempts to maintain a grapple or work toward a pin.

A shadowy grappler occupies the same square as the target and moves with the target for as long as the spell lasts.

Other creatures cannot join the grapple, either to assist the target or the grappler.

Material Component: A dried squid tentacle.

SHIFTING PATHS

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 1-mile radius + 1 mile/level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: Yes

As if a massive cloth were sweeping it away, the path before you becomes hidden in shadows and false underbrush.

At the same moment, a new path appears from the point you designate, wandering off in a different direction.

This spell simultaneously hides a path or road specified by you, while simultaneously creating an illusory path.

The illusory path starts at a point chosen by you within the range of the spell.

It continues in the direction you indicate, to the limit of the spell's area, where it ends abruptly.

The illusory path avoids obstacles and provides no bridges, stairs, ladders, ramps, or other methods of traversing such obstacles.

There is no way to force the illusory path to lead over a cliff or across a river more than 4 feet deep.

Those who fail their Will saves struggle along the illusory path.

If vegetation or rough terrain slows their progress, they believe the path is sloping enough to justify the reduced speed.

Those who succeed on their Will saves see both paths, but the illusory path is shadowy and obviously unreal.

SILENT PORTAL

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Assassin 1, sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One portal

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The door squeaks slightly as you force it.

You pause and wave your finger in a pattern along the opening and it silences.

This simple cantrip negates the sound of opening and closing a single portal (door, window, gate, drawer, chest lid, or the like).

Even the squeakiest door opens without a sound when under the effect of this spell.

Silent portal covers only the normal means of opening and closing the targeted portal.

Breaking a window or kicking in a door still makes noise, but opening a door that is loosely hanging by its hinges does not (since this is the normal way a door would be opened).

Portals composed of magical energy are not affected by this spell.

In the case of magic or even intelligent portals, spell resistance and a Will save (DC 10 + caster's ability modifier + other modifiers as appropriate) apply.

SOLIPSISM

Illusion (Phantasm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Pangs of loneliness grip your heart as you complete the spell.

Upon choosing your target, the feeling subsides even as a ghostly pale yellow mist swirls around your target for a moment.

You manipulate the senses of one creature so that it perceives itself to be the only real creature in all of existence and everything around it to be merely an illusion. If the target fails its save, it is convinced of the unreality of every situation it might encounter.

It takes no actions, not even purely mental actions, and instead watches the world around it with bemusement. The subject becomes effectively helpless and takes no steps to defend itself from any threat, since it considers any hostile action merely another illusion.

SPECTRAL WEAPON

Illusion (Shadow)

Level: Assassin 3, bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: One shadowy blade

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You summon forth semisolid shadowstuff and force it to coalesce into a shape only you can wield.

The shadow-formed weapon looks real at first glance, though it appears darkened as if perpetually in shadows.

Wisps of shadow tendrils constantly follow the weapon as you move it about.

Using material from the Plane of Shadow, you can fashion a quasi-real melee weapon of any type with which you are proficient.

This spectral weapon appears in your hand and behaves as a normal weapon of its type, with two exceptions.

First, you resolve attacks with your spectral weapon as melee touch attacks instead of melee attacks.

Second, any foe you hit is entitled to a Will save to recognize the weapon's shadowy, semi-insubstantial nature. If the save is successful, that opponent takes only half damage from the weapon on that attack and all subsequent attacks, and is only 50% likely to suffer any special effects of your attacks (such as a death attack delivered with the weapon).

You can maintain only one spectral weapon at a time, and only you can wield it.

The weapon dissipates when you let go of it or when the spell's duration expires, whichever comes first.

SUSPENDED SILENCE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One object

Duration: 24 hours or until discharged, then 6 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: None (object)

Spell Resistance: No (object)

You sprinkle the object with a handful of gem dust, and the last words of your spell fade like they are being dragged into a hole. Then the normal sounds of the world reestablish themselves, but the spell within is set to be unleashed later.

When you touch the object and give the command word you designate, the object becomes the subject of a silence spell.

The effect of the silence spell moves with the object and lasts for 6 rounds.

Material Component: A feather and a handful of gem dust worth 50 gp.

TOWERING OAK

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You evoke the power of the forests, giving yourself the ability to speak for them.

You loom over others like a mighty tree dwarfs lesser plants.

You draw on the oak's strength to improve your ability to intimidate your enemies.

You gain a +10 competence bonus on Intimidate checks and a +2 enhancement bonus to Strength.

WALL OF GLOOM

Illusion (Shadow) [Darkness, Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: A straight wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level

Duration: Concentration + 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Rubbing the fleece between your fingers, you hold up your hand and shout an arcane word.

In an instant, a wall of dark shadow appears in the indicated location.

Dark whispers, barely perceptible, constantly issue forth from the far side of the wall, causing a cold chill to run up your spine.

You create a barrier of ominous shadow that obscures vision and blocks line of sight, including darkvision.

The wall is insubstantial, so creatures can move through it without penalty.

Wall of gloom counters or dispels any light spell of equal or lower level.

Material Component: A bit of fleece from a black sheep.

NECROMANCY

ARROW OF BONE

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One projectile or thrown weapon touched

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You complete the long ritual needed to cast the spell, scribing arcane runes into the item.

It changes before your eyes into an identical item made of bone. The runes glow with dark magic and the weapon feels cold to the touch.

When thrown or fired at a creature as a normal ranged attack, the weapon gains a +4 enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls.

In addition, any living creature struck by an arrow of bone must succeed on a Fortitude save or be instantly slain.

A creature that makes its save instead takes 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

Regardless of whether the attack hits, the magic of the arrow of bone is discharged by the attack, and the missile is destroyed.

Material Component: A tiny sliver of bone and an oil of magic weapon (50 gp).

AURA OF TERROR

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You speak a few curt words and your face is briefly overlaid with the image of a violet-shaded skull.

The skull fades, but the nimbus of violet light remains around you.

You become surrounded by an aura of fear, granting you a frightful presence not unlike that of a dragon.

Whenever you charge or attack, you inspire fear in all creatures within 30 feet that have fewer Hit Dice than your caster level.

Each potentially affected opponent must succeed on a Will save or become shaken—a condition that lasts until the opponent is out of range.

A successful save leaves that opponent immune to your frightful presence for 24 hours.

If you cast this spell when you already have the frightful presence ability or a fear aura, the existing ability becomes more effective in the following ways:

- The radius of the area affected by the ability increases by 10 feet.
- The DC of your frightful presence ability increases by 2.
- Creatures that would normally be shaken by your fear aura are frightened instead, and creatures that would normally be frightened are panicked.

AVASCULAR MASS

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Deathbound 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial and Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You shoot a black ray of necromantic energy from your outstretched hand, causing your foe to violently purge blood vessels through its skin.

The purged blood vessels spread outward, creating a many-layered mass of bloody, adhesive tissue that traps nearby creatures in a gory horror.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If the attack is successful, the subject loses half its hit points (rounded down) and is stunned for 1 round.

On a successful Fortitude saving throw, the subject is not stunned.

Oozes and plants are not affected by this spell.

The avascular mass instantaneously erupts from the subject and must be anchored to at least two opposed points—such as floor and ceiling or opposite walls—or else the mass collapses and has no effect.

Creatures caught within a 20-foot-radius avascular mass become entangled.

The original target of the spell is automatically entangled.

Because the avascular mass is magically animate and gradually tightens on those it holds, an entangled character who attempts to cast a spell must make a DC 25

Concentration check or lose the spell.

Anyone within 20 feet of the primary target when the spell is cast must make a Reflex save.

If this save succeeds, the creature is not stuck in the avascular mass and is free to act, though moving might be a problem (see below).

If the save fails, the creature is stuck.

A stuck creature can break loose by spending 1 round and succeeding on a DC 20 Strength check or a DC 25 Escape Artist check.

Once loose (either from making the initial Reflex save or a later Strength check or Escape Artist check), a creature can progress through the writhing blood vessels very slowly. Each round devoted to moving allows the creature to make a new Strength check or Escape Artist check.

The creature moves 5 feet for each full 5 points by which the check result exceeds 10.

If you have at least 5 feet of avascular mass between you and an opponent, it provides cover.

If you have at least 20 feet of avascular mass between you, it provides total cover.

The avascular mass of entangling tissue persists for 1 round per caster level.

When the duration elapses, the blood vessel mass becomes so much limp, decaying tissue.

AVASCULATE

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Deathbound 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You shoot a black ray of necromantic energy from your outstretched hand, causing your foe to violently purge blood or other vital fluids through his skin.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If the attack succeeds, the subject is reduced to half of its current hit points (rounded down) and stunned for 1 round.

On a successful Fortitude saving throw, the subject is not stunned.

AWAKEN UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Deathbound 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: All mindless undead within a circle with a radius of 25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Whispering secret words to the undead before you, you call forth a glimmer of intelligence in its dead eyes.

This spell grants intelligence to mindless undead such as skeletons and zombies.

Undead creatures with Intelligence scores are unaffected.

A mindless undead gains an Intelligence score of 1d6+4, subject to the limitation that an undead cannot be more intelligent than is typical of a living creature of the same kind.

A dog skeleton simply has Intelligence 2 (no roll needed), while an orc skeleton makes the die roll but can't have more than Intelligence 8.

(See MM 290 for information on skills and feats the creature gains).

Undead regain the armor and weapon proficiencies they had in life (assume the undead were formerly warriors unless the DM specifies otherwise) and will don armor and take up weapons while obeying your commands.

A zombie fighter can wear any armor and wield any simple or martial weapon, and a warhorse zombie can wear any armor.

Undead also regain any extraordinary racial abilities they had in life, such as poison or scent.

Awakened undead gain a +2 profane bonus on their Will saving throws to resist control undead.

Awakened undead also gain +2 turn resistance (or retain their own turn resistance, if any, and if it is better than +2).

Material Component: A humanoid finger bone.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

BACKBITER

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One weapon

Duration: 1 round/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The weapon you indicate during the spell's casting briefly shimmers with a black aura that disappears in an eyeblink.

You cast this spell on any melee weapon.

The next time that weapon is used to make a melee attack, its shaft twists around so that the weapon strikes the wielder instead.

The weapon hits automatically, and no attack roll is made.

The wielder gets no warning or knowledge of the spell's effect on his weapon, and although he makes the attack, the self-dealt damage can't be consciously reduced (though damage reduction applies) or changed to nonlethal damage. Once the weapon attacks its wielder (whether successfully or not), the spell is discharged.

Magic weapons targeted by this spell receive a Will save.

An item in a creature's possession uses its own Will save bonus or its wielder's bonus, whichever is higher.

Focus: A dagger.

BARGHEST'S FEAST

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: Corpse touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The diamond in your hand turns to coal, and then to dust, which sprinkles down upon the corpse.

Where it strikes, ebon flames spring up, and when the flames pass nothing remains, not even grave dust.

"Return from that one", you mutter.

Black flames flicker over a corpse, utterly consuming it.

You destroy the remains of a dead person or creature, preventing any form of raising or resurrection that requires part of the corpse.

There is a 50% chance that a wish, miracle, or true resurrection spell cannot restore to life a victim consumed by a barghest's feast spell.

Check once for each destroyed creature.

If the d% roll fails, the creature cannot be brought back to life by mortal magic.

Material Component: A diamond worth 5,000 gp.

BESTOW CURSE, GREATER

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Channeling your hatred into binding words of power, you thrust your hand at your foe and proclaim a terrible curse.

The spellcaster places a curse on the creature touched, choosing one of the three following effects.

• One ability score is reduced to 1, or two ability scores take –6 penalties (to a minimum score of 1).

- -8 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, and skill checks.
 - Each turn, the subject has a 25% chance to act normally; otherwise, it takes no action.
- You can also invent your own curse, but it should be no more powerful than those described above, and the Dungeon Master has the final say on the curse's effect. A greater curse cannot be dispelled, nor can it can be removed with break enchantment or limited wish. A miracle or wish spell removes a greater curse, as does remove curse cast by a spellcaster of at least 17th level.

BITE OF THE KING

Necromancy

Level: Gluttony 8, Hunger 8

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One living creature of a size that does not exceed caster's

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your mouth opens impossibly wide and engulfs your foe.

You swallow loudly and your mouth returns to normal size, leaving no trace of your foe behind.

When you cast this spell, you can send a creature to a pocket "stomach" dimension with a successful melee touch attack.

The target you touch must make a successful Fortitude save.

If it fails its saving throw, the creature is sent to the stomach dimension.

The victim takes 2d8+12 points of bludgeoning damage and 12 points of acid damage per round while in the stomach dimension.

The victim can cut its way out by using a light slashing or piercing weapon to deal 35 points of damage to the stomach dimension (AC 21).

A creature that successfully exits appears to cut its way free from thin air, appearing in a space adjacent to you.

Each time you cast this spell, you create a separate temporary stomach dimension.

BLACKFIRE

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial and Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

With the dark words still on your tongue, a ray of black energy springs from your hand to wrap the indicated target in black flames that absorb heat rather than create it.

The black fire crackles and hisses, emanating the smells of hot metal and sulfur.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

On a successful attack, a living target is engulfed in chill black flames that feed on the fuel of their victim's life force. A creature engulfed in blackfire must make a successful Fortitude save each round that the spell is in effect or take 1d4 points of Constitution damage and become nauseated. A creature that makes its Fortitude save takes no damage for that round and is sickened instead.

In addition to its effects on the subject, blackfire can spread rapidly.

Each round on its turn, any living creature adjacent to a creature engulfed in blackfire must succeed on a Reflex save or become engulfed itself.

Any creature that has its Constitution reduced to 0 or lower by the spell is turned into a pile of black ash and can be returned to life only by true resurrection or wish, the caster of which must succeed on a DC 30 caster level check to restore the victim to life.

If a creature succeeds on its Fortitude save in 3 consecutive rounds, the blackfire affecting it gutters out.

The black flames cannot otherwise be extinguished by normal means (such as immersion in water or smothering), but antimagic field, a successful dispel magic, remove curse, or break enchantment snuffs it out.

As well, a creature protected by death ward has immunity to blackfire's effects.

Material Component: A pinch of dust from a vampire destroyed by sunlight.

BLOOD TO WATER

Necromancy [Water]

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Up to five living creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You forcefully spit, ending your spellcasting.

From where you spat arises a sea-green orb of energy for each creature you intend as a subject of the spell.

The orbs fly to their designated targets and turn blood red as they impact.

You transmute the subjects' blood into pure water, dealing 2d6 points of Constitution damage.

A successful Fortitude save halves the Constitution damage.

This spell has no effect on living creatures with the fire or water subtype.

BODAK'S GLARE

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Abyss 8, Cleric 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You invoke the powers of deep darkness and your eyes vanish, looking like holes in the universe itself. Upon completion of the spell, you target a creature within range that can see you. That creature dies instantly unless it succeeds on a Fortitude save. The target need not meet your gaze. If you slay a humanoid creature with this attack, 24 hours later it transforms into a bodak (MM 28) unless it has been resurrected in the meantime. The bodak is not under your command, but can be controlled as normal with a rebuke undead check. Focus: A black onyx gem worth at least 500 gp.

BONEFIDDLE

Necromancy
Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S, F
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One creature with a skeleton or exoskeleton
Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Fortitude negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
You rub your middle finger across your thumb like a bow against a fiddle while simultaneously humming a discordant tune under your breath. Nearby, you see a translucent bone-white fiddle bow appear and sink into the flesh of your target. It begins sawing, as if playing your target like a fiddle. You call up a ghostly fiddle bow in the air above the targeted creature. This bow immediately descends into the target body and begins to saw back and forth against its skeleton. Although the music produced is eerily beautiful, it causes intense pain and anguish in the victim. Each round on its turn, the victim must make a Fortitude save or take 3d6 points of sonic damage and a –20 penalty on Move Silently checks. A successful save negates the damage and ends the spell. The spell's effects continue even if the subject moves so that you no longer have line of sight or line of effect to it. Focus: A miniature silver fiddle worth at least 30 gp.

BURNING BLOOD

Necromancy
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One living creature; see text
Duration: 1 round/level (D)
Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
The taste of copper fills your mouth and bloody spatters punctuate the last few words that unlock the spell. You gag slightly as the blood in your mouth congeals, but disappears even as you release the spell. You taint a living creature's blood with a hot, corrosive infusion, dealing 1d8 points of acid damage and 1d8 points of fire damage per round.

The subject can attempt a Fortitude save each round to negate the damage, but a successful save does not prevent damage in future rounds. Searing pain limits the subject to a single move action in any round when it fails its Fortitude save. Burning blood does not affect creatures of the construct, elemental, ooze, plant, or undead types. Material Component: A drop of blood and a pinch of saltpeter.

CHILL OF THE GRAVE

Necromancy
Level: Deathbound 1
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Ray
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
A pale ray erupts from your pointing finger, and a moaning sound fills the air as it streaks toward your target. You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target. The subject takes 1d10 points of cold damage. This damage increases to 2d10 at caster level 4th, 3d10 at caster level 7th, and 4d10 at caster level 10th.

CLUTCH OF ORCUS

Necromancy [Evil]
Level: Cleric 3
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One humanoid
Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Fortitude negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
Reaching out a hand twisted by tension into a grasping claw, you squeeze your foe's heart from afar, anticipating the moment its smoking remains will rest in your palm. Magical force grips the subject's heart (or similar vital organ) and begins crushing it. The victim is paralyzed and takes 1d12 points of damage per round. Concentration is required to maintain the spell each round. A conscious victim can attempt a new Fortitude saving throw each round to end the spell. If the victim dies as a result of this spell, its smoking heart appears in your hand.

CONSUMPTIVE FIELD

Necromancy [Death, Evil]
Level: Cleric 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 30 ft.
Area: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on you
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will negates
Spell Resistance: Yes

Sweeping your arm about and clutching it to your chest, you draw the last breaths of fallen foes from their choking mouths and inhale them to fuel your own power.

All creatures in the area with fewer than 0 hit points that fail their saving throws die, and you gain 1d8 temporary hit points and a +2 bonus to Strength for each death caused by this spell and until the spell's duration expires.

Additionally, your effective caster level increases by one per death caused by this spell, to a maximum increase of half your original caster level, improving spell effects that are dependent on caster level.

(This increase in effective caster level does not grant you access to more spells, and it does not increase the duration of this spell).

Creatures that fall to -1 hit points or lower in the area after the spell is cast are likewise subject to its effect.

No creature can be affected by this spell more than once per casting, regardless of the number of times that the area of the spell passes over them.

CONSUMPTIVE FIELD, GREATER

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Cleric 7

This spell functions like consumptive field, except that the field affects all creatures in the area with 9 hit points or fewer.

Such creatures that fail their saving throws die, and creatures that fall to 9 hit points or lower in the area after the spell is cast are likewise subject to its effect.

CONTAGION, MASS

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread Forcing a hacking cough, you complete the spell.

In the area you've designated, you see swirling red and black mist rise up, accompanied by the distant sound of your echoing cough.

This spell functions like contagion (PH 213), but all creatures within the area are infected.

CONTAGIOUS TOUCH

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Upon casting this spell, you choose one disease from this list: blinding sickness, cackle fever, filth fever, mindfire, red ache, the shakes, or slimy doom (DMG 292).

Any living creature you hit with a melee touch attack during the spell's duration is affected as though by the contagion spell, immediately contracting the disease you have selected unless it makes a successful Fortitude save. You cannot infect more than one creature per round.

CURSE OF ILL FORTUNE, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 5

Targets: Enemies in a 20-ft.-radius burst

This spell functions like curse of ill fortune, except that it affects multiple enemies.

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You grip the nail-pierced hunk of leather and cast the spell.

A small black dagger jets from the tip of the nail and strikes your opponent squarely in the chest.

The target of the spell has a hard time avoiding attacks, sometimes even seeming to stumble into harm's way.

The subject takes a -2 penalty to AC.

The curse cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

Arcane Material Component: A nail through a piece of leather.

CURSE OF IMPENDING BLADES, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Bard 3, ranger 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Range: Touch

Target: Humanoid touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Dipping your hand in blood and then gripping the target fiercely, you call on the curse of lycanthropy to destroy your foe.

If the target fails its saving throw, it dies, and 1d6 wererats (in wererat form; MM 173) claw their way out of its body.

The wererats do not attack you or your allies, but might attack nearby living creatures.

If no target is available, the wererats scurry away to spread their lycanthropy.

Material Component: A pint of animal blood.

CURSED BLADE

Necromancy

Level: Assassin 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: One melee weapon

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Drawing upon dark powers, you whisper a vehement curse and draw your finger down the weapon.

A weapon affected by this spell deals wounds that can't be healed in the usual fashion.

Any damage dealt by the weapon (not including damage from special weapon properties such as flaming, holy, wounding, and so on) cannot be cured by any means until the damaged individual has received a remove curse spell (or some other effect that neutralizes a curse).

If a creature is slain by a weapon that is under the effect of this spell, it can't be raised from the dead unless a remove curse spell (or similar effect) is cast on the body or a true resurrection spell is used.

DEATH ARMOR

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You smear yourself with white paste, drawing a skull on your bare flesh.

Immediately, a wreath of black flames crackles to life around you.

The black flames created by this spell injure creatures that contact them.

Any creature striking you with its body or handheld weapons takes 1d4 points of damage +1 point per two caster levels (maximum +10).

If the creature has spell resistance, it applies to the damage. Weapons with reach, such as longswords, do not endanger their users in this way.

Material Component: Paste made from ground bones.

Focus: An onyx worth 50 gp.

DEATH DRAGON

Necromancy [Evil, Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Effect: Dragon-shaped armor of energy and bones

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You summon unholy power to gird yourself in a dragon-shaped cocoon of bones and negative energy.

The cocoon created by this spell gives you a +4 enhancement bonus to natural armor and a +4 deflection bonus to Armor Class.

You are treated as armed when you make unarmed attacks, and you deal damage as if your limbs were short swords of an appropriate size.

You can use your off hand to attack, incurring the standard two-weapon fighting penalties (PH 160).

The cocoon prevents you from casting spells with somatic, material, or focus (but not divine focus) components, but does not otherwise hinder your actions or movement.

As a standard action, you can project a cone of fear or make a melee touch attack to use inflict critical wounds on the creature touched (the caster level of these effects equals your own).

These effects are otherwise identical to the spells of the same names, but have saving throw DCs equal to what this spell's save DC would be if the spell allowed a save.

DEATH PACT

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 8, Pact 8

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: Willing living creature touched

Duration: Permanent until triggered

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With the last words of power, you make the convert's oath binding and ensure your deity's aid when the worst befalls his new servant.

This spell allows the target to enter into a binding agreement with your deity that brings the target back to life if it is slain.

When this spell is cast, the subject's Constitution is permanently lowered by 2 points.

In exchange for this, if the subject should die, a true resurrection spell (PH 296) is immediately cast upon the subject.

However, the resurrected creature does not regain the 2 Constitution points when returned to life.

If the spell is dispelled before the subject dies, it does not regain its 2 lost Constitution points.

A wish or miracle spell can return the lost Constitution, but only after the death pact has been activated or dispelled.

Material Component: A diamond worth at least 1,000 gp.

DEATH THROES

Necromancy [Force]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or until you are killed

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As the killing blow falls, you smile with grim satisfaction even as the light of life fades, knowing that your enemy will soon be joining you in the afterlife.

If you are killed, your body is instantaneously destroyed in an explosion that deals 1d8 points of damage per caster level to everyone in a 30-foot-radius burst.

This explosion destroys your body, preventing any form of raising or resurrection that requires part of the corpse.

A wish, miracle, or true resurrection spell can restore life.

DEATH WARD, MASS

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 8, druid 9

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart
Sensing the spark of life in your allies through your magic, you bolster that spark and protect it from harm.
This spell functions like death ward (PH 217), except as noted above.

DECOMPOSITION

Necromancy
Level: Druid 2
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 50 ft.
Area: Living enemies within a 50-ft.-radius emanation centered on you
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
Using your link to the natural world, you create an air of decay that makes death come quicker to the wounded.
Whenever an enemy within the area takes normal (not nonlethal) damage, that wound festers for an additional 3 points of damage at the beginning of its turn each round thereafter for the duration of the spell.
A DC 15 Heal check or the application of any cure spell or other healing magic stops the festering.
Only one wound festers at a time; additional wounds taken while the first is still festering are not subject to this effect. Once festering has been stopped, however, any new wound taken while the subject is within the area (before the spell expires) begins the process anew.
For example, a subject who takes 6 points of damage from an attack while within the area of a decomposition spell takes 3 points of damage from the festering wound in the next round, and another 3 points in the round after that.
In the following round, that subject receives 4 points of healing from a cure light wounds spell, so the festering stops and the subject takes no festering damage that round.
In the next round, the subject remains within the emanation and takes another 3 points of damage in battle. The festering begins again, dealing 3 points of festering damage in the following round.

DEHYDRATE

Necromancy
Level: Druid 3
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One living creature
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Fortitude negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
With a squeezing gesture, you indicate your target and see sweat pour off it.
You afflict the target with a horrible, desiccating curse that deals 1d6 points of Constitution damage, plus 1 additional point of Constitution damage per three caster levels, to a maximum of 1d6+5 at 15th level.
Oozes, plants, and creatures with the aquatic subtype are more susceptible to this spell than other targets.

Such creatures take 1d8 points of Constitution damage, plus 1 additional point of Constitution damage per three caster levels, to a maximum of 1d8+5.

DELAY DEATH

Necromancy
Level: Cleric 4
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 immediate action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One creature
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)
You gesture toward your ally and call upon the power of your beliefs.
A soft, golden glow appears on your companion's chest, around his heart.
The subject of this powerful spell is unable to die from hit point damage.
While under the protection of this spell, the normal limit of -9 hit points before a character dies is extended without limit.
A condition or spell that destroys enough of the subject's body so as to not allow raise dead to work, such as a disintegrate effect, still kills the creature, as does death brought about by ability score damage, level drain, or a death effect.
The spell does not prevent the subject from entering the dying state by dropping to -1 hit points.
It merely prevents death as a result of hit point loss.
If the subject has fewer than -9 hit points when the spell's duration expires, it dies instantly.

DESICCATING BUBBLE

Necromancy
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: 3-ft.-radius sphere of air
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Reflex negates
Spell Resistance: Yes
From your outstretched hand bursts a small sphere similar in appearance to a soap bubble.
It quickly expands and speeds in the direction you indicate.
A globe of supernaturally dry air rolls in whichever direction you point and engulfs those it strikes.
It moves 30 feet per round and can leap up to 30 feet to strike a target.
If it enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals 2d4 points of damage as it evaporates moisture from the subject.
(The subject can negate this damage with a successful Reflex save).
Oozes, creatures composed of water (such as water elementals), and creatures with the aquatic subtype take 2d6 points of damage.
The bubble moves as long as you actively direct it (a move action for you); otherwise, it merely stays at rest.

The surface of the bubble has a spongy, yielding consistency (similar to that of a soap bubble, but not fragile and allowing objects to pass through it without affecting the spell) and so does not cause damage except by absorbing moisture.

It cannot batter down large obstacles.

The bubble winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Arcane Material Component: A tiny bag or bladder filled with air, and a sprinkle of dust.

DISRUPT UNDEAD, GREATER

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A black ray fires from your outstretched hand, piercing and passing through nearby undead.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

This spell functions like disrupt undead (PH 223), except that this ray deals 1d8 points of damage per caster level to any undead, to a maximum of 10d8.

If the damage is sufficient to destroy the first target, then you can redirect the ray to another undead target within 15 feet of the first target.

If you make a successful ranged touch attack on the second target, that target takes half of the damage rolled for the first target.

ENERGY EBB

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You point your finger and utter the incantation, releasing a black needle of crackling negative energy that suppresses the life force of any living creature it strikes.

This spell functions like enervation (PH 226), except the creature struck gains negative levels over an extended period.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If the attack succeeds, the subject initially gains one negative level, then continues to gain another negative level each round thereafter as its life force slowly bleeds away.

The drain can be stopped only by a successful DC 23 Heal check or the application of a heal, restoration, or greater restoration spell.

Each round after the first, on your turn, the affected creature can attempt a Fortitude saving throw to end the effect.

If you strike an undead creature, that creature gains 4d4 temporary hit points that last for up to 1 hour.

ENERVATING BREATH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

Your breath weapon explodes from your mouth, brilliant but mixed with sharp spikes of living darkness.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you can modify your breath weapon so that it is laced with negative energy.

In addition to the normal energy damage your breath weapon deals, creatures that fail their saving throws against the breath weapon gain 2d4 negative levels.

If the subject gains at least as many negative levels as it has Hit Dice, it dies.

Each negative level gives a creature the following penalties:

–1 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, skill checks, ability checks, and effective level (for determining the power, duration, DC, and other details of spells or special abilities).

Additionally, a spellcaster loses one spell or spell slot from her highest available level.

Assuming the subjects survive, they regain lost levels after a number of hours equal to your caster level.

Ordinarily, negative levels have a chance of permanently draining the subject's level, but the negative levels from enervating breath don't last long enough to do so.

If an undead creature is caught within the breath weapon, it gains 2d4 temporary hit points before taking damage from the breath weapon.

These temporary hit points last for up to 1 hour.

EVIL GLARE

Necromancy [Evil, Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Cleric 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 feet

Target: Living creatures

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast this spell and your eyes begin to tingle, brimming with dark energy.

You shoot a glance at your rival, and she freezes in her tracks from your malignant glare.

Immediately upon completion of the casting of this spell, you target a living creature within range with your glare; that creature becomes paralyzed with fear for 1d8 rounds.

You must be able to see the creature, and it must be able to see you (though it need not meet your gaze).

Once per round after that for the duration of the spell, you can target another creature with your glare as a standard action.

You can't target the same creature twice with a single casting of the spell, regardless of the outcome of its saves.

FAVOR OF THE MARTYR

Necromancy

Level: Paladin 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One willing creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Calling upon the saints of your order, you imbue the person in need with the power to resist the dire forces arrayed against you.

The subject gains immunity to nonlethal damage, charm and compulsion effects, and attacks that function specifically by causing pain, such as the wrack spell (see page 243).

It is further immune to effects that would cause it to be dazed, exhausted, fatigued, nauseated, sickened, staggered, or stunned.

The subject remains conscious at -1 to -9 hit points and can take a single action each round while in that state, and does not lose hit points for acting.

If any of the above conditions were in effect on the subject at the time of casting, they are suspended for the spell's duration.

(Thus, an unconscious subject becomes conscious and functional).

When the spell ends, any effects suspended by the spell that have not expired in the interim (such as the fatigued condition, which normally requires 8 hours of rest to recover from) return.

Effects that expired during the duration of this spell do not resume when it ends.

In addition to these effects, the subject gains the benefit of the Endurance feat for the duration of the spell.

FIELD OF GHOULS

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Hunger 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Wrenching life from their bodies with your magic, your foes' remains stir and rise as ghouls under your control.

Humanoid creatures in the area with -1 to -9 hit points that fail their saving throws die and immediately rise as ghouls (MM 118) under your control.

You choose whether the ghouls follow you, or whether they can remain where formed and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) the ghouls notice.

The ghouls remain until they are destroyed.

The ghouls that you create remain under your control indefinitely.

No matter how many ghouls you generate with this spell, however, you can control only 4 HD worth of undead creatures per caster level (this includes undead from all sources under your control).

If you exceed this number, all the newly created creatures fall under your control, and any excess undead from previous castings become uncontrolled (you choose which creatures are released).

If you are a cleric, any undead you might command by virtue of your power to command or rebuke undead do not count toward the limit.

Creatures that fall to -1 hit points or fewer in the area after the spell is cast are likewise subject to its effect and rise as ghouls on your next turn.

No creature can be affected by this spell more than once per round, regardless of the number of times that the area of the spell passes over it.

This spell does not affect creatures that are already dead, or creatures that are killed by reducing their hit points to -10.

FLESHSHIVER

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Breaking the bone in the grip of your fist, you hear the sickening but satisfying crunch of your foe's bones breaking beneath his squeezing flesh.

A creature with Hit Dice less than or equal to your caster level is automatically stunned for 1 round (no saving throw).

A creature with Hit Dice greater than your caster level is allowed a saving throw to negate the stunning effect.

In the following round, the target must make a Fortitude save or take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) and be nauseated by the pain for 1d4+2 rounds.

Material Component: A bone, which is snapped during the casting of the spell.

GENERAL OF UNDEATH

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 24 hours

You focus on the darkness within your soul, willing it to grow and grant you the power to control a greater number of undead minions.

This spell increases the number of Hit Dice of undead that you can control by an amount equal to your caster level.

When the duration expires, you lose control of the extra undead as if you had voluntarily relinquished control of them.

GHOUL GAUNTLET

Necromancy [Death, Evil]

Level: Hunger 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One living humanoid creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your touch gradually transforms a living victim into a ravening, flesh-eating ghoul.

The subject takes 3d6 points of damage per round while its body slowly dies and its flesh is transformed into the cold, undying flesh of the undead.

When the victim reaches 0 hit points, it becomes a ghoul (MM 118).

If the target fails its initial saving throw, remove disease, dispel magic, heal, limited wish, miracle, Mordenkainen's disjunction, remove curse, wish, or greater restoration negates the gradual change.

Healing spells can temporarily prolong the process by increasing the victim's hit points, but the transformation continues unabated.

The ghoul that you create remains under your control indefinitely.

No matter how many ghouls you generate with this spell, however, you can control only 4 HD worth of undead creatures per caster level (this includes undead from all sources under your control).

If you exceed this number, all the newly created creatures fall under your control, and any excess undead from previous castings become uncontrolled (you choose which creatures are released).

If you are a cleric, any undead you might command by virtue of your power to command or rebuke undead do not count toward the limit.

GHOUL GESTURE

Necromancy

Level: Hunger 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

A green ray stabs from your pointing finger to strike the belly of your enemy.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A subject that is successfully targeted must make a Fortitude save or be paralyzed for the duration of the spell.

A subject of the ray that succeeds on its Fortitude save is instead sickened for the duration of the spell.

Neutralize poison removes the sickened condition.

Material Component: A small scrap of cloth taken from clothing worn by a ghoul, or a pinch of earth from a ghoul's lair.

GHOUL GLYPH

Necromancy

Level: Hunger 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Object touched

Duration: Permanent until discharged

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

The faint, green glow of the glyph flares to life.

A sickly green light fills the room, illuminating the paralyzed forms of its victims, and bringing with it the stench of death.

You inscribe a glyph, approximately 1 foot across, that paralyzes any living creature of Large or smaller size that comes within 5 feet of the glyph.

You can scribe the glyph to be visible as faintly glowing lines, or invisible.

You can inscribe a ghoul glyph on a portable object, but if the object is moved more than 5 feet, the glyph fades.

Conditions for triggering a ghoul glyph are stringent.

It takes effect on any creature except yourself that moves within 5 feet.

It affects invisible creatures normally but is not triggered by those that travel past it ethereally.

Only a single ghoul glyph can be inscribed in a 5-foot square.

Ghoul glyphs cannot be affected or bypassed by such means as physical or magical probing, though they can be dispelled.

Mislead and nondetection can fool a ghoul glyph.

Read magic allows identification of a ghoul glyph with a successful DC 13 Spellcraft check, if the glyph is noticed before it is activated.

A rogue can use the Search skill to find a ghoul glyph and Disable Device to thwart it.

The DC in each case is 27.

When a glyph is activated, the target is paralyzed for 1d6+2 rounds.

Additionally, if the target fails a Fortitude save, the paralyzed subject exudes a carrion stench that causes distress in all creatures within a 10-foot radius.

Those in the radius, including the target, must make a Fortitude save or take a –2 penalty on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saving throws, skill checks, and ability checks until the paralysis effect wears off.

Material Component: You trace the glyph with earth from a ghoul's lair.

GHOUL LIGHT

Necromancy

Level: Hunger 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Effect: Magical, heatless flame

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A sickly green flame springs forth from an object that you touch.

The effect looks like a regular flame, equivalent in brightness to a torch, except for its green hue, but it creates no heat and doesn't use oxygen.

Ghoul light can be covered and hidden, but not smothered or quenched.

All undead within 30 feet of a source of ghoulish light gain +1 turn resistance.

Multiple ghoulish light sources do not stack.

Darkness spells of 2nd level or higher can counter ghoulish light.

Material Component: A bit of rendered fat.

GRAYMANTLE

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a cloud of sickly gray energy that streaks toward a living creature, wrapping it in the foul essence of unlife.

A skull-shaped cloud of gray energy strikes your target.

The gray radiance is transferred to the creature, covering it entirely.

For the duration of the spell, a living subject cannot regain hit points or ability score points by any means (undead creatures can still gain hit points), nor can the creature remove negative levels.

Regeneration or fast healing abilities the subject has from any source are suppressed for the duration of the spell.

Spells that heal damage do not work on that individual.

The subject can improve its current hit points by boosting its Constitution score and can receive temporary hit points (from an aid spell, for example).

When the spell ends, automatic healing abilities, such as a troll's regeneration, and items that restore hit points, such as a ring of regeneration, begin to function again.

Material Component: A skull.

HEALING STING

Necromancy

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: You and one living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your palms tingle as you smash the dead wasps between your hands.

The tingling intensifies as you strike the opposing warrior, pulling his vitality into yourself.

Focusing the power of negative energy, you deal 1d12 points of damage +1 per caster level (maximum 1d12+10) to a living creature and gain an equal amount of hit points if you make a successful melee touch attack.

A healing sting cannot give you more hit points than your full normal total.

Excess hit points are lost.

Material Component: Five dried wasp bodies.

HEALING TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The skin of your hands turns translucent, showing the muscle and bone beneath.

You touch your badly injured ally and feel your own vitality leave your body and enter his damaged form.

You transfer some of your life essence to the subject of the spell, healing it.

You can heal up to 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6), and you decide how many dice to roll when you cast the spell.

You take damage equal to half the amount your subject was healed.

This spell cannot heal a subject of more damage than your current hit points +10, which is enough to kill you.

HEART OF STONE

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, F, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 year

You feel a hard shove from within your chest as you finally complete the complicated phrases and intricate motions of this taxing spell.

Sweat beads on your forehead and your breath comes shallow and fast.

The rhythmic rush of sound in your ears that usually accompanies such heavy physical exertion is disquietingly absent.

You exchange your own living heart for a finely crafted heart of perfect, unblemished stone, altering the nature of your body.

Your living heart can be stored or hidden anywhere you like, where it continues to beat for the duration of the spell. While under the effect of heart of stone, you gain damage reduction 5/- and resistance to cold 5, fire 5, and electricity 5, but are subject to the following disadvantages.

Your rate of natural healing slows to only 1 hit point per day (regardless of character level or whether you rest).

In addition, your own living heart is susceptible to attack; if it is damaged or destroyed, you are instantly slain.

Heart of stone can be dispelled, in which case your living heart instantly returns to its proper place while the stone heart is transported to the place where you left your heart.

Your heart and the stone heart likewise switch places if you enter an antimagic field (temporarily negating the spell's effects), but the spell resumes when you leave it.

Stone to flesh can also end the spell, though you get a Fortitude saving throw to resist.

Focus: A carved stone heart of exceptional quality (jade, obsidian, or gold-veined marble) worth 5,000 gp.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

HEART RIPPER

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Assassin 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a sweep of your hand, invisible magic slams into your target.

With a bloody pop and squelch, the heart of your target bursts out its back, dropping the creature like a discarded rag doll.

Invisible bolts of force instantly slay the target you designate by driving its heart from its body unless it succeeds on a Fortitude save.

If the target has HD higher than your caster level, it does not die on a failed saving throw, but instead is stunned for 1d4 rounds.

Creatures that don't depend on their hearts for survival, creatures with no anatomy, and creatures immune to extra damage from critical hits are unaffected by the spell.

HEAT DRAIN

Necromancy [Cold]

Level: Cleric 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The heat in the room seems to rush toward you, leaving everyone around you in bone-chilling pain while you feel amazingly refreshed and alive.

You drain the heat from all living creatures within the affected area except you.

This influx of warmth heals and empowers you.

All affected living creatures take 1d6 points of cold damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

For every living creature that takes damage from this spell, you gain 2 temporary hit points.

The temporary hit points last for up to 1 minute per level.

IMPERIOUS GLARE

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One living creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You regard your foes with a steely glare that would peel paint from a wagon.

Motes of dark energy dance before your eyes and they, to a body, freeze in fear.

The targets must make successful Will saves or cower.

The saving throw DC to resist this effect is either the normal save DC for the spell or the save DC for your natural frightful presence ability, whichever is higher. You cannot cast this spell if you do not have a frightful presence ability, either natural or magically bestowed (such as from the aura of terror spell, for example).

INCORPOREAL ENHANCEMENT

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One incorporeal undead/level

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Calling upon the dark power of the Plane of Negative Energy, you bolster the power of incorporeal undead.

The undead affected by this spell gain a +1 deflection bonus to Armor Class, +1d8 bonus hit points, a +1 enhancement bonus on attack rolls, and a +2 bonus to turn resistance.

Each of these enhancements improves by the base amount for every five caster levels beyond 5th, so that a 20th-level caster grants undead +4 to AC, +4d8 bonus hit points, +4 on attack rolls, and +8 to turn resistance.

INCORPOREAL NOVA

Necromancy [Death]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 50-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A nova of dissolution dissipates the immaterial bodies of incorporeal and gaseous creatures, destroying them instantly.

The spell destroys 1d4 HD worth of creatures per caster level (maximum 20d4) in the area.

Usually, creatures such as shadows, wraiths, spectres, ghosts, and similar creatures are destroyed, though vampires and living creatures in gaseous form are also affected, as are other incorporeal creatures.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first; among creatures with equal HD, those that are closest to the point of origin of the burst are affected first.

No creature with 9 or more HD is affected, and HD that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

INFESTATION OF MAGGOTS

Necromancy

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/2 levels

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch your foe with the dust of dead flies on your fingers, giving birth to hundreds of writhing maggots in his flesh. With a successful melee touch attack, you infest a creature with maggotlike creatures. If the touched creature fails a Fortitude saving throw, the magical maggots deal 1d4 points of Constitution damage each round at the beginning of your turn. The subject makes a new Fortitude save each round to negate the damage in that round and end the effect. The infestation can be removed with a remove disease or heal spell.
Material Component: A handful of dead, dried flies.

JUNGLERAZER

Necromancy
Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: 120 ft.
Area: 120-ft. line
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: Reflex half
Spell Resistance: Yes
Invisible destructive energy springs silently forth from you, instantly destroying all natural plant life in the area and leaving a path of ash in its wake.
Fey, vermin, plants and plant creatures, and animals caught in the area take 1d10 points of negative energy damage per caster level (maximum 10d10).
Material Component: A pinch of ash from a burnt plant.

KISS OF THE VAMPIRE

Necromancy
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 round/level
Drawing upon the powers of unlife, you give yourself abilities similar to those of a vampire.
You become gaunt and pale with feral, red eyes.
You gain damage reduction 10/magic, and you can use any one of the following abilities each round as a standard action.

- enervation, as a melee touch attack
- vampiric touch, as a melee touch attack
- charm person
- gaseous form (self only)

While you are using this spell, inflict spells heal you and cure spells hurt you. You are treated as if you were undead for the purpose of all spells and effects. A successful turn (or rebuke) attempt against an undead of your Hit Dice requires you to make a Will saving throw (DC 10 + turning character's Cha modifier) or be panicked (or cowering) for 10 rounds. A turn attempt that would destroy (or command) undead of your Hit Dice requires you to make a Will save (DC 15 + turning character's Cha modifier) or be stunned (or charmed as by charm monster) for 10 rounds.

Any charm effect you create with this spell ends when the spell ends, but all other effects remain until their normal duration expires.
Material Component: A black onyx worth at least 50 gp that has been carved with the image of a fang-mouthed face.

LIFE BOLT

Necromancy
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: Up to five rays
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes
Holding your palm outward, you intone the spell and empower it with a bit of your own life.
A golden ray beams forth from your hand, striking an undead creature where its heart should have been.
You draw forth some of your own life force to create a beam of positive energy that harms undead. You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target. You must make a ranged touch attack to hit, and if the ray hits an undead creature, it deals 1d12 points of damage. Creating each beam deals you 1 point of nonlethal damage. For every two caster levels beyond 1st, you can create an additional ray, up to a maximum of five rays at 9th level. If you shoot multiple rays, you can have them strike a single creature or several creatures. You must designate targets before you check for spell resistance or roll damage. All rays must be aimed at enemies that are all within 30 feet of each other.

LIVING UNDEATH

Necromancy
Level: Cleric 2
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)
You invoke the will of your gods and your skin sags and becomes sallow, your eyes hollow, and your flesh foul and rotted.
This spell imparts a physical transformation upon the subject, not unlike the process that produces a zombie. While the subject does not actually become undead, its vital processes are temporarily bypassed with no seeming ill effect. The subject is not subject to sneak attacks and critical hits for the duration of the spell, as if it were undead. While the spell is in effect, the subject takes a -4 penalty to its Charisma score (to a minimum of 1).

MARK OF THE OUTCAST

Necromancy
Level: Blackguard 1, cleric 2, druid 2

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

A dull purple splotch in the shape of a skull manifests itself on your victim's flesh, visible to all.

This spell creates an indelible mark on the subject's face (or other upper body part, if the subject doesn't have a head). The mark is visible to normal vision, low-light vision, and darkvision.

The wearer of such a mark takes a -5 circumstance penalty on Bluff and Diplomacy checks and a -2 penalty to Armor Class.

The mark cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

MIASMA OF ENTROPY

Necromancy

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area or Target: Cone-shaped burst or one solid object; see text

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half or Will negates (object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

A red mist rises from the ground as you intone this spell, billowing outward from you.

Within it you see leaves curl up, scrolls rot from their spindles, and the leather armor of your foes drip from their vulnerable forms.

Miasma of entropy causes accelerated decay in all wood, leather, and other natural materials in the spell's area.

It destroys nonmagical objects of wood, leather, paper, and other formerly living organic matter.

All such objects within the area rot into slimy, pulpy masses.

Objects weighing more than 1 pound per caster level are not affected, but all other objects of the appropriate composition are ruined.

Alternatively, you can target miasma of entropy against a single solid object of nonliving nonmagical organic matter that weighs up to 10 pounds per caster level.

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You spit on your fingers and whip your hand in a snakelike motion, imbuing it with poisoning magic.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC 10 + 1/2 your caster level + your Int or Cha modifier, for wizards or sorcerers, respectively).

Material Component: A piece of a toadstool.

NATUREWATCH

Necromancy

Level: Druid 0, ranger 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Reaching out with your heart, you seek knowledge of the health of plants and animals in the area.

This spell is similar to deathwatch (PH 217), but it functions only on animals and plants.

In addition, it also allows you to determine a variety of other mundane information about the animals and plants (whether or not the plants are dehydrated, the animals are malnourished, and so forth).

NEGATIVE ENERGY AURA

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Area: 10-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

You speak the ancient words of this spell and an aura of black, crackling negative energy surrounds you.

Each round on your turn, every living creature within 10 feet of you loses 1 hit point per three caster levels (maximum 5).

Undead creatures instead gain 2 hit points per round (though they can't exceed their full normal hit point total from this effect).

Characters with immunity to negative energy effects are not affected by this aura.

The aura does not affect you.

NIGHT'S CARESS

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

A touch from your hand, which sheds darkness like the blackest night, disrupts the life force of a living creature.

Your touch deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6) and 1d6+2 points of Constitution damage. (A successful Fortitude saving throw negates the Constitution damage).

The spell has a special effect on an undead creature. An undead touched by you takes no damage or Constitution loss, but it must make a successful Will saving throw or flee as if panicked for 1d4 rounds +1 round per caster level.

OPALESCENT GLARE

Necromancy [Death, Good]

Level: Arborea 4, Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You invoke the spell and your eyes begin to glow with a rippling pearly radiance, like those of a noble ghaele eladrin.

Inspired by the deadly gaze of the noble ghaele eladrin, you gain a gaze attack usable against creatures within 60 feet.

If an evil creature with 5 or fewer Hit Dice meets your gaze (DMG 294), it dies unless it succeeds on a Will save.

Even if the save succeeds, the creature is affected as though by a fear spell (PH 229) for 2d10 rounds.

Non-evil creatures and evil creatures with more than 5 Hit Dice are not slain by the gaze, and they suffer the fear effect only if they fail the Will save.

PLAGUE OF UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more corpses within range

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Unleashing a cold rush of necromantic energy, you cause a host of undead to rise from the bodies of the fallen.

This spell turns the bones or bodies of dead creatures into undead skeletons (MM 225) or zombies (MM 265) with maximum hit points for their Hit Dice.

If you can control them, these undead follow your spoken commands.

The undead remain animated until destroyed (a destroyed skeleton or zombie can't be animated again).

Regardless of the specific numbers or kinds of undead created with this spell, you can't create more HD of undead with this spell than four times your caster level with a single casting of plague of undead.

The undead you create remain under your control indefinitely.

No matter how many times you use this spell or animate dead (PH 198), however, you can control only 4 HD worth of undead creatures per caster level.

The limit imposed by this spell and the animate dead spell are the same, meaning that creatures you animate with either spell count against this limit.

If you exceed this number, all the newly created creatures fall under your control and any excess undead from previous castings of this spell or animate dead become uncontrolled.

Any time you must release part of the undead that you control because of this spell or animate dead, you choose which undead are released until the total HD of undead you control is equal to four times your caster level.

The bones and bodies required for this spell follow the same restrictions as animate dead.

Material Component: A black sapphire worth 100 gp or several black sapphires with a total value of 100 gp.

RAY OF ENTROPY

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a crackling black ray.

The smell of decay fills the air.

When you cast this spell, you unleash a ray of negative energy that consumes the life energy of the subject.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If your attack is successful against a living creature, the ray makes the subject weaker, slower, and less healthy.

The subject takes a -4 penalty to Strength, Constitution, and Dexterity for the duration of the spell.

RAY OF SICKNESS

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Holding your outstretched hand palm down, you fire a sickly green ray.

Your hand feels cold and clammy for a few seconds after the ray flies forth.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

If your ranged touch attack hits, the subject becomes sickened.

RAY OF WEAKNESS

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A dark ray flies forth from your hand.

The air fills with the smell of blood.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The target of this ray feels weaker and takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls.

Its speed is reduced by 10 feet.

REBUKING BREATH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

Your expel your breath weapon, and it is filled with dancing white sparks that swarm around your foes and freeze them with fear.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you imbue your breath weapon with negative energy that rebukes undead in its area.

Undead within the area of your breath weapon that fail their saving throws against it cower as if in awe for 1 round.

REJUVENATIVE CORPSE

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: One humanoid that died within the past week

Duration: 24 hours or until discharged; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Hunger gnaws at your innards as you complete the spell.

Your hands glow with black crackling energy, which discharges into the corpse you touch.

For a moment, the corpse glows with a similar blackness before fading.

You charge a dead body with negative energy, giving it the ability to heal an undead creature that dines upon its flesh. The corpse remains charged with this energy for up to 24 hours.

If an undead creature eats a full meal of the corpse's flesh within this time (a humanlike undead creature, such as a ghoul, generally taking 10 minutes), the undead gains fast healing 1 upon completing its feast, which lasts for the next 5 minutes.

This effect does not stack with any fast healing the undead has from other sources.

This spell does not allow the undead to regrow or attach lost body parts.

Eating the flesh discharges the spell from the corpse.

You can cast this spell multiple times on a corpse, allowing more than one undead to benefit from eating it, though a single undead gorging itself on multiple "meals" does not gain any extra benefit while the first meal is in effect (the fast healing does not stack).

A typical Medium corpse is usually enough for ten such meals, a Small corpse five, Tiny two, and Diminutive one.

A living creature that eats a charged corpse must succeed on a Fortitude saving throw or immediately contract filth fever (DMG 292; no incubation time).

Creatures that are neither alive nor undead and eat the charged corpse are unaffected.

REVEILLE

Necromancy [Language-Dependent]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: One recently dead creature

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You touch the body and intone a lament, calling out to the living memory of the creature.

Tendrils of mystical energy sparkle around the creature's lips, and it begins to speak.

You cause a creature that has been dead for up to three days to reveal information about events that led up to its death.

The corpse speaks tersely in its native language, using no more than a dozen words or so in a round.

In the first round, it describes the last thing it saw.

In the second, it describes its dying wish.

In the third, it describes the attack that killed it.

In the fourth, it tells who killed it.

In the fifth, it tells why it believes it was killed.

REVIVE UNDEAD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Deathbound 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Destroyed undead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Touching the corpse of the creature, you whisper to its departed spirit, calling it back—but not to life.

Your restore animation to an undead creature destroyed by hit point loss (even a zombie or skeleton, which can't normally be reanimated once destroyed).

You can revive a destroyed undead creature that has been inactive for up to one day per caster level.

In addition, the subject's animating spirit must be free and willing to return.

If the subject's animating spirit is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, subjects that want to revive receive no saving throw.

Revive undead restores hit points to the subject up to a total of 1 hit point per Hit Die.

The body of the undead to be revived must be whole.

Otherwise, missing parts are still missing when the creature is reanimated.
None of the dead creature's equipment or possessions are affected in any way by this spell.
An undead that has been destroyed by a turning effect can't be revived by this spell.
The subject of the spell loses one level or Hit Die (if it doesn't have a character class level, it loses a HD) when it is revived.
This level loss cannot be repaired by any spell.
If the subject is 1st level, it loses 2 points of Charisma instead.
An undead that was destroyed with spells prepared has a 50% chance of losing any given spell upon being revived, in addition to losing spells for losing a level.
A spellcasting undead creature that doesn't prepare spells (such as a sorcerer) has a 50% chance of losing any given unused spell slot as if it had been used to cast a spell, in addition to losing spell slots for losing a level.
Material Component: A black pearl worth at least 5,000 gp.

SCOURGE

Necromancy

Level: Pestilence 7

Components: V, S, F, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Targets: One living creature/level, no two of which are more than 50 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Picking out those you wish revenge upon, you cause their bodies to erupt in painful and debilitating blackened boils, magenta blotches, violet lesions, seeping abscesses, and malignant cysts.

The target creatures are infected with a vile disease unless they succeed on a Fortitude save.

Once it has infected a creature, the disease immediately deals 1d6 points of Strength and Dexterity damage, and it deals the same damage each subsequent day.

A creature is allowed an additional saving throw each day to avoid that day's damage.

As with mummy rot (DMG 292), successful saves do not allow the creature to recover.

The symptoms persist until the creature finds some magical means to remove the disease.

The disease can be removed by first casting break enchantment or remove curse on the subject (requiring a DC 20 caster level check for either spell), after which a remove disease, heal, or similar spell will cure the victim.

Focus: A black whip or riding crop, which is cracked in the direction of the intended victims during the casting of the spell.

SHROUD OF UNDEATH

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You are bathed with a dappled white light.

Where it strikes your body, your flesh grows momentarily pale and ancient, then returns to normal.

You shroud yourself with invisible negative energy so that nonintelligent undead creatures perceive you as a fellow undead, ignoring you.

Your appearance does not change, and while intelligent undead do not immediately recognize you as alive, they are likely to question whether you are actually undead.

If used in conjunction with a disguise or illusion to appear undead, this spell gives you a +5 bonus on your Disguise check.

When you are affected by this spell, inflict spells heal you and cure spells hurt you.

You are treated as if you were undead for the purpose of all spells and effects that specifically affect undead creatures.

A successful turning or rebuking attempt against you (treating you as an undead of your Hit Dice) ends this spell but does not otherwise affect you.

If you attack an undead creature while this spell is in effect, the spell immediately ends.

Material Component: Dust or bone fragments from any destroyed undead creature.

SKELETAL GUARD

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One or more fingerbones

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Shaking the fingerbones in your hand like dice, you coat them in shadowy energy.

As you cast them to the ground to complete the spell, animate skeletons spring up where you threw the bones.

You create a number of loyal skeletons from fingerbones. Treat all skeletons as human warrior skeletons (MM 226), except that each one has turn resistance equal to your caster level – 1.

You can create one skeleton per caster level.

These skeletons count toward the number of Hit Dice of undead you can have in your control (4 HD per caster level, as with animate dead).

Material Component: One finger bone from a humanoid and one onyx gem worth 50 gp per skeleton to be created.

SKULL WATCH

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One humanoid skull

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

You lift the skull into the air and it floats gently out of your grasp, its eye sockets locked on a distant point.

The skull affected by a skull watch spell floats gently 5 feet off the ground, facing a direction you choose. It monitors an area 20 feet wide by 90 feet long, though walls and other opaque barriers can curtail this area. If any Tiny or larger living creature enters the area guarded by the skull, it emits a piercing shriek that can be heard up to a quarter mile away.

Every creature within 60 feet of the skull when it shrieks must make a Fortitude save or be deafened for 1d6 rounds. Whether or not you can hear this audible alarm, you instantly become aware that the effect has been triggered, provided you are on the same plane as it is.

The alarm resets 1d4 rounds later.

When you cast the spell, you can specify creatures that will not trigger the alarm.

The skull can be moved from its original position by anyone who can get to it without entering its monitored area.

The skull has AC 12, hardness 1, and 1 hit point per caster level.

You are not magically made aware of the skull's destruction if it has not been triggered.

Focus: The humanoid skull upon which the spell is cast.

SPARK OF LIFE

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 3, druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Undead creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A touch from your hand outlines an undead creature in a faint yellow glow, making it vulnerable to many of the dangers that can harm living creatures.

For the duration of the spell, the undead creature is subject to extra damage from critical hits (and thus sneak attacks), nonlethal damage, ability drain, energy drain, fatigue, exhaustion, and damage to its physical ability scores (though it still lacks a Constitution score and thus can't take Constitution damage) as if it were alive.

It loses its immunity to effects that require a Fortitude save, as well as its invulnerability to poison, sleep effects, paralysis, stunning, disease, and death effects.

However, an undead affected by this spell gains a bonus on its Fortitude saves equal to its Charisma bonus (if any).

(The bonus doesn't apply to Fortitude saves against effects that also affect objects).

It must breathe, eat, and sleep just like a normal living creature (though the last two aren't likely to come into play thanks to the spell's short duration).

While it is under the effect of this spell, both negative energy (such as inflict spells) and positive energy (such as cure spells) heal damage to the undead creature, rather than damaging it.

An undead creature affected by this spell retains all of its other traits.

SPAWN SCREEN

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Hoping that your friend will not have need of the spell, you ensure that his death in the coming battle won't result in an even greater abomination.

The subject does not rise as an undead spawn should it perish from an undead's attack that normally would turn it into a spawn, such as from the bite of a ghoul (MM 118).

This spell doesn't prevent the subject from perishing or provide anything other than insurance that the subject's body and spirit cannot be hijacked by an acquisitive undead creature.

The protection applies if the duration is still in effect when the subject first dies; the spell need not linger in its effect during the period immediately prior to a spawn's rise.

This spell cannot be cast on the body of a creature that has already been killed by a spawn-creating undead.

SPECTRAL TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 1 round/level (D); see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A touch from your hand, which crackles with black energy, weakens the life force of living creatures.

Each melee touch attack you successfully make during the spell's duration channels negative energy that bestows one negative level on the target and grants you 5 temporary hit points.

This spell cannot give you more temporary hit points than your normal starting hit points (your hit point total cannot exceed two times your normal starting hit points).

Both the negative level and the temporary hit points last for up to 1 hour.

You can use this attack once per round for a number of rounds equal to your caster level.

Any charges of the spell not used by the time the duration expires are lost.

An undead creature you touch instead gains 5 temporary hit points and you lose a like amount (no save).

Temporary hit points gained in this way last for up to 1 hour.

SPIDER POISON

Necromancy

Level: Assassin 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold the husk of the spider in your hand and speak the words of the spell.

The husk vanishes, but leaves in your palm the brief glowing image of a spider.

You poison a subject by making a successful melee touch attack.

The poison deals 1d6 points of Strength damage immediately and another 1d6 points of Strength damage 1 minute later.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC 10 + 1/2 your caster level + your relevant spellcasting ability modifier (Intelligence for wizards and assassins, Charisma for sorcerers).

Material Component: A poisonous spider, alive or dead.

SPIRIT WORM

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level, up to 5 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You press the bit of blackened bone against your foe and intone the spell.

The bone vanishes, leaving a mottled bruise where it touched.

You create a lingering decay in the spirit and body of the target.

If the target fails its saving throw, it takes 1 point of Constitution damage each round while the spell lasts (maximum 5 points).

The victim can attempt a Fortitude saving throw each round, and success negates the Constitution damage for that round and ends the spell.

Material Component: A piece of fire-blackened ivory or bone carved in the shape of a segmented worm.

SPIRITWALL

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Swirling wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level, or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: No

With a deep groan, as from a being subjected to eternal pain, you unleash the spell.

An immobile, swirling mass of green-white forms resembling tortured spirits forms nearby.

The mass continues the low groaning you uttered while casting the spell.

One side of the wall, selected by you, emits a low groaning that causes creatures within 60 feet of that side to make a Will save or become frightened and flee for 1d4 rounds.

Any living creature that merely touches the wall takes 1d10 points of damage as its life force is disrupted.

A living creature passing through the wall takes 1d10 points of damage, as above, and must make a Fortitude save or gain one negative level.

The barrier is semimaterial and opaque, providing cover and total concealment against physical attacks, and it blocks line of effect for magical effects (including spells, spell-like abilities, and supernatural abilities).

Material Component: A clear cut gemstone.

STOLEN BREATH

Necromancy [Air]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature that breathes air

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a clenched fist, you make a tugging motion toward your target.

A transparent, barely perceptible hand appears to plunge into your target's mouth.

With this spell, you steal all the air from the subject's lungs, causing it to suffer a momentary respiratory crisis.

It can take shallow breaths and act normally but is considered sickened for 1 minute.

At any time during this minute, the subject can take a full-round action to get its wind back, ending the condition.

Focus: A stoppered glass vial.

SWORD OF DARKNESS

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Effect: Black blade of negative energy

You shatter the sword in your hand against a stone, bringing into being a similar weapon made entirely of black energy.

As soon as it forms, the black blade attacks.

This spell functions like sword of deception (see below), except that you cause a black blade of pure negative energy to appear and attack opponents at a distance, as directed by you.

Instead of dealing damage, a sword of darkness bestows one negative level on each successful hit against a living creature, threatens a critical hit on a roll of 19–20, and bestows two negative levels on a critical hit.

Negative levels usually have a chance of permanently draining the subject's levels, but the negative levels from sword of darkness don't last long enough to do so.

However, if the subject gains at least as many negative levels as it has Hit Dice, it dies.

If the sword strikes an undead creature, it grants that creature 5 temporary hit points per two caster levels (maximum 25 temporary hit points) that last for up to 1 hour.

Material Component: A bastard sword or longsword, which is shattered against a stone while casting the spell.

UNDEAD LIEUTENANT

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One undead creature; see text

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You cast your spell on the foul creature, and for a brief moment your own face appears atop its ruined body.

You empower the subject undead with the authority of command over undead in your control.

The targeted undead must have Intelligence 5 or higher.

Undead under your control obey the target undead as if it were you.

You can give orders to the undead normally, superseding the orders of the subject of this spell.

The number of undead you can control is increased by an amount equal to your caster level as long as the undead lieutenant is active.

If the target undead creature is destroyed, the spell ends.

You can have only one undead lieutenant at any time.

UNDEAD TORCH

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One corporeal undead/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You make a dark incantation and smash the firefly between your thumb and forefinger.

The undead bursts into blue flames that do not burn.

The subject creature deals an extra 2d6 points of damage on melee attacks against living creatures.

If an attacked creature has spell resistance, the resistance is checked the first time the undead subject attacks it.

If your caster level check fails, the creature is unaffected by that casting of the undead torch.

If the undead creature is destroyed, the undead torch continues to burn at the location of its destruction until the duration ends, and living creatures that pass through that area take 2d6 points of damage.

If the undead creature assumes a nonphysical state (such as a vampire assuming gaseous form), the spell disperses harmlessly.

Material Component: A living or dead firefly or glowworm.

VEIL OF UNDEATH

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Upon completion of the spell, you exhale your last breath and accept a brief embrace from death.

You gain many of the traits common to undead creatures.

While the spell lasts, you have immunity to mind-affecting spells and abilities, poison, sleep, paralysis, stunning, disease, death, extra damage from critical hits, nonlethal damage, death from massive damage, ability drain, energy drain, fatigue, exhaustion, damage to physical ability scores, and any effect requiring a Fortitude save unless it is harmless or affects objects.

You need not breathe, eat, or sleep.

Like an undead creature, you are damaged by cure spells and healed by inflict spells.

You don't actually gain the undead type from casting this spell.

Material Component: A finger from a zombie.

WAIL OF DOOM

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 5

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous + 1 round/level or 1 round; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You unleash a terrible cry of malice and anger.

The very air darkens with black energy as your cry echoes away from you.

Anyone caught in the area of this spell suffers excruciating pain and becomes demoralized.

Each creature takes 1d4 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d4) and becomes panicked for 1 round per caster level.

A successful Will save halves the damage, reduces the panicked effect to shaken, and reduces the duration of the shaken effect to 1 round.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE

Necromancy

Level: Balance 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You speak the words of power, and a warm orange fire radiates from you, aiding those that believe in the true balance, and harming all others.

This spell harms or heals creatures within its area based on their alignments and life status.

The effect does the most harm to those creatures most extreme in alignment and most out of balance with the natural world.

For living creatures that have an alignment with no neutral component (LG, CG, LE, or CE), this spell acts as an inflict critical wounds spell (PH 244).

For living creatures that have an alignment with a neutral component and one other (NG, LN, CN, or NE), this spell acts as an inflict moderate wounds spell (PH 244).

For living creatures that have a neutral alignment (N) and all undead creatures, this spell acts as a heal spell (PH 239), dealing damage to undead but acting as a beneficial spell to neutral creatures.

WITHER LIMB

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Deathbound 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Limbs of one humanoid

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Uttering a rumbling phrase, you point at your foe and watch with delight as its limbs wither and twist, becoming useless.

You choose to wither either the arms or the legs of a humanoid.

Withered legs force a subject to fall prone while at the same time reducing the subject's land speed to 5 feet.

Withered arms make it impossible for the subject to use objects or cast spells with somatic components.

A withered limb can be restored to normal by a successful dispel magic from a spellcaster of a level higher than the level of the wither limb caster.

WITHERING PALM

Necromancy

Level: Cleric 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A black shroud of magical energy surrounds your hands.

Beneath the shroud your hands look withered and aged, like uncared-for ancient leather on the verge of crumbling to dust.

Your successful melee touch attack deals 1 point of Strength damage and 1 point of Constitution damage per two caster levels to the target (maximum of 10 points each). If you score a critical hit, the subject takes ability drain instead, but the effect is not doubled.

WRACK

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One humanoid

Duration: 1 round/level + 3d10 minutes; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With the final word of the spell, your chosen foe is wracked with such pain that it doubles over and collapses.

Its face and hands blister and drip fluid, and its eyes cloud with blood, rendering it blind.

Your touch causes your target to experience excruciating pain.

For the duration of the spell, the subject falls prone and is blinded and helpless.

Even when the spell ends, the subject is still shaken for 3d10 minutes.

WRACKING TOUCH

Necromancy

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cry out with malice and clench your fist, completing the spell. The spell's terrible energy causes your fist to shake involuntarily, sending spasms up your arm.

You lay your hand upon a creature and deal 1d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10).

In addition, if you have the sneak attack ability, you also deal sneak attack damage to the affected creature unless the creature is immune to extra damage from critical hits.

The creature still takes the spell damage even if it does not take the sneak attack damage.

Unlike a normal use of sneak attack, your target need not be flanked or denied its Dexterity bonus to take sneak attack damage from this spell.

TRANSMUTATION

ABSORB WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Effect: One touched weapon not in another creature's possession

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (object); see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

The weapon you hold in your hand begins to fade from existence as you complete the spell.

With the last words of the spell it disappears completely.

At the same moment, a weapon-shaped red blotch appears on your arm.

You can harmlessly absorb a weapon you are touching (even a poisoned one) into your arm, as long as it is not in another creature's possession.

The weapon must be a light weapon for you at the time you cast the spell.

The absorbed weapon cannot be felt under the skin and doesn't restrict your range of motion in any way.

An absorbed weapon cannot be detected with even a careful search, although detect magic reveals the presence of a magical aura.

The only evidence of its presence is a faint blotch on your skin shaped vaguely like the weapon. When you touch the spot (an action equivalent to drawing a weapon), or when the spell duration expires, the weapon appears in your hand and the spell ends. If you attack with the weapon in the same round that you retrieve it from its hiding place, you can attempt a Bluff check to feint in combat as a free action, and you gain a +4 bonus on the Bluff check. An intelligent magic weapon gets a saving throw against this spell, but other weapons do not.

ACCELERATED MOVEMENT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

An azure glow surrounds you as you complete the motions that unleash the spell.

You immediately feel lighter of foot.

While this spell is in effect, you can move at your normal speed when using Balance, Climb, Hide, Move Silently, and Tumble without taking any penalty on your check. This spell does not affect the penalty for using these skills while running or charging.

Material Component: A dead cockroach.

AIR BREATHING

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creatures touched

Duration: 2 hours/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Tiny bubbles form on your hands as you complete the spell.

As you touch each subject, its chest heaves and shudders, then begins to rhythmically expand and contract.

The transmuted creatures can breathe air freely.

Divide the duration evenly among all the creatures you touch.

This spell does not make creatures unable to breathe water.

Arcane Material Component: A short reed or piece of straw.

ALIGN FANG

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You kneel beside your animal companion and press a sprig of mistletoe against its forehead, calling upon the power of nature.

Align fang makes a creature's natural weapons good-, evil-, lawful-, or chaotic-aligned, as you choose.

A natural weapon that is aligned can overcome the damage reduction of certain creatures, usually outsiders of the opposite alignment.

This spell has no effect on a natural weapon that is already treated as being aligned, such as the claw or bite attack of most demons.

You can't cast this spell on a manufactured weapon, such as a sword.

When you cast this spell to make a natural weapon good-, evil-, lawful-, or chaotic-aligned, align fang is a good, evil, lawful, or chaotic spell, respectively.

ALIGN FANG, MASS

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You hold a sprig of mistletoe aloft and invoke the powers of nature.

Your animal allies glow pale blue at their muzzles and paws.

This spell functions like align fang, except that it affects multiple allies at a distance.

ALIGN WEAPON, MASS

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Cleric 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One weapon/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You hold your holy symbol high and speak old words of power.

Your party's weapons take on a pale blue radiance.

This spell functions like align weapon (PH 197), except that it affects multiple weapons or projectiles at a distance.

ALLEGRO

Transmutation

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With a quick wiggle of your fingers and a few arcane words, you release the feather in your hand to complete the spell.

Suddenly, translucent blue motes burst outward from you and collect on yourself and your nearby allies before fading away.

Each creature within the spell's area gains a 30-foot enhancement bonus to its land speed, up to a maximum of double the creature's land speed.

Affected creatures retain these effects for the duration of the spell, even if they leave the original area.

Material Component: A tail feather from a bird of prey.

AMANUENSIS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 0, sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Object or objects with writing

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You point at the writing and then move your hand as though holding a stylus or quill.

As you intone the spell, the script appears on a sheet of paper close at hand.

You cause writing from one source (such as a book) to be copied into a book, paper, or parchment.

This spell copies 250 words per minute and creates a perfect duplicate of the original.

The spell copies only nonmagical text, not illustrations or magical writings (such as the text of a spellbook, a spell scroll, or a septa snake sigil).

If the target contains normal and magical writing (such as a letter with explosive runes), only the normal text is copied, leaving blank space in the copied text where the magical writing would be expected.

Likewise, if the target contains text and illustration, only the text is copied.

The spell triggers (but does not copy) writing-based magic traps in the material being copied.

Blank paper, parchment, or a book must be provided for the spell to write upon.

If the target has multiple pages, the spell automatically turns to the next blank page whenever necessary.

If more pages in the target exist than blank pages are available, the spell copies the original until it runs out of blank pages.

At any time during the spell's duration you can redirect the magic to copy from another target, copy onto a different blank source, or resume a duplication that was interrupted by a shortfall of blank pages.

The spell does not translate the copied writing.

If you do not understand the original, you have no additional ability to understand the copy.

AMORPHOUS FORM

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing corporeal creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You dust your ally with gelatin and silently evoke the spell.

Immediately her bones begin to soften and she and her belongings slump, becoming malleable ooze.

The subject and all its gear become amorphous and ooze-like.

This new form is boneless and fluid, enabling the subject to pass through holes or narrow openings as small as 2 inches in diameter.

While amorphous, the subject is immune to poison, polymorphing, and stunning, it cannot be flanked, and it is not subject to extra damage from critical hits.

It gains a swim speed (if it does not have one already) equal to its land speed.

The subject can remain submerged as long as desired without breathing.

The subject's armor (including natural armor) becomes worthless, though its modifiers for size, Dexterity, and deflection still apply to Armor Class, as do armor bonuses from force effects (for example, from the mage armor spell). While amorphous, the subject can't attack or cast spells that require verbal, somatic, material, or focus components. (This limitation does not rule out the casting of any spells that the subject might have prepared using the metamagic feats Eschew Materials, Silent Spell, and Still Spell).

The subject loses all supernatural abilities while in amorphous form, and its magic items, aside from those bonuses noted above, cease functioning as long as it remains amorphous.

Material Component: A pinch of gelatin.

AMPLIFY

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a creature, object, or point in space

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

You need to hear what's going on.

A hand motion or two, and the voices become louder to your ears.

You cause an amplification of all sounds within the spell's area.

This decreases the DC to hear those sounds by 20.

Those creatures within the spell's area do not notice the increased amplification.

Thus, anyone whose voice is amplified remains unaware of the increase in volume.

The spell can be centered on a creature, and the effect then radiates from the creature and moves as it moves.

An unwilling creature can attempt a Will save to negate the spell and can apply spell resistance, if any.

Items in a creature's possession receive the benefits of saves and spell resistance, but unattended objects and points in space do not.

Amplify counters and dispels silence, and is also countered and dispelled by silence.

ANARCHIC WATER

Transmutation [Chaotic]

Level: Cleric 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You speak the ancient, slippery words as you pour the iron and silver into the flask.

Despite the fact that there is more powder than room in the bottle, all of it dissolves, leaving a flask of water swirling with motes of gold.

This transmutation imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with the energy of chaos, turning it into anarchic water.

Anarchic water damages lawful outsiders the way holy water damages undead and evil outsiders.

A flask of anarchic water can be thrown as a splash weapon.

Treat this attack as a ranged touch attack with a range increment of 10 feet.

A flask breaks if thrown against the body of a corporeal creature, but to use it against an incorporeal creature, the bearer must open the flask and pour the anarchic water out onto the target.

Thus, a character can douse an incorporeal creature with anarchic water only if he is adjacent to it.

Doing so is a ranged touch attack that does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

A direct hit by a flask of anarchic water deals 2d4 points of damage to a lawful outsider.

Each such creature within 5 feet of the point where the flask hits takes 1 point of damage from the splash.

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered iron and silver (worth 25 gp).

ANIMATE BREATH

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round/level

You exhale a flaming tongue of fire, but instead of lashing out against your foes, it produces a creature made of flames that answers to your bidding.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you imbue the energy of your breath weapon with coherence, mobility, and a semblance of life.

The animated breath then attacks whomever or whatever you designate.

The spell works only on breath weapons that deal energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic) damage.

The animated breath uses the statistics of a Huge fire elemental (MM 99), with the following exceptions.

- The creature's subtype changes to match the energy damage dealt by the breath weapon.
- The creature deals 2d8 points of damage of the same type as the breath weapon with each successful slam attack, instead of 2d8 points of fire.
- The creature has immunity to its own energy type, but no vulnerability to another energy type.
- The creature does not have the burn ability.

ANIMATE FIRE

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One Small fire

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By casting the mixture in your hand at the fire, you complete the spell.

Immediately thereafter, a part of the flame coalesces into a vaguely humanoid shape more solid looking than the rest.

You animate a fire, which must be approximately the size of a campfire.

The animated fire has the statistics of a Small fire elemental (MM 98), and attacks as you direct.

It cannot move beyond the range of its source fire (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels).

Material Component: A handful of charcoal, sulfur, and soda ash.

ANIMATE SNOW

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: Cube of snow up to 20 ft. on a side

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Nearby snow rapidly draws together with an audible crunch, coalescing into a vaguely human-shaped form.

You cause snow in the area to become 1d3+2 Large animated objects, 1d3 Huge animated objects, or one Gargantuan animated object (MM 14).

The animated snow attacks as directed by your vocal commands.

Animated snow does not have a hardness score.

It possesses improved speed as if it had legs, granting it a speed of 30 feet, as well as the blind special ability (MM 13).

In addition, each animated snow object has the cold subtype and deals an extra 1d6 points of cold damage on a successful hit.

Animated snow objects take 1d6 points of damage per round in a place where the temperature is above freezing.

ANIMATE WATER

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 1

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Cube of water up to 5 ft. on a side

You indicate a patch of water with a hand shaking from pent-up divine spell power, and the liquid rises into a vaguely humanoid shape.

This spell functions like animate fire, but you can instead animate a quantity of water of at least 4 cubic feet into a Small water elemental (MM 100).

Material Component: A vial of pure spring water mixed with cinnabar oil.

ANIMATE WOOD

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: One Small or smaller wooden object

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By touching a piece of wood you release the energy of the spell into it.

The wood begins to writhe and twist before your eyes and then rises to move in the direction you indicate.

This spell imbues a Small or smaller wooden object with mobility and a semblance of life, then causes it to immediately attack whomever or whatever you initially designate.

Statistics for the animated wood are as for a Small animated object (MM 13).

Wooden objects animated by this spell have hardness 5.

The spell cannot animate objects carried or worn by a creature.

Material Component: A mixture of powdered cinnabar and ground peach pit.

ANYSPELL

Transmutation

Level: Spell 3

Components: V, S, DF (and possibly M, F, and XP)

Casting Time: 15 minutes

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

Although there is no visible effect from this spellcasting, you channel divine power through your mind, shaping and transforming this energy into the potential to cast one arcane spell.

Anyspell allows you to read and prepare any arcane spell of up to 2nd level.

You must have an arcane magical writing (a scroll or spellbook) on hand to cast anyspell.

During the spell's 15-minute casting time, you can scan the spells available and choose one to read and prepare.

Once you choose and prepare an arcane spell, you retain it in your mind.

The prepared spell occupies your 3rd-level domain spell slot.

If you read the spell from a spellbook, the book is unharmed, but reading a spell from a scroll erases the spell from the scroll.

When you cast the arcane spell, it works just as though cast by a wizard of your cleric level except that your Wisdom score sets the save DC (if applicable).

You must have a Wisdom of at least 10 + the arcane spell's level to prepare and cast it.

Your holy symbol substitutes for any noncostly material component.

If the spell has a costly material component (one to which a gold piece value is assigned), you must provide it.

If the spell has another focus, you must provide the focus.

If the spell has an XP component, you must pay the experience point cost.

ANYSPELL, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Spell 6

This spell functions like anyspell, except you can read and prepare any arcane spell of up to 5th level, and the prepared spell occupies your 6th-level domain spell slot.

ARROW STORM

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Your bow glows blue for an instant and now feels as light as a feather in your hand.

In your mind's eye you see the arrows in your quiver, and your hand feels drawn to them.

You can cast this spell only at the beginning of your turn, before you take any other actions.

After casting arrow storm, you can use a full-round action to make one ranged attack with a bow with which you are proficient against every foe within a distance equal to the weapon's range increment.

You can attack a maximum number of individual targets equal to your character level.

If you choose not to spend a full-round action in this fashion after casting the spell, the spell has no effect.

ASPECT OF THE EARTH HUNTER

Transmutation

Level: Druid 6, ranger 4

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

By completing the spell you call upon the world's primal energies.

You feel disoriented for a moment as your face elongates into a snout, your limbs thicken, and your skin turns into silvery chitin.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a bulette (MM 30).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to magical beast, and your size changes to Huge.

You have the space and reach of a bulette (15 feet/10 feet).

You gain the Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution of an average bulette (Str 27, Dex 15, Con 20), but you retain your own mental ability scores.

Your base land speed becomes 40 feet, and you gain a burrow speed of 10 feet.

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

You also gain low-light vision, scent, and tremorsense out to 60 feet.

Your class and level, hit points, alignment, base attack bonus, and base saving throw bonuses all remain the same.

You lose any extraordinary special abilities of your own form, as well as spell-like and supernatural abilities.

You keep all extraordinary special attacks derived from class levels (such as a barbarian's rage or a rogue's sneak attack), but you lose any from your normal form that are not derived from class levels.

You cannot speak or cast spells while in bulette form.

However, if you have the Natural Spell feat, you can cast spells normally.
Your natural armor bonus becomes +12, regardless of any natural armor bonus from your normal form.
You can make two claw attacks, which are natural weapons that deal 2d8+8 points of damage.
While in bulette form, you gain the bulette's leap extraordinary attack form, allowing you to make four claw attacks instead of two.
Your equipment melds into your new form and becomes nonfunctional.
Material Component: A small piece of a bulette's armored shell.

ASPECT OF THE WOLF

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Instantly, your body sprouts short, thick fur.

Your spine and neck bend, causing you to drop to your hands and knees—which quickly shorten into canine limbs.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a wolf (MM 283).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to animal, and your size changes to Medium.

You have the space and reach of a wolf (5 ft./5 ft.).

You gain the Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution of an average wolf (Str 13, Dex 15, Con 15), but you retain your own mental ability scores.

Your base land speed becomes 50 feet.

You gain low-light vision and scent.

You gain a bite attack, which is a primary natural attack that deals 1d6+1 points of damage with each successful hit.

Your class and level, hit points, alignment, base attack bonus, and base saving throw bonuses all remain the same.

You lose any extraordinary special abilities of your own form, as well as spell-like and supernatural abilities.

You keep all extraordinary special attacks derived from class levels (such as a barbarian's rage or a rogue's sneak attack), but you lose any from your normal form that are not derived from class levels.

You cannot speak or cast spells while in wolf form.

However, if you have the Natural Spell feat, you can cast spells normally.

Your natural armor bonus becomes +2, regardless of any natural armor bonus from your normal form.

While in wolf form, you gain the wolf's trip extraordinary attack form, allowing you to make a free trip attempt against any opponent that you hit with your bite attack.

Your equipment melds into your new form and becomes nonfunctional.

Arcane Material Component: A whisker from a wolf.

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Tendrils of writhing light cover your hand and the brain it holds. The light disperses into the construct you touch, enveloping it in a soft white corona for several seconds before the creature's body absorbs the radiance.

This spell awakens a humanoid-shaped construct to humanlike sentience.

An awakened construct's Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores are all 3d6.

The spell does not work on constructs that are constructs only temporarily (such as objects affected by an animate objects spell).

The awakened creature is independent of both you and the being who originally made it, though it is initially friendly toward both you and its maker.

(See MM 290 for information on skills and feats the creature gains).

Material Component: The brain of a humanoid that has been dead less than 8 hours.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP.

AWAKEN, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 24 hours

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One animal or tree/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

After a full day of constant spellcasting, you finally succeed in bringing sentience to the subjects.

You awaken one or more trees or animals to humanlike sentience.

All awakened creatures must be of the same kind.

To succeed, you must make a Will save (DC 10 + the HD of the highest-HD target, or the HD the highest-HD tree has once awakened, whichever is greater).

Failure indicates that the spell fails for all targets.

The awakened animal or tree is friendly toward you.

You have no special empathy or connection with it, but it serves you in specific tasks or endeavors if you communicate your desires to it.

An awakened tree has characteristics as if it were an animated object (MM 13), except that its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores are all 3d6.

Awakened plants gain the ability to move their limbs, roots, vines, creepers, and so forth, and they have senses similar to a human's.

An awakened animal has 3d6 Intelligence, a +1d3 bonus to Charisma, and +2 HD.

An awakened tree or animal can speak one language that you know, plus one additional language that you know per point of its Intelligence bonus, if it has one.

(See MM 290 for information on skills and feats the creature gains).

XP Cost: 250 XP per creature awakened.

AXIOMATIC WATER

Transmutation [Lawful]

Level: Cleric 1, paladin 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You speak the ancient, slippery words as you pour the iron and silver into the flask.

Despite the fact that there is more powder than will fit in the container, all of it dissolves, leaving a flask of water dotted with motes of gunmetal gray.

This transmutation imbues a flask (1 pint) of water with the order of law, turning it into axiomatic water.

Axiomatic water damages lawful outsiders the way holy water damages undead and evil outsiders.

A flask of axiomatic water can be thrown as a splash weapon.

Treat this attack as a ranged touch attack with a range increment of 10 feet.

A flask breaks if thrown against the body of a corporeal creature, but to use it against an incorporeal creature, the bearer must open the flask and pour the axiomatic water out onto the target.

Thus, a character can douse an incorporeal creature with axiomatic water only if he is adjacent to it.

Doing so is a ranged touch attack that does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

A direct hit by a flask of axiomatic water deals 2d4 points of damage to a chaotic outsider.

Each such creature within 5 feet of the point where the flask hits takes 1 point of damage from the splash.

Material Component: 5 pounds of powdered iron and silver (worth 25 gp).

BABAU SLIME

Transmutation

Level: Abyss 3, druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You press the viscous ball of demon sweat between your fingers and speak the eldritch words.

Your flesh and equipment begin to weep hot red tears that quickly form a coating over your body.

This demon-inspired transmutation causes the subject to secrete a slimy red layer of jelly that coats its skin, armor, and equipment.

A creature that strikes a slime-protected subject with an unarmed strike, a touch attack (including a touch spell), or a natural weapon takes 1d8 points of acid damage.

Any creature in a grapple with the target of babau slime takes 1d8 points of acid damage at the beginning of its turn.

Arcane Material Component: A drop of babau slime.

BACKLASH

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You touch your opponent and a red aura entwines him, then fades without further effect.

You back away as your opponent laughs and begins to cast a spell.

The first time the target creature attempts to cast a spell or use a spell-like ability, the magic of that spell backfires.

The spell is expended, and the creature takes 1d6 points of damage per level of the spell being cast.

This discharge ends the spell.

BALOR NIMBUS

Transmutation

Level: Abyss 4, Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You smash the soot against your flesh and intone the ancient, dark words.

Like the legendary balor, your body bursts into lurid flames.

The flames created by this spell do not harm you or any equipment you carry or wear.

Each round, the flames deal 6d6 points of fire damage to any creature grappling you (or any creature you grapple) on your turn.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of soot.

BEAST CLAWS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

With crackle of popping joints and tendons, your hands and fingers become long curving claws with heavy knuckles.

You gain two claw attacks that act as slashing melee weapons, dealing 1d4 points of damage with a threat range of 19–20.

Attacks with your transformed hands do not provoke attacks of opportunity.

Your claws work just like the natural weapons of many monsters.

You can make an attack with one claw or a full attack with two claws at your normal attack bonus, replacing your normal attack routine.

You take no penalties for two-weapon fighting, and neither attack is a secondary attack.

If your base attack bonus is +6 or higher, you do not gain any additional attacks—you simply have two claw attacks at your normal attack bonus.

If you attack with a manufactured weapon or another natural attack, you can't make any claw attacks in that round.

The claws do not hinder your manual dexterity or spellcasting.

Material Component: The claw of a bird of prey, such as an eagle or falcon.

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

The smoke issues from the bottle and wraps itself around your hand, turning it into smoke as well.

With a successful touch attack, you deal 2d12 points of damage.

For every three caster levels, the smoke lasts for another round (to a maximum of 4 additional rounds at 12th level), dealing another 2d12 points of damage per round.

Material Component: A small vial of smoke.

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Powerful muscle builds under your skin, and you become a half-bear creature.

You gain a +16 enhancement bonus to Strength, a +2 enhancement bonus to Dexterity, a +8 enhancement bonus to Constitution, and a +7 enhancement bonus to natural armor.

Your hands become claws, granting you two claw attacks, and your mouth becomes that of a bear, giving you a bite attack.

You can attack with both claws at your full attack bonus, but your bite attack takes a -2 penalty (as if you had the Multiattack feat).

Each claw deals 1d8 points of damage (1d6 if you are Small) + your Str modifier, and your bite deals 2d8 points of damage (2d6 if you are Small) + 1/2 your Str modifier.

You gain the benefits of the Blind-Fight and Power Attack feats, as well.

If your base attack bonus is +6 or higher, you do not gain any additional attacks.

BLADE STORM

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

With a thought and a word you complete the spell.

Your weapons shift color, becoming blue for a moment, and feel lighter in your hands.

An unseen force guides them, pulling them toward your enemies.

You can cast this spell only at the beginning of your turn, before you take any other actions. After casting blade storm, you can take a full-round action to make one attack with each melee weapon you are currently wielding against every foe within reach. If you wield more than one weapon, or a double weapon, you can attack each foe once with each weapon or end, using the normal rules for two-weapon fighting (PH 160). So, a ranger wielding a longsword and a short sword could attack each opponent he can reach with both weapons. If you choose not to spend a full-round action in this fashion after casting the spell, the spell has no effect.

BLADE THIRST

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: One slashing weapon

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You touch a blade, and it catches fire.

Unearthly blue flames crackle along its length while the weapon beneath remains cold and unharmed.

You grant a slashing weapon a +3 enhancement bonus.

The weapon sheds illumination as if it were a torch.

BLESS WEAPON, SWIFT

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Duration: 1 round

You invoke the holy words quickly, and your weapon flashes a momentary blue-white radiance.

This spell functions like bless weapon (PH 205), except as noted above.

BLINDING BREATH

Transmutation [Light]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

You expel your breath weapon, which crackles with eye-splitting intensity.

This spell functions like breath flare (page 38), except that targets that fail their saving throws against your breath weapon are permanently blinded, rather than dazzled.

BLINDING SPITTLE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One missile of spit

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Whipping your head forward with the last word of the spell, you spit a globule of dark liquid at your foe.

You spit caustic saliva into your target's eyes with a successful ranged touch attack.

A -4 penalty applies to the attack roll.

The subject is blinded until it can wash its eyes with water or some other rinsing fluid, which requires a standard action.

This spell has no effect on creatures without eyes or creatures that don't depend on eyes for vision.

BLINDSIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your intended subject, which then turns its head rapidly about as if looking for the source of some sound.

This spell grants the subject the blindsight ability (MM 306) effective out to 30 feet.

BLINDSIGHT, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4 This spell functions like blindsight, except as noted above and that the blindsight granted by the spell is effective out to 60 feet.

BLINK, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Bard 5, Celerity 8, sorcerer/wizard 5

An immaterial fog descends over your eyes as you complete the spell.

You perceive the closeness of a parallel, ethereal reality, and you know that you can pass freely between that world and the one upon which you stand.

This spell functions like blink (PH 206), except that you have control over the timing of your "blinking" back and forth between the Ethereal Plane and the Material Plane. You can also ready an action to blink away from any physical or magical attack.

The attack misses automatically unless it also affects ethereal targets (as a force effect does).

While blinking, you have no chance of interfering with your own attacks or your own spells.

When moving through solid objects, you do not risk materializing inside one unless you actually end your movement there, in which case you materialize and are shunted off to the nearest open space, taking 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet traveled in this manner.

BLOOD FRENZY

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Any creature with the rage ability

Duration: Special; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

A hot rush of anger flows through your target's veins.

The target creature enters a rage, as its rage special ability, but this rage does not count toward the creature's number of rage attempts per day.

BODY BLADES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You finish the spell's casting and shudder as slender, sharp-tipped spikes erupt from your body, limbs, and clothing.

You sprout daggerlike blades from all the surfaces of your body and clothing.

The blades appear metallic but are not actually metal, and never harm you or interfere with your movement or actions.

You are proficient with your blades, and they allow you to deal piercing damage equal to 1d6 + your caster level (maximum 1d6+5) with a successful grapple attack.

You can also make a regular melee attack (or offhand attack) with the spikes, and they count as a light weapon in this case.

If a creature initiates a grapple with you, it takes the same damage, and you gain a bonus on grapple checks to resist the grapple equal to the damage dealt.

You get a +4 bonus on Escape Artist checks to escape from a net, rope, grappler, or spell that entangles.

BODY HARMONIC

Transmutation

Level: Bard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You rub the rim of a water-filled glass, causing it to emit a piercing tone.

As you chant a simple poem you feel the glass in your hand crackle with energy, causing the hand holding it to become slightly numb.

As you rub the glass, the targeted creature's body begins to vibrate loudly and painfully in harmony with the tone.

Each round you continue to concentrate on this spell, the victim takes 1d10 points of damage to one ability score.

You must select a different ability score each round, and cannot damage any one ability score more than once every 5 rounds.

The creature can attempt a Will saving throw each round to negate that round's effect.

While the subject is under the effect of body harmonic, its body whines and hums discordantly.

The victim takes a -20 penalty on Move Silently checks.

Focus: A crystal water-filled goblet worth at least 500 gp.

BODY OF THE SUN

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 5 ft.

Area: 5-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

By drawing on the power of the sun, you cause your body to emanate fire.

Fire extends 5 feet in all directions from your body, illuminating the area and dealing 1d4 points of fire damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d4).

Adjacent creatures take fire damage each round on your turn.

BODY OF WAR

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Throwing back your arms as you complete the spell, you feel your body grow heavy and unresponsive.

A moment of panic grips you as your chest ceases to expand and you realize you are no longer breathing.

Cold sweeps over your body as you glance down at your now-metallic flesh.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a warforged titan (EBERRON Campaign Setting 302).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to construct, and your size changes to Huge. You have the space and reach of a warforged titan (15 feet/15 feet).

Your mindset changes so that you relish combat and cannot cast spells, even from magic items.

You gain the Strength and Dexterity of an average warforged titan (Str 28, Dex 8), but you retain your own mental ability scores.

You have no Constitution score while affected by this spell.

Your base land speed becomes 50 feet.

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

You also gain low-light vision.

Your class and level, hit points, alignment, base attack bonus, and base saving throw bonuses all remain the same.

You lose any extraordinary special abilities of your own form, as well as spell-like and supernatural abilities.

You keep all extraordinary special attacks derived from class levels (such as a barbarian's rage or a rogue's sneak attack), but you lose any from your normal form that are not derived from class levels.

You cannot speak or cast spells while in warforged titan form.

Your natural armor bonus becomes +18, regardless of any natural armor bonus from your normal form, and you gain damage reduction 10/adamantine.

As a construct, you have the following qualities: immunity to all mind-affecting spells and abilities, poison, sleep effects, paralysis, stunning, disease, death effects, necromancy effects, critical hits, nonlethal damage, ability drain, fatigue, exhaustion, energy drain, and to any effect that requires a Fortitude save (unless the effect also works on objects or is harmless).

You also gain the warforged titan's two attack forms (axe and maul), along with the trample special ability (damage 1d8+13; Reflex DC 25 half).

The warforged titan's axe deals 2d8 points of slashing damage and has a ?3 critical modifier; its maul (essentially a huge warhammer) deals 2d8 points of bludgeoning damage and also has a ?3 critical modifier.

Your equipment melds into your new form and becomes nonfunctional.

Material Component: A miniature bronze hammer.

BRAMBLES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, druid 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Wooden weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With the sound of twisting wood, the weapon you touch grows sharp spikes like rose thorns.

For the duration of the spell, the weapon deals both piercing and bludgeoning damage.

It gains a +1 enhancement bonus on its attacks and also gains a +1 enhancement bonus per caster level on melee damage rolls (maximum +10).

This spell works only on melee weapons with wooden striking surfaces.

For instance, it does not work on a bow, an arrow, or a metal mace.

Material Component: A small thorn.

BRANCH TO BRANCH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

With the last guttural utterance, your fingers thicken and your arms lengthen slightly.

You have the impression that you would feel more at ease in a canopy of trees.

You gain a +10 competence bonus on Climb checks made in trees.

As long as you remain at least 10 feet above the ground, you can brachiate (swing by branches and vines) in medium or dense forest, but not in sparse forest.

When you brachiate, you gain a 10-foot enhancement bonus to your land speed and ignore the hampered movement penalties for undergrowth and other terrain features.

You can charge while brachiating, but you can't run.

Naturally, some local conditions, such as areas of sparse forest, clearings, wide rivers, or other breaks in the forest canopy, might force you to return to the ground.

BREATH FLARE

Transmutation [Light]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

You exhale your breath weapon, and it flashes brilliantly, surprising your foes.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon that uses fire or electricity, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, your breath weapon is suffused with bright light.

In addition to taking the normal fire or electricity damage, creatures that fail their saving throws against the breath weapon are dazzled for 1 minute per caster level.

Sightless creatures are not affected by breath flare.

BREATH OF THE JUNGLE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Mist spreads in a 40-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a word of power and flick of your wrist, a foul-smelling, fine mist appears.

The DC of any saving throw made within the mist against poison or disease increases by 2.

The mist does not provide concealment.

BREATH WEAPON ADMIXTURE

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

You spit out two forms of energy as your breath weapon streaks toward your opponents.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you choose one type of energy other than that normally associated with your breath weapon: acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic. You can modify your breath weapon to add an equal amount of the energy you choose.

For example, a great wyrm red dragon whose breath weapon normally deals 24d10 points of fire damage could use this spell to produce a cone dealing 24d10 points of fire damage and 24d10 points of acid damage.

Even opposed types of energy, such as fire and cold, can be combined using this spell.

If you choose sonic energy, the save DC of your breath weapon is reduced by 2.

When you use this spell to produce acid, cold, electricity, or fire energy, it is a spell of that type.

For example, breath weapon admixture is an acid spell when you cast it to add acid damage to your breath weapon.

BREATH WEAPON SUBSTITUTION

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

Your foes, prepared for your terrible fiery breath weapon, are caught off guard as you exhale a cone of caustic acid in their surprised faces.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you choose one type of energy other than that normally associated with your breath weapon: acid, cold, electricity, or fire.

You can modify your breath weapon to use the selected energy type instead of its normal energy type.

For example, an old red dragon whose breath weapon normally deals 16d10 points of fire damage could use this spell to produce a cone dealing 16d10 points of acid damage instead.

When you use this spell to produce acid, cold, electricity, or fire energy, it is a spell of that type.

For example, breath weapon substitution is an acid spell when you cast it to change your breath weapon to deal acid damage.

BRIAR WEB

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a sound like a thousand knives being unsheathed, the plants in the area grow sharp thorns and warp into a thick briar patch.

This spell causes grasses, weeds, bushes, and even trees to grow thorns and wrap and twist around creatures in or entering the area.

The spell's area becomes difficult terrain, and creatures move at half speed within the affected area.

Any creature moving through the area also takes 1 point of nonmagical piercing damage for each 5 feet moved.

A creature with freedom of movement or the woodland stride ability is unaffected by this spell.

BRILLIANT AURA

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 8, druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 7

Targets: Weapons carried by one creature/2 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Taking fresh insight from contemplation of light, you cast the spell and set your allies aglow with white brilliance.

This spell functions like brilliant blade (see below), except as noted here, and that all weapons of the subject creatures gain the brilliant energy special ability.

BRILLIANT BLADE

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 7, druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One melee or thrown weapon, or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

With a word, the indicated weapon glows with a soft blue-white halo that emits a low, slowly pulsating hum.

The faint smell of ozone permeates the air.

You transform a single melee weapon, natural weapon, thrown weapon, or group of projectiles into a weapon with the brilliant energy special ability (DMG 224).

If this spell is cast on arrows or crossbow bolts, the effect on a particular projectile ends after one use, whether or not the missile strikes its intended target.

Treat shuriken as arrows, rather than as thrown weapons, for the purpose of this spell.

BRISTLE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Suit of armor touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a word and the sudden opening of your hand you complete the spell.

Touching a suit of armor instantly causes the armor to sprout long, deadly-looking spines.

The bristle spell temporarily enhances one suit of armor, causing it to grow long hard spikes that stick out in all directions.

This spell does not work on clothing other than armor, but it does function with armor that already has spikes built in. The spikes are flexible enough not to hamper the creature wearing the armor.

Each round, the first time the armor wearer attacks a target in melee, the spikes strike out as well, growing in length and hardness.

The spikes have an attack bonus equal to your caster level and deal 2d6 points of damage.

Your Strength modifier does not apply to this damage.

BURROW

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You invoke the spell and your hands glow with a yellow aura, the aura lengthening and forming into translucent mole hands.

The smell of freshly turned earth fills the air.

The subject can burrow through earth and loose rock (but not solid stone) with a speed of 30 feet (or 20 feet if it wears medium or heavy armor, or if it carries a medium or heavy load).

Arcane Focus: A claw from a burrowing creature.

BURROW, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, ranger 3

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

You call upon the power of the spell and, in turn, each of your allies' hands gain a yellow nimbus, forming into the hands of large moles.

This spell functions like burrow, except that it affects multiple creatures.

CAMOUFLAGE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Upon finishing the spell, your skin and clothing change color, warping tint and hue to match your surroundings.

Throughout the duration of the spell, your coloration changes instantly to match the background of any new environment you enter, with no effort on your part.

This effect grants you a +10 circumstance bonus on Hide checks.

CAMOUFLAGE, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: Any number of creatures, no two of which are more than 60 ft. apart

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Reaching out to your environment, you wrap your allies in the patterns and shifting colors of their surroundings, concealing them from prying eyes.

This spell functions like camouflage, except the effect is mobile with the group.

The spell is broken for any individual who moves more than 60 feet from the nearest member of the group.

(If only two individuals are affected, the one moving away from the other one loses its camouflage.)

If both are moving away from each other, they both become visible when the distance between them exceeds 60 feet).

CAST IN STONE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None and Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Your eyes become like gray stone orbs traced with golden veins.

The change catches the foes fighting you by surprise, and they turn to stone.

Any creature within 30 feet that meets your gaze is permanently turned into a mindless, inert statue (as flesh to stone), unless it succeeds on a Fortitude save.

You can free the victim of your own cast in stone at any time by speaking a command word you establish during the casting.

Each creature within range of the gaze must attempt a saving throw against the gaze effect each round at the beginning of its turn.

A creature can avert its eyes, which grants a 50% chance to avoid the gaze but in turn grants you concealment relative to it.

A creature can close its eyes or turn away entirely; doing so prevents the gaze from affecting it but grants you total concealment from that creature.

In addition, you can actively attempt to use the gaze as a standard action each round.

To do so, you choose a target within range, and that target must attempt a saving throw.

A target that is averting or shutting its eyes gains the above benefits.

CHARGE OF THE TRICERATOPS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Holding your hand to your head—index and middle fingers extended in a V—you call upon the ancient power of the triceratops.

You touch your intended target, which then grows large horns, a bony skull plate, and a thickened hide.

The horns created by this spell grant a natural gore attack that deals 1d8 points of damage (1d6 points of damage if the subject creature is Small, 2d6 if Large).

If the gore attack is used as part of a charge, it deals double damage.

If the gore attack is used as a primary weapon, the subject adds 1-1/2 times its Strength bonus to the damage of the attack.

If it is used as a secondary weapon, the subject adds only 1/2 its Strength bonus to the damage roll, and takes a -5 penalty on the attack roll.

The recipient also gains a +4 enhancement bonus to its natural armor.

CHEAT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, Greed 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level or until discharged

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You rattle the dice in your hand and mutter the words of the spell, then check your facedown cards again.

The two low cards have somehow become trumps.

At one point during the duration of this spell, you can attempt to alter the outcome of a game of chance.

This spell can affect only nonmagical games, such as those using cards or dice.

It cannot affect a game involving magic, nor a magic item involved in a game of chance (such as a deck of many things).

Whenever a dice roll is made to determine the outcome of the game, a character under the effect of this spell can demand a reroll and take the better of the two rolls.

Anyone observing the game of chance is allowed a Will saving throw to realize something fishy is going on, and might suspect that the outcome of the game has been magically altered.

For example, Darkon is playing a game that he has a 1 in 4 chance of winning.

The DM secretly rolls 1d4 and tells the player that Darkon lost.

Because Darkon is under the effect of a cheat spell, the player can have the DM reroll.

The spell alters probability, so there is no subterfuge that another character could notice (except for the casting of the spell itself).

Focus: A pair of dice made from human bones.

CLAWS OF THE BEAR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Howling a curse at your enemies, pain explodes in your hands as they suddenly sport long claws.

Almost instantly the pain fades.

Too bad your foes won't be able to say the same.

When you cast this spell, your hands become natural weapons that deal 1d8 points of damage each or your normal unarmed damage, whichever is greater.

You are considered armed while this spell is in effect.

If you are Small, your claws deal 1d6 points of damage, and if you are Large, they deal 2d6 points of damage.

You add your Strength modifier to your claw damage rolls.

Your claws work just like the natural weapons of many monsters.

You can make an attack with one claw or a full attack with two claws at your normal attack bonus, replacing your normal attack routine.

You take no penalties for two-weapon fighting, and neither attack is a secondary attack.

If your base attack bonus is +6 or higher, you do not gain any additional attacks—you simply have two claw attacks at your normal attack bonus.

CLIMB WALLS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You brush the target with your finger, and she now perceives handholds and toeholds where others see smooth stone.

The subject gains a +10 enhancement bonus on Climb checks.

The bonus increases to +20 at caster level 5th, and to +30 (the maximum) at caster level 9th.

Unlike with spider climb, this spell does not allow the subject to climb on ceilings, and it does not give the creature a climb speed.

Material Component: A drop of tree sap or equally sticky material.

CLOAK OF THE SEA

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A blue-green glow surrounds your hand as you complete the spell. With a touch you release it into your intended target, which then turns the same shade of blue-green.

While underwater, the subject functions as if affected by blur (PH 206), freedom of movement (PH 233), and water breathing (PH 300), and doesn't take nonlethal damage for the duration of the spell.

When out of the water (or even partially out), the subject gains none of these advantages except water breathing. The subject can leave and reenter water without ending the spell.

CLOUD WINGS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As you touch the subject, mist forms crude wings that cling to his back.

This spell increases the subject's fly speed by 30 feet.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it allow the subject to fly if it cannot already do so.

CLOUD-WALKERS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 7, Windstorm 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Targets: One creature/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With a kiss blown to each subject, you create gaseous pads of cloudstuff on their feet, allowing them to walk on the clouds.

Each subject of the spell can move with a fly speed of 60 feet (perfect maneuverability), but only outdoors.

To touch the earth again, a subject must use a standard action to shake off the cloudstuff, which ends the spell for that creature.

You can dismiss the spell, but only for all subjects at once—an act that can have significant consequences for subjects already in the air.

COLD FIRE

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One fire source (up to a 20-ft. cube) or one creature; see text

Duration: 1 minute/level (D) (fire source) or Instantaneous (creature)

Saving Throw: No (fire source) or Fortitude half (creature)

Spell Resistance: No (fire source) or Yes (creature)

As you complete the spell you widen your eyes slightly at the fire you wish to affect.

Its flames instantly turn a blue-white.

The air between you and the fire feels much colder.

You are able to change the normal flames of a fire (any blaze that lasts for more than 1 round) into cold flames.

Affected flames deal cold damage to creatures that come into contact with them.

The spell can also affect magical fires such as those generated by a wall of fire, provided the affected fire is small enough.

Cold fire flames burn blue and white for the duration of the spell.

If the target is a creature with the fire subtype or vulnerability to cold, the spell deals 1d6 points of cold damage per two caster levels (maximum 5d6) to the creature, but has no further effect.

COLD SNAP

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 6, druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: 1 mile

Area: 1-mile-radius circle centered on you

Duration: 2d4 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As you call upon divine power to fuel your spell, you feel the air around you become chilled.

The drop in temperature creates a thin fog that exacerbates the cold in the air without hindering your vision or movement whatsoever.

This spell causes a powerful cold front to form, lowering the temperature in the affected area by 5 degrees Fahrenheit per caster level (maximum change of 50 degrees Fahrenheit), to a maximum low of -20 degrees Fahrenheit (see Cold Dangers, DMG 302).

Spells with the cold descriptor deal an extra 1 point of damage per die when cast in the area.

CORPOREAL INSTABILITY

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You brush your fingers against the enemy, and immediately his bones begin to soften until he flows down into a flesh-colored puddle.

Your touch transforms a living creature into a spongy, amorphous mass, its shape melting and writhing uncontrollably.

An affected creature is unable to hold or use any item. Soft or misshapen feet and legs reduce speed to 10 feet, or one-quarter normal, whichever is less (minimum 5 feet).

The victim becomes blinded and cannot cast spells or use magic items, and searing pain renders it incapable of attacking.

While in this form, the creature has immunity to extra damage from critical hits and sneak attacks due to its amorphous nature.

A conscious victim can regain its own shape by taking a standard action to attempt a new save in any later round. Success ends the spell effect.

Each round the victim spends in an amorphous state, it takes 1 point of Wisdom drain from mental shock.

If the victim's Wisdom is reduced to 0, it falls unconscious.

CRABWALK

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The creature you touch now moves much faster, scuttling about with disconcerting ease.

When the subject of this spell charges, it gains a +4 bonus on its attack roll and takes no penalty to Armor Class.

This benefit replaces the normal +2 bonus on attack rolls and -2 penalty to AC that a charge attack normally confers.

If the creature is capable of multiple attacks after a charge, such as a lion with the pounce ability, the bonus applies only to the first attack.

Material Component: A crab's leg.

CREEPING COLD

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 3 rounds

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Reaching out your hand and making a crushing motion, you turn the subject's sweat to ice, creating blisters as the ice forms on and inside the skin.

The subject takes 1d6 cumulative points of cold damage per round (that is, 1d6 on the 1st round, 2d6 on the second, and 3d6 on the third).

Only one save is allowed against the spell; if successful, it halves the damage each round.

Focus: A small glass or pottery vessel worth at least 25 gp filled with ice, snow, or water.

CREEPING COLD, GREATER

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Druid 4

Duration: See text

This spell is the same as creeping cold, but the duration increases by 1 round, during which the subject takes 4d6 points of cold damage.

If you are at least 15th level, the spell lasts for 5 rounds and deals 5d6 points of cold damage.

If you are at least 20th level, the spell lasts for 6 rounds and deals 6d6 points of cold damage.

CRUMBLE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One structure or construct

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

With a final word and gesture, time takes control of the object, eroding it away before your eyes, aging it several centuries in a few seconds.

You bring the forces of erosion to bear on a fabricated structure such as a stone bridge, a wooden building, an iron wall, a construct, or any other object not formed by nature itself.

The erosion deals 1d8 points of damage per caster level to the object (hardness does not apply) to a maximum of 10d8.

The maximum size of the object affected depends on your level.

If you cast this spell on an object of greater size than you can affect, the spell fails.

Level	Size of Object Affected
Up to 9th	Large
10th–15th	Huge
16th–18th	Gargantuan
19th–20th	Colossal

CURSE OF ILL FORTUNE

Transmutation

Level: Blackguard 2, cleric 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Letting loose a stream of foul incantations, you curse the subject.

You place a temporary curse upon the subject, giving it a -3 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, ability checks, and skill checks.

Curse of ill fortune is negated by any spell that removes a bestow curse spell.

CUTTING HAND

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: Your hand

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Your hand tingles as a smooth, metallic edge extrudes from the outside of your palm and curls up along your fingertips, forming a flexible, razor-sharp blade.

You alter the structure of your hand so that it becomes as hard and sharp as a blade.

Your hand deals 1d6 points of damage (1d4 if you are Small, and 1d8 if you are Large) and gains a +2 enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls.

You are considered armed with this hand.

Your hand's enhancement bonus does not apply to melee touch attacks.

DARKVISION, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Range: 10 ft.

Targets: Allies in a 10-ft.-radius burst centered on you

As you conclude the spell's casting, you are aware of being able to see without light.

A glance at your allies show that they too perceive more than before.

This spell functions like darkvision (PH 216), except that all target creatures receive the spell's benefits.

Unlike with darkvision, recipients of this spell cannot have the ability made permanent with a permanency spell.

Material Component: A dried carrot or three small agates.

DEAFENING CLANG

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Your weapon

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

At your touch, the weapon rings like a struck tuning fork.

The sound diminishes until it's imperceptible, but when you touch the weapon you can feel the vibration.

You empower the touched weapon with magic that causes it to emit a loud clang when it is struck against a hard surface, such as a floor, wall, or creature.

The weapon deals 1d6 points of sonic damage with each successful hit, and any creature struck by the weapon must succeed on a Fortitude saving throw or be deafened for 1 minute.

DEEPER DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You toss the powdered dried carrot into the air as you cast this spell, and it vanishes.

You choose yourself as the spell's recipient and your eyes begin to glow with an alien purple luster.

The subject gains the ability to see 90 feet in total darkness and ignores the 20% miss chance normally present in shadowy illumination (such as might be created by a darkness spell).

Deeper darkvision is black and white only but otherwise similar to normal sight.

Material Component: A pinch of dried carrot or an agate.

DEMON DIRGE

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Living creature

Duration: 1d6 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: None or Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cry out the ancient words and make the prescribed motions, and your foe lets out a howl of pain as his blood boils in his veins.

Demon dirge deals 2d6 points of damage each round for the duration of the spell to any creature that has both the chaotic and evil subtypes (such as a howler or a demon).

No saving throw is allowed against this damage.

If the target creature also possesses the tanar'ri subtype (MM 316), the spell has a much more powerful effect.

In addition to the damage, a tanar'ri is stunned for the duration of the spell unless it succeeds on a Fortitude save.

DEVIL BLIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Living creature

Duration: 1d6 rounds

Saving Throw: None or Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cry out the ancient words and make the prescribed motions, and your foe lets out a shriek of agony as it stumbles under the force of the spell.

This spell deals 2d6 points of damage per round for the duration of the spell to creatures that have both the lawful and evil subtypes (such as a barghest or a devil).

No saving throw is allowed against this damage.

If the target creature also possesses the baatezu subtype (MM 306), it must succeed on a Fortitude save or be stunned for the duration of the spell.

DIAMONDSTEEL

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Suit of metal armor touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You pass your hand over the suit of armor several times before finally touching it.

As you do so, you feel a warmth grow in the palm of your hand.

The warmth passes into the armor and manifests as a sparkling shine.

Diamondsteel enhances the strength of one suit of metal armor.

The armor provides damage reduction equal to half the AC bonus of the armor.

This damage reduction can be overcome only by adamantine weapons.

For example, a suit of full plate would provide damage reduction 4/adamantine, and a +1 breastplate (+6 AC) would provide damage reduction 3/adamantine.

Material Component: Diamond dust worth at least 50 gp.

DIRE HUNGER

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You feel pangs of hunger well up within your abdomen as you complete the spell.

A blood-red glow of energy radiates from your intended target and the hunger you felt subsides.

The target creature's face elongates into a toothy, dinosaurlike snout filled with serrated teeth, and its belly distends as if the creature were undernourished.

The spell's subject becomes maddened by terrible pangs of hunger, viewing all creatures as food sources.

The subject creature gains a new bite attack that does damage according to the creature's size:

Fine	1
Diminutive	1d2
Tiny	1d3
Small	1d4
Medium	1d6
Large	1d8
Huge	2d6
Gargantuan	2d8
Colossal	4d6

The subject creature adds 1-1/2 times its Strength bonus to this damage.

If the creature already has a bite attack that deals more damage, use that damage value instead.

The subject creature eschews all other attacks or actions except for its new bite attack, but it defends itself normally. It moves to attack the nearest living creature it can get to and attacks this creature until it is dead or until another living creature is closer.

The subject creature attacks whatever living creature is nearest, regardless of former allegiance or personal connection.

If moving toward the nearest living creature would move the creature into a dangerous area (precarious footing, a huge fire, or a deadly trap is in the way) the subject creature moves around the hazard if it can or moves to attack another creature if moving around the hazard isn't possible. If such movement brings the subject creature closer to another living creature, it attacks that creature instead. If the subject of the spell cannot detect or get to a living creature nearby, it goes looking for one to attack.

DISPLACER FORM

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You drop to your hands and knees a moment before your extremities morph into the limbs of a great black panther.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a displacer beast (MM 66).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to magical beast, and your size changes to Large.

You have the space and reach of a displacer beast (15 feet/5 feet [10 feet with tentacles]).

You gain two tentacle attacks, which each deal 1d6 points of damage + your Str modifier.

You gain the Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution of an average displacer beast (Str 18, Dex 15, Con 16), but you retain your own mental ability scores.

Your base land speed becomes 40 feet.

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

You also gain low-light vision.

Your class and level, hit points, alignment, base attack bonus, and base saving throw bonuses all remain the same.

You lose any spell-like abilities of your own form, and you lose any extraordinary special abilities from your own form.

You retain any supernatural abilities of your own form. You keep all extraordinary special attacks derived from class levels (such as a barbarian's rage or a rogue's sneak attack), but you lose any from your normal form that are not derived from class levels.

You can speak and cast spells while in displacer beast form, but you must physically touch any necessary material components.

Your natural armor bonus becomes +5, regardless of any natural armor bonus from your normal form.

While in displacer beast form, you gain the displacer beast's displacement and resistance to ranged attacks abilities.

Your equipment melds into your new form and becomes nonfunctional.

Material Component: A single claw from a displacer beast.

DISTORT SPEECH

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

By pointing and making a number of loud, nonsensical sounds you release the power of the spell.

The target attempts to speak, but spews forth only gibberish instead.

For the duration of this spell, the subject has a 50% chance to miscast spells that have verbal components, and any time the subject speaks (including the use of magic items activated by command words), there is a 50% chance that the utterance is completely incomprehensible and therefore ineffective.

DIVINE AGILITY

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

You grant the subject a +10 enhancement bonus to Dexterity.

DOLOROUS BLOW

Transmutation

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A longing for battle fills you as you complete this spell.

Upon touching the intended weapon, the feeling fades even as a dull red aura encompasses the weapon.

For the duration of the spell, the weapon's threat range is doubled, and its critical threats automatically confirm, so every threat is a critical hit.

The latter effect does not apply to any weapon that already has a magical effect related to critical hits.

Multiple effects that increase a weapon's threat range (such as this spell and the Improved Critical feat) don't stack.

You can't cast this spell on a natural weapon, such as a claw.

DRACONIC MIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Upon casting this spell, your ally's face is covered briefly with a fine pattern of yellow scales.

The scales fade, but the golden radiance remains.

The subject of the spell gains a +4 enhancement bonus to Strength, Constitution, and Charisma.

It also gains a +4 enhancement bonus to natural armor.

Finally, it has immunity to magic sleep and paralysis effects.

Special: Sorcerers cast this spell at +1 caster level.

DRAGONSIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

You cast this spell and your eyes enlarge and turn yellow and catlike, like those of a dragon.

You gain the visual acuity of a dragon, including low-light vision, darkvision, and blindsense.

You can see four times as well as a normal human in low-light conditions and twice as well in normal light.

Your darkvision is effective out to 10 feet per caster level.

You take half the normal penalties for distance on Spot checks.

Your blindsense has a range of 5 feet per caster level.

None of these effects stack with any low-light vision, darkvision, or blindsense you might already have.

Focus: A dragon's eye.

DRAGONSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You say nothing, but make the motions in the prescribed pattern and hold the dragon's scale aloft.

Your flesh erupts with hard, colorful scales.

Your skin toughens and becomes scaly like that of a chromatic dragon, of a color that you select.

You gain an enhancement bonus to natural armor equal to +1 per two levels (to a maximum of +5 at 10th level), as well as energy resistance 10 against the type of energy appropriate to the color you select: acid (black or green), cold (white), electricity (blue), or fire (red).

Your energy resistance increases to 20 at 10th level.

Material Component: A dragon's scale.

Special: Sorcerers cast this spell at +1 caster level.

EARTH REAVER

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a stern, commanding word, you point at a spot on the ground.

An instant later, the earth at the indicated spot erupts in a shower of rock, dirt, and fire.

Creatures and objects within the area take 4d6 points of damage from the impact of the rock shards, as well as 3d6 points of fire damage; no saving throw applies to the damage.

Creatures in the area must also succeed on a Reflex saving throw or be knocked prone.

EARTHBIND

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your foe will reach you in seconds.

You cast this spell, and yellow strips of magical energy loop about its wings, hampering its flight and dragging it to ground.

You hinder the subject creature's ability to fly (whether through natural or magical means) for the duration of the spell.

If the target fails its saving throw, its fly speed (if any) becomes 0 feet.

An airborne creature subjected to this spell falls to the ground as if under the effect of a feather fall spell.

Even if a new effect would grant the creature the ability to fly, that effect is suppressed for the duration of the earthbind spell.

Earthbind has no effect on other forms of movement, or even on effects that might grant airborne movement without granting a fly speed (such as jumping or levitate or air walk spells).

EARTHEN GRASP

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Animated earthen arm

Duration: 2 rounds/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You raise your arm above your head, your fingers flexed like talons.

Nearby, an arm made of earth but as large as a person erupts from the ground, its hand grasping at the air.

You bring forth from the ground an arm made of dense, compacted earth or soil that can grapple your foes.

You can cause the arm to rise only out of earth, mud, grass, or sand, and the spell fails if you attempt to cast it in an area with the wrong materials (including stone).

Treat the arm as a Medium creature, with a base attack bonus equal to your caster level and a Strength of 14 +2 per three caster levels (16 at 3rd level, 18 at 6th level, and so on).

The arm doesn't move from the square it appears in, but can make one grapple attempt per round against any creature in its square or any adjacent square.

Doing so does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

If the arm can target multiple creatures, you choose one.

If you are unable to choose a target, the arm attacks a random creature within reach (possibly including your allies).

Each round when it successfully pins a target, the hand deals lethal damage equal to 1d6 points + its Str modifier.

The earthen arm has AC 15, hardness 4, and 3 hit points per caster level.

If reduced to 0 or fewer hit points, it crumbles to dust.

Material Component: A miniature hand sculpted from clay.

EARTHFAST

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One stone structure or rock formation, up to 25 cubic ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Gray bands extend from your fingertips, wrapping themselves around the wall like a brace, strengthening it for the coming assault.

You reinforce a rock formation or stone structure.

The earthfast spell doubles the structure's hit points and increases its hardness to 10.

This spell does not function on constructs.

EASY CLIMB

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Vertical path 10 ft. wide and 20 ft. tall/level

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

By pushing upward with your hand and speaking in a commanding voice, you cause sturdy rungs to form on the surface you designate.

You create a path of handholds and footholds up the surface of a cliff face, tree trunk, wall, or other vertical obstacle.

This effect changes the surface to the equivalent of a very rough wall (Climb DC 10).

EBON EYES

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You feel, more than see, a black haze form at the corner of your eyes.

Upon touching your intended subject the haze disappears and the creature's eyes become shrouded in blackness.

The subject of this spell gains the ability to see normally in natural and magical darkness, although it does not otherwise improve the subject's ability to see in natural dark or shadowy conditions.

The subject ignores the miss chance due to lack of illumination other than total darkness.

While the spell is in effect, a jet-black film covers the subject's eyes, a visual effect that gives the spell its name.

Material Component: A pinch of powdered black gemstone of any type.

ELEMENTAL BODY

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

Drawing upon the power of the elemental planes, your transform your body in a flash of light.

You can transform your body into a particular type of elemental substance.

You and your possessions appear to be made of that element, though in the same general shape and size as your normal appearance.

You gain the following abilities when you cast elemental body:

- You have the benefits of the attune form spell (page 17) with respect to the appropriate element.

If you choose a water body, for example, you can breathe normally on water-dominant planes.

- You are immune to poison, sleep, paralysis, and stunning, and are not subject to extra damage from critical hits or flanking.

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

- Your creature type remains unchanged, so you are unaffected by spells that target elementals, but you gain the air, earth, fire, or water subtype depending on the elemental substance you chose.

In addition, you gain the following exceptional abilities according to the element chosen:

Air: Fly at your normal speed (perfect maneuverability), air mastery (airborne creatures take a -1 penalty on attack rolls and damage rolls against you).

Earth: Earth mastery (you gain a +1 bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls if both you and your foe touch the ground), push (you can start a bull rush maneuver without provoking attacks of opportunity), +3 natural armor bonus to AC.

Fire: Fire immunity, burn (those you hit in melee and those who attack you with natural weapons must make a Reflex save or catch fire, with a save DC equal to that of a fire elemental of the same size).

Water: Swim at your normal speed, water mastery (you gain a +1 bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls if both you and your opponent touch water), drench (you can use your elemental form to put out nonmagical open flames and dispel magical fire you touch as if casting dispel magic at your caster level).

The elemental body spell has the descriptor of the element you choose.

So, if you choose a body of fire, elemental body is a fire spell.

Material Component: A bit of the element in question from a plane other than the one where the spell is being cast.

EMBRACE THE WILD

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

While picturing a certain kind of animal in your mind, you cry out in imitation of its most common call.

Immediately thereafter, you perceive your surroundings as the animal you imagined would.

Upon casting the spell, you gain the senses of animal creatures.

You gain low-light vision and either blindsense out to 30 feet or scent (your choice).

You also gain a +2 bonus on Listen and Spot checks.

ENERGY TRANSFORMATION FIELD

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 4 rounds

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold the eye in your palm, sprinkle it with blood and diamonds, and speak the words.

Slowly it rises from your hand, emitting a soft beam that illuminates the chosen area.

Then it disappears, and you place the spell within the magic trap.

You create a lingering zone of transformative magic that absorbs magic energy from magic items or spellcasting and uses it to power another spell tied to that location.

For example, you could have an energy transformation field tied to a summon monster V spell that would summon a monster when the field had absorbed enough magic.

The field absorbs the magic of spells cast, spell-like or supernatural abilities that are activated, and magic items used within its dimensions.

Each source of magic provides spell levels of energy to the field equal to the spell level of the effect used.

Supernatural abilities that emulate spells provide energy equal to the spell level of the effect.

Supernatural abilities that do not emulate spells provide energy equal to the HD of the creature using the ability. For example, a cast fireball spell or a charge from a wand of fireball would add three spell levels to the field's store, a potion of cure light wounds would add one, and a wish from a ring of three wishes would add nine.

Items that don't have a clearly defined spell level (such as the effects of most rods) use the prerequisite caster level needed to create that item (so an immovable rod would provide two spell levels every time it was activated because of its levitate prerequisite).

Effects that are absorbed give no indication of where the magic went; they simply vanish.

The field absorbs only magic that is actually used within its area.

Ongoing magical effects that enter the area, including spells cast from outside the area into the field or continually functioning items such as a +1 mace, are often visibly reduced, but do not have their actual effects hindered.

For example, a continual flame would dim slightly, but its overall magic would not be affected.

An energy transformation field has a single spell linked to it. When the field has absorbed spell levels equal to the spell level of its linked spell, it automatically casts that spell at a point within the field designated by you at the time of the casting of the field.

This expends those absorbed spell levels (although unused levels remain until they are used or expire).

The cast spell functions as if cast by you in terms of duration and all level-based spell effects.

Absorbed spell levels fade at a rate of one per day if not used.

The field automatically triggers its linked spell if it has enough stored spell levels and the duration of its previous casting has expired.

If a linked spell requires concentration to maintain, the field expends one spell level for every hour of concentration (the field's concentration is interrupted only by its complete destruction).

Spells that require a target will target the living creature nearest to the field.

Typical spells linked to an energy transformation field are blindness/deafness, fireball, suggestion, summon monster, or wall of force.

Spells that have a costly material component or an XP cost cannot be linked to a field, but those with a costly focus can if the focus object is present within the field (typically sealed into a wall or in a secret compartment).

Only Mordenkainen's disjunction, limited wish, wish, or similar spells can destroy the energy transformation field.

Spells of lower level, such as dispel magic and greater dispel magic, are absorbed by it, and an antimagic field prevents it from absorbing magical energy within the field but does not otherwise hamper this spell.

If two or more field spells share an overlapping area, each field has an equal chance of absorbing a spell effect in that area.

Material Component: Three drops of your blood, an eye from any humanoid, and 5,000 gp worth of powdered diamond.
XP Cost: 250 XP.

ENHANCE WILD SHAPE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

You call upon the primordial energies of nature to fill you with the raw power of nature.

A feral feeling grows within you, seeking release.

This spell infuses your wild shape ability with magical energy, magnifying and enhancing its power.

The type of enhancement must be chosen at the time the spell is cast and cannot be changed once the spell is in effect.

The next time you activate your wild shape ability (during the duration of enhance wild shape), this spell enhances your new form in the way you selected.

The enhancement to your wild shape remains as long as you stay in that form (or until the spell's duration expires) but does not apply to your next wild shape form.

If you do not activate your wild shape ability during the duration of enhance wild shape, the spell has no effect.

You select one of the following enhancements when you cast this spell.

- Assume the form of a plant with your next wild shape.
- Gain the extraordinary abilities of the new form.
- The new form assumed is stronger than normal and gains a +2 bonus to Strength.
- The new form assumed is more agile than normal and gains a +2 bonus to Dexterity.
- The new form assumed is healthier than normal and gains a +2 bonus to Constitution.

A druid can be affected by more than one enhance wild shape spell at a time, but a different wild shape enhancement must be chosen each time.

ENLARGE PERSON, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Range: Touch

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Your intended subject begins to grow rapidly as you complete the spell.

This spell functions like enlarge person (PH 226), except as noted above.

ENTANGLING STAFF

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Quarterstaff touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Yes (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Rapping your staff with a knuckle, you cause it to sprout wriggling vines that grab and lash at the air.

Each time you successfully strike a foe with the staff (a normal melee attack), you deal normal damage and can attempt to start a grapple as a free action without provoking attacks of opportunity.

This grapple attempt does not require a separate touch attack.

You gain a +8 bonus on grapple checks you cause by striking a foe with the entangling staff.

You can attempt to grapple creatures up to one size category larger than you.

If your grapple check succeeds, your quarterstaff's vines constrict your foe, dealing 2d6 points of damage (you can choose to deal nonlethal damage instead of normal damage if you wish).

You then have two choices:

Release: You release your opponent from the grapple.

Some vines remain clinging to your foe, leaving it entangled for the duration of the spell.

You can attack different enemies in later rounds with the staff, potentially grappling and constricting or entangling them.

Maintain: You maintain your hold.

In subsequent rounds, you deal constriction damage with a successful grapple check.

You can then choose to release or maintain the hold again.

Focus: A quarterstaff.

ESSENCE OF THE RAPTOR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You infuse yourself with the essence of a prehistoric raptor.

New sensations assault you as you notice sounds, smells, and other elements of your surroundings that you could not perceive before.

Your physical appearance does not change.

Your speed increases to 60 feet (if it is already 60 feet or faster, it does not change), and you gain a +8 bonus on Hide, Jump, Listen, Spot, and Survival checks.

You also gain the scent ability (MM 314).

ETHEREAL BREATH

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: 1 round

You exhale a blast of fire down the corridor, but none of the furnishings take any damage.

On another plane of existence, a horde of ethereal marauders is now nothing more than smoldering meat.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you can modify your breath weapon to manifest on the Ethereal Plane instead of on the Material Plane.

(You must be on the Material Plane, or on another plane with a coexistent Ethereal Plane, for this spell to function). Your breath weapon affects ethereal creatures as if they were material, and does not affect material creatures in its area.

EXACTING SHOT

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Ranged weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

As you complete the complicated ritual of the spell you see in your mind's eye the vital areas of your favored enemy's anatomy.

All rolls made to confirm critical threats by the target weapon against your favored enemies automatically succeed, so every threat is a critical hit.

The affected weapon also ignores any miss chance due to concealment whenever you fire at a favored enemy (unless the target has total concealment, in which case the normal miss chance applies).

If the ranged weapon or the projectile fired has any magical effect or property related to critical hits, this spell has no effect on it.

EXCAVATE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One 5-ft.-by-5-ft. opening, 1 ft./level deep

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You toss the bit of earth against the wall and it glitters and burns as it strikes the stone.

The rock vaporizes where it hits and a passage opens before you, burrowing into the wall.

As with passwall (PH 259), this spell allows you to create a passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not through metal or harder materials.

If a wall's thickness is more than 1 foot per caster level, then a single excavate spell simply makes a niche or short tunnel with the stated dimensions.

Several excavate spells can be used in succession to breach very thick walls by forming a continuing passage.

Unlike passwall, excavate is an instantaneous effect that does not end and cannot be dispelled; any passage it creates is permanent.

Material Component: A pinch of excavated earth.

EXPEDITIOUS RETREAT, SWIFT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Duration: 1 round

In a breathless voice you call out, as if you were already running a race.

This spell functions like expeditious retreat (PH 228), except as noted above.

EXTEND TENTACLES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You wriggle your tentacles in a complicated choreography of movement, and your tentacles lengthen.

This spell lengthens your tentacles, increasing the reach of your tentacle attacks by 5 feet.

The tentacles attack as normal.

If you do not already have tentacles, the spell has no effect on you.

EXTRACT WATER ELEMENTAL

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

Calling upon the essence of elemental water, you surround your target creature with a swirling blue and red aura.

The aura seeps into the creature a moment before water spurts forth from its pores.

It cries out in pain.

This brutal spell causes the targeted creature to dehydrate horribly as the moisture in its body is forcibly extracted through its eyes, nostrils, mouth, and pores.

This deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6), or half damage on a successful Fortitude save.

If the targeted creature is slain by this spell, the extracted moisture is transformed into a water elemental of a size equal to the slain creature (up to Huge).

The water elemental is under your control, as if you summoned it, and disappears after 1 minute.

This spell has no effect on living creatures with the fire subtype.

FALSE GRAVITY

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You clatter the magnets in your hand and set your foot on the wall.

Your second step carries you onto the wall, and you can walk up it with ease.

The subject of this spell can travel on any solid surface as though that surface possessed its own gravity.

For example, the subject could walk or even run up a wall as though the wall were a perfectly level floor.

The subject can switch “down” as often as it likes during the spell’s duration, though only once per round, as a free action.

Unattended objects fall, as normal.

The subject of false gravity can fly by choosing a solid surface and letting itself fall through the air toward it.

A character “flying” in this fashion moves at 30 feet per round and can make one turn, in any direction, once per round, by redefining its personal gravity.

A creature falling in this fashion loses all “downward” momentum when it changes its gravity.

Material Component: A pair of magnets.

FANGS OF THE VAMPIRE KING

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Assassin 3, blackguard 3, Deathbound 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

Hissing an evil laugh, you sprout sharp fangs to drain the blood of your foes.

You grow vampirelike fangs that allow you to make bite attacks as a natural attack.

Your bite attack deals 1d6 points of damage + your Str modifier, and 1 point of Constitution damage.

If you make a full attack with other weapons, you can make a bite attack as a natural secondary attack (–5 penalty on the attack roll).

FEARSOME GRAPPLE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Two short, otyughlike tentacles sprout from under your arms to hang limply at your sides.

When you think of grappling, the tentacles twitch to life and wave about as if seeking a foe.

You grow two tentacles that grant you a +4 circumstance bonus on grapple checks.

These tentacles cannot attack, hold objects, manipulate items, or perform any action other than grappling.

If your caster level is at least 9th, you grow four tentacles instead, and the circumstance bonus increases to +8.

FELL THE GREATEST FOE

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 2, cleric 3, paladin 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch the creature, and its muscles ripple with yellow energy.

The subject gains the ability to deal greater damage against larger creatures.

For every size category of an opponent bigger than the subject of the spell, the subject deals an extra 1d6 points of damage on any successful melee attack.

For example, a Medium creature would deal an extra 1d6 points of damage against a Large creature, 2d6 against Huge, 3d6 against Gargantuan, or 4d6 against a Colossal creature.

Material Component: A dragon's claw or a giant's fingernail.

FIENDFORM

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

The bone in your hand cracks and then crumbles to dust as you complete the spell.

You see within your subconscious a bestiary of terrible fiends even as dark whispers in your mind attempt to convince you which form to take.

This spell functions like alter self (PH 197), except that you can take the form of any fiendish creature, demon, or devil that can be summoned by a summon monster I, II, III, or IV spell (MM 287), regardless of size.

You can assume only one form with each use of the spell, but you gain all that form's extraordinary, spell-like, and supernatural abilities, and your type changes to outsider. Spells and effects that harm or ward evil outsiders affect you, and any effect that would normally banish an outsider to its home plane instead ends the spell and leaves you dazed for 1 round per caster level.

Material Component: A bone from any fiendish creature, half-fiend, demon, or devil.

FINS TO FEET

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The naga's lower extremities thrash about and slowly transform into humanoid limbs.

This spell transforms tails, tentacles, or finned extremities into humanoid legs and feet.

Creatures so affected lose any natural swim speed they possess, but gain a land speed instead.

Transmuted Medium creatures have a base land speed of 30 feet, Small and smaller creatures have a base land speed of 20 feet, and Large or larger creatures have a base land speed of 40 feet.

The subject loses any natural attacks based on its tail or tentacles.

FIRE STRIDE

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level or until expended; see text
You draw arcane power into your body, wrapping your feet and legs with wisps of flame.

You gain the ability to step into fires and move from one fire to another.

The fires you enter and move between must be at least as big around as you are.

Fire elementals and other fire creatures are not considered "fires" for the purpose of this spell, nor are sources of great heat, such as pools of lava.

Once in a fire, you instantly know the locations of all suitable fires within long range (400 ft. + 40 ft./level) and can transport yourself to one of them.

Each transport counts as a full-round action.

With each casting of the spell, you can transport yourself once per caster level.

If a fire's location doesn't offer enough space for you (for example, a fire contained inside a furnace too small to hold you or a fire already occupied by a big cauldron), it is not a viable destination and you don't sense its location.

If a fire rests on a surface that can't support you, it is still a viable destination and you suffer the appropriate consequences if you transport yourself to it.

For example, if you transport yourself into a fire burning in a pit full of oil, you fall into the oil when you arrive there.

Fire stride provides no protection against fire, so it is advisable to obtain such protection before using the spell.

FIRE WINGS

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M, F

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

In a flash of light and a roar of fire, your arms become wings of flame.

This spell transforms your arms into wings of brilliant fire. The flame does not damage you or any items you carry.

Because your arms are transformed, you cannot hold items in your hands or cast spells that require somatic components, but rings, bracers, and other items worn on your arms when you cast the spell still function normally.

The wings allow you to fly at a speed of 60 feet (or 40 feet if you wear medium or heavy armor), with good maneuverability.

You can charge but not run while flying, and you cannot carry more than a light load aloft. Using a fire wings spell requires only as much concentration as walking, so you can take other actions normally. If the spell duration expires while you are aloft, you descend at a rate of 60 feet per round for 1d6 rounds, then fall the rest of the distance if you haven't already landed. Because dispelling a spell effectively ends it, the subject also descends in this way if the fire wings spell is dispelled, but not if it is negated by an antimagic field. If you are not flying, you can make up to two attacks each round with the fire wings as if they were natural weapons. A successful attack deals 2d6 points of fire damage. The wings can be extinguished (and the spell canceled) by a quench spell, immersion in water, or a wind of hurricane or greater force.
Material Component: The feather of a bird, which you must burn when you cast the spell.
Focus: A golden amulet shaped like a phoenix (worth 150 gp).

FIREWARD

Transmutation
Level: Druid 5
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: One 20-ft. cube/level (S)
Duration: 1 hour/level
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You stomp on the ground, and fire snuffs out all around you, rippling away to nothingness faster than you can blink.
This spell functions like quench (PH 267), except as noted above.
In addition, it has the following effects.
While fireward remains in effect, no magical fire effect can function inside its area.
This effect is similar to that of an antimagic field, but only magical fire is suppressed.
Any nonmagical fire created inside or brought into the spell's area is immediately extinguished as well.

FIST OF STONE

Transmutation [Earth]
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Personal
Target: You
Duration: 1 minute
The complicated gestures of the spell end with a punch of your fist, which now has the texture and look of stone.
You transform one of your hands into a mighty fist of living stone, gaining a +6 enhancement bonus to Strength for the purposes of attack rolls, grapple checks, or breaking and crushing items.
In addition, you gain the ability to make one natural slam attack, dealing 1d6 points of damage + your new Strength bonus (or 1-1/2 times your Strength bonus if you make no other attacks in that round).

You can make the slam attack as a natural secondary attack with the normal -5 penalty, or a -2 penalty if you have the Multiattack feat (MM 304), as part of a full attack action. However, you cannot gain more than one slam attack per round with this spell due to a high base attack bonus (+6 or higher).
Your fist undergoes no change in size or form, remaining as flexible and responsive as it would normally be while under the spell's effect.
Material Component: A pebble inscribed with a stylized fist design.

FLAME WHIPS

Transmutation
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Personal
Effect: Flaming whips
Duration: 1 round/level (D)
At the conclusion of this spell, your arms stretch into whiplike appendages and burst into flames.
Your forelimbs transform into flaming whips.
You gain two melee touch attacks with a 15-foot reach that each deal 6d6 points of fire damage.
Attacks with these flaming whips replace any natural attacks you had with those limbs.
While this spell is in effect, you cannot cast spells with material components, nor can you carry items with your forelimbs.
Any items worn on your forelimbs cease functioning while the spell is active.

FLENSING

Transmutation [Evil]
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Target: One corporeal creature
Duration: 4 rounds
Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text
Spell Resistance: Yes
With a cruel utterance, you complete the spell and unleash its terrible energy.
A sickeningly wet ripping sound accompanies the sight of strips of flesh being torn away, as if some invisible hand was attempting to peel your target like an onion.
When you cast this spell, you literally strip the flesh from a corporeal creature's body, inflicting incredible pain and psychological trauma.
Each round, the subject takes 2d6 points of damage, 1d6 points of Charisma damage, and 1d6 points of Constitution damage.
A successful Fortitude save negates the ability damage and reduces the hit point damage by half for that round, but does not end the spell.
Fleensing has no effect on creatures in gaseous form.
Material Component: An onion.

FLIGHT OF THE DRAGON

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

The wing-claw vaporizes in a puff of acrid smoke, and you feel the muscles of your shoulders warm from the eldritch energies coursing within.

Great draconian wings unfurl from your shoulders and reach toward the sky.

A powerful pair of wings sprout from your shoulders, granting you a fly speed of 100 feet (average).

You can't carry aloft more than a light load.

When flying long distances, you can fly at 15 miles per hour (or 24 miles per hour at a hustle).

Material Component: A dragon's wing claw.

Special: Sorcerers cast this spell at +1 caster level.

FLY, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

As your gestures point out which creatures receive the benefits of your spell, they seem lighter on their feet.

This spell functions like fly (PH 232), except as noted here.

This spell confers the power of flight upon all targeted creatures.

Each recipient of the spell must remain within 30 feet of at least one other recipient, or the spell ends for the creature that is separated from the others.

If only two individuals are affected, the spell ends for both if the distance between them exceeds 30 feet.

FLY, SWIFT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You squawk twice like an eagle and suddenly long for the freedom of the skies.

This spell functions like fly (PH 232), except as noted above.

FORESTFOLD

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Warmth fills your feet, and as you glance down, you see that your feet have changed shape slightly, enabling you to better traverse a particular type of terrain.

You also notice a shift in the color of your skin and clothing to match the colors most commonly found in your environment.

You change your coloring and attune your footfalls to one specific kind of terrain (aquatic, desert, plains, forest, hills, mountains, marsh, or underground).

While you are in terrain of that kind, you gain a +10 competence bonus on Hide and Move Silently checks.

You retain these bonuses even if you leave the designated terrain and return within the duration of the spell.

FOUNDATION OF STONE

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Calling upon the strength of the earth, you lend some of the stability of stone to your allies.

As long as they do not move and remain standing on solid ground, the subject creatures gain a +2 bonus to Armor Class and a +4 bonus on Strength checks made to resist being bull rushed or tripped.

If this spell is cast in mountainous terrain, the bonus on Strength checks granted by this spell increases to +6.

FUSE ARMS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature with at least two arms or tentacles touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Convulsing, the touched subject's limbs begin to ooze together with a sickening noise like a pot of melted wax splattering on the floor. With a lurch they form into one pair of massive limbs.

You cause a creature's multiple arms or tentacles to fuse together into a single pair of stronger limbs.

Only limbs that the creature can use as arms or grasping limbs are affected by the spell (so basilisks and monstrous centipedes, neither of which use their limbs to attack or manipulate objects, are unaffected).

For every set of limbs fused into the primary set of limbs, the creature gains +4 to Strength when using those fused limbs (affecting activities that would use those limbs, but not activities relying on its bite, legs, and so on).

For example, a girallon under the effect of this spell would have one pair of arms and Strength 26 for the purpose of using those arms.

A behir, which has three pairs of limbs that it can use as arms, would end up with one pair of arm-limbs with a +8

bonus to Strength for those arms (its six legs would be unaffected).

The loss of limbs might reduce the number of attacks available to the subject.

If the subject has only two arms or tentacles, they are fused into a single limb, and the creature gains a +4 bonus to Strength on attack rolls made with that limb.

GHOST TOUCH ARMOR

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Armor of creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Confronted with incorporeal enemies, you give the armor you touch the power to defend against such foes.

The subject's armor gains the ghost touch special ability (DMG 219).

Material Component: A tiny shield made of resin.

GHOST TOUCH WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One weapon or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

With a few words and a gesture, you empower a weapon to strike true against incorporeal foes.

Ghost touch weapon makes a weapon magically capable of dealing damage normally to incorporeal creatures, regardless of its enhancement bonus.

(An incorporeal creature's 50% chance to avoid damage does not apply to attacks made with weapons under the effect of this spell).

A ranged weapon affected by this spell does not bestow the ability on its ammunition.

The weapon can be picked up and moved by an incorporeal creature at any time.

A manifesting ghost can wield the weapon against corporeal foes.

Essentially, a weapon under the effect of this spell counts as either corporeal or incorporeal at any given time, whichever is more beneficial to the wielder.

GHOSTFORM

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Laughing at death, you assume a ghostly form in which you can pass through walls.

You assume a visible, incorporeal form like that of a manifesting ghost.

You gain the incorporeal subtype for the duration of the spell, providing you with the following abilities and characteristics.

You have no physical body while in this state.

You can be harmed only by other incorporeal creatures, magic weapons or creatures that strike as magic weapons, and spells, spell-like abilities, or supernatural abilities.

You are immune to all nonmagical attack forms.

Even when hit by spells, including touch spells, or magic weapons, you have a 50% chance to ignore any damage from a corporeal source (except for positive energy, negative energy, force effects, or attacks made with ghost touch weapons).

Nondamaging spell effects affect you normally unless they require corporeal targets to function (such as implosion) or they create a corporeal effect that incorporeal creatures would normally be unaffected by (such as a web or wall of stone spell).

Your attacks while in ghostform pass through (ignore) natural armor, armor, and shields, although deflection bonuses and force effects (such as mage armor) work normally against you.

Nonmagical attacks you make with a melee weapon have no effect on corporeal targets, and any melee attack you make with a magic weapon against a corporeal target has a 50% miss chance, except for attacks you make with a ghost touch weapon, which are made normally (no miss chance). Spells you cast while in ghostform affect corporeal targets normally, including spells that require you to make an attack roll (such as rays or melee touch spells).

Any equipment you are wearing or carrying is also incorporeal as long as it remains in your possession.

An object that you relinquish loses its incorporeal quality (and you lose the ability to manipulate the object).

If you use a thrown weapon or a ranged weapon, the projectile becomes corporeal as soon as it is fired and can affect a corporeal target normally (no miss chance).

Magic items you possess work normally with respect to their effects on you or on another target.

As an incorporeal creature, you have no natural armor bonus but have a deflection bonus equal to your Charisma bonus (always at least +1, even if your Charisma score does not normally provide a bonus).

You can enter or pass through solid objects while in ghostform, but you must remain adjacent to the object's exterior, and so you cannot pass entirely through an object whose space is larger than your own.

You can sense the presence of creatures or objects within a square adjacent to your current location, but enemies have total concealment from you while you are inside an object. In order to see farther from the object you are in and attack normally, you must emerge.

While inside an object, you have total cover, but when you attack a creature outside the object you have cover only, so a creature outside with a readied action could strike at you as you attack.

You cannot pass through a force effect.

You can pass through and operate in water as easily as you do in air.

You cannot fall or take falling damage.

You cannot make trip or grapple attacks, nor can you be tripped or grappled.
In fact, you cannot take any physical action that would move or manipulate an opponent or its equipment, nor are you subject to such actions.
You have no weight while in ghostform and do not set off traps that are triggered by weight.
You move silently and cannot be heard with Listen checks if you don't wish to be while in ghostform.
You have no Strength score while incorporeal, so your Dexterity modifier applies to both your melee attacks and ranged attacks.
Nonvisual senses, such as scent and blindsight, are either ineffective or only partly effective with regard to you.
You have an innate sense of direction and can move at full speed even when you cannot see.

GIANT'S WRATH

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Targets: One pebble/3 levels

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: None

With your best giant's shout you rattle some pebbles in your closed hand, completing the spell that will allow them to become boulders.

You infuse a handful of stone pebbles with powerful transmutation magic.

For the duration of the spell, you can hurl one pebble as an attack action that provokes attacks of opportunity.

The instant the pebble leaves contact with your hand, its size and the force of your throw increase dramatically, as the pebble transforms into a boulder.

The boulder has a range increment of 120 feet, and you must succeed on a ranged attack to strike a target with the boulder.

If you hit the target, the boulder deals 2d6 points of bludgeoning damage + your Str modifier.

You gain an insight bonus equal to your caster level on attack rolls and damage rolls (maximum +10) with these boulders.

If you drop a pebble or give it to another creature, the pebbles' magic dissipates harmlessly.

Material Component: The pebbles to be transmuted.

GIRALLON'S BLESSING

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The touched subject appears to be in discomfort for an instant before arms erupt from its torso with a damp squelch.
You give the subject an additional pair of arms.

Each of its arms—new and old—ends in a clawed hand with fingers and an opposable thumb.

The creature's original arms (if any) are its primary arms, and new limbs are secondary limbs (if the subject had no arms, the arms created by the spell are its primary arms).

The creature gains four claw attacks, each using its base attack bonus + its Str modifier for attack rolls.

Each claw deals 1d4 points of damage + the subject's Str modifier, and if an opponent is struck by two or more claws in 1 round, the subject can rend it for an additional 2d4 points of damage + 1-1/2 times its Str modifier.

A creature cannot use normal weapons and the claw attacks in the same round, and the subject does not gain additional claw attacks from a high base attack bonus.

Material Component: A few strands of girallon hair.

GLASS STRIKE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature or 4 cubic ft. of material

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The spell erupts from the surface of the mirror you hold, striking your foe square in the chest and transforming it to glass.

You transform the target into glass.

You can cast either of these two versions: Glass Creature: As flesh to stone (PH 232), but the subject becomes glass.

Glass Object: An object of up to 4 cubic feet in volume is affected.

Part of a larger object (such as a floor or wall) can be transformed by this spell.

Glass has hardness 1, and 1 hit point per inch of thickness.

Neither version of the spell affects magic items (magic items carried by a transformed creature remain intact).

When the duration ends, the subject returns to its original materials.

If the subject was broken or damaged while in glass form, its normal form has similar damage.

Focus: A piece of glass from a mirror.

GRACE

Transmutation [Good]

Level: Bard 2, cleric 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

With a single word, you call upon the might and grace of your deity, bathing your body with divine energy.

Your body glows with silvery light and you feel quick and light on your feet.

You create a silvery glow around your body that provides illumination to a radius of 60 feet.

You gain a -20 circumstance penalty on Hide checks made while under the effect of this spell.

For the duration of the spell, you gain a +2 sacred bonus to Dexterity, and your base land speed increases by 10 feet.

Your touch attacks and any melee weapons you wield become infused with this power as well. They are treated as good-aligned weapons for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

GUTSNAKE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You concentrate on the tooth, speak the words, and a 15-foot-long tentacle sprouts from your stomach.

The tentacle has no eyes, but it ends in a set of snapping reptilian jaws.

The tentacle created by the gutsnake spell is equivalent to a giant constrictor snake (MM 280) except that it is completely obedient to you and moves as you command. The snake has hit points equal to your own full normal total.

Attacks against the snake cause you no discomfort and do not disrupt your spellcasting.

If it is "killed", the tentacle disappears without causing harm to you.

The tentacle does not interfere with spellcasting in any way.

Once each round as a free action, you can have the tentacle attack a creature up to 10 feet away with its bite attack, and if it successfully hits, the tentacle can use the snake's improved grab ability to deal damage through constriction. In each round when the gutsnake is constricting a target, you cannot move more than 5 feet away from that target, unless the gutsnake makes a successful grapple check to carry the opponent with you when you move (see PH 155 for grappling rules).

This is the only way in which the tentacle restricts movement.

While the snake is present, you can use its Balance and Climb skill modifiers instead of your own, and you gain a climb speed of 20 feet.

Focus: A fang from any reptile.

HAMATULA BARBS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You invoke the dark nature of the spell and slender, sharp-edged barbs sprout from your body and clothing, glowing with hellish energy.

Any creature hitting the subject of this spell with a handheld weapon or a natural weapon takes 1d8 points of slashing and piercing damage from the subject's barbs.

This damage does not apply to attackers using reach weapons, such as longswords.

The subject itself is not harmed by its own barbs.

Arcane Material Component: A barb from a hamatula.

HARDENING

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One item of a volume no greater than 10 cu. ft./level; see text

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You rub your hands along the length of the object, intoning the spell.

A warm red glow emits from your hands, strengthening the object.

This spell increases the hardness of materials.

Paper becomes harder to tear, glass becomes harder to break, wood becomes more resilient, and so on.

For every two caster levels, add 1 point of hardness to the material targeted by the spell.

This hardness increase improves only the material's resistance to damage.

Nothing else is modified by the improvement.

For example, a longsword (treat steel as iron, base hardness 10) affected by a hardening spell cast by a 12th-level caster would have hardness 16 for the purpose of ignoring damage caused by someone making a sunder attack.

The sword's hit points, attack and damage modifiers, and other factors are not affected.

A hardening spell does not in any way affect a substance's resistance to other forms of transformation.

Ice still melts, paper and wood still burn, rock still becomes transmutable to mud with the proper spell, and so on.

This spell affects up to 10 cubic feet of material per level of the caster.

If cast upon a metal or mineral, the spell affects only 1 cubic foot per level.

Material Component: An ointment made with 50 gp of diamond dust per 10 cubic feet of material.

HASTE, SWIFT

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1d4 rounds

This spell functions like haste (PH 239), except as noted above.

This spell counters and dispels any slow effect on you.

HAWKEYE

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a wave of your hand and a few hissed words, you cause the target creature to suffer as if it had been toiling for hours on end under the merciless hammer of the desert sun.

If the target creature fails to resist the spell, it immediately becomes fatigued.

If it is already fatigued, it instead becomes exhausted.

The subject takes 2d6 points of nonlethal damage from the oppressive heat as well, even if it makes the Fortitude saving throw to avoid fatigue or exhaustion.

A creature wearing heavy armor takes a -4 penalty on its save.

Creatures with immunity or resistance to fire are not affected by this spell.

HEROICS

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your heart swells with martial vigor and you feel like marching off to war.

Upon touching your intended subject the desire to do battle wanes, but you see a hint of the lust for glory in the recipient's eyes.

The heroics spell temporarily grants the subject a feat from the fighter's bonus feat list.

For the duration of the heroics spell, the subject can use the feat as if it were one of those the creature had selected.

All prerequisites for the feat must be met by the target of this spell.

Material Component: A bit of a weapon or armor that has been used in combat by a fighter of at least 15th level.

HOLY MOUNT

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Your special mount

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Your special mount gains the celestial template (MM 31) for the duration of the spell.

HOLY SPURS

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Your special mount

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You invoke the holy powers and your mount's legs glow with a brilliant yellow radiance.

This spell increases your special mount's base land speed by 40 feet.

This adjustment is treated as an enhancement bonus.

HOLY TRANSFORMATION

Transmutation [Good]

Level: Cleric 7

This spell functions like lesser holy transformation, but when you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a hound archon (MM 16).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to outsider (archon, good, lawful), and your size changes to Medium.

You have the space and reach of a hound archon (5 feet/5 feet).

You gain a +4 sacred bonus to Strength and Constitution.

You gain a +4 sacred bonus on saving throws.

Transmutation [Good]

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

A charge of holy energy courses through you, causing a barely visible golden aura to surround you.

You feel a closeness to your deity as well as a noticeable increase in physical girth and power.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a protector (Miniatures Handbook 66).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to outsider (good), and your size changes to Medium.

You have the space and reach of a protector (5 feet/5 feet).

You gain a +2 sacred bonus to Strength and Constitution.

You gain a fly speed of 60 feet (good).

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

You gain a +2 sacred bonus on saving throws.

You gain the ability to speak and understand Celestial.

HORRIBLE TASTE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature or object touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

After a few mystic words, you touch a piece of rotten meat to the subject and it sinks inside the creature's body.

Any creature that bites the spell's subject must succeed on a Fortitude saving throw or be nauseated until the end of its next turn.

If a creature of animal Intelligence (2 or lower) fails its saving throw, it will not willingly bite the subject a second time; someone trying to direct the creature to bite the subject again must make a Handle Animal check as if he was trying to "push" the creature.

This check must be made every time he tries to make the creature bite.

Creatures that are immune to poison or that lack the ability to taste are unaffected by this spell.

Material Component: A pinch of rotten meat.

HUNTER'S MERCY

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Your eyes glow red, but you see the world as normal except when you look at your target.

A small glowing dot reveals the creature's weakest point.

This transmutation makes a bow strike true.

Your first hit with a bow (not including crossbows) in the next round is automatically a critical hit.

If you don't hit in the round following the casting of this spell, the effect is wasted.

HURL

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You picture with your mind's eye the target weapon returning to its owner.

Upon completion of the spell, the weapon glows with a dull yellow radiance.

The hurl spell enhances one melee weapon so that it returns to the thrower after being thrown.

For the duration of the spell, when thrown, the weapon returns to its wielder at the beginning of the wielder's next action.

The weapon returns whether it hit or missed its target. On its return, the thrown weapon hovers for 1 round next to the wielder and can then be seized and thrown again.

After 1 round, the weapon falls to the ground.

The weapon returns to its wielder only if thrown; it doesn't automatically fly back if dropped or seized by another creature.

(An improvised weapon or a weapon not designed for throwing has a range increment of 10 feet).

Throwing a two-handed weapon is a full-round action.

ICE FLOWERS

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 6, druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: No

A lance of ice and earth thrusts up where you point, flinging pebbles, rocks, and dirt into the sky.

Stone rains down, covering the ground with debris.

This spell causes moisture in the ground at a point you designate to freeze into a mound of solid ice covered by a layer of soil, which bursts violently through the surface.

This flings dangerous ice shards and small stones throughout the area, turning the surface of the ground in the spell's area into dense rubble (DMG 90).

The shards and stones deal 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

Half the damage is cold damage.

The origin point of the spell must be on the ground.

This spell has no effect in desert terrain or on solid stone.

IMPROVISATION

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

With an elaborate flourish and call for luck, you toss the dice in your hand into the air.

Immediately you feel as though fate favors you, filling you with confidence.

You gain access to a floating "pool" of luck, which manifests as bonus points you can use as desired to improve your odds of success at various tasks.

This bonus pool consists of 2 points per caster level, which you can spend as you like to improve attack rolls, skill checks, and ability checks, although no single check can receive a bonus greater than one-half your caster level. You must declare any bonus point usage before the appropriate roll is made.

Used points disappear from the pool, and any points remaining when the spell ends are wasted.

These points count as luck bonuses for the purpose of stacking.

For example, a 14th-level bard pauses while chasing a pickpocket to cast improvisation.

At any time during the next 14 rounds, he could use the points to provide himself a +7 luck bonus on a Spot check, a +7 luck bonus on a Climb check, and a +7 luck bonus on two of his attacks.

Material Component: A pair of dice.

INFERNAL TRANSFORMATION

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Cleric 7

This spell functions like lesser infernal transformation, except when you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a bone devil (MM 52).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to outsider (baatezu, evil, lawful), and your size changes to Large.

You have the space and reach of a bone devil (10 feet/10 feet).

You gain a +4 profane bonus to Strength and Constitution and darkvision out to 60 feet.

You gain damage reduction 5/good.

You also grow a tail like that of a scorpion.

Whenever you take a full attack action, you can use the tail to make an additional attack each round at your highest attack bonus.

A successful attack deals 3d4 points of damage + your Str modifier.

This attack overcomes damage reduction as if it were an evil weapon.

Creatures hit by the tail attack must make a Fortitude saving throw (DC 10 + 1/2 character level + Con modifier) or be subjected to poison (injury, initial damage 1d6 Str, secondary damage 2d6 Str).

Your equipment grows to match your new size and form, allowing the tail attack to function even if you are wearing heavy armor or other restrictive clothing.

You gain the ability to speak and understand Infernal.

INFERNAL TRANSFORMATION, LESSER

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Cleric 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Your blood runs cold as a feeling of utter evil imbues you with unholy power.

A cackle of sadistic glee escapes your changing mouth, and you feel your body grow in both size and power.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a bearded devil (MM 52).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to outsider (baatezu, evil, lawful), and your size changes to Medium.

You have the space and reach of a bearded devil (5 feet/5 feet).

You gain a +2 profane bonus to Strength and Constitution and darkvision out to 60 feet.

You grow a snaky beard.

Whenever you take a full attack action, you can use the beard to make an additional attack each round at your highest attack bonus plus all appropriate modifiers.

A successful attack deals 1d8 points of damage + your Str modifier.

This attack overcomes damage reduction as if it were an evil weapon.

Creatures hit by the beard attack must make a Fortitude saving throw (DC 10 + 1/2 character level + Con modifier) or be affected by the devil chills disease (DMG 292).

You gain the ability to speak and understand Infernal.

INFERNAL WOUND

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You wave your hands over the blade and it takes on a gray pallor. Its attacks will now leave a lingering, painful memory in their wake.

A creature injured by a weapon with infernal wound cast upon it loses 2 additional hit points each round for the duration of the spell (regardless of how many times it is struck during that time).

The continuing hit point loss can be stopped by a Heal check (DC 10 + spell level + your relevant ability modifier), a cure spell, or a heal spell.

INFERNO

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 6 rounds; see text

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates and Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Singling out the target, you call upon elemental forces to surround it in fire.

The target of the inferno takes 6d6 points of fire damage unless it makes a Fortitude save.

In each round thereafter, the fire deals 1d6 fewer points of damage (minimum 1d6) until the spell ends or the subject manages to extinguish the flames.

Thus, the fire deals 5d6 points of damage in the second round, 4d6 points in the third round, and so forth. Flammable, nonmagical items carried by the target automatically fail their saves to resist this damage. After the first round, the subject can attempt a DC 15 Reflex save as a full-round action to extinguish the flames before taking additional damage. Rolling on the ground (the subject becomes prone) allows the target a +2 bonus on this save. Leaping into a large body of water or magically extinguishing the flames automatically ends the effect. Material Component: A gob of beeswax.

IRON BONES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

A brief flash engulfs your undead ally, and through its flesh you can see its skeleton.

The skeleton glows a dusky red for a moment.

This spell functions like stone bones (page 208), except that the subject creature's skeleton changes to iron.

The creature gains a +6 natural armor bonus to AC.

Arcane Focus: A miniature skull made out of iron or steel.

IRON SILENCE

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 2, bard 2, cleric 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One suit of armor touched/3 levels

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

As you imitate a clanking noise you brush your hand over the armor you wish to silence.

The armor glows softly orange for a moment before the glow fades. A closer look reveals what looks like orange grease in the joints of the armor.

While this spell is in effect, the armor check penalty from the affected suit or suits of armor does not apply on Hide and Move Silently checks.

Only wearers proficient in the armor's use get this benefit when wearing the affected armor.

The armor check penalty still applies to other skill checks as normal.

IRONTHUNDER HORN

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The last words of your spell boom out with a thundering roar, knocking the foes in your path off their feet.

You create a deep resonant vibration that can shake creatures off their feet.

Creatures in the area must succeed on a Reflex saving throw or fall prone.

JAGGED TOOTH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One natural slashing or piercing weapon of target creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You feel your own teeth sharpen momentarily as you complete this spell.

As the magical energy surrounds your intended target, it flexes its muscles in appreciation of its weapon's deadlier capabilities.

This spell doubles the critical threat range of one natural weapon that deals either slashing or piercing damage.

Multiple effects that increase a weapon's threat range don't stack.

JAWS OF THE WOLF

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One or more created worgs

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cast small wooden statuettes on the ground and they immediately grow into adult worgs.

The worgs growl at your foes, their jaws slathered with spittle.

You turn small wooden carvings into a number of worgs (MM 256) equal to one for every two caster levels.

These worgs appear between you and your opponents.

They act on their own but obey your mental commands.

If the worgs move beyond the range of the spell, or at the end of the spell, the worgs become carvings again.

Killing a worg destroys its focus item.

Focus: One carving of a worg for each that you create (25 gp each).

JUNGLE'S RAPTURE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living nonplant creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Spitting, you curse the creature, knowing that in days it will be either dead or just another weed.

As you watch, its body becomes more rigid, and the first whorls of wood grain can be seen on its skin.

The creature targeted by this spell immediately takes 1d6 points of Dexterity drain. This drain manifests as a hardening of the limbs and skin as the victim's flesh slowly turns to wood. Each day that passes, the victim takes an additional 1d6 points of Dexterity drain. Even if drained points are restored (through restoration, for example), the target creature still takes Dexterity drain each day until the spell is lifted. Once a victim of jungle's rapture is drained to 0 Dexterity, it immediately transforms into a normal plant of the same size as its original body. Aside from radiating an aura of transmutation magic, the plant is a normal plant with no Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma scores. Jungle's rapture is a curse, and as such it cannot be dispelled. It can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, or wish spell. Remove curse works only if the caster level of that spell is equal to or higher than your caster level at the time you cast jungle's rapture.

KNIGHT'S MOVE

Transmutation (Teleportation)
Level: Cleric 3, paladin 2
Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 swift action
Range: 5 ft./2 levels; see text
Target: You
Duration: Instantaneous
The ground before you appears overlaid with a chessboard pattern, with certain squares of the chessboard glowing softly red. Time stops for you as you move without walking to the indicated location.
You can teleport with a limited distance and a circumspect form of movement. You can instantly move up to 5 feet per two caster levels with this spell, but you must end this movement in a square that leaves you flanking an enemy.

LANGUOR

Transmutation
Level: Druid 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Ray
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Will partial
Spell Resistance: Yes
With a low thrumming sound, a blue beam lances from your finger to strike your foe and weaken him.
You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target. This ray causes creatures it hits to become weak and slow for the spell's duration. A struck creature takes a penalty to Strength equal to 1d6+1 per two caster levels (maximum 1d6+10). In addition, a subject that fails a Will save is slowed. The spell's slow effect counters and is countered by haste.

LAST BREATH

Transmutation
Level: Druid 4
Components: V, S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: Dead creature touched
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)
Rushing to the body of your fallen ally, you call out magic words that will bring back life and breath to your friend.
Last breath restores life to a recently deceased creature, creating a new body for the returning spirit to inhabit. However, the spell must be cast within 1 round of the victim's death. This spell functions like reincarnate (PH 270), except that the reincarnated creature receives no level loss, no Constitution loss, and no loss of spells. The creature has -1 hit points (but is stable).
Material Component: Rare oils and unguents worth a total of at least 500 gp, spread over the remains.

LAUNCH BOLT

Transmutation
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 0
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: One crossbow bolt in your possession
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
The crossbow bolt in your hand glows a bright red, then flies off at your foe.
You cast this spell on a crossbow bolt, causing it to fly at a target of your choice as if you had fired it from a light crossbow, using a ranged attack roll. The bolt has a range increment of 80 feet. Any properties of the crossbow bolt (such as magical abilities, masterwork quality, and so on) or feats you possess (such as Point Blank Shot, Weapon Focus [light crossbow], and so on) apply. Drawing a bolt for this spell is a free action.
Material Component: The crossbow bolt to be fired (1 sp).

LAUNCH ITEM

Transmutation
Level: Sorcerer/wizard 0
Components: S
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: One Fine item in your possession, weighing up to 10 lb.
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
You hold the item and windmill your arm in an underhanded toss.
When it leaves your hand, it is bathed in an orange glow and flies farther than you could throw any item.

You cause a Fine item in your possession to fly at great speed to a target or location you specify, out to medium range (100 ft. + 10 ft./level).

This spell is normally used to launch dangerous items (flasks of acid, thunderstones, and so on) farther than you could normally throw them.

You can use this spell to make an attack with a splash weapon.

If you choose to do so, you must make an attack roll as normal, but you suffer no penalties for range.

LIGHTFOOT

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 1, ranger 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You mutter the words of this short spell and dive down the hallway, dancing between the armed guards and out the gate.

You provoke no attacks of opportunity when moving.

LION'S CHARGE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You cast the spell and a nimbus of yellow energy in the form of a lion surrounds you.

This spell grants you the pounce special ability (MM 313), allowing you to make a full attack at the end of a charge.

LIVELY STEP

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: 30-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: Up to 12 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Beating a small drum and singing a marching tune, you exhort your allies to struggle on.

Once you cast this spell, the speed of you and all allies within 30 feet of you increases by 10 feet.

You and other affected creatures can only benefit from this spell by refraining from taking any actions other than move actions.

When one of the affected creatures takes any other kind of action, this spell ends.

Focus: A small drum.

LOW-LIGHT VISION

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 1, druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You pass your hand over the subject's eyes and murmur the arcane words.

Its eyes grow larger, and when it opens them, the pupils are speckled with tiny silvers of starlight.

The subject creature gains low-light vision.

Arcane Material Component: A small candle.

LUCENT LANCE

Transmutation [Light]

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes; see text

The eternal energies of light and darkness you call upon to cast this spell cause the ambient light near you to coalesce around the crystal rod in your hand.

The light erupts in a coruscating beam of radiance shaped like a needle-sharp lance.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

A creature struck is blinded for 1 round, and dazzled for 1 round per caster level.

A creature sensitive to bright light (such as a drow, duergar, or kuo-toa) takes penalties as if it had been exposed to full daylight for 1 round if struck by the beam, even if it resists the spell's other effects.

In addition to this dazzling effect, lucent lance deals damage based on the level of light available within your square.

In bright light, it deals 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d6).

In shadowy illumination, it deals 1d4 points of damage per caster level (maximum 15d4).

If no light is present in your square, the spell cannot be cast at all.

Focus: A clear glass or crystal rod.

MAGE HAND, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One object or creature weighing up to 40 lb.

Duration: Concentration

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast the spell, and your hand is suffused with a ghostly white radiance.

You point your finger at the target across the room, and it slowly rises in the air.

A greater mage hand spell can lift an object and move it at will from a distance.

As a move action, you can propel the target up to 20 feet in any direction, although the spell ends if the distance between you and the subject ever exceeds the spell's range.

A creature can negate the effect against an object it possesses with a successful Will save or if you fail to overcome its spell resistance.

An object can be telekinetically manipulated as if with one hand.

For example, a lever or rope can be pulled, a key can be turned, an object rotated, and so on, if the force required is within the weight limitation.

The spell has an effective Strength of 10.

MAGIC FANG, SUPERIOR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You speak the old words of the incantation, and your hands glow with a yellow aura that flashes at the tips of your digits.

Superior magic fang gives every natural weapon you possess an enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls equal to +1 per four caster levels (maximum +5 at 20th level).

MAKE MANIFEST

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cast a spell that reaches into another plane and pulls another creature to your realm.

You can cause one creature on a coexistent plane (DMG 150), along with its personal belongings, to suddenly appear on your plane of existence.

An affected creature appears in the location analogous to the space it occupied on the coexistent plane.

For example, the make manifest spell allows you to cause a target on the Ethereal Plane to appear on the Material Plane, and vice versa.

This spell does not grant the ability to pinpoint the location of ethereal creatures.

For the duration of the spell, the target creature retains all its abilities except for those that allow it to enter other planes.

For example, a ghost brought in from the Ethereal Plane would be unable to return to the Ethereal Plane but would remain incorporeal.

At the end of the spell's duration, the target creature returns to whatever plane it was on before it was targeted by the spell, even if it has moved beyond the range of make manifest.

MAKE MANIFEST, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Area: 25-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Saving Throw: None

You toss a handful of copper dust into the air, and it clings to creatures invisible to you.

Suddenly they're visible and in your presence.

This spell functions like make manifest, except that all creatures and unattended objects on coterminous and coexistent planes within the area of this spell are instantly brought onto your plane.

For the duration of the spell, the target creatures retain all their abilities except for those that allow them to enter other planes.

At the end of mass make manifest's duration, objects and creatures return to their plane of origin, even if they have left the spell's area.

Material Component: A handful of copper dust.

MANTLE OF THE ICY SOUL

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Cleric 6, druid 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you touch the creature, a chill sweeps through you and down your arm.

As the spell takes effect, the creature's body changes hue, becoming an icy blue.

The subject creature gains the cold subtype, granting it immunity to cold and vulnerability to fire (the creature takes half again as much damage from fire effects).

A fire creature subjected to this spell does not gain the cold subtype, but it loses the fire subtype for the duration.

Material Component: A pinch of sapphire dust worth 10 gp.

MASTER AIR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You hold a feather aloft and intone the spell.

Great translucent wings unfold from your back.

You leap up and are airborne.

You sprout a pair of insubstantial feathery or batlike (your choice) wings.

You can fly at a speed of 90 feet with good maneuverability (60 feet if you're wearing medium or heavy armor).

Using master air requires as much concentration as walking, so you can attack or cast spells normally.

You can charge but not run, and you cannot carry aloft more weight than your maximum load (PH 161), plus any armor you wear.

Should the spell duration expire while you are still aloft, the magic fails slowly.

You drop 60 feet per round for 1d6 rounds.

If you reach the ground in that amount of time, you land safely.

If not, you fall the rest of the distance, taking falling damage normally.

Since dispelling a spell effectively ends it, you also fall in this way if the master air spell is dispelled.

Focus: A wing feather from any bird or the wing bone of any bat.

MASTER EARTH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

The ground below your feet suddenly seems insubstantial, and you sink below the surface, moving through dirt and stone as easily as if you were flying through the air.

You travel straight through the earth itself to a destination you choose.

The movement is instantaneous and has no distance limitations (though the location must be on the same world).

You need only think of where you want to go.

If you don't think of an exact location, the earth carries you to the periphery of the general area you imagine.

The earth never leaves you stranded inside it.

It always puts you back to the surface even if it cannot deliver you to your chosen destination.

It takes you as far as it can.

Underground, creature-built structures don't hinder you as long as you can move around them.

This spell functions only on the Material Plane.

Focus: The fossil of any animal.

MAW OF STONE

Transmutation

Level: Cavern 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One cave mouth or natural tunnel up to 20 ft. in diameter

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: No

The rock comes alive, opening into a huge maw of deadly stone.

You cause a single natural opening or natural chamber to become animated.

The opening or chamber cannot move, but it can attack.

You can order it to attack any creature, or a specific type of creature.

You also can order it to attack under a specific circumstance, such as when creatures try to leave or when they touch something.

An animated opening can attack only creatures that try to move through it.

An animated chamber can attack every creature inside.

Only one maw of stone can be in effect on a particular opening or chamber at a time.

The animated opening has an attack bonus equal to your level +10.

The maw of stone deals damage equal to 2d8 points + your caster level.

An animated opening can make one immediate attack against a creature passing through.

If it succeeds, the target must make a Reflex save or it cannot pass through the maw.

The animated stone has an Armor Class of 15 and hardness 8.

Dealing 60 points of damage to it ends the spell.

METAL MELT

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Nonmagical metal object weighing up to 5 lb./level

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You uncork the vial and pour out its contents, and the armor you designate begins to soften and flow.

You alter the physical properties of a metal object so that it runs like water.

The melted metal does not change temperature but flows as a liquid for 1 round and then returns to its normal solid state, usually in a form resembling a puddle.

An item in a creature's possession is allowed a Will save, using the creature's saving throw bonus unless its own is higher.

Material Component: A drop of mercury in a vial.

MINOR DISGUISE

Transmutation

Level: Bard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour

Your fingertips glow blue, and you add a few details to enhance your disguise.

You use magic to make minor, cosmetic changes in your appearance.

The spell does not change the actual structure of either your features or body.

It can add color to hair, paint wrinkles upon your face, give you a scar, or darken your teeth.

This spell gives you a +2 competence bonus on the next Disguise check you make during its duration.

MOUNTAIN STANCE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No

By calling upon the primordial powers of elemental earth, you complete the spell.

A feeling of stubborn determination fills your soul until you touch the spell's intended recipient.

You see then in that creature a hint of the same feeling of determination.

While this spell is in effect, the subject can root itself to the ground as a free action.

The subject gains a bonus equal to your caster level against any attempts to grapple, lift, push, bull rush, overrun, throw, trip, or otherwise force the subject to move against its will through either physical or magical means.

If at any point such an effort succeeds and the subject is forced to move, the spell ends immediately.

Any voluntary movement on the subject's part does not end the spell (although a creature cannot be rooted while it moves), and the subject can "reroot" itself elsewhere in the same manner as described above.

NATURE'S AVATAR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Touch

Target: Animal touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

With a touch, you gift your animal ally with nature's strength, resilience, and speed.

The affected animal gains a +10 morale bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls and 1d8 temporary hit points per caster level, plus the effect of a haste spell (PH 239).

NATURE'S BALANCE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Touching your friend, you concentrate, imagining a light flowing from your body into his.

As you do so, a blue glow flickers to life in the center of your chest, and it travels down your arm into his form, granting him a portion of your power.

You take a -4 penalty to your choice of Strength, Dexterity, or Constitution, and your subject gains an equivalent bonus to the same ability score.

You get no saving throw to avoid the loss, but your subject can attempt a Fortitude save to avoid the gain, if desired.

NATURE'S RAMPART

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Structure up to 40 ft. square

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With a final wave of your hand, the ground beneath your feet trembles and the landscape shifts into a new form.

You shape a natural setting into a formidable defensive position.

Usually this spell is used to prepare an open outdoor area such as a hillside or a forest, but a large natural cavern could be shaped into a divine rampart.

Artificial structures or features are not affected, although nature's rampart could be positioned to fill a gap between two buildings or barricade an unpaved road.

The effect of the spell depends on the terrain:

Open Outdoor Site: A rampart or dike of earth 5 feet high and 5 feet thick at its base rises immediately behind a shallow ditch 5 feet wide and 5 feet deep along the perimeter of the site.

Creatures behind the dike receive cover.

Attackers approaching on foot must scramble down into the ditch and then climbing 10 feet to reach the top of the dike (Climb DC 10).

Rough Outdoor Site or Cavern: Loose stones and boulders, dead wood, and patches of dense briars are arranged to form a defensible wall 5 feet high and 2 feet thick at the base around the perimeter of the site.

Creatures behind the wall receive cover.

Marshy or Low-Lying Site: In areas such as marsh, bog, swamp, or tundra, nature's rampart cannot raise a wall, but instead creates a water-filled ditch 10 feet wide and 5 feet deep.

Creatures forced to wade the ditch are reduced to 1/4 their normal speed (minimum 5 feet) and cannot charge or run.

Focus: A small quartz gem engraved with the image of an exquisite tiny castle, worth at least 100 gp.

NERVESKITTER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You suffuse your ally with a brief, blue glow.

He jerks away from you, as if he can anticipate your next action.

You cast this spell when you and your party roll for initiative.

You enhance the subject's reactions in combat, granting it a +5 bonus on its initiative check for the current encounter. If the subject does not make an initiative check within 1 round, this spell has no effect.

NIGHTSTALKER'S TRANSFORMATION

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Moving the potion you hold in a circle before you, you finish speaking the words of the spell before quaffing the potion in one gulp.

A moment later you feel discomfort as your connection to the arcane energies of the world around you slips away.

In its place, you find your mind and body filled with abilities you lacked before.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Dexterity, a +3 luck bonus to Armor Class, a +5 luck bonus on Reflex saving throws, a +5 competence bonus on Spot, Listen, Hide, and Move Silently checks, and proficiency with all simple weapons plus the hand crossbow, rapier, sap, shortbow, and short sword.

You also gain the Weapon Finesse feat and the evasion ability (PH 50).

You deal an extra 3d6 points of damage whenever you attack an opponent that you flank or an opponent denied its Dexterity bonus to Armor Class.

This extra damage works like the rogue's sneak attack ability.

You lose your spellcasting ability for the duration of the spell, including your ability to use spell trigger or spell completion magic items, just as if the spells were no longer on your class list.

Material Component: A potion of cat's grace, which you drink (and whose effect is subsumed by this spell's effect).

NIXIE'S GRACE

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Bard 6

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You feel a longing for cool waters, and a forceful confidence manifests within you.

Your movements and thoughts become filled with grace.

This potent spell infuses you with powerful fey magic, granting you many of the traits and abilities of a nixie (MM 235).

Upon casting this spell, you gain a swim speed of 30 feet.

You can breathe underwater, and you gain low-light vision and damage reduction 5/cold iron.

You also gain a +6 enhancement bonus to Dexterity, a +2 enhancement bonus to Wisdom, and a +8 enhancement bonus to Charisma.

Focus: A lock of nixie's hair, freely given to you by a nixie.

ONE WITH THE LAND

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level

You cast the spell and are bathed in a golden-green light from above.

As it fades, you feel in touch with your natural surroundings.

You forge a strong link with nature that gives you greater insight into your environment.

You gain a +2 competence bonus on Handle Animal, Hide, Move Silently, Search, Survival, and wild empathy checks.

OOZE PUPPET

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One ooze

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a few chanted words and a mystic pass of your arm, your magic reaches out to invisibly surround the ooze, placing it under your control.

You telekinetically take control of the targeted ooze, manipulating it and forcing it to move and attack as you see fit.

You can force the ooze to perform as you desire, within the limits of its abilities.

Controlling the ooze's actions for an entire round is a move action for you.

When the ooze is not directed to move, attack, or undertake any actions by you, telekinetic force holds it immobile.

Once control is established, you must have line of sight to the ooze to manipulate it, but distance is not otherwise a factor, unless you and the ooze are on different planes (at which point the spell ends).

If a controlled ooze splits, such as a black pudding (MM 201) struck by a slashing weapon, you retain control of only one of the resultant oozes (choose randomly).

OWL'S INSIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As you cast this spell, your face is overlaid with the image of a snow owl.
The image fades as you bestow your ally with comprehension.
The subject gains an insight bonus to Wisdom equal to 1/2 your caster level.

PERINARCH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, Limbo 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: None (object) and Reflex negates; see text

Spell Resistance: No

Limbo impinges on all sides—colors, sounds, and elements.

You speak the words and feel the power of the plane buckle within your mind, then relax as you impress order upon the chaos.

This spell grants temporary control over the terrain of Limbo.

Normally, unless controlled, the Ever-Changing Chaos of Limbo (DMG 158) is just what the plane's name implies: a roiling soup of energy and elements.

Natives learn to control it or to inhabit areas that have enjoyed some measure of control for a long period, but visitors to areas of "raw" limbo must make a DC 16 Wisdom check to gain control over the dangerous roil.

The perinarch spell gives you automatic control of a radius of raw Limbo (an area not already stabilized or within some other creature's control) in close range.

Control allows you to reshape the raw limbo as you desire, adding or subtracting one of the four basic elements once per round as a standard action.

A favorite among travelers from the Material Plane is a chunk of earth surrounded by a small atmosphere of air.

The effect of this spell overlaps with the control already (potentially) established with a Wisdom check.

Your allies can give their control over to you concurrently with the spell being cast, if they so choose.

Control cannot be wrested away from you while the spell is in effect (which is one of the best reasons to cast this spell, even if you have a high Wisdom).

If you move more than 100 feet away from the area that you controlled, the order you imposed fades away.

You are unable to achieve any works of complexity within an area you control, but you can mix two or three elements in a crude fashion; a few examples are provided below.

You can attempt to seize control of a new area that already contains foes; however, foes can make a Reflex save to get out of the area.

Thick Barrier: You can "thicken" empty air with dust and rock, creating a zone around yourself and your allies that outside creatures must hack or force a way through. Their speed drops to 5 feet, or 10 feet for Large or larger creatures.

Fiery Barrier: You can create a thick field of flame that deals 3d10 points of fire damage to any creature attempting to pass through it.

The field also deals 3d10 points of fire damage for each round a creature lingers within it.

Complete Barrier: You can create a complete barrier of solid stone up to 1 foot thick encircling yourself and your allies, preventing access by any other than the most accomplished tunnelers.

On the other hand, you can attempt to trap foes within their own bubble of solid stone.

PERINARCH, PLANAR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 9, Limbo 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

The god's domain was made entirely of water, but your spell creates a bubble of air and a place to stand.

This spell functions like perinarch, except that you can cast this spell on any highly morphic or divinely morphic plane (DMG 148).

PLANT BODY

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Radiating out from your hands, moss and ivy covers your flesh until you resemble a shambling mound.

You imbue yourself with powerful transformative magic, gaining some of the characteristics of the plant type.

Any spell or effect that would affect plant creatures also affects you, for the duration of plant body.

When subject to this spell, you are immune to extra damage from critical hits, mind-affecting spells and abilities, poison, sleep, paralysis, stunning, and polymorphing.

Your ability scores, skills, and feats are unaffected (although your new form might make it difficult or impossible for you to use certain skills or feats).

POISON THORNS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 5

Black, glistening thorns emerge from your skin, causing you no damage but endangering those who attack you in melee.

This spell functions like thornskin (page 219), except as noted above, and a scratch from the thorns is sufficient to deliver a dose of poison to your attacker.

Any creature grappling you is exposed to the poison each round at the start of your turn.

The poison from the thorns deals 1d4 points of Strength damage immediately and another 1d4 points of Strength damage 1 minute later.

Each instance of damage can be negated by a successful Fortitude save (DC 10 + 1/2 your caster level + your Wis modifier).

Material Component: A dried black rose.

PORTAL BEACON

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One interplanar gate or portal

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Mentally marking the appearance and location of the portal, you implant that knowledge into others, allowing them to be drawn to the portal like a loadstone to metal.

You alter a magic gate or portal so it sends out a mental beacon for up to six creatures, including yourself if you choose.

These individuals must be known to you but need not be present at the time of casting.

Once you cast portal beacon, these creatures know the direction and distance to the targeted portal for the spell's duration.

Moving to a plane other than the two connected by the portal ends the spell for that creature but leaves it intact for others.

You can have any number of portal beacons tuned to you without impairing other abilities or actions.

PRIMAL FORM

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

By calling on the ancient and timeless magical energies of the elements, you complete the spell.

Immediately your form begins to change, taking on aspects of the element you envisioned while casting the spell.

When you cast this spell, choose an element (air, earth, fire, or water).

You assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a Medium elemental of the chosen element (MM 96–100).

Primal form also grants you the elemental subtype appropriate to the chosen element.

You gain a +4 bonus on saving throws against mind-affecting spells and abilities.

There is a 25% chance that critical hits and sneak attacks scored on you are negated, as if you were wearing armor with the light fortification special ability (DMG 219).

You cannot cast spells, and you lose any spell-like, supernatural, and extraordinary abilities of your own form. You gain additional abilities depending on the element you chose when you cast the spell: Air: Fly speed 20 feet (perfect).

Earth: Damage reduction 5/–.

Fire: 1d4 fire damage, resistance to fire 10, burn (MM 98).

Water: Swim 90 feet, drench (MM 101).

Your equipment melds into your new form and becomes nonfunctional.

PROTÉGÉ

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: One creature with Intelligence 3 or higher

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You admonish your chosen subject even as you offer a supportive slap on the back.

With that simple action, you complete the spell and see in your target a realization of its new abilities.

You briefly grant some bard abilities to a creature of your choice.

The subject of the spell can then function as a bard of one-half your current bard level with respect to bardic music and bardic knowledge.

However, protégé imparts no spellcasting ability and does not grant access to spells not normally available to the subject.

For Perform checks and bardic music prerequisites, the creature uses its own ranks in Perform or one-half of your ranks (modified by its own Charisma modifier), whichever is better.

QUICK MARCH

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Allies in a 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Upon casting this spell, your feet and those of your allies glow with a yellow nimbus of light.

Quick march increases your allies' base land speed by 30 feet. (This adjustment is considered an enhancement bonus).

There is no effect on other modes of movement, such as burrow, climb, fly, or swim.

As with any effect that increases a creature's speed, this spell affects maximum jumping distance.

QUICK POTION

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Flask of water touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You mutter the last of the spell's words and wave your fingers over the flask.

Coppery sparks drop from your fingertips and suffuse the water with a deep rusty shade.

As the sparks dissolve fully, you begin casting your next spell.

You transform the water in a flask so that it is capable of storing a spell in the manner of a potion.

On your next turn, you or another spellcaster can cast a spell into the water, transforming the water into a potion of the appropriate type.

Only spells suitable for making potions can be used in this way.

QUILLFIRE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You evoke the power of nature, and the back of your hand bristles with a spikelike growth of quills.

Your hand sprouts poisonous quills that you can use in melee or as a ranged attack.

The quills deal 1d8 points of damage.

They can be thrown (range increment 10 feet).

The quills are poisonous (injury DC equal DC of quillfire, 1d6 Str/1d6 Str).

RAGING FLAME

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Hot, burning passion fills your soul as you complete the spell.

You release the passionate energy into the chosen area, causing fires there to flare with their own elemental desire to burn.

This spell inflames existing fire, giving it a passion to burn.

All normal fires within the affected area flare up, burning twice as hot and twice as bright.

The illumination radii of all nonmagical fires double (so a torch casts bright illumination in a 40-foot radius), and all nonmagical fires deal double damage (so a creature that catches on fire takes 2d6 points of fire damage per round).

Fire that leaves the area remains affected by the spell.

Fire affected by this spell burns out twice as quickly, so a torch that is the subject of a raging flame spell burns out in 30 minutes instead of the normal hour.

Magical fire in the area, such as from a produce flame or fireball spell, burns hotter, dealing +1 point of fire damage per die.

Raging flame counters or dispels the effect of slow burn (page 192).

RAISE FROM THE DEEP

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level); see text

Target: One creature or object

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Water roils and foams as the shipwreck rises to the surface.

Floating now effortlessly, it bobs up and down, never sinking more than an inch.

The subject of this spell gains magical buoyancy and floats on the surface of the water for the duration of the spell, despite its weight or normal buoyancy.

It cannot swim below the surface of the water.

Creatures that must breathe water can still do so.

If the subject is underwater at the time this spell is cast, it rises toward the surface at a speed of 150 feet.

The magic of the spell prevents the subject from taking damage from the speed of the ascent.

This spell is particularly effective at raising sunken ships from the deep.

If you know the exact details of the shipwreck (its appearance, its name, the date of its creation, its history, and the circumstances of its sinking), the vertical distance between you and the subject is not a factor.

When cast to raise a shipwreck, the spell brings up all surviving fragments of the ship, along with any loose objects that are in contact with the ship or enclosed inside it.

The ship and its fragments remain on the surface of the ocean until the spell's duration ends, at which point the ship sinks again if it has not been repaired.

(Multiple consecutive castings of the spell might be needed to keep the ship afloat long enough to be fully repaired).

RAM'S MIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You complete the casting, and your hands tingle.

Ridged, hornlike ripples appear over your knuckles, nails, and the backs of your hands.

You gain a +2 enhancement bonus to Strength, and your unarmed attacks deal lethal instead of nonlethal damage.

You are considered armed.

The spell has no other effect; you can cast spells and manipulate objects normally.

RAPID BURROWING

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Splaying your fingers like a mole's forepaws completes the spell.

With your touch, the target's digging appendages increase in size and sharpness.

This spell increases the touched creature's burrow speed by 20 feet.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it grant the subject a burrow speed or the ability to burrow through stone if the creature cannot already do so.

RAY OF CLUMSINESS

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

A crackling ray leaps from your outstretched hand.

The green ray seems almost sluggish in reaching its target, though it takes only an eyeblink to do so.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The energy of the ray stiffens the subject's muscles and joints, making it more difficult for the subject to move.

The subject takes a penalty to Dexterity equal to 1d6+1 per two caster levels (maximum penalty 1d6+5, minimum Dexterity 1).

RAZORFANGS

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You speak the words of this spell and your claws shine with lustrous yellow radiance, growing more slender and sharper as you watch.

Choose one of your natural weapons that deals slashing or piercing damage (such as a bite or a single claw).

That natural weapon's threat range doubles (in most cases, becoming 19–20).

The effect of this spell does not stack with any other effects that increase a weapon's threat range.

REDUCE PERSON, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Duration: 10 minutes/level

The creature shrinks rapidly before your eyes.

This spell functions like reduce person (PH 269), except as noted above.

REMOVE SCENT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a touch of a wax-covered finger to the subject, you inhale deeply and smell nothing.

This spell hides the scent of the creature or object touched for the duration of the spell.

The scent ability (MM 314) cannot detect a creature under the effect of a remove scent spell.

It also negates the harmful effects of the noxious stench exuded by certain creatures, such as ghouls, for the duration of the spell.

Material Component: A pinch of unscented candle wax.

REPAIR CRITICAL DAMAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

The smell of grease and the distant echo of clanking gears greet your senses as you complete this spell.

Upon touching the intended construct, the grease smell and gear sounds disappear.

Major dents and scratches disappear from the construct, as do cuts, tears, and abrasions.

This spell functions like repair light damage, except that you repair 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +20).

REPAIR LIGHT DAMAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Construct touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As a sculptor massaging a rough spot of clay into something less abrasive, your touch smooths over the dents and dings of the construct you touch.

When laying your hand upon a construct that has at least 1 hit point remaining, you transmute its structure to repair the damage it has taken.

The spell repairs 1d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +5).

REPAIR MINOR DAMAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 0

As if with the eye of an expert craftsman, your touch draws out a minor dent in the construct's surface.

This spell functions like repair light damage, except that you repair 1 point of damage to a construct.

REPAIR MODERATE DAMAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Your touch eliminates the wear and tear from the construct's body.

This spell functions like repair light damage, except that you repair 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +10) to a construct.

REPAIR SERIOUS DAMAGE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

With a touch, you mold the battered construct's form to be more like it was on its day of creation.

This spell functions like repair light damage, except that you repair 3d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15) to a construct.

REPLICATE CASTING

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round; see text

Range: See text

Effect: One spell or spell-like ability

Duration: See text

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: See text

The enemy mage raises her hands, and a cone of swirling, multicolored winds appears at her fingertips.

Then she laughs and says, "Can you do that?"

You smile and reply, "I can now."

You duplicate the effect of any one spell or spell-like ability you have seen within the last round.

This spell can duplicate only spells and spell-like abilities of 8th level or lower.

This duplication functions like the ability of a wish spell to duplicate another spell, except that it is not limited by type of spell (divine or arcane) or by what school the effect is from.

If the casting time of the spell you observed is greater than 1 round, the casting time of this spell is increased to the same.

A duplicated spell or spell-like ability functions as if you had the appropriate spell prepared and were casting it yourself.

If the spell or ability has an XP cost, you must pay that XP cost.

If the spell has a costly material component, you must provide that component or pay an additional XP cost equal to the gold piece value of that component divided by 5.

RHINO'S RUSH

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1, ranger 1, Wrath 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

A violent fury consumes you.

You seek nothing more than to charge at your enemies and bash in their heads.

This spell allows you to propel yourself in a single deadly charge.

The first charge attack you make before the end of the round deals double damage on a successful hit.

RIGHTEOUS FURY

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You pull a holy aura about you that glows a golden red.

Summoning the power of your deity, you charge yourself with positive energy.

This gives you 5 temporary hit points per caster level (maximum 50) and a +4 sacred bonus to Strength.

These temporary hit points last for up to 1 hour.

RUIN DELVER'S FORTUNE

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1d4 rounds

In desperate need, you cry out a word imbued with power, granting you a bit of extra luck when you need it most.

When the spell is cast, choose from one of the following effects.

- Gain a luck bonus on Fortitude saving throws equal to your Charisma modifier, and immunity to poison.
- Gain a luck bonus on Reflex saving throws equal to your Charisma modifier, and the evasion ability.
- Gain a luck bonus on Will saving throws equal to your Charisma modifier, and immunity to fear effects.
- Gain temporary hit points equal to 4d8 + your Cha modifier.

These hit points vanish at the end of the spell's duration.

You can cast this spell multiple times.

Each time you do, choose a different benefit.

RUST RAY

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Target: One nonmagical ferrous object or one ferrous creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Fortitude negates (object); see text

Spell Resistance: No

You unleash a russet ray at a metallic object.

The air around you smells of hot metal.

This russet ray corrodes metal that it touches.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

It can effectively destroy any nonmagical iron or iron alloy object.

Such objects struck by a rust ray take 2d6 points of damage +1 per two caster levels (maximum +10), ignoring hardness. You can also target a weapon being wielded or metal armor being worn.

Metal armor affected by this ray takes normal damage from the spell and loses 1d4 points of Armor Class through corrosion.

If an item is reduced to 0 hit points, it is destroyed.

Ferrous creatures struck by the ray take the same damage as objects.

Magic items can negate the effect with a successful Fortitude saving throw.

Material Component: Rust particles or a piece of a rust monster.

SCALE WEAKENING

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you cast this spell, the snakeskin vaporizes.

A dull gray ray projects from your hand.

Where the ray strikes, your foe's skin seems brittle and more frail.

You must succeed on a ranged touch attack with the ray to strike a target.

The subject's natural armor bonus is reduced by 1 point per three caster levels (maximum reduction 5 points at 15th level).

This spell can't reduce a creature's natural armor bonus to less than 0, nor does it have any effect on an enhancement bonus to natural armor (such as that granted by the barkskin spell).

Material Component: A shed snakeskin.

SCATTERSPRAY

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Six or more Diminutive or Fine objects, all within 1 ft. of each other, whose total weight does not exceed 25 lb.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No

With a single word and gesture, you send small, unattended objects flying about the room.

You can point to a collection of little, unsecured items and cause them to fly off in all directions simultaneously.

The spray of items creates a burst with a 10-foot radius.

If the items are fairly hard or sharp (such as stones, sling bullets, coins, or the like), creatures in the burst take 1d8 points of damage.

A successful Reflex save negates this damage.

Eggs, fruit, and other soft objects can be used, but the damage then dealt is nonlethal damage.

SCENT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

At your touch, the creature inhales deeply, experiencing a new world of sensory input.

You give the creature touched the scent ability (MM 314).

Material Component: A sprinkle of mustard and pepper.

SCRAMBLE PORTAL

Transmutation [Chaotic]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One interplanar gate or portal

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None (for portal)

Spell Resistance: No

You raise your hand and send a roiling ball of crackling, multicolored energy at the portal, knowing its chaotic power will give portal users a surprise.

You randomize the destination of one interplanar gate or portal for the duration of the spell.

Anyone who passes through the portal from either side is sent to a random plane instead of the portal's normal destination.

All those who fail the save on the same round go to the same location on the same plane.

Material Component: A cracked mirror.

SECOND WIND

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous and 1 hour/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You feel slightly winded but energized, as if having just run a long distance but knowing you could run farther.

When touching the spell's intended recipient, your breathing returns to normal but you note the spell's subject heaves a deep, refreshing breath.

This spell removes fatigue from a subject and provides a +4 bonus on Constitution checks for the duration of the spell. If the subject creature is exhausted when you cast this spell, its condition is improved to fatigued.

SHADOW PHASE

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Your hand becomes slightly translucent as you complete the arcane gestures of the spell.

As you touch the intended recipient, your hand appears solid again, while the subject's flesh takes on a dark, wispy, insubstantial appearance.

The spell temporarily transposes some of the subject's tissue with shadow-stuff, making the subject partially incorporeal.

This partially incorporeal state does not allow the subject to pass through walls or other solid objects.

Nonmagical physical attacks directed against the spell's subject suffer a 50% miss chance.

Magical attacks, such as supernatural and spell-like abilities, spells, and magic weapons, suffer a 20% miss chance.

SHARPTOOTH

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You cast this spell, and your jaws glow with yellow, eldritch power, your muscles grow more powerful, and your teeth become sharper.

Choose one of your natural weapons (or your unarmed strike if you have no natural weapons).

For the duration of the spell, that method of attack deals damage as though you were one size category larger than your actual size.

This spell does not stack with itself.

SHILDBEARER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Shield touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A feeling of protectiveness and guardianship fills you as you complete the spell.

Touching the target shield, you point to the creature it is meant to protect and watch as the shield rises in the air and floats gently toward the indicated creature.

A shieldbearer spell allows you to enchant one shield so that it hovers near and attempts to protect one creature of your choice.

The spell's recipient is chosen at the time of casting and cannot be changed.

The enchanted shield remains within 1 foot of the creature for the duration of the spell.

The shield's subject is then granted a shield bonus to AC as if it was wearing the shield.

The spell permits the enchanted shield's subject to use a two-handed weapon or a weapon in each hand and still benefit from the shield's effect.

Shield bonuses from multiple sources, including multiple castings of this spell, do not stack.

SILVERBEARD

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

You evoke the greater powers of good, and your beard stiffens, turning metallic and reaching halfway down your chest, giving you greater protection.

Your beard grows and turns to pure and magically hardened silver, providing you with a +2 sacred bonus to AC.

If you do not have a beard, you grow one for the duration of this spell (even if you are a creature that cannot normally grow a beard, such as an elf or a female human).

You get a +2 circumstance bonus on Diplomacy checks against dwarves.

SINK

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One creature/3 levels, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Casting this spell makes the water around the spell's targets roil. Each target begins struggling against the water, as if trying hard merely to stay afloat.

When this spell is cast, it causes the targets, which must be currently in water or another liquid, to sink.

Each subject descends 100 feet down into the liquid (or to the bottom, if the liquid is not deep enough).

Affected creatures can then swim up normally.

Once on the bottom, a creature must still make a Swim check to move, or else it can move along the bottom at one-quarter its land speed.

SLIDE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

When you speak the word that activates the spell, the soles of your ally's feet glow yellow as he is lifted slightly off the ground. He slips five feet across the ground, into position to flank his opponent.

You slide the subject creature along the ground a distance of 5 feet in any direction.

(If the creature is flying or otherwise not on the ground, it moves parallel to the ground).

You can't slide the subject into a space that is occupied by an ally, an enemy, or a solid object; if you attempt to do so, the spell automatically ends.

You cannot slide the subject up or down, but you can slide it over the edge of a cliff or other drop-off if you desire.

This movement does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

SLIDE, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

This spell functions like slide, except as described above, and you can slide the subject creature 20 feet in a straight line.

This movement likewise does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

SLOW BURN

Transmutation [Fire]

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius spread

Duration: 1 minute

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

The desire to live into old age grips you as you near completion of this spell.

The feeling passes as you designate the area of the spell, where the flames there flicker for a moment as if a gust of wind had hit them.

This spell lends fuel to existing fires within the spell's area, allowing them to burn off the intangible power of passion as much as from physical substance.

Because these fires consume less of the physical fuel that sustain them, they burn for twice as long without losing any of their intensity, but their illumination radius is halved.

In addition, an affected fire is much harder to extinguish.

It takes twice as long to put out a fire that is under the effect of this spell, and if a roll is required (such as the Reflex save required to extinguish flames if a creature is on fire), two successful rolls over 2 rounds are required to successfully put out the fire.

If one such roll fails, the creature must begin trying to extinguish the flames again as if it had never succeeded on the first roll.

Magical fire used against a target in this spell's area, such as from a produce flame or fireball spell, does not burn as effectively, and fire damage from such sources is reduced by 1 point per die.

Slow burn counters or dispels the effect of raging flame (page 164).

Arcane Material Component: An oil-filled hourglass.

SMELL OF FEAR

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your hand glows red briefly upon casting this spell, and after you slap your foe on the back, you try to hide a grin.

You bestow on your target an aroma that attracts predatory animals.

They prefer to attack the subject over other targets, and animals attacking the subject creature gain a +1 bonus per three caster levels (maximum +3) on attack rolls and damage rolls.

SNAKE'S SWIFTNESS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One allied creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You toss the scales into the air, and they vanish in a sparkling mist as you indicate your target.

Without hesitating, that creature draws and fires an arrow into the fray.

The subject can immediately make one melee or ranged attack.

Taking this action doesn't affect the subject's normal place in the initiative order.

This is a single attack and follows the standard rules for attacking.

This spell does not allow the subject to make more than one additional attack in a round.

If the subject has already made an additional attack, due to a prior casting of this spell, from the haste spell, or from any other source, this spell fails.

Arcane Material Component: A few scales from a snake.

SNAKE'S SWIFTNESS, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Allied creatures in a 20-ft.-radius burst

You hold the snake scales high overhead, and they evaporate in a flash of light.

That radiance carries to every ally in your command—and as one, they unleash a volley of attacks.

This spell functions like snake's swiftness, except that it affects multiple allies out to medium range.

SNAKEBITE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You cast the spell, and one of your arms turns into a venomous bright-green snake with a fanged, biting mouth that drips poison. This spell transforms one of your arms into a poisonous serpent.

As an attack action, you can strike an opponent with your snake arm by making a successful melee attack.

The bite from the venomous serpent deals damage equal to 1d3 points + your Str modifier, and it carries a toxic venom that deals 2 points of Constitution damage as initial and secondary damage.

Each instance of ability damage can be negated by a Fortitude save (DC equal to this spell's DC).

You can't hold a weapon with your transformed hand, but your other hand can be used to wield weapons or cast spells with somatic components.

Attacking with the transformed hand and a weapon incurs the standard two-weapon fighting penalties (PH 160).

You can be under the effect of only one snakebite spell at any given time.

SNIPER'S EYE

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 4

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Holding the glass lens before you, you take a series of slow, deep breaths.

Whispered words of arcane power seep past your lips with each exhalation.

As you complete the spell you feel infused with deadly ability.

When you cast sniper's eye, you gain the following benefits.

- +10 competence bonus on Spot checks.
- Darkvision out to 60 feet.
- The ability to make a ranged sneak attack at a range of up to 60 feet, rather than 30 feet.
- The ability to make a death attack with a ranged weapon rather than just with a melee weapon.

The target must be within 60 feet.

This spell doesn't grant you the ability to make a sneak attack or death attack if you don't already have that ability.

Sniper's eye attunes you completely to the vantage point you had when you cast the spell.

You understand the nuances of the breeze and every angle and shadow—from that spot.

If you move even 5 feet from the place where you cast the spell, you lose the benefits of sniper's eye until you return to that spot.

Focus: A magnifying glass lens.

SNOWSHOES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A chill grips you as you complete the spell and touch your intended subject.

The feet of the spell's subject glow with an ice-blue radiance that fades but lingers.

The creature rises slightly out of the snow, as if it weighed much less.

The affected creature can walk lightly over ice and snow without having its speed reduced.

The affected creature gains a 10-foot enhancement bonus to speed and is not required to make a Balance check or Reflex save to walk on ice and snow without slipping and falling, to avoid cracking ice it walks over, or to avoid falling through cracked ice.

In addition, the affected creature does not leave a more readily discernible trail through ice and snow than it does on solid ground, denying trackers potential bonuses to follow the affected creature's path.

(See Weather, DMG 93–95, and Cold Dangers, DMG 302, for more details on the effects of weather and ice).

SNOWSHOES, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, ranger 3

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

The feet of all the designated creatures glow with an ice-blue aura. Each subject in turn rises slightly to the top of the snow, as if it were held aloft by the cold blue sheen.

This spell functions like snowshoes, except as noted above.

SONGBIRD

Transmutation

Level: Bard 0

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Performance +1 hour or until discharged; see text

You intone this simple spell and your control over your voice improves, your unruly hair straightens, and your flesh radiates a healthy glow.

You're ready for showtime.

You acquire an even greater charisma when you perform. Anyone who hears or views your performance becomes favorably inclined toward you.

This spell grants you a +1 competence bonus on your next Charisma-based check involving any one person who saw the performance.

This effect lasts for the duration of your performance and up to 1 hour immediately following.

You must begin the performance within 1 hour of casting the spell for it to have any effect.

SONIC WEAPON

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Holding the weapon to your mouth, you whisper the spell's arcane words, shrouding the weapon in visible sound like a thin sheen of water.

While the spell is in effect, the affected weapon deals an extra 1d6 points of sonic damage with each successful attack.

The sonic energy does not harm the weapon's wielder.

Bows, crossbows, and slings that are affected by this spell bestow the sonic energy upon their ammunition.

SPEAK TO ALLIES

Transmutation [Language-Dependent]

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Targets: Any number of allied creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

As you rub the small piece of copper wire, it begins to buzz with the latent magical energy of the spell.

When you finally release the spell's energy, you hear the words you wish to share with your allies in your mind—and moments later you hear their unspoken replies.

This spell functions like message (PH 253), except as noted above and that you and the recipients don't have to mouth the words or whisper, which means that those skilled in reading lips have no opportunity to learn the messages.

SPELL ENHANCER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You utter an ancient word tied to the fundamental principles of magic and immediately begin casting another spell.

This spell enhances the next spell you cast, making it more difficult for targets to resist.

The next spell you cast this round is cast at +2 caster level, and its save DC increases by 1.

SPELL FLOWER

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Joining mysterious phrases with the simple motion of flexing your fingers, you imbue your hands with receptive magical energy that crackles and glows a soft orange.

You are able to hold the charge for one touch spell per arm of your body as long as you don't use a changed limb to cast another spell or touch anything with it.

Each touch spell you cast resides in a different forelimb.

For the duration of this spell, any touch spells you cast are discharged only if you cast another spell with that forelimb or touch something with that forelimb.

For example, a human sorcerer casts this spell, then casts chill touch and holds the charge in his left hand, then casts shocking grasp and holds the charge in his right hand.

Because of the spell flower, he can hold the charge on both of these spells at the same time.

If he casts another spell with a somatic component (which requires the use of one of his hands), he immediately loses one of his held touch spells (his choice), but if the spell he casts is also a touch spell, he can immediately hold the charge in the available hand.

If he chooses to attack with a touch spell, it works normally.

Since he has multiple limbs that are considered armed, he can make an off-hand attack with the other touch spell in the same round, with the normal penalties for fighting with two weapons (PH 160).

A marilith spellcaster could do the same as the sorcerer in the previous example, except that she could hold the charge on up to six touch spells.

She could also use any of her spell-like or supernatural abilities, since those do not interfere with holding a charge.

If the spell flower effect ends, the most recent touch spell cast remains as a held charge and all other held spells dissipate.

SPELL MATRIX

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Effect: Matrix that holds two of your spells

This spell functions like lesser spell matrix, except that you can store up to two spells of up to 3rd level, and you take 2d6 points of damage instead of 1d6 upon casting.

The matrix closes after 2 rounds and no more spells can be added, even if it is not full.

In addition, you can decide to link the two spells stored in the matrix into a spell sequence if both are 2nd level or lower.

You can then discharge the two linked spells as a single swift action, just as if you were casting the lone spell from a spell matrix.

Focus: A sapphire with a minimum value of 1,000 gp.

SPELL MATRIX, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Effect: Matrix that holds three of your spells

This spell functions like lesser spell matrix, except that you can store up to three spells of up to 3rd level, and you take 3d6 points of damage instead of 1d6 upon casting.

The matrix closes after 3 rounds and no more spells can be added, even if it is not full.

In addition, you can designate one spell or one spell sequence held in the matrix to come into effect under a condition you dictate when casting greater spell matrix.

The spell (or sequence of spells) to be activated by the triggering condition must be of a type that affects your own person, such as levitate or feather fall.

The conditions required to bring the desired spell or spells into effect must be clear, although they can be general.

In all cases, greater spell matrix immediately brings into effect the designated spell or sequence of spells, which is cast instantaneously when the designated circumstances occur.

You cannot choose to have the spell or spells not activate when the triggering event occurs.

Focus: A diamond with a minimum value of 1,500 gp.

SPELL MATRIX, LESSER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Effect: Matrix that holds one of your spells

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Concentrating as you intone the arcane words, you envision your mind as a maze of paths and doors.

You get a chill as the spell completes and some of the doors open.

You prepare a magical matrix that allows you to store one of your spells and use it later as a swift action.

In the round after you cast lesser spell matrix, you can cast one spell of up to 3rd level to be stored in it.

The matrix closes after 1 round, whether or not you have stored a spell in it.

Only a spell that can be altered by the Quickened Spell feat can be placed in the matrix, and any spell stored there is treated as a prepared spell.

Casting lesser spell matrix deals 1d6 points of damage to you, and this damage cannot be healed by any means while the matrix exists.

While the matrix is active, you can cast the spell stored in it as a swift action.

Once it is cast from the matrix, the spell is gone.

A dispel magic spell that successfully dispels the matrix also dispels the spell held inside it.

If you are affected by an antimagic field, the duration of the matrix is interrupted, but the spell does not activate.

The matrix becomes active again when you emerge from the antimagic field.

If you die while the spell is still held in the matrix, both the spell and the matrix dissipate harmlessly.

Focus: A piece of amber with a minimum value of 500 gp.

SPELL VULNERABILITY

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

A violet spray springs from your fingertips and wraps around your opponent.

It fades into a dull purple glow, which attracts spell energies as opposed to shrugging them off.

This spell reduces the subject's spell resistance by 1 per caster level (maximum reduction 15).

This reduction can't lower a subject's spell resistance below 0.

SPIDER CURSE

Transmutation [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Spider 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One Medium or smaller humanoid

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You pour the power of the spell into the body of another.

That creature, now but a vessel of your will, takes the shape of a centaurlike spider creature called a drider.

You turn a humanoid into a creature resembling a drider (MM 89) that obeys your mental commands.

The transmuted subject gains a spider's body with a humanoid head, arms, and torso, just like a drider.

The subject has a drider's speed, natural armor, bite attack, and poison (but see below).

The subject gains a +4 bonus to Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution.

The subject becomes size Large, with a space of 10 feet and a reach of 5 feet.

The subject gains a -1 penalty to AC and on attack rolls due to size.

The subject retains its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, level and class, hit points (despite any change in Constitution), alignment, base attack bonus, and base saves. (New Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores might affect final Armor Class, attack, and save bonuses).

The subject's equipment remains and continues to function as long as it fits a drider's body shape.

Otherwise it is subsumed into the new form and ceases to function for the duration of the spell.

Retained items include anything worn on the upper body (head, neck, shoulders, hands, arms, and waist).

Nonfunctioning items include anything worn on the legs, feet, or the whole body (armor, robes, vestments, and boots).

The subject's bite delivers a poison with a Fortitude save DC of 16 + your Wisdom bonus.

Initial and secondary damage is 1d6 points of Strength damage.

Your control over the subject is like that provided by a dominate person spell (PH 224).

(You telepathically control the creature as long as it remains within range).

SPIDER SHAPES

Transmutation

Level: Spider 9

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One willing creature/level, all within 30 ft. of each other

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You channel the power of the spell into the willing masses before you, granting them the blessed forms of spiders.

This spell functions like polymorph (PH 283), except that you polymorph up to one willing creature per level into a monstrous spider (MM 288) of any size from Tiny to Huge as you decide.

Unlike with polymorph, this spell allows the subjects to gain a spider's poisonous bite.

All the creatures you transmute must become spiders of the same size.

Subjects remain in the spider form until the spell expires or you dismiss the spell for all subjects.

In addition, an individual subject can choose to resume its normal form as a full-round action.

Doing so ends the spell for that creature only.

SPIDERFORM

Transmutation

Level: Drow 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

You invest the power of the spell into yourself, twisting and bending your own form into that of a spider.

You can polymorph into a drider (MM 89) or a Tiny, Small, Medium, or Large monstrous spider (MM 288).

You regain lost hit points as if you rested for a day on the initial transformation.

The spell lasts until you decide to resume your normal shape.

You acquire the physical and natural abilities of the creature you polymorph into, including natural size, Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution, armor, attack routines, and movement capabilities.

You also acquire the poisonous bite and web-spinning ability of whichever spider form you choose.

You retain your Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, level and class, hit points (despite any change in Constitution), alignment, base attack bonus, and base saves. (New Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores might affect final attack and save bonuses).

You can cast spells and use magic items if you choose drider form, but no other spider form is capable of spellcasting or manipulating devices.

If you choose drider form, your equipment remains and continues to function as long as it fits a drider's body shape.

Retained items include anything worn on the upper body (head, neck, shoulders, hands, arms, and waist).

Otherwise your equipment is subsumed into the new form and ceases to function for the duration of the spell.

SPIDERSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You cast this spell upon yourself, and your flesh glows yellow.

The glow quickly subsides, but you feel your flesh thicken, its surface growing harder and more like a carapace.

The spell grants the recipient a +1 enhancement bonus to its existing natural armor bonus, a +1 racial bonus on saves against poison, and a +1 racial bonus on Hide checks for every three caster levels you have.

This means that the bonuses to natural armor, saves, and Hide checks improve to +2 at caster level 6th, +3 at caster level 9th, +4 at 12th, and +5 at 15th.

The enhancement bonus provided by spiderskin stacks with the subject's natural armor bonus, but not with other enhancement bonuses to natural armor.

A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0, much as a character wearing only normal clothing has an armor bonus of +0.

Arcane Material Component: The leg of a spider.

SPIKES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3

With the sound of twisting wood, the weapon you touch grows sharp spikes like rose thorns.

This spell functions like brambles (page 38), except that the affected weapon gains a +2 enhancement bonus on its attack rolls, and its threat range is doubled.

This effect does not stack with other effects that increase a weapon's threat range, such as the Improved Critical feat.

STALKING BRAND

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 24 hours/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a wave of your hand, you cause a tiny mark to appear upon the target's forehead.

"I will know you in any form or visage", you say.

This spell marks your target with a tiny symbol visible only to you and to detect magic.

The brand appears as you envision it, approximately 1 inch in diameter.

You can see the brand even if the subject uses magical means to change or hide its appearance.

Spells such as disguise self, polymorph, and invisibility do not hide the brand.

To your eyes, the mark glows a light green.

STANDING WAVE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Waves under a creature or object within range

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Roaring a binding phrase, you take command of the water, causing a wave to rise and propelling it in the direction you desire. You command the waters to lift a creature or object and propel it forward.

An object so lifted can contain creatures or other objects. The maximum size of the creature or object the wave can lift depends on your caster level.

Caster Level	Size of Creature or Object
5th	Medium
7th	Large
9th	Huge
11th	Gargantuan
13th	Colossal

Standing wave moves the lifted creature or object in a straight line at a speed of 60 feet over water. The spell dissipates when the wave contacts land, lowering its burden harmlessly to shore.

If you are riding in or standing on the object, the object continues to move until you are no longer in or on the object or the spell is dismissed; otherwise, the object is moved to the extent of the spell's range when you cast the spell.

STARVATION

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your stomach growls as you near completion of the spell.

As you declare the target of the spell, your hunger disappears, but you note with satisfaction that your target seems wracked with pain.

You inflict wracking hunger pangs on the target creature. It must make a Fortitude save or take 1d6 points of nonlethal damage per caster level (maximum 10d6) and become fatigued.

A creature that makes a successful save takes half damage and is not fatigued by the spell.

A fatigued creature becomes exhausted when doing anything that causes the creature to become fatigued (such as dangerous environmental temperatures or ending a barbarian rage).

A fatigued creature that fails its saving throw against starvation takes nonlethal damage as normal and becomes exhausted.

Material Component: A piece of spoiled food.

STEELDANCE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: Two swords or daggers

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You place the two daggers in your outstretched palm and cast the spell.

They rise from your hands, glowing with a dim blue radiance.

The two daggers hover about you, attacking foes that come near.

On your turn, each blade can make an attack at an adjacent opponent, with an attack bonus equal to your caster level + your relevant ability modifier.

The damage they deal is equal to the normal weapon damage (1d4 for daggers) + your ability modifier (Intelligence for wizards and Charisma for sorcerers).

The weapons are treated as magic for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Your blades can be attacked with sunder or disarm attempts as if you were wielding them, and they use the above attack bonus to resolve such situations.

Disarming a weapon under the effect of steeldance ends the spell for that weapon.

Focus: Two bladed weapons, such as daggers or longswords.

STICK

Transmutation

Level: Bard 0, sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Nonmagical, unattended object weighing up to 5 lb.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Lacking someone to hold the item where you need it, you mutter and wave your hand in a simple gesture before sticking the item in place.

Stick affixes one object weighing up to 5 pounds to another object.

The two items can be separated with even a small amount of force, such as a wind stronger than 10 mph, a mage hand or unseen servant spell, or a move action by any corporeal creature (which provokes attacks of opportunity).

Material Component: A bit of dried glue.

STICKY FINGERS

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 1, bard 1

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

Your fingers exude a slightly viscous secretion and become more nimble.

When touched together, your fingertips stick slightly.

This spell grants you a +10 bonus on Sleight of Hand checks.

STICKY SADDLE

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

A colorless glow surrounds you and your mount for an instant. When the glow fades, you feel more attentive to the movements of your mount even while an unseen force holds you fast to it.

This spell “glues” you to your mount.

It becomes impossible for you to fall or be thrown off your mount.

Prying you from the saddle requires a DC 20 Strength check, and you gain a +10 bonus on Ride checks related to staying in the saddle.

The spell must be cast after you are seated on your mount. If you are not seated on your mount when the spell is cast, the spell fails.

If the spell is cast while you are riding bareback, you are “stuck” to the mount’s back.

Otherwise, you are merely stuck to the saddle, but the saddle is attached to the mount normally.

If you are knocked unconscious while this spell is in effect, you automatically remain in the saddle.

The spell can be dismissed as an immediate action, and it does not impede the rider from making a soft fall if the mount is dropped in battle.

STONE BODY

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

As the echoes of your spellcasting die, your flesh begins to stiffen and turn gray, gaining the rough texture and consistency of stone.

This spell transforms your body into living stone, which grants you several powerful resistances and abilities.

You gain damage reduction 10/adamantine.

You are immune to blindness, extra damage from critical hits, ability score damage, deafness, disease, drowning, poison, stunning, and all spells or attacks that affect your physiology or respiration, because you have no physiology or respiration while this spell is in effect.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Strength, but you take a –4 penalty to Dexterity (minimum Dexterity 1).

Your speed is reduced to one-half normal, and your weight increases by a factor of three.

If you are targeted with transmute rock to mud, you are slowed for 2d6 rounds with no saving throw.

A transmute mud to rock heals you of all your lost hit points.

A stone to flesh spell cast on you automatically ends this spell.

Arcane Material Component: A small piece of stone that was once part of a stone golem, a greater earth elemental, or a castle’s outer wall.

STONE BONES

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Corporeal undead creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

A brief flash engulfs your ally, and through his flesh you can see his skeleton.

The skeleton glows a foggy gray for a moment, thickening with eldritch power, then all is as it was before.

You cause the skeleton of the target corporeal undead to become thicker and as strong as stone.

This gives the subject a +3 enhancement bonus to its existing natural armor.

Arcane Focus: A miniature skull carved of granite.

STONE SHAPE, GREATER

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 7

Target: Stone or stone objects touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 10 cu. ft./level

You mutter the ancient words, and your hands glow yellow where they touch the stone.

Where you touch, the stone seems as soft as clay.

This spell functions like stone shape (PH 284), except that it affects a much larger quantity of stone.

STONE SPIDERS

Transmutation

Level: Spider 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Three pebbles, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You imbue three small stones with magical power, causing them to twist and grow into large stone spiders.

This spell transforms three pebbles into stone constructs that resemble monstrous spiders.

The constructs can be any size from Tiny to Huge as you decide, but all the constructs you create must be the same size.

The constructs have the same statistics as monstrous spiders (MM 288) of the appropriate size, except as noted here.

- Their natural armor bonus increases by 6.
- They have damage reduction 10/magic.
- Their poison has a Fortitude save DC of 10 + 1/2 your caster level + your Wis modifier.

Initial and secondary damage is 1d3 points of Strength damage.

If the constructs can hear your commands, you can direct them not to attack, to attack particular enemies, or to perform other actions.

Otherwise, they simply attack your enemies to the best of their ability.

STONY GRASP

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Effect: Animated stone arm

Duration: 1 round/level

By thrusting your arm downward, you complete the casting of the spell.

Nearby, a roughly formed arm about the size of a human erupts from the ground and grasps at the air.

This spell functions like earthen grasp (page 76), except as noted here.

The stony arm can appear from any natural surface, including unworked rock, earth, mud, grass, or sand.

The stone arm has AC 18, hardness 8, and 4 hit points per caster level.

Material Component: A miniature hand sculpted from stone.

STORMRAGE

Transmutation [Electricity]

Level: Cleric 8, druid 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You harness the powers of wind and storm to move, protect yourself, and attack.

You can fly at a speed of 40 feet, and you gain immunity to thrown weapons and projectile ranged attacks.

You are completely unaffected by natural or magical wind, easily able to hold your position and not subject to other adverse effects of extreme wind.

Finally, you can discharge a bolt of electricity from your eyes once per round.

Your enemies' spell resistance applies to these lightning attacks.

Doing this is a standard action that does not provoke attacks of opportunity, has a range of 100 feet, and requires a ranged touch attack.

You gain a +3 bonus on the attack roll if the opponent is wearing metal armor, made out of metal, or carrying a lot of metal.

If you hit, the bolt deals 1d6 points of electricity damage per two caster levels (maximum 10d6), with no saving throw allowed.

STRENGTH OF STONE

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

You call upon the fortitude of the powers of good, and your flesh turns an ivory-gray hue as you draw power up through the earth itself.

The spell grants you a +8 enhancement bonus to Strength.

The spell ends instantly if you lose contact with the ground. This means you cannot jump, tumble, charge, run, or move more than your speed in a round (because these acts cause both of your feet to leave the ground) without breaking the spell.

A natural stone wall or ceiling counts as the ground for the purpose of this spell (so you could climb a cavern wall and not lose the spell).

STUNNING BREATH

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: Your breath weapon

Duration: Instantaneous

You breathe out, and your breath weapon is mixed with heavy, blue spheres of magical energy.

Those that survive your onslaught are left standing but stunned.

For this spell to function, you must have a breath weapon that deals hit point damage, either as a supernatural ability or as the result of casting a spell such as dragon breath (page 73).

When you successfully cast this spell, you imbue your breath weapon with concussive force that can stun those caught in its area.

Creatures that take damage from the breath weapon must make successful Fortitude saves (DC equal to your breath weapon save DC) or be stunned for 1 round.

STUNNING BREATH, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

This spell functions like stunning breath, except that creatures that fail their Fortitude saves are stunned for 2d4 rounds.

SUBVERT PLANAR ESSENCE

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Taking command of the forces that connect your plane to others, you reach out with your will and deaden an area to the influence of the Outer Planes on its natives.

Outsiders within the emanation of a subvert planar essence spell find their connection disrupted with the planar forces that created them.

Outsiders that fail their saves have their damage reduction and spell resistance each reduced by 10.

For example, a barbed devil subject to subvert planar essence would have no damage reduction and spell resistance 13, while a pit fiend would have damage reduction 5/good and silver, and spell resistance 22.

An outsider attempts a Fortitude save and checks spell resistance when it first enters the spell's area. If it makes the save or the spell fails to overcome its spell resistance, that creature is thereafter unaffected by this casting of subvert planar essence and can enter and exit the spell area without making further saves. Outsiders that fail their saves and have their spell resistance overcome by the spell are affected as long as they remain within the spell's area, and they are automatically affected if they leave and reenter the area.

Arcane Material Component: A tuning fork made from cold iron.

SUREFOOTED STRIDE

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You become as surefooted as any mountain goat, and the power of your magic makes walking in treacherous terrain child's play.

You can move through difficult terrain (PH 163) at full speed for the duration of this spell, and you can even run, charge, and tumble through such terrain as though it were clear terrain.

You also gain a +2 competence bonus on Climb checks.

SUREFOOTED STRIDE, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Bard 5, druid 4, ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like surefooted stride, except as noted here.

SWIM

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Making the sound of crashing waves with your throat completes the spell.

With a wave of your hand, your subject seems more streamlined, with a hint of webbed appendages.

This spell gives the recipient a swim speed of 30 feet (although not the ability to breathe water or hold one's breath beyond normal limits).

As long as the creature isn't carrying more than a light load, it can swim without making Swim checks.

It also gains a +8 bonus on any Swim checks to perform special actions or avoid hazards, though it still takes the normal penalty for weight carried (-1 per 5 pounds).

The recipient can choose to take 10 on Swim checks, even if rushed or threatened, and can use the run action while swimming if it swims in a straight line.

If the creature is carrying more than a light load, it must make Swim checks to move (taking the normal penalty for weight carried), but all other benefits of the spell still apply.

Material Component: A goldfish scale.

SWIM, MASS

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 4

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart

Choosing carefully the recipients of your spell, you cause a blue-green glow to emanate from each one.

Moments later, the emanation fades, leaving the chosen creatures looking more lithe but with more robust limbs.

The spell functions like swim, except that it affects multiple creatures.

SYNOSTODWEOMER

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: One of your spells

Duration: 1 round

You cast this spell, and you picture a forge in your mind.

You think of the forge as you cast your next spell, but that spell does not manifest.

Instead, your hands glow with a golden curative radiance.

You channel the spell energy from a spell you know into healing magic.

After you cast this spell, the next spell you cast in the same round is converted to positive energy.

When you cast the second spell, you touch yourself or another creature, curing 1d8 points of damage for every spell level of the spell you cast.

If the spell you cast was prepared with a metamagic feat, you use the level of the spell slot the spell occupied.

THORNSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You push a thorn against your skin to complete the spell.

Instead of piercing your skin, the thorn melds into it.

An instant later, hundreds of similar thorns sprout all over your body.

Your skin sprouts thorns when this spell is cast, increasing the damage you deal with an unarmed strike and making you difficult to grab.

As well as dealing lethal damage with your unarmed strikes (if you don't already do so), you deal an extra 1d6 points of piercing damage (so that a human under the effect of thornskin would deal 1d3 points of bludgeoning damage + 1d6 points of piercing damage with an unarmed strike).

In addition, any creature that hits you with a natural weapon or unarmed strike (including all successful grapple checks) takes 5 points of piercing damage.

A creature's damage reduction, if any, applies to the damage from this spell.

The damage from thornskin is treated as piercing for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Material Component: A thorn.

TIGER'S TOOTH

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Duration: 1 round

You speak quickly, and your animal companion glows briefly, the glow focusing around its natural weapons.

This spell functions like magic fang (PH 250), except as noted above.

TORTOISE SHELL

Transmutation

Level: Druid 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

In the blink of an eye, the creature you touched grows the armor plating of a tortoise across its torso and a tough, leathery skin elsewhere.

Tortoise shell grants a +6 enhancement bonus to the subject's existing natural armor bonus.

This enhancement bonus increases by 1 for every three caster levels beyond 11th, to a maximum of +9 at 20th level.

The enhancement bonus provided by tortoise shell stacks with the target's natural armor bonus, but not with other enhancement bonuses to natural armor.

A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor of +0, much as a character wearing only normal clothing has an armor bonus of +0.

Tortoise shell slows a creature's movement as if it were wearing heavy armor.

An elf subject to tortoise shell, for example, would have a speed of 20 feet and could run only 60 feet per round.

The spell affects only a creature's speed; tortoise shell doesn't carry an armor check penalty or an arcane spell failure chance.

TRANSMUTE ROCK TO LAVA

Transmutation [Earth, Fire]

Level: Druid 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 10-ft. cube

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

As you release the spell's energy, the targeted area of stone instantly turns to molten lava, and the uncomfortable burning in your chest immediately ceases.

You transform natural, uncut, or unworked rock of any sort into an equal volume of red-hot molten lava.

All creatures in the spell's area that make successful Reflex saves take 6d6 points of fire damage, provided they can physically escape the area on their next turn.

Creatures that fail their saves, or those unable to escape the area, take 20d6 points of fire damage in each round they remain in the area.

Creatures in the lava have their speed reduced to 5 feet and take a -2 penalty on attack rolls and to Armor Class.

Even after leaving the area of the spell, creatures that were exposed to the lava take half damage (either 3d6 or 10d6) for 1 additional round.

If transmute rock to lava is cast upon the ceiling of a cavern or tunnel, the lava falls to the floor and spreads out in a 15-foot-radius pool at a depth of approximately 1-1/2 feet.

The rain of lava deals 2d6 points of fire damage to anyone caught directly beneath (Reflex half).

In addition, creatures take 10d6 points of fire damage each round when they are caught in the area of the pool.

Although constructions of worked stone can't be targeted with this spell, casting it on unworked stone below or adjacent to such structures deals 10d6 points of fire damage per round to any part of the structure in contact with the lava.

Wooden structures in contact with lava instantly burst into flame.

The lava cools naturally from its surface toward its center, and it no longer deals fire damage after 2d6 hours as it slowly reverts to stone.

Though a 15-foot-radius pool can take as long as two days to completely cool, the core of a 10-foot cube of lava might remain molten for a month or more.

Magical or enchanted stone is not affected by the spell.

TRAVELER'S MOUNT

Transmutation

Level: Blackguard 1, druid 1, paladin 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Animal or magical beast touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With words of encouragement, you make the creature better able to handle the rigors of overland travel, at the expense of its ability to fight.

The touched animal or magical beast gets a 20-foot enhancement bonus to its speed, and it can hustle without taking damage or becoming fatigued as long as the spell is in effect.

While bearing a rider, the mount no longer attacks in combat.

The steed willingly bears its rider into battle; it just can't use its own natural weapons for the duration of the spell.

TREMORSENSE

Transmutation

Level: Ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

You cast this spell and know where each of your opponents stands. Their presence is marked in your mind like ripples radiating along the surface of a pond.

You can automatically pinpoint the location of any object or creature within 30 feet that is in contact with the ground.

Arcane Focus: A fleck of skin from a creature that has tremorsense.

TRIADSPELL

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous

You complete the casting, and deep within your mind, you feel one of your prepared spells subdividing into three parts, each as powerful as its original.

You alter one of your prepared spells so that you can cast it three times before it is expended.

The prepared spell must be of 3rd level or lower, and once the triadspell is cast, you can cast the altered spell two additional times (a total of three times) before it is expended.

The altered spell functions normally and requires components or XP for each use as if you were casting three separate spells.

If you later choose to prepare a different spell in that spell slot, any extra castings provided by the triadspell are lost.

You cannot cast triadspell more than once upon a single prepared spell.

UNDEAD BANE WEAPON

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, paladin 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched or fifty projectiles (all of which must be in contact with each other at the time of casting)

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Your hand glows with a dull light, and when you touch the weapon, the light shifts to it, so that it sheds a serene gray radiance as bright as a candle.

You give a weapon the undead bane special ability in addition to any other properties it has.

Against undead, your weapon's enhancement bonus is 2 higher than normal, and it deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against undead.

The spell has no effect if cast upon a weapon that already has the undead bane special ability.

Alternatively, you can affect up to fifty arrows, bolts, or bullets.

The projectiles must be of the same kind, and they have to be together, such as in the same quiver.

Projectiles, but not thrown weapons, lose their transmutation after one attack.

The weapon is treated as good-aligned for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

UNDERMASTER

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 5 rounds

You invoke the mighty powers of the earth and it rises about you, limning you from below with brilliant green radiance.

The power surges within your hands as you are invested with its might, and you bend that might to your own will.

You take up the mantle of the earth, gaining power over it as long as you stand upon or beneath its surface.

While energized with the awesome power of this spell, you can choose a spell from those listed below once per round and use it as a spell-like ability.

Using a spell in this way requires a standard action, even if the spell would normally have a longer casting time (such as move earth).

The spells granted by undermaster are earth lock, earthquake, excavate, flesh to stone, meld into stone, move earth, reverse gravity, soften earth and stone, statue, stone shape, stone tell, stone to flesh, transmute mud to rock, transmute rock to mud, tunnel swallow, wall of stone, and xorn movement.

Material Component: A deep blue spinel worth 500 gp.

UNDERSONG

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

When you cast this spell, a familiar and soothing song wells up in your mind.

This spell brings to your mind a song that helps you retain your concentration.

The song does not distract you from any task at hand—on the contrary, by humming along to the tune, you can focus your mind with ease.

As long as this spell is in effect, you can make a Perform check in place of a Concentration check.

UNYIELDING ROOTS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The creature you touch grows thick tree roots that anchor it to the ground and provide it with life-sustaining healing.

The creature you touch must be standing on or otherwise touching the ground for this spell to have an effect on it.

For the duration of the spell, the touched creature can't move from its current space, nor can it be moved from its space by bull rushes, overruns, magic such as Bigby's forceful hand, or any effect short of a massive earthquake.

Such attempts simply fail.

If an overrun attempt is made against a creature with unyielding roots, the rooted creature must block rather than avoid the overrun.

The rooted creature automatically wins the Strength check to stop the overrun and can make a Strength check (opposed by the overrunning creature's Strength or Dexterity check) to knock the overrunning creature prone. The roots draw life energy from the ground that feed the touched creature, healing up to 30 points of damage per round, neutralizing poisons automatically, and wiping away negative levels (as the restoration spell).

The touched creature gets a +4 bonus on Fortitude and Will saves as long as the roots remain, but a -4 penalty on Reflex saves.

VALIANT FURY

Transmutation

Level: Courage 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Pointing your holy symbol at your ally as you chant, you imbue him with fighting spirit.

The affected creature gains a +4 morale bonus to Strength and Constitution, and a +2 morale bonus on Will saves.

In addition, when making a full attack, the affected creature can make one additional attack with any weapon it is holding.

The attack is made using the creature's full base attack bonus, plus any modifiers appropriate to the situation. This effect is not cumulative with similar effects, such as that provided by the haste spell.

VISAGE OF THE DEITY

Transmutation [Evil or Good]

Level: Cleric 6, Mysticism 6

This spell functions like lesser visage of the deity, except that you take on many qualities of a celestial or fiendish creature, as follows.

- You take on a shining, metallic appearance (for good clerics) or a more fearsome appearance (for evil clerics).

- You gain the ability to smite evil (for good clerics) or good (for evil clerics) once a day.

Add your Charisma modifier to your attack roll and your character level to your damage roll against a foe of the appropriate alignment.

- You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

Your creature type does not change (you do not become an outsider).

VISAGE OF THE DEITY, GREATER

Transmutation [Evil or Good]

Level: Cleric 9, Competition 9, Mysticism 9, Purification 9

This spell functions like lesser visage of the deity, except that you take on many qualities of a half-celestial or half-fiendish creature.

Your creature type changes to outsider for the duration of the spell.

Unlike other outsiders, you can be brought back from the dead if you are killed in this form.

Good clerics undergo the following transformations.

- You grow feathered wings that allow you to fly at twice your normal speed (good maneuverability).

- You gain +1 natural armor.

- You gain low-light vision.

- You gain resistance to acid 10, cold 10, and electricity 10.

- You gain immunity to disease.

Evil clerics undergo the following transformations.

- You grow batlike wings that allow you to fly at your normal speed (average maneuverability).

- You gain +1 natural armor.

- You gain bite and claw attacks.

If you are size Medium or larger, your bite deals 1d6 points of damage and each claw attack deals 1d4 points of damage.

If you are Small, your bite deals 1d4 points of damage and each claw attack deals 1d3 points of damage.

- You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

- You gain immunity to poison.

- You gain resistance to acid 10, cold 10, electricity 10, and fire 10.

- You gain damage reduction 10/magic.

VISAGE OF THE DEITY, LESSER

Transmutation [Evil or Good]

Level: Blackguard 4, cleric 3, Mysticism 3, paladin 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

As you end your prayer, you can feel the hand of your deity upon you.

Your appearance reflects her divine power, and her touch grants you resistance from some of the damage of this world.

You gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Charisma.

You also gain resistance to acid 10, cold 10, and electricity 10 if you are good, or resistance to cold 10 and fire 10 if you are evil.

VOICE OF THE DRAGON

Transmutation

Level: Bard 4, Dragon 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

As you speak the words of the spell and inscribe the motions in the air, your voice deepens, taking on a resonance that makes the listener think of authority, power, and great age.

You gain a +10 enhancement bonus on Bluff, Diplomacy, and Intimidate checks.

You also gain the ability to speak and understand (but not read) Draconic.

At any time before the spell's duration expires, you can use a standard action to target a creature with a suggestion effect, which functions identically to the spell of that name (PH 285), including range, duration, and other effects.

Doing this causes the voice of the dragon spell to end, though the suggestion itself lasts for the normal duration thereafter.

Special: Sorcerers cast this spell at +1 caster level.

VULNERABILITY

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 4, cleric 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You invoke the power of this spell and a purple mist swirls around your opponent, weakening its mystic protections.

This spell lowers the subject's damage reduction by 5 (to a minimum of 5).

For instance, if you successfully cast vulnerability on a dragon with damage reduction 10/magic, its damage reduction becomes 5/magic.

For every four caster levels beyond 9th, the subject's damage reduction lowers by an additional 5: a reduction of 10 at caster level 13th and a reduction of 15 at caster level 17th.

WARNING SHOUT

Transmutation [Sonic]

Level: Paladin 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: 30 ft.

Targets: All allies within 30 feet

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You shout a few words imbued with power by your faith, and your next words ring out clear and far despite other noise or intervening barriers.

All allies within range are no longer considered flat-footed, even if they have not yet acted in the current combat.

Anyone sleeping naturally (as opposed to magically induced sleep, such as from a sleep spell) within the area is woken by a warning shout.

WEAPON OF ENERGY

Transmutation [see text]

Level: Cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One weapon

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object, harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Your hand glows slightly.

With a touch, you transfer the glow from your hand onto the intended weapon.

You cause a weapon to gain the ability to deal energy damage in addition to its other abilities, similar to how a flaming burst weapon deals extra fire damage on a hit or a critical hit.

The weapon can deal acid, cold, electricity, or fire damage, chosen by you at the time of casting.

The weapon deals an extra 1d6 points of damage of that energy type on a successful hit.

On a critical hit, the weapon deals an additional 1d10 points of energy damage.

If the weapon's critical multiplier is ?3, add 2d10 points of energy damage instead, and if the multiplier is ?4, add 3d10 points of energy damage.

This spell can be cast on a weapon that already deals energy damage, and if the weapon already creates the same type of damage as the spell, the effects stack.

For example, if cast on a +1 flaming longsword to give it additional fire damage, the weapon now deals an extra 2d6 points of fire damage per hit.

This spell has a descriptor that is the same as the energy created by the target weapon.

For example, weapon of energy is a fire spell when used to give a weapon bonus fire damage.

WEAPON OF IMPACT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 3, cleric 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One bludgeoning weapon or fifty bludgeoning projectiles, all of which must be in contact with one another at the time of casting

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You pass your hands over the weapon, and its head glows with a blue-gold radiance.

This spell makes a bludgeoning weapon have greater impact, improving its ability to deal telling blows.

This transmutation doubles the threat range of the weapon.

If the spell is cast on sling bullets or other bludgeoning projectiles, the weapon of impact effect on a particular projectile ends after one use, whether or not the missile strikes its intended target.

Multiple effects that increase a weapon's threat range, such as the Improved Critical feat, don't stack.

WEAPON OF THE DEITY

Transmutation

Level: Blackguard 3, cleric 3, paladin 3

Components: V, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

Wielding the weapon your deity favors, you call upon that divine force to imbue it with power.

You must be holding your deity's favored weapon to cast this spell.

You can use the weapon as if you had proficiency with it even if you normally do not.

The weapon gains a +1 enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls and an additional special ability (see the list below).

A double weapon gains this enhancement bonus and special ability for only one of its two ends, as chosen by you. When you reach caster level 9th, the enhancement bonus of the weapon increases to +2.

At 12th level, the bonus rises to +3, at 15th level it is +4, and at 18th level it becomes +5.

The list below includes deities from the core pantheon as well as other deities described in D&D supplements, along with the five alignment components.

If a cleric worshipping a different deity casts this spell, the DM should assign an appropriate weapon special ability of the same power level as those given here.

Deities

Bahamut: +1 frost heavy pick

Boccob: +1 spell storing quarterstaff

Corellon Larethian: +1 keen longsword

Ehlonna: +1 frost longsword

WEAPON SHIFT

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One melee weapon of up to 15 lb.

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Waving the folded sheet of parchment before you, you firmly grasp the target weapon.

A barely perceptible rust-brown glow engulfs it, then grows into a shining radiance of molten-metal red.

As the radiance subsides, you note with satisfaction that the weapon now has the desired shape.

A weapon shift spell allows you to temporarily transform any one melee weapon into a different melee weapon.

Thus, a greatclub could be transformed into a greatsword, a light pick into a morning star, or a dagger into a battleaxe.

Improvised weapons and double weapons cannot be targeted or be the result of this spell.

Magic weapons transformed retain all their special abilities as long as the new form could legally have those abilities, and weapons made from special materials retain their special materials.

Material Component: A piece of parchment folded into the shape of the weapon type desired.

WHIRLING BLADE

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Effect: 60-ft. line

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

With weapon in hand, you finish the last of the arcane gestures and words that activate the power of the spell.

As you cast the spell, you hurl a single slashing weapon at your foes.

The blade, carried along both by your might and your magical prowess, slashes at your foes while whirling forward.

You hurl a weapon held at the time of casting, and it magically attacks all enemies along a line to the extent of the spell's range.

You make a normal melee attack, just as if you were attacking with the weapon in melee, against each foe in the weapon's path, but you can choose to substitute your Intelligence modifier or your Charisma modifier (as appropriate for your spellcasting class) for your Strength modifier on the weapon's attack rolls and damage rolls. Even if your base attack bonus would normally give you multiple attacks, a whirling blade gets only one attack (at your best attack bonus) against each target.

The weapon deals damage just as if you had swung it in melee, including any bonuses you might have from ability scores or feats.

No matter how many targets your weapon hits or misses, it instantly and unerringly returns to your hand after attempting the last of its attacks.

Focus: A slashing melee weapon that you hurl.

WILD RUNNER

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, ranger 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

A vibrant green glow surrounds you, and you feel your body begin to change shape.

You grow several inches in height and become aware of a bending and lengthening of your spine.

Glancing back, you see a second pair of hooved legs and a swishing tail.

When you cast this spell, you assume the physical appearance and many of the qualities and abilities of a centaur (MM 32).

While under the effect of the spell, your creature type changes to monstrous humanoid, and your size changes to Large.

You have the space and reach of a centaur (10 feet/5 feet).

You gain the Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution of an average centaur (Str 18, Dex 14, Con 15), but you retain your own mental ability scores.

Your base land speed becomes 50 feet.

You gain darkvision out to 60 feet.

You can still use any extraordinary, spell-like, and supernatural abilities possessed by your normal form.

You gain all the advantages of a quadruped form (greater carrying capacity, +4 bonus to resist trip attacks, and so on); this includes the ability to fight effectively while carrying a rider.

You can still use your equipment and cast spells normally.

WINGED MOUNT

Transmutation

Level: Blackguard 4, paladin 4

Component: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Your touched special mount

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your special mount and it sprouts giant, feathery white wings.

This spell grants your special mount a fly speed of 60 feet (good).

The mount is slowed as normal because of weight carried, barding worn, and environmental factors.

WINGS OF AIR

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Winged creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: No (harmless)

You place your hand on the creature's shoulders, and a warm yellow radiance infuses it, spreading out to the tips of its wings.

The creature you touch becomes more agile in the air, able to make quicker turns, and more maneuverable when flying.

The subject must be capable of flight using wings.

The creature's maneuverability improves by one grade—from clumsy to poor, poor to average, average to good, or good to perfect.

A single creature cannot benefit from multiple applications of this spell at one time.

WINGS OF AIR, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

This spell functions like wings of air, except that the creature's maneuverability improves by two grades—from clumsy to average, poor to good, or average to perfect.

WINGS OF THE SEA

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 1, druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The webbing between your fingers grows to reach your fingertips as you complete the spell.

In the instant you touch the spell's intended subject, however, the webbing between your fingers returns to normal even as the subject's means of watery movement grow.

This spell increases the touched creature's swim speed by 30 feet.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, nor does it give the subject a swim speed if it does not already have one.

Material Component: A drop of water.

WINTER CHILL

Transmutation [Cold]

Level: Druid 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You makes a sound like whistling wind and inscribe a snowflake shape in the air, willing a chill to overcome your foe.

The target creature must succeed on a Fortitude save or take 1d6 points of cold damage and become fatigued.

A creature with immunity to cold is not affected by this spell.

WOOD ROT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One nonmagical wooden object or a volume of wood; or one plant creature

Duration: Instantaneous or 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By crushing a live termite between your teeth and reciting the necessary words of power, you finish casting the spell.

When you cast this spell, an insidious rot immediately taints any wooden object or plant creature you touch.

Any unattended nonmagical wooden item smaller than 6 feet in diameter, or a 3-foot-radius volume of a larger wooden object (such as a wooden door), is instantly destroyed by wood rot.

In combat, you can use the spell to attempt to sunder any wooden or wooden-hafted weapon; the weapon or its wooden portion is destroyed on a successful melee touch attack.

Attempting to sunder a weapon generally provokes attacks of opportunity, and wood rot has no effect on wooden or wooden-hafted weapons that strike you, even if you hold the charge.

Against wooden shields or armor, you also make a melee touch attack.

Such targets too large to be destroyed outright take a -1d6 penalty to their armor or shield bonus on a successful hit and are rendered unusable if the penalty exceeds the bonus.

Any attack against a wooden object discharges the spell, and wooden magic items are immune to the effect of wood rot.

Against plant creatures, wood rot deals 3d6 points of damage +1 point per caster level (maximum +15) on a successful attack.

Against plant creatures, the spell lasts for 1 round per level, and you can make one melee touch attack per round.

Once it is used to make an attack against a plant creature, wood rot cannot be used to attack or destroy wooden items.

Material Component: A live termite.

WRAITHSTRIKE

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 3, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 swift action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round

By presenting your weapon with an overly dramatic flourish and calling out with a sickly-sounding moan, you complete the spell. As you do so, your weapon becomes translucent almost to the point that you cannot see it, though it still weighs as heavily in your hand.

While this spell is in effect, your melee attacks are resolved as melee touch attacks rather than normal melee attacks.

XORN MOVEMENT

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You concentrate on the piece of the xorn's hide.

As you intone the spell it begins to glow yellow, and then the glow spreads over your entire form.

You complete the spell and slip effortlessly between the gaps in the earth itself, leaving nothing disturbed in your wake.

The subject of this spell can move through natural earth and stone (but not worked stone, brick, or metal) as a xorn does, leaving behind no tunnel or sign of passage.

Furthermore, the subject can breathe normally while entombed in earth and natural rock.

A move earth spell cast on an area the subject occupies flings it back 30 feet and stuns it for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude save negates the stunning effect.

Xorn movement lasts a minimum of 1 round/level.

If the subject has not emerged into a large enough open space to contain its body comfortably when the spell expires, it is shunted off to the nearest such open space, taking 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet so traveled.

Focus: A scale from a xorn's hide.

UNIVERSAL

ENHANCE FAMILIAR

Universal

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Familiar touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

After you touch the target familiar, the creature perks up and appears more alert.

You infuse your familiar with vigor, granting it a +2 competence bonus on saves, attack rolls, and melee damage rolls, as well as a +2 dodge bonus to Armor Class.

FAMILIAR POCKET

Universal

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One container or garment with a pocket touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You move your hand along the mouth of the pocket intended for your familiar, and a line of glowing white energy follows in its wake.

The glow fades, and the space seems strangely larger inside than a normal pocket.

When you cast this spell, a garment or container becomes a safe haven for a Tiny or smaller familiar.

The spell turns the target pocket into a comfortable extradimensional space (about 1 cubic foot).

The familiar can fit inside the space without creating any noticeable bulge in the item.

Whenever the familiar is touching you, you can whisk it inside the space as a free action by speaking a command word chosen by you when the spell is cast.

If the familiar can speak, it can command itself inside.

As a free action, you can call the familiar forth or it can leave the space on its own.

Once inside, the familiar has total cover and total concealment, and as a free action, you or the familiar can further seal the space to make it airtight and waterproof.

The air supply inside the sealed space lasts for 1 hour, but with the pocket unsealed, the familiar can remain inside indefinitely.

The familiar cannot attack or cast spells from within the space, but can use supernatural or spell-like abilities as normal (provided they don't require line of sight, which the pocket blocks).

You continue to gain the special ability granted by your familiar.

While inside the pocket, the familiar continues to benefit from the share spells ability as if it were adjacent to you.

The spell ends if the familiar pocket is placed within or taken into another extradimensional space (such as a portable hole).

If your familiar is within the pocket when the spell duration expires or if the spell ends abnormally (as above), the familiar appears in your space unharmed.

Material Component: A tiny golden needle and a strip of fine cloth given a half twist and fastened at the ends.

FORTIFY FAMILIAR

Universal

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Familiar touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You touch your familiar, and you see that the creature seems more robust.

This spell makes your familiar tougher, granting it 2d8 temporary hit points and a +2 enhancement bonus to its natural armor.

It also has a 25% chance to avoid extra damage from sneak attacks or critical hits (although such attacks still deal normal damage if successful).

Temporary hit points gained in this fashion last for up to 1 hour.

IMBUE FAMILIAR WITH SPELL ABILITY

Universal

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Familiar touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Upon completion of this spell, you feel as if you had just cast a number of spells in quick succession.

Your familiar gives you a knowing nod.

This spell allows you to transfer a number of your spells and the ability to cast them into your familiar.

Spontaneous spellcasters, such as sorcerers, can imbue a familiar with any spells they know how to cast, subject to the restrictions below.

Arcanists who prepare spells, such as wizards, can imbue a familiar with any spell they have currently prepared.

In either case, you can imbue one spell per three caster levels, with a maximum spell level of one-third your caster level, rounded down (maximum 5th level).

Multiple castings of imbue familiar with spell ability have no effect on these limits.

The transferred spell's variable characteristics (range, duration, area, and so on) function according to your level.

Once you cast imbue familiar with spell ability on your familiar, both the spell slot from which you cast the spell and the spell slots of the transferred spells remain unavailable for the preparation or casting of new spells until the familiar uses the transferred spells or imbue familiar with spell ability expires.

The spell can be dispelled; if this happens, the spells transferred are lost as if the familiar had cast them.

In an antimagic field, the familiar loses the ability to cast the imbued spells, but regains it again if it leaves the field (as long as the spell's duration hasn't expired).

If any transferred spell requires a focus or material component, you must have it on your person when the spells are cast (components are consumed as normal without requiring you to bring them to hand).

Any XP costs from a transferred spell are deducted from your total when the familiar casts the spell.

STORMWRACK (3.5)

ABJURATION

STORMRUNNER'S WARD

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Target: One ship

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You ward a single ship against foundering and storm damage, making it easier to sail in dangerous weather.

You add a +4 bonus on any checks made to sail in severe winds, windstorms, or gales.

You also add this bonus to foundering checks and capsizing checks for that ship.

This bonus improves by +1 per 4 caster levels, to a maximum of +8.

The stormrunner's ward does nothing to protect the crew from the winds and green water that might roll over the side of the ship.

Material Component: Handful of copper powder.

TURBIDITY

Abjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You cause the water surrounding you to swirl and fill with suspended sediments, decreasing visibility and making it harder for foes to attack you.

This roiling cloud obscures all vision, including darkvision, beyond 5 feet.

Creatures within the area up to 5 feet from an attacker have concealment (20% miss chance), while those farther away have total concealment (50% miss chance).

Creatures other than you within this cloud must make a Concentration check to cast a spell (DC 15 + spell level).

Ranged attacks that pass through the turbidity automatically fail.

A vigorous current (1–3 knots) disperses the clouded water in 4 rounds; a dangerous or stronger current (4 or more knots) disperses it within 1 round.

This spell only functions under water.

Material Component: A handful of mud.

CONJURATION

BLACKWATER TENTACLE

Conjuration (Creation) [Evil, Water]

Level: Blackwater 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One tentacle

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: No

You create a tentacle-shaped mass of blackwater, drawn from the deepest ocean trenches, to attack an enemy as you direct it.

The tentacle appears at a particular point within range and can't move from that location.

It attacks the opponent you designate once each round, starting with the round the spell is cast.

It has a reach of 20 feet (though it can't make attacks of opportunity).

Its attack bonus is equal to your caster level plus the ability modifier you would normally use to set the save DC (Wisdom for cleric or druid, Intelligence for wizard, Charisma for sorcerer).

The tentacle deals 2d8 + caster level (max. +20) points of damage with a successful hit.

Any Large or smaller creature hit by a blackwater tentacle must succeed on a Fortitude save or gain a negative level.

Multiple hits by the same tentacle are cumulative, but the negative levels last only for the duration of the spell.

The tentacle never provides nor benefits from a flanking bonus.

Once a tentacle has been directed to attack a foe, it continues to do so until the spell is redirected to a new target (a move action).

The tentacle has 5 hit points per caster level and an AC of 10 + your caster level.

It automatically fails all saves.

If reduced to 0 hp, the tentacle is destroyed.

Material Component: Powdered squid beak and a single dried sucker from a kraken's tentacle.

DOOM OF THE SEAS

Conjuration (Summoning) [Evil]

Level: Blackwater 9, druid 9

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Effect: One summoned creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

It is said that in the deepest recesses of blackwater caverns dwell krakens of immense power, horrific creatures touched by malevolent extraplanar powers.

Though this might certainly be true, it is likely that most experiences with such creatures comes as a result of this spell.

With this spell, you summon a fiendish kraken from the depths.

(The statistics block for this creature appears below).

The doom of the seas obeys you for the duration of the spell.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

Tentacles: Tentacles and arms can be severed by treating them as though they were weapons and sundering them. Tentacles have 20 hp, and arms have 10 hp.

Constrict (Ex): The Doom of the Seas deals automatic arm or tentacle damage plus constrict damage with a successful grapple check.

Improved Grab (Ex) To use this ability, the Doom of the Seas must hit an opponent of any size with its arm or tentacle attack. It can then attempt to start a grapple as a free action without provoking attacks of opportunity. If it wins the grapple check, it establishes a hold and can constrict.

Ink Cloud (Ex): The Doom of the Seas can emit a cloud of jet-black ink in an 80-foot spread once per minute as a free action. The cloud provides total concealment, which the creature normally uses to escape a fight that is going badly.
Creatures within the cloud are considered to be in darkness.

Jet (Ex): The Doom of the Seas can jet backward
once per round as a full-round action, moving in a straight line at a speed of 280 feet. This does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

Half-Fiend Traits: Unlike most half-fiends, the Doom of the Seas does not possess wings. It does, however, have webbing between its tentacles that augments its swim speed. All the Doom of the Seas' attacks are considered magic weapons for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Skills: The Doom of the Seas has a +8 racial bonus on any Swim check to perform some special action or avoid a hazard. It can always choose to take 10 on a Swim check, even if distracted or endangered. It can use the run action while swimming, provided it
swims in a straight line.

MAELSTROM

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Blackwater 8, Ocean 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Whirlpool 120 ft. wide and 60 ft. deep

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

This spell causes a deadly vortex to form in water.

A body of water at least 120 feet wide and 60 feet deep must be present, or the spell is wasted.

Waterborne creatures or objects within 50 feet of the vortex (below and on all sides) must make Reflex saves or be sucked in.

These creatures take 3d8 points of damage upon being sucked in.

Trained swimmers can attempt Swim checks instead if their skill modifier is higher than their Reflex save bonus.

Waterborne vessels avoid being sucked in if their operators make Profession (sailor) checks against the same DC as the spell's saving throw.

Once inside, creatures and objects take 3d8 points of battering damage each round.

They remain trapped for 2d4 rounds.

Subjects of Large or smaller size are ejected from the bottom of the vortex.

Huge, Gargantuan, or Colossal subjects are ejected from the top.

MORDENKAINEN'S CAPABLE CARAVEL

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ship plus extradimensional space, up to three 10-
ft. cubes/level (S)

Duration: 1 day/2 levels (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You conjure into existence a fine, seaworthy ship to carry you and your companions safely and comfortably. A caravel is a fairly small, double-decked sailing ship (see page 98 for more information). It holds a generous amount of cargo and offers cramped quarters for crew and passengers. The ship produced by this spell has even more room for cargo and passengers, contained within an extradimensional space. The entry point to this space is a hatch on the aft upper deck. Lifting the hatch reveals a set of wooden stairs, which descend about 6 feet to a horizontal shimmering in the air about 4 feet wide. Only those you designate can enter this space, and the extradimensional portal is shut and made invisible behind you when you enter. Those without authorization to enter instead continue descending the steps to an ordinary cargo hold. You can open the portal again from your own side at will. Those who pass beyond the portal's entrance find themselves in a magnificent foyer with many staterooms whose doors open from this space. The atmosphere is clean, fresh, and warm. You can create any deck plan you desire within the limit of the spell's effect. The cabins are furnished, and the galley contains sufficient foodstuffs and preparation equipment to serve three full meals per day per person per caster level. A staff of near-transparent pursers (up to two per caster level), liveried and obedient, wait upon all who enter. They function as unseen servant spells except that they are visible and can go anywhere within the extradimensional space. Since the place can be entered only through its special portal, outside conditions do not affect the passenger space, nor do conditions inside it pass to the plane beyond. Bad weather or other marine hazards can still threaten the vessel, but even if it sinks, the passenger space remains safe and isolated (though exiting it might prove difficult). The ship is crewed by a minimum complement of spectral deckhands, which perform the basic tasks of maintenance. These, like the cabin servants, behave as unseen servants but can travel anywhere on board ship and can enter the extradimensional space if you so direct. The spectral deckhands respond to the direction of the helmsman, reducing the number of crew necessary to control the caravel to 1. If you do not provide a real helmsman, the ship will steer itself on the last course a living helmsman provided but will not be able to avoid collisions or hazards or adjust to changing conditions.

Focus: A miniature ship carved from mahogany, rigged with silk sails and gold thread, with a total value of 500 gp.

MUDSLIDE

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth, Water]
Level: Druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Effect: 40-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half; see text

Spell Resistance: No

You create a landslide of mud and water, which crushes, buries, and mires those caught in its path. The mud covers the area of the spell to a depth of about 10 feet (although it might fill low-lying areas or fail to cover high points in the area, at the DM's discretion). Creatures within the spell's effect must make a Reflex save. Those who fail take 8d6 points of damage and are buried (see Avalanches on page 90 of the Dungeon Master's Guide). Those who succeed take 3d6 points of damage and are not buried. Creatures of the fire subtype who are actually aflame (such as salamanders, azers, and fire elementals) instead take 8d8 or 3d8 points of damage, respectively. A creature who escapes burial ends up on top of the mudslide, mired in deep mud. After the initial slide, the mudslide persists indefinitely, producing an area of deep bog (average depth 10 feet) until the water in it evaporates. It requires 4 squares of movement to enter 1 square of deep bog, and running or charging are impossible in the area. Underwater, the mudslide remains indefinitely, producing an area of deep muck. It costs 2 squares of movement to enter a square containing deep muck, the DC of Balance and Tumble checks increases by 5, and the DC of Move Silently checks increases by 2. Aboveground, the mud normally dries out in 2 to 3 days. A transmute mud to rock spell hardens the slide into stone, trapping any creatures still within.

PLANAR NAVIGATION

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: One ship

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You move yourself and the contents of an entire ship to another plane of existence. When you begin casting the spell, a fog descends about the vessel, and clears within a minute. The ship always appears on a body of water large enough for the ship to sit in safely, unless the destination plane has no body of water large enough to hold the ship, in which case the ship simply materializes right side up, lying on the ground. If the destination plane is one that possesses an ocean, the ship automatically appears there. Note that this spell does not grant the ship or its inhabitants any ability to survive on the destination plane—the ship simply appears in the plane upon a body of water (or, in the case of planes that are made up of nothing but water, in the water). Any characters or creatures aboard unwilling to move to the new plane are entitled to a Will saving throw to resist the effect, but might find themselves floating in the water when the ship vanishes from around them.

Arcane Focus: A sextant (see page 108).

STORMWALK

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Target: You and up to one other creature for every two levels

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

As teleport, save that you draw upon the power of a storm to teleport yourself and a number of others from one place to another.

Upon casting the spell, the storm suddenly intensifies in the area where the spell was cast, obscuring sight of those affected—whether because of a thickening of fog, a sudden increase in the downfall of hail and sleet, or a strike of lightning.

On the next round, the disturbance disappears and the characters affected by the spell are gone.

Though the targets of the spell disappear instantaneously once the spell is cast, they do not immediately reappear at the spell's destination.

Instead, 10 minutes elapse during which a storm quickly develops in the target location.

This is plainly not a natural occurrence to anyone who witnesses it, unless there is already a storm in progress. Then an intensification of this storm obscures sight at the target location, and the targets of the spell reappear.

The targets always appear in some place that is open to the storm—thus, they can appear on the upper parapets of a castle, but not inside the castle.

Though 10 minutes have passed since they disappeared, it appears to the travelers as though the transport were instantaneous.

Additionally, for the 10 minutes while the targets are gone, they are treated as though they were in another plane.

WATERSPOUT

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Druid 7, Ocean 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Effect: Cylinder 10 ft. wide and 80 ft. tall

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: No

Waterspout causes water to rise up into a whirling, cylindrical column that looks exactly like a tornado made of water.

A body of water at least 10 feet wide and 20 feet deep must be present, or the spell is wasted.

If the waterspout encounters insufficient depth after it has formed, it collapses.

The waterspout moves at a speed of 30 feet and must remain over water.

You can concentrate on controlling the waterspout's every movement or specify a simple program, such as move straight ahead, zigzag, circle, or the like.

Directing the waterspout's movement or changing its programmed movement is a standard action for you.

The waterspout always moves during your turn in the initiative order.

If the waterspout exceeds the spell's range, it collapses and the spell ends.

The waterspout batters creatures and objects it touches, and it often sucks them up inside its vortex.

Any creature or object that comes in contact with the waterspout must succeed on a Reflex save or take 3d8 points of damage.

Medium or smaller creatures who fail their save are sucked into the waterspout and whirled about inside its powerful currents, taking 2d6 points of damage each round with no save allowed.

Trapped creatures remain inside for 1d3 rounds before the waterspout ejects them out the top of the spout, and they fall back to the surface (taking falling damage) 1d8×5 feet from the base of the waterspout.

Waterborne creatures or objects within 10 feet of the spout (below and on all sides) also must make Reflex saves or be sucked into the spout if they are Medium or smaller.

Anything sucked into the spout takes 3d8 points of damage and is then trapped for 1d3 rounds as explained above.

Only the smallest boats—canoes, kayaks, coracles, and the like—can be sucked into the spout.

The occupant of any such craft can make a Profession (sailor) check instead of a Reflex save to avoid being sucked into the waterspout.

DIVINATION

DETECT SHIP

Divination

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Special

Target: You

Duration: 24 hours (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You gain the ability to discern the presence of ships around you.

You perceive ships located within a distance of 1 mile per caster level, regardless of current visibility (or even whether or not they are beyond the horizon).

You need not be seeking them to become aware that they are there—this spell will alert you to the presence of a ship if you are below decks or asleep.

Exactly what can be ascertained depends on whether the ships in question are within sight or not yet visible.

Not Visible: You sense only the presence of ships other than your own in the area.

A DC 15 Profession (sailor) check allows you to determine the number, direction, and range to each new ship you sense.

If you sense a ship's direction and range, you continue to be aware of this information until the other ship is no longer in range of the spell.

Within Sight: If a ship is actually within sight, you can gain additional information by studying the vessel for 1 round. You need not be able to see the vessel clearly—a spot on the horizon is sufficient.

A Profession (sailor) check gives you information about the ship or ships:

Check Result	Information
10	Type of ship
12	Course, speed, and time to intercept (if possible)
15	What kind of weaponry the ship is carrying
18	Ship's name
20	Any signs of allegiance (pirate flags, symbols of nation of origin, etc.)
25	Port of call of the sighted ship

This spell cannot penetrate illusions.

Focus: A small disk of ground glass, hung on a golden chain and worn about the neck while the spell is in effect.

This focus is worth 50 gp.

FLAWSIGHT

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Bard 4, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Area: 60-ft. radius

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

By touching a nearby source of water—a standing pool, a stream, or even a portion of a larger body of water—you can perceive creatures and objects in contact with the water. You can concentrate to focus flowsight on a given creature. You retain your full visual acuity, including any magical effects, as well as any auditory enhancements you might have.

This action makes the subject potentially aware of the magical scrying; on a Will save, it prevents you from learning more about it, and you cannot try again on that subject for 24 hours.

However, you can turn your consciousness to another subject in contacted with the water and make a new scrying attempt each round.

Arcane Material Component: A piece of limestone.

TOJANIDA SIGHT

Divination

Level: Druid 2, ranger 2

Components: S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

You gain all-around vision, allowing you to see in any direction.

You gain a +4 bonus on Spot and Search checks, and you cannot be flanked for the duration of the spell.

However, you cannot avert your eyes when confronted by a creature with a gaze attack, though you can still close your eyes in such a circumstance.

WAKE TRAILING

Divination [Water]

Level: Druid 4, ranger 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One ship

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You are able to track a vessel over open water by following flotsam and other signs of a ship's recent presence.

These signs of passage are relatively subtle, but as long as the spell is active you can find those signs on a Survival check, as though you were tracking a Huge, Gargantuan, or Colossal creature (depending on the size of the ship) over soft ground.

The following modifiers are used in place of those given on page 101 of the Player's Handbook.

The caster must have the Track feat to use this spell.

Condition	Survival DC Modifier
Every 4 hours since the trail was made	+1
Every hour of water-affecting weather since the trail was made	+1
Trail leads through vigorous currents	+2
Trail leads through dangerous or stronger currents	+5
Poor visibility (apply only the largest):
Moonlight	+3
Fog or precipitation	+3
Overcast or moonless night	+6

If multiple ships have passed in a given area, you can track a specific ship only if you have some knowledge of the size or type of the ship, or other knowledge that differentiates that ship from the other vessels (for instance, if you know the ship is made from a unique type of wood or is crewed by minotaurs).

Material Component: A bit of driftwood wrapped with red thread.

ENCHANTMENT

JIG OF THE WAVES

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: One or more creatures in a 10-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Concentration + 1d4 rounds

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You cause one or more creatures to begin dancing a merry jig.

This spell affects a number of HD of creatures equal to the caster level.

Creatures with the fewest HD are affected first.

Among creatures with equal HD, those who are closest to the spell's point of origin are affected first.

Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Those who are dancing receive a -2 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, skill checks, ability checks and Armor Class for the time that they dance.

Though they can take actions normally (using the penalties given above), their movement is not their own.

Each round, a creature affected by this spell must take a move action to move half her speed in a random direction. If this movement would place the target in danger (such as dancing into a fire or off the deck), the dance causes the target to stop just short of the threat.

Targets can still take their actions, either before or after their movement as they choose.

RAPTURE OF THE DEEP

Enchantment (Charm) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 6

Components: V, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One living creature

Duration: Permanent (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You fill the target creature's thoughts and ears with the sublime music of the deep waters.

The creature is completely immersed in this sensation and does nothing but experience it fully.

It enters a comatose state and cannot be awakened by any means short of dispelling the effect.

This is not a sleep effect, so elves and dragons are not immune to it.

Dispel magic and break enchantment cannot remove this effect, but a heal, limited wish, miracle, or wish spell restores the creature to consciousness.

An air-breathing creature in the water affected by this spell begins to sink and will drown if not rescued.

A flying creature immediately falls and might take falling damage.

Damage does not awaken the charmed creatures.

Focus: A conch shell.

SIREN'S CALL

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, Seafolk 4, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/2 levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The targets of this spell hear a sudden, distant song that instills in them a longing for the sea.

Those who have heard it compare it to the song of a siren.

A target who fails a saving throw against this spell moves immediately toward the nearest stretch of ocean that it can find and attempts to completely submerge itself in the water.

This flight will be by the safest means possible, withdrawing from combat, fighting defensively, and not passing through threatened areas.

The target will only fight if someone actively attempts to prevent it from following through with its search for the ocean; if this fight is with an ally, the target is granted a second saving throw to throw off the effects of the spell.

In some environments, this means that those affected simply flee in the direction of the nearest coast.

Along a shoreline, targets often plunge into the surf.

Aboard ship, they leap overboard.

If the subject has no idea where to find a substantial body of water, it simply chooses a random direction and continues until the spell expires.

Once the spell's subjects are in the water, they begin swimming toward the deepest part of it they can reach, immersing themselves completely and refusing to come up for air, though they hold their breath as long as they are able.

EVOCATION

DEPTH SURGE

Evocation [Water]

Level: Druid 8, Seafolk 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: 20 ft. radius

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

The water within the area suddenly explodes outward in a massive surge, as if driven by a powerful explosion. Each creature or object in the area is subject to damage equal to 2d6 + caster level.

Any creature struck by this attack must then succeed on a Fortitude save or be driven 10 feet away from the center of the blast.

If a ship is in the area, the captain must immediately make a sinking check (DC equal to spell save DC).

See Sinking, page 32.

At least half of the spell's area must contain water at least 10 feet deep, or else the spell fails.

You must center the effect at or below the water's surface.

Material Component: A sphere of volcanic rock.

FAVORABLE WIND

Evocation [Air]

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: No

This spell produces a stream of wind that can fill a ship's sails, disperse vapors and gases, and keep flying creatures at bay.

The wind force is strong, with a speed of about 30 mph.

It begins where you stand and blows directly away from you; you can easily propel a sailing vessel by standing astern of the mast and directing the wind forward to fill the sails.

Tiny or smaller creatures in the path of the wind are knocked prone, or if flying are blown back 1d6×10 feet. Small creatures are checked and cannot make headway against the wind.

Small airborne creatures are instead blown back 1d6×5 feet. Medium and larger creatures can move normally within the effect.

A favorable wind can't push a creature beyond the limit of its range.

Any creature, regardless of size, takes a -2 penalty on ranged attacks and on Listen checks in the area of a favorable wind.

The wind automatically extinguishes candles, torches, and similar unprotected flames.

In addition to the above-noted effects, favorable wind can do anything that a strong natural wind could do.

It can fan a large fire, disperse gases and vapors to the limit of its range in 1 round, and make sailing difficult for small craft nearby.

PRESSURE SPHERE

Evocation [Water]

Level: Blackwater 2, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell suddenly causes the water around a target to take on the terrible, bone-crushing pressure of the deepest ocean trenches.

This pressure deals 4d6 points of damage (Fortitude save for half).

The area of the spell can be constrained by the available water; it has no effect on creatures or objects that are within the radius but not in the water, or on squares of water that are not at least 5 feet deep.

The spell must be centered at or below the surface of the water.

RED TIDE

Evocation [Water]

Level: Druid 8

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Burst in the shape of a circular disk, 10 ft. wide/level, 5 ft. high

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This visually impressive spell causes a surging, frothing wave of thick, red seawater that washes over everything in the area.

All creatures in the area of a red tide are immediately knocked prone and must make a Fortitude saving throw.

Flying or swimming creatures in the area aren't knocked prone, but they take a -4 penalty on the Fortitude save.

A living creature who makes its Fortitude save against a red tide is sickened for 1 minute and takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saving throws, skill checks, and ability checks for that time.

A creature who fails this saving throw feels the full effect of the red tide.

Such creatures are immediately nauseated for 1 minute (unable to attack, cast spells, or concentrate), and they take 3d6 points of Strength damage.

After 1 minute the nausea ends, but the creature must make a second Fortitude saving throw or take an extra 3d6 points of Strength damage.

Creatures immune to poison are immune to these effects of a red tide.

The tainted water evoked by this spell vanishes after a few seconds of turbulence, and any objects or creatures in the area do not emerge wet.

All open flames in the area are nevertheless extinguished if they fail a Reflex save, and all creatures with the fire subtype take 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6; Fort save half).

ILLUSIONDISGUISE SHIP

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: One ship

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will disbelief (if interacted with)

Spell Resistance: No

You cloak a ship in illusion, making it appear as a ship of another type of your choice.

You can choose what it appears as down to small details such as what weaponry it bears and what flags it is flying. You can make the ship to be any other water-going vessel, though it cannot seem to be more than 50% smaller or larger.

Creatures within the area are not hidden or changed in appearance, nor are their possessions.

Material Component: A tiny replica of a ship.

ROAR OF THE WAVES

Illusion (Pattern) [Fear, Mind-Affecting, Sonic]

Level: Bard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One target/2 levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

The ocean's voice is a terrible and majestic thing.

Bards understand the power of the ocean's song and have harnessed that in this spell.

The targets of this spell are suddenly bombarded by the sound of the roaring ocean.

The target is deafened for the duration of the spell.

Additionally, each target must make a Will save or be shaken.

This sound can be heard by anyone within 30 feet of the targets, but only those actually targeted are affected.

Material Component: Pieces of shell that have been battered by the surf.

NECROMANCY

ABOLETH CURSE

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You bestow a dreadful affliction on the creature you touch, similar to the effect of an aboleth's foul contact.

The skin of the target creature transforms into a transparent, glistening membrane.

A creature so transformed must keep this membrane moistened with cool, fresh water or take 1d12 points of damage every 10 minutes.

In addition, its natural armor bonus (if any) decreases by 1, but it can never drop below 0.

This transformation does not affect natural armor bonuses provided by magic items.

This curse cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a remove curse spell if cast within 24 hours.

Afterward, only a heal, mass heal, limited wish, miracle, or wish spell can remove the affliction.

BLACKWATER TAINT

Necromancy [Evil, Water]

Level: Blackwater 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 20-ft. radius

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

In the dark, sunless abysses of the deep ocean, shadows gather, the cold beckons, and the corpses of many things in the oceans lie slowly rotting.

These black waters are often poisoned with the energies of undeath.

When this spell is cast, you call up the cold blackness of those stygian depths, infusing the waters in the spell's area with negative energy.

Those in or entering the area must make a Fortitude save to resist its terrible power.

Those who fail the save are chilled to the bone, taking 1d6 points of damage per two levels (to a maximum of 10d6) and gain a negative level.

Those who make the save take half damage and avoid the negative level.

All undead in the area are healed of 1d6 points of damage per two caster levels (maximum of 10d6).

Furthermore, the spell's area is treated as though there were a desecrate spell active within it.

This area of blackwater remains in place for the spell's duration, affecting creatures who enter the area in subsequent rounds.

A creature can only be affected once by the spell, regardless of success or failure on the saving throw, so creatures who leave and reenter the area take no additional effect (although the desecrate effect remains throughout the spell's duration).

Material Component: Bone or scale of a fish that dwells in the deep, sunless parts of the ocean.

DARK TIDE

Necromancy [Evil, Water]

Level: Blackwater 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)

Area: One-half mile radius spread

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You infuse the target area with the enervating essence of the blackwater depths, creating a tide of blackwater that spreads out from the designated point of origin at a rate of 100 feet per round until it fills the entire area.

The water is black and terribly chilling, and its touch causes a sense of fear in those affected by it. Those within the area must make a Fortitude save when they first enter the blackwater (or when it first surrounds them).

Failure indicates that they take 1 point of Strength damage. Additionally, every creature in the area takes 1d6 points of negative energy damage for every hour they remain in the dark, murky waters (no save).

Spells that protect against negative energy damage will prevent the Strength damage.

Creatures who take damage from the dark tide are considered shaken as long as they remain in the area. This spell is a favored first move by sahuagin and other blackwater-dwelling creatures before they attack the settlements of their enemies.

THALASSEMIA

Necromancy

Level: Druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell thins the target creature's blood to little more than seawater, dealing 1d6 points of damage per level (maximum 15d6).

Only living creatures with a circulatory system and blood can be affected by this spell; it does not harm creatures immune to critical hits.

Creatures with the fire subtype instead take 1d8 points of damage per level.

TRANSMUTATION

AIR BREATHING

Transmutation [Air]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creatures touched

Duration: 2 hours/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature can breathe air freely.

Divide the duration evenly among all the creatures you touch.

The spell does not make creatures unable to breathe water.

Air breathing counters and dispels water breathing.

Arcane Material Component: A tiny vial of water.

AIRY WATER

Transmutation [Air, Water]

Level: Seafolk 6, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell turns normal water (or watery solutions) into a frothy substance that is as breathable as air.

Both air-breathing and water-breathing creatures within the area can breathe normally.

Moving through airy water is easier than moving through normal water.

Swimmers make a DC 10 Swim check once per round; they swim at their normal speed on a success, or half their normal speed on a failure.

Creatures with a swim speed can simply use their swim speed without penalty.

Creatures can instead use their land speed to move along the bottom at their normal speed.

Creatures walking on the bottom do not pay any movement penalty for walking on sand, stone, or pebble seafloor and only pay 2 squares of movement per square of muck or mud entered (see Marine Dungeon Terrain on page 21).

Finally, airy water negates underwater combat penalties for all melee attacks, although ranged attacks still take the normal underwater penalty.

The spell does not filter or purify solid particles, so casting airy water on very turbid liquids, for example, would produce an area filled with dust or smoke (and impose similar penalties).

Material Component: A small handful of alkaline salts.

CONTROL CURRENTS

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft./level

Area: 20-ft./level radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You alter the flow of water in the area surrounding you.

You can change the direction of an existing current, boost its strength, or cause still water to flow at a desired rate.

The new current speed and direction persists until the spell ends or you decide to alter the effect, which requires concentration.

You can choose to create an area of calm water up to 80 feet in diameter at the center of the affected area if you so desire, and you can create a limited effect in a smaller circular area within the spell's range.

Current Direction: You can choose one of two basic current patterns to function over the spell's area.

- You can direct the current to flow in one direction across the entire area from one side to the other.

- You can create a rotation, causing the water to swirl around the center in a clockwise or counter-clockwise direction.

Current Strength: For every three caster levels, you can increase or decrease the current's speed by 10 feet.

For example, a 9th level druid could increase the speed of a vigorous current (20 feet per round) to a dangerous current (50 feet per round) or reduce it to calm, placid water.

See Currents and Streams, page 10, for more information about current strength and Swim checks.

FINS TO FEET

Transmutation

Level: Seafolk 2, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell transforms tails, tentacles, or finned extremities into humanoid legs and feet.

Creatures so affected lose any natural swim speed they possess but gain a land speed instead.

Transmuted Medium creatures have a base land speed of 30 feet, Small and smaller creatures have a base land speed of 20 feet, and Large or larger creatures have a base land speed of 40 feet.

The creature loses any natural attacks based on its tail or tentacles.

JAWS OF THE MORAY

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell grants the subject a bite attack, which deals damage as indicated below.

As a primary attack, it adds the creature's Strength modifier to damage.

It can also be used as a secondary natural attack in conjunction with a manufactured weapon.

Such secondary attacks do not interfere with the primary attack as attacking with an off-hand weapon would do, but the subject takes the usual -5 penalty (or -2 with the Multiattack feat) for the bite attack when used as a secondary natural attack.

If the subject hits with its bite attack, it attaches itself to the foe and deals automatic bite damage each round it remains attached.

It does not need to make a grapple check, and it does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

An attached attacker loses its Dexterity bonus to Armor Class.

It cannot use other weapons while attached, but each attack upon from the grappled foe requires a successful grapple check.

Others can attack an attached creature with a weapon or grapple.

To remove the attached creature through grappling, the opponent must achieve a pin against it.

A creature with a natural bite attack can use its own bite damage, if greater, but still gains the ability to attach itself.

KUO-TOA SKIN

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's skin, as well as clothing, armor, and other personal effects (including worn magic items), take on an oily sheen like the slippery skin of kuo-toas.

For the duration of the spell, the subject gains a +8 bonus on Escape Artist checks and cannot be snared by webs (magical or otherwise).

Arcane Material Component: A kuo-toa scale.

MEGALODON EMPOWERMENT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 8, Seafolk 7

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level or 1 round/level (D)

The mighty megalodon is a terror to most things that swim. However, it is also undeniably perfect in its form, made to be the ultimate hunting machine.

When this spell is cast, you take on some of the essence of this greatest of sharks.

You become a predator without peer, capable of finding and destroying your prey.

When the spell is initially cast, you take what is called the Form of the Hunter: your features undergo a subtle change, becoming more angular.

Your skin darkens to a blue-black hue and becomes slightly rough to the touch.

Your sense of smell sharpens, granting you the scent special ability and a +10 racial bonus to Survival checks for the purpose of tracking by scent.

Additionally, your swim speed increases by 10 feet; if you do not already possess a swim speed then you gain a swim speed equal to your normal land movement.

You also gain the ability to breathe water.

You can retain this form for up to 1 hour per caster level (as noted above).

At any time during the spell's duration, you can shift into the terrible Form of the Killer as a standard action.

Doing so dramatically reduces the remaining time of the spell, however, reducing it to 1 round per caster level, regardless of how much time was originally remaining.

In the Form of the Killer, you swell in size, increasing by one size category (see page 291 of the Monster Manual for guidelines on changes to abilities and traits for such a change).

You retain the scent and swim speed benefits of the Form of the Hunter, and the rough hide of the megalodon fully manifests—those who strike you with unarmed or natural attacks must make a Reflex save or take 1d4 points of damage.

You also gain bite and claw natural attacks and are considered to have the Multiattack feat for the purpose of using them.

These natural attacks deal damage according to your new size (see page 296 of the Monster Manual for details): for a Medium caster, this gives a bite attack for 1d8 points of damage and two claw attacks for 1d6 points of damage).

Finally, your base attack bonus equals your character level, you gain a +4 natural armor bonus (in addition to that gained from the size increase), and you gain a +3 competence bonus on Fortitude and Reflex saves.

You lose the ability to cast spells (but not to use spell-like abilities).

If you possess the wild shape ability, you can assume the shapes of animals one size category larger than normal.

Assuming the Form of the Killer lasts for the duration of the spell—once it has been done, you cannot return to the Form of the Hunter without recasting.

Material Component: A potion of water breathing and three teeth from a shark of at least Large size.

QUICKSWIM

Transmutation

Level: Bard 1, druid 1, ranger 1, Seafolk 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

This spell increases your base swim speed by 10 feet; this adjustment counts as an enhancement bonus.

It has no effect on other modes of movement, such as land speed, burrow, climb, or fly.

If you do not have a swim speed, you gain no benefit from this spell.

Arcane Material Component: A scale from any fish.

SCALES OF THE SEALORD

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, ranger 3, Seafolk 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

You transform yourself into a form better suited to the watery environment, growing shimmering scales and gaining webbed hands and feet.

For the duration of the spell, your swim speed increases by 10 feet.

If you had no swim speed, you gain a swim speed of 15 feet, gaining a +8 racial bonus on any Swim check to perform some special action or avoid a hazard.

You can always choose to take 10 on a Swim check, even if distracted or endangered.

You can use the run action while swimming, provided you swim in a straight line.

Finally, you gain a natural armor bonus +1/three caster levels, maximum of +5.

However, because of your strange appearance, you gain a penalty to Charisma-based checks equal to the natural armor bonus when dealing with nonaquatic creatures.

Material Component: Handful of thick scales.

SINK

Transmutation (Water)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 min./level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

The target creature loses its natural buoyancy, sinking like a stone in water or liquids of similar density (but not mud or lava).

Each round, the affected creature must make a DC 25 Swim check simply to keep its head above water, or a DC 30 Swim check to move 5 feet in any direction.

Failing a check by 5 or more causes the target to go underwater, and it must hold its breath or begin to drown (see Drowning on page 304 of the Dungeon Master's Guide). Failing a check by 10 or more causes the target to sink 5 feet.

A DC 25 Swim check is needed to surface by 5 feet.

A creature under the effect of sink is adequately ballasted to walk on the bottom, if it so chooses.

A creature with a swim speed takes a –10 ft. penalty to its swim speed (minimum 5 ft.)

and sinks 5 feet every round at the end of its turn unless it succeeds on a DC 25 Swim check.

Sink counters and dispels wave blessing.

STEED OF THE SEAS

Transmutation

Level: Paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch

Target: Your mount
Duration: 2 hours/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes

Paladins are understandably loathe to enter into the water depths without their loyal steeds to assist them. With this spell, you imbue your mount with the ability to enter the water without harm by granting it the aquatic subtype.

Additionally, the mount gains a swim speed equal to half its normal speed.

A mount under the effects of this spell is able to breathe water; in fact, it is amphibious and thus subject to no ill effect in or out of the water.

SWIM

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 round
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Target: One creature
Duration: 10 min./level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell gives the recipient a swim speed equal to its land speed (though not the ability to breathe water or hold its breath beyond normal limits).

So long as the creature isn't carrying more than a light load, it can swim at its normal speed without making Swim checks.

It also gains a +8 competence bonus on any Swim check to perform some special action or avoid a hazard.

The creature can choose to take 10 on a Swim check, even if distracted or endangered.

It can use the run action while swimming, provided it swims in a straight line.

If the creature is carrying more than a light load, it must make Swim checks to move (taking the normal penalty for weight carried), but all other benefits and bonuses of the spell still apply.

Arcane Material Component: A goldfish scale.

TERN'S PERSISTENCE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: Creature touched
Duration: 24 hours
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains the sea bird's ability to travel great distances without undue exertion.

The subject can travel overland 50% longer than normal before risking injury or fatigue.

For example, a character can walk up to 12 hours overland before having to make Constitution checks to avoid fatigue, or can hustle for 90 minutes before taking nonlethal damage.

The subject still can't run for extended periods, but it can move at run speed tactically for a number of rounds equal to 1-1/2 times its Constitution score.

Arcane Material Component: A few feathers or a pinch of guano from a tern.

TRANSFORMATION OF THE DEEPS

Transmutation

Level: Blackwater 4, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: One creature/3 levels
Duration: 1 hour/level (D)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The creature you touch undergoes a transformation that allows it to survive in the terrible lightless depths of the oceans.

This creates subtle changes in the spell's target, whose eyes become completely black and whose flesh becomes hard and cold.

The target of this spell gains the ability to breathe water and is rendered immune to damage from both the temperature and the pressure in extreme depths of water.

Additionally, she gains darkvision out to 60 feet.

Material Component: A bit of stone or mud from a deep ocean trench.

URCHIN'S SPINES

Transmutation

Level: Druid 2, ranger 1, sorcerer/wizard 2
Components: V, S, M/DF
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Touch
Target: Creature touched
Duration: 1 min./level
Saving Throw: Will negates; see text (harmless)
Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature's skin (including clothing and armor) is covered by 2-inch spines.

An opponent who grapples the subject or strikes it with a natural weapon takes 1d3 points of piercing damage from the spines, which also inject a mildly irritating poison.

The opponent must make a DC 13 Fortitude save or take initial and secondary damage of 1d2 Dexterity.

Arcane Material Component: A spine from a sea urchin.

WATER TO ACID

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 standard action
Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)
Area: Up to 1 cu. ft./level
Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You transform a volume of water into an equal volume of acid, which deals damage to creatures that come into contact with it.

You cannot transform water inside a creature's body, but you can affect water surrounding it.

Water containing more than a trace of dissolved or suspended substances can't be affected by this spell.

You can fill a flask with acid produced in this way and throw it as a splash weapon that deals 1d6 points of acid damage on a direct hit and 1 point of acid damage from a splash (see page 128 of the Player's Handbook).

Each round a creature is in contact with the acid, it takes 1d6 points of acid damage.

Underwater, the acid created by this spell dissipates after 1 round/caster level.

The acid dissolves metallic objects it contacts.

It deals 1d6 points of damage per round and ignores the object's hardness.

A magic item makes a Fortitude saving throw each round for half damage.

Material Component: A few drops of vinegar.

WAVE BLESSING

Transmutation [Water]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 immediate action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One Medium or smaller object or creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

On the seas, there is always the danger of falling overboard, especially to those wearing armor or who simply cannot swim.

The affected targets do not go under the water if they fail a Swim check for any reason, including being tied up, unconscious, or heavily loaded.

However, the targets can still be dragged under by the actions of other creatures.

You can cast this spell with an instant utterance.

Casting this spell is an immediate action.

You can even cast this spell when it isn't your turn.

Wave blessing counters and dispels sink.

WEBFOOT

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 min./level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature becomes better acclimated to wetlands and watery environments.

It gains a +4 bonus on Swim checks and is not hindered when moving through shallow bog terrain.

It treats an area of deep bog as shallow bog for purposes of movement and Tumble checks (see Marsh Terrain on page 88 of the Dungeon Master's Guide).

STRONGHOLD BUILDER'S GUIDEBOOK (3.0)

ABJURATION

IMPROVED ARCANES LOCK

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Target: Door, chest, or portal touched, up to 30 sq. ft./level in size

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell works identically to arcane lock, except that at the time of casting you may attune up to 1 individual per caster level to the object targeted by the spell.

These individuals (who need not be present during casting) can freely pass the improved arcane lock as if they had cast the spell.

Material Component: Gold dust worth 25 gp, plus 5 gp per individual attuned.

TRANSMUTATION

AUGMENT OBJECT

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: Object of up to 200 cubic ft./level

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None (Object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (Object)

This spell adds +20 to the break DC of the object and doubles its hardness and hit points.

An augmented object also gains a saving throw against spells when unattended as if it were a magic item (save bonus equals 2 + half the caster level).

Material Component: A pinch of chalk.

TOME AND BLOOD (3.0)

ABJURATION

ABSORPTION

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Until expended or 10 minutes/level
Spells (and spell-like effects) targeted against you are absorbed and their energy stored until you release this energy in spells of your own.

The abjuration absorbs only spells that have you as a target. Effect and area spells are not affected.

Absorption also fails to affect touch range spells. From 7–10 (1d4+6) spell levels are affected by the absorption.

The DM secretly rolls the exact number.

Each spell absorbed subtracts its level from the amount of absorption left.

A spell might be only partially absorbed.

Subtract the 1d4+6 result from the spell level of the incoming spell.

Divide the remaining levels of the incoming spell by the original spell level of the incoming spell to see what fraction of the effect gets through.

For damaging spells, you take that fraction of the damage.

For nondamaging spells, you have a proportional chance to be affected.

For example, you have three spell levels of absorption remaining and a dominate monster spell strikes you.

Dominate monster is a 9th-level spell: $(9-3)/9$ leaves 6/9, or 66% of the spell.

There exists a 66% chance the spell affects you.

If you are affected, any saving throw the spell normally allows still applies.

You can use captured spell energy to cast any spell you have prepared, without expending the preparation itself (you must keep a running total of spell levels absorbed and used).

In other words, the prepared spell doesn't disappear from your memory since you didn't use that "prepared" magical energy to power the casting.

If you are a sorcerer, you can use stored energy to cast any spell you know.

The levels of spell energy you have stored must be equal to or greater than the level of the spell you want to cast, and you must (and use) have any material components required for the spell.

DIMENSIONAL LOCK

Abjuration

Level: Clr 8, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a shimmering emerald field that completely blocks physical extradimensional travel.

Forms of movement barred include astral projection, blink, dimension door, ethereal jaunt, ethereality, gate, maze, phasing, plane shift, shadow walk, teleport, and similar spell-like and psionic abilities.

Once the spell is in place, extradimensional travel into or out of the affected area is not possible.

The dimensional lock does not interfere with the movement of creatures already in ethereal or astral form when the spell is cast, nor does it block extradimensional perception or attack forms such as a basilisk's gaze.

It also does not prevent summoned creatures from disappearing at the end of a summoning spell.

ENERGY BUFFER

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: You

Duration: 24 hours or until discharged

This abjuration grants you protection against damage from any type of energy: acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic.

The spell protects your equipment as well.

Whenever you are exposed to energy damage, a multi-hued aura covers your body and absorbs up to 1d6 points per caster level (maximum 15d6) of whatever type of energy triggered the effect.

The protective aura lasts for 1 round or until it absorbs all the damage it can, whichever comes first.

Once the aura begins absorbing damage, you cannot change the type of damage it absorbs.

Energy buffer overlaps (and does not stack with) endure elements, resist elements, and protection from elements.

If you are warded by energy buffer and one or more of the other spells, the energy buffer spell absorbs damage until it is exhausted, no matter what type of energy the other spells ward against.

If you are subjected to a second type of energy after energy buffer is activated, any warding spell that protects you from the second type of energy is still effective.

For example, Mialee casts energy buffer on herself and also receives protection from elements (fire) and resist elements (cold) from Jozan.

Later, a white dragon and a group of ogres ambush Mialee's party.

The ogres hurl flasks of alchemist's fire at Mialee, which triggers her energy buffer spell.

The buffer easily absorbs all the fire damage Mialee would have suffered, and the protection from elements (fire) spell absorbs nothing.

Later, in the surprise round, the white dragon loses its breath weapon.

Because Mialee's energy buffer spell is absorbing fire damage, it is ineffective against the cold damage the dragon's breath weapon deals, but Mialee still gets the benefit of the resist elements (cold) spell.

ENERGY IMMUNITY

Abjuration

Level: Clr 6, Drd 6, Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

This abjuration grants a creature complete protection against damage from whichever one of five energy types you select: acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic.

The spell protects the recipient's equipment as well.

Energy immunity absorbs only damage.

The recipient could still suffer unfortunate side effects, such as drowning in acid (since drowning damage results from the lack of oxygen), being deafened by a sonic attack, or becoming encased in ice.

Note: Energy immunity overlaps (and does not stack with) endure elements, resist elements, and protection from elements.

If a character is warded with energy immunity and one or more of the other spells, the energy immunity spell makes the others irrelevant.

FILTER

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an invisible bubble of protection around the recipient's body that filters out all noxious and toxic elements in the air.

The warded creature takes no damage and no penalties from inhaled natural or alchemical poisons.

It is likewise protected against magical poisons created by spells of 4th level or lower (such as stinking cloud) cast by creatures of 8 or fewer Hit Dice.

Against more powerful affects, the creature receives a +2 circumstance modifier on any saving throw allowed.

Arcane Material Component: A strand of spider web and a scrap of cotton cloth.

GAZE SCREEN

Abjuration

Level: Clr 2, Drd 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a shimmering, mirrorlike area in the air before the recipient's eyes.

The area moves with the recipient and does not affect its vision.

While the spell lasts, there exists a 50% chance that a recipient subjected to a gaze attack need not make a saving throw against the attack, as if averting its eyes, but the foe with the gaze attack is not concealed from the recipient (see Gaze Attacks on page 77 of DUNGEON MASTER'S Guide).

The recipient gets no additional protection from averting its eyes while the spell lasts, but it can shut its eyes to avoid the gaze.

MASS RESIST ELEMENTS

Abjuration

Level: Clr 3, Drd 3, Sor/Wiz 4

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

As resist elements, except that it affects multiple creatures.

MORDENKAINEN'S PRIVATE SANCTUM

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 30-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell insures privacy.

Anyone looking into the area from outside sees only a dark, foggy mass.

Darkvision cannot penetrate it.

No sounds, no matter how loud, can escape the area, so nobody can eavesdrop from outside.

Those inside can see out normally.

Magical scrying or divination attempts, such as detect thoughts, clairaudience/clairvoyance, or scrying, cannot penetrate the protected area, and an arcane eye cannot get inside.

The ward prevents speech between those inside and those outside (because it blocks sound), but it does not prevent other sorts of communication, such as sending or message spells, or empathic communication between a master and a familiar.

Nor does it prevent creatures or objects from moving into and out of the area.

Material Components: A thin sheet of lead, a piece of opaque glass, a wad of cotton or cloth, and powdered chrysolite.

OTILUKE'S DISPELLING SCREEN

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V; S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Wall whose area is up to one 10ft. square/level or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create an opaque, immobile, shimmering screen of violet energy. Any creature or unattended object passing through the screen is affected by a targeted dispel magic cast at your caster level (see page 196 of the Player's Handbook).

You make a dispel check against the spell or against each ongoing spell currently in effect on the object or creature.

A dispel check is 1d20 +1 per caster level (maximum +10) against a DC of 11+the spell's caster level.

The screen has no effect on any items a creature carries.

If an unattended magic item passes through the screen, you make a dispel check against the item's caster level.

If you succeed, all the item's magical properties are suppressed for 1d4 rounds. Spell effects that are not operating on objects or creatures cannot pass through the screen. A disintegrate or successful dispel magic spell removes Otiluke's dispelling screen, while an antimagic field suppresses it. Material Component: A sheet of fine lead crystal.

OTILUKE'S GREATER DISPELLING SCREEN

Abjuration
Level: Sor/Wiz 7
As Otiluke's dispelling screen, except that the maximum bonus on the dispel check is +20 instead of +10.

CONJURATION

CHOKER

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]
Level: Sor/Wiz 2
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Targets: One creature up to size Large (see text)
Duration: 1 round/level
Saving Throw: Reflex half (see text)
Spell Resistance: Yes
A pair of invisible hands made of pure force spring into existence around the target's throat and begin to strangle it. Only aberrations, animals, beasts, fey, giants, humanoids, magical beasts, monstrous humanoids, outsiders, and shapechangers can be affected. Creatures without necks, such as beholders, cannot be affected. The hands cannot be attacked or damaged. The target takes 1d4 points of damage per round but can make a Reflex save each round for half damage. All attack rolls and checks the target makes while being choked suffer a -2 circumstance penalty; if the check involves speaking, the circumstance penalty is -4. Spellcasting is possible, but the target must make a successful Concentration check (DC 10+ spell level +½ the last damage dealt) or lose the spell. The -2 circumstance penalty also applies to the check, or -4 if the spell has a verbal component. Material Component: A handkerchief or similar-sized piece of cloth that has been tied in a knot.

CORPSE CANDLE

Conjuration (Creation)
Level: Sor/Wiz 3
Components: S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)
Effect: Ghostly hand and candle
Duration: 1 minute/level (D) (see text)
Saving Throw: None
Spell Resistance: No
A ghostly hand bearing a lit candle appears at the spot you choose.

The candle sheds light in a 5-foot radius. The hand moves as you desire (no concentration required): forward or back, up or down, straight or turning corners, and so on. The hand can move up to 50 feet per round. It winks out if the distance between you and it exceeds the spell's range. The hand and candle are incorporeal and can pass through objects, making it a useful tool in simulating hauntings. The corpse candle illuminates hidden, ethereal, and invisible beings and items, which become faintly visible as wispy outlines. Ethereal creatures remain unreachable from the Material Plane (except with force effects), but invisible creatures have only three-quarters concealment while within 5 feet of the candle. The ghostly radiance also makes immaterial creatures and items ever so slightly material (including the hand itself). Incorporeal creatures within 5 feet of the corpse candle retain all the usual benefits of being incorporeal, but they have only a 30% chance to avoid attacks from corporeal creatures. The hand is Diminutive, has 1 hit point per caster level, and has AC 14+ a deflection bonus equal to your Charisma modifier. It makes saves as you do. It is immune to spells that don't cause damage (other than disintegrate). The spell effect ends if the hand is destroyed. Material Component: A piece of a corpse that has never been treated with any kind of preservative.

ICE KNIFE

Conjuration (Creation) [Cold]
Level: Sor/Wiz 2
Components: V, S, M
Casting Time: 1 action
Range: Long (400 ft. + 40 ft./level)
Effect: One icy missile
Duration: Instantaneous
Saving Throw: See text
Spell Resistance: Yes
A magical shard of ice springs from your hand and speeds to its target. You must succeed at a normal ranged attack to hit. For every two caster levels, you gain a +2 modifier on the ranged attack roll. The shard deals 1d8 points of piercing damage, plus 1d8 points of cold damage and 2 points of cold Dexterity damage. Creatures that are immune to cold damage take no Dexterity damage. A successful Fortitude save reduces the cold damage by half and negates the Dexterity damage. A miss creates a shower of ice crystals in a 10-foot-radius burst centered where the shard lands (see the rules for grenadelike weapons on page 138 of the Player's Handbook). The icy burst deals 1d8 points of splash damage. A creature within the burst area can make a Reflex save to take only half damage. Material Component: A drop of water or piece of ice.

ARCANE SIGHT

Divination

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level

This spell makes your eyes glow blue and allows you to see magical auras within 120 feet of you.

The effect is similar to a detect magic spell, but works much more quickly.

You know the number of auras within your sight, and the strength and location of each aura.

An aura's magic school and strength depend on a spell's functioning level or an item's caster level, as noted in the description of the detect magic spell (see page 193 of the Player's Handbook).

If you spend a full-round action scrutinizing a creature within 120 feet of you, you can determine if it has any spellcasting or spell-like abilities, whether they are arcane or divine (spell-like abilities register as arcane), and the strength of the most powerful ability the creature currently has available for use.

In some cases, the spell may give a deceptively low reading, such as when you use it on a spellcaster who has used up most of her daily spell limit.

ENCHANTMENT

INDIFFERENCE

Enchantment [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell drains emotion from the creature touched.

The subject becomes immune to fear and compulsion effects of 2nd level or lower and gains a +4 circumstance modifier on saving throws against fear or compulsion effects of 3rd level or higher.

Furthermore, morale bonuses or penalties do not affect the subject while the spell lasts.

However, the subject's lack of emotion imposes a -4 circumstance penalty on Charisma checks.

If the subject already is under a fear or compulsion effect when receiving this spell, a failed saving throw ends that effect and leaves the subject dazed for 1 round.

Material Component: A small stone.

EVOCATION

ACID ORB

Evocation [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One or more creatures or objects, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

One or more orbs of acid about 3 inches across shoot from your palm at their targets.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

The orbs deal a total of 1d6 points of acid damage per caster level (maximum 15d6), divided any way you see fit, but a single orb must deal at least 1d6 points of damage.

You declare the damage division before making your attack rolls.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage and becomes nauseated from the acid's noxious fumes for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half and negates the nausea.

If you miss, acid splashes in a 10-foot burst, dealing 2 points per die of damage dealt by that orb.

A successful Reflex reduces splash damage by half.

CHAIN CONTINGENCY

Evocation

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

As the contingency spell, except that you can place up to three other spells upon your person so that they come into effect under some condition you dictate when casting chain contingency.

The spells can come into effect simultaneously or one at a time, one per round.

COLD ORB

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

As acid orb, except cold orb deals cold damage.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage and is blinded by a shower of ice crystals for 1 round.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half and negates the blindness.

ELECTRIC ORB

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

As acid orb, except electric orb deals electricity damage.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage, and the play of electricity leaves its metal accouterments magnetized for 1 round.

A creature wearing metal armor is effectively entangled and suffers a -2 penalty to attack rolls and a -4 penalty to effective Dexterity.

If the surfaces surrounding the creature are metallic, it cannot move. Otherwise, it moves at half speed and can't run or charge. If the creature attempts to cast a spell, it must make a Concentration check (DC 15) or lose the spell. A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half and negates the magnetism.

FIRE ORB

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

As acid orb, except fire orb deals fire damage.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage, and the flash of heat dazes it for 1 round.

A dazed creature can take no actions (but defends itself normally).

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half and negates the daze effect.

GREAT SHOUT

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Brd 6, Sor/Wiz 8

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: Line 5 ft. high and 5 ft. wide, and a cone (see text)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

You emit a thunderous, devastating yell.

The primary effect is a line of intense sonic energy 5 feet high and 5 feet wide and as long as the spell's range.

Stone, crystal, and metal objects in the area take 20d6 points of damage.

Creatures holding vulnerable objects can attempt Reflex saves to negate the damage.

Objects that survive the spell's primary effect are not subject to the secondary effect.

The spell's secondary effect is a cone of sound centered on the line.

Creatures within the cone take 10d6 points of damage, and are stunned for 1 round and deafened for 4d6 rounds.

A successful Fortitude save negates the stunning and halves both the damage and the duration of the deafness.

Any exposed brittle or crystalline object or crystalline creature takes 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 20d6).

Creatures holding fragile objects can negate damage to them with successful Reflex saves.

A deafened character, in addition to the obvious effects, suffers a -4 penalty on initiative and a 20% chance to miscast and lose any spell with a verbal (V) component that he tries to cast.

The great shout spell cannot penetrate the spell silence.

Arcane Focus: A small metal or ivory horn.

ICE BURST

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 30-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A hail of magical ice chunks erupts from a point in space. The chunks fly in all directions, hitting everything within the burst.

The pelting ice deals 1d4 points of cold damage +1 point of blunt damage per caster level, to a maximum of 10d4+10.

Material Component: A chunk of ice or a single pearl.

LESSER ACID ORB

Evocation [Acid]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: Up to five creatures or objects, no two of which can be more than 15 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

An orb of acid about 2 inches across shoots from your palm at its target, dealing 1d8 points of acid damage.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

If you miss, there is no splash damage.

For every two levels of experience past 1st, you gain an additional orb that you shoot at the same time.

You have two at 3rd level, three at 5th level, four at 7th level, and the maximum of five orbs at 9th level or higher.

If you shoot multiple orbs, you can have them strike a single creature or several creatures.

A single orb can strike only one creature.

You must designate targets before you roll for SR or roll damage.

LESSER COLD ORB

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

As lesser acid orb, except lesser cold orb deals cold damage.

LESSER ELECTRIC ORB

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

As lesser acid orb, except lesser electric orb deals electricity damage.

LESSER FIRE ORB

Evocation [Fire]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

As lesser acid orb, except lesser fire orb deals fire damage.

LESSER SONIC ORB

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

As lesser acid orb, except lesser sonic orb deals sonic damage.

SONIC ORB

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

As acid orb, except sonic orb deals sonic damage.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage and is deafened for 1 round.

A deafened creature cannot hear, suffers a -4 penalty to initiative checks, and has a 20% chance of spell failure when casting spells with verbal components.

The creature cannot make Listen checks.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half and negates the deafening effect.

ILLUSION

DISGUISE UNDEAD

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One corporeal undead

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

As change self (see page 183 of the Player's Handbook), except as noted above.

You determine the appearance of the undead.

Focus: A cocoon of a death's-head moth.

NECROMANCY

COMMAND UNDEAD

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: 1 undead creature

Duration: 1 day/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell allows you some degree of control over an undead creature.

Nonintelligent undead (such as skeletons and zombies) get no saving throw; intelligent undead do.

When you control a mindless being, you can only communicate basic commands, such as «come here», «go there», «fight», «stand still», and so on.

An intelligent subject perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way.

It will not attack you while the spell lasts.

You can try to give the subject orders, but you must win an opposed Charisma check to convince it to do anything it wouldn't ordinarily do.

(Retries not allowed).

A commanded undead never obeys suicidal or obviously harmful orders, but it might be convinced that something very dangerous is worth doing (see the charm person spell description on page 183 of the Player's Handbook).

Any act by you or your apparent allies that threatens the commanded undead breaks the spell.

Your commands are not telepathic.

The undead creature must be able to hear you.

Material Components: A shred of raw meat and a splinter of bone.

FALSE LIFE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 full round

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level or until discharged (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You grant yourself limited power to avoid death.

While this spell is in effect, you gain 1d10 temporary hit points, +1 point per level (maximum 1d10 +10).

Material Component: A small amount of alcohol or distilled spirits, which you use to trace certain sigils on your body during casting.

These sigils cannot be seen once the alcohol or spirits evaporate.

FEIGN DEATH

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One willing, living creature whose level or Hit Dice do not exceed the caster's

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You put the recipient into a deathlike condition.

At your option, this can be a cataleptic state that is impossible to distinguish from death, or the subject can appear to be in a coma or deep sleep.

Although able to smell, hear, and know what is going on, the subject is blind and has no sense of touch or pain.

The subject does not need to eat, drink, or breathe.

While the spell is in effect, the subject is immune to subdual damage, and any normal or ability damage inflicted is reduced by half.

In addition, the subject is immune to mind-affecting attacks, paralysis, poison, disease, and energy drain.

The effects of any poison or disease already affecting the subject when the spell takes effect are halted until the spell ends.

If the subject has any negative levels when the spell takes effect, the saving throw to remove it is delayed until the spell ends.

HIDE LIFE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V; S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 day

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

You isolate your life force in one single part of the body—typically the little finger on the left hand.

You can then remove this part and store it in some safe place.

Once the spell takes effect, you can no longer be killed by ordinary means: If damage or a spell effect would normally render you disabled, dying, or dead, you ignore the usual effects.

Instead, you are staggered (only able to take partial actions). While this spell is in effect, if you would otherwise be disabled or dying, you do not lose hit points for taking actions or having a negative hit point total.

Healing does not automatically return you to 0 hit points but simply adjusts your current total upward.

If you would otherwise be dead, you cannot benefit from healing and simply fall down dead if the spell is ended.

If the hidden body part is ever destroyed, the spell is broken and your life force returns to your body if you would not otherwise be dead.

Material Component: A small sickle made of the purest silver, which you use to detach the body part to be stored.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP.

NEGATIVE ENERGY BURST

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: 20-ft.-radius burst

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a silent burst of negative energy from a point you indicate.

The burst deals 1d8 points of damage to living creatures in the area +1 point per caster level (maximum 1d8+10).

A successful Will save reduces damage by half.

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell cures them of a like amount of damage, rather than harming them.

NEGATIVE ENERGY RAY

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: Ray

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A ray of negative energy projects from your pointing finger. You must succeed at a ranged touch attack with the ray to deal damage to a target.

The ray deals 1d6 points of damage to a living creature.

For every two extra levels of experience past 1st, you deal an extra 1d6 points of damage.

You deal 2d6 at 3rd level, 3d6 at 5th level, 4d6 at 7th level, and a maximum of 5d6 points of damage at 9th level or higher.

Since undead are powered by negative energy, this spell cures them of a like amount of damage, rather than harming them.

Material Component: A mirror, which you break.

NEGATIVE ENERGY WAVE

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 50 ft.

Effect: 50-ft.-radius burst, centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You release a silent burst of negative energy from your body.

You can affect up to 1d6 HD worth of undead creatures per level (maximum 15d6).

Those closest to you are affected first; among equidistant undead creatures, weaker ones are affected first.

The spell can have one of two effects, which you select when you cast it.

Rebuked: The undead creatures cower as if in awe.

(Treat them as stunned).

The effect lasts 10 rounds.

Bolstered: Undead creatures gain turn resistance of 1d4 + your Charisma modifier (minimum +1).

The effect lasts 10 rounds.

SPIRITWALL

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Effect: Wall whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level or a sphere or hemisphere with a radius of up to 1 ft./level

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates an immobile, swirling mass of greenish-white forms that look like tortured spirits.

One side of the wall, selected by you, emits a low groaning that causes creatures within a 60-foot spread to make a Will save or flee in panic for 1d4 rounds (this is a sonic fear effect).

The barrier is semimaterial and opaque, providing total concealment.

It blocks magical effects and provides nine-tenths cover against physical attacks.

Creatures can easily move through a spiritwall, but at a cost. A living creature that merely touches the wall takes 1d10 points of damage as its life force is disrupted.

1 living creature that actually passes through the wall takes 1d10 points of damage, as above, and must make a successful Fortitude save or receive one negative level.

Material Component: A clear, faceted gemstone.

UNDEATH TO DEATH

Necromancy

Level: Clr 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Area: Several undead creatures within a 50-ft. radius burst

Saving Throw: Will negates

As circle of death, except that this spell destroys undead creatures as noted above, and undead above 9 HD can be affected.

Material Component: The powder of a crushed diamond worth at least 500 gp.

TRANSMUTATION

EAGLE'S SPLENDOR*

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature becomes more poised, articulate, and personally forceful.

The spell grants an enhancement bonus to Charisma of 1d4+1 points, adding the usual benefits to Charisma-based skills.

Sorcerers and bards who receive eagle's splendor do not gain extra spells, but the save DCs for their spells increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few feathers or a pinch of droppings from an eagle.

* This spell first appeared in the FORGOTTEN REALMS campaign setting.

FOX'S CUNNING

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature becomes smarter.

The spell grants an enhancement bonus to Intelligence of 1d4+1 points, adding the usual benefits to Intelligence-related skills.

Wizards who receive fox's cunning do not gain extra spells, but the save DCs for their spells increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few hairs, or a pinch of dung, from a fox.

GHOSTFORM

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You assume a visible, incorporeal form similar to the form a ghost assumes when manifesting.

While the spell lasts, your body shifts onto the Ethereal Plane.

You are visible to, and can be attacked by, creatures on the Material Plane, but you have no material body.

You can be harmed only by other incorporeal creatures, +1 or better magic weapons, and spells, spell-like abilities, or supernatural abilities.

You are immune to all nonmagical attack forms.

Even when hit by spells or magic weapons, you have a 50% chance to ignore any damage from a corporeal source (except for force effects, such as magic missile, or attacks made with ghost touch weapons).

Creatures on the Material Plane ignore all your armor and natural armor bonuses, but you gain a deflection modifier equal to your Charisma modifier (always at least +1, even if your Charisma score does not normally provide a bonus).

You cannot make physical attacks against foes on the Material Plane except with ghost touch weapons; in this case, you have no effective Strength score, but your Dexterity modifier applies to all your melee attack rolls.

Your spells affect targets on the Material Plane normally unless the spells rely on touch.

Your touch spells don't work on material targets.

Against foes on the Ethereal Plane, all your attacks and defenses work normally.

While incorporeal, you cannot run, but you can fly (perfect maneuverability) at your normal speed.

You can pass through solid objects as any incorporeal creature can.

When the spell ends, you return fully to the Material Plane. If you return inside a material object (such as a solid wall), you are shunted off to the nearest open space and take 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet that you so travel.

MASS DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Range: 10 feet

Targets: All creatures in a 10-ft.-radius sphere around you at the time of casting

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

As darkvision, except that all creatures in the area at the time of casting receive the spell's benefits.

MASS FLY

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, F

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

As fly, except this spell confers the power of flight upon all targeted creatures.

Once a creature receives the spell, it must remain within 30 feet of at least one other recipient, or the spell is broken for that creature.

(If only two individuals are affected, the one moving away from the other loses the ability to fly.

If both are moving away from each other, they both become unable to fly when the distance between them exceeds 30 feet).

MASS TELEPORT

Transmutation [Teleportation]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 full round

Target: Touched objects or touched willing creatures weighing up to 100 lb./level

As teleport, except as noted above.

You do not have to teleport yourself when you cast a mass teleport spell.

OWL'S WISDOM

Transmutation

Level: Brd 2, Clr 2, Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The transmuted creature becomes wiser.

The spell grants an enhancement modifier to Wisdom of $1d4+1$ points, adding the usual benefits to Wisdom-related skills.

Clerics, druids, paladins, and rangers who receive owl's wisdom do not gain extra spells, but the save DCs for their spells increase.

Arcane Material Component: A few feathers, or a pinch of droppings, from an owl.

POLYMORPH OTHER

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates (and see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Polymorph other changes the subject into another form of creature.

The new form can range in size from Diminutive to one size larger than the subject's normal form, and can have no more Hit Dice than you have, or that the subject has (whichever is greater), and in any case the assumed form cannot have more than 15 Hit Dice.

You cannot change subjects into constructs, elementals, outsiders, or undead unless they already are one of these types.

Upon changing, the subject regains lost hit points as if having rested for a day (though this healing does not restore temporary ability damage and provide other benefits of resting for a day; and changing back does not heal the creature further).

If slain, the polymorphed creature reverts to its original form, though it remains dead.

The polymorphed creature acquires the physical and natural abilities of the creature it has been polymorphed into while retaining its own mind.

Physical abilities include natural size and Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores.

Natural abilities include armor, natural weapons (such as claws, bite, swoop and rake, and constriction; but not petrification, breath weapons, energy drain, energy effects, etc.), and similar gross physical qualities (presence or absence of wings, number of extremities, etc.).

A body with extra limbs does not allow a character to make more attacks (or more advantageous two-weapon attacks) than normal.

Natural abilities also include mundane movement capabilities, such as walking, swimming, and flight with wings, but not magical flight and other magical forms of travel, such as blink, dimension door, phase door, plane shift, teleport, and teleport without error.

Extremely high speeds for certain creatures are the result of extraordinary or magical ability, so they are not granted by this spell.

(In general, these abilities include nonflying speeds greater than 60 feet and flying speeds greater than 120 feet).

Other nonmagical abilities (such as an owl's low-light vision) are considered natural abilities and are retained.

Any part of the body or piece of equipment that is separated from the whole reverts to its original form.

The creature's new scores and faculties are average ones for the race or species into which it has been transformed.

You cannot, for example, turn someone into a mighty weight lifter to give the subject great Strength.

Likewise, you cannot change the subject into a bigger or more powerful version of a creature (or a smaller, weaker version).

Nor can you turn the subject into a variant form of the creature.

For example, you can turn the subject into an ogre, but not a half-dragon ogre.

The subject retains its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, level and class, hit points (despite any change in its Constitution score), alignment, base attack bonus, and base save bonuses.

(New Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution scores may affect final attack and save bonuses).

The subject retains its own type (for example, «humanoid»), extraordinary abilities, spells, and spell-like abilities, but not its supernatural abilities.

The subject does not gain the supernatural abilities (such as breath weapons and gaze attacks) or the extraordinary abilities of the new creature.

The subject can cast spells for which it has components.

It needs a humanlike voice for verbal components and humanlike hands for somatic components.

The subject does not gain the spell-like abilities of its new form.

When the polymorph occurs, the creature's equipment, if any, transforms to match the new form.

If the new form is a creature that does not use equipment (aberration, animal, beast, magical beast, construct, dragon, elemental, ooze, some outsiders, plant, some undead creatures, some shapechangers, or vermin), the equipment melds into the new form and becomes nonfunctional. Material components and focuses melded in this way cannot be used to cast spells.

If the new form uses equipment (fey, giant, humanoid, some outsiders, many shapechangers, many undead creatures), the subject's equipment changes to match the new form and retains its properties.

You can freely designate the new form's minor physical qualities (such as hair color, hair texture, and skin color) within the normal ranges for a creature of that type.

The new form's significant physical qualities (such as height, weight, and gender) are also under your control, but must fall within the norms for the new form's species.

The subject can be changed into a member of its own species or even into itself.

The subject is effectively disguised as an average member of the new form's race.

If you use this spell to create a disguise, you get a +10 bonus on your Disguise check.

Incorporeal or gaseous forms cannot be assumed, and incorporeal or gaseous creatures are immune to being polymorphed.

A natural shapeshifter (a lycanthrope, doppelganger, experienced druid, etc.)

can take its natural form as a standard action.

Material Component: An empty cocoon.

Note: This version of the spell is now official and supersedes the version presented in the Player's Handbook.

POLYMORPH SELF

Transmutation

Level: Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Personal

As polymorph other, except that you assume the form of a different creature.

The remainder of the Player's Handbook descriptive text of this spell no longer applies.

Note: This version of the spell is now official and supersedes the version presented in the Player's Handbook.

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

As repair light damage, except repair critical damage repairs 4d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +20).

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Construct touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Level: Sor/Wiz 0

As repair light damage, except repair minor damage repairs only 1 point of damage.

As repair light damage, except repair moderate damage repairs 2d8 points of damage +1 point per caster level (up to +10).

UNIVERSAL

ENHANCE FAMILIAR

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Your familiar

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You infuse your familiar with vigor.

While the spell lasts, your familiar receives a +2 competence modifier on attack rolls, saves, and weapon damage.

The familiar also receives a +2 dodge modifier to Armor Class.

FAMILIAR POCKET

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: One container or garment with a pocket

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You enspell a garment or container so that it provides a safe haven for your familiar.

The spell turns one of the target item's pockets into an extradimensional space that can hold your familiar (or about 1 cubic foot for a Tiny or smaller creature). The familiar fits inside without creating a noticeable bulge in the item.

Whenever the familiar is touching you, you can whisk it inside the pocket as a free action by speaking a command word.

If the familiar can speak, it can command itself inside.

The familiar can leave the space as a free action, or you can call it forth as a free action.

Once inside, the familiar has total cover and concealment. You or the familiar can seal the pocket, making it airtight and waterproof.

The air supply inside the sealed pocket lasts an hour. With the pocket open, the familiar can remain inside indefinitely.

If the spell ends with the familiar inside the pocket, it appears in your space, unharmed unless the area you occupy is hazardous.

Creating an extradimensional space within or taking an extradimensional space into an existing extradimensional space is hazardous.

Material Components: A tiny golden needle and a strip of fine cloth given a half-twist and fastened at the ends.

FORTIFY FAMILIAR

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Your familiar

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You make your familiar tougher.

While the spell lasts, it gains a +2 enhancement modifier to natural armor and has a 25% chance to avoid extra damage from sneak attacks or critical hits (though the attack still deals normal damage).

The familiar also receives 2d8 temporary hit points.

IMBUE FAMILIAR WITH SPELL ABILITY

Universal

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Target: Your familiar

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You transfer some of your currently prepared spells, and the ability to cast them, to your familiar.

If you are a sorcerer, you imbue your familiar with spells you know how to cast.

You can imbue a maximum of one spell per three levels.

The maximum level of the spells to be imbued is one-third of your level, rounded down (maximum 5th level).

Multiple castings of the spell do not increase these limits.

The transferred spell's variable characteristics (range, duration, area, and so on) function according to your level. Once you cast imbue familiar with spell ability on your familiar, you cannot prepare a new 6th-level spell to replace it until the familiar uses the transferred spells or is slain. (If you are a sorcerer, you simply cannot cast imbue familiar with spell ability again until the familiar uses the imbued spells).

In either case, the spell slots you transfer are not available to you until the familiar uses them.

If the transferred spells require focuses or material components, the familiar must have them to use the spells. Any XP costs from a transferred spell are deducted from your total when the familiar casts the spell.

TOME OF MAGIC (3.5)

ABJURATION

BANE OF THE ARCHRIVAL

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 3, paladin 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Area: 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on a point in space

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: No; see text

As you complete the spell and pronounce the truename, a silvery shimmer is faintly visible in the area you indicated, which pulses angrily if your truename foe comes near.

This spell protects those within its area against a single named foe, doing so in three ways.

First, the area is forbidden to the creature.

It must make a successful Will save to enter it by any means (movement, teleportation spells, and so on).

If it fails its Will save and was endeavoring to use a teleportation spell to enter the area, it is shunted to a random open space on a suitable surface within 10 feet of the protected area.

If no free space is available within 10 feet, the spell simply fails.

The creature can try to enter the area only once during its turn, but can continue to try on subsequent rounds.

Even if the named creature gets inside the barrier, the other aspects of the spell function normally.

Second, all creatures within the area gain a +4 deflection bonus to AC against attacks from the named creature, and a +4 resistance bonus on saving throws required by the named creature's spell effects and special attacks.

Third, the barrier blocks any attempt to possess or exercise mental control over those within the spell's area by the named creature, including enchantment (charm) effects and enchantment (compulsion) effects that grant ongoing control over the subject.

Bane of the archrival suppresses these effects for the duration of the spell or as long as the subject remains within the spell's area.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're protecting against.

EXPUNGE THE SUPERNATURAL

Abjuration

Level: Bard 6, cleric 8, druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

As you cast the spell, a ghostly, grasping hand appears to reach inside your foe, pull out a black, cloudy mass before disappearing. This spell functions as spurn the supernatural, except that its effect is permanent and it eliminates only one supernatural ability, no matter how high your Truespeak check.

Your target loses the chosen supernatural ability until it undergoes a ritual of renaming or is the target of a wish or miracle spell.

If the subject has a temporary supernatural ability (such as those granted to binders by vestiges), it loses that ability, but this spell does nothing to prevent the subject from gaining the same or other supernatural abilities later.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're targeting.

XP Cost: 500 XP.

HIDDEN TRUENAME

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V,

S, T

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature with an Intelligence score of 3 or higher

Duration: 24 hours

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You chant a personal truename in an ever-quieter voice as you slowly lower your hand and crouch, trying to erase traces of the personal truename from the cosmos.

The subject gains protection from those who would use her personal truename for ill purposes, and a modicum of defense against utterances that use more general truenames.

The subject of a hidden truename spell gets a +2 bonus on saving throws against utterances.

In addition, those trying to research the personal truename of a creature protected by hidden truename take a -8 penalty on the Knowledge check required to do so.

(Truename research rules are detailed on page 196).

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're trying to protect.

SPURN THE SUPERNATURAL

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your make your hand into a grasping claw as you speak your foe's truename, stealing some of its supernatural energy, which appears as a minuscule storm-cloud in your hand.

With this spell, you can temporarily suppress a supernatural ability possessed by the target creature.

For the duration of the spell, the target is unable to activate the supernatural ability you have chosen.

Extraordinary and spell-like abilities aren't affected by this spell.

If you succeed on the Truespeak check, you can suppress one of the creature's supernatural abilities, plus another supernatural ability for every 5 points by which your result beat the Truespeak DC.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're targeting.

TRUE BANISHMENT

Abjuration

Level: Cleric 8

Components: V, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One extraplanar creature

Duration: Instantaneous; see text

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You thrust your holy symbol at the creature as you speak its truename, sending it back whence it came in a swirl of flame and brimstone.

This spells functions like the banishment spell, except that it requires a successful Truespeak check to function and allows no saving throw (spell resistance still applies, though).

The true banishment spell affects only a single creature, but there's no Hit Dice limit other than the one implicit in the Truespeak check DC.

Objects that the target hates, fears, or opposes don't grant bonuses on the level check to overcome the creature's spell resistance.

If true banishment is successful, the target cannot return to the plane it was banished from for one month per caster level—unless it learns and correctly speaks the spellcaster's personal truename, in which case the prohibition no longer applies.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're trying to banish.

TRUENAME DISPEL

Abjuration

Level: Bard 6, cleric 8, druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

By speaking aloud the personal truename of your foe and pointing with arm outstretched, you cause a gray haze to swirl around your target briefly.

Then the haze dissipates, carrying your enemy's magic with it.

This spell enables you to see the strands of magic surrounding your target and selectively separate them. This functions like the dispel magic spell, except that it always targets a creature, you learn the nature of each ongoing magical effect currently affecting the target creature, and effects you want to dispel are automatically removed (no caster level check is necessary), if you succeed on the Truespeak check, you can choose which effects you want to dispel.

Thus, you can eliminate harmful effects while retaining beneficial ones—or vice versa.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're targeting with truename dispel.

CONJURATION

BULWARK OF REALITY

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

You utter your own truename, weaving its power into a matrix of force-tentacles that shimmer briefly, then descend around your form.

A faintly glowing silvery field of force surrounds you, providing you with a +6 armor bonus to Armor Class. Unlike mundane armor, the bulwark of reality entails no armor check penalty, arcane spell failure chance, or speed reduction.

Because the bulwark of reality is made of force, incorporeal creatures can't bypass it the way they do normal armor.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak your own personal truename.

SCRAMBLE TRUE POSITION

Conjuration (Teleportation)

Level: Bard 1, cleric 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Area: 10-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

You utter truenames for directions with great rapidity as you gesture toward where you're casting the spell.

With a sizzle and a flash, those within the spell's radius disappear, then reappear somewhere nearby.

The scramble true position spell can wreck an enemy's carefully constructed defenses or highly regarded plan of attack by randomly moving them around.

You can't control where your enemies reappear, but they might fall off a precipice or wind up between your rogue and fighter allies.

When you cast the spell, make a single Truespeak check.

Then compare your result to the DC to move each creature: $15 + (2 \times CR)$.

If you meet or exceed the DC for a creature, move that creature 2 squares in a random direction using the "targeted on square" part of the diagram on page 158 of the Player's Handbook.

The scramble true position spell can't send a creature into a square occupied by solid matter or another creature, but it can send a creature into a dangerous place (into lava or off a cliff, for example).

Make the comparison and movement in descending CR order.

If multiple targets have the same CR, the caster chooses the order in which to relocate them.

If you can't move a target 2 squares in a particular direction, move it 1 square, or it disappears and reappears in the same square if relocation is impossible.

Having their true locations disrupted with this spell can be disorienting for the subjects.

Every creature that you move with this spell (even those who reappear in the same square they started in) must succeed on a Reflex save or fall prone.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the truenames for cardinal directions and movement, which you learn with the spell.

This check has no set DC, but if your Truespeak check result is lower than $15 + (2 \times \text{creature's CR})$ for the lowest CR creature in the area, then scramble true position has no effect.

TRUENAME BINDING

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels); see lesser planar binding text

Target: One elemental or outsider of CR 10 or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No and yes; see lesser planar binding text

This spell functions like lesser truename binding, except that you can call a single creature of CR 10 or less.

XP Cost: 200 XP.

SAMPLE BINDING TASKS

The description of the planar binding spells on pages 261–262 of the Player's Handbook offers general advice on services and rewards. No creature likes to be called with a planar binding or truename binding spell. The spell creates a trap and contains a strong element of coercion. Whenever a command is ambiguous, a bound creature will interpret it in the way most advantageous to itself. Unlike a summoned creature, a bound creature also has a robust desire to preserve its own life. It will take risks if it must, but will try to survive, too. Impossible or suicidal demands are never agreed to.

Most truename binding and planar binding spells prove efficacious to the caster. The cost of the spell generally provides suitable benefits. The rare occasions when a bound creature cleverly circumvents the casting should be noteworthy events with campaign relevance.

Here are some common sample duties.

Assassinate: The called creature might be ordered to kill a particular individual. Since most bound creatures don't have extensive information-gathering resources such as scrying spells or other divinations, the caster must be able to give precise information about the target and its location.

Defend: Sometimes a caster wants a bound creature to defend her or an ally against attack. Most often, the creature interprets this as attacking any creature that actively attacks the person whom it is assigned to protect. If several foes attack, the bound creature usually chooses to take out the weakest of them unless specific targets are designated. It won't attack a creature that has not attacked the person it wards.

Deliver: A bound creature might be assigned to deliver an item or a message. Savvy casters give precise instructions about the speed and method of travel.

Guard: Creatures often wind up having to guard an area against intruders or thieves. Bound creatures find duties such as this to be the most irksome, due to their open-ended nature. They often amuse themselves with thinking up ways to circumvent their orders. For instance, Blish, a water mephit, was bound to guard a particular room in a dungeon. The room happened to contain a great deal of gold. Blish chose to negotiate with an adventuring party that contained a distantly related mephit. Blish tossed all the gold out into the corridor and didn't attack the adventurers, who agreed not to enter the room, but instead to hunt down the spellcaster who bound the little mephit.

TRUENAME BINDING, GREATER

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels); see lesser planar binding text

Target: One elemental or outsider of CR 14 or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No and yes; see lesser planar binding text

This spell functions like lesser planar binding, except that you can call a single creature of CR 14 or less.

XP Cost: 300 XP.

TRUENAME BINDING, LESSER

Conjuration (Calling)

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels); see lesser planar binding text

Target: One elemental or outsider of CR 6 or less

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: No and yes; see lesser planar binding text

With a flourish of your hands, the creature appears in the magic trap you have laid.

You threaten it with the power of its personal truename, and it hangs its head as it agrees to perform a service on your behalf.

This spell functions like lesser planar binding, except that you can call a single creature of CR 6 or less, and you must know its personal truename to call it.

Once you demonstrate mastery of that truename with a successful Truespeak check, you can compel the creature to perform a service on your behalf if you roll a 1 on the Truespeak check required by this spell, the creature breaks free of the binding and can escape or attack you.

The creature gets its Will save and spell resistance as normal for lesser planar binding.

If the creature does not break free, you attempt to compel the creature to perform a service not with opposed Charisma checks, but with the Truespeak check you made when you cast the spell.

The bound creature opposes this check with either a Truespeak check, saying its own personal truename, or a Charisma check.

If you can assign an open-ended task, such as “defend me against attack”, the service lasts for one day.

Once the requested service is performed, the creature need only so inform you to be instantly sent back whence it came.

You can extend the creature's duration of service with a particularly high Truespeak check.

For every 5 points by which your Truespeak check (made when you cast the spell) exceeds the creature's Truespeak or Charisma check, the duration of the creature's service is extended by one additional day.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the target creature you're trying to bind to service.

XP Cost: 100 XP.

WORD OF GENESIS

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Cleric 9

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: Six days (8 hours/day)

Range: 100 ft. (see text)

Effect: A demiplane coterminous with the Astral Plane, centered on your location

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

From the silvery haze of the Astral plane, you begin to weave tendrils of mist as you speak words of power.

Floating in space, you begin to construct reality anew with your words and gestures.

You create a finite plane with limited access: a demiplane. Demiplanes created by this spell are very small, very minor planes.

This spell works best when cast while you are on the Astral Plane (various spells allow access to these planes, including plane shift and gate).

Casting this spell creates a local density fluctuation that precipitates the creation of a demiplane.

At first, the fledgling plane has a 100-foot radius. Once created, it grows by 1 foot per week (approximately a 50-foot increase in radius per year).

Once your demiplane is created, you can travel to it using plane shift or some other spell or permanent link that you arrange for separately.

You determine the environment within the demiplane when you cast word of genesis, reflecting most any desire you can visualize.

You determine factors such as atmosphere, water, temperature, and the general shape of the terrain.

This power cannot create life (including vegetation), nor can it create objects or constructed elements (such as buildings, roads, wells, dungeons, and so forth).

You must add these details in some other fashion if you desire.

You can't create lingering magical effects with this power; you have to add those separately, if desired.

Similarly, you can't create a demiplane out of esoteric material such as silver or uranium; you're limited to stone and dirt.

You can't manipulate the time trait on your demiplane; its time trait is as the Material Plane.

Once your demiplane is complete, you can cast the spell again and again, each time increasing its radius by another 100 feet.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the truename of the place you're creating; the Truespeak DC is 50.

XP Cost: 1,000 XP.

DIVINATION

DETECT VESTIGE

Divination

Level: Cleric 1, paladin 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: Cone-shaped emanation

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You focus your mind and let your senses probe the room, questing and seeking for any trace of a bound vestige.

You can detect an aura emanating from anyone currently bound to a vestige who is within the spell's area.

The amount of information revealed about each shared soul depends on how long you study a particular area, as follows.

1st Round: Presence or absence of vestige auras.

2nd Round: Number of vestige auras in the area and the strength of the strongest vestige present.

3rd Round: The strength and location of each vestige-bound individual.

If an aura is outside your line of sight, then you discern its direction but not its exact location.

Aura Strength: The strength of a vestige aura is determined by the minimum effective binder level necessary to summon it, as given on the following table.

Minimum Effective Binder Level	Aura Strength
1st–4th	Faint
5th–9th	Moderate
10th–14th	Strong
15th or higher	Overwhelming

Each round, you can turn to detect vestige-bound individuals in a new area.

The spell can penetrate most barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

ENCHANTMENT

BECKON MONSTER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round; see text (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like beckon person, except that the effect is not restricted by creature type or size.

BECKON PERSON

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Bard 1, sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One humanoid creature

Duration: 1 round; see text (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

With a crook of your finger and some spoken truenames, you urge a creature closer.

The creature's eyes turn solid blue as it shambles toward you.

This simple enchantment weaves truenames for "approach" and "closer" into a spell that forces the subject to move closer to you.

If you succeed on the Truespeak check and the creature fails its saving throw, it must move at least 10 feet closer to you each round if able.

The creature can choose its own path and means of locomotion, but if it can, it must end its turn at least 10 feet closer to you than it started.

The creature defends itself normally and can take whatever actions it likes, so long as it moves closer to you every turn.

The creature can move toward you faster than 10 feet per round if it likes.
When the creature is adjacent to you, it acts normally unless you move away.
If you move away, it must move 10 feet per round closer to your new location if it can.
The beckon person spell lasts for at least 1 round, but it might last longer if you excel at the Truespeak check (described below).
Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the truenames associated with movement and approach.
You learn these truenames when you learn this spell.
The Truespeak DC to cast this spell is 15; you add 2 rounds to the duration for every 5 points by which you exceed the DC.

NECROMANCY

HORROR OF THE SPOKEN NAME

Necromancy [Fear, Mind-Affecting]
Level: Bard 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1d4 rounds or 1 round; see text

Saving Throw: Will partial

Spell Resistance: Yes

You practically howl the truename of your foe, screaming with as much imposing hatred as you can muster.

The affected creature becomes frightened.

If the subject succeeds on a Will save, it is shaken for 1 round.

Creatures with 10 or more Hit Dice have immunity to this effect.

Horror of the spoken name counters and dispels fear.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the truename of the creature you're targeting.

UNNAME

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature with an Intelligence score of 3 or higher

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

Remaining utterly still for a moment, you clench your fist and speak words of such potency that the creature you name simply ceases to exist.

There's no fire, no flash, and no corpse.

It's as if the creature you named never existed in the first place.

With this most powerful of spells, you erase a subject's truename from existence itself.

The last thing the subject ever hears is your voice uttering its truename—then nothing but oblivion.

Items worn, held, or carried by the creature are likewise obliterated with no save allowed.

Creatures killed with an unname spell are difficult to restore to life (see The Unnamed sidebar).

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're trying to erase from reality.

THE UNNAMED

Returning a creature to life after it has succumbed to an unname spell is difficult to accomplish. Resurrection isn't possible without a body, and the soul has been expunged as well. This spell alters reality itself so that the named creature cannot live; without a truename, its existence would violate the fundamental laws of the universe.

In a 2-hour-long ceremony, a succession of spells needs to be cast. First, you perform a ritual of renaming to create a new personal truename for the creature you're trying to bring back from unnamings (this is an intentional exception to the target described in the ritual of renaming spell). Then a true resurrection spell must be cast to restore the soul (with its new personal truename) and life to the new body.

VESTIGEWACK

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Blackguard 2, cleric 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 20 ft.

Targets: One incorporeal creature or apparition/level in a 20-ft.-radius emanation centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You hold the curved dagger aloft, and as you slice it through the air at the incorporeal creature before you, you speak words of power that remind it of the life it once had, and the pain of its loss.

Clutching a curved blade, you make a downward cutting motion that produces a field of pulsing, unholy, red light around you.

Each incorporeal creature within this light must succeed on a Fortitude save or be wracked with sensations of loss. This effect manifests as a -2 penalty on attack rolls, damage rolls, skill checks, and saves for as long as the creature remains in range, and for 1d4 rounds afterward.

In addition, every corporeal user of pact magic gains a +2 bonus on binding checks made against any vestige within range of this spell.

Focus: An ornate sacrificial dagger or kukri worth 300 gp.

TRANSMUTATION

AUGMENT TRUEFRIEND

Transmutation

Level: Bard 2, cleric 2,

druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched
Duration: 1 minute/level
Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)
With a red flash, your named ally looks slightly more muscular and heavily built.

He seems to quiver with anticipation of coming action.

The spell grants the subject a +2 enhancement bonus to Strength, Dexterity, and Constitution.

All the usual benefits to better modifiers apply: attack rolls, melee damage rolls, hit points, and so on.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're augmenting.

RITUAL OF RENAMING

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 8, druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, T, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: One willing creature with a Intelligence score of 3 or higher

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Repeatedly waving your hand over the subject and repeating both the old and the new personal truename, you magically meld them with the power of your voice until the old name is no more.

When an archrival learns your personal truename, that enemy has a great degree of power over you.

If your personal truename spreads to other hostile forces and factions, you might find yourself uniquely vulnerable to their machinations.

Only a ritual of renaming will give you a new personal truename.

Once complete, the ritual of renaming gives the target a new personal truename that is known to the caster, the target, and everyone in attendance.

Anyone who previously used research techniques (see page 196) to learn the target's personal truename will discover that the old truename doesn't work anymore.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must make a successful Truespeak check to correctly speak both the old personal truename of the creature you're renaming and the new personal truename.

If you fail the check, the spell fizzles and you lose the XP.
XP Cost: 500 XP.

TRUE PRAYER OF THE CHOSEN

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 4, paladin 3

Components: V, S, DF, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

Raising your eyes to the skies, you speak your own truename to your patron deity, asking for protection as your mission takes you into harm's way.

A golden coruscation surrounds you.

True prayer of the chosen grants you a +3 insight bonus on saving throws and to Armor Class.

For the duration of the spell, you are protected by the power of your deity, who gives you divine insight into the threats you're about to face.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak your personal truename.

TRUE PRAYER OF THE FAITHFUL

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 2, paladin 2

Components: V, DF, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One or more creatures, no two of which are more than 30 ft. apart; see text

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Raising your eyes to the skies, you concentrate on a brief prayer using the true language of the universe, using truename power to ask for the favor of your patron deity.

A flashing, brassy mote of energy spins around those you target.

When you cast true prayer of the faithful, you ask your patron deity to give your allies (possibly including yourself) a measure of divine aid.

The subjects of this spell gain a +1 luck bonus on attack rolls, weapon damage rolls, saves, and skill checks.

This spell automatically affects a single target if you succeed on the required Truespeak check.

But the higher your Truespeak check result, the more creatures you can affect (see below).

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak a truename associated with your deity.

You learn this truename when you learn this spell.

It's not your deity's truename, but a term associated with divine assistance.

The Truespeak DC is 20, and you can have the true prayer of the faithful affect one additional creature for every 5 points by which you exceed the Truespeak DC.

In addition, you gain an extra round of duration for every personal truename of a target creature you speak during the casting of the spell; your patron deity is better able to identify and assist your friends if you tell the deity their personal truenames.

WARP TRUENAME

Transmutation

Level: Druid 4,

sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, T

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates, then Will partial; see text

Spell Resistance: Yes

Ululations and nonsense syllables cascade from your mouth as you intentionally mispronounce your enemy's truename.

Your foe's flesh takes on a gelatinous state and starts to fuse together, forming a bloblike figure where your enemy once stood.

This spell functions as polymorph, except that you change the subject into a horrid form as its features melt into only marginally recognizable protoplasm.

The subject becomes an aberration with 10 Strength, 10 Dexterity, and 10 Constitution.

Its new form has a slam attack appropriate for a creature of its size (see Table 5–1 on page 296 of the Monster Manual), a speed of 20 feet, and no other extraordinary or supernatural abilities.

If the spell succeeds, the subject must also make a Will save.

If this second save fails, the creature loses its extraordinary, supernatural, and spell-like abilities, and loses its ability to cast spells (if it had the ability) for the duration of the spell. Regardless of the second save, the subject still retains its class and level (or Hit Dice), as well as all benefits derived therefrom (such as base attack bonus, base save bonuses, and hit points).

It retains any class features (other than spellcasting) that aren't extraordinary, supernatural, or spell-like abilities. The subject has the same limbs it did before the warp truename spell, so it can still manipulate object and use equipment.

The subject can still speak, albeit in a gurgling, pained voice.

Incorporeal or gaseous creatures have immunity to warp truename, and a creature with the shapechanger subtype (such as a lycanthrope or a doppelganger) can revert to its natural form as a standard action.

Truename Component: When you cast this spell, you must correctly speak the personal truename of the creature you're trying to warp.

UNAPPROACHABLE EAST (3.5)

ABJURATION

ABOLISH SHADOWS

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 feet

Area: 30-ft.-radius burst, centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

A burst of dark energy leaps forth from your body and disrupts all shadows in the area of effect.

This has two primary effects:

First, shadow creatures (including shadows, shades, and other monsters or beings of the shadow type) take 1d6 points of damage per caster level, to a maximum of 10d6. Creatures subject to this effect are entitled to a Fortitude saving throw for half damage.

Second, spells of the shadow subschool or the darkness descriptor (including shadow conjurations and shadow evocations) may be dispelled.

Make a dispel check (1d20 + your caster level, maximum +10) against a DC of 11 + the target spell's caster level.

Material Component: A small piece of obsidian.

ILYYKUR'S MANTLE

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

You cloak yourself in a luminous aura that protects you against hostile magic.

The aura has two effects: You gain a luck bonus of +1 per 3 caster levels (maximum +5) on saving throws against spells and spell-like abilities, and you gain electricity resistance 10.

Material Component: An uncut diamond worth at least 50 gp.

WATCHWARE

Abjuration

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Touch

Effect: Object touched

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You create a mystical connection with a single inanimate object.

When that object is damaged, moved, or touched at any later time, you are instantly aware of the fact.

If another creature physically touches the object, you also receive a mental image of the creature, which counts as firsthand knowledge of the creature should you later choose to cast screaming or a similar spell on that creature.

The watchware is activated when the item is disturbed for any reason, whether someone touches it or pokes it with a pole, a cat walks on it, or an earthquake knocks it over.

The watchware functions only once and is then discharged.

Since its components are expensive, most sorcerers and wizards reserve watchware to protect valuable, out-of-the-way items.

A watchware is a magical trap.

A rogue can find a watchware with a successful Search check (DC 25 + spell level, or 30 for watchware) and disarm it with a successful Disable Device check (DC 25 + spell level, or 30 for watchware).

You can designate a password that allows another creature to handle the object without sounding the mental alarm if you so choose.

Material Component: A sprinkling of rare sands and powdered reagents worth at least 500 gp.

DECASTAVE

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 2

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Quarterstaff of force

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You conjure into existence a quarterstaff of force, approximately 8 feet long and 2 inches in diameter. The decastave lasts only so long as you keep it in hand; if you give it to another character or drop it, it vanishes. (You can cast other spells with somatic components by holding the staff in one hand).

You can use the decastave in combat to strike with a melee touch attack, dealing 1d6 points of damage per hit. Since the decastave is made of force, it affects incorporeal and ethereal creatures normally (provided you can see such creatures).

The decastave possesses the thundering weapon ability and deals 1d8 points of bonus sonic damage on a critical hit. Subjects dealt a critical hit by the decastave must also succeed at a Fortitude save (DC 14) or be deafened permanently.

Material Component: A slender wand of duskwood (this material is described in Chapter 6: Magic Items of Magic of Faerûn).

IMPROVED MAGE ARMOR

Conjuration (Creation) [Force]

Level: Sor/Wiz 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You create an invisible but tangible field of force around the subject of the spell.

This provides an armor bonus to AC of +3 + 1 per 2 caster levels, to a maximum of +8 at 10th caster level.

Unlike mundane armor, improved mage armor entails no armor check penalty, arcane spell failure chance, or speed reduction.

Since improved mage armor is made of force, incorporeal creatures can't bypass it the way they do normal armor.

Material Component: A tiny platinum shield worth at least 100 gp.

RECITATION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Clr 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 60 ft.

Area: All allies and foes within a 60-ft.-radius burst centered on you

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

By reciting a sacred passage or declaration, you invoke your deity's blessings upon yourself and your allies while causing confusion and weakness among your enemies.

The spell affects all allies and foes within the spell's area at the moment you cast it.

You and your allies gain a +2 luck bonus on attack rolls and saving throws, or a +3 luck bonus if they worship the same patron deity as you.

Enemies take a -2 penalty on attack rolls and saving throws.

After casting the spell, you are free to take further actions during the spell's duration as you see fit.

Divine Focus: In addition to your holy symbol, this spell requires a sacred text as a divine focus.

SPHERE OF ULTIMATE DESTRUCTION

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Sor/Wiz 9

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: 2-foot-radius sphere

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You conjure a featureless black sphere of nothingness that disintegrates almost anything it touches.

It flies at up to 30 feet per round and attacks the creature or object you indicate.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to strike a creature with the sphere.

The sphere stops moving for the round when you make an attack on a creature or object.

You must actively direct the sphere on your action to move it to a new target; this requires a move-equivalent action on your part.

The sphere winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

If the sphere ends its movement in a square occupied by a creature or object, the target must succeed at a Fortitude save or be subject to a disintegrate effect.

If successful, the creature or object is only partially affected and takes 5d6 points of damage instead.

If the sphere is directed to strike an object or part of an object, it disintegrates the 5-foot cube it occupies.

The sphere may destroy one creature, object, or 5-foot cube of matter per round, provided it is directed to a suitable target.

The sphere of ultimate destruction counts as a disintegrate spell for the purpose of destroying a wall of force (or any other spell or effect specifically affected by a disintegrate spell).

Material Component: A pinch of dust from a disintegrated creature.

ENCHANTMENT

NYBOR'S GENTLE REMINDER

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1 (Red Wizard)

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell is popular with Thayan slave overseers and those wishing to make their servants work a little faster, but the Red Wizards mainly employ it as a combat spell.

The subject suffers agonizing pain for the duration of the spell unless he succeeds on a Fortitude save.

If the subject fails his saving throw, he is dazed for 1 round, and takes a -2 penalty on all attacks, saving throws, and checks while the spell lasts.

Nybor's gentle reminder distracts spellcasters, who must make Concentration checks to cast spells while under its effect (see the Concentration skill description in the Player's Handbook).

Focus: A slender wooden rod at least 1 foot long.

Note: This spell first appeared in Magic of Faerûn.

This version supersedes the one originally printed there.

NYBOR'S STERN REPROOF

Enchantment (Compulsion) [Mind-Affecting]

Level: Sor/Wiz 7 (Red Wizard)

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell causes stabbing pains even greater than those of Nybor's gentle reminder.

The target creature must succeed on a Fortitude save or die instantly.

If he survives, the subject is dazed for 1d4 rounds unless he succeeds on a Will save.

Regardless of whether he succeeds on this second save, the subject takes a -2 penalty on all attacks, saving throws, and checks while the spell lasts.

Nybor's stern reproof distracts spellcasters, who must make Concentration checks to cast spells while under its effects (see the Concentration skill description in the Player's Handbook).

Focus: A slender gold-chased adamantine rod 1 foot long, worth at least 1,000 gp.

Note: This spell first appeared in Magic of Faerûn.

This version supersedes the one originally printed there.

EVOCATION

BALL LIGHTNING

Evocation [Electricity]

Level: Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One or more balls of lightning, up to 1/2 levels

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create one or more 3-foot-diameter balls of lightning that shed light as candles and move under your control. You can deal a number of damage dice (d6) equal to half your caster level (maximum 10d6), divided however you see fit, although no one ball can deal less than 1d6 points of damage.

For example, a 9th-level caster could create one 4d6 lightning ball, two 2d6 balls, four 1d6 balls, or a 2d6 ball and two 1d6 balls.

On the round in which you cast the spell, the lightning balls appear where you wish in the spell's range, and you may direct their movements as a free action.

On following rounds, you must actively direct the lightning balls to move them; otherwise, they stay at rest and damage any creature in the spaces they occupy.

Directing the movement of all existing lightning balls is a move-equivalent action for you.

A lightning ball has a fly speed of 100 feet with perfect maneuverability.

If a lightning ball enters a space with a creature, it stops moving for the round and deals electricity damage equal to the assigned number of dice.

The target of a lightning ball can halve this damage with a successful Reflex save.

A ball winks out if it exceeds the spell's range.

Note: This spell first appeared in Magic of Faerûn.

This version supersedes the one originally printed there.

Material Component: A handful of copper and iron pellets.

FORCE ORB

Evocation [Force]

Level: Nentyar hunter 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One or more creatures or objects, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half or Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

One or more globes of force about 3 inches across streak from your palm at their targets.

You must succeed at a ranged touch attack to hit your target.

The orbs deal a total of 1d6 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d6), divided any way you see fit, but a single orb must deal at least 1d6 points of damage.

You declare the division of damage between targets before making your attack rolls.

A creature struck directly takes the orb's damage.

A successful Fortitude save reduces damage by half.

If you miss, the orb explodes in a 10-foot burst, dealing 2 points per die of damage assigned to that orb.

A successful Reflex save reduces the burst damage by half.

GREENFIRE

Evocation [Acid]

Level: Drd 3, Nentyar hunter 3

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: One 5-ft. cube/level (S)

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Reflex half (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You evoke from the earth an upwelling of virulent green energy, burning any creature in the spell's area for 2d6 points of acid damage plus 1 point per caster level (maximum 2d6 + 10).

Any creature in the affected area when the spell is cast is entitled to a Reflex save for half damage; any creature that enters the area of the spell while the greenfire is still present gets no saving throw.

The greenfire does not harm natural vegetation, ground cover, or plant creatures, if you so desire.

SNILLOC'S SNOWBALL

Evocation [Cold]

Level: Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 0 ft.

Effect: Orb of cold

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

An icy sphere of bitter cold appears in your hand, harming neither you nor your equipment.

You can use the Snilloc's snowball to strike opponents with a melee touch attack, or you can throw the orb as a ranged touch attack (maximum range 120 feet, no range penalty). Either use deals 1d6 points of cold damage plus 1 point per caster level (maximum 1d6+5).

Right after you hurl the icy sphere, another appears in your hand.

You may throw up to one Snilloc's snowball per caster level (maximum five orbs) before exhausting the spell.

Material Component: A small bit of ivory.

NECROMANCY

ANIMATE DREAD WARRIOR

Necromancy [Evil]

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Touch

Target: One humanoid corpse

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You transform the corpse of a skilled warrior into an undead monster under your command.

The corpse in question must be that of a humanoid with at least three levels or Hit Dice and no more Hit Dice than your own, killed within the last tenday.

The body must be substantially whole, although any injury short of dismemberment does not interfere with the spell.

Upon completion of the spell, the subject corpse reanimates as a dread warrior under your command (see the Dread Warrior entry in Chapter 6: Monsters of the East).

The creature serves loyally and obeys your orders to the best of its ability, although a cleric with the ability to command undead can usurp your control with a sufficiently high rebuke undead check.

Upon the caster's death, the dread warrior becomes a free-willed undead creature.

Created twenty years ago by the zulkir of Necromancy, Szass Tam, this spell is found only in the spellbooks of those Red Wizards who served as his apprentices and the apprentices of those apprentices.

Szass Tam has been using this spell to steadily create a vast army of dread warriors.

Material Component: A rusted fragment of a sword blade broken in battle.

XP Cost: 250 XP per HD of the dread warrior created.

BELTYN'S BURNING BLOOD

Necromancy

Level: Nar demonbinder 4, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Saving Throw: Fortitude partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

You infuse a living creature's blood with a hot, corrosive mixture, dealing 1d8 points of acid damage and 1d8 points of fire damage per round.

Each round, on its action, the subject may attempt a Fortitude save to negate that round's damage, but a successful save in one round does not necessarily prevent damage in future rounds.

On any round in which the subject fails its Fortitude save, the pain limits it to a single move-equivalent action in that round.

Beltyn's burning blood does not affect creatures of the construct, elemental, ooze, plant, or undead types.

Material Component: A drop of blood and a pinch of saltpeter.

SINSABUR'S BALEFUL BOLT

Necromancy

Level: Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 5 feet wide to medium range

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex half

Spell Resistance: Yes

You conjure a black bolt of dark energy that begins at your fingertips and crackles out to the maximum range.

The bolt deals temporary Constitution damage and temporary Strength damage to each creature within its area, each equal to 1d3 points + 1 per 4 caster levels (maximum 1d3+3).

Lost ability score points are recovered normally at the rate of 1 point per day.

Constitution loss also causes a reduction in hit points by lowering the victim's Constitution modifier.

(Creatures cannot be reduced to less than 1 hit point per Hit Die by Constitution loss).

This hit-point loss may be fatal to a creature already injured, even if the Constitution loss alone does not kill it. Creatures without Strength scores or Constitution scores are unaffected by this spell.

SOUL SCOUR

Necromancy

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Effect: Living creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous (see text)

Saving Throw: Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Your touch corrupts your victim's very soul, damaging his mental characteristics.

You must make a successful melee touch attack to deliver the spell.

The spell deals 2d6 points of temporary Charisma damage and 1d6 points of temporary Wisdom damage immediately, and another 1d6 points of temporary Charisma damage 1 minute later.

A successful Will save negates each instance of damage.

Soul scour is not a poison and cannot be ameliorated or neutralized by spells that halt poison damage.

Material Component: A pinch of dust from the bones of a lich.

TRANSMUTATION

BLADEBANE

Transmutation

Level: Clr 3, Pal 2, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Weapon touched

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless, object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless, object)

You impart a deadly quality to a single bladed weapon (any slashing weapon) for a short time.

Bladebane confers the bane ability on the weapon touched, against a creature type (and subtype, if necessary) of your choice.

The weapon's enhancement bonus increases by +2 against the appropriate creature type, and it deals +2d6 points of bonus damage to those creatures.

Material Component: A drop of blood and ruby dust worth 500 gp.

FIENDFORM

Transmutation [Evil]

Level: Nar demonbinder 6, Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, M

Duration: 1 minute/level

As polymorph self (see the spell entry in Chapter 11: Spells of the Player's Handbook), except as noted above and as follows.

You may take the form of any fiendish creature, demon, or devil that can be summoned by summon monster I–V.

You cannot assume multiple forms with each use of the spell, but you gain all the creature's extraordinary, spell-like, and supernatural abilities.

Your type changes to "outsider", and spells and effects that harm or ward evil outsiders affect you.

Spells that would banish you to your home plane end this spell and leave you staggered for 1 round per caster level but do not send you to another plane.

Material Component: A bone from any fiendish creature, half-fiendish creature, demon, or devil.

GHORUS TOTH'S MAGNETISM

Transmutation

Level: Sor/Wiz 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Targets: One metallic creature or object

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You fire a brilliant blue ray at a single creature or object within range.

If your ranged touch attack succeeds, you charge the target with an intensely powerful magical magnetism effect.

You can only affect objects made of metal or creatures wearing or carrying metal armor, weapons, or gear.

The magical magnetism generated by Ghorus Toth's magnetism creates a zone of attraction with a radius of 30 feet around the affected creature or object.

Every metallic object entering the zone of attraction is pulled toward the target creature or object by this attractive force, which has an effective Strength score of 10 + the caster's level (maximum 25).

Every round metal creatures or objects remain within the zone of attraction, they must attempt an opposed Strength check against the force.

If an attracted creature wins this contest, it suffers no ill effects this round.

If it fails, it is entangled and drawn 10 feet plus 1 foot for every point by which it failed the opposed Strength check closer to the creature or object at the center of the zone.

Creatures carrying or holding metal objects may choose to release them, in which case the items fly to the creature or object at the center, or hold onto them, in which case they are treated as metal creatures.

Unattended metal objects of 50 pounds or less in the zone of attraction (including items voluntarily released, as well as metallic projectiles fired through the zone) fly with great force and strike the target, dealing 1d6 points of damage per 5 pounds of weight (maximum 10d6).

Objects heavier than 50 pounds are dragged 10 feet closer each round.

Metal creatures or objects that reach the target of Ghorus Toth's magnetism become stuck fast to the target.

(If the target is a metal or metal-armored creature, it is instantly stuck fast to itself by the spell.)

Creatures stuck together this way are considered to be grappled and must first escape the grapple by defeating the attractive force in an opposed Strength check before they can try to move away or take any actions prohibited in a grapple.

Similarly, an object stuck to the target must be wrested away with a Strength check before it can be used.

If a creature or object within the zone of attraction is more than twice as heavy as the target of Ghorus Toth's magnetism, the target is dragged to it instead.

This naturally moves the zone of attraction, which may shift other creatures into or out of the magnetism's range of influence.

Material Components: A small lodestone.

IMPROVED BLINK

Transmutation

Level: Brd 5, Sor/Wiz 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level (D)

Like the 3rd-level arcane spell blink, you flicker back and forth between the Material and Ethereal planes.

However, you are capable of controlling the timing of your blinks and therefore make better use of them.

Blinking by means of this spell has several effects: Physical attacks against you have a 50% miss chance, and the Blind-Fight feat doesn't help the attacker.

If the attack is capable of striking invisible or incorporeal creatures, the miss chance is only 20%.

An attacker who can both see and strike ethereal creatures takes no penalty.

You have no chance of interfering with your own attacks.

Individually targeted spells have a 50% chance to fail against you while blinking, unless your attacker can target invisible, ethereal creatures.

You have no chance of interfering with your own spells.

You take only half damage from area attacks (or full damage from those that extend onto the Ethereal Plane).

While blinking, you strike as an invisible creature (+2 bonus on attack rolls), denying your target any Dexterity bonus to AC.

You take only half damage from falling, since you are subject to gravity only while you are on the Material Plane.

You can ready an action to blink away from a specific enemy attack, physical or magical.

If you do so, the attack misses automatically unless it can also affect ethereal targets.

You move at three-quarters speed, since movement on the Ethereal Plane is at half speed and you spend about half your time there and half your time material.

While blinking, you can step through (but not see through) solid objects.

You do not risk materializing inside a solid object unless you actually end your move inside one, in which case you materialize and are shunted off to the nearest open space. You take 1d6 points of damage per 5 feet traveled in this manner.

Since you spend about half your time on the Ethereal Plane, you can see and even attack ethereal creatures.

You interact with ethereal creatures in roughly the same way you interact with material ones (their attacks have a 50% miss chance against you, and so on).

LOW-LIGHT VISION

Transmutation

Level: Asn 1, Hrp 1, Hth 1, Rgr 1, Sor/Wiz 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You give the target creature low-light vision, the ability to see twice as far as a human in starlight, moonlight, torchlight, and similar conditions of poor illumination.

The target retains the ability to distinguish color and detail under these conditions.

Arcane Material Component: A small candle.

SUPERIOR DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Rgr 4, Sor/Wiz 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains the ability to see in total darkness, with no limitation to the range of vision.

Terrain, distance, and line of sight are the only limitations to the subject's ability to see, and the normal Spot check penalties apply on attempts to descry distant or small objects or creatures.

Darkvision is black and white only but otherwise like normal sight.

Superior darkvision does not grant the target creature the ability to see in magical darkness.

Material Component: A chip of agate.

UNDERDARK (3.5)

ABJURATION

CLARITY OF MIND

Abjuration

Level: Balance 3, blackguard 2, Harper scout 2, paladin 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Living creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You grant the subject a +4 insight bonus on saving throws against all spells with the charm, compulsion, or glamor descriptors.

Clarity of mind also reduces any miss chance the target might have when attacking an opponent that has concealment from a glammer spell (such as blur and displacement) by 10%. Thus, a subject that attacks an opponent protected by a displacement spell suffers only a 40% miss chance, instead of the customary 50%.

ERADICATE EARTH

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 40 feet

Area: 40-ft.-radius burst, centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude half

Spell Resistance: Yes

A burst of force radiates from you, seismically damaging all earth creatures nearby.

Any creature with the earth subtype that is within the area of the spell takes 1d8 points of damage per caster level (maximum 10d8).

Creatures without the earth subtype are unaffected.

Material Component: A small stone.

NODE LOCK

Abjuration [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One earth node

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A node lock spell cast upon an earth node magically “locks” it against others who might wish to use its power.

You can affect an earth node whose class is equal to one-half your caster level or less.

For any caster except you, the node lock adds +15 to each Spellcraft DC associated with the use of the node’s standard powers.

A successful dispel magic breaks the node lock.

Special: You must have the Node Spellcasting feat to cast this spell.

SANCTUARY, MASS

Abjuration

Level: Balance 5

Range: Touch

Targets: One touched creature/2 levels

This spell functions like sanctuary, except that it affects multiple creatures.

WALL OF DISPEL MAGIC

Abjuration

Level: Bard 4, cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Effect: A plane of dispel magic whose area is up to one 10-ft. square/level

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

This spell creates a transparent, permeable barrier. Anyone passing through it becomes the target of a dispel magic effect.

A summoned creature targeted in this way can be dispelled by the effect.

The wall of dispel magic cannot be seen or felt by ordinary means, or even via a see invisibility spell.

Detect magic indicates the presence of the effect, and true seeing reveals both its presence and its purpose.

WALL OF GREATER DISPEL MAGIC

Abjuration

Level: Bard 5, cleric 8, druid 8, sorcerer/wizard 8

This spell functions like wall of dispel magic, except that the effect is that of greater dispel magic.

CONJURATION

CONTAGIOUS FOG

Conjuration (Creation)

Level: Watery Death 7

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: Cloud spreads in a 30-ft. radius, 20 ft. high

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: See text

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell generates a damp miasma of disease-filled fog similar to a fog cloud.

Each round that a creature is within the fog, it must make a Fortitude save or contract a disease equivalent to the shakes (see Disease in the Dungeon Master’s Guide), which strikes immediately (no incubation period).

A creature afflicted with this disease takes 1d8 points of Dexterity damage immediately, and each day that the disease persists, it must make a DC 13 Fortitude save or take another 1d8 points of Dexterity damage.

Like cloudkill, the contagious fog moves away from you at 10 feet per round, rolling along the surface of the ground or water.

(Figure out the cloud’s new spread each round based on its new center, which is 10 feet farther away from the point of origin where you cast the spell).

Because the vapors are heavier than air, they sink to the lowest level of the surface over which they move, pouring down sinkhole openings, and even down through minute cracks.

Contagious fog cannot penetrate liquids, nor can it be cast underwater.

DROWN

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 6, Watery Death 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create water in the lungs of the subject, causing it to begin drowning.

The subject's hit points immediately drop to 0, and it falls unconscious.

In the next round, it loses another hit point (bringing its hp to -1) and is dying.

In the following round, it dies.

(For details on drowning, see the Drowning rule in the Dungeon Master's Guide).

Coughing and other attempts by the subject to physically expel the water from its lungs are useless.

However, another creature can stabilize the subject with a DC 15 Heal check before death.

Undead, constructs, creatures that do not need to breathe, and creatures that can breathe water are unaffected by this spell.

DROWN, MASS

Conjuration (Creation) [Water]

Level: Druid 9, Watery Death 9

Targets: One or more creatures, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like drown, except that it affects multiple creatures.

HAIL OF STONE

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 1

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: Cylinder (5-ft. radius, 40 ft. high)

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a rain of stones that deal damage to creatures and objects they strike.

Make a ranged attack roll (not ranged touch) against every creature and relevant object in the spell's area.

Your bonus for this attack roll is equal to your caster level plus your relevant ability modifier (Intelligence for wizards or Charisma for sorcerers).

A successful hit deals 1d4 points of damage per caster level, to a maximum of 5d4.

Material Component: A piece of jade worth at least 5 gp.

NODE DOOR

Conjuration (Teleportation) [Earth]

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Varies (see text)

Target: You and touched objects or other touched willing creatures weighing up to 50 lb./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None and Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: No and Yes (object)

You instantly transfer yourself from your current earth node to any other earth node you have visited.

You always arrive exactly at the spot desired—whether by simply visualizing the area or by describing your destination (for example, “the earth node that serves the kuo-toa as a secret temple to Blibdoolpoolp”).

After using this spell, you can't take any other actions until your next turn.

If you arrive in an earth node that is already partially occupied by a newly added object, you arrive in the closest clear space in that node.

If the earth node is completely filled or has been destroyed by any means, you bounce to the next closest earth node (determined randomly or by the DM).

Each such “bounce” deals you and any who accompany you 2d6 points of damage.

Special: You must have the Node Spellcasting feat to cast this spell.

NODE GENESIS

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, S, XP

Casting Time: 1 tenday (8 hours/day)

Range: Touch

Effect: One Class 1 earth node with a 20-ft. diameter

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can cast this spell only while you are on or under the surface of the earth.

The spell's energy reroutes local ley lines and telluric currents, precipitating the creation of a Class 1 earth node. The new node is 20 feet in diameter, centered on and emanating from the point touched.

The rough boundary of the new earth node may enclose a hollow space, an area of solid rock, or a combination of materials.

If node genesis is cast on the surface of the earth, at least a portion of the earth node must be contiguous with the natural ground.

You have some leeway in determining the initial shape of your earth node's outer boundary—it doesn't have to be a perfect sphere, though no portion of its volume can be less than 3 cubic feet.

The newly generated earth node retains its Class 1 status for one year.

Thereafter, its diameter increases at a rate of 20 feet per year, until it eventually reaches a diameter equal to 20 feet per caster level you possessed at the time of casting.

When the node's diameter reaches the low end of the range for the next higher class (see Table 4-1), its class increases by +1.

For example, a Class 1 node becomes Class 2 when its diameter reaches 40 feet, and Class 3 when its diameter reaches 120 feet.

Earth nodes you create with this spell are automatically considered node locked by you.

They are otherwise just like natural earth nodes and subject to destruction in the same ways.

XP Cost: 5,000 XP.

Special: You must have the Node Spellcasting feat to cast this spell.

RUSHING WATERS

Conjuration (Summoning) [Water]

Level: Druid 5, Watery Death 4

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Area: 15-ft.-radius spread

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

Cold water gushes in a great wave outward from the point you choose, violently spreading to the limits of the area. This wave attempts a bull rush against each creature in the affected area without provoking attacks of opportunity. For the purpose of the opposed Strength check, the wave is Colossal, has a Strength score of 34, and is considered to be charging and moving with the affected creatures (total bonus +30).

If the wave wins the opposed Strength check, the defender is moved 5 feet directly away from the spell's point of origin, plus an additional 5 feet for every 5 points by which the wave's check result exceeds that of the defender.

Any creature moved 5 or more feet by rushing waters must succeed on a Reflex save or fall prone.

The wave also drenches anything in its area and extinguishes any normal fire as large as a bonfire.

TUNNEL SWALLOW

Conjuration (Creation) [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: Tunnel section up to 20 feet in diameter and up to 50 feet long

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Reflex partial (see text)

Spell Resistance: No

You cause a section of tunnel to flex with peristaltic convulsions, crushing its contents and moving them along its length in the direction you designate.

Each creature and object in the affected tunnel section is crushed for 1d6 points of damage per level (maximum 15d6) and is moved from its former position to a point just outside the affected tunnel section.

A creature that makes a successful Reflex saving throw takes only half damage and is moved halfway from its former position in the tunnel to the designated end of the tunnel section.

When the spell duration expires, the tunnel returns to its former shape and size, with no harm done to its structure. Tunnel swallow affects both worked and natural tunnels, as well as corridors in surface buildings.

Material Component: A lump of chewed vegetable or meat.

VISCID GLOB

Conjuration

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You conjure a 5-foot-diameter glob of incredibly sticky, greenish-gray goo and send it streaking toward the target creature.

Make a ranged touch attack against the target.

If you miss, the glob may strike a nearby square or creature.

Roll 1d8 to determine its direction: 1 is backward toward you, and 2 through 8 are compass points determined by counting squares clockwise around the target square.

Once you have established the direction of the miss, roll 1d4 to determine the number of squares away from the target square that the glob lands.

A Medium or smaller creature struck by the glob must make a successful Reflex save or be instantly stuck in place.

A stuck creature can speak but is otherwise limited to purely mental actions (such as casting spells with no somatic or material components) and attempts to free itself by means of a Strength check or Escape Artist check (DC 20 + caster level for either) made as a full-round action.

A Large or larger creature stuck in the goo can't move from the spot where it is glued, but it can otherwise act normally. The glob dissipates when the spell duration expires.

Until then, it remains sticky, and any creature touching it (for example, a creature attempting to pull out an ally) must make a successful Reflex save or become stuck itself.

A creature stuck by such secondary contact is not trapped as thoroughly as a creature targeted by the glob, however, so the DC for the Strength or Escape Artist check required to get free is reduced by 5.

Material Component: A tiny ball of spider silk.

DIVINATION

LOCATE NODE

Divination [Earth]

Level: Cleric 3, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 1 mile/level (see text)

Area: Circle, centered on you, with a radius of 1 mile/level (see text)

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You sense the direction of any earth node within range. You can choose to locate either the nearest node or a specific node you have visited before.

(In the latter case, the range is 2 miles/level and the area is a circle, centered on you, with a radius of 2 miles/level).

The spell is blocked by even a thin sheet of lead, and it cannot detect nodes protected by a node lock spell.

Arcane/Divine Focus: A pebble found in an earth node.

PORTAL VIEW

Divination (Scrying)

Level: Bard 4, Portal (alternative) 3, sorcerer/wizard 4

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One portal

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Portal view makes a portal transparent from your side only for the duration of the spell.

It does not actually open the portal, so no line of effect is established, but it does enable line of sight.

Portal view does not reveal any of the portal's special properties (such as one-way or creature-only); it only allows creature on your side to view the portal's destination.

Arcane Focus: A glass eye.

EVOCATION

STONE SPHERE

Evocation [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 5

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Effect: One 5-ft.-diameter stone sphere

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Reflex negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You create a smoothly polished, 5-foot-diameter sphere of stone that moves under your control at a speed of 30 feet. The stone sphere has AC 5, hardness 8, and 500 hit points. On the round in which you cast the spell, the stone sphere appears at the spot you designate within the spell's range, and you may direct its movement as a free action. On subsequent rounds, you must actively direct the stone sphere in order to move it; otherwise, it remains motionless.

Directing the movement of the stone sphere in the rounds after its initial appearance requires a move action.

If you move the stone sphere into an enemy creature's square, it deals damage to every creature in that square as follows: 8d6 points to a Medium or smaller creature, 4d6 points to a Large creature, and 2d6 points to a Huge creature.

The sphere cannot roll into any square occupied by a Gargantuan or Colossal creature.

The sphere must stop moving after it rolls over one occupied square, finishing its move in an adjacent square.

If the stone enters a square occupied by a Medium or smaller creature, it can stop there, forcing the target to move to a single adjacent square of its choice (which provokes attacks of opportunity).

Material Component: A smooth sphere of marble 1 inch in diameter.

WORD OF BALANCE

Evocation [Sonic]

Level: Balance 7, druid 7

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None or Will negates (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes

Any lawful good, chaotic good, lawful evil, or chaotic evil creature who hears the word of balance suffers ill effects according to its Hit Dice, as given below, with no saving throw.

These effects are cumulative.

HD	Effect
Equal to caster level	Nauseated
Up to caster level-1	Weakened, nauseated
Up to caster level-5	Paralyzed, weakened, nauseated
Up to caster level-10	Killed

Nauseated: The creature is limited to a single move action for 1 round but can defend itself normally.

Weakened: The creature's Strength score decreases by 2d6 points for 2d4 rounds.

Paralyzed: The creature is paralyzed and helpless (unable to move or act in any way) for 1d10 minutes.

Killed: The creature dies if living or is destroyed if undead.

If you are on your home plane when you cast this spell, every lawful good, chaotic good, lawful evil, and chaotic evil elemental and outsider within the area is instantly banished back to its home plane unless it makes a successful Will saving throw (at a -4 penalty).

Creatures so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours.

The banishment effect occurs whether or not the creatures actually hear the word of balance, though those that do also suffer the appropriate effects (see above).

Creatures whose HD exceed your caster level are unaffected by word of balance.

ILLUSION

REFLECTIVE DISGUISE

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 2, prime Underdark guide 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

A reflective disguise spell causes any intelligent creature viewing you to perceive you as the same species and gender as itself, provided that its size category is no more than one away from your own.

The viewer sees your clothing and equipment as they would normally appear; the spell changes only perceptions of race and gender.

Reflective disguise does not give you any knowledge of the abilities or mannerisms of the reflected form, nor does it alter the perceived tactile (touch), audible (sound), or olfactory (smell) properties of you or your equipment. A creature that interacts with the glamer gets a Will save to recognize it as an illusion.

For example, a creature that touched you and realized that the tactile sensation did not match the visual one would be entitled to such a save.

A creature with the scent ability automatically gets a Will save if you are within its scent range.

Spell resistance also applies to this effect.

REFLECTIVE DISGUISE, MASS

Illusion (Glamer)

Level: Bard 5, prime Underdark guide 4, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Targets: One person/2 levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 12 hours (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell functions like reflective disguise, except you can change the appearance of other creatures as well.

Affected creatures resume their normal appearances if slain.

An unwilling target can negate the spell's effect on itself by making a successful Will save or with spell resistance.

NECROMANCY

DEHYDRATE

Necromancy

Level: Watery Death 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Medium (100 ft. + 10 ft./level)

Target: One living creature

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You afflict the target with a horrible, desiccating curse that deals 1d6 points of Constitution damage, plus 1 additional point of Constitution damage per 3 caster levels, to a maximum of 1d6+5 at 15th level.

Oozes, plants, and creatures with the aquatic subtype are more susceptible to this spell than other targets.

Such a creature takes 1d8 points of Constitution damage, plus 1 additional point of Constitution damage per 3 caster levels, to the same maximum.

MARK OF THE OUTCAST

Necromancy

Level: Blackguard 1, cleric 2, druid 2, Watery Death 2

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell creates an indelible mark on the target's face (or other upward body part, if the subject doesn't have a head). The mark is visible to normal vision, lowlight vision, and darkvision.

The wearer of such a mark takes a -5 circumstance penalty on Bluff and Diplomacy checks and a -2 penalty to Armor Class.

The mark cannot be dispelled, but it can be removed with a break enchantment, limited wish, miracle, remove curse, or wish spell.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE

Necromancy

Level: Balance 9

Components: V

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: 30 ft.

Area: Creatures in a 30-ft.-radius spread centered on you

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

This spell harms or heals creatures within its area based on their alignments and life status, as given in the table below.

The effect does the most harm to those creatures most extreme in alignment and most out of balance with the natural world.

Creature Type	Spell Effect
Living Creatures
LG, CG, LE, CE	Infllict critical wounds
NG, LN, CN, NE	Infllict light wounds
N	Cure critical wounds
Undead Creatures	Heal

TRANSMUTATION

AMORPHOUS FORM

Transmutation

Level: Assassin 3, prime Underdark guide 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Willing corporeal creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject and all its gear become amorphous and oozelike.

This new form is boneless and fluid, enabling the subject to pass through holes or narrow openings as small as 2 inches in diameter.

While amorphous, the subject is immune to poison, polymorphing, and stunning, it cannot be flanked, and it is not subject to critical hits.

It gains a swim speed (if it does not have one already) equal to its land speed.

The subject can remain submerged as long as desired without breathing.

The subject's armor (including natural armor) becomes worthless, though its modifiers for size, Dexterity, and deflection still apply to Armor Class, as do armor bonuses from force effects (for example, from the mage armor spell). While amorphous, the subject can't attack or cast spells that require verbal, somatic, material, or focus components.

(This limitation does not rule out the casting of any spells that the subject may have prepared using the metamagic feats Eschew Materials, Silent Spell, and Still Spell).

The subject loses all supernatural abilities while in amorphous form, and its magic items cease functioning as long as it remains amorphous.

Arcane Material Component: A pinch of gelatin.

BLINDSIGHT

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 2, sorcerer/wizard 2

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

This spell grants the subject the blindsight ability to a range of 30 feet.

(For details, see Blindsight in the DUNGEON MASTER's Guide or Monster Manual).

This spell supersedes the version from Magic of Faerûn.

BURROW

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 3, druid 2, Harper scout 2, prime Underdark guide 2, ranger 2, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject's hands sprout claws as hard as stone.

It can use these claws to burrow through earth, sand, clay, and gravel (but not solid rock), excavating with enough speed to move through the earth at a speed of 10 feet, much like a badger.

The subject can use the claws as weapons that deal 1d6 points of damage.

If its normal unarmed damage is greater than 1d6, the damage does not change.

The subject is considered armed while this spell is in effect.

Arcane Focus: A claw from a burrowing creature.

This spell supersedes the version from Races of Faerûn.

BURROW, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Druid 6, Harper scout 4, prime Underdark guide 4, ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 6

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like burrow, except that it affects multiple creatures.

CAMOUFLAGE

Transmutation

Level: Druid 1, Harper scout 1, ranger 1

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level

You change the coloring of your skin and clothing to match the environment around you.

Throughout the duration of the spell, your coloration changes instantly to match the background of any new environment you enter, with no effort on your part.

This effect grants you a +10 circumstance bonus on Hide checks.

CHANGESTONES

Transmutation

Level: Druid 7, sorcerer/wizard 7

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 full-round action

Range: Touch

Target: Prepared stones touched

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

When you place specially prepared stones on the ground and speak a command to conclude the casting of this spell, the stones transform into creatures that look and fight just like liths (see Chapter 6).

These stone-born creatures are not true liths, however; they cannot converse with actual liths or use any of a lith's psionic powers.

These stone-born liths defend you and obey any spoken commands.

When reduced to 0 or fewer hit points, a stone-born lith crumbles to powder, and the prepared stone used to create it is destroyed.

Otherwise, the stone-born liths revert to prepared stones when the duration of the spell expires, and these stones can be used as the focus for another casting of the spell.

The stone-born liths are always at full strength when created, despite any damage they may have taken the last time they appeared.

You can prepare up to one stone per four caster levels, to a maximum of five stones at 20th level.

A stone can remain prepared indefinitely; the spell isn't actually cast until you complete it by changing the stone into a lith.

Focus: The requisite number of stones, which must be specially prepared.
The materials for polishing and smoothing each stone cost 200 gp.
Once the stones are prepared, you must perform a rite of purification that requires one day per stone.
You cannot adventure or engage in any other strenuous activity during the purification process.

DARKVISION, MASS

Transmutation

Level: Harper scout 4, prime Underdark guide 4, ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 6

Targets: One creature/level, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

This spell functions like darkvision, except that it affects multiple creatures.

DEEPER DARKVISION

Transmutation

Level: Prime Underdark guide 4, ranger 4, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The subject gains the ability to see 60 feet in total darkness and even magical darkness (such as might be created by a blacklight or deeper darkness spell).

Deeper darkvision is black and white only but otherwise similar to normal sight.

Material Component: A pinch of dried carrot or an agate.

EXCAVATE

Transmutation

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Effect: One 5-ft.-by-8-ft. opening, 1 ft./level deep

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

As with passwall, you create a passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not through metal or other harder materials.

If the wall's thickness is more than 1 foot per caster level, then a single excavate spell simply makes a niche or short tunnel with the stated dimensions.

Several excavate spells can be used in succession to breach very thick walls by forming a continuing passage.

Unlike passwall, excavate is an instantaneous effect that does not end and cannot be dispelled; any passage it creates is permanent.

Material Component: A pinch of excavated earth.

MINERALIZE WARRIOR

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M, XP

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Target: One humanoid

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You infuse a willing humanoid with minerals and an elemental spirit of earth.

The subject may have no more Hit Dice than you do, and it must be restrained in a coffinlike enclosure of stone for the duration of the casting.

(Thus, you cannot be the subject of your own spell).

Upon completion of the spell, the subject is shot through with minerals and gains the mineral warrior template (see Chapter 6).

The minerals give its body the look of a petrified creature, though it retains its normal freedom of movement.

The newly created mineral warrior is under compulsion to serve you for a year and a day, after which time it is free to go its own way.

No matter how many times you use this spell or other spells that grant you control of creatures with the earth subtype, you can control only 2 Hit Dice worth of mineral warriors per caster level.

If you try to control mineral warriors in excess of your limit, you gain control of the new creatures normally, but some of the ones from previous castings are released from their compulsion until your total controlled mineral warriors is equal to or below your limit.

(You choose the specific creatures that are released).

Material Component: Gemstones and other expensive minerals worth at least 500 gp per HD of the mineral warrior created.

XP Cost: 250 XP per HD of the mineral warrior created.

PORTAL BARRICADE

Transmutation

Level: Portal (alternative) 5

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Close (25 ft + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One portal

Duration: 1 hour/level (D)

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

Portal barricade temporarily closes a portal and prevents it from functioning for the duration of the spell.

Knock spells, chimes of opening, and similar effects cannot end or suppress a portal barricade, though dispel magic can negate it.

PORTAL REFORMAT

Transmutation

Level: Portal (alternative) 8

Components: V, S, DF, XP

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One portal

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A portal reformat spell permanently removes or adds one or more keys to a portal (see Portals in Chapter 2 of the FORGOTTEN REALMS Campaign Setting).

The caster must have studied the portal with the analyze portal spell (or some similar means) and must know its properties before he can add or remove any keys.

Removing a Key: Removing a key from a portal changes it from a portal activated only by that specific key to either a portal that cannot be activated at all or a portal that can be activated by any creature (caster's choice).

If the key controlled the behavior of the portal, the caster can decide which behavior to remove.

For example, in the case of a variable portal that leads to one destination if activated by a drow and another destination if activated by any other creature, the caster could remove either destination, making it a portal that sends any other creature to one destination or a drow to one destination.

Adding a Key: You can add a key to an existing portal to prevent it from being activated unless the creature attempting to activate it has the key.

If you designate a specific object or type of object as the key, you must have that object on hand for the casting of the spell.

You can also add a key that changes the behavior of a variable portal, if you so choose.

For example, if a variable portal formerly operated one way for drow and another way for all other creatures, you could add a key that is nearly impossible to obtain for the "all other creatures" function, effectively changing the portal into a drow-only portal.

XP Cost: 250 XP.

PORTAL STABILIZATION

Transmutation

Level: Portal (alternative) 1

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels).

Target: One portal

Duration: 1 minute/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You temporarily stabilize a malfunctioning portal, making it safer for use.

Any time the portal is activated during the duration of this spell (or immediately, if it is continuously active), add +30% to the required roll on Table 2–2: Portal Malfunction in the FORGOTTEN REALMS Campaign Setting.

PORTAL-TO-PORTAL REDIRECT

Transmutation

Level: Portal (alternative) 6

Components: V, S, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One portal

Duration: 1 hour/level

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

A portal-to-portal redirect spell changes the destination of the portal on which it is cast for the duration of the spell.

The caster may choose any existing portal through which she has traveled as the new, temporary destination.

This spell does not change any of the portal's special properties (such as one-way or creature-only).

SPIDERSKIN

Transmutation

Level: Druid 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 10 minutes/level

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Spiderskin makes the subject's skin tougher and more like a carapace.

The spell grants the recipient a +1 enhancement bonus to its existing natural armor bonus, a +1 racial bonus on saves against poison, and a +1 racial bonus on Hide checks.

Each of these bonuses increases by 1 for every three caster levels above 3rd, for a maximum of +5 at caster level 12th.

The enhancement bonus provided by spiderskin stacks with the target's natural armor bonus, but not with other enhancement bonuses to natural armor.

A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0, much as a character wearing only normal clothing has an armor bonus of +0.

Material Component: A piece of a spider.

STICK

Transmutation

Level: Bard 0, prime Underdark guide 1, sorcerer/wizard 0

Components: V, S, M

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Nonmagical, unattended object weighing up to 5 lb.

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates (object)

Spell Resistance: Yes (object)

Stick affixes one item weighing up to 5 pounds to another, heavier item.

The two items can be separated with even a small amount of force, such as a wind stronger than 10 mph, a mage hand or unseen servant spell, or a move action by any corporeal creature (which provokes attacks of opportunity).

Material Component: A bit of dried glue.

STONE METAMORPHOSIS

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 4, druid 4, sorcerer/wizard 6

Components: V, S, M/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Stone object touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 1 cu. ft./level

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Spell Resistance: No

You can change an existing piece of rock to another type of rock.

For instance, you can make crumblestone into granite, substantially strengthening it.

(See Chapter 7 for more information on types of stone).

Precious and semiprecious gems cannot be manufactured with this spell, and its effect does not change the monetary value of the affected stone object.

Arcane Material Component: A grain of talc and a chip of obsidian.

STONE METAMORPHOSIS, GREATER

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 6, druid 6, sorcerer/wizard 8

Target: Stone or stone objects touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 10 cu. ft./level

This spell functions like stone metamorphosis, except as noted.

STONE SHAPE, GREATER

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Cleric 5, druid 5, sorcerer/wizard 7

Target: Stone or stone objects touched, up to 10 cu. ft. + 10 cu. ft./level

This spell functions like stone shape, except that it affects a much larger area.

TREMORSENSE

Transmutation

Level: Harper scout 3, ranger 3, sorcerer/wizard 3

Components: V, S, F/DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 10 minutes/level (D)

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

You can automatically pinpoint the location of any object or creature within 30 feet that is in contact with the ground.

Arcane Focus: A fleck of skin from a creature that has tremorsense.

UNDERMASTER

Transmutation [Earth]

Level: Druid 9, sorcerer/wizard 9

Components: V, XP

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Personal

Target: You

Duration: 1 round/level

You take up the mantle of the earth, gaining power over it as long as you stand upon or beneath its surface.

While energized with the awesome power of this spell, you may choose a spell from those listed below once per round and use it as a spell-like ability.

Using a spell in this way requires a standard action, even if the spell would normally have a longer casting time (such as move earth).

The spells granted by undermaster are *burrow, earthquake, *excavate, flesh to stone, meld into stone, move earth, reverse gravity, soften earth and stone, statue, stone shape, *stone sphere, stone tell, stone to flesh, transmute mud to rock, transmute rock to mud, and wall of stone.

XP Cost: 1,000 XP.

* New spell described in this chapter.

UNEARTHED ARCANA (3.5)

EVOCATION

AUSPICIOUS ODDS

Evocation

Level: Luck 3

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Creature touched

Duration: 1 minute/level; see text

Saving Throw: Will negates (harmless)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

Whenever making an attack roll, saving throw, ability check, or skill check, the subject rolls 4d6 and drops the lowest single die roll from the total rather than rolling 3d6. If, on a single roll, all four die results are 1s, the spell immediately ends.

Material Component: A copper piece.

AUSPICIOUS ODDS, MASS

Evocation

Level: Luck 5

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature/three levels, no two of which can be more than 30 ft. apart

Duration: 1 round/level; see text

As auspicious odds, except that this spell affects multiple targets and the duration is shorter.

If, on a single roll, all four die results are 1s, the spell immediately ends for that subject only, unless it's the caster, in which case it ends for everyone.

WEAPONS OF LEGACY (3.5)

NECROMANCY

SEVER LEGACY

Necromancy

Level: Sorcerer/wizard 8, wu jen 8

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: Permanent

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You permanently disrupt the bond between the target creature and its legacy item (or items).

The target is treated as if it had not performed any of the legacy rituals for its item or items.

It loses all of the following feats it has gained for all of its legacy items: Greater Legacy, Least Legacy, Lesser Legacy.

If the target's Hit Dice total exceeds your caster level, the target adds the difference as a bonus on its Will save to negate the effect.

Any creature that successfully saves against this spell cannot be affected by it again for 24 hours.

The target does not regain any of the personal costs paid to gain access to legacy abilities.

It can regain access to its item's legacy abilities by performing the requisite rituals again.

In this case, it does not pay again any personal costs that it has already paid.

Other than by again performing the legacy rituals to regain lost feats, the effect of this spell can be negated only by miracle or wish.

SUPPRESS LEGACY

Necromancy

Level: Hexblade 4, sorcerer/wizard 5, wu jen 5

Components: V, S

Casting Time: 1 round

Range: Close (25 ft. + 5 ft./2 levels)

Target: One creature

Duration: 1 round/level

Saving Throw: Will negates

Spell Resistance: Yes

You temporarily disrupt the bond between the target creature and a single legacy item it possesses.

The target loses access to all legacy abilities granted by that item.

For the duration of the spell, it cannot activate any of the item's legacy abilities, nor do any continuous effects of the legacy item grant any benefit to the target.

If the target has more than one legacy item, determine randomly which one is affected.

This effect cannot be dispelled, but it can be negated by break enchantment, remove curse, or any other effect that removes a curse.

TRANSMUTATION

REVITALIZE LEGACY, GREATER

Transmutation

Level: Cleric 9, druid 9, shugenja 9, sorcerer/wizard 9, wu jen 9

This spell functions like least revitalize legacy, except that you regain one daily use of a chosen greater legacy ability.

REVITALIZE LEGACY, LEAST

Transmutation

Level: Bard 3, cleric 3, druid 3, paladin 3, ranger 3, shugenja 3, sorcerer/wizard 3, wu jen 3

Components: V, S, F

Casting Time: 1 standard action

Range: Touch

Target: Your legacy item; see text

Duration: 1 hour/level or until expended

Saving Throw: None

Power Resistance: No

Choose one of your legacy item's least legacy abilities with a daily use limit.

You regain one daily use of the chosen ability.

This use must be expended within the spell's duration, or it is lost.

If all daily uses of all least legacy abilities of the item are still available, this spell has no effect (that is, it can't increase the number of available daily uses above the normal maximum).

No legacy item can be affected by this spell more than once in a 24-hour period.

Focus: Your legacy item, which you must be holding, wearing, or wielding.

REVITALIZE LEGACY, LESSER

Transmutation

Level: Bard 5, cleric 5, druid 5, shugenja 5, sorcerer/wizard 5, wu jen 5

This spell functions like least revitalize legacy, except that you regain one daily use of a chosen lesser ability.

UTTERANCES

TOME OF MAGIC (3.5)

LEXICON OF THE EVOLVING MIND

ACCELERATED ATTACK

Level: 3

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your utterance allows your target to move quickly through the crowded battlefield, striking and darting away before attacks can be reciprocated.

Images of the target in action persist for a few seconds after the target has gone.

The target gains the use of the Spring Attack feat, even if he does not meet the prerequisites.

As the target moves, he leaves a ghostly, translucent "snapshot" of himself in each square he travels through; the images disappear after a second or so.

Reverse: A spellcaster you target gains the ability to cast a spell quickly while moving.

The target can make a special Concentration check (DC 20 + spell level) when casting a spell.

If the check succeeds, he can cast the spell and move up to his speed as a single standard action.

(The target can't use this ability to cast a spell that takes longer than 1 standard action to cast).

If the check fails, the target loses the spell, just as if he had failed a Concentration check to cast the spell defensively.

As with the standard version of the utterance, the target leaves illusory afterimages behind him that fade after a second or two.

The target still provokes attacks of opportunity for casting spells from any creatures that threatened him at any point of his movement.

He can cast defensively while under the effect of this utterance, but doing so increases the Concentration DC to 25 + spell level.

ARCHER'S EYE

Level: 2

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: With a few words of Truespeech, you allow your target to strike true with her ranged attacks.

Your target's ranged attacks ignore penalties for concealment because her aim sharpens to focus on the unconcealed parts of her foe.

Reverse: Your utterance wards an ally from harm, preventing the arrows of your enemies from finding their mark.

This utterance duplicates the effect of a protection from arrows spell (PH 266) for the target; projectiles fall out of the air suddenly rather than striking her.

BREATH OF CLEANSING

Level: 4

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Fortitude negates (reverse)

Normal: With a word, magical breath passes from your mouth to another creature afflicted with harmful magic, granting him another chance to resist.

Your utterance fills your target with a breath of living magic, granting him the ability to make a second attempt to save against an ongoing spell, spell-like ability, or supernatural ability.

This save is made at the same DC.

If the subject succeeds on the saving throw on the second attempt, the effect ends immediately.

Breath of cleansing never restores hit points or ability score damage, but it does eliminate any conditions, such as shaken, fatigued, or nauseated, that were caused by the spell, spell-like ability, or supernatural ability.

The breath of cleansing is magical and thus affects even creatures that don't ordinarily breathe.

Reverse: This gurgling word sounds like feelings of illness in your target.

The reversed utterance fills your target with caustic, toxic air.

The target of this utterance must make a successful Fortitude save or be nauseated (DMG 301).

BREATH OF RECOVERY

Level: 6

Duration: Instantaneous (normal) or 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Fortitude negates (reverse)

Normal: You speak a word of purity in the language of Truespeech, reminding the universe of an ally's natural state. The ally breathes a golden mist and is restored.

This utterance, more powerful than cleansing breath, immediately ends any and all of the following adverse conditions affecting the target: ability damage, blinded, confused, dazed, dazzled, deafened, diseased, exhausted, fatigued, feebleminded, insanity, nauseated, sickened, stunned, and poisoned.

The target exhales a shimmering, golden puff of breath as the adverse conditions disappear.

Reverse: With this utterance, your words of power roll over your target's body, which stiffens into rigidity.

A reversed breath of recovery utterance freezes the life energy of the target, rendering action impossible.

The target must make a successful Fortitude save or be paralyzed (DMG 301), emitting wisps of black smoke until the effect ends.

CASTER LENS

Level: 4

Duration: 3 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your utterance creates an intangible lens that improves your target's potency and aptitude with magic.

Your target's caster level or manifester level increases by 2 for the duration of this utterance due to a nearly transparent, intangible vertical disk that appears in front of her.

Each spell she casts becomes stronger as it passes through the lens.

This utterance does not affect spells per day or spells known.

If the target has multiple spellcasting or manifesting classes, the bonus applies to all of them.

Reverse: The reverse of this utterance impedes the flow of magical energy through your enemy, inhibiting its ability to cast spells.

Your target's caster level or manifester level decreases by 2 for the duration of this utterance due to an intangible, nearly transparent prism that floats in front of it and dissipates some of its spell energy.

This utterance does not affect spells per day or spells known.

If the target has multiple spellcasting or manifesting classes, the penalty applies to all of them.

CONFOUNDING RESISTANCE

Level: 4

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your target becomes more mobile, able to entirely avoid effects that might otherwise have some dire consequence.

You grant your target the ability to avoid harmful effects.

If the target makes a successful save against an attack that normally would have a lesser effect on a successful save (such as Reflex save against a breath weapon for half damage or a spell with a saving throw entry of Will half or Fortitude partial), he instead negates the effect.

An unconscious or sleeping target does not gain the benefit of this ability.

Reverse: Your utterance strips your target of its ability to evade harm.

You make your target more vulnerable to harmful effects.

If your target has improved evasion, you reduce its effectiveness to evasion.

If your target does not have improved evasion, but has evasion, you suppress the ability.

If your target has neither improved evasion nor evasion, it takes a -2 penalty on saving throws for the duration of the utterance.

DEFENSIVE EDGE

Level: 1

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You grant a greater awareness of foes in the area, increasing an ally's ability to protect herself.

Your target periodically receives glimpses of future blows struck by enemies, giving her the chance to get out of the way or interpose a shield.

This utterance grants your target a +1 bonus to Armor Class.

Reverse: Your dire whispers seep into your foe's mind, disrupting its ability to defend itself.

The reversed form of the utterance also provides premonitions of future attacks and the paths of future blows—but those premonitions are misleading or false. Your target takes a -1 penalty to Armor Class.

ELDRITCH ATTRACTION

Level: 5

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: Will negates

Normal: The universe responds to your words by forcing your target closer to you, pulled inexorably by a sapphire cord.

You move your target toward you up to 40 feet along an intangible blue tether that connects the two of you.

You can't move the target into a space that is occupied by an ally, an enemy, or a solid object.

You can draw a flying creature closer to you, but you cannot make a creature on the ground fly.

The Truespeak DC of this utterance increases by 2 for every size category the target is larger than Medium.

This movement provokes attacks of opportunity

Reverse: Your target is repelled, forced away by your command of Truespeech.

You move your target away from you up to 40 feet with an almost fluid torrent of intangible energy.

You can't move the target into a space that is occupied by an ally, an enemy, or a solid object.

You can push an airborne flying creature away from you, but you cannot make a creature on the ground fly.

The DC of this utterance increases by 2 for every size category the target is larger than Medium.

This movement provokes attacks of opportunity.

ENERGY NEGATION

Level: 3

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: The air crackles with your words as you protect your target from energy.

A nimbus of silvery power surrounds your target, absorbing a specific energy type and hampering it from reaching the target.

This utterance grants your target resistance 10 to one type of energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic).

Reverse: The flesh and skin of an enemy are imbued with energy, causing it great pain and discomfort.

When you speak the reverse of this utterance, you imbue your target's skin with energy: acid, cold, electricity, or fire.

The subject appears to be surrounded with a nimbus of the selected energy type, and takes 2d6 points of damage from the utterance each round.

ENERGY NEGATION, GREATER

Level: 5

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your utterance renders your target impervious to harm from one type of energy.

A nimbus of golden power surrounds your target, granting him immunity to one type of energy.

Reverse: You wreathes your ally in energy that lashes out at those who strike him in battle.

This utterance wreathes your target in a type of energy chosen by you when you speak this utterance (acid, cold, electricity, or fire).

This energy causes damage to each creature that makes a successful melee attack against the subject of the utterance.

Any creature that damages the subject with its body or a handheld weapon deals normal damage, but at the same time, the attacker takes 20 points of energy damage. Creatures wielding weapons with exceptional reach, such as longspears, are not subject to this damage if they attack the subject.

ESSENCE OF LIFESPARK

Level: 5

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Normal: With soothing words, you revitalize an ally and restore some of his lost vitality.

The negative level, that afflicted him spirals upward fading as it rises.

This utterance dispels one negative level and restores one experience level to a creature who has had a level drained. As you dispel the negative level, a shadowy form detaches from your target and drifts upward before dissipating into nothingness.

The drained level is restored only if the time since the creature lost the level is equal to or less than one day per truenamer level.

Reverse: You instruct the universe to sap some of the life force of a target creature.

You utter a dark word of power that suppresses the life force of a creature.

A shadowy version of your target appears a few feet away, then rushes inward, incorporating itself into your target's body.

The target gains one negative level, giving it a -1 penalty on attack rolls, saving throws, skill checks, ability checks, and effective level (for determining the power, duration, DC, and other details of spells or special abilities).

Additionally, a spellcaster loses one spell or spell slot from her highest available level.

Negative levels stack.

ETHER REFORGED

Level: 6

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: No

Normal: With this utterance, creatures of the ethereal world become as solid as the earth to one of your allies.

You enable your target to gain full benefit from its armor, weapons, spells, and abilities against both corporeal and incorporeal creatures.

Your target looks no different to corporeal observers on the Material Plane, but incorporeal observers and creatures on the Ethereal Plane see her glow slightly and in sharp relief uncommon to creatures and items on the Ethereal Plane.

Reverse: One of your allies slips into the space between worlds and leaps onto the Ethereal Plane.

This reversed utterance renders the target ethereal, as the ethereal jaunt spell (PH 227).

HIDDEN TRUTH

Level: 2

Duration: Instantaneous (normal) or 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your words allow your target to tap into a reserve of knowledge.

You grant the target a +10 bonus on a single Knowledge check and enable her to use the skill, even if untrained.

If the target has bardic knowledge, lore, or a similar class feature, this bonus can apply to that check instead.

Reverse: Your target's words ring true thanks to this utterance—even if they actually are not.

Your target gains a +10 bonus on a single Bluff check made before the duration of the utterance expires.

INCARNATION OF ANGELS

Level: 3

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your words reach the realms of heaven and invest your target with some of their silver grace and golden might.

The target gains the celestial creature template (MM 31). Her skin takes on a silvery sheen and a golden aura surrounds her.

The smite ability granted by the template is usable by the target only once per day, no matter how many times she might be the subject of this utterance.

Reverse: With the reverse of this utterance.

you instead delve into the depths of hell to grant your target the cunning and strength of fiends.

The target gains the fiendish creature template (MM 107), complete with reddish skin and small horns on her forehead.

The smite ability granted by the template is usable by the target only once per day, no matter how many times she might be the subject of this utterance.

INERTIA SURGE

Level: 1

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your words free your target from many impediments, allowing her to slip from any constraints.

You grant the target to act normally regardless of magical effects that impede movement as if he were affected by a freedom of movement spell (PH 233).

This effect occurs automatically as soon as the utterance is spoken and lasts for 1 round.

Impediments magically part or otherwise move to let your target pass, then return to normal in his wake.

Reverse: Your words cause black tentacles to grow from the ground and clutch at the feet of your enemy, preventing it from moving anywhere.

A black tangle of wriggling force tendrils roots your target in place, rendering it unable to move.

It can take actions normally; it just can't move from the space it currently occupies.

KNIGHT'S PUISSANCE

Level: 1

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your words show your ally a way to strike more accurately.

Your target gains a +2 bonus on attack rolls as unseen forces guide his weapon to its target.

Reverse: By speaking the reverse of this utterance, you impede an enemy's ability to strike.

Unseen forces nudge your target's blows off course.

Your target takes a -2 penalty on attack rolls.

KNIGHT'S PUISSANCE, GREATER

Level: 6

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: The blows of your target fall more surely and strike more soundly after you speak this utterance.

Your target receives forceful guidance on each attack, gaining a +5 bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls.

Reverse: By reversing the words of this utterance, you significantly reduce your target's effectiveness in battle.

Your target takes a -5 bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls, as its attacks are nudged forcefully away from their intended target.

MAGIC CONTRACTION

Level: 4

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: With this utterance of protection, you make your target resilient against magical effects.

The target gains spell resistance equal to 11 + your truenamer level.

As a spell fails to overcome the target's spell resistance, its visible effect shrinks into nothingness over the course of a few seconds.

Reverse: A string of complex syllables allows you to enhance the power of an ally's spells for a short time.

You grant your target the ability to apply the effect of the Empower Spell feat (PH 93) to any spell she casts for the duration of the utterance without increasing the level of the spell or specially preparing it ahead of time.

MORALE BOOST

Level: 4

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: Your utterance calms the heart of your target, filling her with resolution and peace.

You call upon the courage of your target, striking away her feelings of terror.

This utterance functions as the remove fear spell (PH 271).

Your target can hear the calming murmur of your Truespeech throughout the utterance's duration.

Reverse: Your words evoke feelings of terror, dread, and awe in your target.

Your target becomes frightened (DMG 301) by the susurrant Truespeech being whispered in its ear.

The frightening whispers persist throughout the reversed utterance's duration.

MYSTIC RAMPART

Level: 6

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: With a complex string of syllables, an intangible tower superimposes itself over your ally, greatly enhancing his ability to protect himself.

You grant your target damage reduction 5/- and a +5 bonus on saving throws as your utterance superimposes a ghostly tower or castle over his form.

The tower is just barely visible and doesn't obscure or conceal anything behind it.

Reverse: You speak and your target becomes vulnerable.

The reversed utterance superimposes a crumbling, ruined tower over your target, which takes a -5 penalty to Armor Class and on saving throws for the utterance of the duration.

PERCEIVE THE UNSEEN

Level: 2

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your ally gains a sixth sense about where nearby enemies are.

When you speak this utterance, the target gains a greater sense of where his enemies are: granting him the use of the Blind-Fight feat (PH 89).

The target's perceptions automatically focus on the general area of unseen enemies; this doesn't guarantee that the target finds them, but makes it much more likely.

Reverse: The reverse of this utterance confounds your foes, preventing them from precisely locating an ally's position.

With the reverse of perceive the unseen, you make the target of the utterance more difficult to track in battle.

Your target's enemies find themselves instinctively glancing away from him, even when they know they need to be focusing their attention there.

This effectively gives the target concealment (PH 152).

PRETERNATURAL CLARITY

Level: 5

Duration: 5 rounds or until discharged (normal), or 5 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: You speak and sharpen your ally's mind with an awareness of all that is and all that might be.

Once during the duration of this utterance, your target can choose to use its effect.

This word grants the subject a +5 insight bonus on any single attack roll, opposed ability or skill check, or saving throw.

When your target uses the insight bonus, those within 10 feet of her can hear an echo of your original utterance, even if you're no longer present.

Activating the effect is an immediate action.

The target can choose to apply the bonus after she has rolled the d20, but before the Dungeon Master reveals the result of the check.

Reverse: At your command, the universe temporarily becomes incomprehensible to your target.

Your reversed utterance echoes in the ears of your target and can be heard as a faint murmur by anyone within 10 feet.

This reversed utterance causes the target to become confused, as the confusion spell (PH 212).

SEEK THE SKY

Level: 3

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Gravity no longer applies to your ally, as she gains the ability to fly before a ribbon of red energy.

The target of the flight utterance can fly, as the fly spell (PH 232).

Your target leaves a trail of crackling red bolts in her wake.

Reverse: At your command, your target loses its ability to soar through the air and begins to descend toward the earth rapidly.

With this word, you render a flying creature unable to fly, no matter how much it flaps its wings or strains upward.

If it is already flying, the subject floats downward 60 feet per round for the duration of the utterance.

If it reaches the ground in that amount of time, it lands safely, and cannot fly for the duration of the utterance.

If the target is not flying, it cannot attempt to fly for the duration of the utterance.

SEEK THE SKY, GREATER

Level: 5

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You surround an ally in red motive energy, granting him the ability to fly like the wind.

The target can fly, as the fly spell (PH 232) except he gains a fly speed of 120 feet with perfect maneuverability.

Crackling red energy surrounds your target, and powerful swirls of wind follow in his wake.

Reverse: At your words, the very air rejects your target, causing it to plummet to the ground.

With this word, you render a flying creature unable to fly.

The subject immediately plummets downward, taking 1d6 points of falling damage for every 10 feet it drops.

It can make Jump and Tumble checks normally to attempt to land softly.

SENSORY FOCUS

Level: 5

Duration: 1 round (normal) or 3 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Fortitude negates (reverse)

Normal: Your target can pierce the veil of deception and see everything as it truly is.

You grant your target sharper senses, the combination of which are equivalent to blindsight (MM 306) and the effect of the true seeing spell (PH 296).

Reverse: Your words strip away your target's ability to see or hear.

With this reversed utterance, you send your target a riot of swirling sound and flashing color, rendering it unable to perceive the outside world.

Your target is both blinded and deafened (DMG 300).

SILENT CASTER

Level: 2

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: Your ally can cast spells without making a sound, the verbal component instead appearing as sigils of power.

You grant your target the ability to apply the effect of the Silent Spell feat (PH 100) to any spell she casts without increasing the level of the spell or specially preparing it ahead of time.

Glowing runes appear above your target's head that take the place of the verbal component of the spell.

Reverse: An enemy creature is unable to speak or make a peep, its vocal cords completely stilled.

You silence your target, making it incapable of producing sound, conversing, or using spells with verbal components. It automatically succeeds on Move Silently checks.

SINGULAR MIND

Level: 6

Duration: Instantaneous (normal) or concentration, up to 5 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: With a word, you liberate your target from all foreign influence, freeing her mind.

Any enchantments or curses are converted to runic truespeech and fade harmlessly away.

This utterance restores your target to her natural state as glowing runic letters briefly appear above her head.

It frees the subject from enchantments, curses, and possession.

If the spell or effect is one that cannot be dispelled by dispel magic, singular mind works only if the truespeaker's level is greater than that of the original caster.

Reverse: Your words crawl into the mind of your enemy, allowing you control of your foe's body as if it were your puppet.

This utterance duplicates the effect of a dominate monster spell (PH 224), except that to maintain domination, you must spend a standard action to concentrate and direct the creature's actions.

Runic letters appear above your target's head, but only you can see them.

They change shape with each new command you issue.

SPEED OF THE ZEPHYR

Level: 2

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You urge your ally on to greater speed with this utterance, enabling him to sprint across treacherous surfaces or even scale sheer walls.

Your target's base speed increases by 20 feet as his feet glow with an amber light.

In addition, he can adjust his body's equilibrium so that he can walk on water, quicksand, snow, or even a spider's web without sinking or breaking through (this effect does not confer any resistance to particularly sticky webs).

In addition, the target can take part of one of its move actions to traverse a wall or other relatively smooth vertical surface if it begins and ends its move on a horizontal surface.

The height it can achieve on the wall is limited only by this movement restriction.

If it does not end its move on a horizontal surface, it falls prone, taking falling damage as appropriate for its distance above the ground.

Treat the wall as a normal floor for the purpose of measuring movement. Passing from floor to wall or wall to floor costs no movement; the target can change surfaces freely. Opponents on the ground can make attacks of opportunity as the target moves up the wall.

Reverse: The target of this utterance cannot move as quickly as it had just a moment before.

Your target's base speed is reduced by 10 feet, as its feet seem to stick to the ground.

SPEED OF THE ZEPHYR, GREATER

Level: 3

Duration: 3 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your ally's movements are quicker, enhancing his offensive and defensive capabilities.

This utterance duplicates the effect of a haste spell (PH 239) for one target, who is limned with an amber light.

Reverse: When you speak this utterance, your target moves as though through molasses.

This utterance duplicates the effect of a slow spell (PH 280) for one target.

SPELL REBIRTH

Level: 4

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You briefly unwind time to restore lost magic when you speak this utterance.

With this utterance, you restore an effect that has just been dispelled or dismissed within the last round.

Provided that it had duration remaining, it resumes immediately with all its former attributes.

Reverse: Your words strip away a magical effect from your target.

This utterance dispels the spell with the highest caster level affecting the target.

STRIKE OF MIGHT

Level: 2

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You tap into an ally's damage potential, augmenting her combat abilities substantially.

Your target's single next weapon damage roll (if it is made before the end of the next round) deals an additional 10 points of damage as it explodes with a spout of magical energy.

This damage is not multiplied on critical hits.

Reverse: You briefly enfeeble an enemy, causing its swings to slow and deal less damage.

Your target's single next weapon damage roll (if it is made before the end of the next round) deals 5 fewer points of damage as the blow is cushioned by an unseen force.

This penalty can reduce the damage to 0, but not below.

TEMPORAL SPIRAL

Level: 3

Duration: 1 round (normal) or 3 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)
Normal: When you speak this utterance, everything your target does seems quicker.

Silvery energy surrounds the fast-moving target in a crackling aura.

The temporal spiral utterance manifests as silvery spirals and energy motes that surround your target like a nimbus of energy, separating it momentarily from the normal flow of time.

When you speak this complex word of action, you grant the target of this utterance an additional move action in the current round.

For instance, on your turn you could speak this utterance to allow the subject to move into position that would set up a charge, then take its normal action to charge an opponent.

Alternatively, you could speak this utterance to allow the subject to move within melee range of a foe, then take a full-round action to make attacks on that foe.

A subject that takes a full attack action and then uses this utterance to move away from a foe provokes attacks of opportunity.

If the subject of the utterance does not take this extra move action before the end of your next turn, it is lost.

Reverse: This powerful utterance sounds like the churning of ancient earth, freezing your target in place.

When reversed, the silver spirals of unraveled time inhibit your target.

For the duration of this utterance, the target is dazed.

TEMPORAL TWIST

Level: 2

Duration: Instantaneous (normal) or 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: With a word of Truespeech, you grant a creature incredible reflexes, enabling it to immediately make an attack as tendrils of energy twist in its wake.

By delivering this utterance, you reweave the tapestry of time itself to grant your target a precious few seconds of activity.

Translucent curls of energy trail behind your target for a few moments, a side effect of your utterance's power.

Your target can immediately make one melee or ranged attack, even if it has already taken its action for the round. Taking this action doesn't affect the subject's normal place in the initiative order.

This utterance does not allow the subject to make more than one additional attack in a round.

If the target has already made an additional attack, due to the haste spell, snake's swiftness spell, or from any other source, this utterance has no effect.

Reverse: By reversing this utterance, you cause a creature to lose its focus and become bewildered.

The reversed utterance pulls time-threads out of reality, and translucent curls of energy briefly surround and slow your target.

The target of this utterance is dazed (DMG 300) for 1 round.

UNIVERSAL APTITUDE

Level: 1

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You speak a word of proficiency and ability, increasing the natural aptitude of your ally.

Your target is better able to block out distractions and perceive the subtleties of any task—almost as if the universe wants your target to succeed at upcoming challenges.

He is aware of subtle clues in the environment as the world, reworks itself in small ways to make success more likely.

The target's lockpicks might become slightly more supple, or the ground beneath her feet might be slightly better for tumbling.

The target might notice subtle body language that makes a Sense Motive check easier, or she might find her steed unusually amenable to difficult equestrian jumps.

For the duration of the utterance, the target gains a +5 bonus on skill checks.

Reverse: With the reversal of this utterance, you instruct the universe to hinder your foe's ability to perform even everyday tasks.

The reversed utterance causes the universe to conspire in small ways against your target.

The lockpicks become too stiff reach the inner workings of the lock, and small debris makes tumbling treacherous.

Your target misses the subtleties of tone and body language in a conversation, and her horse is reluctant to attempt stunts.

For 5 rounds, your target takes a –5 penalty on skill checks.

VISION SHARPENED

Level: 3

Duration: 5 rounds

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your ally can see the unseen in the warp and weft of air nearby.

The target of this utterance gains the effect of a see invisibility spell (PH 275).

Your target cannot discern details of the creatures he sees, but the air around the invisible creatures seems to warp, allowing your target to pinpoint the creatures' location and strike at them accurately.

Reverse: With the reverse of this utterance, your target disappears from view.

This utterance duplicates the effect of an invisibility spell (PH 245) for one target, who fades into nothingness after a second or two.

WARD OF PEACE

Level: 5

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or concentration up to 5 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None (normal) or Will negates (reverse)

Normal: You ward your target from harm with a golden halo, preventing enemies from attacking her.

Opponents cannot strike or otherwise directly attack the warded creature, even with a targeted spell.

Because of the distinctive golden halo around the target, enemies are aware of the prohibition and do not lose actions for attempting to strike.

This utterance does not prevent the warded creature from being attacked or affected by area or effect spells.

The subject cannot attack without breaking the protection but can use other spells and abilities that are not hostile toward another creature.

This allows a warded cleric to heal wounds, for example, or to cast a bless spell, summon creatures, and so on.

Reverse: With a harsh sequence of words, you force a creature from another plane back to its home.

You banish the target into an extradimensional pocket—a featureless gray void with no visible entrance or exit.

Spells and abilities that move a creature within a plane, such as teleport and dimension door, do not help a creature escape from this place, although a plane shift spell allows it to exit to whatever plane is designated in that spell.

At the end of the duration, if the subject has not left the pocket dimension, it reappears where it had been when the utterance was spoken.

If this location is filled with a solid object, the subject appears in the nearest open space.

WORD OF BOLSTERING

Level: 4

Duration: Instantaneous (normal) or 5 rounds (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Suffusing your ally with the glow of positive energy, you eliminate the drain he experiences.

Pebble-sized motes of positive energy briefly swirl around your target, then rush into his body with a flash.

This utterance cures 1d6 points of ability damage or ability drain to one ability score.

Reverse: Your words cause the body of a foe to weaken and grow more frail.

Your target absorbs pebble-sized motes of negative energy and takes a –1d6 penalty to a physical ability score (your choice of Strength, Dexterity, or Constitution).

This utterance cannot reduce an ability score below 1.

WORD OF NURTURING, CRITICAL

Level: 5

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your ally experiences a tremendous rejuvenation as healing energy soothes her wounds.

A network of ropy strands of green energy heals your target's wounds with startling rapidity.

You grant a creature fast healing 15.

Reverse: Massive rents and tears appear on the body of your foe. You unmake a portion of the subject's being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 8d6 points of damage to the subject.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 8d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

WORD OF NURTURING, GREATER

Level: 6

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: With this powerful utterance, you remind the universe of your ally's true physical form, and even his most terrible wounds begin to knit together.

Your target emits a greenish glow from within (equivalent to a torch's light).

You grant a creature fast healing 20.

Reverse: Great gushes and terrible wounds tear at your enemy's body, causing massive bleeding and terrible pain.

You unmake a portion of the subject's being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 10d6 points of damage to the subject.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 10d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

WORD OF NURTURING, LESSER

Level: 2

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You speak a more complex utterance of health, providing an ally with the soothing balm of healing.

You grant a creature fast healing 3.

At the beginning of each turn, a green flash coalesces into an energy field that surrounds and erases your target's wounds.

Reverse: You speak a word that tears at an enemy's flesh, causing it to bleed from several wounds.

You unmake a portion of the subject's being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 2d6 points of damage to the subject.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 2d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

WORD OF NURTURING, MINOR

Level: 1

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: You speak a simple word of health, providing an ally with minor healing ability.

You grant a creature fast healing 1.

At the beginning of each turn, a green flash surrounds your target, who heals slightly.

Reverse: With this word, you cause your enemy to experience painfully bleeding wounds that spontaneously emerge.

You unmake a portion of the subject's being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 1d6 points of damage to the subject as wounds appear across its body.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 1d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

WORD OF NURTURING, MODERATE

Level: 3

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your words soothe your ally, gradually restoring some of the damage he has sustained.

A nearly constant tendril of green energy moves up and down your target's body, healing any wounds it finds.

You grant a creature fast healing 5.

Reverse: Your words rip at your enemy, tearing at its flesh and bones.

You unmake a portion of the subject's being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 4d6 points of damage to the subject.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 4d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

WORD OF NURTURING, POTENT

Level: 4

Duration: 5 rounds (normal) or instantaneous and concentration, up to 1 round (reverse)

Saving Throw: None

Normal: Your powerful utterance grants an ally increased ability to knit her own wounds.

A thin network of green tendrils heals your target's wounds almost as fast as they're created.

You grant a creature fast healing 10.

Reverse: With the reverse of this utterance, you tear at the fabric of your enemy's connection to its body, causing great wounds.

You rupture a portion of the subjects being as you utter the reverse form of the life-giving words.

You deal 6d6 points of damage to the subject.

If you concentrate for 1 round (a standard action), and the subject remains within range, it takes another 6d6 points of damage at the end of your next turn.

LEXICON OF THE CRAFTED TOOL

AGITATE METAL

Level: 2

Range: 30 ft.

Target: Metal equipment of one creature; or one metal object weighing no more than 25 lb./level

Duration: 7 rounds

You increase or decrease the temperature of a metal object significantly, possibly harming creatures in physical contact with it as it glows with red heat (or blue chill).

The target metal item rapidly becomes dangerously hot or cold, glowing red if hot and blue if cold.

This utterance functions as a chill metal (PH 209) or heat metal (PH 239) spell with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

You choose which effect—cold or hot—you want to generate when you speak the utterance.

ANALYZE ITEM

Level: 2

Range: Touch

Target: One object

Duration: 1 round

By studying an item, you can determine a great deal about it, including its magical properties, if any.

By delivering an utterance of perception and analysis incorporating the truename of the object, you determine all spells and magical properties affecting a specific item you're touching.

In the case of a magic item, you learn its functions, how to activate its functions (if appropriate), and how many charges are left (if it uses charges).

In the case of an object with active spells cast upon it, you learn one spell with each use of this utterance, highest level to lowest, including its effect and caster level.

You cannot determine the function of an artifact with this utterance (see page 277 of the Dungeon Master's Guide for details on artifacts).

FORTIFY ARMOR

Level: 1

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One suit of armor

Duration: 5 rounds

A suit of armor covers its wearer's vital areas more effectively, providing better protection against attacks.

You make a suit of armor better able to protect the creature wearing it.

When you speak this utterance, the target armor gives its wearer protection against critical hits and sneak attacks.

When a critical hit or sneak attack is scored on the wearer, there is a 25% chance that the critical hit or sneak attack is negated and damage is instead rolled normally.

You can increase the level of protection provided by the utterance by voluntarily increasing the DC of your Truespeak check.

If you add 10 to the DC, critical hits and sneak attacks have a 50% of being negated, and if you add 20 to the DC, critical hits and sneak attacks are automatically negated.

KEEN WEAPON

Level: 1

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One weapon

Duration: 5 rounds

Your words make a weapon shine with silver potency, capable of dealing more punishing blows than normal.

You can augment the critical threat range of a weapon by speaking its truename.

This utterance functions as a keen edge spell (PH 246) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

In addition, you can change the threat range of any weapon you name, not just piercing and slashing weapons.

The weapon you deliver this utterance upon pulses with a silvery sheen throughout the utterance's duration.

METAMAGTC CATALYST

Level: 5

Range: Touch

Target: Potion or scroll touched

Duration: 1 round

Your touch enables a potion consumed or scroll read during the next round to be augmented with metamagic.

With this utterance, you can apply one of the following metamagic effects to the target potion or scroll: Empower Spell, Heighten Spell (maximum +2 caster level), Extend Spell, or Enlarge Spell.

The utterance has no impact on the amount of time it takes to activate the item, but if the item not used within the following round, the effect of the utterance fades.

Whoever consumes the potion or reads the scroll hears a snatch of your truespeech when the metamagic takes effect.

You can also modify a potion or scroll as with the Widen Spell or Maximize Spell feats, but doing so increases the DC of your Truespeak check by 10.

REBUILD ITEM

Level: 3

Range: Touch

Target: Destroyed item touched

Duration: Instantaneous

You reconstitute a destroyed item, instantly putting it back together into one functional piece.

With this utterance, you instantly restore an item destroyed within the last round to its normal, undamaged state.

Essentially, by reminding the item of its truename, you unmake its destruction.

Magic items affected by this power retain all their magical properties, unlike items restored with a make whole spell.

The reconstituted item has full hit points.

This utterance has no effect on any item that has been destroyed for more than 1 round.

You cannot restore a destroyed artifact with this utterance.

SEIZE ITEM

Level: 5

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One object weighing no more than 50 lbs.

Duration: Instantaneous

You speak a word to make an object your own, forcing it out of the hands of its owner, if necessary.

This utterance brings an object within range to your hand. If the object is unattended, it simply darts through the air to your hand.

If attended, such as a wielded weapon, you must make a disarm attempt.

You use your truenamer level as your base attack bonus and your Intelligence bonus in place of your Strength modifier, and a failed attempt does not allow a reactive attempt by the target.

Spell resistance applies normally for an attended object.

If both your hands are full when you speak this utterance, the item lands in your square at your feet.

SUPPRESS ITEM

Level: 4

Range: 60 ft.

Target: One magic item

Duration: 1 round, or concentration, up to 5 rounds

Your uninterrupted focus on a magic item keeps it from functioning, turning it gray and rendering it useless.

By speaking this utterance and focusing on a single item, you prevent any magical properties or effects of the item from functioning as long as you concentrate and remain within range.

The item turns gray and ceases to glow or otherwise indicate its magical nature. If the item moves out of range, the utterance's effect ends 1 round later. This effect otherwise functions as a dispel magic spell (PH 223) that targets a magic item.

SUPPRESS WEAPON

Level: 3

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One weapon with an energy special ability

Duration: 5 rounds

You can suppress the energy properties of a single weapon.

When you speak this utterance, you can prevent a weapon's energy-based special ability (or abilities) from functioning. Such abilities include flaming and frost, among others. The weapon turns gray and ceases to emit the relevant energy type, if you successfully speak this utterance on a weapon that does not have such a property, it has no effect on the weapon but you are still considered to have spoken the utterance once.

If your Truespeak check is successful, the weapon simply ceases to deal the extra energy damage provided by its ability for the duration of the utterance.

You can suppress an energy burst weapon ability by voluntarily increasing the DC of your Truespeak check by 5.

If you use this ability on an energy burst weapon at the normal DC, it has no effect.

TRANSMUTE WEAPON

Level: 4

Range: 30 ft.

Target: One weapon

Duration: 5 rounds

Your words fundamentally alter the material of which a weapon is made, transforming it according to your whim.

A weapon targeted with this utterance can be changed into a special material (DMG 283) of your choice.

You can make a weapon cold iron, adamantite, alchemical silver, or whatever other special material you wish.

The weapon is treated as if made of that substance, and its hardness, hit points, and the damage it deals might be affected depending on your choice.

LEXICON OF THE PERFECTED MAP

ANGER THE SLEEPING EARTH

Level: 4

Duration: 1 round

Your words shake the foundation of the earth, causing massive devastation and widespread mayhem.

By speaking this utterance, you cause the earth to tremble and quake violently.

This utterance functions as an earthquake spell (PH 225) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

CONJUNCTIVE GATE

Level: 4

Duration: 1 minute

You forge a connection between this plane and another, temporarily linking them together with a swirling portal you speak into being.

By speaking this utterance, you create a portal between two planes—oval-shaped vertical doors full of swirling colors. This utterance functions as a gate spell (PH 234) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

DENY PASSAGE

Level: 4

Duration: 1 minute

You force an area to deny access to a group of creatures specified by your utterance.

Crimson bars ward the area you name.

If your Truespeak check is successful, you can forbid creatures from entering the area of the utterance.

Unless you allow a creature inside the area (an immediate action on your part), it is held at bay just outside the place as if affected by a protection from evil spell (although for this utterance, the alignment of the creature doesn't matter).

Reddish prison bars appear briefly to block the creature's path, then disappear when the creature stops trying to enter the utterance's area.

The bars are intangible to everyone else, and the affected creature can't interact with them in any way.

You likewise prevent creatures from leaving the truenamed place.

Unless you allow a creature to leave (as an immediate action), it is held at bay at the boundary of the area, stymied by the reddish prison bars.

ENERGY VORTEX

Level: 2

Duration: 1 minute

Your words transform the nature of the air, turning it from harmless gas into a swirling mass of harmful energy.

You fill the air around your foes with energy, dealing damage.

You choose the type of damage to deal when you speak this utterance: acid, cold, electricity, or fire.

Creatures in the affected area take 2d6 points of energy damage, and an additional 2d6 points of damage at the beginning of each of their turns while they remain in the area.

FOG FROM THE VOID

Level: 1

Duration: 1 minute

At your words, moisture in the air and ground condenses into a thick mist.

Your words create a thick, roiling cloud of black fog.

This utterance functions as a fog cloud spell (PH 232), except as noted here.

If you add 10 to the DC of your Truespeak check, you can instead create a more substantial fog, which functions as a solid fog spell (PH 281) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

LORE OF THE WORLD

Level: 3

Range: 20 ft.

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread, centered on you

Duration: 1 minute

The world around you comes alive at your words, willing to share its ancient knowledge with you.

When you speak this utterance, you gain the ability to communicate with the world around you.

Speaking in voices that only you can hear, the earth, trees, water, and even the wind respond to your request for information.

This utterance functions as a stone tell spell (PH 284) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level.

In addition to the information described in the spell, the environment in the area of the utterance can also tap the knowledge of the land nearby, and can give you the direction and distance to a location you seek within one mile.

You must know the name of the specific location you are trying to locate to use this aspect of the utterance, if multiple locations exist within the area that match the name of the place you seek, the land gives you the direction and distance to the closest one.

For example, if you seek the Temple of Nerull, and it is within the maximum range, you can learn the exact distance and direction from the spot of the utterance that the temple lies.

MASTER THE FOUR WINDS

Level: 3

Duration: 1 minute

The air reacts to your utterance, obeying your every command.

By speaking this utterance, you can bend the air to your will.

This utterance functions as a control winds spell (PH 214) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

All within range hear the words of your utterance, carried on the winds you control throughout the utterance's duration.

SHIELD OF THE LANDSCAPE

Level: 1

Duration: 1 minute

Area: 20-ft.-radius spread, centered on you

You cause the ground to alter its basic form, creating cover for your allies, or removing it for your foes.

You can temporarily create or remove natural obstacles that provide cover.

An object that provides total cover in the affected area now provides only cover, and any object that provides cover no longer does so.

Any small outcroppings of rock, clumps of shrubberies, and even the trunks of trees in the affected area wither and shrink from in front of your foes.

Alternatively, you can create small outcroppings of cover behind which you and your allies can hide.

You must be standing on a natural surface, such as earth or unworked stone, to use this effect.

Each creature of Medium size or smaller in the area gains the benefit of cover from the outcroppings, which are not substantial enough to hinder movement through these squares.

These outcroppings do not provide cover against adjacent foes (although they do help against reach attacks).

After the utterance's duration expires, the affected natural obstacles resume their normal shape and position, grown back to their original forms in a second or two.

SHOCKWAVE

Level: 1

Duration: 1 round

Saving Throw: Fortitude negates

By speaking this utterance, you order the air to pulse violently, knocking creatures in the area to the ground.

You speak words of power that cause the air to convulse outward in a pulse of violent energy.

A violent shock wave travels through the air, and creatures in the area must make Fortitude saves or be knocked prone and take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage.

Creatures that are exceptionally stable—such as those with the stability racial trait or with four or more legs—gain their usual stability bonus (usually +4) on this save.

SPEAK ROCK TO MUD

Level: 2

Duration: 1 minute

With a word, you create an area of viscous, sticking mud.

You change the fundamental nature of solid stone in the affected area, turning it into thick mud.

This utterance functions as a transmute rock to mud spell (PH 295) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

THWART THE TRAVELER

Level: 3

Duration: 1 minute

The air grows thick and heavy, making extradimensional travel impossible.

By speaking this utterance, you prevent any extradimensional travel in the area.

This utterance functions as a dimensional lock spell (PH 221) with a caster level equal to your truenamer level, except as noted here.

Whenever a creature uses a spell or spell-like ability to attempt to leave, it is briefly surrounded by a blue nimbus and finds—probably to its surprise—that it hasn't gone anywhere.

TRANSFORM THE LANDSCAPE

Level: 2

Duration: 1 minute

You can cause the ground to crack and split beneath your enemies' feet, impeding their progress, or you can smooth the ground beneath the feet of your allies, making their passage easier.

You can temporarily create or remove difficult terrain (PH 148) in the affected area.

You can cause the natural terrain in the area to buckle and crack, making it much more difficult to traverse.

The difficult terrain does not obscure line of sight or provide cover.

Alternatively, you can smooth an area of difficult terrain for your allies, eliminating penalties to movement or skill checks the terrain would normally impose.

Eliminating difficult terrain with this utterance does not eliminate terrain features that provide cover.

As you deliver this utterance, the ground shifts and flows to take on the characteristics you seek, eroding obstacles impossibly quickly or creating new debris through minor tremors.

For the purposes of smoothing difficult terrain, light rubble, dense rubble, and undergrowth (all described in Chapter 3 of the Dungeon Master's Guide) all count as difficult terrain when using this utterance.

After the utterance's duration expires, the affected terrain resumes its normal shape and position.
